

JUNIOR HIGH POPS UP IN STUDY OF SCHOOLS

Question Immediately Develops In Study of Manual
Training Courses

Superintendent of Schools Parmer's survey to determine the advisability of adding a manual training course to the elementary school curriculum may bring to a head the question of a junior high school for this town. The superintendent was asked by the Board of Education this week to investigate and report back to them on the manual training question. The resolution approved by the board Monday night requested that Parmer study the problem with the view in mind of establishing the manual training classes in all nine of the elementary schools.

Criticism of the lack of manual training classes was contained in the report of the State Department of Education submitted to the board late in June.

"It is rare indeed," the state report said, "to find a town the size of Belleville in which no manual arts are offered the boys and girls in grades 6, 7 and 8." At the time the report was submitted, members of the board were critical of it. They criticized it principally because matters in which the board was interested had not been answered.

Cost Important Question

Parmer said yesterday that the question to be decided in analyzing the adoption of the new course for the elementary grades is the cost. It might be more expensive to provide the space and equipment, in addition to teachers, for nine elementary schools than it would be to centralize the youngsters in one place in what would be known as a junior high school. Both time and money would be wasted if a shop were placed in each school, Parmer said.

The shops would be idle much of the time and teachers would be forced to travel between schools. Under the junior school plan, Parmer said, more time for instruction would be given the students. It would also permit the addition of other new courses to the school program, including experimental science.

There is not one progressive community about us without a junior high school," Parmer said. The superintendent said he did not expect to have his report ready for the next meeting of the Board of Education but anticipated that it would be prepared in time for the October session.

H. J. MASON NAMED DIRECTOR

Elected To Board of Brown,
Wheelock, Harris and
Stephens, Realty Firm

Henry J. Mason of 72 Campbell avenue has been appointed to the board of directors of Brown, Wheelock, Harris & Stephens, Inc., a real estate firm in New York. It was announced this week. Mason, who has been in the real estate business for forty years and, with the company, for twenty-five years, is considered an expert on modernization of old buildings.

Mason has lived in Belleville for thirty-two years and has always been active in civic affairs. He was chairman of the local branch of the American Legion, which successfully appealed to Governor Woodrow Wilson in 1910 against the establishment of a sewage disposal plant here to serve Montclair and the Oranges.

He was president of the Belleville Republican Club twice and headed the 1912 Moose campaign here in Belleville. Ironically, he was a head of two local boards which were abolished by town hall. First, he was the Board of Health before Belleville came under the Commission form of government.

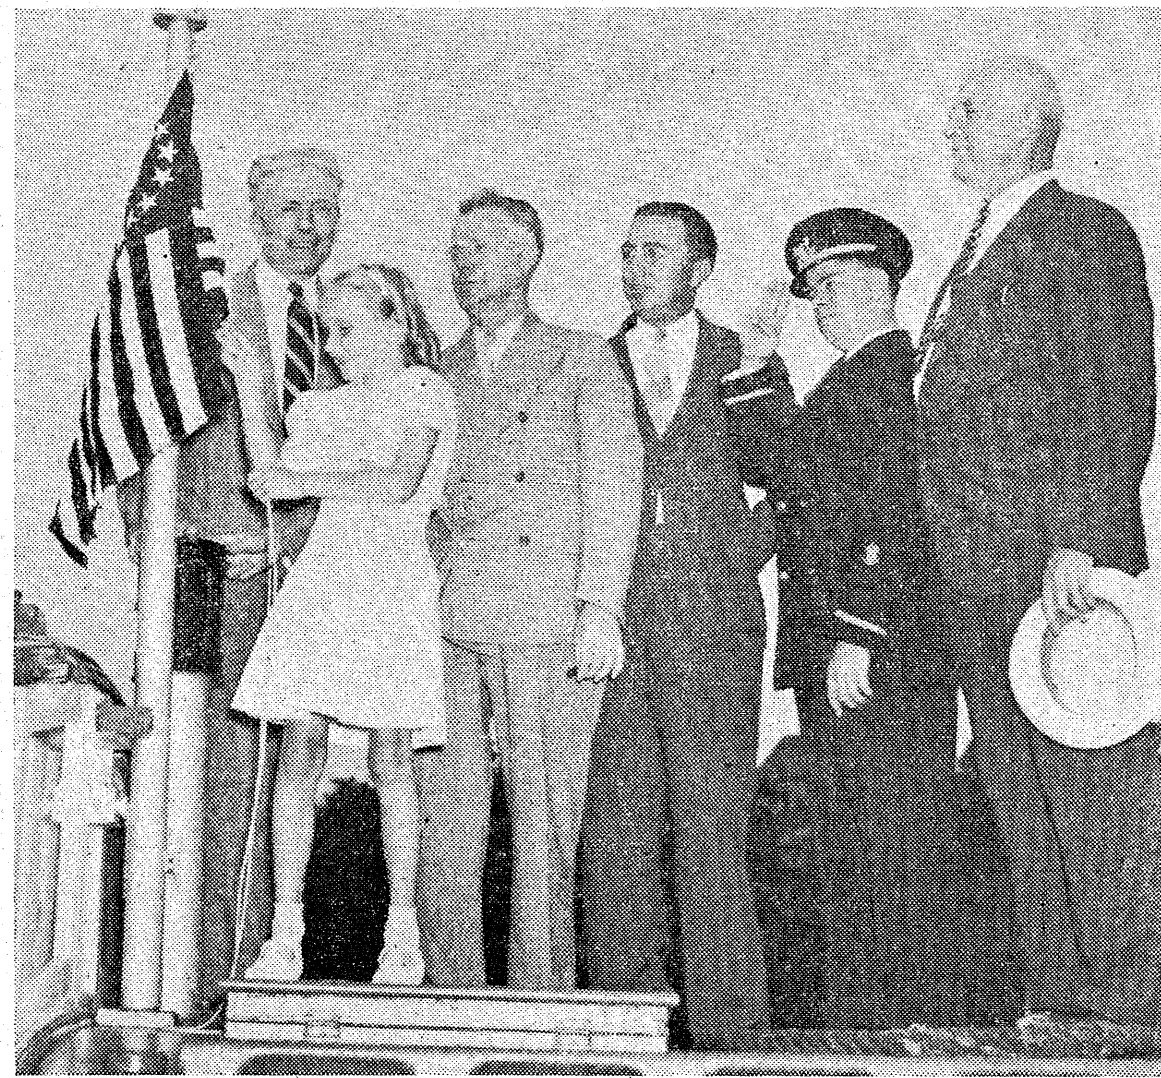

In 1920 he was appointed to the presidency of the Recreation Commission, a position which he held until the board was abolished last year and its duties placed under the Department of Parks and Public Property.

Sixteen New Bowling Alleys Open In Nutley Sept. 15

Bowlers from this area are expected to be attracted to the sixteen new alleys which will be opened on September 15 at the newly erected Nutley Bowling Academy at 173 Franklin avenue. Louis Rossi, Nutley tavern owner, is the owner of the new pin-topping center which is now under construction at an estimated cost of $40,000. The Brunswick Balke Collender Co. will start the installation of the sixteen new alleys before the week is out. Rossi's brother, Philip, who is associated with him in the tavern business, will manage the alleys.

Several leagues have already signed up to roll on the new alleys, including one circuit of sixteen teams. It is expected that several more will be signed before the opening on September

Schools Prepare For Return Of 5,000 Students

Superintendent Parmer Outlines New Schedule
For Teachers and Pupils; Schools Will Re-open
Sept. 4 With Several Changes in Routine

In less than two weeks more than 5,000 Belleville boys and girls will give up the strenuous work of being on vacation, will shoulder their books and plod back to school. Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer announced yesterday that classes for students will reopen Wednesday morning, September 4 and that the general teachers' meeting will be held in the auditorium of School No. 8 September 3.

Parmer's complete statement and regulations for students follows:

The opening of the school year 1940-1941 will take place as usual immediately following Labor Day—this year, Tuesday, September 3. All teachers will return for the general teachers' meeting in the auditorium of School No. 8 at 11 a.m. September 3. A meeting of all the principals will be held in the Superintendent's office at 10 a.m. September 3.

Immediately following the general teachers' meeting, 12:15 p.m., all teachers, principals, clerks and members of the Board of Education will join in a luncheon-meeting in the high school cafeteria. Principals will meet their respective faculties in conferences at 2 p.m. following the luncheon.

Wednesday, September 4, marks the opening of the schools for the year. In the Grades (kindergarten to eighth grade, inclusive) they will report from 8:40 a.m. to 8:55 a.m. All pupils should be in their respective home rooms by 8:55 a.m. Grade school pupils will be dismissed for the lunch hour at 11:45 a.m. and will need to be in their rooms for the afternoon session at 12:55 p.m. The afternoon session ends at 3:15 p.m.

Age Requirements

Any child who is five years old, or will be five years old on or before December 31, may be admitted to kindergarten in September of the same year. Any child who is six years old, or who will be six years old on or before December 31, may be admitted to first grade in September of the same year. We urge emphatically that parents who have children of kindergarten age see that these children be given the very important advantages of the kindergarten. Kindergarten training is fundamental to the work our children do in the first grade in the Belleville schools.

All children should be admitted

COLUMBIA EXPERT STARTS SURVEY

Dr. O. P. Dales Making Study
For School Board; Will Report In Month

The Columbia University School of Education has started its survey of the school system which has been authorized by the Board of Education. The board voted to spend the money to hire the Columbia experts after expressing dissatisfaction with the report given them by the State Department of Education in June.

