VICTIM OF TRAIN CRASH DIES

Anthony Ippolito Succumbs To Injuries Sustained In Keansburg Accident

Anthony Ippolito, twenty-five, of 61 Lake street, died Saturday morning in Riverview hospital, Red Bank, of injuries sustained two days previous when the car in which he was a passenger was struck by a Jersey Central commuters' train in West Keansburg. Joseph DeMarco of Bloomfield was killed instantly in the crash but the driver of the car, Alfred Valli of Bloomfield, escaped with only minor scratches.

Ippolito suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. Several blood transfusions were unable to save his life and he died about sixty hours after the accident. He and DeMarco were both riding in the front seat of the business coupe. The three were driving from the beach and in the driving rain did not see the oncoming train. There are no lights or signals at the crossing and the tracks are hidden in weeds three feet high.

The car was completely demolished and police said that "it was a miracle" that Valli escaped death. Scattered pieces of the car, a headlamp and the spare wheel were found against a house seventy feet from the crossing. Valli and Simon Bailey of Long Branch, the train engineer, were held on technical charges of manslaughter.

Ippolito leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ippolito; a brother, Michael, Jr., all of the Lake street address, and a sister, Mrs. Bertha Scavillo of Magnolia street. A solemn requiem mass was said yesterday by Rev. Titian Monaghy in St. Anthony's Church. Interment was in Glendale Cemetery, Bloomfield.

TWO MEN HELD IN PAINT THEFT

Spinola and Petrillo Face Charges For Part In Irvington Case

Two local men were held this week in $1,000 bail each to answer charges of larceny for their part in the theft of $7,200 worth of paint and supplies from the warehouse of Joseph Leven, Inc. of Irvington. They are James Spinola, twenty-eight, of 27 Lake street, and Gelaydo Petrillo, twenty-five, of 47 Eugene place.

It is charged that Spinola and Petrillo were members of a gang of ten men who carried the loot away from the Irvington firm over an eighteen-month period. The break in the case came a week ago Sunday when Leven saw Petrillo carrying paint from the plant to a car.

Leven called police who arrested Petrillo who implicated Spinola, a leader at the company. The others were arrested later on various charges of larceny and receiving. Arraigned before Recorder Holleran in Irvington, Petrillo was released in bond but Spinola was held when he was unable to raise the bail.

Inter-Town Softball Tourney Delayed Another Week

With Nutley still trying to make up its mind who is the town champion, the inter-town softball series has been postponed for the second and last time. The constant rain of ten days in the past two weeks washed out all the games in the neighboring town which were supposed to end in the picking of the champ.

Meanwhile Johnny Calichio, manager of the Bellboys, rulers of the roost here, said that he hopes the team will be able to stick together for another week, that if Nutley is not ready to play next week he will claim a forfeit.

Said The News of itself in that first issue: "The Belleville News is and will be just what its name signifies. It is here to boost the town and disclaim political affiliation. The staff is composed of men of integrity and ability who will strive to present in an interesting and useful manner all the news in a conservative, straight-forward way."

RED CROSS $900 SHORT OF QUOTA

Treasurer Rose Reports $3,100 Raised; Women Complete Garments

Russell K. Rose, treasurer of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, announced yesterday that collections in Belleville have amounted to $3,100 to date. The chapter has a quota of $4,000 to reach.

The Red Cross turned its attention to this country last week when it provided clothes and shelter for hundreds of victims of the storm and floods which swept South Jersey. During the past month it has also had to help similar victims in the southern states. Washington headquarters warned the local chapter by wire to be ready for emergencies should the storm sweep Belleville. The telegram was sent to Frank Chambers and turned over to publicity chairman William J. Horgan by Norman D. Lauterette of National Grain Yeast in Chambers' absence.

The preparations of Otto T. Breunich and his co-workers on the emergency relief committee were not needed as the storm passed out to sea before striking here.

Second Quota Completed

The women of the chapter have completed their second quota of garments for refugees abroad. The work was done by individuals at home and by groups conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary at the Recreation House and by the women of Christ Episcopal Church at the church house.

The garments have been sent to a Jersey City warehouse for shipment to Europe. Included in the shipment were sweaters, socks, woolen dresses, layettes and hospital bed shirts. LOCAL COMMITTEE NAMED BY ELKS ON DEFENSE

Mayor Heads Group Which Will Cooperate With National Body; First In State

Wallwin H. Masten, exalted ruler of the local Lodge of Elks, has named a committee of eleven, headed by Mayor William H. Williams, a past exalted ruler, to serve as a group in the Elks' National Defense Commission.

Others on the committee are Police Chief George Spatz, Fire Chief R. Alex Reid, Police Captain Robert Anderson, Jack Deeny, James Ferguson, Edward Mathes, all past exalted rulers; Joseph McGrath, chairman of the Board of Governors; and Jack Abrams, past commander of Melvin Spitz Post, Disabled American War Vets and a past commander of New Jersey State Disabled War Veterans, and Secretary Arthur Mayer.

The committee is believed to be the first to be organized in New Jersey in keeping with an edict of the Grand Lodge Convention in Houston, Tex., in July when Joseph G. Buch, chairman of the U. S. Employment Compensation, Commission, was elected Grand Exalted Ruler.

"The President of the United States has issued a call to our citizens which is tantamount to a preparation against a menacing threat to liberty as we know it and love it. I am proud, as you will be in the knowledge that the Grand Lodge was aware of the danger and anticipated a rallying call against it to such an extent that at its reunion in July plans were made which will, with your cooperation, enable the half-million patriotic Elks of this great nation to promptly reply 'We are Ready,'" says Mr. Buch in urging all lodges to name similar committees.

On National Committee

Mr. Buch has named to the Elks' National Defense and Public Relations Commission with headquarters at 292 Madison avenue, New York, the following Past Grand Exalted Rulers; James R. Nicholson, chairman; Judge James T. Hallinan, vice-chairman; John R. Coen, Michael E. Shannon, David Sholtz, Edward James McCormick and Henry C. Warner.

The national commission is organized to coordinate and supervise plans for the fullest cooperation by the Grand Lodge, state associations and subordinate lodges and members in the national, state and local governments in any eventuality or contingency that may arise, says Mr. Buch, adding: "While the commission can set up a general plan, the execution of the plan rests with the subordinate lodges and members."

Hartley Opponent Blasts At Congressman's Speech

William E. Holmwood, Democrat, Charges That G.O.P. Incumbent Is Trying To Lull Electorate To Sleep; Says Hitler Won't Warn U.S.A.

