

TOWN CONTRIBUTES FINAL AMOUNT FOR STADIUM

Commissioners Vote $14,500 For Completion; Use For Football Undecided

Completion of work on the new $400,000 Municipal Athletic Stadium at the Turf Bog was speeded up yesterday when the Board of Commissioners convened in a special meeting in the office of the Mayor and voted $14,500 as the final appropriation for the work. This brings to $54,500 the total amount to be spent by the town. About $350,000 was supplied by the Works Progress Administration.

Included in the new appropriation is a provision of $3,960 for the erection of 2,200 feet of fence around the section of the Turf Bog which houses the stadium and football field. Commissioner King pointed out that it would be "policy" to have spent so much money on the project and not appropriate the money for the fence and other items and leave the job unfinished.

The latest appropriation will also be used to complete work on the two dressing and shower rooms under the stands, as well as the refreshment counters. Town Engineer Sheehan said yesterday that the fence to be erected will be 700 feet long and more than 300 feet wide.

No indication has been forthcoming as yet from either the commissioners or the Board of Education as to whether the high school will be used by the high school when the football season opens next month. Belleville will play seven of its eight games at home this year starting with Barringer on September 28. The stands at the Turf Bog, including the temporary seats which are now used at Clearman Field but which could be set up at the Bog, will bring the seating capacity to nearly 15,000.

Jurisdiction Question

One of the principal questions yet to be answered is the matter of jurisdiction over the new athletic field. At the present time it is being handled by the Board of Commissioners but it may be turned over to the Board of Education or to the Recreation Department.

The Board of Education has not yet publicly discussed the use of the Bog for the high school. No mention of the fact at one of its spring meetings that it had not been informed whether or not the field would be ready. It decided then that, unless the field was entirely ready, the Bellbolls would use Clearman Field again this fall.

Sheehan said yesterday that the Bog will be ready if it is wanted for football this year. The erection of the fence will take about three weeks after the contract is let. In the meantime work on the plumbing and heating is being rushed. The last of the seats in the stadium proper were set in place this week.

SCHOOL REPAIRING ALMOST DONE

Redecoration of High School Auditorium Big Job; Buy $20,000 Supplies

The redecoration of the high school auditorium is one of the biggest items in the summer renovation program now nearing completion in the school system, according to Business Manager Ruel E. Daniels who is directing the work. He did not indicate the cost of the summer program but said that it would all be included in the $25,000 annual maintenance budget.

The interior of the auditorium is being repainted and the skylight is being rearranged to permit the projection of moving pictures. The control board for the auditorium lights has been changed from the rear of the hall to backstage.

Other work being done in the high school includes redecoration of the domestic science and music rooms. The latter is being repainted in pastel blue. Several of the classroom windows have been replaced and the parapet wall on the roof has been repaired.

Daniels said that the work is sections of four elementary schools. They are in the playground of No. 8, the nurses' room of No. 5, the gymnasium of No. 10 and the teacher's room of No. 7. Seventy-two window sashes have been replaced throughout the school system and repair work on heating and ventilation systems in all schools has been carried forward.

Hires Workers Directly Daniels said that the work is not let out under contract but that he has hired the workers directly. This effects a considerable saving, he said. Working in the schools this summer have been seven painters, three carpenters, a varnisher, and electrician and a heating repair man.

The business manager has also directed the purchase of more than $20,000 in school supplies since June. More than three thousand items of educational supplies have been bought at a cost of $9,000, new books for various libraries at a cost of $7,000 and miscellaneous equipment such as files and mimeograph machines for more than $4,000.

Youths Solved the Problem Of Crossing River

Decade Ago Youthful Business Men Established Ferry Service While Bridge Was Closed For Repairs; Venture Proved To Be Profitable

The problem of how to get across the Passaic River while the Rutgers Street Bridge was closed was neatly solved a decade ago by nine enterprising youths but there has been no indication that their lead will be followed during the present closing. The boys used the simple rule of economics, the laws of supply and demand, in giving commuters the service which they had to do without. Ten years ago this week the bridge was undergoing one of its periodic face-lifting jobs. Then, as now, detours had to be made to Newark or to Nutley and people were not too happy about the whole thing. They had no way to make bus connections in Arlington without a great deal of reporting.

Sixty-nine youths, ranging in age from ten to twenty-two, gathered together all the rowboats they could lay their hands on and started a miniature ferry service. Nothing spectacular — simply a small-time public utility which offered transportation to the other side of the river at ten cents per passenger.

The scheme actually paid dividends. Each boy carried from fifteen to twenty-five passengers a day. The patrons, who were not all men by any means, found the makeshift ferries a time-saver during the morning and afternoon rush hours.

"Without more ado than a two-and-a-half minute row across the river," said the promoters of the idea, "commuters to various points may connect with the bus junction at Belleville turnpike and River road in North Arlington."

Still Live Here Six of the nine youths still live in Belleville. The nine, their ages at the time and, in the case of the six, their present addresses are:

Frank Crawford Jr., sixteen, of 80 DeWitt avenue; Edward W. Kinsley, nineteen, of 135 Cortlandt street; Russell Schomp, eighteen, of 10 Greenwich street; William Saaroos, fifteen, of 73 Cortlandt street; Albert A. Redden, fifteen, of 25 Belleville avenue; Clifford Revell, thirteen, of 33 William street; Leonard Brand, twenty-two; Charles Reigert, eighteen; and Michael Hearn, ten.

G.O.P. Women's Bus Ride Set For Wednesday

The Women's Republican Club members will forget politics and household duties on Wednesday when they will hold their annual bus ride and outing to Asbury Park and Neptune. Buses will leave from the Women's Club in Rossmore place 9 p.m. in the morning. They will depart from Asbury Park in the evening at 8. The party will have luncheon at the Virginia Tea Room.

Those wishing to go should get in touch with Mrs. David Sundheimer, club president, Miss May Little or Mrs. Arthur Mayer. The outing will be held regardless of the weather.

Club Members To Remind Clark Of Promise To Them

Director of Public Safety Clark will be reminded of a promise he made in June when a committee from the Belleville Political and Social Club calls upon him in the near future.

Clark is said to have promised the club that he would take under advisement the possibility of maintaining police at Belleville and Columbus avenues to facilitate pedestrian crossing to Belleville Park.

The traffic at that point is heavy and the club maintains that police should be stationed there at certain times. Club officials said yesterday that no action on the request had been taken as yet.

NEREID OARSMEN HOSTS SUNDAY TO RAVENSWOOD

Regatta Will Be Held On Passaic At 2; Joe Angyal Is The Star

Nereid Boat Club will be seeking revenge Sunday afternoon when it once again plays host to powerful Ravenswood Boat Club of Long Island City. The New Yorkers will engage in a dual rowing regatta on the Passaic River with the locals. It will be the only inter-club regatta here this season. The races will be held over the Nereid short course from the Rutgers Street Bridge south to the clubhouse, distance of three-eighths of a mile. The first event is scheduled for 2 and races will be held every fifteen minutes. There are nine events on the same program. Ravenswood won a victory last year on the same course by a margin of six events to three before a crowd of 5,000 which thronged the banks.

Feature attraction this year, as it was last, will be the senior single shell race between Homer Zink and Joe Angyal of Ravenswood. Angyal currently holds two national championships won at Red Bank last month. Angyal is the only sculler to beat World's champion Joe Burck since Dan Barrow turned the trick in 1936. Zink has been very little in competition this year. He finished second to Burk at Philadelphia in his only race. Two years ago he won the association senior championship on the same course.

Three Brother Acts

Three sets of brothers will be included in Nereid boats in this regatta. Darrell Zink, interscholastic champion of North America, will row with Homer in the club quadruple shell. Andy McMaster will be in the No. 2 seat in the senior quad while his brother Howard is rowing intermediate double. Bill and John Juels are slated for the double double.

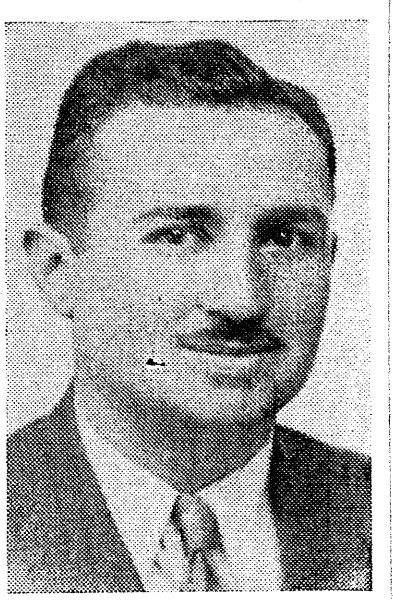

The Nereid crews will be under the direction of Bill Bennett of 197 Linden avenue who was appointed last week as coach. Bennett held several championships a few years ago and was considered one of the best oarsmen in Nereid until a back injury last winter forced him out of active competition.