The new survey is in charge of Dr. O. P. Dales of Passaic. He has been associated with several of Columbia's best-known educational experts in surveys conducted for the New York State Department of Education and New England school systems. The work is still in the preliminary stages with Dr. Dales studying population trends in town. The report will be completed in about a month.

New Teacher

John V. Bosch

BOARD APPOINTS NEW TEACHER

John V. Bosch To Succeed
Horace J. Sheppard At High School

John V. Bosch has been appointed to the high school faculty to succeed Horace J. Sheppard, whose resignation was accepted Monday night by the Board of Education. Sheppard, who taught economics and business practice at the high school for the past five years, left to take a similar post at Montclair State Teachers College.

Three re-appointments were voted in the health department of the school system. They were Dr. Tracie W. Wilson of 435 Washington avenue as school dentist for five months at $100 a month; Dr. Daniel E. Kavanagh of Newark as school physician for five months at the same salary; and Dr. Barney Schaffer of 252 Washington avenue as junior school physician for the entire school year at a salary of $750.

A resolution introduced by Charles A. Gebhardt was passed. It provides that all automobiles travelling on school property must proceed in low gear at a maximum speed of five miles per hour and that all cars at School No. 8 must park diagonally against the New street wall. Violations will mean refusal of permission to drive on school property.

Bosch, who is twenty-five, was born in South Orange and now lives in Treasure Island, N. J. He has been teaching for three years at Salem High School. He received his education in Philadelphia. After graduating from Northeast Philadelphia High School he was awarded a scholarship to the University of Pennsylvania. While there he was a member of the Mask and Wig Club, the University Band, the Glee Club, the Men's Education Association and Kappa Phi Kappa fraternity.

He did his practice teaching in Upper Darby, Pa., High School. At his graduation he was given the Educational Alumni Award and appointed to the faculty of Salem High. He is now studying for his master's degree.

THIRD PETITION IS CIRCULATED FOR BUS LINE

Two Getting Signers Claim
700 Names; Will Forward
It To Commission

The controversy over the restrictions on the Brookdale-North Newark branch of the Garden State Bus Lines took another step toward the eventual showdown this week as two new faces entered the picture and more than 700 names were reported signed to a petition asking that the restrictions be lifted.

Mrs. Anna M. Kissling of 215 Forest street and Michael Caruso of 218 Passaic avenue were the instigators of the petition and have been visiting homes along the bus route every evening. Caruso is interested in the movement, he said, because his children used the bus to get to the high school.

Mrs. Kissling said yesterday that "everybody I have seen is in favor of the bus." She pointed out that many are away on vacation but that they hope to see as many as possible within a week or two.

The petition is addressed to the Public Utilities Commission and to the local Board of Commissioners, and says that "Whereas, the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners has recently ruled that the buses of the Garden State Bus Lines may not pick up and discharge passengers between Mill street and the intersection of Passaic avenue and Greylock parkway, and

What Petition Says

"Whereas, without such service the transportation within the area affected is grossly inadequate, and 'Whereas, we the undersigned need and desire such service, and 'Whereas, as a result of said ruling the Town of Belleville is required to permit the buses of the Garden State Lines to traverse certain of its streets and highways at considerable cost and expense to the town with little attendant benefit to its residents;

"Now, therefore, we the undersigned respectfully petition the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of the Town of Belleville to take whatever action is necessary in order that the buses . . . be permitted to pick up and discharge passengers between Mill street and Passaic avenue."

It then calls on the Public Utilities Commission to grant the request.

Joe DeBacco Will Compete In Bike Nationals

Joe DeBacco of the Belleville Bicycle Club qualified for the national title meet in Chicago a week from Saturday when he finished second to Fred Graef of Bay View Wheelmen in the New Jersey A.A.U. championships at Vernequin Park Tuesday evening.

Joe Sotterly of Alpine Wheelmen also qualified.

Sotterly walked off with the championship, coping first place in all three events. DeBacco finished second to him in the half-mile open and was nosed out by an eyelash in the two-mile open. The point score: Graef 15, DeBacco 6, Sotterly 5.

High School Hours

The first session of our high school begins at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, September 4. The pupils will find home room lists posted on the door of each home room.

Seniors will be located on the third floor of the old section of the high school building. Juniors will have part of the third floor and part of the second floor. Sophomores will start in Room 210 on the second floor and continue through the first floor and include Room 6. Room 6 is in the basement of the old building. Freshmen will occupy all of the rooms in the new part of the building, including the cafeteria.

Cafeteria Rules

The high school cafeteria will be operated in the same manner as it was during the last school term. All students will be required to eat at home or in the school cafeteria. Those pupils who cannot eat at home will be excused from school at 11:37 and 12:36.

All Belleville High School students are invited to eat in the high school cafeteria. If they prefer, they may bring their lunches from home and eat in the cafeteria. It is their privilege to buy as much or as little as they desire. On stormy days any student has the privilege of changing his or her plan in the matter of bringing lunch from home or buying in the cafeteria.

Bus Transportation

Five buses leave Silver Lake at 8:15 a.m. and one leaves Soho at 8:15 a.m. to accommodate those pupils within the school district who are transported to High School. Promptness in being at the starting points is requested of those transported.

The high school session will be from 8:30 a.m. to 2:50 p.m. Promptness in getting to your home room on the first day of school will help greatly.

We sincerely invite parents to confer with the Superintendent, principals or teachers concerning any problem which may arise in respect to their children. We shall be happy to serve in every possible way in the interest of children. The job of the public school is to help young people make the most of their potentialities, to help them adjust themselves to the needs of a changing world, and to help them prepare for effective American citizenship. The school accepts this obligation.

Here Tomorrow

Cong. Fred A. Hartley, Jr.

GROUPS TO KEEP HARTLEY BUSY

Congressman Speaks Here
Tomorrow And Again On September 14

Congressman Fred A. Hartley, Jr., will be kept busy during the coming campaign if Belleville organizations can do anything about it. He is scheduled to make two addresses here in the next three weeks. His last appearance in town was a few weeks ago when he spoke at the installation of officers of the Good American Council of the Daughters of America.

The Congressman will discuss the "Bill of Rights as it is Today," when he talks before the Hartley Association of Belleville tomorrow night at 8:30 in the Exempt Firemen's Hall, Stephen street, south of Joramelon. The public is invited.

He will also be the principal speaker September 14 when the first meeting of the Joseph King Association after the summer lay-off is held at the headquarters at 414 Washington avenue, Secretary Walter P. Weiss announced yesterday.

Man Collapses While Walking In Heckel Street

Pietro Petito, sixty-three, of 41 Belmont avenue, collapsed on the sidewalk at Heckel and Lawrence streets early yesterday morning and died before reaching the hospital. He had been visiting his brother, Nicola Petito of 59 Heckel street, before he was stricken. He was rushed to Columbus Hospital, Newark, by Fireman Cyphers and Patrolman Lillore in the town ambulance. Upon arrival there he was pronounced dead by Dr. Mangogana of the hospital staff.

To Attend Retreat

More than a dozen members of the Knights of Columbus of St. Mary's Church, Nutley, will leave tomorrow night for the Retreat House of the Redemption where they will make a three-day retreat. Arthur J. Kuhn of 122 Malone avenue will head the party.

Alumni Groups Asks Board For Meeting Place

Success of Their Effort, Tully Tells Trustees, Depends
On It; Plan Homecoming Day And Dances
During The Coming School Year

The Board of Education Monday night gave the High School Alumni Association permission to use the old gymnasium of the high school for its general meeting September 11. A request by James J. Tully of 29 Mt. Prospect avenue, president of the association, to use the gymnasium for all meetings during the coming school year was referred to the building and grounds committee.

FACTORY NOISES ARE CLAIMED

Commissioner King Gets Two
Protests About Night
Operation of Plant

The sound of industry does not ring sweetly on all ears—particularly during the night. Neighbors of two manufacturing plants registered complaints Tuesday night and early yesterday morning of the noise and vibrations of machinery which was working all night.

Commissioner King called the police at 11 Tuesday night reporting that he had had two telephone calls complaining of the noise and bright lights at the Eastern Tool Company in Belleville. Two officers were detailed but a resident of Smallwood avenue called shortly before 2:30 in the morning making the same complaint.

About the same time yesterday morning a man and wife who live in Belleville avenue went to headquarters protesting against the noise at the Overman Tire Company. After police were detailed there was no further complaint.

Rotary Club Members Adopt An Official Song

The Rotary Club yesterday adopted "Belleville Rotary Greeting" as its official song. The composition, written by Alexander Burns, a member of the Newark Rotary who attends the local meetings as accompanist, will be used as a greeting to visiting Rotarians. The club conducted its regular monthly golf tournament on the Forest Hill course yesterday afternoon.

HELD FOR HITTING POLICE CARS

Jersey City Driver Claims
He Did Not Try To Get Away

Sylvester A. Walsh, thirty-seven, of 104 Clendenning avenue, Jersey City, will appear before Recorder Smith tomorrow morning to answer charges of leaving the scene of an accident. At a preliminary hearing Monday he did not deny charges of hitting parked police patrol cars just outside the door of police headquarters. He insisted, however, that he "did not run away" after the accident, which occurred shortly before midnight Sunday. He claimed that he was "merely trying to find a place where I could pull into the curb."