Democratic Congressional candidate William E. Holmwood hit back this week at Congressman Fred A. Hartley for the latter's stand on national defense and aid to Britain as outlined in his statement in this newspaper last week. Holmwood leveled his verbal guns at Hartley on two main counts: his attitude toward defense by which "he now seeks to lull us to sleep and win support for further delay" and the defense of his attendance at a meeting of a German-American organization. Holmwood's statement follows:

"The recent speech made by Representative Hartley in Belleville and published Thursday in The Belleville News clearly sets forth the issues between us in this campaign.

"Referring to Ambassador Bullitt and others Mr. Hartley states that war mongers are trying to drag us into war. Secretaries Knox and Stimson and General Pershing, all good Republicans, and even the candidate Mr. Willkie have all recognized the necessity of complete and immediate preparedness. They have referred to the value of the British fleet for our defense, and have recommended all possible aid to England short of war, including the sale of the old destroyers of World War days, which Mr. Hartley condemns. Does Mr. Hartley consider these gentlemen to be war mongers?"

String Along With Pershing

"For my part, I am willing to take the advice of a trained soldier like General Pershing, who has received every honor that the American people can bestow for honorable service, and who has no axe to grind, rather than to listen to those who for one reason or another make the same kind of an answer to these questions that Adolf Hitler himself would make if he were consulted.

"These gentlemen are not war mongers, they merely have the vision to agree with President Roosevelt's defense measures. They realize that our only chance for real peace is to make our defenses so strong that none dare attack us.

Over 5,000 Youngsters Report For Opening Of School Term

Superintendent Wayne R. Parmer Gives Teachers Instructions; He Stresses Importance of Tasks

The ten schools of the public school system opened their doors yesterday morning to more than 5,500 boys and girls who streamed not too joyfully back to the classrooms for another ten months of exposure to the three R's. The schools' 206 teachers were called together Tuesday morning in the auditorium of School No. 8 for final instruction from Superintendent Wayne R. Parmer and to hear a brief talk by Earl W. Seibert, guidance director of the school system. Later they adjourned to a luncheon-meeting with the Board of Education in the high school cafeteria. All the schools received a final scrubbing behind the ears before the sessions started as Business Manager Ruel E. Daniels announced that ninety per cent of the repair work planned for the summer was accomplished before yesterday.

ENROLLMENT IS ON DECREASE

Parmer Is Surprised at Drop In Number; More Will Put In Appearance

Superintendent Wayne R. Parmer was a bit surprised at the decrease in the enrollment on the first day of school this year as compared with last year. According to figures released by his office last night, 5,082 pupils reported in the ten elementary schools and the high school yesterday. This is 134 less than last September for the same day.

The superintendent said that the figures would be changed within the coming week for some pupils have not enrolled as yet. The enrollment by schools is as follows:

School No. 1	320
School No. 2	115
School No. 3	420
School No. 4	850
School No. 5	472
School No. 7	452
School No. 8	518
School No. 9	189
School No. 10	243
High School	5,082

Try To Combat It

The schools try to combat such sentiment by preaching the greatness of America, what it gives and what it expects in return. The teachers point out that all Americans came at one time from a foreign land but that, once they left the other side and assumed a home here, they became Americans first.

The war has had its repercussions in the purchase of geographical maps and maps here, according to Daniels. He said that no new maps of Europe have been or will be purchased until the war is over and boundaries stop shifting over night.

The building and grounds committee of the school board, which is composed of Walter Gilby and Charles A. Gebhardt, followed its usual rule of hiring its own contractors to do summer work. In this way it takes on only Belleville laborers.

One of the chief jobs of the summer repair was the renovation of the auditorium of the high school, which was repainted and where all new lighting fixtures have been installed as had a new scoreboard backstage. The old fixtures were considered dangerous.

The high school cafeteria will operate under the same plan as last year. It is carried under the school activities account. Miss Dorothy Shaner is in charge and works in conjunction with the business office.

Hartley Expected To Hold Forum On September 14

Congressman Fred A. Hartley, Jr., has not yet selected a topic for his address here Saturday, September 14, and will probably conduct a forum-type meeting, it was learned yesterday. He is said to favor the question-and-answer method. The talk will be moderated by the Joseph King Association and will be held in the association's headquarters at 414 Washington avenue.

DO YOU WISH to rent or sell your property? Selected list of prospective clients waiting to move in. Davidson & King, 414 Washington avenue, Belleville 2-3331.

Herr Hitler Has Given the Geography And History Teachers Headaches

If Junior Flunks Geography, Don't Blame Him — Blame Hitler

In the twelve months that have passed since the teachers last reported for the start of the school year, the world has been turned topsy turvy. When they resumed their task of teaching the youth in September, 1939, war was breaking out in Europe. In the year that has gone by a second World War has come. What may happen in the one on which they now embark is still to be written in books, but at least it will be history making. The map of Europe has been hacked to pieces according to the desires of the dictators. History has been reversed. Teachers of geography and history glance at the map of Europe and reach for an aspirin. To teach students of such a world is almost impossible.

Germany and Russia have gobbled up Poland. Russia has hacked off a chunk of Finland. The Nazis have taken squatters' rights in Norway and Denmark. They swallowed up Luxembourg and then walked in and quickly conquered the Netherlands and Belgium. They then invaded France and have swallowed the northern part and the western coastal line fronting on the Atlantic. Italy claims some sort of ownership of British Somaliland. Romania gave up Bessarabia and northern Bukovina to the Russians who then moved in on Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania and Romania as a final gesture ceded part of her territory to Hungary.

Geography Books Outdated

The geography teacher does not know what to expect on awakening in the morning. What they may have told the youngsters one day may be all wrong the next. And what about the maps, globes and geography books. Their value as for Europe—and maybe a good part of the rest of the world—is nil. Herr Hitler has completely outdated them by the onslaughts and dishing up of that he and his two dictatorial cohorts—Mussolini and Stalin—have done during the past year. It's just as hard for the youngsters, too. Suppose the teacher says to the class: "Now, open your books to Poland. We will study about this country today, but you must remember that it isn't Poland but Germany."

There's one bit of satisfaction that the lapse of memory pupils in the class have out of the turn in world events. If the teacher asks them to name the countries in Europe, they will get credit for being fifty per cent right if they say "Germany." The school board has thousands of dollars invested in maps, globes and geography books which is virtually a complete loss. The change has brought its headaches to the mapmakers and the geography and history booksellers. They find business rather slow these days and do not get the sales from the schools that they once did. How have they overcome this perplexing problem? Well, most of the companies have had printed loose leaf maps of Europe and its countries which can be inserted into the books. They can be ripped out on a radio bulletin's notice and the publishers guarantee to supply new ones within forty-eight hours.

