

YOUTHS ORGANIZE STUDENT WORK BUREAU

Act After Editorial Suggests
It; Ted Metz, Art Hirtler
Are Partners

A forward step in the solution of the problem of what to do with teen-age boys in the summertime was taken by two high school students Tuesday afternoon when they organized the Belleville Student Placement Service. The service, which differs from an employment agency in several ways, will fill the need as a link between boys who want to earn "pin" money and householders who have many odd jobs they would like done during the summer months.

The youths are Ted Metz, seventeen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Metz of 250 Stephen street, and Art Hirtler, fifteen, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Hirtler of 88 Ralph street. They began Tuesday afternoon to arrange the organization of their service, listing high school boys of trustworthy character who want work and listing it about town that they can supply the labor for such odd jobs as lawn mowing, hedge trimming, window washing and for the caring of yards and grounds while the resident is away on vacation.

The idea was first set forth in an editorial in The News last week. The News felt that there were two great classes in town, both of them wanting something. It said editorially that there was a chance for several ambitious boys to organize the work and see that it was done.

Mayer Offers Help

The first response came from Arthur E. Mayer who heads the Belleville Employment Agency at 338 Washington avenue. He was enthusiastic over the plan but pointed out that there are many details to be worked out. In a letter to the editor he volunteered his services to help, without compensation, to achieve the end outlined.

Metz and Hirtler some weeks ago showed themselves eager to avoid the usual boy's summer of loafing. Before school closed they had started advertising for odd jobs. Through a small weekly classified ad they have had enough responses to keep them busy nearly every day.

According to the present setup, the two boys will receive orders for their work daily from 4 to 6 at Belleville 2-1213-J. Other details will be worked out as they go along. They have made it emphatic that it is not their purpose to place people in permanent positions nor to compete with established businesses. Theirs is the odd job field in which no previous training is necessary.

John H. Baney Is Chosen Leader of K. of C. No. 835

John H. Baney of 21 Hornblower avenue was elected grand knight at the annual election of officers of the Belleville Council Knights of Columbus No. 835 at St. Peter's School Monday night.

Mann, treasurer; Harry J. Sullivan, lecturer; Anthony Nordiello, inside guard; Andrew Monaghan, outside guard; William Lawrence, retreat chairman, and Rev. John S. Nelligan, chaplain.

Installation of officers under the newly appointed District Deputy Robert J. Bell of Grantwood will take place in St. Peter's School Hall on Monday, July 22.

Three Small Sales of Town Land Are Approved

Three sales of town-owned property were approved Tuesday night by the commission. They are: Charles Cuzzo of 96 Magnolia street, the property at 194 Heckler street for $100.

Salvatore Russo of 28 Florence avenue, the property at 80 Frederick street for $200.

Carmine Ferraiolo of 581 North Fifth street, Newark, the property at 252 Belmont avenue for $500.

Tax Assessor Coogan will confer with officers of Montgomery Presbyterian Church to try to obtain a price for a 50 by 50 plot lying next to the church.

Harry V. Fisher wrote to the commission requesting the conference.

William A. Finn, thirty-five, of 142 Union avenue was appointed last week by Director Clark as a regular patrolman, succeeding Patrolman Walter Drake, who retired June 24 after twenty-one years of service.

A chanceman for nine years, Finn began duty Monday at a salary of $1,800 annually. He is a graduate of local schools, is married and has four children.

They wore their new uniforms and capes for the first time at the exercises. COMMISSION STALLS NOLL ON $5,000

Board Majority Clings To Hope That WPA Will Provide Men

The declaration of a state of emergency in town was warded off for the second Commission meeting in a row Tuesday night when the commissioners again deferred action on Director Noll's request for $5,000. It was said that there is still a possibility that some help may be forthcoming from WPA for supervision of the playgrounds. Meantime, the latter have not been opened.

The commissioners were told Tuesday that State WPA Director Robert Allen had promised two men for Belleville but that none had been forthcoming.

The WPA is said to be short of men. Noll requested action on the request because he "will not be present at the next meeting on July 30." This would mean that he could not personally introduce the measure until mid-August and that by the time it was enacted the children would be back in school. He was reassured by Commissioner Waters that he (Waters) would personally attend to its introduction July 30 if there was still no word from WPA.

MOST OF ARRESTS M. V. CASES

1,024 of 1,118 Cases Handled
By Cops Were For
Auto Violations

The Police Department marked 1,118 arrests into the record books during the first six months of the year of which 1,024 were for motor vehicle violations. This was learned when Acting Chief Anderson, subbing for Chief Spatz who is on vacation, submitted the police report for June at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

Exactly half, or 512 of the motor vehicle arrests were for speeding and the majority of those were nabbed on Washington avenue after the current intensive drive on speeders started late in February when several pedestrians were fatally injured there.

Of the 154 alarms answered by the Fire Department during the first half of 1940, sixteen were false. Fire Chief Reid has estimated the damage done in town by fire since the first of the year at $4,336.

A man of national prominence will be obtained as speaker for the Council's public installation of officers July 23.

LAW TO FORCE SIDEWALKS

Ordinance Introduced Requiring Owners On Improved Streets To Have Walks

Houseowners will no longer be free to choose whether or not they shall have sidewalks placed in front of their houses, if they are on improved streets, should a proposed ordinance be made into a law at the next meeting of the Board of Commissioners July 30.

The law would make it compulsory for the owners of any land which had no sidewalks but where the commissioners deem it necessary that the pavement be laid, to have the work done within thirty days after being so ordered. Should they fail to do so, the town will put in the sidewalk and will assess the full cost against the owner of the property.

The ordinance passed first reading Tuesday night. The action was taken as a result of a protest on the lack of sidewalks around the service station of Frank Gerino at Franklin avenue and Joralemon street.

Town Attorney Keenan reported Tuesday that he had spoken to Gerino about the desirability of pavement at that point but that Gerino had told him it was not necessary. It is understood that residents of the neighborhood had complained several weeks ago to the commissioners.

