

MIELE EXPLAINS MAIN PURPOSE OF PURGE LIST

Seeking To Clean Registration Books of Disqualified Voters

Anthony P. Miele, Essex County superintendent of elections and commissioner of registration, in directing attention to the publication on another page of The News of the names to be purged from the permanent registration lists, made the following statement yesterday:

"The publication of this list is required by law and represents names of persons on the permanent registration list in Belleville who as a result of a careful investigation by house-to-house canvass conducted by my office have been found to have died, disqualified to vote or are improperly registered. The term 'improperly registered' includes persons shown by the canvass who do not actually reside at the registered address or who have never resided at the registered address. The names are published by street address so that a person who has reason to suspect that his name is on the list will only have to look at the names listed under the street from which he is registered. Preceding each name there will be a capital letter 'A', 'B', 'C', or 'D'. Each letter stands for a definite reason, as indicated in the notice at the head of the list.

"No person need be alarmed because of the number of names in the published list. These names represent the accumulation since permanent registration became effective in 1927 of people who have since died, have been disqualified, have moved out of the county or moved and failed to transfer to their new actual residence. The investigators were carefully selected and I have the utmost confidence in the result of the check-up, but it must be remembered that in investigating and checking four hundred thousand registrants there is bound to occur some error.

Chance To Prove It

"No person who is properly registered need have any fear of being deprived of his right to vote. Any person whose name is listed and who feels he is properly registered is invited to call at Room 421, Hall of Records, Newark, immediately and he will be given an opportunity to prove that he is properly registered. Failure to appear and submit proof prior to October 22 will result in the transfer of the permanent registration forms of listed persons to the inactive file or in the placing of names on the peremptory ordered list, as the case may be. After this date any person feeling aggrieved may apply to any Common Pleas Judge for a court order to permit him to vote.

"It is interesting to point out that the original investigation showed a total of approximately 75,000 names improperly registered in Essex County and as a direct result of the canvass approximately 15,000 persons returned address transfer cards, properly filled out, which had been left by the investigators. Exactly 59,343 letters, together with return post cards, were mailed to these registrants and of this number approximately 40,000 were returned by the postal authorities because addressees did not live at the registered addresses.

"The number of returned post cards received from persons claiming to reside at the registered address was less than 3,500 and in many of these cases the persons admitted that incorrect information was given to the investigators or it was refused entirely. All this certainly attests to the accuracy of the check-up. Because of this double check it is my opinion that very few names of persons properly registered appear in the published list and the purpose of the list is to provide a still further check.

Will Be Easy Job

"When this purge is completed and the registration lists are cleared of 'dead wood,' it will be an easy matter to keep the registry lists up to date. Whereas in previous years approximately 60,000 to 80,000 sample ballots were returned by the postal authorities which resulted in these registered names being placed on the challenge list, with the completion of this purge and the elimination of the accumulated dead wood from the registry list it is expected that the returned sample ballots will be materially less and this, of course, will mean a great saving to the taxpayers in the printing and postage for thousands of sample ballots, and printing of large challenge lists.

"Considering the fact that this office through its investigators has been in direct or indirect contact with 400,000 registrants it is remarkable how little criticism (Continued on Page 2)

Police Say Youth Admits Thefts at Factories

Thefts at the Beisler-Weidman Company at 233 Cortlandt street and at New Jersey Sprayed Products Company at 243 Cortlandt street were believed solved yesterday with the arrest of Albert Grosskreutz, seventeen, of 84 Ralph street. Detective Captain Leighton said that the boy had confessed to the thefts.

Grosskreutz is alleged to have robbed the Beisler-Weidman plant twice. The first time the copper gutter was stripped from the outside of the building and the second time twenty feet of copper flashing. Total amount of the damage, according to company officials, was $400.

A hand-tooled Mexican brief case valued at $50 was stolen when the New Jersey Sprayed plant was broken into.