So you think that you've a tough time trying to keep up with current events. Well, just think about the teachers and the school youngsters. If Junior comes home with a report card next month showing that he flunked in European history and geography, don't blame him — blame Hitler!

3-FOLD WARNING BY CHIEF SPATZ

Children, Parents, Teachers, Motorists Warned of Traffic Dangers By Police Head

Police Chief Spatz yesterday issued on children, parents, teachers and motorists to combine their efforts to make the streets safe for school children during the coming year. He issued instructions for each to follow in conjunction with the dozen regular policemen who will be on duty at the schools. His statement follows:

"The next ten months will be critical ones in the lives of all children and boys and girls who are going to school. Five days in every week they will face the dangers of crossing the streets while on their way to and from school. The Police Department will have a man stationed at each school to protect the children there as far as possible; but it would be beyond the power of the Police Department to attempt to guard every crossing away from the schools.

Three-Fold Warning

"Every year many children are crushed to death beneath the wheels of speeding automobiles. So at the beginning of the school year we would like to issue a three-fold warning:

"To the children we say: Be very careful whenever you have to cross any street. Look to the left and to the right before you step off the curb and keep watching both ways until you are safely on the other side. If there is a traffic light on the corner be sure you do not cross until you have the green light with you. Listen to the advice of your parents and teachers. They know what dangers there are.

"To the parents and teachers of our children we would like to point out that it is your duty to instruct the children of Belleville in proper safety measures. Point out the hazards to them and impress them fully with the importance of following out all safety rules.

"Motorists must realize that they have a very definite responsibility. Driving anywhere on Belleville streets leaves the motorist open to the possibility of accident because the drivers must realize that children do not have a full concept of all the safety rules and do not realize the danger an adult would.

"Obey the signs and when you see a sign which reads 'School Zone,' slow down and take it easy. Slow down to a speed at which you can stop instantly if called upon to do so. You never know when a child will run from behind a parked car; you never know when a boy or girl will chase a ball out into the street. Actually, the fault may be the child's; but the blame and responsibility will be placed on you.

"All of Belleville's citizens must cooperate in one gigantic safety drive to protect our children and keep them safe throughout the entire school year."

Besides the regular police who will be on duty twice a day, more than 150 boys will again be organized into safety patrols. School and police officials have requested that the boys be given every courtesy by the motorists.

Miss Snedeker is a graduate of the local high school where she was vice-president of the Debating Club, secretary of the French Club, and a member of the Latin Club, Riding Club and the class Senate. She was active in dramatics, won the high school declamation contest and is a member of the International High School Artists' Society. She plans to take the general course at N. J. C.

Vacation Haunts Attracted Many Over Weekend

Even Bad Weather Failed to Stop Many Who Were Away; Others Returned Home After Absence From Town For The Summer

Labor Day weekend found hundreds of Bellevilleites scattered to the four corners for a last fling before the autumn breezes make life at the shore and the mountains and lakes less enjoyable. The bad weather Saturday and Sunday deterred only a few and those who went away for the few days enjoyed Monday in many different places.

Miss Doris Knapp of Tappan avenue and Miss Margaret Malinson of Overlook avenue were at the Hotel Leighton in Point Pleasant.

The Julius Friedmans of Washington avenue went to Ellenville, N. Y. where they were registered at Rudd's Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius De Jonge and their two small daughters, Eugenie and Marina, of Malone avenue spent the weekend at the cottage at Swartswood Lake.

Visitors in Damascus, Pa., were Harry Phillips and Charles Ludolph of Forest street and William Jones of Linden avenue.

The Walter G. Prices of Malone avenue found Lake Lackawanna to their liking while Miss Alice Wilkens of Perry street was in Seaside Heights as the guest of Miss Helen Sheridan of West Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellsworth Akers, their sons George and Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Davies, all of Union avenue, weekendened in Ocean Gate.

To The Parents

The commencement of another school year should be just as important to the parents as it is to the pupils. The school is a vital part of community life—one that can not be successful unless it is coordinated with the other branches that make a community what it is—a happy and cooperative place in which to live. Too many parents neglect their obligation to know what their children are doing in school and to interest themselves in the activities.

Some parents believe that their duty to the children ends when they leave the house for school and is not resumed until they return from their classes late in the afternoon. Some teachers feel that their job begins and ends with the ringing of the school bell. But education like life begins at birth and continues until death. Without the constant cooperation of the two forces which regulate the growing lives of children—the parents and the teachers—the full benefits of education can not be reaped.

The great educator John Dewey in his book, My Pedagogic Creed, wrote in part: "Education being a social process, the school is simply that form of community life in which all those agencies are concentrated that will be most effective in bringing the child to share in the inherited resources of the race, and to use his own powers for social ends."

"I believe that education is a regulation of the process of coming to share in the social consciousness; and that the adjustment of individual activity on the basis of this social consciousness is the only sure method of social reconstruction.

"I believe that the community's duty to education is, therefore, its paramount moral duty. By law and punishment, by social agitation and discussion, society can regulate and form itself in a more or less haphazard and chance way. But through education society can formulate its own purposes, can organize its own means and resources, and thus shape itself with definiteness and economy in the direction in which it wishes to move."

In this community the schools seek the cooperation and friendship of the parents of the children whom they teach each day. They want their assistance and help. They want them to be a part of the system which seeks to make better young people. To bring about the best possible educational facilities that this community and its children can enjoy, parents should make an effort to have an active interest in the school and its affairs.

Parents should join in the parent-teacher groups, attend the conferences and educational meetings which are frequently held, learn about the schools and how much they cost to operate so that when the time comes for voting on public matters affecting them, they can vote intelligently. Above all, parents should seek out those who are daily instructing their children so that they may confer together on common problems dealing with the children so that working side by side they can do that which will be most beneficial to these pupils.

Can You Vote In The Election?

Out of the thousands of words about the coming election which are being poured into the newspaper columns for reader consumption, we hope that folks will grasp one important thing—to be certain that they are properly registered so that they will be able to cast their vote in the November Presidential election. In this, state it will be more important than in many others, and particularly in this county where the voters will be asked to indicate their preference on almost every public office which is determined by an election.

September 26 is the final day for registration or obtaining transfers. This applies to new residents, first voters and those who have moved since the last time they voted. If there is any doubt in a citizen's mind about his eligibility to vote, he should visit the Town Clerk's office in the Town Hall and find out. This is the most important election of our times, not alone because the nation will select a President who will guide the country in one of its most trying periods, but because of the subordinate holders of public office who are a vital part of the success or failure of the administration of any President.