Written Protests by Folks On Garden State Line

Residents Petition Public Utilities Commission To Lift Restrictions on Picking Up and Discharging Passengers in Town Limits; Study Promised

Tension and bitterness over the restriction clamped on the little shuttle line of the Garden State Bus Company continued to mount all through "No-Man's Land" this week as inland residents felt the full effect of the no-passenger ruling of the Public Utilities Commission. "No-Man's Land" has been defined as the section of Belleville lying midway between Union and Washington avenues. On these two principal streets are Public Service bus lines; but Garden State operates a small bus mostly over Hornblower avenue and Greylock parkway. By the ruling of the Utilities Commission the line is not permitted to pick up or discharge passengers in Belleville.

Important action of the week was the presentation to the Utilities Commission of a petition bearing 127 names of "forgotten people" protesting the discontinuance of the practical value of the line. The petition, which requested that service be resumed, was circulated by Mrs. Charles Koehn of 51 Malone avenue and Mrs. Anna Noonan of 109 Linden avenue.

The protest was handed directly to Harry Bacharach, president of the Commission. He acknowledged receipt of the petition yesterday and, in a letter to Mrs. Koehn, said that "I will bring this matter to the attention of our board and see what can be done to relieve the situation."

Complaints Are Varied

A brief investigation into complaints and criticisms yesterday showed a variety of reasons for the protests. One man in the neighborhood is crippled and cannot go to work because the Public Service buses are so far away.

"Public Service has a lot of buses running to North Newark on the '18' and to Verona avenue on the '28,'" one woman said, "but the service out to Belleville is poor. There is only one bus coming out here to four or five stopping at North Newark. Our little bus (the Garden State line) saved us long waits on street corners."

The Garden State buses run from Mill street and Washington avenue to the Brookdale section of Bloomfield. Public Service has long fought the town's efforts to obtain permission for passenger service within the town limits.

The Public Utilities Commission has allowed the Public Service protest on the grounds of prejudicial competition. Commissioner Noll, in whose department lies the town's transportation, has requested that all protests be sent directly to the Utilities Commission at 1060 Broad street, Newark.

I DARE YA!

Bobby Scarano Took
The Dare Result—An Eight-State Alarm

A playful boyish dare was the cause of an eight-state police teletype alarm being sent out by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Scarano of 9 Mt. Prospect avenue for their twelve-year-old son Bobby, who disappeared at noon one day last week. With increasing worry as each hour went by, neighbors began to console the frantic Mrs. Scarano.

At 9 p.m. the telephone rang and over the wires came Bobby's familiar voice. He was at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Thomas Zegarelli, in Long Branch. The boy had pedaled the fifty miles in nine hours after his boy friends had dared him to follow them to the Newark Airport when he had been admonished not to go more than a few blocks distant on his new bike which he had received for his twelfth birthday.

Papa Scarano, a follower of the cycling sport, went to Long Branch the next day and brought Bobby home. Scarano, although worried, said that when he thought of his son making the trip without a cent of money, he felt proud. The only punishment, therefore, was that Bobby has been deprived of his new bike for thirty days.

CLARK UNDECIDED ON SPENDING

Public Safety Head Says He's "Mulling Over" What To Do With $5,000

No definite plan has been made as yet for the disposal of the $5,000 voted for the Police Department two weeks ago, Director of Public Safety Clark said this week. The Board of Commissioners voted the additional appropriation because of the necessity of caring "for any emergency which might arise."

Clark said that he was "mulling over the problem" and for the present merely getting prices on equipment which might be needed. He doubted that he would spend the entire amount but said that he would probably keep part of it in reserve.

"Toward the end of the year," he said, "we might have some equipment which needs replacing or replenishing." He indicated that he would reserve part of the fund for that purpose.

STADIUM EXPENSE NEARING END

Board Would Appropriate
$14,500 For Fence, Drainage
And Other Needs

The construction of the new Municipal Athletic Field and Stadium at the Turf Bog will enter its final phase in three weeks when the Board of Commissioners votes on the last appropriation for the town's share of the expense of the project. Introduced on first reading Tuesday was an ordinance calling for an additional appropriation of $14,500 to complete the work there. It is not expected to be opposed when it comes up for final passage on July 30.

The town has already put $40,000 into the work, which began in February, 1939. Thirty acres in extent, it will include a stadium which will seat 6,000 people, baseball, football, softball, basketball, bocce, volleyball fields, tennis courts and a roller skating rink. The final cost, including the grant of WPA money, is expected to be $408,260, of which the town's share will be $54,500.

Principal item included in the latest appropriation is the erection of a fence to surround the football playing field. Director of Public Works Waters estimated that 2,200 feet of fencing will be necessary and will cost $3,960. Part of the plant still must be drained and filled. So far only one diamond, the football field and the running track have been put in place.

THREE CRASHES, NONE INJURED

Belleville's Accident Record
Over July Fourth Weekend
Was Light

Belleville had three automobile accidents over the long Fourth of July weekend but no one was injured. The first was Friday afternoon at William street and Union avenue. Mrs. May Scott of Montclair was driving west on William street when her car and that of William Meehan, twenty-one, of 22 Mt. Prospect avenue, this town, collided. Both cars were wrecked.

Less than an hour later Miss Cecilia Oese of 282 Belleville avenue and Stephen Mazaweki of Clifton collided at Cortlandt and Rutgers streets. The car which Miss Oese was driving is owned by Joseph A. Travers of the Belleville avenue address.

Sunday evening John Negra, twenty-two, of Nutley tangled with a Garden State bus driven by Henry Buddrus of Clifton at Holmes street and Hornblower avenue. There were several people in the Negra car but when police arrived all had disappeared but one man. The party was located later at 140 Belleville avenue and all refused medical attention.

Commissioner King Puts His Foot In It

Commissioner Joseph King blushed — one of the few times in his political career — Tuesday night during the discussion on the permit for the new milk bar of Gladys Smith and Edna Hudson at 687 Washington avenue. He was all for the idea, as were the other commissioners, but he "had to be careful of the morals of our youngsters."

He insisted that any such project must be adequately supervised at all times. After some discussion on the point, he was assured by Edward J. Abramson, attorney for the two women, that "there won't be any necking parties in dark corners."

Relieved, King then asked who the women were. He was told that Mrs. Smith is the wife of Police Lieutenant Kenneth D. Smith.

"Oh," he exclaimed, "that's my niece," and turned red to the roots of his hair.