According to police, Walsh was travelling east, down the Belleville avenue hill, in Sunday's rain when he ran into the rear of No. 3 police car, which was shoved forward into No. 1 car. When Walsh did not stop immediately Patrolman Jerry Lillore commanded the car of Leo Matt of 17 Valley street and pursued him.

Walsh was overtaken at Belleville avenue and Stephen street, almost three blocks from the scene of the accident. Arrested, he was held until Monday's hearing. Smith held him in $100 bail for further hearing tomorrow.

Police said that damage to No. 3 amounted to $50. There was no damage to No. 1.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

The 'Story of The Stolen Auto'
Or 'One Never Knows,
Does One?'

Coincidence plays strange tricks, two Belleville men learned this week. Thomas A. Malarkey of 12 East Overlook avenue owns a thirteen-acre farm in Wallpack, sixty-eight miles from Belleville, and has been building a little home on it. He has been in the custom of taking his family to the farm every weekend during the summer.

Two weeks ago Malarkey noticed a car parked in a remote gulch on the farm and in the midst of trees. He paid little attention to it, thinking that it probably belonged to picnickers. Last weekend, however, when he returned to Wallpack, the same car was still parked in the same spot. Malarkey investigated.

The car was undamaged and inside he found a fishing license bearing the name of "William A. Goetschius, 24 Bremond street, Belleville, N. J." When Malarkey returned to town Sunday night he learned that the car had been stolen in Newark August 11. The thief had abandoned it on the Malarkey farm.

The happy ending came Monday afternoon when Malarkey drove Goetschius to Wallpack to retrieve the auto. The two men, who live three blocks apart, had never met before.

Emphasis On Brass

Thieves who work in the night showed a preference last week for brass. Philip Wilensky of Passaic, builder of a new home at 21 Elmwood avenue here, reported to police Thursday morning that thieves had stripped the new house of six brass doorknobs and a brass letter slot during the night.

Estate Is Divided

The estate of the late Mrs. Ursula E. Whyche, who died at her home at 25 Sanford avenue on August 3, was divided equally among her nine children, according to the terms of her will filed Friday for probate. She left an additional $400 to her son Victor, of the Sanford avenue address. Enoch Whyche of Harrison, a son, and Frank Churnell of Bloomfield, a stepson, are co-executors.

Off The Blotter

No one was injured but three cars were damaged Saturday afternoon when a skid sent one auto crashing into two that were parked. Salvatore Cacchia of Newark was driving south on Washington avenue and skidded in front of No. 68. The car turned completely around and collided with parked autos belonging to William Paulding of 115 Malone avenue and Pauling Lillore of Passaic. The Weidman car was badly damaged.

G.O.P. ORGANIZES TO PUT ACROSS PARTY TICKET

Plans Made to Win Votes
For Willkie and Other Candidates

The local Republican organization has opened its campaign to put Belleville in the G.O.P. column on Election Day, November 5. Preliminary plans for the conduct of the drive to support Wendell L. Willkie and the entire Republican ticket were made at a meeting last night at the offices of Davidson & King at 414 Washington avenue, which will be the central headquarters for the campaign. About fifty attended. The real effort to rally workers to the cause will not start until after Labor Day when the formation of committees to get out the vote and to register new voters will be made. Public meetings at which candidates will speak will be held almost weekly starting late next month.

Ed Fischer of 33 Oak street, was named temporary campaign chairman at last night's meeting. Among the G.O.P. leaders who have pledged their support to the Willkie-Hendrickson-Barbour cause are State Senator Zink, Mayor Williams, Commissioners King and Noll, Town Chairman Machette, Police Court Clerk Fred B. Handlon, Town Attorney Keenan, Health Officer Berry, Fred Fischer of the Zoning Board, Joseph Christian of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission, Charles Kutt, president of the Joseph King Association, Charles Madison of the Prosecutor's Office, Walter P. Weiss, secretary of the Hartley Association, James L. Davidson and George D. Haslam.

King has been appointed to head the committee to raise campaign funds. Literature, buttons and stickers will be distributed from the headquarters beginning next week. The club will be open to any citizen who wishes to join.

BIDS RECEIVED FOR S-3 ROUTE

LaFera Creco Co. Low Bidder;
New Highway To New York
Will Be Dual Road

Municipalities saw another obstacle topped this week in the effort to get action from the State Highway Department on the construction of Highway S-3 which would link towns in this vicinity directly with the Lincoln Tunnel and the heart of New York State. Highway Commissioner E. Donald Sterner announced in Trenton that he had received a low bid of $225,155 from LaFera Creco Contracting Co. of Newark for paving of the newly graded alignment of the route across the meadows between Routes 2 and 3, Rutherford to East Rutherford.

The bid, Sterner said, was $27,944 less than the engineers' estimated cost. Eleven contractors submitted bids. The LaFera Creco concern recently completed the repair work which was done on the Rutgers street bridge. Awarding of the contract means that work should start on paving that section of the highway shortly. Sterner had previously said that the highway should be ready late next year or early in 1942.

Would Be Convenient

Although it will not connect directly with this town, it is expected to be beneficial to many motorists. After crossing the meadows and coming through Rutherford, the route will cross the Passaic river and run through the Delaware section of Clifton just north of the Nutley town line. It will connect with the Allwood traffic circle and then proceed along the northern boundary of Montclair, Clifton and Cedar Grove, eventually linking with Route 6, the highway to Lake and country resorts and Pennsylvania.

Sterner predicted that when completed Route S-3 would cut as much as twenty minutes off the travelling time between Times Square and many of the suburban communities. He said motorists in Montclair, Glen Ridge, Bloomfield, Nutley and this town are forced to take a circuitous route in order to reach Manhattan.

The new road will be dualized, with a center safety island, eight feet wide, separating two twelve-foot concrete lanes in each direction. A modern grade separation will carry Route S-3 westbound beneath Route 3 eastbound to provide additional safety for motorists.

Plans are now being drawn for the construction of a viaduct, 700 feet long, which will span both Berry's Creek and the Erie Railroad on the new alignment. This will be built under a separate contract. Bids will be opened at a later date.

Much Ads About Nothing

The Police Department was turned out in force Friday night when three telephone calls came through within a few minutes that there was a "big fight" going on in front of the King Arthur Market in Washington avenue. Sergeant Pearl, Patrolmen Fletcher, Lee and Lillore were detailed as a riot squad to break it up.

When the disgruntled officers returned to headquarters it was learned that it was only a small battle between a couple of kids who had disappeared by the time the police arrived.

Miss Dorothy Collaran Completes Plans For Wedding

Bridal plans have been completed by Miss Dorothy Collaran, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Maul of Hornblower avenue, and Hilton Law Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shields of Canterbury avenue, North Arlington. The ceremony will be performed Saturday morning at St. Edmund's Church, Philadelphia.

The bride-elect has chosen Mrs. George Craig as matron of honor and the Misses Helen Catania and Esther Comm of Philadelphia, and Mary McCann and Christine Grassi of Belleville as bridesmaids. Victor Shields will be her brother's best man.

For her bridal attire Miss Collaran has chosen a gown of Chantilly lace. She will wear a small crown trimmed with orange blossoms and a fingertip veil of French illusion net. She will carry a prayerbook.

The matron of honor will wear a gown of blue marquisette over net and the bridesmaids will be gowned similarly in pink. They will all carry old-fashioned bouquets.

After the wedding trip the couple will reside in Nutley.

50TH ANNIVERSARY FOR PLACES

Main Street Couple Will Celebrate Event Tomorrow;
Wed In Newark

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Place of 345 Main street will observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary tomorrow. They will be feted by their family in September. They were married August 23, 1890, by the Rev. Charles Woodruff of the Eighth Avenue Methodist Church of Newark.

Mrs. Place, the former Emma Post, was born in Hoboken in 1865. She is one year older than her husband who was born in Newark. She has been a member of the Wesley Methodist Church of Belleville for fifty years and is still active in the Ladies' Aid Society and Women's Bible Class of that church.

They have three sons, Clarence of 146 Stephen street, Clifford and Theodore of Passaic; three daughters, Mrs. John Cism of Passaic, Mrs. Edwin Cook of Canby and Mrs. Ernest Schoonmaker of Middletown, N. Y., and eighteen grandchildren.

Mrs. Sam Guanieri spent Sunday at Budd Lake.

What does M.D. stand for?

There are no short cuts to an M.D., no one-school methods, no "art of healing." Before he may practice, a man must undergo the longest, severest course of study and training of any of the professions. Many who covet the degree never obtain it. Problem Has Many Angles

The displeasure of members of the Board of Education over the opinion expressed by two experts of the State Department of Education on the school system has cooled down somewhat since they first took a peek at it two months ago. It failed to answer some of the questions asked by the board, but the report did criticize some of the practices — or lack of them — in the system. Although a little put out about it, the trustees have now asked Superintendent of Schools Parmer to study the advisability of instituting a manual training program in the elementary schools for seventh and eighth grade pupils. Lack of these courses was one of the points brought out in the state report.

Teaching youngsters to work not only with their heads but their hands as well is one of the important progressive steps that public school education has made during the past decade. Hand work has become an important part of school curriculum, principally because educators have realized that our changing economic status demands more workers with vocational training. The best jobs today are not always those which require a white collar. In fact, the reverse is true in many instances. Consequently, vocational courses have increased in popularity. They have their start with the manual training study offered in elementary grades.

