

OVERMAN TIRE TAX PLEA REJECTED BY BOARD

Commissioners Veto Attempt To Cancel Penalties By Delinquent

The financial difficulties of the Overman Tire Company at Rutgers and Cortlandt streets received scant sympathy with the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night. The board considered and rejected a request from officials of the company for cancellation of all interest and penalties on its delinquent taxes owed the town.

A letter from the company was read and placed in the minutes of the meeting and Mayor Williams was authorized to write the company rejecting its request. The letter asked that "all interest and penalties that have been paid and accrued to date on delinquent taxes be cancelled and that the monies paid on account of interest to date be applied against the amount of taxes assessed."

In return the company promised to pay the entire amount of the delinquent taxes, but on the principal only, "that exists up to and including the first half of 1940" and to pay "all current taxes on their date due."

Five Reasons

The company entered the plea on five counts: that it is struggling for existence, that it employs 125 persons who would be thrown on public relief should it close, that the plant is of no use other than the manufacture of tires without extensive alterations, that it is progressive and that, in the re-organization of the old bankrupt company, "no mitigation of reduction in penalties was made by the town."

It was estimated that the accrued interest and penalties total more than $8,000. If the condition described in the letter were true, namely that the company is struggling for existence and the buildings could be put to no other use, the Mayor said, the request might be granted, but that he believed it a dangerous precedent to set.

Commissioner Waters pointed out that the company won a judgment of a million dollars several years ago and made no settlement of its tax problem.

MEASLES EPIDEMIC STARTS TO ABATE

Drops To Six a Day; Berry Foresees End Late Next Week

The fury of the measles epidemic has abated somewhat, according to Health Officer Berry. He said yesterday that the number of new cases had fallen to six or seven a day compared to an average of fifteen a week ago. The decrease has been noted only this week, however, for since last Wednesday 106 new cases were reported.

He expects that the disease will have ceased to be of epidemic proportions by the end of next week. All told 236 cases had been reported up to last night.

Berry attributes the abatement of the epidemic to the closing of school, thus eliminating much of the danger of contacts. The cool spring, he declared, was one of the causes of the epidemic because moderate weather enhances the spread of measles, extreme warmth checks it.

It is an interesting fact, Berry pointed out as he went through past records, that measles epidemics seem to occur in alternate years. The latest siege is mild in comparison with the previous ones in 1935 and 1937 when 802 and 710 cases respectively were reported. Last year there were only eight cases here.

Retiring Patrolman Honored at Dinner

Transportation Facilities Will Be Improved

Public Service To Add Ten Buses To Route 112; Jersey City-Montclair Service Extended In Town

Public Service was given permission to add ten more buses to its Route No. 112 by a resolution of the commission Tuesday. Ten buses are already operating on the route, which carries local passengers between Passaic and the Pennsylvania Station in Newark and passes through Belleville on Union avenue. The fare to the station was reduced to ten cents several months ago. When the request was considered, the commissioners briefly discussed the advisability of withholding permission until a settlement was reached with Public Service on the placing of the new street light poles on North Sixth street near the Jergens plant.

Public Service declares it will put only wooden poles there. The commissioners and officials of the Jergens Company are holding out for steel poles. Permission was finally granted. Mayor Williams said that he had seen "everybody up to the president" of Public Service and "that's my next stop" in the controversy on the light standards.

Montclair-Jersey City
Bus service from Belleville to Montclair and Caldwell in the west and Jersey City in the east is due for improvement in the near future, Commissioner Noll indicated yesterday. Noll is head of the Department of Parks and Public Property in which is included the town's transportation system.

Belleville was included in one of the requests of the Jersey City-Montclair Bus Company which the Public Utilities Commission approved Tuesday. By the approval passengers may now be legally picked up here for discharge in Montclair, Verona and the Caldwells and vice versa. Objections of the Truckers Transit Company and DeCamp Bus Lines that such permission was prejudicial to their interests were overruled.

The utilities board at the same time gave the Jersey City-Montclair line permission to add two buses to its present fleet of ten. All other towns but Belleville have given the necessary permission; hence these two buses must pass through here "with their doors closed."

Noll said that permission was being held up here pending completion of new Mill street so that some of the congestion between Belleville and Union avenues and Washington avenue and Rutgers street may be unraveled. He described this part of the route as a bottleneck.

SEVERAL STREETS MAY BE PAVED; COST $6,000

Commission Passes Ordinance On First Reading; Storm Sewer For Ogden Road

Nine streets are due for resurfacing if the ordinance introduced on first reading at the commission meeting Tuesday night is passed on final reading July 9. The estimated cost of the projects will total $6,000, of which $5,400 will be raised by a bond issue. The remaining $600 was provided for in the 1940 budget of the Department of Public Works.

The streets which may be paved with bituminous concrete are Cedar Hill avenue from Belleville avenue to Joralemon street; Mt. Prospect avenue from Belleville to Holmes; Columbus avenue, from Belleville avenue north; New street, from Joralemon to Division; William street, from Dow to Washington avenue; Tappan avenue from Washington to Adelaide; Malone avenue from Washington to Forest; Little street from Washington to Adelaide, and Main street at the Federal Leather plant.