Board Gives P.S. Approval For Extension of 90 Line

Public Service has been granted an extension of its service on the Route No. 90 line so that it might serve the new Jergens Company plant. Local action was taken by the Town Commissioners Tuesday night. The line will have a branch which will run on North Sixth street to Mill street to Willet street and thence on its regular route.

YOUNG SLAYERS WILL BE TRIED SEPTEMBER 24

Frank Frederick Killers Enter
Not Guilty Pleas Before
Judge Brennan

Earl Rost, seventeen, and August Buhrig, Jr., twenty-two, both of 55 First street, Newark, will go on trial for their lives September 24 before Judge Daniel J. Brennan. They pleaded not guilty when they were arraigned Monday before Common Pleas Judge Walter D. Van Riper, to the murder of Frank A. Frederick of 134 Hornblower avenue.

The seven members of the youthful Buhrig gang all entered not guilty pleas to a total of twenty-six indictments. Paul Alvin Rost, twenty-six, of Dover is charged with attempting to destroy the murder weapon. He was paroled in the custody of his lawyer, the others were held without bail.

Most of the Newark toughies appeared in the docket with month-old beards. They had refused to shave while they were being held. Police have said that Buhrig and the younger Rost have confessed to the murder of the local man, who was shot May 5 during an attempted holdup of Ziegler's Ye Olde Valley Tavern at 34 Holmes street.

The other members of the gang are Buhrig's two brothers, Herman, nineteen, and John, seventeen; Raymond Robinson, twenty, of 1166 Kline place, Rahway, and John Barlak, seventeen, of Dover. Most of the charges against them are breaking and entering and larceny.

Diner Is Sold

Meanwhile, here in Belleville Robert Frederick, eldest son of the slain man, has announced the sale of Frank's Diner at 264 Washington avenue to Joseph Ellis of Little Falls. Mrs. Frederick and several of the Frederick children have been trying to carry on the business since his death. Ellis formerly lived on Greylock parkway, where he was manager of an apartment house.

C S B STILL NEEDS MORE TINFOIL

Eleven Youngsters In Camp,
Twelve Leave Today;
Behind Last Year

The Community Service Bureau will continue its drive for tinfoil to enable it to send underprivileged children to summer camp. Mrs. Julia O. Reiner, executive secretary of the bureau announced yesterday. Eleven youngsters are already in camp and twelve more will leave today for Camp Mohican, Bonnie Brae and the Good Will Camp in Butler.

Only $20 has been realized so far from the sale of the tinfoil already contributed while $132 has been spent to cover the expense, Mrs. Reiner said. This year's quota is far below that of last year when the Bureau sent thirty-six children to camp for two weeks.

At present, Mrs. Reiner added, the price the Bureau is receiving for the foil is steadily rising. It has gone from two cents a pound when the drive began to four and one-half cents a pound. All kinds of foil may be left at the office of the Bureau at 338 Washington avenue daily from 9 to 5 and until noon on Saturday.

Board Would Assume Control Over New Gas Stations

Complete control over the location of new gasoline service stations will be assumed by the Board of Commissioners if the ordinance which passed first reading Tuesday is enacted into a law at the next meeting July 30.

The new ordinance would make it a misdemeanor to build or convert any present building for use as a gas station or repair shop for automobiles without first obtaining the Commission's permission. Maximum penalty for violations would be $100 for each offense.

Pretty Well Shot

Vincent Carotenuto of Bloomfield parked his car in front of the courthouse in Newark one day last week. When he came out, the car had disappeared.

Thursday night the local police found the auto parked in Howard place, but not in the same condition as when Carotenuto left it. It had been stripped of four tires, cowl lights, radio, bumper guards and coil, the windows were broken and the panelling inside the car was ripped out. The car was valued at $1,200.

Red Cross Officials Spike the Rumors Of Mismanagement

Officials Say That Falsehoods Are Being Spread About Disposition
Of Funds; $2,806 Raised

The local chapter of the American Red Cross took steps yesterday to refute rumors of mismanagement of contributions to the war fund. Officials of the chapter announced the total receipts to date to blast reported scandal-mongers who they said have been spreading "falsehoods" about the disposition of the funds. The Belleville chapter has collected $2,806.51 of its $4,000 quota. The largest item of the past week was the preliminary report of contributions collected by members of the Police Department from local merchants. The storekeepers have given $177.10 so far.

The entertainment consisted of songs, dances and plays. Gloria Meile gave a hula hula dance and wore a grass skirt made of ribbons. Betty Lou Oswald led the group in singing "God Bless America." Child Injured By Car

Anthony Petrucci, two, of 12 Brighton avenue was struck by a car operated by Robert Dillon, nineteen, of 13 Howard place as he backed his auto out of a drive at 10 Brighton avenue Wednesday afternoon, according to police. Dillon told police he felt a bump against his right front fender and when he looked out he saw the child lying on the ground.

The youngster was taken by Dillon, Marian Johnson of 10 Brighton avenue and the boy's mother, Mrs. Gerard Petrucci, to Dr. Rossi of 154 Belmont avenue where it was feared he had two broken left ribs. X-ray pictures taken, however, showed no fracture and the youngster was treated for bruises and shock.

Return From Motor Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Gruhin have concluded a tour of the New England states and are at home at 123 Bremond street. Mrs. Gruhin is the former Miss Pauline Rosenblum of the Bremond street address. Mr. Gruhin, who has been practicing law in Jersey City for three years, has recently received his degree as counselor at law.

"The American Red Cross is helping all who will accept their help regardless of race, creed or color and all but a few nations abroad need and are accepting help. Germany, Russia and Italy have been offered help but have refused it mainly because the Red Cross insists that our representatives shall supervise the distribution of all supplies to make sure they get into the hands of the needy. These countries will not allow our representatives within their borders for supervision work."

"Wounded soldiers of these countries received aid, however, in all of the nations abroad where the Red Cross is active, and that means in Asia as well as Europe. In addition to the funds donated, more than 350,000 American women are working daily producing war relief garments and surgical dressings. To date a million and a half surgical dressings have been shipped abroad together with over a half million garments. It is expected that by the end of the summer these women will have produced eight million surgical dressings and a million garments."

