

COMMISSION WILL CONSIDER PLAN FOR MORE COPS

Clark Introduces An Ordinance To Have One For Every 700 People

More policemen than the three additional already provided for by amendment to the budget are in store for Belleville if an ordinance, which passed first reading before the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night, is enacted on final reading April 9. The proposed ordinance would raise the police department by providing for one policeman for every 700 inhabitants in place of the present provision for one to every 750 citizens.

The members of the Commission have stated several times that one of the town's prime needs is a larger police force. There are now thirty-five men on the force and provision has been made to raise the number to thirty-eight. Commissioner Clark said last week that he hoped to make the appointments before the end of April.

It has been estimated that the town's population, which was in the vicinity of 28,000 at the time of the 1930 census, may have risen to 32,000. In this case the police personnel would number forty-five.

The ordinance also would alter the status of chairman and bring them under the classification of "special policemen." This step is being taken so that they may carry pistols or revolvers without having to obtain a license.

Pave Montgomery Street

Also passed at first reading Tuesday night were ordinances providing for the grading and paving of Montgomery street from Willet street to the Erie Railroad spur, installation of water laterals on Birchwood drive from Union avenue to Bell street in the new White Oaks development, raising the grade and paving the present bridge which crosses Second river from Old Mill street to New Mill street near the site of the Jorgens plant, and for construction of a water main under Second river along North Sixth street.

Motor Vehicle License Agency Ready For Rush

The last-minute rush to obtain 1940 license plates for Belleville's automobiles is on, William Abramson of 500 Washington avenue, local license agency, said yesterday.

Applications had been slow in coming, Abramson said, up to a week or two ago. Then they started coming faster and now it is a steady stream every day. Plates must be on all cars by midnight Sunday. No figure as to the number of registrations in Belleville will be available for several weeks, he said.

Appointed Constable

Daniel Schechner of 204 Washington avenue was appointed to a one-year term as constable for the first ward when a resolution introduced by Mayor Williams was approved by the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night.

Home Seekers Are Attracted Here

Many prospective home owners are visiting the newly erected homes pictured above in the White Oaks tract being developed by the Goldfarb Brothers, off the easterly side of Union avenue near the Nutley-Belleville line. These attractive dwellings are the first of more than 200 which will be erected on the tract, according to the builders' plans.

WHITE OAK'S FIRM MOVING FAST

Six Homes Completed In Union Avenue Tract; Model Home Is Open Daily

Building operations are well under way in the new White Oaks Model Home section being developed by the Goldfarb Brothers on the Belleville-Nutley line, just east of Union avenue. Six homes have already been completed and sold. Two others in the process of erection and three others not yet started have been sold, making a total of eleven houses sold since the opening of the tract by the builders.

The White Oaks Model Homes company is an old concern, established in 1910, and is well known in the building field for its construction of apartment houses, hotels and movie houses, as well as small homes. The company recently completed a development of over 300 homes in Nutley, all of which have been sold. Plans have been made to build about 175 homes in the rolling tract of land on Union avenue and also for the opening of streets, several of which are expected to be opened by April 15. The homes being built on these streets are five and six room houses which have a price range of from $4,990 up. Plots are 50x100 and a model home has been constructed which is open daily for public inspection.

Hoffman Club To Aid Those Running For Committee

The Belleville Hoffman-for-governor Club "is not out to take control of the county committee," but will help any member who desires to become a candidate, Louis A. Noll campaign manager, told the club at its meeting Monday night at the Elks Club. He said that some members of the club had expressed a desire to run for the county committee. Arthur E. Mayer was appointed chairman to organize a woman's auxiliary to aid the local Hoffman campaign. John Gannon chairman of the veteran activities' committee announced that he was cooperating with veteran organizations throughout the county in behalf of Hoffman.

CHURCH CARNIVAL NEXT WEEK

St. Peter's Annual Affair To Be Held Wednesday, Thursday, Friday

Final plans have been made for the annual three-day carnival to be conducted by the Social Society of St. Peter's in the auditorium of the parish school next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Events are scheduled to start at 8:30 each evening.

The biggest jigger contest Belleville has ever seen is promised for Wednesday night, according to Miss Teresa K. Salton of 81 Rossmore place, general chairman. It will be staged as part of the barn dance at which prizes will also be given for the best costumes.

A night at the "Lazy K Ranch" will form the background for the entertainment to be presented by the church choir Thursday. The program will be made up of songs, dances and specialty numbers. Outstanding in the cast, which is being trained by Thomas A. Haney, choir director, are Ruth Hess, Doris Tracey, Adele and Alice Giordano, Rita Christell, Bernice and Eileen McCann, Mrs. Thomas Dillon, Mrs. Charles McCann, Mrs. William Liebau, Mrs. Daniel Byron, Charles Webber, Andrew Brady, Charles Christell, William Liebau, Jr., Fred Greenwood and William Herb. Guest star will be Wallace Jones and his sidekick, Tommy, in a ventriloquist act.

Friday night's portion of the carnival will be a party in the new school building. Most of the plans for it are being kept secret in order to inject an element of surprise.

The House That You Don't See

This is the skeleton work of the first of the new homes to be erected on the northwest corner of Lloyd place and Hornblower avenue by the Jackson Construction Company. The homes to be built there will sell at a minimum sale price of approximately $7,500. Property restrictions prevent the erection of homes costing less than $6,000 in this section.

JACKSON COMPANY STARTS WORK

Resumes Building Activity In Lloyd Place; Builds $7,500 Homes

"See the Doll Houses on Lloyd place" was the slogan of the one-time owner on Lloyd place back in the early twenties when the street was first opened for development. Less than a dozen houses have been constructed on the street since the building depression set in back in 1928. Although the Lloyd interests did not continue to build homes there, they sought to sell separate lots to individuals. Because of the high per front foot price for the vacant land, few bought. Recently, a substantial reduction was made in the price and local builders are resuming their activity in the section.

The Jackson Construction Company is now constructing its first home on the northwest corner of Lloyd place and Hornblower avenue. According to the builders they plan to cater to a type of home owner who wishes to have a house built to his own requirements and design. Since a property restriction prevents the erection of homes costing less than $6,000 the minimum sales price, including the cost of the lot, will be $7,500. The tract which runs parallel with Holmes street is between the high school and Clearman field.

CUT BUILDING PERMIT FEE

Board Considers Former Levy A Hindrance To New Building

Another step in Belleville's campaign to attract new industry to town and to remove stumbling blocks which might deter new businesses was made Tuesday night when the Board of Commissioners adopted an ordinance reducing the fee charged on permits for new buildings.

Mayor Williams two weeks ago characterized the high permit fees "ridiculous in the light of the ratables which the new buildings would bring to the town. It is like inviting a customer to trade at your mill; then charging him a quarter to park in the mill yard."

The new ordinance sets the rate at $3 for the first $1,000 of estimated value of the building and $2 on each $1,000 up to $5,000, the maximum fee being

Dailey Is Named Trustee Of Legion Hospital

Member Of Local Post Elected As Executive Of Hospital In North Newark; Physicians From This Town Are Members Of The Staff

John P. Dailey of 188 Division avenue, member of the local Post of the American Legion and personnel manager of the Wallace & Tiernan Co., Inc., has been elected to the board of trustees of the American Legion Memorial Hospital in Broadway, Newark. Two other local members of the board are Dr. Edward M. Rizzolo and Leverett C. Teague. Two local physicians are members of the hospital staff. The hospital, which is sponsored by Newark Post No. 10, is the first general hospital to be operated by the American Legion in not only this state but the country as well, according to Legion officials.

The Legion took control of the hospital late in October and the certificate changing its name from the North Newark Hospital to the American Legion Memorial Hospital was filed with the Department of Institutions and Agencies and the Secretary of State in the latter part of January.

The service rendered by the hospital is general in scope, accepting for treatment medical, surgical and maternity cases. It is not equipped to care for chronic, incurable or mental diseases. The hospital has thirty-five beds. It is not solely a veterans' hospital. The institution is cooperative and a member of the Hospital Service Plan of New Jersey and the Associated Hospital Service Plan of New York.