An ordinance Tuesday was an ordinance which would appropriate $900 for the construction of a fifteen-inch reinforced concrete pipe storm sewer on Ogden road from Belleville avenue to the Essex County Park line. Included in the act is provision for the erection of a reinforced concrete and concrete block retaining wall at the northerly end of Ogden road.

Pleasant avenue from Belleville avenue to the Essex County Park line is also due for repaving. The commission passed on first reading an ordinance providing for the work with penetration macadam and asphaltic concrete with a concrete curbing. It is estimated that the project will cost $1,900.

HEALTH EMPLOYEES REAPPOINTED

Mrs. Mayer, Mrs. Booth Again Dental And Medical Clerks

Contracts of two employees of the health department of the school system were renewed on the recommendation of Mrs. Homer C. Zink, chairman of the health committee, at the Board of Education meeting Monday.

Mrs. Alice Mayer of 201 Linden avenue was rehired as dental clerk at a salary of $700 and Mrs. Adele H. Booth of 33 Rutgers street will again be medical clerk at a salary of $650. Mrs. Mayer will also be employed during the month of July to follow up the unreturned cards given to pupils after dental examinations during the school year.

Mrs. Zink reported that only about 1,000 of the 5,137 cards issued during the year have been returned with a report of perfect teeth or of the corrective work having been done.

Medical examinations of 2,457 children were carried out during the year by Dr. Harold Kavanagh and Dr. Barney Schaffer. Mrs. Zink reported. Bad teeth led the list of defects found with 1,087 cases. Foot troubles were second with 860 while 679 pupils were found to be suffering throat ailments.

Hawker's License Refused

The request of Salvatore Petrillo of Bloomfield for a hawkers license for selling ice cream was rejected by the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night. With several companies and individuals already selling ice cream in the streets, the commissioners said, the addition of more hawkers in this line would be unfair competition for the local merchants.

EVERETT B. SMITH ROTARY HEAD

Lawyer, Police Recorder Inducted Yesterday At Forest Hill

Everett B. Smith of 15 Van Reyper place, lawyer, building and loan counsel and town police recorder, was inducted yesterday as the new president of the Belleville Rotary Club. The induction, conducted by the Rev. Peter Deekenbach, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, took place at the Forest Hill Field Club.

Wilbur W. Brooks of Upper Montclair, vice-president of the First National Bank of Belleville, is the new vice-president of the club. The other officers are Arthur Dent of National Grain Yeast Company, treasurer, and Edward Peierls of the Resistoflex Corporation, secretary. The Board of directors includes George Kaden, retiring president, William V. Irvine and Arthur Heyer.

Judge Smith is a graduate of Belleville High School, Class of 1926 and the New Jersey Law School '29. He was admitted to the bar immediately after graduation from the law school and in 1932 was named police recorder here, a position he still holds. He previously had held the offices of secretary and vice-president of the Rotary Club.

Budget Is Endangered By Loss of Revenue, Williams States

Doubt On Franchise, Receipts Taxes Makes Income Questionable, He Tells The Board

The first indication of worry over the town's budget for next year was contained in a few statements made by Mayor Williams during the discussion of Commissioner Noll's request for an emergency appropriation of $5,000 for recreation Tuesday night at the commission meeting. Williams painted a dark picture to the board and suggested that he was considering a request that the board agree to ask for no appropriations not contained in this year's figures unless they could be provided for by effecting economies in the present budget. For more than an hour the commissioners sat in quiet conversation which ranged over nearly all of the financial structure of the town.

FIFTH MAD DOG IS DISCOVERED

Pet of Mrs. Hunkele Found To Be Rabid; Berry Warns Owners

Belleville's fifth mad dog of the year was discovered yesterday when the pet belonging to Mrs. Teresa Hunkele of 291 Main street died and was found to have had rabies. The dog became sick June 19 and was taken to the Belleville Dog and Cat Hospital and from there to the headquarters of the Humane Society.

At that time it was thought that the animal was merely ill. Mrs. Hunkele and her son Francis attempted to administer to it and another son William also came in contact with its saliva. No persons were bitten by the dog.

Health Officer Berry again warned the people of town about tampering with sick dogs. The Health Department should be called immediately, he said.

Excise Board Overrules Verdon Tavern Objector

Votes To Renew All Liquor Licenses In Town Despite Parcells' Protest; Mayor Warns Of Prosecution Of Violators

The liquor permits of all of the town's forty-one taverns, two clubs and five distributor licenses were renewed by the excise board Tuesday night. There was only one objection registered and that was against the tavern of Lester D. Verdon at 40 Washington avenue on the charges of noise and late hours. The objection, which came from Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Parcells of 37 Washington avenue, was overruled on the grounds that it was the first complaint against the taproom and that no representation had ever been made to the police.

"People know where such complaints should be made," said Commissioner Waters in moving renewal of licenses, "and if they do not first appeal to the police I do not see why we should bother about them."