Every person who is eligible should vote in November. Between now and then they should study the qualifications, the campaign pledges and platforms and the past record of every candidate. This election is too important to be a popularity contest. This is a crucial period and men must be selected who will wisely administer our public affairs.

Up For Another Battle

More residents have become annoyed over seeing a bus pass the door numerous times each day which they cannot use because the Public Utilities Commission has ruled that there is ample bus transportation service at the present time. Realizing that nearly 500 people meant business when they signed a petition urging that the Garden State Lines be permitted to pick up and discharge passengers, the Town Commission last week decided to renew its effort to get the Utilities Commission to lift the ban on the service.

Over a month ago this writer stuck his neck out and said that the company should be permitted to pick up and discharge. We think that the line serves a section of Belleville which is still undeveloped and that only through better transportation will it be built into a residential neighborhood. The people who live there at present should be permitted to use the bus if it is to use the streets on which they live. The line does not travel through a business district in its non-stop jaunt through Belleville, but via residential areas. It is another traffic hazard and as long as it is of no value to the residents of that area, it is a liability that they can well do without. We have said enough about it and intend to let the town board and some of the rest do the talking.

There has been criticism because Joseph Krueger, president of the Garden State Lines, has refused to actively enter this latest battle. We can't blame him. Every time he applies to the Public Utilities Commission it costs him money. If in a fight you have been knocked down a couple of times, it ceases to be funny. So it is with Mr. Krueger.

We're The First Battleground

We take some sort of pride in being the battlefield on which Congressman Fred A. Hartley and William E. Holmwood, the Democrat who wants Hartley's job in Washington, have started their battle. Up until last week, the fight had been pretty much one-sided with Mr. Holmwood doing all the talking and attacking and Congressman Hartley saying nothing. But The News cornered the Representative on one of his hasty trips between here and Washington and got his slant on national and international affairs.

After reading what the Congressman had to say, Mr. Holmwood issued a statement to the effect that the differences in thinking between the two candidates is now quite clear. After reading the Hartley statement, Holmwood says in effect that the Congressman has pro-Nazi sympathies. To which Hartley replies that he believes in being tolerant and that by attending a picnic of a German-American society, which he has done many times in the past, he does not think that it brands him as a friend of Hitler.

Of course, all of this shouting is done for the entertainment of the voters. Mr. Holmwood is new to the political front, while Congressman Hartley is a veteran of many battles and has been in office long enough to be subject to an attack, regardless of how effective or noteworthy it may be, from almost any angle. The Congressman thinks the present administration is trying to hasten us into the war. He feels that the national defense program has not progressed to the point where conscription is advisable at present. He favors billions for defense, but shudders at the thought of aid to England which would make us Britain's partner in the conflict. Mr. Holmwood differs widely. He supports the moves made by President Roosevelt to date up to the hilt.

About that Time

Our Defense

This is the Fifth of a Series Prepared by the National Defense Advisory Commission

Cavalry
Yes, there still is Cavalry. The Cavalry is very explicit on that subject. The Cavalry is usually what gets to the fight first. They may come on horses, as there are some territories where a horse is still the best means of going places. But a lot larger number gallop up in armored cars and in combat cars, that look, and—if you are on the receiving end—feel just like tanks. In fact they are tanks. Tucked away in the Cavalry are even men mounted on motorcycles. The Cavalry is still the fastest moving ground-fighting arm.

The Cavalry stays out in front of the main Army, exploring the ground ahead. Because of its ability to move far and fast it is supposed to spend a good portion of time in the enemies' rear lines making a mess of things. To move being its prime function, a cavalry regiment needs the wherewithal to get places, and the job devolving on the National Defense Advisory Commission, in respect to the Cavalry, is to tell the Army where, and when, and how, it can procure that transportation.

When it comes to horses for the horse cavalry, the Commission bows to the Army. They have been buying and raising horses for so many years that they know the name, address, and personal history of every type of horse they need. Sturdy half-or three-quarter bred for hell-for-leather riding purposes, and heavier types for pack purposes. The American Cavalry is fitted out with heavy machine guns, mortars, and howitzers, which can be taken apart and made up into several suitable one-horse loads. Just for information, the Cavalry, when it gets to a fight, dismounts and sends the horses back.

Mechanized Cavalry
A mechanized cavalry regiment is made up of four combat car troops of about 100 men each. These are the striking power of the mechanized cavalry. Many of these may shortly be transferred to the new Armored Force.

There is a service troop which provides for transportation and maintenance. The reconnaissance troop is used by the regimental commander to find out where the enemy is at any given moment.

Like the combat cars, all the command cars are equipped with machine guns, and two-way radios so that the commanders are set up to give orders to their units whether they are moving or waiting to move. So it is that every part of a mechanized cavalry regiment is able to roll, and it has a tremendous fire power, which makes it hell-on-wheels.

For weapons the mechanized cavalry has pistols, rifles, .30 caliber air-cooled machine guns, .30 caliber water cooled heavy machine guns, .50-caliber machine guns and .37 mm. guns (both used as antitank guns) and a 4.2-inch mortar to fire smoke shells. These shells are used as protection against enemy antitank guns. And to add a typically American touch, the Cavalry is supplied with the famous "Tommy Guns," beloved of the prohibition wars.

A cavalry division also has all the units of the infantry division. For example, it has a field artillery unit, drawn by six-horse teams in a horse cavalry unit and by trucks in a mechanized unit. The distinguishing mark of a cavalry division is that it contains no one who habitually walks.

Keeping the Cavalry Rolling

Now to keep all the rolling stock of a cavalry division able to roll takes considerable organization. There have to be men able to make a gasoline or diesel motor purr when the motor may want to quit. There have to be others who know where the proper supplies of fuel are located and how to get that fuel into the gas tanks no matter where those gas tanks happen to be. And that's no easy job when you realize that mechanized cavalry can get up in the morning, break camp, eat a hearty breakfast, get moving, and by nightfall be some three hundred miles and several thousand gallons of fuel away. And if the boys are to the rear of the enemy, the enemy undoubtedly will persuade the local filling stations not to sell them fuel. The fuel has got to go with the forces. Also the supply service must be ready to fix flat tires, give tanks, jammed guns, and tired soldiers whose brains have been jarred into a splitting headache after rattling around inside a tank.