Dedication In June

The official dedication of the building will be held in June with national, state and county Legion officials participating. The members of the committee who are planning the affair are Anthony P. Minisi, Charles W. Linfonte, John E. Cash, Robert Graul, Dr. Michael DeFronzo and William J. Doyle.

The other members of the board of trustees are Past Department Commander John E. Cash, Past County Commanders William J. Doyle and Albert F. Jacques, Past Post Commanders Charles Duerr, Robert W. Graul, Anthony P. Minisi, Post Commander Henry M. Grossman, and Legionnaires Dr. M. A. Angelillo, Dr. Michael DeFronzo, Gustave W. Gehin, Alfred R. Marasco, Dr. J. N. Pannullo and Mr. Dailey.

The institution officers are Grossman, president; Gehin, vice-president; Doyle, secretary, and Marasco, treasurer. Department Vice-Commander Charles W. Linfonte is in full charge as administrator of the hospital.

Magee Asks Car Owners To Inspect New Plates

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Magee has urged motorists to inspect closely their 1940 license plates and to report promptly any errors to the license agency from which they were issued.

The Motor Vehicle Department is still seeking to learn how the four sets in the "EA" series came through from the State Prison, where they are manufactured, correct as to color and sequence but bearing "NJ 40." Replacements have been made in these four instances.

"We hope that the mix-up was confined to the single bundle of 'EA' plates but we have no way of knowing because so many registrations have been issued and are now being displayed by car owners," said Commissioner Magee. "Our only way of checking, therefore, is to ask the car owners to inspect their plates and to report immediately to the license agency any errors in manufacture."

GOLFING EVENT RETURNS HERE

Metropolitan Public Links Tourney Will Be At Hendricks Field In July

The Metropolitan Public Links Championships will return to this town in July after a lapse of four years. The first tourney was held at Hendricks Field here in 1936. After travelling to Bendix, Bethpage and La Tourette, the MGA decided to come back to the local course this year. The tournament will be held July 13, 14 and 20 and 21.

It was Maurice O'Connor of 18 Fairview place, pro at the local course and secretary-treasurer of the New Jersey PGA, who suggested the split dates. He explained that, holding the event on two separate weekends, two days can be given to qualifying and two to match play.

Hendricks Field golfers have held a monopoly on the public links title during most of its history. Jack Cuniff, Mike Cestone and Pat Mucci copied the crown during the first three years. The only outsider to enter the charmed circle so far was Chuch Amadoles, who did it in 1939 after a struggle with Hendricks' Chet Sanok.

Belwood Park People Discuss Compromise In Zoning Case

Committee Named To See Lumber Company Officials; Some Think Court Fight Hopeless

The Town Commission may not battle the Bloomfield Lumber Company through the courts of the state "to the bitter end" in the zoning battle as requested by residents of the Belwood Park section whose property adjoins the company's yard. The Belwood Park Association voted at its meeting in the Recreation House last night to appoint a committee to confer with officials of the Bloomfield Lumber Company to see if some amicable settlement of the situation could be made which would be acceptable to both. The tenor of the talk at the meeting was to the effect that it would be wiser and cheaper to try and reach some peaceable solution to the matter.

The lumber company officials indicated last week that they were friendly to a compromise with the residents.

Commissioner Noll will head the conferring committee which will include Arthur Chiappari, president of the association, Ernest Scholl, Philip Reed, Louis Lunceford and William Kohler. They will discuss the problem with the company and ascertain just what concessions the latter will be willing to make should the residents agree to withdraw their demands that the town continue the court fight.

The decision to send a committee was not reached without minor dissensions. Chiappari, who lives about two blocks from the yard, was all for continuing the fight in the courts without recourse to the company. Lunceford, who lives nearest the lumber property, and Reed led the fight for the committee idea and their plan was eventually adopted.

"See what treatment we will get from them, because once we decide to go on with the fight and then lose we can expect no mercy," Reed said.

Chiappari's argument was that it is easy to beat a man who admits he is licked and criticized Town Attorney Keenan for admitting defeat before any decision had been handed down by the courts. He said that he believed the residents could win their fight.

Lunceford, who is generally conceded to have more at stake than anyone else at the meeting, declared that he was convinced that there "was not a chance in the world of winning." He charged that "the Bloomfield bank is behind the lumber company and they have said that they will fight to their last penny to win the case." He did not name the bank.

WOULD CONSTRUCT 37 HOMES

East Orange Builder Wants To Purchase Land From Town

Another housing development, similar to, but on a smaller scale, than the White Oaks will be started soon in Celia terrace northwest of Continental avenue if the bid of William Gordon of East Orange is accepted when the town-owned plot goes on the block a week from tomorrow. A minimum price of $7,000 has been placed on the land, which covers almost eight acres.

Gordon this week offered the town $7,000 for the property. He plans to make all necessary improvements to Celia terrace and Continental avenue and to build thirty-seven homes there, each to cost in the neighborhood of $6,000. Commissioner Waters pointed out Tuesday night that necessary improvements to that section would cost the town in the neighborhood of $15,000, which cost Gordon has promised to assume.

The land will, according to custom, be placed at auction and will go to the highest bidder, who must meet the conditions already offered by Gordon. The latter's bid has been set as the minimum price.

The tract extends as far west as Carpenter street, east about seventy-five feet from Celia terrace, and west past the bend in the latter street. The possibility is also being considered of situation of Carpenter street some future date, permitting erection of houses there also. The development will be the first of any magnitude in Belleville in which the front footage of the individual plots will be sixty feet.

The Man Who'll Come To Your House

If everything goes according to schedule, Uncle Sam's census enumerators will swarm into town next Tuesday morning to start counting noses and ask what Senator Tobey has styled as "snooping" questions. Our interest in the census has been built up through what we have been reading and hearing for the past month or so. New England's Republican Senator Tobey has become quite excited about several questions which are included in this decade's big black book. He pictures the census boys as an army of prying, gossiping Winchells who go from house to house gathering family secrets to be carried on as tales to the next household. In a single-worded reply to the criticisms of the Senator, President Roosevelt has answered "Politics."

We eagerly await the arrival of the census taker. There's nothing personal about it since we don't consider it a family secret that we have a bathtub, that we use gas for cooking or that we have an electric refrigerator. The Social Security folks and Uncle's Income Tax Bureau already know about how much money we make and we fortunately don't have any mortgage on the house. We aren't alarmed, perturbed or excited about the prospect of being bombarded with eighty or more questions.

But, not so with some folks. Whether they have been influenced by Mr. Tobey's tirades or what, they apparently intend to assume some sort of bravado when the census man comes.

They mumble about standing up for their rights as American citizens and vow that they will portray the role of martyrs — Eighteenth Century style streamlined — and risk the chance of being heaved into jail rather than answer such personal questions as income, etc. While we are not ones to favor complete government domination, it is really hard for us to get very much excited about the census questions. Particularly, since Uncle Sam has a pretty good check on such things as income through several sources already.

We refuse to believe that some of the questions to be asked by the enumerators are tip-offs that we are heading toward some American version of Hitlerism or Bolshevism. When compiled, some of the questions will certainly aid in solving our numerous economic problems. The Census Bureau in Newark assures us that our next door neighbor won't be the one who'll be around asking us the questions. In fact, the questioner will probably be some fellow we never heard of.

But what we will be interested in is whether some of our friends will be sitting in jail next week because of their refusal — at least at present — to answer the questions.

Edison Has A Headache

The battle lines in the gubernatorial campaign which will hit the high points in May and November, were drawn a bit more tightly last week with the statement by Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison of West Orange that he would enter as a Democratic nominee. His brief announcement was sweet music to the Democrats who have been hoping that a candidate would be chosen who has not already been deep in the mire of state politics. Of all the men who might have been chosen, Edison is one of the few who will not have political brickbats hurled at him by his adversaries, principally because the naval chieftain has kept his skirts clear from the mud that has splattered over so many of those in the party high command.

While finding solace in the selection of Edison, there is one bitter pill that Democrats will have to swallow. That is Mayor Frank Hague. Whether he liked it or not, coupled with Edison's announcement that he would seek the governorship was information that the Jersey City political boss would back the candidate to the hilt. Mr. Hague reckons so of all that is unsavory in politics that it becomes quite difficult to imagine him in the same boat with a man from Llewellyn Park who gives the outward appearance of representing an element which stands for good government.