Parcells objected to the tavern "because of the fights and noise starting at midnight and lasting until after hours, causing loss of sleep and loss of work." He claimed that his wife had lost twenty pounds through loss of sleep. He also charged that the most recent fight at Verdon's was on June 13 and that the tavern "was open until 5 a.m. last Saturday."

"Others would like to protest but they are afraid," he said in his letter to the board.

The license heretofore issued to Florence Core for the premises at 14 Belmont avenue was given to the executors of her estate, Enrico Core and James Mango. Mrs. Core died June 11 after making application for renewal.

Warns Tavernkeepers
Mayor Williams took the occasion to address the large gathering of tavernkeepers who were present in the council chambers and to warn them against violations of the ABC and town regulations. "I believe most but not all of the tavern owners are making an honest attempt to obey the laws," he said.

"I have no definite proof but know only from the information turned in to me. If it is not stopped, I shall turn this information over to the police for investigation." He did not name any specific violations but did mention the two recent trials for liquor violations.

A letter from Edward Garrett, acting ABC commissioner, commending the board for its action in suspending the license of William Mate of 301 Washington avenue, was read. Mate pleaded guilty to three charges and received an eight-day suspension.

Local Red Cross Appeals To Clergymen

Requests Collections In All Churches Sunday; Contributions Slow Up; Emergency Relief Pushed

Chairman Frank L. Chambers of the local chapter of the American Red Cross has requested the clergymen of the town to take up a special collection in all churches this Sunday for the benefit of the War Relief Fund. His action followed a letter from the national headquarters of the Red Cross. Collections during the past week have been poor and the figure remains at approximately $2,300 collected of the $4,000 quota.

Otto T. Breunlich, co-chairman of the fraternal section, announced that he is completing plans for emergency relief work here in Belleville. In cooperation with the heads of various organizations he is working out a plan so that, in the event of any emergency or disaster here, immediate help will be available for the local authorities.

A group of high school students donated the Red Cross headquarters and collected $26 at the commencement exercises at Clearman Field last week. They were directed by Mrs. Doris Sharenberg.

Dr. Fischer announces that he intends to specialize in eye care designed to eliminate eye strain. These latest developments are particularly interesting to parents whose children, following class promotion in school, develop so-called short-sightedness. If the child complains that the blackboard in the schoolroom cannot be seen clearly from all desks, it does not mean that the child is permanently short-sighted. The same problem applies to adults who change their reading distance or working tasks. When these conditions are properly understood, they cease to be problems of any magnitude. Orthoptic training is rapidly winning many friends. In plain language orthoptic training is merely building up, by exercise, of these weak or sluggish muscles so that reading or close work tasks at the reading distance can be performed without undue eyestrain.

MILTON Praised BY GENERAL

Local Marine Honored By Holcomb At Graduation In Washington

Special to The News
 Washington, D. C. — Praise for his ability as a student was recently given to Private Vitold J. Milton of 223 Main street, who completed the difficult mechanical engineer's course as taught by the Marine Corps Institute here. Accompanying the diploma was a letter of commendation from Major-General Thomas Holcomb, commandant of the corps.

Milton is stationed with the Third Reserve District, Navy Yard, New York City, and despite his various military duties found the necessary time to study for and successfully pass all examinations. The Marine Corps Institute was established many years ago with the purpose of presenting free textbooks and courses to Marines desirous of studying in their spare time. The institute offers a wide variety of courses, including many in arts, trades and sciences.

General Holcomb's letter to Milton read in part: "The Major-General Commandant congratulates you upon your excellent work in completing this course."

THIS IS BUICK'S BIGGEST YEAR

So this one must be good!

WE'RE not telling you this 1940 Buick is the best we've ever built—you're telling us!

Never in our history have we built so many cars as we have this model year—not even in the flush days of the twenties.

Now why is that? Because of the big Dynaflex engine that's the only power plant balanced after assembly? Because of the soft-and-easy BuCoil Springing ride?

Because of size? Because of style?

Because of features—appointments—ruggedness—value?

We'll let you decide. But there's food for thought in prices* that begin as $895 low as for the business coupe, delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation, based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories are extra—but that still adds up to delivered prices that are mighty low for the best Buick we ever built.

The Need For Economy

The need for future economy in the handling of Belleville's municipal finances was brought out strongly by Mayor Williams the other night and his point was well taken. He and the other commissioners showed honest perspicacity in facing the future squarely and not trying to deal in fanciful wishes. That state and federal monetary assistance to the municipalities is gradually being diminished almost to the vanishing point has been known for some time but it is one of those things finance directors usually whine about rather than face and try to circumvent by their own efforts. Belleville's governing body is getting ready to meet the difficulty head-on instead of trying to side-step it.

More was learned at this informal discussion about the financial structure and outlook than had been in a long time. In an air of friendship the commissioners went into the present and the future thoroughly, and out of it all came a picture crystal-clear of what Belleville faces if certain things are and are not done.

The comment which summed up the whole situation in a few words was that of the Mayor when he said: "Gentlemen, this town is not out of the financial woods yet." Great progress has been made in the past decade to straighten out the tangled mess of Belleville finances but, simply because things are running comparatively smoothly and have been for several years, we cannot afford to be lulled into a false security.