Connie Titus, who was national champion in 1902 and 1906, will be the starter and referee of the races. Judges at the finish will be E. Schuyler Webster who this year completes his fiftieth year as a member of Nereid, Gene Sonntag and Bill Bernauer of Ravenswood.

The entries of the different events are:

Program
Novice single gig — Harry Leiss (N); A. Schlosser or A. Pack (R); Junior single gig — Carl Hazert (N); E. Masin (R).
Intermediate double gig — Howard McMaster (N) and Ericson (N); J. Niemi and P. Sayevich, sub K. Hoehn (N); Senior single shell — Homer Zink (N); Joe Burck (R).
Novice double gig — Bill and John Juels, sub Leiss and Ray Cosswell (N); A. Schlosser or A. Pack (R).
Senior double gig — Warren Everson and Walt Nicol (N); W. Nicastri and Angyal (R).

Intermediate single gig — Sid Salomon (N); Sonntag or Nicastri (R).

Dr. Generoso Rossi of 154 Belmont avenue has been licensed to practice medicine, according to an announcement made by the State Board of Medical Examiners. Born in Belleville, Dr. Rossi attended local elementary schools and was graduated from the high school in 1931.

He studied in Italy, where, with his brother, Dr. Bartolomeo C. Rossi of 64 Lloyd place, he introduced the American system of basketball in Naples. After a six-year course, he was graduated from the Royal University of Siena Medical School in 1937.

He interned at Columbus Hospital in Newark, Jersey City Medical Center and St. Joseph's Hospital in Elmira, N. Y. For three months he was Boy Scout physician at Lake Seneca, N. Y. At present he is assistant medical director in Weeksbury, Ky.

INCREASE OF BUS SERVICE OKAYED

Town Grants Jersey City-Montclair Local Franchise For Two More Buses

The Jersey City-Montclair Bus Company was given permission to pick up passengers with two more buses when the commissioners approved the recommendation of Director Noll yesterday. This brings to eight the number of buses which the company is now operating through Belleville.

They had applied for permission for the two extra buses several months ago but were turned down by Noll on the grounds that there was too much congestion already in the area around Washington and Belleville avenues. Noll said that the company had received permission from the Public Utilities Commission to operate the two other buses and that for some time these two have been going through the town with their doors closed.

While the Rutgers street bridge is closed all bus lines to Jersey City and New York have altered their routes to run north on Washington avenue to the Avondale bridge in Nutley. They include the DeCamp buses to New York, the Jersey City-Montclair aid the Garden State lines to Journal Square. Garden State buses have put on a shuttle bus and the Garden State lines to connections with the Journal Square bus in Nutley.

Country's Entry Into War Led To Formation of Local Red Cross Chapter

and a "hands off" policy on the part of this country in relation to the European war. He quoted from authorities about the country who were sympathetic to the pacifist. However, when war did come, he was one of the leaders and campaigned vigorously for the support of the nation's cause.

Belleville was not without its rumors, talks and reports of what we now call Fifth Column activity. The Times editorially pleaded with the public not to be suspicious of every person of foreign extraction. The talk became so general that Mayor Waters issued a public proclamation requesting their remarks and discussion about those who were foreign born.

"I deem it wise," the Mayor wrote, "in the present crisis in this formal proclamation to assure all residents of foreign birth, that in event of the United States becoming actively involved in the great European war, no citizen of foreign birth, now residing in the Town of Belleville, need fear any invasion of his personal or property rights, so long as he goes peacefully about his business, and conducts himself in a law-abiding manner."

At the time war was finally declared, the Mayor issued another proclamation calling upon the residents to unite in the service of this country. Specifically, he requested that all households exercise a "judicious selection" in (Continued on Page 5)

Garden State Bus Fight Is On a Merry-Go-Round

Appeal Is Costly Says Line Official; People Must Make Plea, They Say; Bacharach Is "Out To Lunch" And Then "Out All Day"

The buck was passed three times within a week as residents of "The Hill" continued their fight for raising of the restrictions on the Garden State shuttle line that runs between North Newark and Brookdale section of Bloomfield. The situation yesterday remained deadlocked in a vicious circle. Thursday Garden State suddenly announced curtailment of service on the line and admitted that the cause was the loss of revenue from Belleville. Traffic Manager Bernard Sperber said Tuesday that the reduced service was due directly to the ruling that passengers cannot be picked up or discharged in Belleville.

Last week several citizens reiterated their request to the Public Utilities Commission that the restrictions be lifted. They were told once again that the "next move is up to Garden State." Sperber threw the matter back in the laps of the citizens in letters to several of the people's spokesmen on Friday.

"Please bear in mind that two attempts have already been made to have the restrictions on this line removed. Both have proved unsuccessful. You must realize too that it is costly to engage in litigation such as the type you suggest," he wrote.

"We have every desire to cooperate with those of our patrons who have a need for this service, and we shall be pleased to furnish the same if we are permitted to do so. Consequently, we suggest that steps be taken by all interested citizens to present the matter before the proper authorities in an orderly fashion. If that be done, we assure you that we will cooperate in every way possible."

"Glad To Hear It"

When informed that many Bellevillites have offered to testify before the Utilities Commission as to the necessity of the bus line should Garden State again appeal, Sperber said that he was "more than glad to hear it" and that it might put a different light on the future actions of the company.

The leaders of the citizen groups have prepared for a postcard bombardment and will spring it at the moment Garden State says it will appeal once more. They said yesterday that the cards will be distributed to everyone in Belleville who wants the service and that they in turn would send them to the Utilities Board.

Meantime a sense of futility began to crop up among the citizens. Comment along the bus line route this week was to the effect that things looked like a run-around. They cited the case of the man from Hornblower avenue who went down to see Harry Bacharach, president of the Utilities Commission.

He was told that Bacharach would be in "after lunch" and, after waiting all morning, was informed that Bacharach "would not be in today." The following day the entire procedure was repeated.

Nutley residents have been dragged into the battle by the curtailment of the service. Public Safety Director A. Theodore D. Muro said Friday that he would seek a conference with Joseph Krueger, president of the bus company, to ask for an explanation. Three buses are operating during the rush hours in the

NO WILLKIE CLUB EXPECTED HERE

Entire Campaign Will Be Directed By Regulars; Money First Problem

Formation of a Willkie-for-President Club locally appears unlikely. Although an estimated 200 of these groups have already sprung up throughout the state under the leadership of Donald J. Smith of Montclair, this town is apparently not to be one of those communities. The campaign to elect Willkie will be linked directly with that of the regular Republican slate and will be under the leadership of Commissioner Joseph King and Town Republican Leader Harry Machette.

Although some of the communities in this section have started the campaign rolling already, Belleville like many others has not as yet organized and probably will not become active until after Labor Day. The first task of the Republican forces will be to organize a finance group. Local efforts will probably be linked with those of the State Republican Finance Committee which is attempting to secure financial aid from every municipality in the state.

Branch Brook Alarm Sounds, But Nothing Is Missing

Maurice O'Connor, pro at Hendricks Field, said Tuesday that a thorough check revealed that nothing had been stolen when an attempt was made Thursday morning to break into the caddy house at the golf course.

Officers Gallagher and Bride investigated the report that the alarm was ringing there but police believe that the thieves were scared off by the sound of the bell.

G.O.P. REMEMBERS VOTE OF F. D. R. IN '36 ELECTION

Go Cautious On Predicting Willkie Majority; President Had 1,000 Margin In 1936

This town may not flop over into the political pasture of Wendell L. Willkie as easily as some people think. Already there is talk that Willkie will carry the town by one and three to one. Some dyed-in-the wool G.O.P. folks can even steam themselves up to the point of predicting an even greater victory margin. These thoughts are not echoed by Republican leaders who judge political contests by past performances based on comparative voting. They remember — and it reddens plenty of faces — that Belleville, a nominally Republican town, went off the deep end for President Roosevelt by almost 1,000 votes over the number polled by G. O. P. Alfred M. Landon in the 1936 Presidential election.

It was Roosevelt's personal popularity which counted most heavily here in 1936 and that is what those opposing him fear most during the coming campaign. While the President polled 5,511 votes to 4,616 for Landon, Congressman Fred A. Hartley, a member of the elephant clan, triumphed over his Democratic opponent, Lindsay H. Rudd 4,953 to 4,502.

Point To Recent Majorities

The vote rolled up by Roosevelt was a shock from which the local Republicans have never fully recovered, for the victory for F. D. R. was something that was unheard of in traditionally Republican Belleville. G. O. P. spirits are somewhat buoyed up by the majorities which the party has polled here in elections since that of 1936 and are mindful of the fact that some of the Democratic leaders who were most active in the 1936 campaign will be missing when the fireworks start in the fall.

While Roosevelt was successful in carrying this town in 1936, he was unable to turn the trick at the peak of the depression in 1932. He then received 4,421 while Herbert Hoover was given 5,132 for his lost cause.