While the majority that Mayor Hague can pile up for Edison in Hudson County may be the deciding issue in the campaign, the Jersey City political boss will be a loadstone around Charles' neck in other parts of the state. The potency of Hague's political power has gone stale in places other than Hudson County recently. Democrats firing of his high pressure political tactics have turned their heels on him and the organization. A big task confronting Edison is to keep Hague in the fold and still appease those who think that the Mayor should be out.

Hitting The Sarcastic Cop

Police Commissioner Valentine of New York City recently made a comment which must have prompted many motorists to reach out their hand and figuratively pat him on the back. The Manhattan police head took a crack at the sarcastic cop — the fellow who always demands of a motorist, "Where do you think you're going, to a fire?" or the one who, after he has handed out a ticket, sneers at the violator and says, "Buddy, if you think you're going to get that ticket killed, you're crazy."

Many policemen, Valentine remarked, consider violations by motorists as a personal affront which requires giving the driver a tongue lashing. While not hinting at anything local, it has been our misfortune to bump into policemen who felt that the silver shield granted them the privilege of handing out as much abuse as possible.

There are some men of the law who feel that they are even entitled to spice their admonitions to a motorist with cuss words. This, too, seems entirely uncalled for. The policeman who makes the most impression on the motorist, particularly those who are nabbed for speeding, is the fellow who creeps up from behind, waves the unfortunate one over to the side of the road and goes about the job of handing out a summons with less than ten words. There's nothing that sinks deeper than the indifference of a fellow who silently writes out an invitation to part with ten or fifteen dollars.

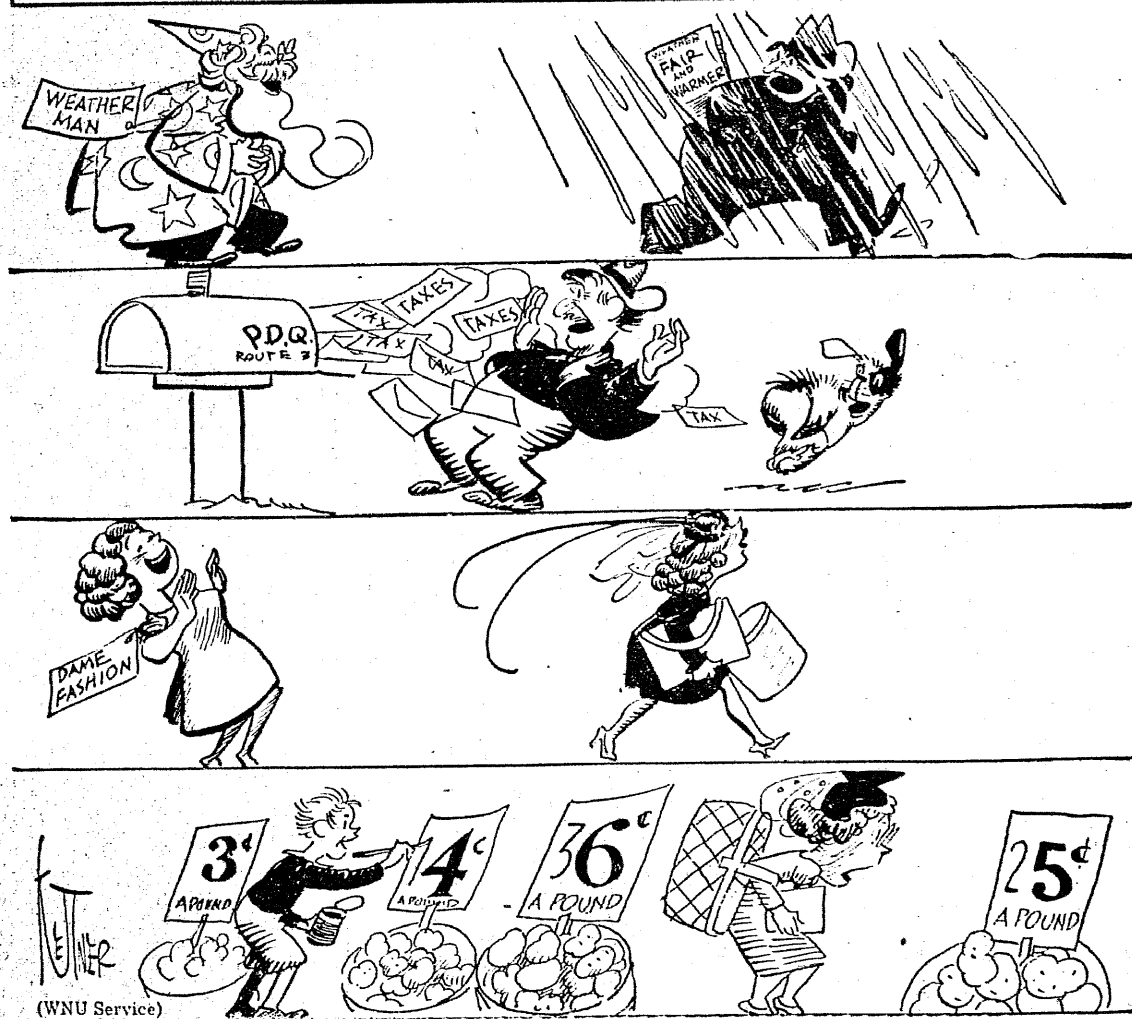

Danger Time For Motorists

Spring has arrived and with it the youngsters have begun their outdoor games — baseball, roller skating and bicycle riding. For the motorist it means that he will have to keep one eye on the road and the other on the curb. Boys and girls, through their very pep and enthusiasm, make unpredictable what they will do next. Children who dart suddenly from the curb or the side of the road frequently are accident victims.

Motorists should be watchful of the speed at which they are driving in areas where they know children may be playing. Parents can cooperate by warning youngsters of the danger involved in careless riding of bicycles, roller skating and ball playing in the streets.

THIS BUSINESS OF GOVERNMENT

by Samuel S. Kenworthy

Executive Sec'y N. J. State League of Municipalities

WHY A CENSUS? Some time during the next few weeks one of your neighbors will be ringing your front doorbell armed with a list of questions which make up the 1940 decennial census. Some of you are alarmed, and justly so, over the prospects of being forced to answer questions which appear purely personal. This prospect has resulted in much advance criticism of the manner in which the Federal Government expects to secure information which it considers to be of value. Undoubtedly many of the proposed questions could be eliminated and Uncle Sam is faced with a difficult task in convincing his nieces and nephews of the necessity for much of the information he seeks. There is, however, a very useful purpose in the decennial census and if we can secure a reasonable modification of the proposed questions to be propounded, we should cooperate in an effort to make a success of the undertaking.

Every well-managed business takes an annual or other periodic inventory of assets, liabilities and other facts as a basis on which to plan and build for the future. For the same reason the United States once a decade takes a census — a check on the growth of population, changing conditions, activities of the people, trends and shifts constantly in progress. The United States and the daily activities of its 132,000,000 people together comprise the most enormous and most intricate business on earth.

Assets of 320 Billion

A recent report of the Bureau of Census indicates that we have total assets of more than 320 billion dollars; nearly 7,000,000 farms, producing annually almost ten billion dollars worth of products; nearly 20,000 factories employing more than 10,000,000 men and women, producing goods valued over sixty billion dollars; 3,000,000 retailers, wholesalers and other dealers acting as service agents between producer and consumer; 33,000,000 home units, and more than 50,000,000 gainful workers — people earning a direct monetary consideration or equivalent from all this complexity of activities.

Approximately one-half of these gainful workers are supported by factories and distribution activities; more than 10,000,000 get direct revenue from farm pursuits; more than 1,000,000 are teachers, and the remainder include the professions and services, continues the bureau. The welfare of each of these working groups depends upon the welfare of other groups.

The over sixty billions of annual income of all these groups constitutes the blood stream furnishing life to the national body and all its extremities. National economic health calls for a constant and adequate flow. The basic facts gathered by the census, measuring the volume and speed of the flow, provide the means of better correlating these activities.