Generally speaking, Belleville's governors are not spenders and that is one of the chief reasons why the progress has been

A New Order

News of the French surrender has brought a deluge of interpretations and comments in the press. Correspondents in the field blame England for not sending as many divisions into battle as she promised. They cite the great preponderance of German tanks, planes and men in a one-sided battle that was doomed from the start. They sympathize with the French people for the added humiliation they endured in signing a truce with an enemy who had engaged them in battle lasting less than a week. They deplore the situation which will now make the country a war base for the destruction of her former Ally, Britain. Yet the full story is not known. Probably only future historians unhampered by rumors, propaganda and the inner turmoil of the nation will be able to unravel the tangle of governmental and military knots that have succeeded in choking the country into such disastrous submission.

Out of all these postmortems emerges the regrettable fact that not only France but Britain and we in America are equally to blame for the present state of the Allies.

Our Civilian Air Corps

Invitations were sent out to 3,500 air-minded women this week to attend a mass meeting in New York sponsored by the Women Flyers of America, in an effort to recruit a women's civilian air corps to aid in national defense. Aware that women pilots could fill a definite need in a national emergency, Mrs. Opal Kunz, president of the organization, said it was their aim to train girls as medical and liaison flyers.

This move is in line with a growing consciousness that airplanes and pilots trained to fly them would be our first line of defense. With plans and appropriations under way to bring our air force up to fighting strength, the question of training pilots is of paramount importance. It is reassuring to know that during the past year the Civil

Gloomy Weather

Stringing along on reminiscences of then and now, remember all the parched acres in this vicinity last summer? The water meters clicked along on sweltering evenings when desperate home owners tried to salvage all the effort spent on lawn cultivating and gardening earlier in the spring. Great areas of sun-dried grass burned from lack of moisture and sprinkling had to be curtailed because of shortage in the water supply if our memory is correct.

made. But the need for rigid economy seldom has been more pressing than it is today. WPA has been trimming its sails and federal money is not as plentiful as it was even six months ago. Fortunately Belleville has never depended too heavily on national alphabets for help and now that there is a definite shortage from that source this town is one of the first to try to meet the problem.

There is only one large project in town which is still dependent on WPA funds and every effort should be made this summer to complete the Turf Bog immediately. The possibility is not inconceivable that federal funds may be withdrawn in a few months. Belleville lost considerably when the old CWA folded up several years ago and, with an election coming in November, anything is liable to happen.

The local school system has received a steadily decreasing sum from the state and, if we are to maintain the system on its present level of efficiency, it will mean an added load for the taxpayers of town. More and more the municipalities are being thrown on their own and told to shift for themselves. It is the smart town that has already realized this and is making ready to fly on its own wings. Somehow we think that the Mayor's feeler that Belleville pull in its horns altogether, that absolutely nothing new be put into the budget for the time being unless it can be effected through economies in the present budget, is a sound one. The less we as a community have to depend on outsiders for our support the easier it will be for us to stand on our own feet when we are told to do so.

A blind spot has been growing unhampered in our international consciousness — an unwarranted feeling of well-being and complacency fostered by the great fallacy that "It can't happen here." Well, it has, and whether we like it or not, let us admit that it is a peculiar kind of astigmatism that couldn't see the author of "Mein Kampf" preening himself for the leading role in a play of his own invention.

At this writing, to borrow a phrase from by-liners, rumors of Hitler's five-zone Europe are being discussed. This plan appears no more ludicrous than his other brain-children and with his peculiar knack for accomplishing his own ambitions, it may yet be achieved. Undoubtedly we are witnessing the changing of the whole world order with Germany acting as the primary force. Yet, if the Nazis succeed in swallowing all the delicacies at the feast, it is not unlikely that acute indigestion will follow. It is hoped that when it does, the peoples of the world will have found a way to live in a harmony with their neighbors that excludes nationalistic tendencies and boundary lines on maps.

Aeronautics Authority and the National Youth Administration have been at work training civilian flyers, and that at the end of this month approximately 10,000 candidates will have completed their courses. By June, 1941, it is estimated that 45,000 will be eligible for private pilot certificates.

This does not mean that these civilian flyers will have had the experience and training necessary to handle fast fighting and bombing planes — much more training will be required for that. But it does mean that they will have had from thirty-five to fifty hours flying instruction, plus a ground schooling in the rudiments of aviation. And this alone, as a nucleus upon which to build a competent air force, is itself much more knowledge than many young men had as members of the air service in the last World War.

But now the grass is getting greener all the time and energies expended on supplying moisture are spent on lawn mowers that can be heard whizzing in chorus between showers, in an effort to keep the grass shorn to a reasonable semblance of well-kept lawns. Flooded gardens and cellars are becoming a matter of course and the temperature makes us wonder if we have pulled too many pages off the calendar by mistake — there's just no telling what a year can bring.