The problem in the horse cavalry is about the same. There must be hay for the horses, as a horse won't run without fuel any more than a tank. And the modern horse has learned not to be scared of himself in a gas mask, and has to be kept supplied with one. It takes a wonderful supply organization in the Army to see that all the thousands and one articles necessary to keep a cavalry division in the running are handy when and where they are needed, even if a day's run may put them any place in 270,000 square miles of territory. But behind the Army there must be another organization ready to find the supplies in the necessary quantities and get them to where the Army can take them over. That is the job of the National Defense Advisory Commission. And it has to be done, not only for the Cavalry, but for every other branch of the Army and Navy as well. That is why the Commission, for instance, has recommended that supplies of strategic materials be tucked away for future reference.

THAT DOG

by Laurence Torley

An experienced dog fancier hears many a fantastic tale if he goes "shopping" at some of the roadside "kennels" which dot the highways. At least, this was the case with Frank B. Ward, dog columnist of the Youngstown Vindicator, who recently took a motor trip to the East. His article, "Don't Believe All You Hear at Kennels," in the September issue of the American Kennel Gazette, retells many absurdities. He writes, in part: "I was not interested in buying... just looking. There was no intention to deceive. At least, when I made the first stop. But misinformation came in such quantity and in such lurid color on the first call, the business of

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Acquisition of the naval bases from Great Britain appears now as one of the greatest pieces of American statesmanship in the history of the nation. It places President Roosevelt in the class of Jefferson, Polk and McKinley as one of our great expansion presidents. Considering the delicacy of the negotiations the President was entirely justified, in my judgment, in conducting them without consulting Congress. Roosevelt will be judged by the success of the arrangement, not by the method used. We now have a defense frontier that can be defended. This is worth more to us than a hundred old destroyers.

Furthermore, by getting a quid pro quo for the fifty surrendered to Great Britain we have lessened the objection that Germany can have to the deal. An outright gift of the destroyers or a camouflage sale would have been correctly viewed as a hostile act. Exchange of them for something valuable is nothing but an act of enlightened selfishness. Even were sentiment in this country evenly divided a between the two belligerents, there could be little criticism from the pro-German side. We have taken steps to benefit ourselves which will have a perfect right to do. To take steps primarily designed to help one belligerent as against another is not consistent with the spirit of neutrality. That the given step actually does help one of the belligerents is but incidental.

Corrects Wilson Mistake

What President Roosevelt did was to correct one of the greatest sins of omission an American President ever made. That was the failure of Woodrow Wilson to get something in return for the aid we gave England and France in 1917 and before. Wilson placed our aid then on an idealistic basis which Europeans regarded as mere hypocrisy. Harding's victory over Cox in 1920—it was a sweep more complete relatively than that of 1936—was nothing more than a repudiation of Wilson's "making the world safe for democracy" doctrine.

But this article is not intended as a eulogy of Roosevelt's move, but rather an appraisal of that move in the light of current politics. It does more, in my judgment, to insure the re-election of Roosevelt than every other previous action combined. I don't say it will guarantee his election for I regard Wendell Willkie as an exceptionally strong candidate.

But, it gives the Democrats an election argument that is unanswerable. The President placed himself beside Jefferson when he made the announcement and the American today, no less than those of future generations, may let him stay there.

This attitude is important locally because if it means Roosevelt's re-election, it may very well mean the election of Charles Edison, James H. R. Cromwell and several congressmen along with them. I do not believe that it is possible for the Democrats to carry Essex County. They didn't do that even when Landon was the Republican nominee. Willkie is no Landon. At the very least I will give Willkie two million more votes than Landon received. This would limit Roosevelt to a five million majority which I think is too high.

Congressmen Hartley, Vreeland and Keane should go back along with twelve Republican assemblymen and all other county officials. Beyond that the political prophet's eye must take in Trinidad, Bermuda and Newfoundland. For there lies America's protection, and protection today is considered more important than anything else.

Five Years Ago

Politics were in the air at Belleville went in for rallies. Many of the Republican candidates spoke at a rally at the Regular Republican Headquarters at 368 Washington avenue.

The commissioners and the Board of Education met in joint session to discuss possible work for WPA in town. Commissioner Waters said that relief might be withdrawn from a thousand families if projects were not submitted. Commissioner Clark suggested repair of all bluestone sidewalks. John P. Dailey, school board head, stated that he had $300,000 worth of school improvements to submit.

Mike Hanley limited Bloomfield to four hits as the Belleville entry in the Essex County Baseball League beat the Bengal 10-2.

Ten Years Ago

Reverberations from the previous week's commission battle continued to rock Town Hall. Commissioner Williams reiterated his charge that "political tinkering" during the previous administration had caused 1,284 tax bills totalling $87,000 to be buried and never sent out. Williams and Mayor Kenworthy engaged in heated verbal battle with Commissioners Waters, Clark and Carragher chiming in from time to time. Williams announced that he had suspended Tax Collector Roy W. Brooks.

A free-for-all fight brought police on the run to Main street and disclosed a private "whoopie parlor" where young boys and girls of the neighborhood were served liquor and allowed to cuss. The owners of the place were jailed and fined by Recorder Fitzsimmons.

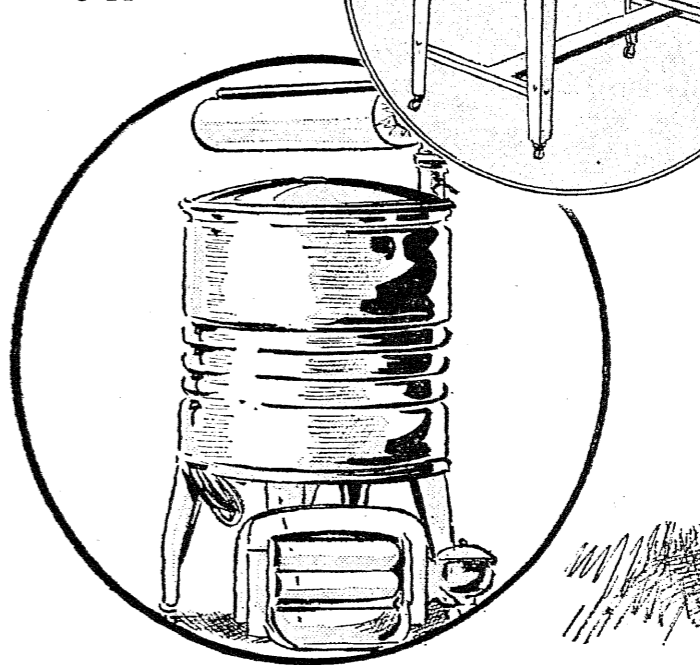

Coach Carl Erickson called out his Belleville gridders to start training for the toughest schedule in Belleville history.

Twenty Years Ago

The Sinking Fund Commission took $55,000 of the town's ten penny improvement bonds and $8,000 school bonds. It was estimated that the town had at least one per cent on the amount. The commission passed ordinances fixing the salaries of the police and fire departments.