Have a New Value

Census facts have assumed a new value and importance since the Federal Government embarked upon a program of social planning. By reason of investments in housing, farm loans, business subsidies, Uncle Sam has become the nation's greatest banker. Important movements like social security, maternal and child welfare, health, housing, unemployment relief and the agricultural program, based on production levels as shown by the census, are examples of the increasing need for guiding facts.

Tax relationships between states and local subdivisions and allocations of Federal and State aid are based upon census facts. Every school district plans its building program on child age statistics gathered by the census.

These are only a few of the broad purposes served, but are more than enough to justify the task and answer the question of "Why A Census?"

ODDS AND ENDS FROM OTHER PENS

Car Owners Pay

While New Jersey is reputed to have one of the best highway systems in the country it should also be brought out that they pay plenty for it. State Tax Commissioner J. Thayer Martin in his annual report just released shows an all-time high was reached in 1939 on motor fuel tax collections. Commissioner Martin states the net collections on the three-cent tax in 1939 was $23,259,449, quite a sizeable sum. This is exclusive of the one-cent tax levied by the Federal Government, which netted $7,753,114.

In addition to this huge total, over $19,000,000 was paid last year by motorists of this state in car license and driver's registration fees. Add to this the $1 car inspection fee and it appears that motorists pay to the state annually the staggering total of nearly $45,000,000.

Each year attempts are made in the State Legislature to cut down the driver's registration fee but, as is the case in most other state departments, loss of revenue is viewed with alarm and none of the bills ever passes. One of the bills introduced at the present session would reduce the fee to fifty cents, which perhaps is a trifle too low a figure to be expected. It would seem as if the Motor Vehicle Department, in view of the extent of its other revenue, could afford to give the poor drivers something of a break, and cut their fee by at least a dollar or two. However, if the Legislature sticks to precedent, no such favor may be looked for.

Recalling Mellon's Warning

The point has been raised that our leaders of industry and finance did not, amid the great excitement of the boom days of 1929, exercise the qualities of leadership required to preserve moderation, in speculation.

Maybe a lot of the so-called leaders didn't, but that peerless financial leader, Andrew Mellon did. If memory serves, it was about six months before the big crash that the Secretary of the Treasury gave his warning, advising the country it was time to sell stocks and put the money into bonds.

But few listened to him.

Beware of the Parked Car

Beware of the parked car, the Keystone Automobile Club warns pedestrians, it may prove as dangerous as the speeding one.

Stepping from behind a parked car is high on the list of pedestrian deaths, safety engineers state in a plea for more care while crossing streets.

More than 1,000 lives could have been saved in 1938, according to Herbert Silcox, manager of the Trenton Division of the club, by the simple expedient of looking to see if the road was clear before stepping from behind parked cars. Motorists driving between rows of parked cars have their attention fixed on the street ahead and in most cases are totally unprepared for the sudden emergence of a pedestrian from behind a parked vehicle.

National accident statistics show that 1,080 persons were killed and 38,110 received crippling injuries from this type of accident in 1938. When last year's figures are available, it is believed they will exceed this total, which represents the second highest cause of death occurring in urban areas. It is surpassed only by that of "Crossing between intersections." Combination of the two classifications makes up 36.2 per cent of the total pedestrian deaths.

The practice is particularly dangerous at night when the driver does not have the benefit of intersection street lighting.

During 1938 41.7 per cent of all motor vehicle fatalities were pedestrians. In view of this high mortality rate, education of the walking public in the safe methods of pedestrianism is imperative. The first lesson to be learned is to cross only at intersections. More than 4,800 people annually walk to their death in ignoring this fundamental rule for safe walking. Highway engineers are doing everything possible to make it hard for walkers to do the wrong thing at intersections, but their efforts are futile if pedestrians persist in "jay-walking."

Dewey and His Youth

Too much emphasis continually is laid upon Dewey's youth and inexperience.

History is full of men of youthful years accomplishing things, and, as to experience, who can tell what experiences are to be met and solved in the coming years? A man long active in public office, elective and appointive, has occupied the White House for the past seven years and whither has he led us?

Millions would prefer new and untried leadership than to continue on the road we have been traveling and getting nowhere.

Besides, Tom Dewey's old enough to know beans from corn when the bag's open. He showed this clearly enough in his address before the Union League Club yesterday when by a simple example in arithmetic he diagnosed and proved the cause of and the cure for unemployment. Only new capital invested in enterprise can create new jobs. It takes $8,000 in capital to create a new job in the steel industry. Counting out the unemployed, there are 6,500,000 unemployed. Divide the amount invested in new capital enterprise in the seven pre-New Deal years that was not invested during the seven New Deal years by the average per job figure of $4,000, and the result is almost exactly 6,500,000 jobs that might have been created during the past seven years, but were not, because capital was hoarded and frightened and did not seek investment in job-creating industry.

Perhaps New Dealers are "too old" to see this, but it's the truth.

—Passaic Herald-News

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

A few hours after this column was written last week, Charles Edison announced his candidacy for governor. That same afternoon James A. Farley stated that he was a real rather than a make-believe candidate for President. The second announcement had a distinct bearing on the first.

Despite his own popularity and Harold G. Hoffmann's many enemies, Edison has no assurance of carrying New Jersey unless the Democratic party is stronger on November 5 than the Republican party. All of the trends of the past three years point to growing Republican strength in New Jersey. Governor Moore defeated Lester H. Clee in 1937 by the narrowest of margins. W. Warren Barbour was elected senator in 1938 by what amounted almost to a Republican landslide. The Democrats have lost legislative seats consistently. Mayor Frank Hague is unpopular outside of Hudson. The Democratic organization appears to be growing weaker in Essex — roughly one-fifth of the state.

Democratic strategists admit all of these facts, but profess to be optimistic despite them. This optimism is based upon two assumptions: first, that President Roosevelt will be a candidate for re-election; second, that Edison, somehow, will sweep the state even should the trend at election time be Republican.

Might Not Sweep State

President Roosevelt's candidacy is a mystery too deep to unfathom. Should he run, the belief is that he could be re-elected. But it does not necessarily follow that he would sweep New Jersey by a majority of 300,000 that he got in 1936. However, should he carry the state by a margin of only 100,000 Edison would almost surely be elected governor. The legislature would probably remain Republican, as would Essex county.

Thus, Edison's candidacy does not change the situation very much here. He is a gay candidate. The best the Democrats could have found. But the political trend of the state as indicated by recent elections and confirmed by the latest Gallup poll is in the direction of the Republicans. The situation is so uncertain that neither side is justified in feeling either very optimistic or very pessimistic.

Even President Roosevelt without Farley's support and with the third term handicap may not be the election magician that he has appeared to be in the past. And Thomas E. Dewey, for example, might get a far different hand should he be the Republican nominee than Alfred M. Landon got in 1936.

Delegates Shrewdly Chosen

The Clean Government slate of delegates to the Republican Na-

THE two attractive women had just arrived from a Broadway show in their smart, new Packard convertible coupe. You knew they had been to a matinee because they were still talking about Franchot Tone. "He's so much more interesting on the legitimate stage," one of them kept saying over and over. The other couldn't forget the fact that Lenore Ulric seemed so much older-looking. We decided from that early conversation (quite correctly, of course) that they had seen the Theatre Guild production of "The Fifth Column" from the play by Ernest Hemingway.

—O—

THEY had stopped off at the Alderney Milk Barn Wednesday evening on their way home to Morristown, and the attendant had been standing by, waiting for them to order. They glanced at him with a cheery enough smile, and picking up their menus, went right into their conversation again. "You know," said the one who couldn't forget how wonderful Franchot Tone was, "I think Hemingway is perfectly marvelous. All through the show I couldn't get his book 'Farewell to Arms' off my mind. But Franchot Tone really is a great actor, isn't he?"

—O—

"HAVE you made a selection?" queried the Alderney attendant with an extremely kindly inflection of the voice. "Oh, dear, how simply stupid of us to sit here and keep you waiting like this. Now let me see. Oh, this black cherry cream certainly tempts me — no, I think I'll have some of that fresh banana cream with the marshmallows over it. And you, my dear, why don't you have the pistachio — you know how much you love it. I wouldn't give a five cent piece to see John Barrymore again — no sir, not after seeing Tone in a legitimate piece."