YOUNG THIEVES ARE CAUGHT

Juveniles Confess Many Auto Thefts to Police; Three Arrested

Scores of thefts of materials from automobiles in Belleville in recent weeks were solved yesterday when Captain Leighton and Detective McGinnis took into custody three boys between the ages of ten and thirteen. The boys are all residents of Belleville and police are expecting the arrest of a fourth member of the gang, aged fourteen.

They were arrested Tuesday night in the act of stealing a brief case from a car in an Elwood place. When questioned the boys quickly bragged of all the "jobs" they had pulled in their two-week career in crime. They readily confessed to entering scores of cars and turned all the loot over to the police. Large quantities of cameras, flashlights, sun glasses and other materials are being held at police headquarters awaiting identification by their owners. Leighton said that he believes the boys were also mixed up in several breaks into houses. Two of the boys are brothers.

NURSES TO HELP YOUNG GIRLS

Red Cross Staff To Give Course For Eighth Grade Youngsters

"Little Mothers" classes will be started in four schools during the next few weeks, probably not later than early in November. They will be under the direction of the school nurses, Angele Chapman, Mary Miller, Ethel Akersten and Helen Gilsenan. The classes will be open to girls in the eighth grades between the ages of twelve and fourteen. Instruction will be given in the care of the baby, cleaning bottles, preparation of food and other special household duties that often fall to the lot of the big sister in the home.

It is part of her duty to act as little mother to the younger members of the family where there is employment or other causes which necessitate the mothers having to be away from home. The four nurses each has two or three schools under her jurisdiction. Each nurse rotates the schools in which the classes will be held. The courses will continue for ten weeks and girls who have attended regularly and whose interest in the course has been sufficient will be eligible to receive certificates from the State Department of Health.

MOBILIZE SCOUTS AT TOWN HALL IN HALF HOUR

350 Boy, Girl and Cub Scouts Answer Emergency Test Alarm

Yesterday was M-Day for local Boy, Girl, Sea and Cub Scouts. Without warning yesterday morning at 9:30 Scout Commissioner Clark sent out the call and within half an hour 350 scouts and scouters had been assembled at Town Hall. It was all part of a national plan. With the U. S. defense-conscious, the Boy Scouts of America have laid plans for practice "emergency mobilizations" of scouts all over the country. Belleville was the first in this region to inaugurate the plan.

The signal went from the commissioner to the assistant commissioners to the scoutmasters to the assistant scoutmasters to the scout leaders. Soon uniformed boys were dashing to different parts of the town rounding up those in their patrol. The word flew over town like wildfire and scouts of all ages began to converge on Town Hall.

Clark complimented the boys and girls on the rapidity with which they assembled. He estimated that there were 350 at the Town Hall. Nearly a hundred more assembled in Silver Lake and sent messengers on bicycles to the municipal building to learn the cause of the call and fifty cubs assembled at Greylock parkway to await further orders.

The town was then split into districts and the various troops sent to cover them with literature announcing the Community Chest drive beginning November 1. Clark said that the first report on completion of the work were Troop 375 BSA, and the Girl Scouts in districts four and nine. They returned in three-quarters of an hour. The entire town was covered in an hour and a half.

The first troop to report to Town Hall was 333 of Wallace & Tiernan Company. Nine of the boys appeared twelve minutes after the call went out and the troop was represented 100 per cent (with the exception of two boys who were out of town) within half an hour. The troop is under the direction of Elwood Russell, but is in the midst of re-organization at the present time and has no scoutmaster.

The Boy Scouts were under the direction of Clark, the Girl Scouts under Mrs. May Holden, and the Cubs under Harold Ross.

HOUSE-TO-HOUSE DRIVE PLANNED

300 Workers Will Aid In Community Chest Campaign; Charlton Leader

The house-to-house division of the Community Chest drive will begin its canvass November 1. The captains of the teams will meet every Monday evening at 8 in the home of drive chairman Frank Chambers of 60 Perry street. According to John Charlton, chairman of the house-to-house division, the purpose of the meetings is to discuss the problems which will be met and to allocate workers to the different sections of the town.

Charlton said that more than 300 workers have already pledged their assistance in the drive which will last two weeks and during which 10,000 visits will be made. The number of workers represents an increase of fifty over last year.