Hoover's vote was considerably below that given him in the 1928 Presidential race when he outran Al Smith in town 5,942 to 3,900. Belleville voters really went to the polls in the 1924 election when ninety-four per cent of the registered voters cast their ballot. According to the tabulation, 5,244 out of a possible 5,579 Calvin Coolidge received 3,431 while the Democratic nominee, John Davis, had to be content with 1,337 and the Progressive candidate, Bob LaFollette, received 413. W. Warren Harding received 2,851 in the 1920 election for the presidency while James Cox was given 1,194.

Favored Hughes

In 1916, when election enthusiasm was at a high pitch and Charles Evans Hughes, Republican, opposed President Wilson, Belleville went to the polls strong for Hughes. The voters were quite exercised over the election for nearly 2,000 out of a registration of 2,058 voted. Only six people residing in the Third Ward did not vote. Hughes received 1,101 votes while Wilson was credited with 758.

COPS COOPERATE WITH FBI

Spatz Confers With Federal Officials In Newark; Tells People To Report

The full support of the police department was pledged to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Friday when Chief George Spatz conferred with FBI officials in Newark. The Federal agency is attempting to coordinate its vigilance against all un-American activity.

When he returned from the meeting, Spatz once more urged that all suspicions be reported to the proper authorities.

"If there are any complaints of sabotage or other Fifth Column activity," he said, "we hope that people will have sense enough to notify either the Police Department or the FBI, instead of making their own investigation."

"The latter course usually hurts innocent parties and can easily result in lawsuits. The police are trained for this type of work and it is to them that all such matters should be referred."

Let's Settle The Question

It is high time that the commissioners and the Board of Education stop beating around the bush and put their heads together on what is to be done about the Turf Bog project. A stadium and a field, such as few municipalities can boast, is virtually completed. With the amount voted by the town commissioners yesterday, more than $54,000 of the taxpayers' money has been put into it while indirectly they will eventually help to pay for some of the $350,000 which has been contributed by the W. P. A.

But that's as far as the story goes. Nobody seems to know definitely what is to be done with the Stadium now that it is completed. Will it be used by the high school team for football? That is one of the principal unknowns.

Before the stadium question is finally decided there undoubtedly will be some name calling and a few sulking in the corner because things did not go just their way. Personalities and petty jealousies should be left out. This stadium is not something erected so that members of the Board of Education and the Town Commission can spend the better part of the fall agreeing to disagree. It was built for the use of the people of this town — and a vast majority of them expect football games to be played there this autumn. Their money helped to build it.

That football season opens on Saturday, September 28. There would be no better time to dedicate the stadium and start using it. The sooner the commissioners and the school trustees iron out the problems surrounding the administration and control of the field, the greater will be the appreciation of the public for the officials' efforts to erect it and dedicate it to public use.

The Cart Before the Horse

Attention is focused this week on two phases of our national defense program—the army maneuvers which are being held in several parts of the country and the Congressional debate on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training measure. Out of one we have gleaned information which affects our opinion about the other. If we can believe what correspondents and observers pass on to us, the army maneuvers are almost child-like. Big trucks are "tanks," hunks of iron pipe are "guns," etc.

All of which adds up to a pretty kettle of fish for the military might of a nation which many think is the barrier that must prevent the totalitarian powers and their dog-tail followers from conquering the world.

While this is going on, in sweltering Washington the Congressmen are yelling themselves hoarse over the merits and demerits of the all-important Burke-Wadsworth legislation which if approved would put a million men between twenty-one and thirty-one under arms during the next year. According to figures released by the government this nation now has in the regular Army, the National Guard and in Organized Reserve Corps a half million men.

At the moment, it appears that we have the cart before the horse. If we get these million men in military service what will be done with them? It is proposed, if the legislation now being debated before Congress passes, to call almost half of them in the fall—less than two months away. If we do not have the equipment to train and instruct properly some of the half million who are now in the regular Army and the National Guard, how do we plan to care for another half million and more?

Our national defense building program is not on a full working schedule. Much of it is still in the blueprint and conference table stage. We don't have the equipment to train properly a million men and we won't have it for some time to come. Why require young men to sacrifice jobs and spend government money when there are not the tools with which they may learn and work?

Preparedness is vital. Compulsory military training is undoubtedly one of the important components that must go into it if it is to be successful. But, a chicken with its head chopped off attitude is not helping. There has been too much of that already.

Conscription — yes, when we are prepared to handle it adequately and train the millions who would come under the provisions of the law. Meanwhile, let us concentrate on properly equipping the regular armed forces and making that service attractive to young men. Army life can hardly be called attractive at a salary of $21 per month . . . twenty-five per cent less than that paid CCC or NYA workers and far below that paid WPA pick and shovellers whose value to the country is often questioned.

Causing the Republicans Nightmares

One of the fears which is causing Republican leaders in this state sleepless nights is that they may be successful in carrying New Jersey for Wendell L. Willkie and probably re-elect W. Warren Barbour United States Senator but will not be able to pull through State Senator Robert C. Hendrickson who is opposing Democrat Charles Edison for the gubernatorial office. This is no minor concern with G.O.P. bigwigs, but one which has caused plenty of head scratching within the party.

Counted on to help them pile up a majority for Willkie over the President are a number of Democrats who may be opposed to Mr. Roosevelt for various reasons—principally his third term aspirations. A still more important group is the independent vote. Republicans wish they could be as sure of holding these for Hendrickson as they are that they will vote for Willkie. As numerous observers have pointed out, there is in several sections of the state a Willkie-Edison movement. This is not entirely without the knowledge and even the assistance of some Republicans. Some even insist that it would not be beyond Mayor Hague's political maneuvering to toss votes Willkie's way if he saw assurances that he would gain some for Edison in return.

After all, while he would be pleased if Roosevelt were re-elected, Hague's first concern is New Jersey for without having a strangle hold on the patronage machine and those who dispense it, the Jersey City mayor would not be the vote producing fairy godmother that he appears to be.

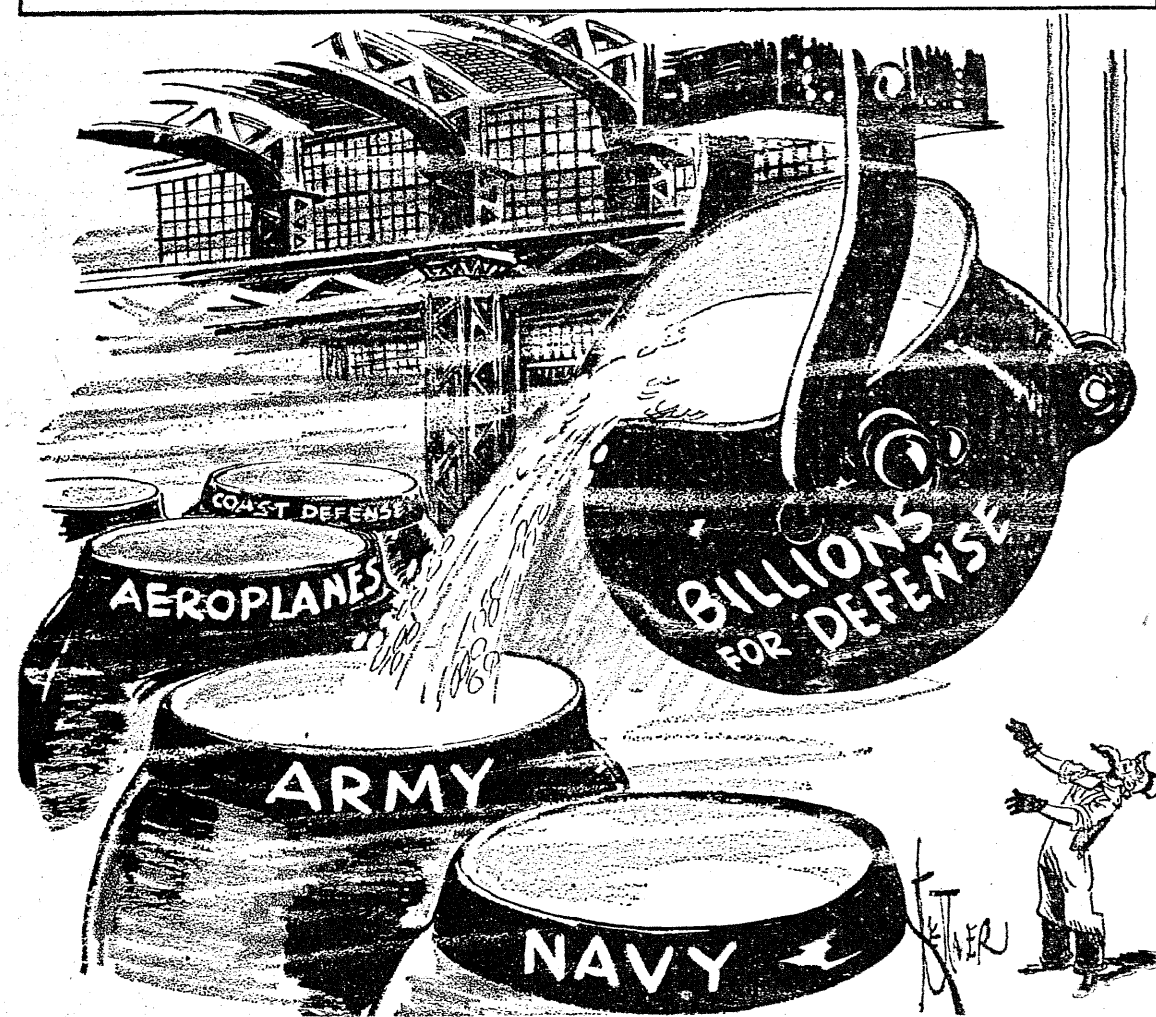

It will take more than the mild summer breezes to blow away the clouds of bitterness that hovered over the Republican ranks during the gubernatorial primary when Hendrickson and former Governor Harold

G. Hoffman were at each other's throats to gain the nomination. That was a vicious, mudslinging battle which left lots of soreness that has not been forgotten in the months that have passed. Although Hoffman has pledged his support to the party, there are some who followed him who have not and will not. They will work for Edison. What they hope to gain is a bit hazy for the Democrats have more than they can handle of their own without aiding the Republicans.