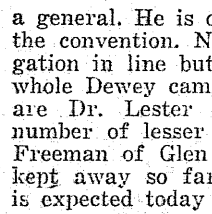

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

This is being written Wednesday morning in Philadelphia, which is too early to make even an approximate guess as to who will be the Republican nominee. But there is plenty to write about nevertheless. Never probably in the history of the state have New Jersey delegates to a national convention been subjected to such political pressure. Up to last night this pressure came mainly from two sources — Dewey and Willkie headquarters. But after Herbert Hoover's splendid address last night a third element has entered. The former President's stock is rising, although it is doubtful whether it will rise high enough to be a dominating factor — either with the New Jersey delegation or the convention as a whole.

The fight between the Willkie and Dewey camps is so open and brazen as to be almost ludicrous. Arthur T. Vanderbilt is the leader of the Dewey forces and he is fighting like a black panther in a jungle. Gone is the suave, mysterious figure of the background. Today he is a top sergeant as well as a general. He is out in the open and one of the important figures of the convention. Not only is he trying to hold the New Jersey delegation in line but he also has a hand in the basic strategy for the whole Dewey camp. Assisting him are Dr. Lester H. Clee and a number of lesser figures. Clayton Freeman of Glen Ridge has been kept away so far by illness, but is expected today or tomorrow.

Mrs. Gifford and Hoffman

The Willkie forces are being led by half a dozen figures, most of whom remain in the background. Mrs. Agnes Jones Gifford is the most ubiquitous of Willkie workers. She is seen in the lobby of every hotel where a delegate or a friend of a delegate may be staying. A good part of Willkie's time appears to be taken up seeing delegations that she brings around to his headquarters. Other women working openly or covertly for Willkie include Mrs. Edward T. Fishwick of Glen Ridge and Miss Myra Blakelee of East Orange. The big break for Willkie, however, is the support he is getting from Harold G. Hoffman and former State Chairman Henry Jeffers. There are reports, too, that Harry L. Derby and a number of other men from Montclair are out for Willkie hard. The Bellevue-Stratford Hotel is where the Willkie heat is being turned on strongest.

Republicans Are Enthusiastic

The spirit of the convention is very different from that of four years ago. Today there is real enthusiasm. While it is realized that events may throw the election to the Democrats, Republicans of every group believe that if the election could be fought out on domestic issues, their party would win hands down. They realize that the foreign situation is a gamble that may hurt the Democrats as well as help them. The impression that strikes me most forcibly is the intense feeling of women on the war situation. Almost all of them want the party to take a strong anti-war stand.

Hovering over the convention like a shadow is the whispered fear of a third party ticket, strongly isolationist, with Burton K. Wheeler the candidate for President and Charles A. Lindbergh for Vice-President. This fear is strengthening the bloc that wants a strong anti-war plank and is working to the disadvantage of Willkie who has endorsed more or less President Roosevelt's foreign policies, and to Dewey's advantage who opposed them most resolutely.

Should such a ticket materialize it might easily sweep the country — and so fast that the Democrats might even merge with the non-isolationist Republicans to offset it. This sounds crazy but these are momentous times.

Mrs. Williams Elected

Mrs. William H. Williams of 82 Rossmore place, wife of the Mayor, was elected president of the Women's Faculty Club of Bloomfield High School last week. The announcement was made at a luncheon held at the Park Manor Restaurant. Mrs. Williams, teaching in the French department for seven years, coaches high school plays.

the Jorammon street side. Armstrong said that approximately $55 worth of cigarettes, eight dollars in cash and an unknown amount of money which had been collected for the Red Cross were taken.

Socony To Open Gas Station On Washington Avenue

A new gasoline station will make its appearance on the avenue in the near future, it was learned this week. Norman H. Cooper of 97 Rossmore place, owner of the plot of ground on the southwest corner of Belleville and Washington avenues, announced that he would sell the property to the Socony-Vacuum Company.

He said the latter was planning on tearing down the old Shell Station which has been closed for more than a year and erecting a new, modern station. It is understood that the White Way Diner, which is now lengthwise along the avenue, will be moved sideways to make room for the service center.

Child Health Certificates Awarded To 22

Miss Ellen Smith, supervisor of nurses, awarded certificates to twenty-two girls who completed the child health hygiene courses under the leadership of Miss Helen Gilman, school nurse. The awards were made at Public School No. 8 last Thursday afternoon.

Monday afternoon Miss Smith awarded ten certificates and pins to girls who completed the same course under the direction of Miss Ethel Akersten, another school nurse. These awards were made at the Silver Lake Community House. Following the ceremony there was a social hour and entertainment. Among the guests were Mrs. Lon Herkins, director of social work; Miss Angela Percella, a club worker, Miss Mary Lillar and Miss Angelis Chapman.

Presentment May Be Handed Up Today In Frederick Killing

It is expected that the Grand Jury will hand up a presentment to Common Pleas Judge Hartshorne today on the indictment of two Newark youths for the murder of Frank Frederick on May 5. It is understood that August Buhrig Jr. and Earl Rost were indicted for the slaying at a hearing last Thursday.

Several witnesses to the shooting, which took place during an attempted holdup of Ye Olde Valley Tavern, were called before the jury Thursday to testify. When the case will be called on the court calendar is not yet known.

Mayor Williams To Speak At World's Fair

Mayor Williams will be one of the principal speakers this afternoon when Essex County Day is observed in the New Jersey Building at the New York World's Fair. He will speak on the "Economic and Industrial Advantages of the County."