—O—

THE other was beckoning the Alderney attendant. "If you don't mind," she called, "I do believe I will change my order. What is that gentleman over there having? It does look good. Maple walnut sundae with chopped pecans and whipped cream? Dear me, it sounds simply perfect. Thank you so much. You know I was so surprised when I saw Lenore Ulric come on the stage for the first time; I simply can't get over it. Of course, it was years since I'd seen her, but, dear me, she has changed so. Did you and Bob see Hepburn in 'The Philadelphia Story'? Jack liked her, but I was never much for Hepburn. Now, Gertrude Lawrence, there's an actress!"

—O—

THE Alderney sundaes were there before them; the Alderney attendant was just about to wait upon two newcomers when the first woman looked up at him and, with a spontaneous enthusiasm exclaimed: "You must see Franchot Tone in Hemingway's 'Fifth Column.' It's simply marvelous." He smiled and poured out two Alderney buttermilk for the new arrivals. "You know," interrupted the second woman, "Bob and Jack will be wondering what happened to us. They'll be simply starved! You know it's well after midnight!"

—O—

"MY dear," she replied between spoonfuls of her banana marshmallow, "don't you worry bit. We'll take home some eggs and shake up an omelette," she added, calling the Alderney attendant over again. "Could you have more of the same and dozen eggs? Don't forget what I told you about seeing Franchot Tone!" "But," interrupted the other, "for heaven's sake don't waste your time with the Hemingway show. By all means see Gertrude Lawrence. Goodness, did you order more ice cream for me?" —Adv.

BOB CAMPAIGNS FOR HIS DAD

Young Hendrickson Is Organizing Junior Clubs To Help Win Votes

Formation of the "Junior Republicans" for Hendrickson for Governor Clubs, has been disclosed by Robert C. Hendrickson, Jr., twelve-year-old son of Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Young Bob, who said he has been "rarin' to go" since his Dad became a candidate, emphasized that his clubs would play an important part in the campaign.

"Anybody who thinks a bunch of fellows and girls lack influence, will change their minds when we get through," he stated.

"If anyone doubts that kids are not influential they should listen to the radio and read the advertisements. Why most of the appeal to sell goods is directed at us! They sell us first. Then we sell our mothers and fathers," Young Bob recounted.

When reminded that children cannot vote, Bob, Jr., declared that was no obstacle in his campaign.

"Members of the clubs will 'sell' my Dad to their parents, and if they can vote in this election you can bet they'll vote our way when we get finished. After all we got a swell product to boost," he stated.

Each week, Bob, Jr., explained, members will receive fresh information about his father. This will be transmitted to their mothers and fathers.

Clee Will Head Speakers' Bureau For Hendrickson

Additional impetus has been given the campaign of Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, with the disclosure that Rev. Dr. Lester H. Clee, of Newark, would serve as chairman of the "Hendrickson-for-Governor" speaker's bureau.

Rev. Dr. Clee, former Speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, and former State Senator of Essex County, stated that his duties, also would include delivery of campaign addresses throughout the State.

Aiding Rev. Dr. Clee will be many persons prominent in the political, civic, labor, industrial and legal life of the State. Among them are former State Senator Frank D. Abell of Morristown, and former Judge Robert Carey, of Jersey City.

Hendrickson Is A Tool, Hoffman Charges

"I Am In Race To Stay," Former Governor Asserts; Says He Is Confident That He'll Win And Defeat Charles Edison In November

Declaring "I am in this race to stay," former Governor Harold G. Hoffman this week emphasized that he had no intention of withdrawing in the face of the announced candidacy of Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison as the Democratic choice for Governor. Former Governor Hoffman's statement followed reports that his opponent for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, had offered to withdraw if Hoffman would do likewise, and agree to the selection of a compromise Republican candidate.

TO RECEIVE BIDS FOR CHURCH

Contractors Asked To Submit Costs On Bethany Church Job April 8

Bids on the new structure of the Bethany Lutheran Church will be received April 8, Rev. Willard H. Borchers, rector, announced Tuesday. Specifications on the building, which will be erected on the northeast corner of Joralemon and New streets, were issued last week. A council meeting will be held at Masonic Temple, where the parish has been holding its services, on the April date to consider the bids which may be received.

It is hoped, Mr. Borchers said this week, to start construction on the edifice some time in June. Pledges and gifts received to date total almost half the cost of the building, he said, adding that the "people of Belleville have rallied in a most gratifying way to put this project over."

The architects' plans for the church call for a structure to cost about $25,000 when completed. The building will be of red brick with white limestone trimmings and will follow a modified English Gothic type of architecture. It will be furnished in walnut and will have a seating capacity of approximately 200.

605 Broad Street, Newark. 276 Main Avenue, Passaic, N. J. "Reality" is the lesson-sermon subject for Sunday in all Christian Science Churches and Societies.

The golden text is: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning."

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Kingdom of God cometh not with observation: Neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for, behold, the Kingdom of God is within you."

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "When you read this, remember Jesus' words, 'The Kingdom of God is within you.' This spiritual consciousness is therefore a present possibility."

It gives in detail, all of the many operations necessary for correct service — operations with which each car owner should familiarize himself. In addition it explains just what should be done and when.

SAVE TINFOIL

Will Help Service Bureau's Camp Fund Drive

Mrs. Frank Ackerman of 60 Fairway avenue, chairman of the Camp Project committee, a division of the Community Service Bureau Case Committee, reported today that the trustees have given approval to the plan which has been developed by the committee to aid in the bureau's summer camp work. Last year through special gifts thirty-six children were sent to camp for periods of from two to four weeks. In order that this work should not be curtailed new sources of revenue must be found.

The committee is sending out a town-wide appeal for tin foil which they believe, if received in sufficient quantity would help to swell the camp fund.

"Don't throw away the wrappings from cigarettes, tea or candy. Save them for our project, and help to send a child away to camp this summer," Mrs. Ackerman said yesterday.

Wrappers and foil may be left at the offices of the Community Service Bureau at 338 Washington avenue daily from 9 to 5 or until noon on Saturday.

The next meeting of the Case Committee on April 11 will be devoted to developing a large committee to work with Mrs. Ackerman.

It's more Fun in the car up front

Help Promote Safety — Dim Your Lights When Passing.

IN OTHER, blunter words, why be satisfied to trail?

Why buy a car that's content to follow along—when little, if any, more money will put you in a Buick up where the banners are flying?

For as five minutes on any busy street corner will show you, this year's automotive style pattern was cut by Buick a good twelve months ago.

This year's performance tempo was set two years back when the Buick Dynaflex engine appeared.

And this year's comfort standards still have some catching up to do to equal Buick's combination of four coil springs, recoil-mounted Knee-Action, the SUPER's five-foot front seat room and Foamtex cushions.

Eventually, perhaps, others may find a way to micropoise-balance engines after assembly in search of Buick's present silky smoothness.

They may get around to making Two-Way Direction Signals standard equipment instead of extras; they may heavy-up their frames, and generally seek to equal Buick's staunchness.

Meantime you'll have those Buick blessings to enjoy.

You'll step out front at the touch of an eager treadle, swing through the gear changes with light-and-easy finger-flicking, pilot a joyous traveler that's equally ready for work or play, and does everything with ease matched only by its smartness.

You'll drive the style-leader, the comfort-leader, the value-leader—a car full of things that will still be "new" a good two years from now.

And as a visit to your Buick dealer will show, you'll get it at prices like those you find on the sixes.

That gives you something real to look into. Start looking early — to get in on all the fun.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Prices begin at $895 delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

OVER THE WOMAN'S DESK

by Peggy Patterson

Women vs. Men In Rights

The fact that an unprecedented number of women are expected to vote in the November election forms the basis for an active campaign now being conducted by women's organizations, political and non-political, throughout the nation. An Equal Rights Bill, now pending, is the main tool which they are wielding to take advantage of the coming election and get across legislation which they consider important to themselves and the rest of the country. Evidently it is thought that it is "now or never."

for numerous arguments and resolutions are being laid before Congress.

It is interesting to note the change of motive in the feminist movement of today as compared with the early attempts of "equal rights." In the days when the fight was being waged for the voting privilege women were still satisfied to depend on the male sex for support and spend their energies striving for more inspired things than mere "board and keep." This latter they took for granted in a way that may seem naive to our present day feminist; but which begins to look to us like a very subtle and result-getting attitude.