There is one movement which is annoying G.O.P. leaders, but to us seems too far-fetched and in hands that are quite amateurish when it comes to high powered politics. A campaign to write in Hoffman's name on the ballot in November has been started by a Newarker, Jesse Rodgers. Hoffman has no more chance of being elected Governor on a write-in than we have. Rodgers knows that, too, or else he's awfully dense. But, there may be enough who are still loyal to Hoffman who will waste a vote on him instead of giving it to Hendrickson. Every one who goes into the ballot box for Hoffman would just put Mr. Edison and the Democrats that much closer to Trenton and another three years' control.

Hoffman is looked upon as one of the leaders of Republicanism whether he is in office or not. Despite his defeat at the primaries, he still is able to prove convincing to many voters. For him to give his assent to anything which might hurt the party through the use of his name seems not quite like him. To clarify the situation and to ease the minds of many who may have already been misled by this hair-brained movement, Hoffman should state publicly that he has or will not have anything to do with it and urge people to support the entire Republican slate.

Beginning to Flow

Our Defense

This is the First in a Series of Articles Prepared by the National Defense Advisory Commission, Washington, D. C.

The Size of Our Defense Program

The President, as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, has requested approximately $10,000,000,000 to build up our Army and Navy. The Congress was asked to permit increasing the strength of our Army to 1,200,000 and to provide means for obtaining equipment sufficient to outfit an additional 800,000 men who might be called to the colors.

At the present moment we have a force of 500,000 men made up of the regular Army, the National Guard, and the Organized Reserves. Under the terms of the new defense program, we will have to provide men and materials to increase our armed forces fourfold. And we have to do it in a hurry.

Now that's no simple problem. It's more than just opening the door and announcing "We would like to hire a million and a half men" and have them step right up and become soldiers. The men have to become familiar with the complex instruments of modern warfare. In order to do that they have to be equipped with those instruments, and plenty of them.

A modern army needs everything from safety pins to locomotives. It needs guns and ammunition to be sure, and those guns and ammunition must be of the most modern type, to be effective. To put a modern army in the field calls for clothes, food, and medical supplies. It also calls for a means of getting to the battle, and means of supply when it gets there.

Modern war is total war. We must be fully prepared.

The Job Ahead

Accomplishing this task in the face of an emergency requires coordination of our resources of men and materials, and above all coordination of our huge industrial plant that is the backbone of the nation in peace as well as in war. Many of the supplies we are going to need are turned out every day by the nation's industries. These can be procured by the Government through normal channels of industry. But many others are special equipment needed only for defense. These must be especially built for us, some in new plants. In making these special instruments, we must minimize interference with normal requirements of the nation. But we have to have them just the same.

To see that this operation goes ahead fast and efficiently, the President appointed the National Defense Advisory Commission on May 28, 1940. This Commission is composed of men who are particularly qualified by special knowledge of an industry, public utility, of some natural resource, or are otherwise specially qualified. The Commission's task is to translate the defense program from laws on the statute books, from a blueprint, into actual supplies needed by the men under arms. Their problem rests upon three vital questions.

What do we need?
Where is it?
How do we get it?

It perhaps is the greatest unified effort ever undertaken by the American people. It has already started.

What We Need

The outlines of the job under way are already clear. On May 16, the President asked Congress to provide $1,182,000,000 for defense. On May 31, he again sent a message declaring that the incredible events abroad, during the latter part of May, necessitated another $1,277,741,170 to speed up preparation for our military and naval needs. On July 10, due to further drastic changes in the world situation, and because of the united will of the American people to defend themselves against all enemies, foreign and domestic, the President asked for further appropriation of $4,848,171,957 for national defense.

This would provide for:
Equipping a navy to meet any possible combination of hostile forces.

Total equipment for a land force of 1,200,000.
Reserve stocks of tanks, guns, and artillery ammunition for an additional 800,000 men.

Fifteen thousand additional plans for the Army and 4,000 for the Navy.

Manufacturing facilities public and private to produce essential equipment required for our forces.

In order to provide that equipment, we determine what the Army and Navy need, in terms of uniforms, guns, tanks, planes, and ships. This is broken down into raw materials. Provision is made for processing these raw materials. Plants are provided to convert these materials into the weapons to put into the hands of the troops. The nation is like a gigantic production line. A breakdown at any point along the hundreds of raw materials' lines might stall the whole machine. That must not happen. As fast as the men are ready, the materials must be ready. This series will explain how this is being accomplished.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

The attitude of Italian-American voters in the coming election is occupying national as well as local attention. Political statisticians have had their pencils out for some time now, and what they have added up looks impressive. In New York State, for example, the Italian-American vote is fully half as large as the Jewish vote. In New Jersey it is probably twice the size of the Jewish vote. There are easily enough of Italian extraction in Illinois to swing a close election. The same applies to Pennsylvania, Ohio and California.

Any Italian-American leader will tell you privately that an overwhelmingly large percentage of these intend to vote for Willkie. Leaders with whom I have talked place the percentage as high as ninety-five. No matter what may be the course of events from now on, these leaders say, most Italian-Americans will vote against Roosevelt. It is not a question of whether or not they are sympathetic to Mussolini's policies. The vast majority of them are anti-Fascist, later immigration being largely of this class. But they feel that President Roosevelt by his "stab-in-the-back" speech insulted the Italian people. Their race pride is hurt. Roosevelt's words were simple and dramatic enough to be understood and remembered.

THAT DOG

by Laurence Torley

Cures and Remedies

We have often been criticized for publishing little hints as to the various methods of treating a sick dog. Our justification for doing so is that this column should be helpful to the average dog owner. Go too any pet or drug store and see the number of different firms which put up prescriptions for dogs. There are hundreds, all claiming to be the only specific cure for all the ills that a dog is heir to. Little pamphlets diagnose the various diseases and of course the cure is always "use Dr. So and So's secret formula." In many cases the formula is no more of a secret than salt is eloquently termed sodium-chloride or epsom salts becomes magnesium sulphate. Most of these pamphlets tell with all due modesty that this is the only cure.

They can't all be right. That is why we have taken favorite remedies of well known breeders (men whose business it is to keep their kennels as healthy as possible), and have given them out from time to time. We neither sell nor do we recommend any special patent medicines, so we feel that we are free to submit any remedy that we know to be of proven value. Avoid ready made preparations as much as possible. See your veterinarian and if he thinks that the disease will respond to home treatment he will usually tell you that home is the best place.

Four-County Committee Working To Improve Conditions: Hydraulic Dredge Speeding Up Job Of Excavating 26-Mile Channel

MR. BILL Searles, his clear blue eyes sparkling, pointed toward the meadow adjoining his Long Valley Farm as we followed his story of the nudists' camp. "Right there is where I first saw them; first the tents, and then them; they sure did look pretty ridiculous playing volleyball, especially the roly-poly ones." Mr. Searles reflected a moment, then: "That was a few years back, of course. I guess you remember how the papers were full of stuff about the Long Valley nudists. One Sunday we had as many as 3,000 cars parked around the hills here. Why my pictures were in all the papers and the newsreels. For a while there was plenty of excitement around these quiet hills. Then, overnight away they went, their tents, their volleyball, and everything, and now we just go about our work like we always did."

—O—O—
Of all the hobbies we elect moth-netting as the dullest. On a recent rainy night customers at Alderney Dairy's Milk Barn on Route 10 were a little confused by the sound of hurried footsteps and the low grunts of what turned out to be a rather exhausted little man, who, pelted by the heavy rain, but apparently oblivious to it, resolutely pursued a too ovative moth with a long, queer-shaped net which he held out by a long pole.