The institution of such a program in the elementary grades here presents several problems. If it is proposed to provide space and set up equipment for the course in each school, the expense will be high and out of proportion to the amount of good that it will do the pupils. Equipping three schools, for the sake of argument, with equipment while it would reduce the cost, would present additional problems. The question of transportation of youngsters from other schools to one of these three is the most important. Such a plan would interrupt their daily routine and also involve another expenditure if the school board were required to pay for taking them to and from the manual training classes.

This brings the argument around to another point — one which the state department officials must have had in mind — the junior school plan. The courses and equipment are all under one roof with youngsters of the adolescent age receiving training that will prepare them for high school. A junior school permits the inclusion in the curriculum courses of study that are financially impossible when they must be duplicated in nine elementary schools such as Belleville now has.

This is not a campaign for this town to build a junior high school, but it is this writer's opinion the most important problem that faces the town when any change or increase in the course of study is considered for seventh and eighth graders. Superintendent Parmer will undoubtedly lend his keen analysis of educational problems to the study of this situation and we await with interest his report and recommendations to the Board of Education.

Why Must He Be A Crooner?

Can Willkie croon as well as Roosevelt? Which of them has the face that looks most like it would appeal to feminine audiences? It's not a national administrator that the country needs, but a man who will soothe the folks with honey-toned words over the air and will have them gaga when they look at him in the newsreels. If some of the magazines and newspapers had their way, that is how the people would decide who to elect as President in November. In the past week we've read any number of articles on the smoothness of Willkie's voice as compared to that of Roosevelt's. A Hollywood director has written an article discussing their individual merits as performers before the camera.

President Roosevelt was blessed with a voice that has radio appeal. Some of Roosevelt's speeches haven't said much when you sat down and pulled them apart, but over the radio they sounded so swell that even dyed-in-wool Republicans went for them. Now, along comes Willkie with a voice that sounds like a cross between a minister and a trial lawyer. Which is the better?

Costly Slip Of The Tongue

A slip of the tongue — even if it only adds up to a few words — can often prove costly to a political aspirant. State Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, who is quite anxious to triumph over Charles Edison, Democratic choice, in the November gubernatorial election, let slide out during the past week a remark that he may regret many times. Hendrickson told the newspapers that Edison had made no "contributions to civic matters throughout his entire life."

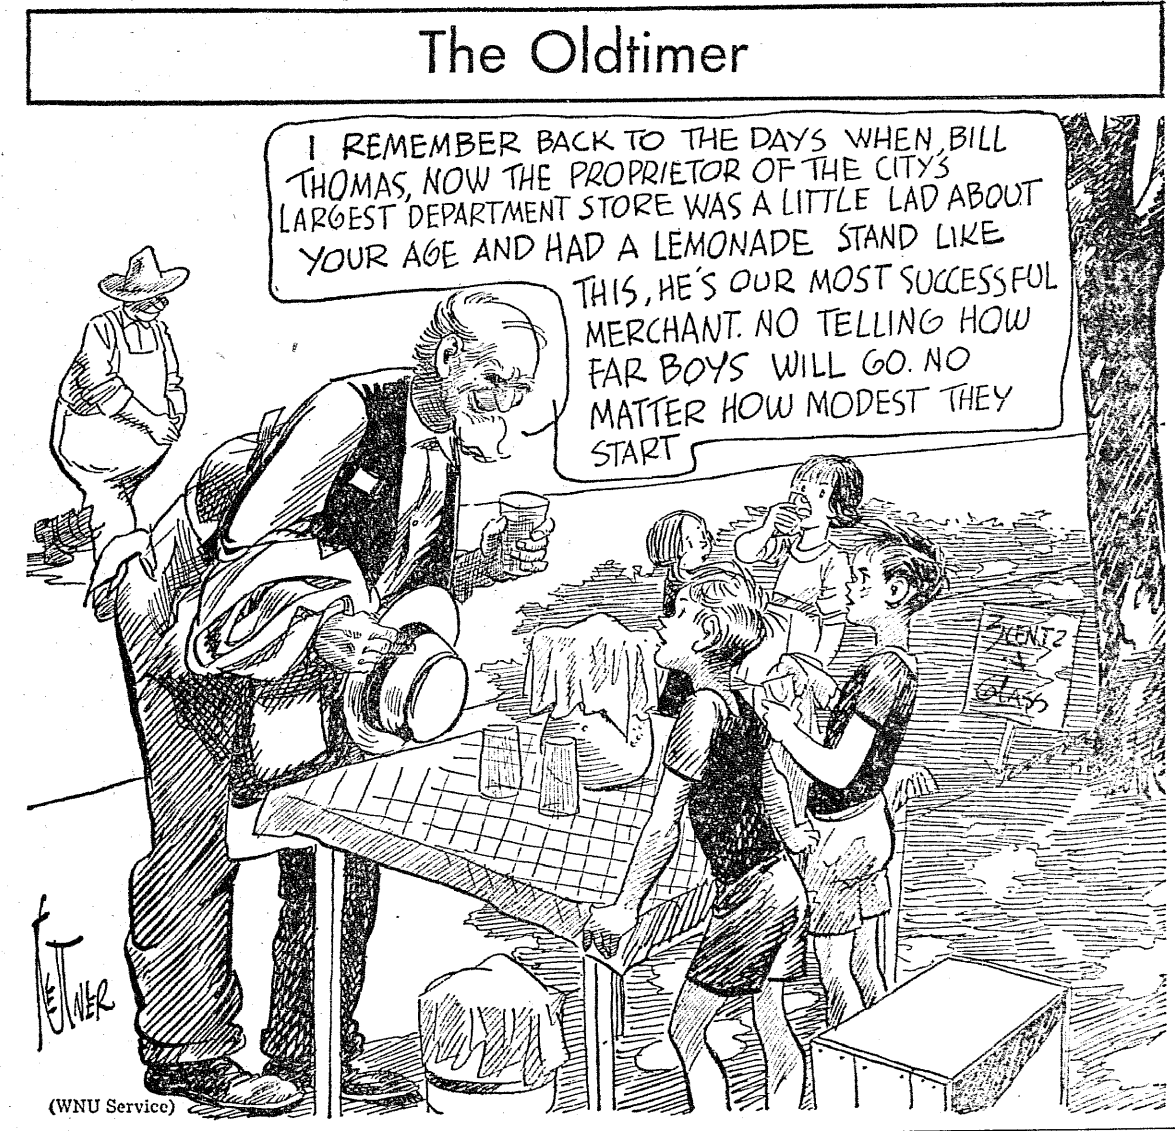

The comment was not one that could be called pertinent to the campaign. It was unfair and, if we are any judge of the yardstick by which the civic spirit of a man is measured, it was untrue. How the Republican chieftains who plot Hendrickson's course in his relations with the press let him blurt out that one is difficult to understand. The G.O.P. candidate will have to do some fancy political talking to get himself out of the doghouse as far as many residents of the Oranges — even good Republicans — are concerned.

The name of Edison is a tradition in the Oranges. And why not? The late inventor through his numerous inventions brought fame to the section and eventually an industry which has given employment to thousands of the residents. Those who have followed him, though not possessed with his much for which they can be thankful, and the recent Edison motion pictures have rekindled any of that spirit which was passing out. The executive group of the Chamber of Commerce and Civics of the Oranges and Maplewood has adopted a resolution expressing regret at Hendrickson's criticism of Edison. Mayor Degnan of West Orange declared that the Republican had insulted the intelligence of the residents of the community where Edison resides.

What about Edison's civic contributions? He was one of the founders of the Chamber of Commerce, headed the Liberty Loan drive during the World War, did much of the work on West Orange's zoning regulations, contributed much effort to the Russell Sage Foundation in its regional planning studies and aided the community and the employees of the Edison Company at the time of the banking crisis. He has always been known as a good contributor to churches and charities.

Senator Hendrickson has hurt himself in a section upon which he counts heavily to pile up votes that he hopes will give him a victory over Edison. The Oranges and Maplewood are usually overwhelmingly Republican areas. The crack at Edison illustrates what hot water political candidates can get themselves into when they divert from the real issue surrounding the office

Our Defense

This is the Third of a Series Prepared by the National Defense Advisory Commission The Army of the United States

The Constitution of the United States gives Congress the power to raise and support armies, and designates the President as Commander-in-Chief.

The Army is divided into three main sections. The Regular Army, the National Guard, and the Organized Reserves. Under the President, the Secretary of War is responsible for running the Army. Under him is the Assistant Secretary of War, responsible for getting the military supplies for the Army, and for adequate provision for mobilizing materials and industrial organizations essential to wartime needs. It is the blueprint and general outlines laid down by the Assistant Secretary of War over a period of years that form the basis of what are known as War Plans. To facilitate the carrying out of these plans, the President appointed the National Defense Advisory Commission.

The General Staff
The soldier head of the Army is the Chief of Staff. He is responsible for planning, developing and executing the Army's program for national defense. He has to train a million new men, to make an army of them. There are five Divisions under the Chief of Staff, each responsible for a separate function.
The Personnel Division takes care of the fighting men of the Army. It enlists, classifies, assigns, promotes, pays, transfers, discharges. It is responsible for making the best use of our manpower. The Military Intelligence Division is responsible for furnishing all kinds of military information.

The Operations and Training Division handles the training of men from the time they join till they are ready for duty, and beyond that carries out the vocational and educational work to fit the men for new duties and new techniques.