Three More Robberies Reported

The grocery store of George E. Sadlock of 497 Washington avenue was broken into Monday night. According to police, $15 in cash and $10.50 worth of cigarettes were stolen. Patrolman Fletcher, who investigated, said entrance was gained through an alley window.

The Belleville Political and Social clubhouse at 282 Belleville avenue was entered Tuesday night and five bottles of beer were taken. The window on the east side of the building had been pushed in.

The confectionery store of Frank Armstrong at 313 Union avenue was broken into some time between 11 Saturday night when the store was closed and 7-30 Sunday morning when it was opened. According to the police, entrance was gained by breaking a window in a door on

MUSICAL SILHOUETTES

A Musical Commentary by Leon Carson

CCCCXXV

Great art is our inheritance. It knows no national boundaries. It is of all time.

—George A. Sloan

Frederick Shepherd Converse

An honored name is left by Frederick S. Converse, the distinguished American composer and musical educator who died in his home near Boston on June 8. Aside from being remembered as the composer of the first American opera produced at the Metropolitan — "The Pipe of Desire" — and another opera that found its way to public performance — "The Sacrifice" — Mr. Converse contributed to America's music a work that could only have been composed by an American, the orchestral fantasy, "Flivver Ten Million." His "American Sketches" also bespoke his interest in the native scene.

His studies were about equally divided between America and Germany, but his career was entirely American. He was of the so-called New England school of composers, though of a little technique, he orchestrated with skill, and, as his "Flivver Ten Million" testifies, he had the gift of musical humor, rare in all time and countries.

Kreisler

Music and war sometimes seem to get all mixed up. Fritz Kreisler, the great Austrian violinist, despite Nazi successes, is now a French citizen in good standing and upon his own initiative.

In substantiation of this he recently made two donations, one of 50,000 francs and one of 25,000 francs to the French Red Cross. Too late, Mr. Kreisler, we fear.

What Next?

And now, in this perennial atmosphere of moonlight and roses and sweet girl graduates, et al., comes word that Bucknell University has conferred upon Irving Berlin the degree of Doctor of Music.

The editor of current Musical Courier facetiously points out the fact that in view of this happening there should also be an honorary degree called Doctor of Music for persons who pick out tunes on the piano and have an arranger harmonize them and write the orchestrations and accompaniments. Degrees, so-called evidences of knowledge and genius, are flung around rather thickly these days, but, after all, it is still a far cry to Tin Pan Alley.

Stadium, — New York

The Lewisohn Stadium, New York's summer center of outdoor symphonic music, attained the respectable age of twenty-five years on May 31. For it was a quarter of a century ago — a venerable antiquity in these quickly-hurling times — that the late Adolph Lewisohn's munificent gift to the College of the City of New York was dedicated. The Stadium concerts of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony players re-opened there once more on June 20. The best way for New Yorkers to honor the memory of the generous music patron who made these concerts possible would be to revisit frequently the shrine which he provided. (From Musical Courier)

Among the Lesson-Sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Christian Science is dawning upon a material age. The great spiritual facts of being, like rays of light, shine in the darkness, though the darkness, comprehending them not, may deny their reality."

Aromando, Munzione Acquitted In Assault Charge

Recorder Smith dismissed complaints of assault and battery against Peter Aromando of 30 Belmont avenue, and Victor Munzione of 37 Watching avenue, brought by Aaron Crockett, colored, of 26 Watching avenue Friday at police court. Crockett claimed that on the corner of Watching avenue and Franklin street he was almost run down Thursday by a car that Munzione was driving.

When he shouted for Munzione to slow down, he said, Munzione stopped the car and advanced toward him threateningly. Soon, he added, about ten of Munzione's friends had gathered around him and began to hit him with stones. Among them Aromando, who knocked him down with a blow on the head from a blackjack. Munzione, he stated, kicked him when he was down.

Aromando denied any knowledge of the fight and said that at the time the supposed fight took place he was watching Munzione's car, which had run out of gas, while he had gone to a gasoline station at Bloomfield avenue and Lake street. Smith dismissed the complaint because of lack of evidence.

A complaint brought by Ira Jackson, colored, of 18 Holmes street, against Mac Hill, colored, of 11 Cleveland street charging the theft of $6.20 from him on June 8 was dismissed for the same reason.

Public Service Directors Vote To Continue Meetings

The board of directors of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey at its regular monthly meeting last week voted to depart from its custom of omitting July and August sessions as it has done for several years past.

Because of unsettled world conditions and the uncertainty of the near future it was deemed desirable for the board to meet during the summer months. Accordingly the matter of the declaration of dividends for the third quarter of the year, payable in September, will come up for action at the August meeting. Financial reports read by the chairman were satisfactory. The monthly dividend of 55 cents a share on the six percent stock was declared for record July 15.