"Finland, Poland, Norway, China, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg have all been aided. A little idea of how badly help is needed can be formed when one realizes that in China alone there are 70,000 homeless from Hamburg, 50,000 Dutch, 1,500,000 Belgians and 6,000,000 French."

"These are the refugees who fled from their homes on the approach of invading armies. These peoples do and always will appreciate the help we give and, if the position were reversed, we would appreciate such help also."

Contributions reported this week were:

Police officers	$177.10
Police No. 108, F.A.M.	50.00
Wesley Methodist Church	12.80
Adrian cathedral	10.00
Rev. Peter Deckenbach	5.00

Recipe Column

Send your favorite and reliable recipes to our contest. Two prizes will be awarded weekly. Each winner will receive two guest passes to the Kent Theatre. The feature starting Sunday is "Rebecca."

It's none too early to begin thinking about the preserving you would like to do this summer.

With plenty of fresh vegetables in the market the recipe submitted this week by Mrs. M. C. Albee of Malone avenue looks interesting and will give you a great deal of satisfaction in the making as well as in the eating during the winter.

Old-fashioned Mustard Pickle

Soak overnight in salted cold water:

- 18 small unpeeled cucumbers
- 1 large cauliflower broken in buds
- 2 pounds small onions, peeled
- 3 medium sized peppers, chopped fine

Bring the vegetables to a boil the following morning in the same water in which they were soaked. Drain well and cover with the following sauce:

- 3 pints cider vinegar
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons celery seed
- 1/4 pound dry mustard
- 1/2 ounce turmeric

Heat this mixture to the boiling point and carefully blend in 2 cups of flour. Stir until thickens. Add the drained vegetables, bring to a boil and seal in hot sterilized jars.

We are sure that most of you have recipes like this one which your neighbors would enjoy using during the next two months. Won't you share them now when they are most needed? This column will welcome them gladly and we are quite sure you will enjoy the theatre tickets which you will receive if you are a winner.

by PEGGY PATTERSON

In our perusal of magazines and newspapers, which is the source of these weekly gleanings for you, we find two subjects which are becoming daily more closely related; subjects which women must begin to think of in one breath if we are to face the future with any measure of confidence. The great object lesson, which is the present European conflict, should be thought of in terms of precaution on our part and specifically, the development of greater self-reliance on the part of our youth. It is our firm belief, which we have expressed in this column previously, that a quiet effort on the part of mothers and other guardians of youth in the home is the most effective way of producing results. More importantly, it is the only method of preserving the "American Way" which should be the greatest single motivating force in the nation today. The mild regimentation of camp life to which many children are submitted during these months is a truly valuable experience and in perfect conformity with our high standards of living. Surely we want nothing further for our children and young people which might reduce their lives to the uninspired existence of the youth-trained for defense. But we cannot disregard for a single instant that a new effort is required of us to help our young people adjust themselves to a life which we gradually realize is going to be different to the one we have led them to expect.

The children who cannot avail themselves of camp life for the summer need something to take its place. They need it desperately. The apathy which naturally closes in on young people whose regular routine is suddenly suspended with the closing of schools is a symbol of the apathy which has spelled disaster for the defeated European nations today. Simple precautions against it can be taken in anyone's home without waiting, sometimes in vain, for municipal provision or other socialized solutions to the problem of what to do with youth's spare time.

It is well first of all to establish a regular daily routine of duties; a schedule of rising, eating and retiring which is lenient but regular. Then you might call upon the abilities of your children which you have found to be outstanding and help them to capitalize on them. Even small children do some things better than others. Reward them and when they become skilled enough let them offer these services to neighbors and friends.

A boy who is a dependable messenger can capitalize on this service to the joy of the neighbors and his own well being. A girl who really enjoys helping in the house and garden should be encouraged to do so even though the strain on your patience may sometimes be greater than you can bear. This is one of the most valuable things you can do for her.

IT'S pretty conclusive proof of a real value when more people than ever before buy a certain make of car in a single year.

Residents Take Up Fight

It is not difficult to understand the feelings of the residents, particularly those residing in the vicinity of Greylack parkway and Hornblower avenue, when they see a bus pass the door several times every hour which they cannot use. The bus can rattle the dishes in the kitchen closet, scare the youngsters off the street and help to wear out the pavement, but the townspeople cannot use it. That's the situation that faces Belleville with the Garden State's blunt-nosed little buses which run from North Newark to Nutley and Brookdale via several local streets. Although the Town Commission is in accord with the company's request that they be permitted to pick up and discharge passengers locally, the Public Utilities Commission has been quite definite in its stand that it will not include this provision in Garden State's franchise.

Principal objector to an extension of this service to local residents is the Public Service Coordinated Transport Company which has lines running to and from Newark on Franklin, Union and Washington avenues. Public Service contends that to give the Garden State company the pick-up and discharge privilege would result in harmful competition.

While we can easily understand the desire of P.S. to protect its present interests, we are more concerned about that which is best for the residents who would materially benefit if they could ride on the Garden State buses. Good transportation is the best selling point for any community which is interested in expanding its residential areas. That is what this town is striving toward. As we stated several months ago in discussing the same problem, we think that the territory through which the Garden State buses now pass would be better served if the privilege were extended to them regardless of the lines which the Public Service now has serving the town.

The question is out of the local commissioners' province. However, it is an excellent indication of a healthy community interest when the residents become sufficiently excited to take their appeal personally to the Public Utilities Commission. That is what some of them have already done and it is our hope that all of those who would benefit by the use of the Garden State bus will register their protests with the Public Utilities Commission. Just a penny post card will serve the purpose.

Making It Clear To The Public

School budgets are one of the things in government about which most of the public have been in the dark. In fact, the average taxpayer knows little or nothing about what portion of the tax dollar he pays goes to the support of public education. Yet, the funds annually spent to instruct our children make up an important part of the cost of government. Here, as in many other towns, educating the younger generation is the biggest single industry.

The budgets which school boards prepare annually are vague and indefinite. No explanation is required by law of how or why the trustees arrived at the figures which the public is requested to approve at the annual school elections. The public interest of most of us does not go to the probing or investigation stage. Consequently, proposed school expenditures are generally taken at their face value.