The unscheduled show under the arc lights held the Alderney patrons spellbound as the soaked and fairly bedraggled hobbyist fought to bag his rare prey. Finally there was a subdued cheer from the Alderney audience when, with a sudden professional hook-sweep of the net the tired little man deftly corralled his prize. Then, soaked to the skin, but with an expression of sheer joy, he walked off, the victor, and the customers went back to their Alderney Guernsey malted milks and things.

—O—O—
WE predict a tour through Busch & Sons' new jewelry store at Newark's Broad and William streets will turn out to make some fellow or girl, some husband or wife, or just anyone whose birthday is coming along, a lot happier, because you cannot resist buying the birthstone rings that the store features each month. Let's see, what month is it calls for diamonds? Well, believe it or not, even the diamonds are inexpensive in proportion at Busch's.

For the best speedboat ride hereabouts at much, much less than elsewhere, make it Budd Lake again, opposite The Wigwam. And at the Bit & Spur, Nutley, the more attractive cocktail hour visitors were red-coated Jean Claire and her sister Dot Phillips, escorted by their brother Stanley. For a hurry-up meal-in-one try an Alderney malted milk with a generous scoop of Alderney vanilla tossed in. Or if it's a sandwich try the "Exclusively Yours," which contains a slice of ham, slice of chicken, slice of swiss cheese, and served with Russian dressing.

In any solution of northern New Jersey's mosquito problem, the correction of breeding conditions of the Passaic Valley is a primary factor. In this area along the Passaic River and its tributaries, the Rockaway, Whippany and Pompton Rivers, as well as countless brooks and drainage ditches, there are 20,000 acres of meadow and swamp land subject to flooding. When floods remain on the meadows for periods of seven days or more during the spring and summer, mosquitoes breed and the resultant flights spread out over the counties of Morris, Essex, Passaic and Union.

A group of mosquito commissioners representing these counties, known as the four County Committee, is cooperating in an effective permanent cure for the mosquito annoyance from this source. The major objective is to restore the Passaic River to its original channel along the twenty-six miles of watercourse between Chatham and Little Falls. The Passaic is a sluggish stream, with a drop of only six feet in all this distance. Mudbanks, sandbars, and heavy accumulations of debris have been built up in the river bed over many years. The rivers and streams flowing into the Passaic carry water to it, during rainstorms, faster than the shallow, tortuous channel can carry it off.

The restoration of the river channel has been undertaken in the past by two and three quarter yard dragline machines and, during the past year, by a clam-shell half-yard bucket dredge. This year a more effective machine has been developed in the form of a hydraulic dredge capable of removing 400 cubic yards of mud and sand per day.

Composed of Floats

The dredge, similar to one operated in Princeton's Lake Carnegie, except for its power units, is composed of three floats, each forty feet long and seven feet wide, bolted together so that the sections may easily be detached when passing through narrow bridges spanning the river. The dredging equipment, mounted on the barge, consists of a cutter ladder which cuts the mud and clay, and feeds it into the suction pipe. A ten-inch dredge pump, operated with a 150 horsepower slow speed engine is used to suck the solids, in suspension with water, from the cutter head and discharges them through the pipe lines to low swamp areas far from the river banks. The dredge moves, or walks, by swinging on heavy wooden spuds mounted on the rear. A five drum dredge hoist provides the machinery required to operate the swing lines, spuds, and to control the depth of the cutter head.

In operation, the dredge, pivoting on one spud, swings from bank to bank as the cutter head is lowered to the predetermined depth. Through a series of swings, the dredge walks downstream, leaving behind a smooth river bottom which will insure a maximum flow.

As the river is restored to its original course, the flow will return to normal and the enormous numbers of "Aedes vexans," the prolific breeders and biters of the Passaic Valley, will have their breeding areas removed through the eventual non-flooding of the meadows.

The work at present is financed through the apportionment of funds by the four counties, and has been undertaken only after exhaustive studies for controlling mosquitoes in this section. Because of the tremendous variety in the river level during rainstorms, ditching was proved impracticable, and the spraying of infested areas by motorized equipment was found impossible due to wet ground that could not support the tractors. Airplane spraying operations were found to be too costly.

Down And Around

Looking for something new and different in the way of entertainment, we decided to hop over to the Chatterbox at Mountaineer where Bob Chester is employing his swing ragtime to a definite advantage. For two hours we sat with the attitude go ahead and play for us... we wanted to hear what they had in the books and make no mistake the boys really came through. In our opinion the most outstanding member of the band is Garner Clark, the second trumpeter who plays cornet. Arrangements are well written and are played the same way. Vocals by the young lady who was an also ran with the Teagarden band... last year's edition... the lovely Dolores O'Neil are neatly handled. The Chatterbox, itself, is too small for a band this size... fourteen... and the acoustics tend to detract from the efforts of the musicians.

Completing our night out... we took in the old stand-by... Frank Dailey's Meadowbrook where Cab Calloway is presiding over all musical activities for the time being. Having heard enough music for the moment we hied ourselves into the confines of the Dailey office where many transactions both successful and unsuccessful... that are carried on. Last night's conversation drifted along to future plans as the Musical Baron of Route 23. As yet, things are pretty much up in the air but if Jan Savitt can be persuaded to quit money making and band business which he threatens to quit momentarily, it probably will be this band as the next Meadowbrook feature. There is a possibility that the Casa Loma band will return in case the Savitt deal goes haywire.

As we sat and discussed all these possibilities, the subject of Benny Goodman was introduced and here is what we gleaned from those present. Seems there is a strong rumor to the effect that Benny will re-organize with strings in his band... a definite blow to our hope of hearing an even greater Goodman now that his sciatica has been practically eliminated. Also, plans that Artie Shaw hoped would materialize... that is his obtaining some of Goodman's key men are more or less stalemated. With the good news that Benny will be out and around rehearsing again... the boys in his band decided their lay-off was merely a vacation and that they'd stick together. Thus B.G. should have plenty on the musical ball when he's ready to go again.

Looks like Buddy Rogers is going to gape at all of you from the silver screen once again... yes gags, if you're interested, Buddy is forsaking his band and going back into the cinema... for the fourth or fifth time. This time for 20th Century-Fox. Johnny Morris... ex-drummer boy with Vincent Lopez some time ago and more recently the personality boy second to Rogers, will step out from behind the hides to do a bit of "fronting" thus keeping the band intact. Could it be a temporary move on the part of Buddy or will he "take" this time out there in Hollywood? Take it or leave it... but in last week's Variety we observed the figure on Jan Savitt's last week at the Chicago theatre out there in the Windy City was a cool $41,000 at the box office as against Glenn Miller's opening week at the sum of $37,000.

A Bit On Radio

WOR is really all puffed up about the advent of the new FM... frequency modulation. Starting last Thursday, WOR went on with this new, improved means of radio transmission, for a regular daily schedule from 9 a.m. to somewhere in the late evening hours.

NBC's "Chamber Society of Lower Basin Street" is still rolling along at a refreshingly fine clip and her's a light musical show packed with talent, laughs and unusually good music considering the boys probably play only this show as an entire unit and forget it till rehearsal the following week. Yes, we've been following this program since its debut and have yet to find anything to criticize. That's a reputation worth having... at least so far as this writer is concerned. The time, in case you've never heard the show, is 4:30 to 5 every Sunday afternoon on WJZ.

Looks like the Lucky Strike "Quickies"... you know, the "Say, Have You Got The Time" spot announcements heard over numerous independent stations here in the east, will be cut. Reason being the new ciggie taxes make it almost prohibitive to run these "shorts" which run into a great deal of the green stuff.

Veronica Lorraine Travers Will Wed Sunday Afternoon

Miss Veronica Lorraine Travers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Travers of 382 Belleville avenue and Joseph George Oese, son of Mrs. William Oese of 15 Davidson street, will be married Sunday afternoon at 5 by Rev. Joseph M. Kelly in St. Peter's Church. The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her father and will be attended by Mrs. Howard Morpeth of North Arlington, sister of Mr. Oese. Charles Oese of Belleville will be his brother's best man.

Miss Travers' gown of blue crepe de chine will be matched by her large blue picture hat and she will wear a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Morpeth will be given in navy blue. The young couple will reside at the Davidson street address. Mr. Oese is employed by the Forbes Trucking Company of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Tortorello and family of Mt. Prospect avenue are vacationing in Seaside Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson of Howard place are home after spending two weeks visiting relatives in Buffalo, N. Y.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

A man has written of the reaction of women to the present world crisis, which still impends although the front pages of our newspapers are no longer one hundred per cent foreign dispatches. Women, he feels, respond more easily to pressure exerted on the emotions and cling more tenaciously to their decisions than men. It is perhaps the latter quality that renders them more dangerous both as allies and enemies. He cites many examples of impetuosity on the part of women which preceded our entrance into the World War and points out what a powerful influence the sympathy of women for the victims of European persecution could be should we once more be faced with the decision to enter conflict.