Starting The School Year Right

To be specific about some of the ways in which you can fill at home your important part in your children's school life, let us consider this week two of the simplest fundamentals over which you as mother or guardian have almost complete charge. It is you who buys and prepares the food which builds the strong body and clear mind that put your children on a par with the normal group in which they must go forward. It is you who supervises the purchase and care of the clothes and accessories which adorn these normal bodies and, very importantly, contribute to the ease of mind and social success without which education is not complete.

First, food! The important truth is fortunately evident to almost everyone: that no amount of anxious desire or over-study will help a child succeed in his classroom unless he is fortified with the essentials of diet that keep him free from bodily aches and pains and send rich, red blood coursing through his brain. Also evident are the simple ingredients which make up this magic-working formula. There is a litany engraved on the mind of practically every mother of growing children which goes like this: a quart of milk, an egg, a serving of meat, at least four vegetables, at least three fruits, a serving of cereal and several slices of whole-grain bread. These represent the "musts" in a child's daily intake of food.

Gentle Insistence Needed

The simplest way that we can imagine of being assured that all these foods will be willingly consumed each day is the gentle insistence that they be eaten first. Very few of the other delectable foods which lure children from their balanced meals are actually harmful. It is the fact that they are allowed to be substituted for the stamina-building foods that does the irreparable damage. Candy, cake and ice cream are not to be banned and by allotting a special place for them in the daily diet and making sure that they are preceded by adequate meals you will find that the desire for them is automatically reduced to a safe minimum. Don't refuse your youngster the companionable ice cream cone or soda with a pal after school; but do insist that he eat every bit of his breakfast and lunch before you furnish the wherewithal for this after-school treat.

Breakfast is not only the biggest stumbling block but the most important meal of the school child. He usually has not the time or the appetite for it but, since it is to be followed by the most intense period of concentration of the day, it is really his most important meal. Do not waste time pointing this out. Do, however, insist that he get up in time to eat in a fairly leisurely fashion and then make it such an interesting meal that he can't resist it. The "musts," fruit, cereal and milk, out of the way, try to follow up with a surprise in the form of tempting hot breads, pastries or an egg dish. Sparing amounts of these treats must be served, just enough to work up an appetite for the next day's breakfast. Apply the same general rule to the other meals and you are bound to meet with success.

Clothes For The School

As for the second direct responsibility which you must assume in connection with your child's school career, the business of clothing, it is sometimes underrated. While you can have almost unlimited sway for your own tastes in the garb of your youngest, you will check your own desires if you are wise when your children reach junior and senior high school age. Bound up with the problem of dress, the experts say, are many of the important emotional adjustments of the adolescent. At this age young people have a stronger desire than at any other time for conformity in dress. If they are normal they desire to move in groups and take refuge from many of the unspoken storms of adolescence in their utter identification with "the crowd."

This means that they must be allowed for the most part to select their own clothes. Do not be irritated with them or over-scrupulous in your criticism of yourself if you cannot sympathize with their tastes. It is humanly impossible. If you doubt it, look in a photograph album at yourself and your classmates and consider the garb in which you felt perfectly at ease.

Girls present the biggest problem with the variety of their clothes, but boys' fashions move in the same cycles and you may not be able to keep your youngest son in knee pants as long as you did his oldest brother. As an adult you know that the shock of seeing him in his first long trousers will wear off in a very short time. The important thing to remember is that each delay in adopting the change is an agony for him, something that sets him apart from his natural element, something that deters his best initiative, perhaps. This is exactly contrary to your wishes for him.

Suede jackets that must easily, loud plaids and stiff, unyielding leather coats, scuffed out shoes and socks that make you shudder in the same cycles in the laundry hamper all these are the trappings of normal living. You can rejoice in that fact, if you will. Over-indulgence is not recommended but your tolerance is a vital factor in the rounded development of your child. You are, after all, raising him to take his place gracefully among, not apart from, his companions.

As stylists give more and more attention to the growing girl and as your daughter becomes more educated in the value of clothes that are really becoming to her, your problem with her should diminish. You have yet to be patient, however, with the idiosyncrasies of dress in which she will indulge. Her sweater may have been intended to button in the front, and that is reason enough to you for wearing it that way; but she will button it up the back and can you honestly say that it doesn't look quite as nice? If she feels poised and care-free with it that way, she is off to a day of more initiative and better accomplishment than she would be otherwise and both of you will gain accordingly. She will probably push up the long sleeves of the same sweater as though she were about to wash the dishes. It doesn't seem quite refined to you, but remember that it's a point of style to her.

What She'll Be Wanting

This fall and winter she is going to want a short chinchilla coat that will look to you at first glance as though it were one left over by her baby brother. She will probably want a green skirt under it worn with, of all things, a brilliant red sweater. In fact she will want inordinate quantities of red and green and large, large plaids if the fashion notes are correct. Your consolation must be that if her health is excellent and her grooming perfect she will probably look charming in anything she wears. It is only when she looks this way that she will be sufficiently self-assured to forget her appearance. Not until then will she be free to make strides to scholastic and social success.

Sometimes the first school days are very warm and cold summer fare does nicely for the lunches you must serve to your hungry boys and girls. A hot dish, however, is tempting and comforting to young people who feel the strain of new adjustments and re-establishment in the routine from which they have been free. That tasty standby, Spanish Rice, is nourishing served with a salad, fruit and cookies. Milk or cocoa should, of course, be an accepted part of each luncheon.

Spanish Rice

- 1/2 cup rice
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 medium sized onion, chopped
- 1/2 green pepper, chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 3 medium sized tomatoes
- 1 cup boiling water

Wash rice and brown lightly in butter with onion and green pepper in a fairly large skillet. Add seasonings, tomatoes cut in eighths and peeled, and boiling water. Cover closely and simmer for thirty minutes or longer until rice is tender and liquid has been absorbed. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking.

Here is a tempting method of serving some of the delicious vegetables which are new and crispy in the markets these days; a good way, too, of giving your young people a large portion of their daily vitamin quotient.

Filled Acorn Squash

- 3 cups cooked vegetables
- 3 acorn squash
- butter, salt, pepper
- 4 1/2 tablespoons butter
- 4 1/2 tablespoons flour
- 3 cups milk

Prepare celery, carrots, brussels sprouts and string beans (or any other combination of fresh vegetables that you prefer); cook in boiling salted water until tender but not mushy. Wash and halve the squash; remove seeds, dot with butter and season with salt and pepper. Place the halves in a large skillet; cover the bottom of the skillet with water; cover tightly and cook until tender, about thirty minutes. Make a white sauce in the usual way with butter melted and blended with flour, milk gradually added (while pan is removed from fire) and cook until thick. To this sauce add the cooked vegetables and heat carefully. Fill squash halves and serve piping hot.