The Supply Division provides for all equipment, buildings, storage, transportation and distribution of supplies, care of the sick, and for keeping track of army equipment.

The War Plans Division is responsible for the use of our armed forces in war, the location of fortifications and for the general strategy of defense.
Directly under the Chief of Staff comes the Regular Army, which is the full-time professional part of our land forces. It is always ready, at the drop of a bomb, to go into action as the spearhead of our initial protective force. It is designed to be augmented by the Organized Reserve and the National Guard in time of need. Together these forces make up our initial protective force. This force, with the Navy, would act to defend the nation while we prepare additional units needed for subsequent action.

The success of this plan depends on equipment for the initial protective force, and having material ready at once for additional forces. That is why the President has asked for the additional material for $800,000 men over the standing Army of 1,200,000 he requested.

The Fighting Arms
The arms the fighting units of our Army are the Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery, Air Corps, Corps of Engineers, and the Signal Corps. At the present time, the mechanized forces in the Cavalry, the Infantry and some Field Artillery have been transferred to a new armored force, just experimentally organized. If the force performs as expected, it may become a new fighting arm, including several armored divisions of the type of the now famous "Panzer" divisions.

Five Years Ago
Frederick W. Evans of Division of Schools Nos. 2 and 10 by the Board of Education, Offices of the board were moved to School No. 8.
The rectory of Christ Episcopal Church was ransacked. Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach reported that a check revealed that nothing was missing, even though every room had been entered.

Ten Years Ago
Plan to tax Hillside Park in the north end of town between the river and Union avenue by building lots instead of by acreage were discussed by the commissioners.
John C. Baker and George Gerard were appointed by the Rotary Club to hustle the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission into action on the purification of the river.

Twenty Years Ago
Members of the Board of Commissioners were mauled and man-handled at the board meeting by men and women, many of the latter with small children, who became enraged at the board's failure to have the sixty tons of gliders, recently placed by the Erie Railroad to obstruct Greylock avenue, removed. Most of the citizens spoke no English and could not understand the delay.

Twenty-Five Years Ago
The North Essex Lodge of Moose was organized in Belleville Hall. V. C. Bodine of 224 Washington avenue was the district director.
Members of the Essex Hose Company requested the Board of Commissioners to reconsider the appointment of Nicholas Comesky as fire chief on the grounds that he was no longer active in the force. They recommended Assistant Chief William J. Hirdes for the post.
The Board of Health instructed Town Counsel Miller to draft an ordinance compelling children afflicted with whooping cough to wear yellow bands on their left arms.

Appointed by Mayor Waters to the Town Plan and Art Commission were Richard C. Jones, Vernon W. Forgie, Charles Campbell, J. S. Walton, Dominic Walsh and James A. Murray.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Politicians are the most conservative group in the world. They are the last to be conscious of a revolution. Otherwise, it would be impossible to explain political stupidity. Aware that the world is turned topside down, the average citizen reacts accordingly. Different citizens have different reactions, hence giving the mass effect of confusion. But only the politician ignores the whole matter. He goes ahead making charges and counter-charges wholly unaware that the voters of today care almost nothing about what he says.
Two examples of this lack of perception have been furnished recently. One was the attack of Robert C. Hendrickson on the civic record of Charles Edison. The other was Secretary Ickes' speech denouncing Wendell Willkie. Mr. Hendrickson's charge had no basis of fact. Whatever may be his failings, lack of civic spirit and activity is not one that can properly be attributed to Edison. Even if it had been approximately true, the charge would have been foolish from a political standpoint since he began running the American Navy—and that was several years ago. The average voter in Essex knows this. He respects Edison and resents charges that he thinks are unfair. But he is only slightly acquainted with the West Orange man. Edison is not a good mixer and has not too many friends in the political sense. But this average voter doesn't like Mayor Frank Hague and he tends to be a Republican.

The cue for Hendrickson to follow is to say as little against Edison as possible. He should talk about his own plans, about Willkie and about Hague. In the normal course of things Essex will go strongly Republican, and hence for Hendrickson. But a few more speeches of the type of the one mentioned and Edison's home section will become doubtful territory.

Willkie's Audience
Any attempt to reconcile the seeming contradictions in Willkie's acceptance speech must take into consideration the audience to whom Willkie spoke — the whole American nation. American sentiment today is so completely unneutral as regards the European War that any speech in a neutral vein immediately arouses a storm of criticism. Yet, with all of its lack of neutrality, Americans generally do not wish to go to war. This attitude is contradictory and it was Willkie's problem to meet this contradiction. This he did rather cleverly, I think.

After catering to the American desire to keep out of war by condemning Presidential statements that tend to get us involved, the Republican candidate then appealed to America's lack of neutrality by saying that he would "take on Hitler in any contest, the German dictator might desire and beat him in the American way."

These two parts of the speech were mutually contradictory. But each section reflected public opinion clearly, and the whole method of treatment indicated political astuteness of a high order.

A completely neutral speech would have placed Willkie in the position of Charles A. Lindbergh. The New York press would have been turned loose upon him and the campaign might have taken the turn of that of 1936. Lindbergh — and to a lesser extent Thomas E. Dewey — showed Willkie what not to do, and the latter learned quickly.

Whom To Call?

The progressive family will have previously investigated, and are able to make their decision at once. They have followed the wisest course, for the knowledge gained by such a procedure is invaluable.

Through it, one is able to adequately discriminate between a service completely and efficiently rendered, and one which is lacking in the many details which go far towards the making of a faultless funeral service.

It is therefore not only a sign of progressiveness but also of planned economy, when a family becomes informed, before the need arises, as to funeral costs and ethics.

"Mind" is the lesson-sermon subject for Sunday in all Christian Science Churches and Societies.

The golden text is: "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his: . . . he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding."
Among the lesson-sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom: a good understanding have all they that do His commandments; His praise endureth for ever."
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "When we realize that there is one Mind, the divine law of loving our neighbor as ourselves is unfolded; whereas a belief in many ruling minds hinders man's normal drift towards the one Mind, one God, and leads human thought into opposite channels where selfishness reigns."

Barbour Using Smear Tactics, Cromwell Charges

Democratic Senatorial Candidate Claims Friends Of Freedom Group Is Phoney Organization; Says Barbour Owes Public Apology

James H. R. Cromwell, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, this week issued the following statement:

"My opponent, W. Warren Barbour, is sinking to still lower depths in his efforts to mislead New Jersey voters as to certain details of my private life and my attitude on public questions.

"Several weeks ago, a scurrilous and libelous booklet entitled 'The Cromwell Record,' bearing the imprint, 'Paid for by John D. Osborne, Campaign Manager for W. Warren Barbour' was widely circulated through the state. I have heretofore, at a number of public meetings, pointed out the false and unfair nature of this attack, showing that through use of fragmentary excerpts from any books and writings this below-the-belt booklet almost completely misrepresents my position on public questions and, in addition, deliberately falsifies certain facts about my private life.

"Now the Senator has extended his smear campaign in a most despicable and under-handed fashion. He has caused members of his smearing squad to incorporate themselves into a corporation bearing the high-sounding name 'Friends of Freedom' and a new booklet has appeared carrying the old lies, but without outward evidence that it is paid for and circulated by Barbour's campaign manager.

"In keeping with the Senator's lack of feeling for decency and fairness, false addresses appear upon two sets of these booklets that have been brought to my attention. One booklet on its second page carried the following: 'Paid for by New Jersey Friends of Freedom, 125 Oakland street, Morristown, N. J.' Additional copies obtainable on request. Inquiry conducted for me by my good friend, William A. Hegarty, Morris County prosecutor, reveals that there is no such street, hence, no such address in Morristown. Another of the booklets bears the announcement, 'Paid for by New Jersey Friends of Freedom, 213 Bendemere Ave., Asbury Park, N. J.' Additional copies obtainable on request. Thorough inquiry at Asbury Park reveals that there is no such address in Asbury Park.

"Obviously, the intention of the 'New Jersey Friends of Freedom' is to hide the identity of the real sponsor of the booklet under the name of a corporation using 'phony' addresses so that Senator Barbour's connection with this under-cover smear campaign will be concealed.

"In the office of the Secretary of State at Trenton I am informed that a certificate of incorporation has been filed for 'Friends of Freedom' and that the incorporation papers state the purpose of this organization in the following high-sounding language:—
"The purpose for which this corporation is formed is to encourage honesty in government, supportable, efficient candidates for public office regardless of party affiliations and generally promote any cause which is for the best interest of the citizens of the State of New Jersey at large."
"I am quite willing to let the voters of New Jersey pass judgment upon this kind of dirty politics. I believe, however, that Senator Barbour owes the people of the State an apology for the insult he has given their intelligence by waging this kind of a campaign for re-election to the high office he now holds. Senator Barbour's 'Friends of Freedom' would have done better to have incorporated themselves under the name, 'Smear, Incorporated' and to have named W. Warren Barbour their legal, as well as their agent in fact."

Wife Of Polish Officer To Make Home Here

Woman Will Reside With Aunt in White Oaks Section; Husband Confined in Concentration Camp in Russia; Hasn't Heard From Him

A young Polish woman and her five-year-old son will move to Belleville Saturday to try to find the peace and happiness which was denied her in Europe. She will come hoping that her husband, an officer in the Polish army who is "somewhere in Poland," may be able to join her soon.