Movies and plays, to say nothing of the word pictures presented daily by leading foreign correspondents, have a deeply moving effect on women audiences. The surge of resentment against the persecutor which rises in feminine hearts is so natural that its absence would be frightening. But what must be remembered before active campaigns are launched and a "cause" is espoused is that there are other situations, such as our entrance into conflict, which might bring results with which we would not be able to cope.

Women Too Anxious
Whether it be for peace or war, our informant points out, women are aroused to crusade with great alacrity and continue with unwavering fury. A fury sometimes does not permit them to see that their cause may not be desirable. Even limited experience forces us to admit that this is true. Further, we feel that women are too anxious to respond to the call sent out by a woman leader simply because of her sex. It is the project, not the woman instigator, which needs the closest scrutiny.

And why is this scrutiny so often lacking? Simply because women take it for granted that a woman who achieves prominence is thereby qualified to suggest action. Writers, society women of prominence, professional women, all command the respect of other women primarily because they rank equally with men in their respective fields. It is this vindication of our sex against the age-old principle of male leadership that makes us ready as a class to undertake without too much forethought the tasks which these women assign by inference if not in actual fact.

We point out this conviction of ours with all due respect to the genuinely fine accomplishments of the leaders of our sex. But we make a plea that women regard world events today with all the cool-headedness of which they are capable. Warm-heartedness will be much more effective if it is poured out in a cause that has been well considered.

A woman writer, considering this same topic, gives some admirable suggestions to those of us who have a quantity of leisure time. She points out that there are many jobs to be done which most of us neglect until the suggestion of war sends us scurrying into uniforms and regimenting ourselves with the production of bandages, clothing and other necessary articles. This we should be prepared and happy to do when occasion arises; but, in the meantime, there is an enormous need for the contribution of time and services to organizations which serve the afflicted and needy of our own country.

The poor, the blind, underprivileged children need services which anyone can easily render by putting themselves at the disposal of the various organizations and being willing to do the tasks assigned. This not only strengthens the nation as it improves the conditions of such unfortunate but it is splendid training for actual service in organized work when emergency arises.

The gradual decrease of food faddism is the healthiest sign, and most encouraging to the homemaker, that has been witnessed in a long time. No less an authority than Dr. Victor Heiser, who wrote American Doctor's Odyssey and, more recently, You're The Doctor, is anxious to make it known that we could and should eat everything that is wholesome and that this very variety is necessary for complete development of mentality and personality as well as physical well-being.

Freak diets such as those which include only nuts, fruits and vegetables, or those which permit of no carbohydrates at the same meal which contains proteins, result in bad temper and irritation. Nature in fact is so much opposed that some foods already contain their proper mixture of these chemical essentials and could not be changed by any of man's fads.

Origin Easily Faded

The origin of food fads is usually simple. Take the example of nutritionists who after the World War noted a decrease of diabetes in countries where pork and other rich fatty foods were not available. Deciding that the elimination of these foods from normal diets would safeguard individuals from the disease, they overlooked the fact that these same countries underwent the heaviest plagues of tuberculosis ever known. Most fads result in like manner only, fortunately, but results are not so startling. But it is well worth noting that the sudden omitting of any staple article of the diet or the sudden increase in any particular type of food will cause disturbances which are far reaching.

The now familiar litany—milk, vegetables, fruits, whole grains, salads, meat and eggs—with all possible variations may safely be your dietary credo. Plenty of ingenuity in the serving and pleasant surroundings while you consume these staple articles supplement their natural virtues.

Autumn's Coming And You'll Want To Be The Centre Of Attraction At The Football Game Or The Dinner-Dance Afterward

Football games... college... clothes!!! It all has a familiar sound, doesn't it? Do you realize that the calendar says autumn is only a month away? Soon the social events of the next season will start you in their gay, mad whirl, and you want to be prepared.

If you close your eyes and sniff hard maybe you can sense the brisk, cool days. Immediately what do you think? Well, we're not psychic, but we are willing to bet that you'll have a heavy date for some football game and the old question is, "What'll I wear?" Well, if you can afford it, a lynx, beaver, leopard or fox will solve your coat problem and fur hats will be very popular this winter. But supposing you aren't so fortunate, you can solve your problem just as smartly and much more reasonably.

As a starter, we'll pick a plaid coat, black and white, with a gay, red stripe running through, fastened around the middle with a wide, red suede belt. A woolly tweed with wide lapels, it catches the whole spirit of the season.

Team Couldn't Lose
Underneath it we'll put a slim, red corduroy jumper dress with a black jersey blouse. The rest of your accessories can be either red or black as you prefer. With such a charming supporter the team you root for should surely win. After a winning game comes dinner dance and you want to shine there, too. If you have vivid coloring wear white silk jersey. Be subtle about it. No décolleté is smart this time. Instead a smooth covered-up look. Three-quarter length sleeves and a heart-shaped neckline will distinguish this dress. Drapery coming from the neckline, cleverly caught at the waistline with a jeweled clasp and then falls gracefully to the floor. The rest of the dress molds your figure to a breath-taking charm.

Wearing The Wrap Home
When it's time to go home and he goes to get your wrap, you gloat with pride over its effectiveness. It's a bolero of the longest, fuzziest, white angora you ever saw, neatly embroidered around the edge with a few shingling sequins. The bag that dangles from your wrist is sequined and your slippers are silver, not wedges.

It's been fun, hasn't it? You eat breakfast at a diner, then home with the milkman and to bed for a nice, long snooze.

You'll Want It

Narrower skirts do not apply to sports coats as shown by this attractive model in plaid wool. Green and brown is a favorite combination. The racoon collar is not only snug but extremely becoming.

Combines Styles

This checked tweed coat combines the stylish man-tailored details of slit pockets, double breasted effect and buttons with the rounded softness of a Peter Pan collar. A grand style to maintain the trim lines of your figure.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Theresa Giordano of Heckel street and Mrs. Joseph Galvino and Mrs. Leon Graziano of Belmont avenue are spending a week at the Marconi Hotel in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Carmela Carsella of Belmont avenue has returned from a two weeks' stay in Belmar. Mrs. Frances Maniscalco of Magnolia street had as guests for the weekend Mr. and Mrs. Tony Cosenza of Stamford, N. C., formerly of this town. On Sunday, the Cosenzas and Mrs. Maniscalco were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cosenza of Bloomfield, formerly of this town.

Mrs. Philip Togliola and her two children of Mill street have returned from a week's stay in Keansburg.

The Hi-Ho Girls, composed of the Misses Nancy Orio, Dora and Tessie Passafara, Stella Corsi, Mary Rinaldi, Rose Barbieri, Nancy Pascheria and Antoinette Olivo spent the weekend in Long Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Calabrese of Bloomfield avenue spent Sunday at Midland Beach.

Mason Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Ford of Adelaide street, is spending several weeks at Wanakink Lake, Rock Hill, N. Y.

Edward B. Lang, son of Mrs. Helen Lang Rutan of Joralemon street, returned Monday from a vacation in Miami and Tampa, Fla. Mr. Lang, who is associated with the Newark Museum, visited his sister, Mrs. Milton Lock of Tampa. While in Florida he studied southern birds for the museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Stocklein of 39 Linden avenue completed their ten-day wedding trip in Atlantic City Monday. They were married on July 27 by Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach. Mrs. Stocklein was formerly Miss Amette Ross of the Linden avenue address. Mr. Stocklein, who formerly lived in Elizabeth, is employed by the Eclipse Aviation Corporation at Bendix.

Each winner will receive two guest passes to the Kent Theatre for Tuesday and Wednesday of any week. The feature for Tuesday is "Safari" and for Wednesday "Young As You Feel."

Summer desserts are still in the limelight and the one submitted by Mrs. Robert Dussler of 353 Stephen street is, we think, particularly attractive. Less rich than an icebox cake, it is at the same time an appropriate finale to a formal dinner or a substantial course in a light luncheon.

Chocolate Charlotte
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup scalded milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 squares bitter chocolate
1 pint cream
18 lady fingers

Dissolve gelatin in cold water and let stand for ten minutes. Melt the chocolate and add sugar, salt and milk. Stir in the gelatin when slightly cooled. Finally fold in the cream which has been whipped. Line a bread pan with the lady fingers and pour the mixture in the center. Allow to stand in the refrigerator about eight hours. Remove and serve in squares with whipped cream topping if desired.

Two simple recipes for ice cream which require no cooking follow:

Peach Ice Cream
Cover 1 1/2 cups of sliced peaches with one cup milk and let stand an hour. Put through a sieve and add 1 cup sugar and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Fold in 1 pint whipped cream and freeze in the usual way in your refrigerator.

Lemon Sherbert
Combine one cup of milk with one cup of sugar and the juice of a large lemon. Add a teaspoon of lemon rind and fold in one pint of whipped cream. Freeze until of sherbert consistency.