Without any reflections on the local administration, this is a dangerous attitude. Some boards, through "nigger-in-the-woodpile" methods have succeeded in having the public approve expenditures which, if they had received a full explanation of the proposal, would have been turned down. The system also tends to further the lack of public interest in the whys and wherefores of the public schools — a condition which has generally proven bad for both the public and the schools.

Governor Moore has preserved for posterity in the State Library without his approval a bill which was passed by the Legislature that would correct some of the ills which surround school budgets. In refusing to sign the measure, the Governor said that he was in agreement with the Legislature in what it proposed to correct, but disapproved of some of its details. It is to be hoped that during the next session of the Legislature a bill can be drafted which will meet with the approval of the state's chief executive.

Under the legislation which has now joined thousands of other proposed but now dust-covered laws in the State Library, school boards would be required to prepare tentative annual school budgets at least twenty days before the annual school elections, which are held in February, and to hold public hearings on the budgets prior to January 20.

This would give the taxpayers the opportunity to exercise more intelligence in considering school costs since it would make it possible for them to study the budgets in advance of elections, to take part in hearings and thus better prepare them to vote intelligently on questions at the election.

As we see it, one of the most important accomplishments to be gained by the adoption of a measure similar to this one would be the promotion of a better understanding between the public and the officials. One of the most important bugaboos which educators have had to battle for years has been public ignorance over school problems. In the numerous times which we have seen the public become alarmed over proposals of school people which resulted in a conference on the question, the public has almost always gone along with the schools' desires, simply because when the matter had been explained to them, they realized that the officials were only requesting that which was necessary.

Roosevelt Takes The Stage

Wendell L. Willkie, the "dark horse" candidate on whom the Republican party has staked its chips in the coming November elections, has been to Washington and become personally acquainted with his vice-presidential running mate, Senator Charles McNary. Mr. Willkie has now departed for the Rockies of Colorado where he will vacation for three weeks and have time to mull over all that has happened to him during the past month or so. That leaves the political bandstand free to President Roosevelt and his Democratic confreres who will be gathering in Chicago next week for their big show. It will probably be the biggest carnival that the Loop district has seen, regardless of what Jim Farley says about it being a dignified get-together for the cause of the Democratic party.

Since the President and Mr. Farley had their little tete-a-tete on Sunday political analysts, Capitol columnists and commentators have been attempting to read everything but the Declaration of Independence into what the usually voluble Mr. Farley said about his visit to the President. As we read it, Jim said nothing outside of the fact that he and F.D.R. had talked and that neither one had taken a poke at the other fellow. But, apparently we are far from being learned in interpreting the remarks of politicians for some writers have been able to stretch a column or two out of Mr. Farley's twenty-three words to the press. Around the generally used word "satisfactory" they have built a hundred and one hypothetical cases as to what Mr.

Roosevelt intends to do or what his comments were to James Aloysius.

Without using a slide rule, compass or a crystal ball, we humbly predict that when the Democrats are all through with their whooping at Chicago, Mr. Roosevelt will again be their candidate. The "draft" gag may be pulled for public consumption but we still cling to the belief that the President is ready and willing to repose in the comfort of the White House and the Capitol for another four years.

This would be breaking a precedent that has existed during the 164 years that this has been the United States of America. Not a written part of our Constitution — but more or less of an understanding — every President has bowed out of office after two terms. Would a third term venture blow up in the President's face? Despite present world conditions would the public resent an attempt to put Roosevelt back in office for another four-year term to the point that they would elect Willkie?

There are many who argue that there is little difference in the attitude of Roosevelt and Willkie on our position in the world turmoil. Much of the talking which has been put forth in support of a third term has been based on the old adage that now is not the time to switch horses for an untied one in the middle of the stream. More politically speaking, the plain facts are that the Democrats do not have a man who shines brightly enough to defeat Willkie except Roosevelt who has pretty well crowded any other Democratic leader out of the limelight for eight years.

DOGS

by Laurence Torley

The standards of perfection of the various recognized breeds of pure-bred dog have become so definite during the past three or four decades that today a case is unknown where a dog of one breed is shown in the classes of another breed. Under today's definite rules of the American Kennel Club, such a thing would be practically impossible; yet in the past every dog show had such instances. It was particularly true in England, before the turn of the century.

The first show for dogs only was held at Newcastle-on-Tyne in 1859. Prior to that, of course, dogs had been exhibited more or less informally at the local fairs and agricultural shows. Each section had its particularly favored breeds. But there was no effort made prior to 1859 to organize dog breeding and showing.

The apparent laxity in keeping breeds separate was because many of the varieties we recognize so easily today were then in the process of development. This was especially true of some of the terriers.

The American dog show world knew these conditions to a lesser extent, yet conditions were somewhat chaotic until the American Kennel Club was organized in Philadelphia on September 17, 1884. From that date dog showing began to settle into the highly efficient pattern it has now reached. No longer is there a mad scramble to put new and strange breeds on the benches of the leading shows. The relatively few newcomers to the sport in the United States are traced exhaustively before they are admitted to the Stud Book.

are not a political organization formed to back Lou Noll or any other politician in town at the present time; (2) we are not former athletes—every member of the club prides himself that he is still an athlete.

The primary purpose of our club is to attempt to revivify interest in the political and civic affairs of Belleville, which interest has, unfortunately, been sinking lower and lower every year. If we see any way in which we can accomplish this end, if we see any way in which we can make the citizens of Belleville take a greater interest in the affairs of the town and what their governing body does with them every two weeks at Town Hall, we shall not hesitate to do it.

We want the younger generation particularly to realize that they are now coming to an age when every movement of the town fathers has a distinct bearing on their daily lives and that therefore, they should be extremely interested.

Naturally, since we have all at one time or another been a definite part of the town's recreational program and since we believe that this has been for years a neglected part of our town life, we should like to see it put on as high a plane as possible. But simply because we feel this way there is no justification for the implication that we have decided to work for Commissioner Noll for reelection.

As a matter of fact, the club is too much in its infancy to take any stand, officially or unofficially, on the merits of any man. If eventually we do see a man whom we believe to have all the desirable qualities to govern us, there is nothing in our constitution which will bar us from going on record in his behalf. But in that we will merely exercise the right which belongs to any club or organization.

to do business. To operate with out this authority would cost these students a fine of $250; one year in prison or both.