Preceded by a clear bouillon, this dish may be followed with a fairly rich dessert as a special treat.

Brenda Joyce, John Payne and Walter Brennan, that fire-eatin' horse-lovin' old codger who was "Kentucky's" Academy Award-winning star, are among those featured in Darryl F. Zanuck's Technicolor production of "Maryland," coming Sunday to the Capitol Theatre. "Maryland" captures the spirit, romance and beauty of the proud South and is climaxed by the most spectacular steeplechase in America—the Maryland Hunt Cup Race. The co-feature is the new Nick Carter adventure "Phantom Raiders" starring Walter Pidgeon and Florence Rice.

Newark Firm Is Awarded Contract for Fence

The contract for the construction of the new chain-link fence at the Municipal Athletic Field at the Turf Bog went to the second lowest bidder at a special meeting of the Board of Commissioners Tuesday afternoon when it was deemed that the low man was not a "responsible bidder." The unsuccessful bidder, Vito DeFeo of the Star Wire Works of 81 Mt. Prospect avenue, attended the meeting and made thinly-veiled threats of court action and trouble for the fence builders who landed the contract. DeFeo's bid was thrown out on three counts: that he had put a stipulation in his bid which changed the original proposal, that he could show no sample of work which he had done in fence building and that he was not permitted to sublet the contract. Guardian Fence Company of Newark received the contract at $5,287 and promised to have the work completed in three weeks. This means, said Town Engineer Sheehan, that the work will be finished before the high school football season opens, should it be decided that the Belboys will use the field this fall. DeFeo, who bid $3,189 when the bids were opened a week previous and referred to Sheehan for further study, specified in his bid that he must have an "open shop" which he further explained in a letter to the board meaning that he must have non-union labor. All others who submitted prices, the commissioners said, undoubtedly did so on the basis of union prices and, therefore, DeFeo's bid was not according to original specifications.

erful that we shall earn that peace enjoyed by those whose strength commands respect and fear. "Mr. Hartley says we will never go to war with his vote. How easy it would be to maintain peace if war were a matter of voting. Poland, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, Finland and many others did not vote to go to war either. The days of formal declarations of war are passed. When Herr Hitler decides to invade this continent he will not wait for Mr. Hartley to oblige him by voting, nor would the failure of Mr. Hartley to vote postpone his visit. "Mr. Hartley seeks to explain his attendance at the Springfield pro-Nazi meeting on July 15 by stating that he had been attending such meetings for years, and that he wanted to show his tolerance and was not out to capture votes. "If he has attended such meetings he knew that at previous meetings the swastika was displayed. He was publicly warned of the character of this meeting before he went, so as a sop to patriotic Americans he stipulated that the swastika be not displayed, so that flag was obligingly kept under cover. TUESDAY night was Tuesday night in most places but at "The Well," Bloomfield avenue, West Caldwell, Tuesday night was like New Year's Eve. It was like New Year's Eve because every body and his brother had heard that Nora Williams was scheduled to open an engagement there. It was more like New Year's Eve because it was the birthday of Jay Talbot, the manager, and the birthday dinner that started at 7 was still going on at 11. And it was still more like New Year's Eve because Will Oakland dropped in and was "drafted" into singing by popular demand.

And right here we would like to go down as saying that no one, anywhere, or at any time can ever has sung the numbers "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" or "Danny Boy" better than Will Oakland. Bob Wyder, who owns "The Well," must be very proud of its success, for, in the short while Mr. Wyder has operated the place under that name it has become extremely important in the night life field of northern New Jersey. His presentation of Miss Williams whose songs and personality are so pleasantly contagious; his carefully planned dinner and supper menus; and his selection of such popular barmen as Nick, Harry and Ray, are a few of the things that are making "The Well" the spot for new faces almost every night. One more word or two on "The Well." Don't miss Nora Williams!

DOWN Route 6 to Route 202 and then left to 10 is a different sort of phenomena — Alderney Dairy's popular Milk Barn. At the Alderney Barn Wednesday we talked with a gentleman who just returned from Lisbon, but he had been staying in Paris. As he ate spoonful after spoonful of Alderney coffee ice cream he explained how ice cream with a dinner in Paris is becoming as rare as a pearl in your oyster. He blames the Nazis. When ice cream is served at all it comes the size of a butter ball.

Most of the ingredients that went into the delicious French vanilla that American tourists remember, are going to Germany now, but not to make ice cream, because Berlin doesn't have ice cream, either. His Alderney coffee ice cream gone, our friend ordered some Alderney vanilla and chocolate. "This Alderney cream is mighty good," he said. "I was here the day the Alderney Barn opened; left for London the next. This is the first time since I've had a good plate of cream!"

THE World's Fair may be on its last legs with but a few weeks left for another glimpse of its wonders, but Busch & Sons' new store at Broad and William streets, Newark, will continue to dazzle

Church of Christ, Scientist

"Man" is the lesson-sermon subject for Sunday in all Christian Science Churches and Societies. The golden text is: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ."

Among the lesson-sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "Wherefore thou art not more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ."

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father, and Life is the law of his being."

SPORTS

BEFORE YOUR EYES

By Joe Duval

There were two kinds of candidates at the first practice of the high school gridders Monday morning: those who were determined to make the grade, and those who didn't give a hoot. All during that first tough drill that Larry Gates and Wilho Winika put them through, the difference stood out like a sore thumb. The conscientious were in there with all they had in every exercise. Others spent most of their time figuring out ways of getting around the danged things.

Practically everybody who came out for football Monday would like to be on a winning team, but not all of them cared very much for going through all the necessary paces. You can't have a house without a foundation.

The first meeting was dreaded by coach and team alike. Larry was on a bed of nails worrying about what kind of a squad was going to show up and the boys were ready for anything in the game line. What we don't know may not be able to hurt us but it can cause us a lot of worry.

But we hear that both sides, after close scrutiny, were much reassured. The team has accepted Larry Gates as an "all right guy," as one griddier put it.

Larry, on the other hand, was somewhat surprised when quite a few big men turned up. He had been led to believe that if he saw more than two 170-pounders he would know he was in the wrong town.

Gates is up a tree when you ask him to put a name on the system he uses. The nearest thing to a name might be the Gates Special. He attended so many different coaching schools that what he now uses is a conglomeration of the best features of them all.