She is Mrs. Mary Kolendowicz, who will move into 156 White Oaks terrace with her son, her brother and her aunt. She was born in America twenty-five years ago but was taken back to Poland while still a child. She married there and lived in the eastern part of the country.

Two years ago she returned to the United States and moved to Jersey City. Her husband remained at his post in the Polish army. When Adolph Hitler and Joseph Stalin worked their squeeze play on the country, word from Kolendowicz was cut off. When the war was over he tried to escape into Lithuania in order to make his way to the United States but was nabbed at the border. Since then he has been in Russian Poland and husband and wife have been unable to communicate with each other.

Once or twice she has received a note through the Red Cross from her parents on the other side. They tell her simply that her husband is alive. Beyond that she knows nothing. Here in Belleville she will wait for him to be

New Big Bear Market Opens Today In Newark

Big Bear, stepping up its 1940 expansion program, will open its newest unit today in the Rosville section of Newark at 537-539 Orange street. The opening of the newest unit gives Big Bear an even dozen stores in New Jersey. The two other units opened in 1940 are in Queens and Brooklyn, N. Y. Other stores in this state are located in Elizabeth, this in Jersey City, Paterson, Teaneck, Irvington, East Orange, New Brunswick, Plainfield, Newark and this town.

The new Big Bear was especially designed to make shopping convenient and to provide unusually fine facilities for the care, display and sale of foods. B. Sumner Gruzen, well-known supermarket planner, was the architect. The building is especially constructed to accommodate comfortably thousands of shoppers at one time. Wide aisles afford uncrowded comfort and the northern exposure skylights in the high ceiling give plenty of light without glaring sunbeams.

Overnight Switch In Milk Delivery By Alderney

One of the miracles of dairy life is the overnight transfer of the delivery of milk by Newark's Alderney Dairy Co. from summer home to city or suburban dwelling. Through a system of precision-like accuracy a family may leave Brielle or Spring Lake on Saturday and have their bottles of Alderney on their own doorstep in Glen Ridge or Caldwell next morning. All that is necessary is that they notify their summer delivery man in time.

This is the transfer season and the company already has handled many dozens of these overnight shifts, from seashore, mountains and lakes, but the peak, of course, will take place just after the Labor Day weekend.

Public Service July Income Reported Decreased

Operating income of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and subsidiary companies decreased for July but increased for the twelve months ended July 31, 1940 compared, respectively, with the corresponding periods a year ago. Operating expenses, maintenance, depreciation and retirement expenses and taxes were higher both for the month and for the year. Operating revenues for July 1940, were $10,858,956.93 as against $10,426,103.24 for July 1939, an increase of $432,853.69. Operating expenses, maintenance, depreciation and retirement expenses and taxes were $8,376,655.01 an increase of $1,142,226.77. Operating income was $2,482,301.92 or $709,373.08 less than in July 1939.

HENDRICKSON SAYS HAGUE'S ISSUE

Candidate Declares That Willkie Statement About Mayor Makes It So

Repeated statements by Wendell L. Willkie, Republican candidate for President, that political bossism and the use by the National Democratic Administration of corrupt state and municipal machines will be subjects of major discussion during his campaign "definitely establishes Hagueism as the operations of the State Democratic organization as important issues in the coming New Jersey Republican campaign," State Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, Republican candidate for Governor said this week.

"Mr. Willkie obviously proposes to give major attention to the strange contrast between the lofty professions of the National Democratic Administration and its callous and cynical election-time partnerships with notorious machines such as the Hague outfit here and the Kelly-Nash organization in Illinois," said Hendrickson. He added:

"This definitely focuses attention on Hagueism as an issue in New Jersey and is tremendously heartening to thousands of citizens who, like myself, have fought the cancer-like growth of Hagueism because we recognized its threat to our free democratic processes of government.

"With Mr. Willkie pointing the way in the National arena, it is now the duty of those of us who will carry on the Republican campaign in New Jersey to make Hague's strangle-hold on State government one of our major issues. We will never have a better opportunity than that offered by the November 5 election to smash all Hague and all his works and to end, once and for all, his organization's grip on New Jersey."

"As we survey the New Jersey picture, it seems as though the same cynical partnership against which Mr. Willkie protests exists right here. Democratic candidates for State and National office express a desire to render high-minded and unselfish public service. It will be difficult for most people to reconcile the professions made by these candidates with the fact that they are dependent for election upon the same sordid Hague machine now under National attack by Mr. Willkie."

Frank Hartman, Railroad Man, Passes Suddenly

Frank Hartman, sixty-eight, of 167 New street, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home Thursday afternoon. Funeral services were held at the Irvine Funeral Home Saturday, at which the Rev. Walter J. Lake, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, officiated. Interment was in Fairmount Cemetery.

Born in New York, Mr. Hartman had lived here forty-five years. He was employed for fifty years by the Erie Railroad, first as a telegraph operator and then as a clerk. He retired last year. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Kelsall Hartman, and three brothers, George of Old Bridge and John and William of Fairmount, N. Y.

David A. Ramage

David A. Ramage of 20 Clearman place died Friday evening at his home at the age of forty-nine. He had been ill for five months. Mr. Ramage was born in Scotland and had lived in America since he was eighteen. He moved here from Nutley four years ago. He was a sergeant in the A.E.F. in the World War and formerly belonged to Belleville Post No. 105, American Legion.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Margaret LeFevre Ramage; two daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Marjorie Ramage; a sister, Mrs. Elmer B. Goodrich of 159 DeWitt avenue, and a brother and two sisters in Scotland.

The Rev. Mr. Elmer E. Pearce of Vincent Methodist Church, Nutley, officiated at funeral services Monday afternoon. Interment was in East Ridgeland Cemetery.

William Matthews

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in the People's Burial Home, Newark, for William Matthews of 37 Linden avenue, who died at his home Sunday morning at the age of sixty-four. He had been ill for five months. Interment was in East Ridgeland Cemetery. Rev. Walter J. Lake, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, officiated.

Mr. Matthews was born in Hyde, Cheshire, England, and had lived in this country for thirty years. Ten years ago he moved here from Lawrence, Mass. He was a shipping clerk in New York and a member of the Foresters of America.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Sarah Harrison Matthews; two sons, John of the Linden avenue address and Austin of 56 Overlook avenue; a daughter, Mrs. Frederick A. Blaikie, Jr., of 103 Malone avenue; three brothers, Austin of 125 Tappan avenue, Alfred and John A. of Lawrence, and one one grandchild.

D. of L. Member Passes

Mrs. Mary Barry Furman of 220 Beech street, Arlington, a member of the Pledge of Belleville Council, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, for more than twenty-five years, died at her home Monday. Funeral services will be held at the Wilfred Armitage Funeral Home, 596 Belgrove drive, Arlington, this afternoon at 2. Interment will be in East Ridgeland

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

Six months ago, because we considered it a subject which would recur again and again, we brought to your attention the efforts of a rather isolated group of clubwomen to boycott the morning radio serial story which fills the air with woe and gloom and trite psychological problems, almost to the exclusion of other things. We hoped at that time that these women would be able to present radio magazines with concrete ideas for more acceptable programs.

Within a month, however, the answer had come from radio itself—and very drastically, too—that a change was impossible from the standpoint of the advertiser who was impressed only by polls which showed that the listener interest in this type of program was high. In other words, a raising of the standards would have to be sacrificed to a maintenance of profits.

We closed on the note that a different set of principles was being used on both sides of the argument and expressed the hope that somewhere between the two might be found the utopian state where radio would effectively serve the advertiser and at the same time meet the desires of more than one class of listener.

Women, we felt, as the largest audience and the most outspoken force, would eventually do something about the problem.

What Some Think

We are gratified, therefore, to see the subject attacked by the radio columnist of one of our leading women's magazines. We and ninety per cent of his readers responding with comments which we ourselves ventured to make in discussing the subject. A composite letter from this ninety per cent makes such cheering demands as: "Give us something we can listen to while we're working and something that will make us happy;" "give us music — all kinds of music, classical and popular;" "then give us good food talks, household hints and a sprinkling of cultural programs such as book reviews, etc."

The most common complaint against the serial story is that it immerses a woman further and further in problems with which she already has to contend and plays upon them until they are uncomfortably magnified. To say the least, it wears her. Chief among the reasons for requesting more and better morning musical programs is the fact that housewives cannot successfully do their work and listen to words. On this point they are unanimously agreed. They also explain that music has a distinctly cheering and beneficial effect. Anyone can testify that it puts rhythm and speed into the dreariest routine.

They spoke of the scarcity of small musical ensembles and piano teams on the air today add mentioned their favorite composers—Stromberg, Herbert and Strauss—showing their taste for soothing, lifting music as accompaniment to their tasks.

Sponsors should surely be responsive to this sort of comment, especially when some of the women go so far as to say that they shun the products which are identified in their minds with the programs they have learned to dislike. This sort of wholesale comment coming from the pages of nationally known women's magazines will be far more effective than that of isolated groups of clubwomen and illustrates the point we made originally when we said "public opinion will serve its age-old purpose and spur on the best efforts of all concerned."

The relaxation and utter freedom from restraint that your children have enjoyed this summer will pay big dividends in the form of renewed energy for their school work and even in the form of better health. Child psychologists assure us that the rough and tumble play which symbolizes freedom from the necessity of producing results such as a child does constantly in his school days, is one of the best health and mind builders known.