At any rate, the burning question today is that women be paid for their labor at equal rates with men who do the same work and that married women be unrestricted in the privilege of working. Like the well-known result of being allowed by the opposite sex to stand in crowded subways and trains as a result of the ardent campaign for the equality of women, it sometimes seems to us that women are bargaining for more than they expect when they press the question of equal wages and the right of the married woman who does not actually need the extra money, to work. The shadowy outline of a vicious circle seems to hover on the horizon whenever we begin seriously to consider these demands.

Man's Position Logical

The right of a man to collect higher wages for the same work that is being performed by a woman seems to us to be logically grounded on the fact that the man is the accepted founder of a family. If he is not adequately paid in accordance with his position in life as well as his ability, how is he to carry out his ultimate purpose? If he must postpone marriage until late in life, forgo the fulfillment of fatherhood during the years when he is most fitted to do an efficient job and generally have cold water dashed on his enthusiasms because his job is in constant jeopardy — is this to the advantage of women in general? We do not think so, since women are frankly admitting that marriage is the thing in life that looks best to them. It is one thing to want an equal salary with a man in whom you are not interested. How would you feel about the women who demand an equal salary with the man you wish to marry and thereby holds up his chance for a raise?

As for the right of the married woman to work, it seems to us that that contingency is covered by the answer to one very simple question: how necessary is it? The honest reply to this question should be a natural check on the situation without the necessity for formal legislation. Unfortunately, however, not only married women but single women and men are so profoundly affected by the misuse of the right that an entire new field is opened up. We cannot even scratch the surface of it here. But we do question the advisability of having the problem attacked and legislation on it pushed through by a selected group who may not be considering it from every possible angle.

Effect On Home

Many discussions on these and related subjects will be filtering through the newspapers and magazines which come into your homes. If you will read them searching you will discover that these problems of the "working woman" ultimately have a strong effect on the home. You who do not have an actual part in preparing them for legislation have the satisfaction of knowing that you wield the real power when you go out to vote on them. Curious, isn't it, that our mothers and grandmothers who did not have to worry so much about equal wages and status in the business world, where able to place this weapon in our hands?

Redecorating The Home

Home redecoration is the favorite theme of many magazine articles at this season. It is being discussed on broader terms and in a less technical sense than ever before. That is to say, we read more about general effects, psychological benefits to the occupants of the home and self-expression on the part of the homemaker than we do about where to place the furniture, how best to rejuvenate the rugs or whether stripes or prints will be the best for draperies. The general is more under consideration than the specific; and first in importance is the use of color.

Color, it is pointed out, is the one attribute which clings above all others in your mental picture of a charming room. Try to recall the loveliest room you have ever seen and this point will be instantly proven to you. It is not construction, furniture shapeliness, or fabric design which springs at once to your mind. It is the blue depth of the floor covering, the soft rosy glow of the window hangings or perhaps sharp accents, like the crimson worked into a beautiful tapestry wall hanging or the pale green satin of a small covered chair, which serve to prick the imagination and draw out the hidden depths of all the background colors in the room. If color means this much, why not use it as your first step in laying the scene for a new season.

Color can save you money for one thing. If, indeed, you cannot afford to replace a single piece of furniture or rug in the room you are redecorating, color in new wallpaper, paint, slip-covers or draperies will work almost a miracle. Perhaps you chose well but too wisely when you bought the majority of furnishings for the room. And now the safe monotony of the conservative colors is really irritating you. There must be a suggestion of color in the rug, however conservative, that appeals to you. Play it up by using it on some of the furniture coverings. Perhaps you now discover that you made the fatal mistake of using a predominantly cool color scheme in a north or east room. Change this by painting the walls a sunny shade. There are only two simple rules to keep in mind and they are that dull colors must never be used in dark rooms; and those colors which diffuse light very generously must not be used in rooms which are brilliant because of southern and western exposures. Go out and shop for deep, soul-satisfying color and use it courageously. Every home magazine in the nation is full of practical cautions so that you can not spoil the effect; but they are also full of pleas for you to treat your family to the joy of colorful surroundings for the coming season.

MUSICAL REVIEWS

Composers' Night was held Monday evening at the Music Educators' monthly meeting at the MacHugh Studios in Newark. Apparently this town contains no composers, or only super-modest ones, for Belleville was not represented on a program which presented songs and violin compositions and a string trio by men and women from Newark, Montclair, Glen Ridge and the Oranges. Even Nutley had a composer cited, although not represented on the program. So we

Contest Recipes

Send your favorite and reliable recipes to our contest. Two prizes will be awarded weekly. Each winner will receive two guest passes to the Kent Theatre. The features starting Sunday are "Great Victor Herbert" and "Amazing Mr. Williams." Did you ever make an interesting rite out of constructing a chicken pie? Or does chicken pie simply mean to you a means of disposing of the Sunday roast fowl? Try the former and see what a world of difference there is. The following is our favorite version:

Chicken Pie
1 4-lb. chicken, dressed and cut up
2 teaspoons salt
2 stalks celery
12 small white onions
1 lb. mushrooms
6 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons flour
2 cups chicken broth
1 cup top milk
Baking powder biscuit dough.
Simmer chicken, salt and celery, cut in small pieces, in boiling water to cover 1 to 1½ hours or until tender. Add onions when chicken is half done. Lift the chicken from the liquid and cool. In fact this may be done the day before and the liquid poured into a jar. When you are ready to assemble the pie, remove the chicken meat from the bones and cut into good sized pieces. Arrange in a casserole with the onions. Add mushrooms browned in butter. Melt butter, add flour and stir until smooth. Gradually add the chicken broth, top milk and season. Cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Add to chicken and mix. Top with baking powder biscuit dough rolled one-quarter inch thick and cut with a doughnut cutter. Bake in a hot oven for thirty minutes.

Follow this with a mixed green salad in which iceberg lettuce, escarole, sliced radishes, cucumbers, watercress, endive and slivers of avocado have been tossed together with a tart French dressing. Quarters of tomato should be added just before serving.

Finding The Dress Suited For All Occasions

Polka Dot Combinations Are Quite Striking; Other Colors Will Prove To Be Popular; Pastel Shades Make House Coats, Lounging Robes Attractive

As fascinated as we may be by the daring and bizarre styles which appear as the seasons roll around, how joyfully we welcome our old friends as we go up and down the racks in the serious business of choosing an all-purpose daytime dress, which is characteristically described by most women as one "which is not too dressy to make me conspicuous at simple afternoon affairs and which will yet answer the purpose when I am suddenly called upon to attend a more formal public function." Some even wish to combine in one dress a suitable travelling costume for spring and summer which is not perishable under the stress and vicissitudes of the road and which will at the same time allow them to appear "dressed" in hotel dining rooms.

One of the most effective answers to these demands, and a perennial favorite with women is the polka dot dress. And do not immediately think of navy and white, for, although this combination still prevails, there are many other color twosomes done in a dot design.

Brown with small white dots is second in importance. A bolero dress in smooth silk trimmed with crisp, shaggy white pique flowers is smart. Almost the nicest dress of this type that we have seen is of tan silk with white dots and sports a full length coat of brown dotted silk. Frogs of self material close the coat with great distinction and, although it is collarless, the tan and white dotted collar of the dress finishes the neck.

With Gray Background

Next in popularity comes the gray background. The shades vary, and the darker gray which is dotted in white is also lavishly trimmed with white in starched, fluted pique or dainty lace collars and cuffs. The lighter gray, also white dotted, is wonderfully enhanced by yellow — in one instance buttons, soft suede belt and delicate corsage. This is really unusual and lovely.

As for navy — well, you won't be disappointed if it is your favorite. There is nothing prosaic or conservative about the new navy and white interpretations. Rayon dresses are covered with sheer, sheer full length coats for a double dose of style in blue and white dots. Shirring, soft draping and full skirts give these dresses great femininity without detracting from their practical appearance. Since they depend on self trimming or white for accent they are never overdone.