Main Street Repair Work May REALLY Start

Work on the often-delayed repair of Main street has been promised definitely not later than next Wednesday, Town Engineer Sheehan informed the Board of Commissioners yesterday. There is a possibility that it may even start a day or two before that, he said.

The total cost of the project will be $10,315, of which the town's share is $872. The actual local cost will be more than $300 below that figure, Sheehan said, since his services, which are included in the town budget, are also considered in the final cost. Of the remainder the Federal Government will pay $4,251 and the county $5,195.

BUICK EXPANDING FOR NEW YEAR

Ready For Increased New Car Production and Participation In Defense Program

Announcement of the completion of a major expansion and retooling program in preparation for production of 1941 models was made this week by Harlow H. Curtice, president and general manager of the Buick division of General Motors Corporation. The executive said that the program involved extensive changes and improvement in plant and equipment in virtually every manufacturing department and will bring productive capacity of the Buick plants up to 1,500 cars a day or 350,000 annually against a capacity during the model run just ended of approximately 1,300 cars a day.

He said that Buick in 1941 will be equipped to meet expected expanded market requirements for its new cars and at the same time answer any calls made upon it for national defense. Curtice disclosed that Buick engineers have been working closely with army technicians on armament projects intended to adapt the Buick valve-in-head engine to military uses. At the same time, other armament production work being considered. Curtice would be collateral with Buick passenger car output, declaring it to be industry's duty to maintain normal operations and employment in addition to its share of the preparedness program.

Hit New High

Plants were operated at capacity during the 1940 model season. He said. A total of 283,204 of the 1940 models were produced, a new all-time high for this company by a substantial margin, comparing with 250,116 cars produced in the 1937 model run, the previous high.

Curtice said that Buick's expansion and retooling program included new tools and equipment in every manufacturing department incident to design change and capacity increase. Among major construction projects which have been completed to handle 1941 output were expansion in the sheet metal department, involving the construction of a large addition to this plant and extensive re-arrangement of machinery, a new plant, removal of gear manufacturing to a new building and a new manufacturing layout for the production of connecting rods.

In addition, numerous installations were made in the foundry, forge, transmission and final assembly plants, with extensive collateral construction of shipping and receiving docks and other facilities for handling materials. One of the longest conveyor systems in the industry was constructed to carry axle from the new factory to the final assembly line while a total of more than thirty-three separate conveyor systems were required for the axle plant, alone, to facilitate the movement of raw materials and finished product.

The executive expressed confidence in the business outlook, estimating 1941 as a probable new per cent increase for the industry. He said virtually all business indices register improvement with the National Defense Program an important factor in the outlook.

MORANO PROVES HE'S STILL GOOD

Don Teams With Phil Axt To Capture Medal At Mamaroneck

That Dom Morano hasn't lost any of the golf wizardry which carried him to the state junior championship several years ago was proved again last week when he was the main factor in the story-book 63 which the Morano-Maxmoneck, N. Y., to capture the medal in the eighth John G. Anderson Memorial Best-Ball Tournament at the Winged Foot Club.

Morano, who lives at 28 King place, shot one eagle and divided eight birdies with Phil Axt of Bloomfield to go out in a nice 34 and come back in a record 29 to set up new figures in the books. The pair played under the colors of the Forest Hill Field Club.

Morano and Axt finished nine under par and far ahead of the rest of the field. There were two combines with 68's and two with 69's. The low men won the Ed Thorpe diamond medals. Morano chalked up his eagle on the eighth where he dropped his second shot six feet from the pin and sank the putt.

The forte of the Morano-Axt combination was medal play for they were bumped out of the first round of the match play 5 and 4 by the youthful Connecticut pair of Al Winter, Jr. and Art Williams of Brooklawn.

Rotarian Magazine Quotes Local Member On Rotary's Motives

Rotary Club is a "life to be lived," according to Rev. Peter R. Deekenbach, Rev. Mr. Deekenbach, who is pastor of Christ Episcopal church and a member of the Belleville Rotary, is quoted in the August issue of The Rotarian, monthly publication of the Rotary International. The entire quotation follows:

"On my way to the International Assembly in 1939 I sat opposite a man in the dining car who asked me, 'Where are you going?' I answered, 'I am going to a Rotary International Convention.' I could tell by the expression on his face that the Rotary meant nothing to him."

"He asked, 'is it a religious organization?' 'No,' I said, 'and yet our motto is just another translation of 'Do as ye would be done by,' which is a religious ideal.' 'Is it a social club?' he continued. 'Not at all,' I said, 'and yet we get our social contacts from a luncheon meeting, which is purely social or educational.'"

"He then went through the whole gamut—'Is it a philosophy?' 'No,' I said. 'To all of which I said, 'No, it is a combination of all of them—that is, a life to be lived.'"

Court Refuses Nurse's Plea For More Alimony

Advisory Master Herr listened to the plea of Daniel J. Mayer of Union in the Elizabeth Chancery Court Friday and denied the application of his wife, Mrs. Alice Mayer of 201 Linden Avenue, for increased alimony.

Mayer testified that, his fortune gone, he was unable to pay more than $8 weekly. Herr determined on that sum. The Mayers were married in 1916 and he is said to have deserted the school dental clerk in 1936.

Crowns, Bellboys Win By Lopsided Scores

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES By Joe Duval

Decide It On Saturday

Some time between 3:30 and 4 Saturday afternoon the town softball champions will have been crowned and will immediately start active preparation to meet the Nutley champs in a few weeks. The battle between the Valley Crowns and the Bellboys ought to be one of the best of the entire tournament. Both teams have slugging power and the difference in them may boil down to the relative pitching merits of Red Gorman and Paul Bohrer. The Crowns have the real feel of softball, they have been playing it for several years now and have been playing it well. The Bellboys, on the other hand, are made up entirely of former baseballers and may find the going a little rough at times. Whether or not it will make any difference Saturday remains to be seen.

Ed Lister says the Bellboy-Crown fuss will be one of the best of the tourney and we have to believe what he says. He called it to a "T" last week. He had seen all the tourney games, he had seen the Crowns several times this year, he had watched Federal Leather lose its first of the year to W&T Friday night. Saturday morning he told us the Crowns would win by ten runs and the Valley boys copped it 16-0!

Another crowd like the 5,000 last year is expected to line the banks of the river Sunday afternoon to watch the only dual touring regatta of the year. The opponents are the same as those of '39 with Nereid meeting Ravenswood. Many will be attracted back by the memory of those close ones last year which could not be called until they had crossed the finish line.

Chief attraction, of course, will be little Joe Angyal, 140 pounds of power. Joe has been a national champion since 1936 and was the only single sculler this year to top two national crowns. We have seen him row many times and have talked to him many times and believe him to be one of the finest sportsmen in the business today.

Angyal is a wee mite of a thing compared to men like mighty Joe Burck, who stands six feet two and weighs 195. Yet Angyal is the only man to beat Burck since 1936. The Ravenswood boy is one of those people it is hard to beat and impossible to dislike. He has had almost unbelievable hard luck but somehow manages to go out and win despite them.

Before the nationals in '39 he was up all night at a fire (he is a volunteer fireman in his home town) and had a bale of hay fall on him, yet he won. A week before the nationals this year an oar was broken over his back in a boating accident, yet he won. He is a man who won't yell uncle.

Softball In August

This week all the softball leagues are well on their way down the home stretch. Only a week or two more and everything will be all over but the playoffs. A quick gander around the circuits:

The Valley Crowns seem to be in the saddle again in the Senior loop. They recovered from the lone defeat to win two last week and step out in front. One of their conquests was a smashing 11-6 victory over previously undefeated No. Belleville All-Stars. The All-Stars may tie for the second round title, but the Crowns won the first half. Incidentally, the Little Street All-Stars have taken the place of the defunct Ferrara Association for the rest of the season. The Ferraras absorbed so many beatings they couldn't take it alone.

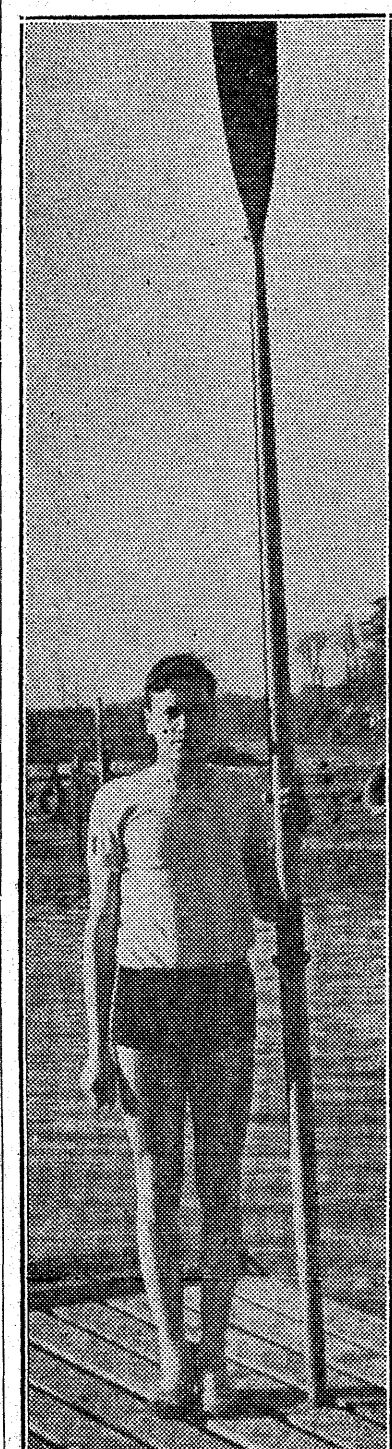

Wallace & Tiernan waited for the psychological moment to toss the Industrialists into a turmoil. Playing for the Red Cross they handed Federal Leather its first defeat of the season. Now the question remains, will any other team cooperate by trimming Federal to give W&T a chance for a tie?