The Child At Movies In Summer

If the summer vacation will mean more movies for your children, this seems the ideal time to give a little thought to the matter of selection. This, of course, has been a widely debated question for years and periodically it rises into prominence. A recent summary shows that matters stand approximately as they did in the beginning of the discussion in spite of the enormous increase in actual efforts to bring the thing under control. For instance, there are still those who maintain that the effect of the movies on their children's morals, manners and minds is nil. Others have gone so far as to organize groups of parents and teachers who preview the movies and allow only those which meet with their approval to be shown in their local theatres on the days when the youthful attendance is greatest.

It would seem most profitable, therefore, to handle this problem in the individual home which is surely the logical clearing house for it. A few of the findings of the statisticians and movie clinics may help you map your own campaign as you face the usual cry on long summer afternoons when play interest lags, "Mother, may I go to the movies?" The preference of the children themselves is a healthy one. Statistics show that they favor, in the order of their popularity, adventure, comedy, mystery, western and war pictures. Musical and romantic pictures trail at the end and pictures which have nothing other than a "love interest" are definitely out.

It has been noted that children are extremely sensitive to detail and, while this is a good feature in an educational short, it is coming, in the eyes of the psychologist, a dangerous one in a long, drawn-out film of an emotional nature. Guesseous details remain so clearly in their minds that nightmares and other upsets often follow. It is therefore well to eliminate these pictures or keep the number to a minimum. Any child who is high-strung should be kept entirely away from such films just as a child with a predisposition to tuberculosis would be guarded from contact with infection.

Decided Advantage

Outside of these precautions, however, and bearing in mind that any child should be encouraged to substitute as much outdoor exercise as possible for the movies, there is a decided advantage pointed out by some authorities. Children have an opportunity in attending a fairly thrilling or very amusing picture to get rid of a lot of pent-up emotions which they may be harboring without your knowledge. They naturally rebel against the restrictions life's conventions impose upon them and it is good for them occasionally to see fun poked at these things on the screen, especially when an adult gets the worst of it. It would appear that this problem is quite a personal one. It has not been found possible or successful so far to make a nationwide attack on unsuitable movies. The better move then is to watch your own child's movie fare, educate his tastes and do not impose any unnecessary restrictions. Perhaps the best suggestion of all is to begin the summer by attending movies with your child and really determine what his taste is. Your mode of attack will then be apparent to you.

Enjoyment of Gardens

We have been wondering whether we were alone in the unusual enjoyment we have had this year in gardening. F. F. Rockwell, writing his invaluable garden column weekly in the Sunday edition of The New York Times, philosophizes this week and beautifully explains the solace that comes from working with the earth and its products in times when almost all of man's achievements are being ruthlessly destroyed.

If you, too, have felt the luxurious peace that comes over you when your hands plunge into warm, crumbly earth and its sweet comforting aroma rises to envelope you, then you have philosophized already and found great comfort in the knowledge that, no matter how much destruction takes place above it, the earth can never be shorn of its power to reproduce beauty and cover up the wounds of war.

If you are not in the habit of experiencing this thrill begin now to discover it. No one is free from turmoil of spirit when he reads and listens to the news of the day. No matter how limited your space you can grow something. If you have already planted seeds and have little seedlings now in rows, take more patience with them this year. Separate the baby plants and have three rows where one grew before. This act seems to be the stimulation they most enjoy and, when you see how they leap into growth, your confidence in the stable forces of life will grow in proportion. You will realize that you have strength and power even in a day when men are rendered helpless on the battlefields as they never have been before. You still have the power to exert the quiet persistent self-control that nature always uses to grow the most beautiful results from the most unlikely sources.

Practical hints of which you should take advantage in your gardens now are those which suggest very frequent cultivation to prevent weeds from getting sizeable, mulching your perennials and rose bushes to conserve precious moisture, and removing dead flowers so that fall bloom can take place. These simple attentions will save you the discouraging big tasks which result when you neglect small items.

Recipe Column

Send your favorite and reliable recipes to our contest. Two prizes will be awarded weekly. Each winner will receive two guest passes to the Kent Theatre. The features starting Sunday are: Saturday's Children and "Convicted Woman."

There are some recipes which are pleasant surprises because they are simple to prepare and yet when completed they are quite impressive. The two following desserts come in this category. For the season which has already opened and will soon be in full swing:

Peach Cups

2 cups of milk
2 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 eggs
1 tablespoon melted butter

Beat the eggs until light, add the sifted dry ingredients and the milk alternately. Beat thoroughly and add melted butter. Grease custard cups and half fill each with this batter. Put a half of a ripe peach in each cup and fill with batter. Place the cups in a baking pan half filled with boiling water and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes. Serve with sweetened cream.

For any season, and for times when other fresh fruit is not handy, try the following:

Lemon Custard Sponge

2 eggs
1 cup milk, heated
1 cup sugar
3/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
grated rind and juice of one lemon
1 tablespoon butter

Separate eggs and beat yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add butter to milk and pour over beaten eggs slowly, mixing thoroughly. Add dry ingredients which have been sifted together; stir in rind and juice of lemon. Beat egg yolks until stiff and fold lightly into the mixture. Pour into buttered custard cups making them about two-thirds full. Place cups in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven about forty-five minutes. When the cups are inverted you will find a layer of cake on the bottom with a layer of delicate, tangy lemon custard on top of it.