One exquisite pure silk navy and white dot relies largely for eye-appeal on its yoke in which each dot is turned into a flower by means of a dainty white embroidered edge. When the short jacket of self material is slipped off, this individual detail makes you feel quite dressy.

The only other striking touch to which these dresses are treated is a dash of scarlet or crimson, which could in many cases be worn at will or laid aside. On the less elaborate dresses it is only a narrow belt or corsage. On others you will find rather wide shirred girdles, bunches of bright cherries, and, in a few smart instances, delightful scarlet boleros.

Coin Dots Attract Attention

The size of the dots which you will choose will be dictated by your own size and the occasions for which the dress must serve. Needless to say, the large coin dots are quite dramatic and do attract attention. Many of them are shown in filmy materials. The heavier silks and rayons are closely dotted with the tiny or medium sized spheres which are more flattering to the majority. If you would go the limit, you can find becoming silk jersey turbans polka-dotted and your shoe store will show you dotted step-in pumps in various fabrics.

"Sleeping blue" has nothing to do with a dreamy, hazy state of mind as we had suspected from the title. You have probably noticed that it is one of the most wide-awake colors we have had, almost electric. It is suggested for accenting navy and you will see it in turbans, gloves and blouses.

Have a glimpse at the house coats and lounging robes de luxe if you want a breath of spring that is really tangible in this tantalizing weather. Pastel shades were never more luxuriously displayed than in these garments. Styles range from the tiny waist-dress, wide hemmed variety to the softly draped, trailing robes which could dramatize any appearance you could possibly make in your own home. For these are definitely not negligees, but charming gowns for lounging or entertaining.

Quite Popular Now

Long rayon-chiffon coats over printed rayon-crepe dresses as illustrated above are good style for the present season and will be excellent in the warmer weather. The dress above is in the now very popular gray and white print.

Paper-thin taffeta rustles delicately and is sometimes checked with a thin red or green line, other times big pastel blocks of every pastel color are placed on a white background. The cool, rippling silks which are made on more flowing lines are to be found in every shade of pink and blue. Many of them are printed materials. White flowers, such as sprays of lilac, trailing across these lovely backgrounds are most effective.

Printed Crepe Combinations

For a more sophisticated treatment there is heavy crepe in printed combinations of green, chartreuse and other colors which have brilliant sashes such as purple or raspberry. Navy is practical and slenderizing and when it has a striking front panel of brilliant roman stripes or plaid it puts you in a festive mood. Most of these beauties are zipped at the front, although the more elaborate are softly tied with wide girdles.

One of these in mimosa yellow chiffon has full sleeves gathered at the wrists and a high neck; cuffs, neckline and girdle are powdered with tiny, perfect, golden stars looking for all the world like the ones your little boy proudly brings home from school on his arithmetic and spelling papers. The shirtwaist style is not neglected, either. It too appears in yellow of a richer shade with the top smartly tucked across the shoulders and up and down the rest of the blouse. The skirt is plain and very full.

Earrings are carrying out the fruit and flower motif so much used in other accessories. Rosy, green stemmed apples and little waxen pears abound. The loveliest, we think, are exquisite pansy faces with gently crinkled edges which nestle close to your ear lobe.

Sports Before Your Eyes

by JOE DUVAL

Basketball With A Purpose

Their second Newark championship in two years was not exactly a surprise to the Fewsmith Miners. They set a goal for themselves two years ago when they organized and they have attained it. Next winter they have decided to retire the trophy for good and they probably will do it. For Belleville's best team is also one of the classiest in North Jersey. It is unusual to find a combine sponsored by an organization as democratic as the Miners. Two seasons ago the boys first got together and laid down definite rules for themselves with the help of Dr. Close. Usually when an older man sponsors a team he tries to run it all.

He pointed out to the kids — for that's all most of them were at that time — that many athletes smoke, but the good ones don't. So they voluntarily adopted a "no smoking" rule. Also on the books is the regulation that, while all the members of the team are not from Fewsmith, all must be church-goers. When a boy smokes, the other members of the team decide whether or not his excuse is valid. If not, he does not play the next game.

Dr. Close does not pick the team, but does have the power of veto. The business end of the club is handled by coach, Dick Brugman, and manager, Bill Engleman. Sugar daddy of the team and its most beloved rooter is Howard J. "Pop" Richards, who cares for the boys like a mother hen does her chicks. He took upon himself the task of keeping scores and records, guarding paraphernalia and generally acting as father protector.

Dr. Close, incidentally, is one of the staunchest supporters of a fuller recreational and athletic program for Belleville's youth, particularly as it affects the churches. Say he: "I'm in this thing for keeps, this physical education for the churches." Meaning the program he is carrying on up at Fewsmith would wear out a less determined man. His basketball roster alone numbers six teams. He takes a personal interest in it, devotes much of his time to it, is not content to merely nod his head and say yes to proposals of his parishioners. His philosophy is that, "where good does not go, bad will" and on this he bases his advocacy of enlarged athletic programs for the churches to occupy the minds of youth between Sundays.

The training tips of the old master is bearing more and more fruit all the time among the Belleville bikers. Joe Kopsky has known a thing or three about pedalling for more than three decades. When he moved to Belleville in September, 1935 he brought with him the accumulated knowledge of many years of campaigning in Olympic and world championship competition. One of the first things he did was form the Belleville Bicycle Club, which has been gaining a bigger foothold every year. First, Joe developed his daughter into a national champion, now he is thrusting well-muscled youths — many of whom didn't know the difference between a spoke and a sprocket before he took them in hand — into the pedalling spotlight. And year by year the trophy cabinets of local leads become more crowded. Kopsky is passing on to Belleville's youth heritage from the cycling world — first hand training from a world's champion himself.

TEMPLARS WANT MORE PLAYERS

Team Won Nine Out Of Thirteen Games During 1939 Season

The Belleville Templars will field a baseball team again this year, according to an announcement made this week by the officials. Neil Intindola has been named business manager and Ralph Vera was re-appointed athletic advisor for the 1940 nine.

The turnout for the 1940 nine promises a season even more successful than last year, when the team won nine of its thirteen games. One of the Templars' most important victories of last season was over the previously undefeated Packers, with whom a great rivalry still exists.

Mike Rosamilia will once more hold down first base and fill in as relief pitcher. Vito Vitellio is a cinch for third base and Sal Aiello will be a starting pitcher. All other positions are wide open, Intindola said this week.

Applicants for the team should contact Michael Rosamilia of 6 St. Mary's place.

Chicken Softballers Hold Season's First Practice

The Chickene A. C. divided itself into two teams and traipsed to School No. 7 field for its first outdoor softball practice of the year on Sunday. Twenty players reported to Manager Cafone for the seven-inning game, which ended in a 4-4 tie.

Caesar Del Guercio and Fred De Furio were the starting pitchers and were followed by Nick Aurimma and John Frunzi. Outstanding with the willow were Joe Frunzi, Nick Lombardi, Caesar and Tony Casale and Carmine Cafone. The longest hit of the game was registered by Otto De Furio, a triple with two on.

P. S. Shows Income Increase For Comparative Period

Compared with the corresponding periods a year ago, operating income of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and subsidiary companies for February and for the twelve months ended February 29, 1940 increased. For the same periods, respectively, operating, maintenance, depreciation and retirement expenses and taxes also increased.

Operating revenues for February were $1,557,907.73 as against $1,081,432.39 for February 1939, an increase of $676,475.34. Operating expenses, maintenance, depreciation and retirement expenses and taxes were $827,462.87, an increase of $618,075.05. Operating income was $3,286.86 or $548,400.29 more than in February 1939.

Three-Car Smash-Ups End With No One Hurt

No one was injured in a three-car smash-up on Union avenue near William street Sunday afternoon. According to police, traffic had stopped for a red light at Union and Belleville avenues. George H. Cox, fifty-nine, of 189 Tappan avenue, driving north on Union, ran into the rear of the car driven by Miss Sarah Holter, Newark, who in turn collided with the automobile of Harold O'Connor of Port Richmond, N. Y.

C. F. W. Pinners Trim Legion Boys 2540-2485

The Veterans of Foreign Wars trimmed the American Legion by fifty-five pins in their special bowling match at North Newark Bowling Academy. The final score was 2540-2485, with Dan Schnable leading the Vets' attack with 198.