Many more volunteer workers are desired, Charlton declared as he made an appeal to any citizen who will be able to see at least ten of his neighbors. Volunteers may contact Charlton at Belleville 2-2266-M.

All of the members offered their cooperation.

Recorder Everett B. Smith presided over the installation of the club's new officers and in his address sounded the keynote of the organization which is to promote harmony and cooperation among the members of the bar who are practicing in Belleville. He cited examples of the lack of harmony and the detriment that it has been to the lawyer and client alike. Edward J. Abramson, who was installed as the president, pointed out in his remarks that he had desired such an organization for some years and that it had prompted him to start agitation for the formation of it.

Other officers installed were Thomas C. D'Avella, vice-president; Paul DeHagana, secretary; Nicholas J. Colaninno, treasurer; Bernard E. McBride, Max Schwartz and Recorder Smith, trustees. An attendance committee was named which includes Herbert F. Fost, Colaninno and D'Avella.

After the business session had been completed Town Attorney Keenan spoke on the procedure regarding town legislation, describing how the library of ordinances is maintained and how it may be consulted. He also discussed sales of town-owned property, the usual routine connected with tax title foreclosures and the correct method of submitting resolutions to the Board of Commissioners.

U.S. AGENTS NAB LOCAL MAN

Silver Lake Resident Accused Of Selling Phony $10 Bills

A Silver Lake man was nabbed this week for his part in a counterfeit ring which was broken up by Federal Secret Service agents with the assistance of the Newark police. Angelo Barbarossa, alias "The Duke," of 64 Franklin street, is awaiting arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Holland on the charge of passing counterfeit $10 notes.

Barbarossa was arrested Saturday in Newark by police and was questioned by Fred W. Gruber, supervising agent for the Secret Service. Gruber said that men who had been recently arrested as passers of $10 counterfeit bills had been quizzed concerning the wholesaler who had furnished the spurious money to them. This led to the arrest of the Silver Lake man.

He was identified on Monday by two Wilkes-Barre, Pa., men who claimed that Barbarossa was the man who had given them the money. Barbarossa has implicated Ralph C. Carbone of Seventh avenue, Newark, as the man who had sold him the bills. Carbone was arrested Monday and is being held in $3,000 bail by Commissioner Holland for Federal Grand Jury action.

Registration For Draft Ran Smoothly; About 3,200 Enrolled

John P. Dailey Named Chairman Of Draft Board; Election Workers Commended For Work

Local men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-six quietly went about the task yesterday of registering for conscription and the boards in the nineteen districts closed their books at 9 last night. They reported that the day had passed without incident and that the tremendous task of registering the draftees had been carried out without a hitch. Official figures were not available last night on the total number registered because all figures were turned over to County Clerk Gates' office for checking but local officials estimated that between 3,200 and 3,300 had been registered. This estimate was based on the returns for four districts which showed an average registration of 170 which for the nineteen districts would give a total of 3,230.

Ninety per cent of the registrants had given their life histories in the various districts by 6 p. m. The last hour was quiet in comparison to what had been anticipated. Approximately the same number were registered between noon and 6 as between 7 a. m. and noon.

MAY NOT NEED TO CONSCRIPT

Congressman Tells Republican Women Voluntary Enlistments Are Heavy

Volunteers are being accepted by the Army so fast at the present time that it may not be necessary to conscript men, Representative Fred A. Hartley, Jr., told the open meeting of the Women's Republican Club Thursday. He made the point in defense of his opposition to the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill.

Mrs. David Sundheimer, president of the club, presided at the meeting. The Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach gave the invocation. Other speakers were Chester Apy of New York, noted economist, who spoke for Senator W. W. Barbour, Assemblyman Frank J. Platts, Assemblywoman Olive Sanford, Mayor Herbert Krumschmitt of Irvington and Mrs. Marion Bumpstead, candidate for freeholder.

Hartley denied categorically the "vitriolic" attacks made on him by his opponents. He said that he opposed the conscription bill because he did not believe that men who had been established in careers should be conscripted, but rather that young men who had not yet started their careers should receive the army training since it would not interfere with their future.