Interested in the welfare of our community and also in the younger generation, I believe the only solution to this problem would be for me to offer my assistance to them and work out the details, of which there are many. To do this it would be necessary for me to appear before the State Board and explain my object so permission could be granted for them to operate under my supervision. With the understanding that I assume no obligation and receive no compensation for any help I may render. If The Belleville News will select three responsible high school students, two young men and one young woman, it will be a pleasure to help them.

From Matthew Grum, Jr., Secy., Young Men's Political Club 59 Smith street To the Editor of The News:

We noted with interest the conclusions drawn in the local press last week as to the purpose of the newly-formed Young Men's Political Club of Belleville. It was inferred that "Lou Noll has the makings of a strong political machine in this group of former athletes."

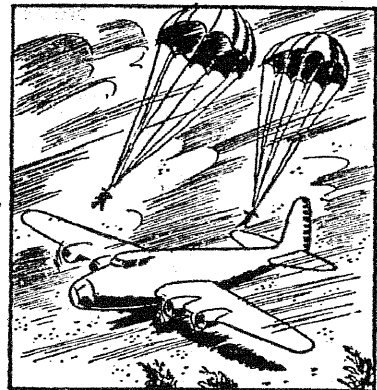

We take exception to the statement for two reasons: (1) we

ARMY air men are traditionally modest, masking their accomplishments in terse reports. Often, the only word of a soldier's heroism in the air comes when formal reports are interpreted by superiors, familiar with the problems faced by Army air men.

Such a soldier is Lieutenant Harold L. Neely of the Army Air Corps, who was recently presented with the Cheney Award for heroism.

Lieutenant Neely was soaring along over Kansas, at 11,000 feet, in an Army bomber with three passengers. Below the plane a dust storm raged, and Neely had climbed higher and higher to avoid it. Suddenly both his engines sputtered, turned over a few times, and stopped.

two. But no sign of the third could be seen. Without a moment's hesitation, Neely abandoned plans for his own safety. To save the third passenger, unwilling to jump, Neely had to land a motorless plane in the storm. And land it he did, right in the teeth of the dust storm in a miraculous display of airman-ship.

A hasty inspection of his ship revealed that all of his passengers had jumped safely. But Army officials deemed his brilliant performance in landing his ship under fearsome conditions, and his courage in placing his passenger's welfare before his own, worthy of high honor.

WAR IS DELAYING BRIDGE WORK

Contractors Can't Get Steel for Rutgers Street Job; Street Repairs Delayed

The question of the closing of the Rutgers Street Bridge will probably go on for at least three more weeks, it was learned yesterday from County Engineer Stickle. It can be blamed directly on World War II.

It has been almost two months since the original announcement was made that the bridge would be closed for repairs. Two weeks later Stickle was wondering whether the work could be completed before the Fourth of July or whether it would be better to wait until after that date.

Monday he stated that the vast national rearmament program has so tied up steel shipments that the contractors, La Ferri-Greco of Newark, are talking of August 12 for the start. He says he is trying to plan on August 1 for commencement of work. When the work does start, he said, the contractors will work twenty-four hours a day in an effort to get the job finished in time to collect the bonus.

Waiting For Trenton Okay

The county engineer squelched the report last fortnight that the project for resurfacing Main street had been approved in Trenton and had been turned back to the county WPA to be put in operation. Stickle said that no word had yet been received from Trenton. Meanwhile, motorists are pondering the prospect of having to detour to the Avondale Bridge in Nutley while Main street is still impassable. For it is unlikely that the street will be ready for traffic by the time the bridge is closed.

Over 100 employees and their families will journey to the island on Sunday. The P.S. has generously donated enough buses to carry the entire crowd.

Harold S. Nestell of Union avenue, chairman of the general committee, has arranged to make this an old-fashioned "basket picnic" with its attendant field and water sports.

Two Escape Serious Injuries When Car Overturns
Emil Sciaraffa, twenty-one, of 21 Harrison street was driving a car at high speed, police said, when it struck the fender of another auto at Lake street and Second avenue, Newark, late Saturday night, overturned and slid into another car. Sciaraffa's auto rolled over four times.
Sitting in the second car struck by Sciaraffa's auto were Miss Emily Risto, twenty-three, and Anthony Guiliano, also twenty-three, both of Newark. Although the parked auto was badly damaged, both occupants escaped injury.
Sciaraffa and a companion, Otto Cardamone, twenty-two, of 64 Salter place, this town, suffered abrasions. The two received treatment at St. Michael's Hospital. Sciaraffa was summoned to appear in Newark Traffic Court and answer to a charge of reckless driving.

A $10,000 bet that New Jersey would have horse racing in operation by July 1, 1940, was paid in Newark last week, and so the story goes, the winner dropped more than half of it the same day on a horse that finished next to last at the Empire City track. . . . The war has hit local Scotch drinkers so hard some of the poor fellows can't get their favorite brands any more. . . . Down at the shore when they drink a Scotch and soda they say they're "killing another German" — last weekend one party at Seabright is said to have "wiped out" an entire division! . . . Before we go to press, chances are, pretty Peggy Porter, Alderney Dairy's popular front office girl, will be Mrs. Something-or-other!

BEFORE YOUR EYES

Choice Dish For The Fans

Many people haven't ever seen a softball game played. Most can't understand why it has swept the country like a prairie fire. Softball has gained more adherents in its short life than any sport in the country's history. Yet, there still are a lot of fans, semi-fans and don't-give-a-darns who have very little idea of how it differs from baseball. Now along comes the town championship and gobs of people will be drawn, some against their will, to the Turf Bog to see what it is that makes this game tick. That the tourney will be a tasty dish to set before King Fan will be proved before many of the battles at the Bog are in the record books. But you've got to see it to enjoy it — you can't get much kick out of having somebody tell you about it.

The eight teams which will whip the leather around in the past for three or four Saturdays are without doubt the best in town. A glance at the records of each will answer any question you might have.

Tale of Two Cities

Every time we go to Philadelphia for one of its rowing regattas we are impressed by what can be accomplished when a city sets out to make something of an affair. All visiting oarsmen, of course, immediately contrast the setup there with other places they have seen and the difference is amazing.