No Jackpot

You can't hit the jackpot all the time as Nereid found out Sunday. After showing up the entire New York Rowing Association two weeks ago, the locals didn't even cause a flurry in Philly.

What they wanted in the Quaker City was not oarsmen but logrollers. The Schuylkill was so filled with washed out coalmens from upstate that the committee was considering changing the name of the regatta to obstacle race.

The spectators were well pleased with the majority of the conditions, however, because they made the times so fast and close. Five of the races ended with less than one second separating first and second—and two of these were very unusual because they were eight-oared shell events.

POOR WEEKEND FOR NEREIDS

Oarsmen Found Schuylkill River At Philly Quite Rough On Sunday

The Philadelphia story is a sad one for Nereid Boat Club. Nine times this year the Orange and Blue has tried for victories on the Schuylkill in Quakertown and nine times come away empty-handed. Sunday four entries in the Middle Atlantic States forty-ninth annual regatta there failed to come home with a win. Five entries there on the Fourth of July were also shut out.

The Schuylkill was on a ram-page Sunday afternoon. It was very high from a week of rain and running at express train speed. Times in the twenty-one events were all from one to three minutes under normal. The river was filled with floating debris and trees which had been uprooted far upstream and during the course of the afternoon four of the fragile shells were wrecked when they crashed into the driftwood.

Bill Fehon of Newark, a former Belleville and a '38 graduate of the high school, came closest to coping a trophy in the junior single gigs. He jumped out to an early lead and maintained his advantage nearly all the way down. Frank Biernat of the Fairmount Rowing Association of Philadelphia caught him about 200 yards from the finish, however, and beat him by four seconds. The two were about five lengths ahead of the rest of the field.

Salomon Was Third
Sid Salomon, also of Newark, garnered third place in the association singles behind Bernie Ryan of Fairmount and Frank Shephardson of Malta Boat Club of Philadelphia.

The Zink brothers each finished fourth in their events, Homer in the senior singles and Darrell in the intermediate singles. Darrell particularly was troubled by a large mass of driftwood directly in his path.

Little Joe Angval of Ravenswood Boat Club, who has inherited Joe Burk's spot at the top of the heap since the latter's retirement but who always pushed the big boy, was the standout of the regatta with three victories.

Boy's Arm Is Badly Cut When He Falls

Frank Rossi, thirteen, of 345 Main street, was badly injured when he slipped while playing on the porch of Louis DeJesse of 105 Ralph street Monday evening. The boy caught his right arm on a cleat which is used for the rope of a flagpole. Twenty stitches were taken in his arm at St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, and he was taken home.

H. S. GRIDDER NOW WITH BEARS

Frank Stellatella, former local youth who was graduated from Lafayette last June, bows in as a professional with the Newark Grid Bears Sunday night when the Chicago Bears of the National League are opposed at Newark City Stadium on Bloomfield avenue. The game starts at 8:30.

Stellatella, who resides at 15 Ernest street, Nutley, starred for three years on the Belleville High School line and then spent a year at Perkiomen Prep. He has been a regular guard the past three years at Lafayette. Weighing 198, Stellatella has impressed Coach Gene Konzani who led Newark to an American Pro Football Association championship last fall.

Seventy-five Gridsters Report for Opening Football Practice

Many New Faces Appear As Squad And New Coach, Larry Gates, Become Acquainted

Spadework on the 1940 edition of Bellboy football began bright and early Monday morning when sixty-two young hopefuls turned out on Clearman Field for the first practice of the year. Larry Gates met the boys before the drilling began and outlined briefly his aims and purposes to them and explained how he was going to do things. With only three weeks remaining before the opener with Barringer and with Bloomfield scheduled for the following week, competition will be keen for places on the squad. Several additional men reported on Tuesday and yesterday, bringing the total number out so far to somewhere around seventy-five.

The new mentor turned the reins over to Assistant Coach Wilho Winika Monday morning for an intensive two-hour stretch of exercising to work the summer's kinks out of muscles and to begin hardening exercises.

The squad was back again that afternoon for more trimming and to start on the fundamentals of blocking, passing and kicking. Gates showed the Bellboys a few new tricks about stance and some new angles on blocking. Winika took some of them to one side for charging and pulling out of the line. Before the afternoon was over end hopefuls were also going down under punts.

Scrimmage Next Week
Tuesday the Zebras got the first of their new plays. Gates plans a double practice for Saturday and expects to be able to start scrimmaging early next week. Blackboard drills are also planned for several evenings in the near future.

Larry was not too disappointed with the number and the size of the turnout Monday.

"Of course," he said, "it's too early to say anything about the prospects, but if everybody works for it we should be able to do fairly well this year and lay solid groundwork for next."

There was nothing spectacular in the showing of any of the men in the first few days, he said, but several of them showed promise. Real judgment will not be ready until scrimmage starts.

"There is not a great deal of experience on the squad," he said. Larry was right. Most of the candidates are new to Bellboy football and some of them new to football entirely. There are not more than a handful of varsity veterans and only one regular back. Several vets did not show up Monday but were expected out within a day or two.

One of Larry's main ambitions is to have a freshman squad at the high school. His main difficulty at the present time is to find a coach for it. The three men on the staff are needed for the varsity and cannot be spared. A frosh squad, in Larry's opinion, would be the best guarantee for the future.

Alarm Frightens Prowlers

Prowlers were frightened away from the Bell Tavern at 97 Washington avenue shortly after 5 Monday morning when the burglar alarm went off. Officers Winfield and Dunn, who investigated, reported that the rear door had been tampered with in an effort to gain admittance.

OARSMEN START ELIMINATIONS

Battle Opens For Nereid Championship And Brett Trophy

Twenty Nereid oarsmen will begin this week the long process of eliminating each other, all pointing to September 22 when the finals of the club championships will be held on the Passaic. It is an annual process and eliminations take about three weeks to complete. In all rounds up to the finals it will be two-out-of-three to advance but the final will be only one race.

The defending and two former champions are in the field. Sid Salomon will be trying for his second straight crown. Also listed in the first round are Walt Nicol, who held it in 1935, and Homer Zink Jr., who won in 1938 and 1939. At stake will be the C. Leverich Brett trophy and a gold medal.

Zink, Al Walker, Gerry Rhoades and Warren Everson drew first-round byes. The first round pairings are:
Frank Siegler vs. Gunther Meder; Bill Fehon vs. Walt Nicol; Howard McMaster vs. Sid Salomon; Bill Juell vs. Roger Inglis; Darrell Zink vs. Vic Cooke; Bill Jones vs. Les Burnley; Harry Leiss vs. Ted Miller; Elmer Gibbs vs. Jack Juell.