Another beneficial characteristic of the summer vacation are the periods when a child simply does nothing. To quote one authority children have, while lying on a sunny hillside or sprawling on the sand, spells of "just being." These are the valuable moments; too often broken into with reminders of duty such as an errand to do, a room to straighten or toys to put away. Grown-ups are too scrupulous, says the psychologist, in arranging planned activities for play periods of their children. It is in the moments of complete freedom and surcease from activity that inspiration comes to the young.

Let these moments be plentiful in the few weeks which remain of vacation from school routine. They will come back to the child in months to come in flashes of real living at moments when, perhaps, he is bored or tired with his duties. They are the balance in his existence and are often productive of ideas which he may try to apply in his everyday life and thereby discover a reason for living—for being educated. If this were the only accomplishment it would truly be reason enough for letting your children indulge in as much relaxation as they can.

PERSONALS

Gary Bell of Montgomery place is at home recovering from a broken arm suffered in a fall.

Theresa Eufenia of Joralemon street was honored at a party given in honor of her eleventh birthday yesterday. Decorations were in pink and blue. Games were played and prizes awarded. Guests were Barbara Ann Ober, Evelyn Wheeler, Doris Koehler, Gilda Del Gaudio and Edward Delhagan of this town and Charlotte, Helen and Janet Heaver of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip DiSturo and children, Lucille and Elizabeth, of May street spent the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Nervine of Seaside Heights. Lucille and Elizabeth will stay there for two weeks while their sister and brother, Phyllis and John, returned home Sunday evening with their parents after spending their two weeks vacation there. Miss Laverne Nervine, a niece of Bernardville, is spending the summer with the DiSturos.

PLANNING LEADER Y.M.P.C. SPEAKER

Harold Hosking of Livingston Discusses Value of Young Groups and Planning

Harry Hosking of Livingston, a former resident of Belleville, addressed the meeting of the Young Men's Political Club Thursday at the Recreation House. Hosking, who is president of the New Jersey Federation of Planning Boards, outlined courses of action which groups like the local club might pursue.

He spoke highly of such groups of young men who become interested in the civic life of a community. Such a club in East Orange, he said, conducted its own survey of the recreation situation there and its recommendations to the Town Council has changed the recreation policy.

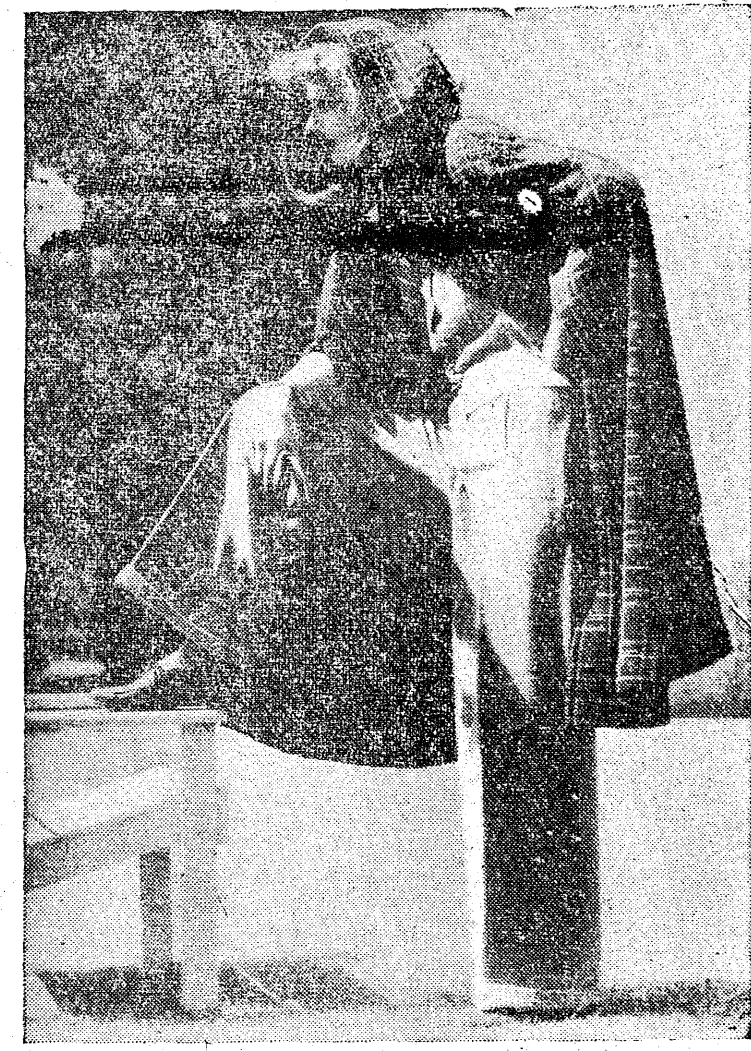

He also spoke on the advantages of a planning board in a municipality and pointed out that fourteen of the twenty-one Essex municipalities have such boards.

Tonight's meeting of the club will be devoted to adoption of the new constitution and election of officers under it.

Two More Who Helped

Two additional names were added this week to the list of contributors to the fund which sent seventy-five needy mothers and children on the annual boat ride of the Social Society of St. Peter's Church. They were those of the American Legion and Matthew Reilly.

Slacks For The Fall

Perhaps you prefer to continue fall activities in the comfortable slacks to which you have become accustomed for summer outings. These are of soft beige camel's hair, especially well tailored. The hooded cap, for many uses, is a wool plaid in shades of red.

Becoming For All Ages

This smart jacket is distinguished by its boxy cut, very new length and its checked tweed pattern in shades of brown and green. You can tell at a glance that it will be becoming to all ages and will be wearable with any sort of sports dress or ensemble.

Books On International Situation Featured At Library

A group of books are featured this week in the Adult Department of the Free Public Library which are of special interest in the present international situation. Recommended by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Shattuck, librarian, are: Voice of Destruction, Kauschning; Let the Record Speak, Thompson; Step by Step, Churchill; Not Peace But a Sword, Sheehan; Shall We Send Our Youth to War, Hoover; How War Came, Swing; Chart for Rough Water, Frank; Second World War, Cooper; Failure of a Mission, Chamberlain.

Among the seven-day books are the following:

The Bridge, by Warren Howard, the story of the struggle and dissension behind the building of a gigantic bridge.

Dangerous Cruise by Maymie Greig, an exciting novel of a group of people on a West Indies cruise: a young nurse and the doctor she loves, the doctor's selfish wife, and a tragic young man who has been acquitted for murder.

The Dark Stranger by Constance Dodge, the story of an adventurous wanderer, and his journeys from the moors of Scotland.

Recipe Column

Be neighborly! Share your favorite and tested recipes through the medium of this contest column. Two prizes will be awarded weekly. Each winner will receive two guest passes to the Kent Theatre for Tuesday and Wednesday of any week. The feature for Tuesday is "Way of All Flesh" and for Wednesday, "Opened By Mistake."

School time means cookie time—for lunches and after school snacks, what is more acceptable? Now is a good time to get in practice. The following recipes will come in handy also for the little celebrations with which your children will enjoy the last few weeks of vacation.

Lacy Oatmeal Cookies
1 egg
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup rolled oats
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract

Beat the egg, then add the sugar and salt gradually while stirring. Next add the rolled oats, melted butter and vanilla and stir until well blended. Drop by heaping teaspoons onto a well buttered cookie sheet, then flatten into thin rounds with a spatula. Bake in a moderately hot oven of 375 degrees F. for eight to ten minutes. Makes fifteen cookies. One-half cup of brown sugar, firmly packed, may be substituted for the granulated sugar in this recipe.

Soft Molasses Jumbles
5 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup brown sugar firmly packed
1 cup molasses
1 tablespoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup cold water

Cream shortening with a spoon until light. Gradually add sugar while creaming. Add molasses and stir well. Sift the dry ingredients together and add alternately with the water while stirring. Drop by heaping tablespoons onto greased pan. Bake in a moderately hot oven of 375 degrees F. for eight to ten minutes. Makes two and a half dozen cookies. Don't be alarmed at the amount of soda—it is correct.

Miss Doris Tracey of Garden avenue entertained Saturday at a buffet lunch to formally announce her engagement to Theodore Glogozz of Kearny.

THAT DOG

by Laurence Torley

Tail Cutting
A contemporary bemoans the fact that some breeds of dogs have their tails cropped. Well, to dogs which do not require having their tails shortened in order to conform to the standards laid down by the A.K.C. The Humane Societies of this state and many others have decreed that it is a misdemeanor to cut the ears. The American Kennel Club concurs in this but so far it is not considered an act of cruelty to shorten a dog's tail. Can you imagine a Fox Terrier running around with a flowing tail? That would look no more ludicrous than a Collie with a shortened tail. So far as the tail acting as a rudder is concerned, we question that also.

Certain breeds are known for their speed and we believe that these same breeds would still lead the field, short tail or no.

How many people would buy a person, and certainly does not influence the speed, agility or sense of direction in any way. These are our observations on the subject and we think that so long as the A.K.C., which is the governing body of dogs in this country, or the humane society see fit to permit such tail trimming that it must be in the best interests of

Getting To The Top The Hard Way

To Belleville Sunday afternoon came an honor which places the town's name high in the rowing scale. The Nereid Boat Club carried the club's banner and the town's name into the regatta on Pelham Bay and returned with what is tantamount to the championship of the New York Rowing Association. They proved to have the all-around excellence and they triumphed over the best competition that the metropolitan area had to offer. It was the summit toward which Nereid has been climbing for many years since its return to the rowing world after the Great Depression which lasted sixteen years and drove seven Passaic River boat clubs out of existence.