Platts spoke for Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, candidate for governor, and said that the nominee had contributed to the welfare of the state by his fight against illegal voting. He charged, while condemning the burning of poll books in Hudson County, that it is now apparent that Lester H. Cio would have been our present governor had not those corrupt practices been used against him.

No, it wasn't SPEED we were after

At 20 miles an hour this Buick uses only 7.4% of its available power—at 30 only 9.7%—at 50, less than one-sixth, and so on.

The balance is available for acceleration, for pull on the hills, for overcoming sand, mud, gravel or other tough going.

You can see for yourself how this tremendous reserve, instantly available, eliminates much of your need for shifting to lower gears, hence makes unnecessary any involved device for this purpose.

It does even more—for with all this power, we can use a more economical gear ratio in our standard top speed.

And that means that all the time you travel in high—from 15 miles an hour on up—you are getting the equivalent of overdrive or fourth-speed economy without mechanical complication.

In consequence: miles per gallon go up as much as 10% to 15%.

This husky 165-horsepower giant actually gives more gasoline economy than our 107-horsepower engine of a year ago.

At 50 it consumes no more fuel than the same-sized engine of conventional design drinks up at 30.

The whys and wherefores of such performance are best understood when you have an engine to look at and someone to answer your questions about it.

Here we can say that two things account for all this good — FIREBALL® design that gets more power out of every gallon of gasoline and Compound Carburetion that gives your engine two distinct ranges of power.

Each of these is important enough to call for personal investigation.

But get off on the right start early—see your Buick dealer now about the year's most important engineering advance.

THE mighty straight-eight that propels the 1941 Buick CENTURY, ROADMASTER and LIMITED, is, we believe, America's most powerful standard-production automobile engine.

That suggests immediately that here is the instrument of great speed—but the fact is it wasn't speed we were after when we built it.

We were shooting for more efficient use of the fuel you burn — more economy, more power, more pick-up—yes, even easier car handling through less frequent need for shifting.

Above all, we were out to cut through a lot of the complications that feature current automobile design, and give you a simpler, sturdier, less involved mechanism.

Consider, for example, just one quality of this great power plant—the tremendous reserve of power it puts at your command.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $935 delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

Vandals Use Ice-Picks
On Auto Tires

Vandals put car owners in the jitters Friday and Saturday nights when several owners reported to police that the tires on their cars had been "ice picked." George E. Martin of 580 Washington avenue said all of his tires had been punctured Friday night. The next day Aaron Winograd of the same address reported that the tires on his and four other cars had been wrecked during the night. Police have been watching the neighborhood but no recurrence has been reported.

FIVE-STAR Recommendations for-the-Week are:
The Blue Door, Route 10, east of Whippany, for delightful food in a quaint setting.

Alderney Milk Barn, farther out on the same route at Morris Plains, easily the most beautiful milk bar in the East.

The Well, Bloomfield avenue, West Caldwell, for food, cocktails, entertainment.

Hotel Robert Treat's cafe-lounge for the most superb chef's pepper steak or oxtail ragout.

THE Blue Door is one of those smaller eating places that has all the exterior earmarks of a tea room, but all of the interior characteristics of a big restaurant, with sea food, steaks and double-decker chops, home-cooked and delicious. There is a miniature bar that has all the intimacy of the Algonquin.

ALDERNEY's milk barn apparently is unaffected by the chill in the air. A steady flow of motor cars call and depart, with peak business over the weekends. The surrounding model Brook-lawn Farm, where Alderney's registered Guernseys graze, is always an added attraction for the visitors.

THE Well's improved interior, connecting the main dining salon with the spacious octagonal cocktail bar by a series of graceful archways has made the room appear twice as commodious and gives The Well one of the most picturesque rooms for fun and food in the Metropolitan district.

IT is always a pleasure to saunter through the Busch store in Newark, and it is next-to-impossible not to make a purchase, for there are so many things from intriguing wristwatch bands to tricky cuff links, and smart, ultra modern collar pins, it simply breaks your heart not to have them.