Looks like a playoff in the Church League with St. Peter's, Fewsmith and Italian Baptist involved. These are the same three who kept the pace hot in the basketball circuit. The Petreans copped the first half, then Fewsmith handed them their only setback in the second. Italian still has to face these two for the final decision.

The Junior League ground to a halt last week after a disappointing season as far as interest is concerned. The Imperials won it with the classy little club that they have. But it certainly seems to us like ingratitude on the part of the kids that they couldn't make more of the league than they did. After all, it was the youngsters themselves who petitioned for the league a couple of months ago.

Ed Lister said when the league was forming that he had had too much experience with juniors to expect very much of it. The kids go away to the shore for a few weeks or else they just don't show up at game time. But he listened to their pleas and started the thing for them.

TRY TO REVIVE BASEBALL

Cards Will Play Strong Teams
At Clearman; Ask Support
Of Fans

The first constructive step of the year to bring baseball back into its own locally has been taken by the Cardinals. Beginning this week they have arranged to play games on Clearman Field every Saturday afternoon. This Saturday's card will match the Cards with the Belleville Senators in a doubleheader.

"There has long been the cry that baseball has faded from the picture," said the Card Manager, Frank Van Dyke, in his announcement of the new setup, "but when local teams do get together there is no support from the supposedly rabid baseball fans in this locality. The Cardinals have arranged a schedule whereby formidable opponents will be met during the coming weeks and are appealing to the sports-minded fans of this town to revive this interest and give some whole-hearted support."

Manufacturers' Group Bowlers To Organize August 16

The Belleville Manufacturers' Bowling League will wipe away the beads of perspiration August 16 and will sit down to discuss plans for the league season next winter. The meeting will be held at the North Newark Bowling Academy at 90 Verona avenue, Newark. All companies intending to enter teams have been invited to send representatives to the meeting.

The league increased its team membership by fifty percent last year when the number of teams was upped from sixteen to twenty-four. Eight were split off into a "B" League and rolled on a different night. The league is nearly out of sight.

TRIANGLES BLAST COLORED STARS

Montclair Nine Wits Before
Sixth Inning Barrage
By Locals

Lou Long continued the brilliant mound work which the Triangles have been receiving lately when he whiffed twelve batters to enable the local nine to trounce the Montclair Colored Stars 12-6. The game, which was played Sunday at Montclair's Glenfield Park, was the Triangles' eighth victory in their last nine starts.

The locals found the colored lads rather tough pickings for the first five innings but managed to build up a 6-3 lead by that time. A heavy bombardment in the sixth was too much for the home-towners and on ice went the ball game. Two homers did the work. George Zoppa collected the first with Phil Hickey and John Costa aboard and Emmet Ryder driving out the other.

The Triangles blasted out fifteen hits on their way to the win, with Ryder and Zoppa dividing six of them and Hickey and Jack Smith each coming through with a pair. Ryder is leading the Triangles in batting to date with a .489 mark.

The Triangles were to have met the Passaic Farmers Sunday but the game has been cancelled and the locals are seeking a game to fill in. The box score:

Cards Smother Shore Nine With Hit Barrage

Twenty Base Clouts Tell The Story Against Port Monmouth; Vailsburg Shamrocks Make Use Of Locals' Errors to Win 6-4

After dropping a 6-4 game to the Vailsburg Shamrocks Saturday afternoon, the Cardinals put on a twenty-hit barrage to outlast the Port Monmouth Cardinals 15-10 and earn their usual even split over the weekend. It was a trio of errors which turned a seemingly certain victory into defeat against Vailsburg. Don Richards started on the mound for the Redbirds but had to retire in the fourth frame due to a recurrence of an arm injury. He was relieved by Frank Van Dyke.

In the fourth the Shamrocks scored their initial run to gain a lead which they held until the sixth frame. The Cardinals then came to life and quickly tallied a pair of runs in each of the sixth and seventh innings to hold a 4-2 lead. This lead soon vanished as the Shamrocks retaliated with four runs on three errors, two walks and a pair of hits. In the ninth the Shamrocks insured their victory with an additional run on a walk and a three-base wallop by Birch.

On Sunday, sparked by the fine playing and hitting of Red Smith, the Cardinals hit harder and more often than the Port Monmouth team to gain the victory. Defense was forgotten as both teams combined for a total of twenty-five runs and thirty-five hits. Lew Evans started on the mound for the Cardinals but was removed after the Port Monmouth team had scored nine runs in four innings.

Van Dyke again was called on for relief and held the home team in check for the remainder of the game.

Nereids Have Picnic-Regatta With New Rochelle Club

More than thirty members and friends of Nereid Boat Club were guests of the New Rochelle Rowing Club Sunday in a picnic-regatta at New Rochelle's private Pine Island. About 200 attended. During the afternoon four "pick-up" races were held with Nereid capturing the club quad event and New Rochelle taking the junior quad and two, eight races.

Rowing for Nereid were Bill Jones, Homer and Darrell Zink, Andy and Howard McMaster, Gerry Rhoades, Bob Shriver, Al Walker, Joe Duval and Ray Cogswell, all of Belleville; Sid Salomon, Carl Hager, Vic Cooke, Bill Fehon and Dave Decker of Newark; Les Burnley of Nutley and Ted Miller of East Orange.

Victors Will Clash In Softball Final This Saturday

Bellboys Snow Under Bellevillites By 17-6; Federal Leather Team Humbled 16-6 By Crowns

It will be the Valley Crowns vs. the Bellboys for the town softball championship at the Turf Bog Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The strongest independent in town and the town's No. 1 league team blasted their way through supposedly strong opposition last Saturday by football scores. The Bellboys knocked everything the Bellevillites had to offer clean out of the lot and ended up with a 17-6 triumph. The Crowns continued the high scoring by working a valley blitzkrieg on redoubtable Federal Leather with a 16-6 bombshell. All told in fourteen innings of play before 300 spectators, the four teams laced out a total of fifty-one base hits and forty-five runs. Saturday's finals will be a test between a smooth-working team of veteran softballers and a hustling aggregation of youthful converted baseballers.

It was only the tight defense of the Bellboys and the on-the-ice scoring punch which carried them through. They were out hit 17-15, but they nipped so many scoring threats that the issue was never in doubt after the second inning.

The Bellboys turned on the scoring faucet early in the game and were behind only when the Bellevillites took a 3-2 lead at the end of the first. The winners sent twelve men to the platter in the second and knocked hitherto difficult Ted Checkowicz onto the bench. Ted's support failed him miserably and three hits, three walks and five errors gave the Bellboys six runs.

Pitchers Can't Hold 'Em They completed the job in the third when Checkowicz finally left the game after issuing two walks and a two-bagger to the first four men. Tony Casale took up the cudgels, was smacked just as hard and gave way to his brother Caesar Casale. Caesar escaped by letting only one run in that inning and kept the rampant Bellboys in check for the next three. He weakened considerably in the seventh and five more came across.

Batting honors were spread pretty evenly around with Teddy Dehrowski getting the most of them. He smacked out three hits, batted in three runs and scored three more himself. Two of his hits were doubles. Gus Negra led the losing cause with three hits, including a double and a home run, a pair of runs and three more markers batted across.

The Crowns started crossing the plate in the first inning and pasted Federal Leather in a manner that was hardly respectful of the long-undefeated Leathermakers. After the score had worked itself up to 14-0 Paul Bohrer relaxed a little and six runs came over in the last three Federal innings.

Four runs in each of the first three innings was the Crown clincher. After that it was merely a question of how big the score would be. Larry Bosco, after giving up five runs, was replaced in the box by Jim Musciotto who was also pounded unmercifully. Musciotto was very wild and walked ten men during the time he toiled on the mound.

Meantime, Bohrer was working slowly but effectively. After he yielded two hits in the first inning he retired the next two men in a row. A touch of wildness in the sixth, during which he walked three men in a row, let in four runs. The two other Federal scores came in the final stanza when John Planson banged out a roaring four-master with Elmer Kievit on first.