The two teams will meet again in the near future.

Paul Muller Pedals Way To Tri-State Crown

The Belleville Bicycle Club added new laurels to its already long list Saturday when club roller tiddler, Paul Muller, copped the Invitation Tri-State Handicap Roller Championship at the Unione Sportiva Italiana headquarters in New York. Muller, who lives in North Newark, defeated entries from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania to gain his title.

In the final, Paul, riding from one-half lap, won from Eddie Passamonti of the USI club, who rode from one and a half laps. Red Casey of Hoboken, second-call member of BBC, riding from one lap, defeated scratchman George Edge of Philadelphia for third.

PACKERS READY FOR SEASON

Twelve Players Will Be Back With Local Nine; Guardi And Stefanelli Out

The Belleville Packers are out to beat the record of last year's nine, which suffered only two defeats in more than a score of games. Twelve players have been definitely signed for the coming season. Only two members from last year's squad will be missing when the team takes the field for the first contest in a month or so, but both will be sorely missed.

Lou Stefanelli and Tony Guardi, two of last season's standouts, have become CCCers and will be unavailable for duty. The twelve who will play this season are Mike Marotti, Gene Riccio, Joe and Jack Longo, Freddie Montalbano, John Giambro, Joe Cifrodella, Sam Noto, Art Peterson, Nick Luca, Joe Bruno and Nick Maura.

Heckel Street Man Sentenced To Federal Prison

Rocco Grillo of 89 Heckel street was sentenced to two years in Federal penitentiary by Federal Circuit Judge Clark on Thursday. Grillo and Joseph Grande of New York were convicted of illegally operating a still on a farm in Parsippany. Grande was sentenced to a year and a day.

Both men are in Morris County Jail, having been committed there seven weeks ago by Morris Common Pleas Court on state charges growing out of the same offense. On the state charge Grillo was sentenced to forty days and fined $500, Grande to thirty days and $250 fine, both to stand committed until the fines are paid.

Woman Struck By P. S. Bus Near Town Line

Mrs. Marie Buonato, seventy-six, of 83 Carmer avenue, was reported last night as resting comfortably in St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, recovering from injuries sustained Saturday morning when she was struck by a Public Service bus on Washington avenue near the Nubler line.

According to police, Mrs. Buonato was attempting to cross the avenue when the bus, which was operated by George Waugh of 310 Chestnut street, Kearny, struck her. Taken to the hospital in the town ambulance by Fireman Bechtoldt and Patrolman Nygard, she was treated for severe bruises about the head.

PITTS LOSE THEIR FIRST SACKER

Rommie McGlynn Put On Shelf By Appendectomy; Will Open April 21

The Pitt Minors will be without the services of Rommie McGlynn this year, manager Henry Lubben announced Tuesday. McGlynn, who has maintained a .262 batting average in seventy games in his three years with the club, underwent an emergency appendectomy last week.

To replace McGlynn the Minors expect to acquire Elmer Doramus, catcher for Barringer High last year. Lubben also said that the ex-Gems will be without George Wiggins, pitcher, until June, since Wiggins will be twirling for Al Mannaux's Seton Hall College nine.

The Minors have tentatively set April 21 as their opening date although no game has been arranged. They have booked games which will take them to Sussex, Chester, Branchville, Keansburg, Netcong, Hasbrouck Heights, Dunellen and Lodi. The local nine has started practice in the Webster Street (Newark) School gym and expects to be outdoors this week-end, weather permitting.

DOGS

by Laurence Torley

Licenses

All dogs are required by town ordinance to be licensed. The last day for such registration is March 31. If you have not already done so this will serve as a reminder. If dog is worth keeping, he is worth the payment of a license fee.

Springtime

This is the big season for giving and receiving puppies. The average puppy which has been properly taken care of does not need to be wormed every few weeks. Many people have a mania for giving worm medicines for each and every ailment they can think of. This is not only cruel but extremely dangerous. Why give the puppy some worm pill when you do not know for certain what type of worm is present, or if there are actually any there at all? If you are certain, then by all means give the proper treatment, but be sure that you are giving the proper treatment.

Go to some experienced veterinarian who can prescribe the correct dosage and type of medicine. Then you may be assured of real results. This is also true regarding the many tonics, conditioners and remedies which are on sale. Best to forget all about these concoctions. Plenty of people will continue to buy them but don't be one of them. The best tonics, purifiers, conditioners, etc., are useless unless you are feeding the dog proper food. Plenty of good wholesome food and exercise will eliminate all need of patent nostrums.

The third annual show of the Kennel Club of Northern New Jersey will be held in the 104th Engineers' Armory, Teaneck, on Saturday, April 13. Closing date for entries is April 6. This is one of the most progressive clubs in the country and is well worth a visit. If you own a pedigreed dog and want to know how he rates, show it at Teaneck and have an expert appraisal. DI MAGGIO MAY BE CONTEST JUDGE

Promises To Be At St. Anthony's Contest If Schedule Doesn't Conflict

Joe Di Maggio, who does a turn for the Yankees now and then, will do a turn for St. Anthony's Field Club when the time comes around to judge the winner in the popularity contest now being conducted by the local club, Joseph Granese, general chairman, announced Tuesday.

Di Maggio has promised that, unless schedule difficulties prevent him, he will be present at the affair which will close the contest May 25. He was referring to the fact that first call on his services is still held by the Yankees and, should the champs be playing in Chicago or St. Louis at the time, he would have to answer the call of duty.

Commissioner Louis A. Noll this week consented to act as one of the judges, while the other will be Gerald Spatola. The Field Club this week issued an invitation to all clubs in Belleville to enter contestants in the race for the prizes, which will include a diamond ring, a wrist watch and a maracas pin.

The first five girls to enter were Ella Rosamilia of 78 Sanford avenue; Mary Cerami of 13 Hilton street; Florence Alberta, 28 Frederick street; Mary Della Terza, 130 Heckel street, and Ann Julian, 32 Frederick street.

Granese announced this week that he will be glad to answer all inquiries regarding the contest over the telephone at HUmboldt 3-9448. An entry blank will be found on another page of this paper.

The Fewsmith Miners walked off with the Newark Church League crown for the second year in a row. The Fewsmith Hornets soundly trounced their nearest rival to practically assure themselves of top honors in the Belleville Church League.

Kings of the Newark YMCA Church Basketball League for the second year in a row, the Fewsmith Miners will be honored at a banquet at the Newark Y, April 14. The Belleville quincled the title in the Weequahic High School gym Saturday night by trouncing Grace Methodist of Newark 48-16 in a game that was never even close.

Fewsmith led the race for the championship all the way and won by a two-game margin over the North Reformed Church Tonnas of Newark. By the end of the first round they headed the pack by one game and increased their advantage in the second round. Saturday night Ed Gorman, George McNally and Johnny Walters each dropped in five double-deckers to head the scoring parade.

The Miners made their power felt from the beginning of the game as they had from the start of the season. They shut Grace out with nary a point in the first quarter, piled up a 28-4 lead by half time.

It was the first time in the ten-year history of the league, which numbers teams from Arlington, Kearny and Newark besides the Miners, that any team has captured two championships in successive years. It gave the Miners, who have been in the loop but two years, their second leg on the perpetual trophy, needing but one more to gain permanent possession.

Town Physician's Daughters Hurt In Car Crack-up

Two daughters of Town Physician Martin Meehan were slightly injured Friday morning when the car in which they were riding was struck by a milk truck at the intersection of Terry and Stephen streets. Another daughter and Mrs. Meehan, who was driving the car, were uninjured.

Mrs. Meehan told Patrolman Dunn, who investigated, that she was driving east on Terry street. When she saw the intersection she saw the truck, which is owned by Sheffield Farms of Orange, coming south on Stephen. Thinking the truck was intending to continue through the intersection she came to a full stop. Instead the truck turned right into Terry, skidded in the heavy snow and collided with the Meehan car, hurling it over the curb and into a telephone pole, badly damaging the left side of the car.

Mary, eleven, and Katherine nine, were knocked against the side of the car, causing them to suffer bruises. Theresa, seven, was uninjured. The driver of the truck was Thomas McEvoy, thirty-eight, of 73 Linden avenue, East Orange.