Over in New York, for instance, rowing is not a forgotten sport, it is merely something to be driven out of the city if at all possible. Father Knickerbocker has persecuted the boat clubs there for so long that the latter are quite used to a constant struggle for existence. The clubs, half a dozen of them looking like a squatters' settlement huddling along the Harlem, are generally persona non grata to the city which has been trying to squeeze them out so that it might have the property.

When the New York Rowing Association runs one of its regattas, even the Metropolitan champions, little effort is made by the city to create a kind of impression on the visitors from other cities. Frigate, little shells take pot luck with the round-masted-tor-a-dollar steamers. New York wants all the clubs to move out on Long Island so the city can put in a park or something there.

Philadelphia's Boat House Row, twelve good-looking clubs on the Schuylkill, is given every consideration. The row is in Fairmount park, on municipal land, given the clubs tax-free. The Quaker City donates prizes, supplies, snails, snailboats for spectators, snails the course during races to keep away craft away. Benches are of the river, loud-speakers carry a constant word-picture of each race and there is a general air over the whole thing which is quite unlike anything we have met anywhere else.

Few cities realize the obligation they have to the recreational life of their citizens. To many people's point of view recreation is a luxury and as such can be lopped off or curtailed at the slightest provocation. There is another school of thought which believes that recreation and relaxation are an economic necessity. It believes in the health of its future citizens and trying to do what it can to further it. Other things are important, yes, but this also cannot be overlooked.

Odds And Ends

The second Knot Hole Gang day of the season will be staged by the Newark Bears at Ruppert stadium Saturday afternoon. The Bears will be meeting the Syracuse Chiefs. Boys who have not gotten their season books should write immediately to Lou Canarelli at 34 Green street, Newark.

The Red Cross will benefit from a game July 24 between the Bears and the Toronto Maple Leafs. Both clubs are donating their services to the cause and all the proceeds will go to the Red Cross.

If you don't know what to do with yourself some lazy Sunday morning about 8, you might try yourself hence to Branch Brook Park and take a peek at the local bikers going through their paces. They start out from the Heller parkway entrance to the park and some of the races they put on are the equal of the Velodrome. They have one advantage over the "drome, however — they are free.

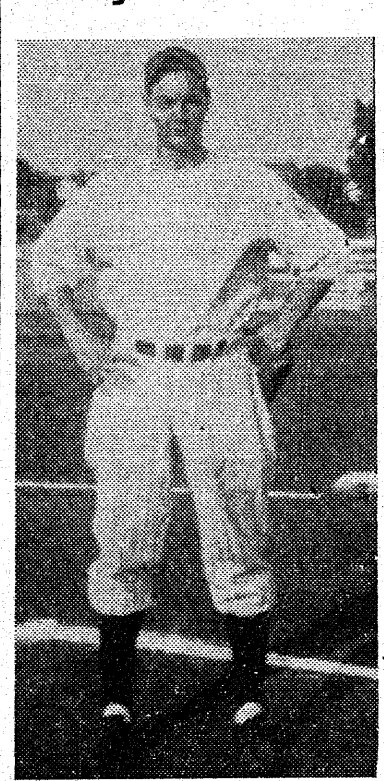

SENATORS TRIM BLUEJACKETS

Comeback Knocks Newarkers From Undeclared Ranks; Bechtoldt Stars

The Senators came back off the floor after their near knock-out at the hands of Henry Lubben last week and played good ball to knock the no-defeat record of the Newark Bluejackets into history. The Newarkers were let down with a single hit and were trimmed 4-3 as they scored three unearned runs.

Pete McGarry allowed the one single during the seven innings he toiled and Jack Wescey twirled hitless ball for the remainder of the game. McGarry fanned seven and Wescey whiffed five. Mitch Mosier and Walt Saltz led the locals with the willow, bopping out three and two hits respectively.

Doing Well

Bernie Barnett

Bernie Barnett pitched Akron to two victories last week and into second place in the Middle Atlantic League, according to a letter received this week by his mother, Mrs. George Barnett of 11 Baldwin place. His record for the year to date is four wins against two losses.

Barnett, who won fame here two years ago while he was playing for the Belleville Senators and pitching them to the town championship, notched victories over Charleston and Youngstown last week. He also went the route to no decision when a fifteen-inning marathon against Dayton was called at curfew time. The score was then 5-5.

CARDINALS DROP FOUR MORE

The Cardinals, playing their usual brand of sloppy baseball, returned home Sunday on the short end of the score for the fourth time in as many days. This current bombardment looted the Cardinals' losing 'streak to ten games.

Thursday the Port Monmouth Cardinals pounded out a double triumph over the local Red Birds 8-2 and 6-5. Saturday and Sunday found them losing games to the Westmont B.B.C. and the Hot A.A. by scores of 10-5 and 8-2.

Red Handley and Lew Evans shared the mound duties on Thursday. Errors, which have found their way into the Cardinals' scorebook on numerous occasions of late, combined with erratic pitching at crucial moments were a great source of relief to the opposition.

Saturday, after leading for four innings, the Cardinals presented the Westmonts with a 10-5 triumph. The Holts scored early on Sunday and held this lead behind the fine pitching of Schneider. Handley started for the Cardinals but gave way to Frank Van Dyke in the second frame, due to a recurrence of an arm ailment.

Eight Teams Draw for First Round In Town Softball Tournament; Crowns, Washingtonians Open

NERIED OARSMEN PLACE IN RACES AT PHILLY

Homer Zink No Match for Burk; Locals Get Three Second Spots

Neried Boat Club's five entries in the People's Day Regatta on the Schuylkill River at Philadelphia on the Fourth returned to Belleville without a victory — the first time in more than a year that the Orange and Blue has been shut out in open competition. Neried garnered three second places, a third and a fourth against some of the fastest company the rowing world has to offer.

Homer Zink pulled no upset when he crossed the finish line behind Joe Burk in the senior single shell race. He fought a courageous battle but was out-clasped by the world's champion. As if the fact of racing rowing's No. 1 man were not enough, Zink had trouble from the start. He was almost even with Burk a half-mile from the starting line when his oar struck an abutment as he was passing through a bridge. Then he had quite a bit of trouble with his steering.