Many Bellevilleites are just discovering Nereid. To most of them it was simply a crowd of young fellows who went out every afternoon and paddled shells. But Nereid has been standing on the banks of the Passaic for sixty years quickly building for the day when it would become a top-ranker in the rowing world.

Today Nereid finds much of that dream realized. There is still a long way to go before it reaches the very top, but there is also a lot of ground which has been covered. The Orange and Blue was the only club which was able to survive the Great Depression, which was caused by the ultra-pollution of the river. Rowing is the only absolutely simon-pure sport in the world, the only one in which there is no money to be made, even by the gamblers who never know when an oarsman may catch a crab, jump his slide, break an oar and toss their best plans into the ashcan.

Nereid has gotten where it is today because it has something which few organizations have in this age of sophistication. It has what is commonly known as school spirit, a desire to "give" for the club. It is the lack of such spirit that has shamed organizations like New York Athletic Club down on the ladder.

NYAC has what every club would like to have: the finest in equipment, no financial worries, trainers, coaches, clubhouse, everything they want. But things have been too easy and the members have grown soft.

A new smell is an event to Nereid. The members patch up their old ones when they are damaged and take them into races against new boats, and win with them. Nereid is run on a co-op basis, the members do the heavy work and they do more with them. That is why the Belleville club has climbed high in the estimation of sportsmen all over the East.

A word about Federal Leather which last week capped the Industrial League football title. Federal was just one of the eight in the loop before the season started but put on plenty of pressure throughout the year to cop a crown that is eminently deserved. The kids have got the stuff.

"Gates from Bates" will be in town Wednesday to officially take over the reins of Belboyl football. He is eager to get going but is stymied by the state ruling on early practice. So he has done the next best thing—called for candidates to appear at Clearman Field on the earliest possible date.

Larry is determined to put a good team on the field this year and he can't wait to get started. But he has to have the whole co-operation of everyone connected with football to get anywhere. Every boy who thinks he has the slightest chance of making the team—even freshmen who hope to make it four years from now—should be there bright and early a week from Monday.

Bernie Barnett is still up to his old tricks out in Akron. This time it was a case of Wheaties as he pitched a 2-0 shutout at Charleston, W. Va. The team is now back

GRID PRACTICE ON SEPT. 2

New Coach Makes Arrangements To Call Footballers On That Date

High school football candidates will go without a Labor Day holiday this year. They will spend it instead in their first session with Larry Gates. Larry set the date after a conference by mail with District Clerk Ruel E. Daniels this week.

The new coach had previously expressed himself as regretting the "loss of even one day" in starting practice. Rules of the State Athletic Association forbid all drills before September 1. That date falls on Sunday this year and, as Daniels put it on Tuesday, "we still observe the Sabbath here."

Gates is at the present time somewhere in the wilds of Katahdin Mountain, Maine. He will close his Camp Lonecho on Lake Umbagog on Monday and will arrive in Belleville Wednesday. He is expected to call a meeting of the Belboyl board of strategy toward the end of next week to plan for the coming season, which opens with Barringer, September 28. Distribution of equipment and health examinations will be held at Clearman Field Labor Day morning at 10.

Daniels said yesterday that he had already begun the purchase of equipment, basing his figure on the needs of previous years. He also will confer with Gates on that question.

BROOKLYN FARM CLUB TRYOUTS AT NUTLEY

Expect 500 Young Ballplayers Will Turn Out, To Start On Tuesday

All roads will lead to Nutley next week for baseball-minded fellows with dreams of a big league—or even minor league—future. More than 500 young diamond aspirants are expected to be attracted to the Park Oval there for the tryouts which will be held by the Elmira Club of the Eastern League, Brooklyn Dodger farm. The tryouts will be held for five days, starting Tuesday morning. A number of local ball players are expected to go to the neighboring town to show their wares to the big league scouts who will be on hand.

The tryout camp will be in charge of Mickey McConnell, who is in charge of the scouting program of the Elmira team. Young players are expected to come not only from this state, but New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut. Sessions will be held Tuesday through Saturday, starting at 10 in the morning and ending at 4 in the afternoon. Players will be permitted to attend at no cost. Traveling expenses will be refunded to those signing contracts. Players must furnish their own shoes, uniforms and gloves.

Scouts Will Watch

The tryouts will be in charge of a staff of five scouts. The staff will be headed by Andy High and Blackie Carter, former National League playing stars. An expected added attraction at one of the sessions will be Joe E. Brown, motion picture comedian and former ball player. The week following the tryouts Brown will be starring in the play "Elmer, the Great," which will be staged at the Maplewood Theatre.

Among those active in lining up young players to show their stuff before the big league scouts is Ed Marshall, manager of the Nutley B. B. C. Lackawanna League, leaders. Marshall is largely responsible for bringing the Dodger farm tryouts to Nutley. He expects that a number of players who are in the Lackawanna and Essex County Leagues and the West Hudson circuit and a number of independent clubs will try out.

PITTSBURGERS IN CLOSE 2-1 LOSS

Alabama Star Hurling For Netcong Nine Limits Locals To 2 Hits

The Pittsburgh Minor Leaguers dropped their fifth game in a row Sunday but did it the hard way when they were beaten 2-1 by the Lakeland Council B.B.C. at Netcong. Red Lee, University of Alabama star hurler, pitched no-hit ball for the Lakelanders to the eighth when O'Reilly broke the ice with a single.

In all Lee faced but twenty-eight batters, the Minors getting two hits and a base on balls and leaving but one runner stranded. Lee fanned thirteen. The only other Minor hit was by Ray Johnson who drove in O'Reilly for the only run.

Johnnie Woods, on the mound for the Minors, allowed eight hits but bore down in the pinches. He allowed a run in the third on a triple and a single and permitted another in the last half of the ninth when, with two out, Ray Wallace singled home Frank Norman with the winning tally.

Nereids Are Now Kingpins Of Metropolitan Rowing

Impressive Sweep In N.Y.R.A. Regatta Is Club's Greatest Triumph In 65-Year History; All Ten Crews Come Home With Honors

Nereid Boat Club reached the climax of its sixty-five-year history Sunday when it demonstrated its all-around supremacy over rowing clubs in the metropolitan area and easily won the point trophy which was at stake in the Pelham Bay regatta of the New York Rowing Association. Nine clubs in all vied for the crown as No. 1 rowing club of the New York district. The Belleville club stepped out to a lead which it never relinquished and which it increased with each succeeding race.

The Nereids ended up the afternoon with thirty-eight points, sixteen ahead of Ravenswood and Nassau which tied for second. Of the ten races which Nereid entered, the Orange and Blue came home with five first places, four seconds and a third. It was the first triumph for the locals under their new coach, Bill Bennett of 197 Linden avenue, who was appointed less than three weeks before.

Gerry Rhoades of 293 Union avenue was the first to put points into the Nereid total when he came over the course in one of the fastest times of the day and won the junior 145-pound single gig race. Nassau then won two races in a row and assumed a lead which Nereid did not break through until the eighth event, Carl Hagert of Newark brought in Nereid's second win of the day when he outclassed the field of four in the final of the junior single gig and won by three lengths. Hagert had won by the same margin in his heat.

Salomon, Zink Win

Sid Salomon of Newark, Nereid club champion, followed hard on Hagert's heels with another Belleville victory. He took the Nereid of Ravenswood and Henry Mattson of Union in the intermediate single gig. Darrell Zink of 26 Rossmore place was the other Nereid to cop a singles victory. The schoolboy champion of North America led Bruce Corrigan of the New York A. C. all the way and won by a little over a length.

The Orange and Blue junior four-oared gig, despite the fact that it had been rowing together only a week, had little trouble disposing of Nassau. It was composed of Barney Swain and Bill Fehon of Newark, Walt Nicol of North Arlington and Al Walker of 133 Jorvason street. Gunther "Whitely" Meder of 11 Division avenue coxed a crew for the first time and drove it to victory.

Nereid's second places played a large part in giving the local club its comfortable margin. Homer Zink, Jr. brought in the first. He finished behind Joe Angyal of Ravenswood but beat in Luke Grace of Nonpareil and Ed Simpson of N.Y.A.C. in one of the best races of the day.

Bill Trier's chances of taking the novice single gig were shot when the strong wind took him off-course. Trier, who lives at 131 Madison avenue, was drawing up fast on Tom Sinnott of North Shrewsbury when he was stymied by nearly running into the bank. He straightened out and got second. He had previously won his heat with ease.

A jumped slide ruined the race for the Nereid intermediate double gig in which were Frank Siegler of 21 High street and Howard McMaster of 242 Washington avenue. Siegler's slide went awry shortly after the start of the race and he completed the course without it. The race was won by Union.

Beat Locals Again

Joe Angyal took Elliott Gesser's place in the Ravenswood senior quad and the Long Islanders repeated their triumph of the previous week over Nereid. In the Belleville boat were Warren Everson of 314 Greylock parkway, Homer Zink, Andy McMaster of 242 Washington avenue and Walt Nicol.

Nereid's only third place came in the senior double shell event in which Salomon teamed with Bill Jones of 197 Linden avenue. The local boys followed the N. Y. A. C. and Ravenswood across the line. Each of the other shells was stroked by a national champion: Angyal of Ravenswood and Frank Silvio of N. Y. A. C.