S. S. Mayflower Starts Daily Cruise

The steamer Mayflower will start its season on Sunday, going to Pleasure Beach Amusement Park for swimming, games and picnics and Bridgeport, Conn., where comfortable sightseeing buses connect with the boat for a two-hour tour of the city. This cruise of 125 miles on Long Island Sound can be taken on the twin-screw steamer which leaves every morning from Lackawanna Terminal in Hoboken, at 9:45.

This year's feature is a new cocktail lounge and bar.

Cool, Comfortable Clothes For Summer Sports

Trim Frocks Are Designed For Comfort In Active Competition Or For Spectator Wear On The Side Lines

by Genevieve Holland

The United States is a sports-loving nation so naturally you feminine shoppers, whether you be spectator or competitor, six or sixty, will want to include in your wardrobe clothes that will give you that delicious, cool, well-groomed feeling so important on a hot and sultry day. Knowing this, we submit to you our idea of coolness and chic all rolled into one.

Picture yourself at a golf or tennis match, a baseball game, the races, or perhaps out for a ride in your car, wearing the linen frock we have sketched here. The print is a clever adaptation of the polka dot we've seen so much in a patriotic red and blue on a white background. The belt, lapels and new buttons marching down the front, either in red or blue, spell to us the perfect casual dress for almost any occasion. With it you might wear a bit of colored fishnet around those curls and keep that lovely coiffure sleek; or you might prefer a broad-brimmed hat of starched pique or a light straw.

Then suppose at last you were going on a picnic or a beach party with that boy you've been wanting to meet for so long. The more slender and daring of you might try a bare midriff playsuit of seersucker with a flowered skirt so full and short that you feel like a ballet dancer and extremely pretty and popular. Remember when you were a little girl and your mother dressed you in parties that matched your dress? Well, now that you're a bit older we suggest you do it again, because under the swirling skirt is the darlingest pair of matching shorts we've seen in a long time. You'll love the freedom it gives you — and so modest, too! Then the neckline is so trim and square and plain enough to wear your favorite junk jewelry. Best of all, just a peek at your pretty waistline! Our advice is try it, you'll be surprised at the result.

You'll carry a huge, elongated bag into which you could practically put the contents of that top bureau drawer and never notice it at all. We think this is one you'll like with a thick, deceptively light wooden frame and cord handle. The bag itself is blue linen crash with a faintly darker blue plaid.

With all this talk of accessories it is only fair to mention shoes. The hat trend may be the tailoress type but most certainly not your shoes. The queerest and brightest shoes you can find will doubtless be the most correct. We saw a pair recently that were entirely smocked and went from your toes to your ankles, more like a stocking with the leg chopped off. These would look extremely well with that seersucker playsuit and your feet would be very comfortable.

Joseph B. Grosch Heads New Political Club

Joseph B. Grosch of 435 Cortlandt street was elected the first president of the newly-formed Young Men's Political Club of Belleville at its initial meeting in the Recreation House Thursday evening.

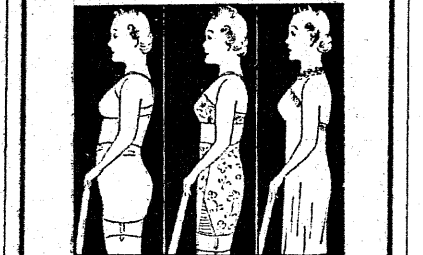

The other officers named were James P. McCann of 136 Belleville avenue, vice-president; William H. Kennedy of 53 DeWitt avenue, treasurer, and Matthew W. Grum of 59 Smith street, secretary.

The purpose of the organization, the officers said at the meeting, is to work for the betterment of the town's recreation program and for "a general outlook toward future representation in town." The club intends to be active with dances, picnics and sporting events. The public will be invited to all these activities.

the Hotel Jefferson in Atlantic City. The seventy-fourth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was held at the same time.

William T. Bryan of the Union avenue address, brother of the commander, and E. Philip Denike of 54 Tappan avenue were two of the five local delegates to the Sons' encampment. Mrs. Julius Marks of this town, president of the state organization of the Ladies of the G. A. R., presided at their convention at the same time.

YOU would think there would be a note of gruesomeness cockleailing at a place where the walls, pillars and posts are covered with the horns of every conceivable animal, yet "The Jungle," with its head-hunting proprietor, Colonel Baumgarten, has among its following bankers, brokers, high business executives and professional men. Situated in a stone house on Pompton Turnpike at Cedar Grove, which the sign outside proclaims to have been built in 1700, it is the nightly mecca for a jovial throng which thrives on a gay banter about anything that is in the way of preparing for the charcoal-cooked steak with the Colonel as the ever shrewd and often stern arbiter.

But more about the Colonel's horns. There are thousands of them; outside, inside, down in the cellar, up in the attic and in the storehouse. They have been collected by him through the years, and for many of his rarest horns he has been offered many thousands of dollars for a wisp gone from the Colonel doesn't get a query about one or a group of his horns. Some of them have come from as far away as Pretoria, South Africa, and the Dutch East Indies, but the horns remain at this Cedar Grove domain.