Fehon Almost Wins

One of the best races of the day was the junior singles in which Bill Fehon of Neried put out on a terrific sprint in the last quarter mile to almost nip Mike Kolesnik of Worcester, Mass., at the finish line. Fehon and Kolesnik were on even terms far ahead of the four other contestants when the local boy "caught a crab" a quarter of a mile from the finish. He lost three or four seconds getting straightened out and under way again, then increased his lead and finished only one second behind the New Englander.

Neried's senior double shell combination of Bill Jones and Sid Salomon figured in another close decision. The local boys were defeated by Bachelors Barge Club and Fairmount Rowing Association, both of Philadelphia, but there were only four seconds between first and third. Al Walker, rowing in the association senior singles, finished behind Bob Clair of Worcester, Ed Hoffman of University Barge of Philadelphia and Bob Cutler of Cambridge, Mass. He beat Henry Atherton, also of Cambridge.

One of the surprises of the afternoon was the showing of Elber Gibbs and Gunther "Whitey" Meder in the junior double shell event. Not expected to put up much of a showing against far heavier and more experienced competition, the Neried double finished second to Malta Boat Club of Philadelphia and put on a great finish to beat out Penn Barge of the Quaker City.

MINORS HAD 50-50 WEEKEND

Leaguers Were Sunk 8-2 By Websters; Trimmed Heights Nine 6-5

The Pittsburgh Minor Leaguers finally got into action over the weekend, dropping an 8-2 decision to the Webster A. A. and beating the Hasbrouck Heights Community Club 6-5.

The Webster game, played at Branch Brook Park Extension, was the first home tilt for the Minors this year.

Sunday's game played at the Hasbrouck Heights Athletic Stadium saw the Minors score five runs in the eighth and ninth innings to win. Roy Walker drove in the tying run and Jim Lynch the winning tally in the ninth. Mel Behney and Bill Lynch starred at bat for the Minors, each garnering three hits. George Wiggins, on the mound for the locals, gave up twelve hits but kept them well scattered.

Saturday the Minors will play the St. Michael's A. C. at Branch Brook Extension and on Sunday they will meet the Sussex Farmers at Sussex.

BACK SEAT

Joe DeBacco Takes It After Monopolizing Races For Many Weeks

For the first time in many weeks Joe DeBacco was little more than an ordinary competitor when the Belleville Bicycle Club held its weekly Sunday morning session at Branch Brook Park. DeBacco copped only one race and finished well back in two others in the meet which saw the rise of a new rider, Ray Frate, and the comeback of another, Ray Bryan.

Two Games Will Be Played July 20; Potential Strength Of Teams Is Reviewed

The Washingtonians and the Valley Crowns will take cuts at the first ball in the opening salvo of the battle for the town softball championship. Their names were drawn first Monday night when representatives of the eight teams who will fight for the title met in The News' offices to witness the pairings for the first round. Two games will be played July 20, two more July 27, the first round being completed on the latter date.

All will be played on the new diamond at the Turf Bog.

The tournament is expected to be one of the biggest local sporting events since the town baseball championships in 1938. At the end of the trail lie the Belleville-Nutley series, the beautiful permanent trophy emblematic of the championship of the two municipalities and the individual medals for every player of the winning team.

The teams which will strive for the town honors are:

All Stars
The North Belleville All-Stars are sponsored by Anderton & Foort, Inc. of 563 Washington avenue. A new team formed this year, the All-Stars have nevertheless been one of the dangerous teams in the Senior Recreation circuit. After finishing well up among the leaders in the first round of the league, they stepped out in the second to cop their first two games and set the pace.

Bellboys
At the close of the high school year many of the graduating members of the baseball team banded together to form a softball combination which, although untried to any great extent to date, should prove to be a formidable outfit. With such names as Joe Sullivan, Johnny Calichio and several other diamonds on the roster, and with the addition of a few former Bellboy greats, the Bellboys are a definite threat, although a dark horse.

Bellevilleites
Another independent team. Its members are from Belleville but ordinarily play under the banner of the Holy Family Church, part of whose parish lies in this town. It is counting on such former high school flashes as Tony and Dolphy Paul to upset the apple-cart from under some of the heavy favorites.

Crowns
The Valley Crowns are generally conceded to be one of the really outstanding teams. The defending champions of the Senior League, they are well on their way to coping it again. The Crowns have few all-around stars, depend largely on all-around good work from its members to win game after game. A victory over the Crowns is considered a major accomplishment in the senior circuit and probably will in the tournament as well.

Federal Leather
Federal put its best foot forward and whipped to the championship of the first round of the industrial League so fast that the rest of the loop is still groggry. A snappy, on-the-toes outfit that has a better than even chance of representing Belleville when the chips are down.

Pirates
A perennial danger to the Senior League, the Pirates are looking forward to a renewal of their ancient and bitter feud with the Crowns. The Pirates hold the only decision over the champs this year. After that mighty win they faded briefly but are now back in the thick of the fight.

Washingtonians
Sponsored by the Young Men's Political Club, this is the gang which has held the interest of the town for several years with their almost nightly pick-up games in the lot by the high school. This will be their debut into big-time competition but they have managed to garner two of the ace softball pitchers of the town, Pat Tortorello and "Eddy" Leonard.

West End
The current pace-setters in the West Belleville League are sponsored by Arthur E. Mayer, realtor, of 338 Washington avenue.

The West Enders dropped a game to the Franklin but gave a true indication of their power last week when they blasted out two wins and scored thirty-four runs.

TRIANGLES WIN NUMBER FOUR

Pitching of Les Dunham, Phil Hickey's Slugging Beats Linden 8-6

Combining the efforts of Les Dunham and the slugging of Philip Hickey, plus timely hitting, the Belleville Triangles registered their fourth consecutive victory Sunday at Warinaco Park, Linden, against the Linden Colored Giants 8-6. Hickey's triple with the bases jammed and one run already in gave the Triangles a big 4-0 lead in the second frame.

Dunham, displaying a fine brand of pitching, gave up eight hits and was credited with a dozen strikeouts.

George Zoppa, who started behind the plate for the winners, was struck on the knuckle by a foul tip in the fifth inning and was relieved by John Zoppa, who, after a lapse of all last season, did a good job behind the plate. The Triangles will travel to Fairlawn Sunday to meet the Hawthorne Community Club at 3.