MANY paragraphs would be necessary to tell about the Robert Treat's fine food, for the chef's pepper steak and oxtail ragout are only two of the famous items. Some time when you want to smack your lips in real culinary delight order Prime Rib of Beef with Mashed Potatoes. And if you don't smack your lips you have the privilege of smacking me — by mail, if you don't mind!

SHORT shorts: Alderney's new homogenized milk gives every member of the family equal parts of the cream, for the new process spreads the cream line throughout the bottle. Ask your Alderney man to leave you a bottle; it's so different it's making milk-making history. And don't forget that Alderney ice cream cakes for Halloween will be quite the thing. Just call the Alderney offices, Market 2-3000, or order from the Alderney route man. The Well's manager, Jay Talbot, is on vacation. The Treat's vice-president and general manager, Lloyd Robinson arrives home from the Coast this weekend. Adv.

Stylish Designs In Fur Coats

Spotted furs are of prime importance this year in furs for all around wear. The civet cat jacket illustrated (circle) with detachable hood is typical. Comfy for sports wear, it is also chic when worn without the hood over a suit or woolen dress. Leopard is the running mate in popularity. Pale gray kidskin (right) has moved out of the sports class and is made on less boxy lines. Many of the full length coats like this one are slightly fitted and have the collarless neckline which is in high favor.

Short jackets of fluffy furs are again striking their note of luxury. They are much more graceful, however, since they have grown less "chunky." Different types of fox and the creamy Guanaco (left) make them desirable afternoon and evening wraps over your dressier clothes.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

Last week we pointed out the sense of security which, it seems to us and to other and more truly authoritative writers, may be placed in the vote of the average American citizen. This is not the only fundamental of our national politics today that offers reassurance; and, to judge by our personal sensations, women in particular are very much in need of a sound basis for adopting an attitude of high courage and belief in the ultimate success of our nation. If there is one question which the majority of us have neglected and which, if we are truthful, we will admit baffling, it is the question of party affiliation.

Do you honestly ever go out to vote without feeling vaguely guilty that you have given so little real consideration to the motives of the campaign which has been waged by your party and the reason for the existence of the opposing group?

There is hardly any need for fear even if the answer to this query is in the affirmative. For it is gloriously true that both major parties in the United States have been founded on the same general principles and have been known to disagree in a disastrous manner only once since their inception. This was in the time of events which culminated in the Civil War. Clearly the hard-earned lesson has never been forgotten.

Why Have Parties?

Why then do we have parties if our general aims and ideals converge? Simply because parties are concerned primarily with the business of government. A slightly deaf ear turned to the exhortations and rhetoric of even your favorite standard bearer may enable you to concentrate better on the qualifications of your party to best handle the business of the nation. This is not so idealistic but is a much more effective method of making your choice, and one which will guarantee you greater security.

Regardless of the accumulative good or ill done in the past century and a half by the major parties, the fact remains that the enormous business of governing without totalitarianism has been accomplished only because they have functioned and fought each other in a healthy struggle for existence. This struggle, which sometimes takes on the disillusioning proportions of an empty show, is, in reality, the life-blood of our democratic form of government.

The scornful and sometimes vindictive "they" that we employ every time we wish to register dissatisfaction with national affairs really refers to our two major parties. For you cannot cite anything which is officially accomplished at our seat of government that does not involve both, so inextricably are they bound together. Reflection then will prove that there is an excellent argument for the existence of both parties and that while affiliation and loyalty to one or the other is our normal and happy responsibility, we are never to forget that both have done their share in maintaining the balance which permits us to live in a free moral state.

Show Strength By Voting

It seems an auspicious time for women to consider these thoughts and discuss them with their young people of voting age. The great two-party system is the only one which has enabled democracy to survive. It therefore deserves our thanks and we can best show these through voting courageously and loyally for whichever side honestly appears to be best fitted for the business at hand. The sum total will represent the true American decision which, even if it does not fulfill your party desires, will ultimately fulfill your Americanism.

Is there any time of year when the words "Christmas Eve" do not cause you to draw an inward breath of anticipation, to feel the gentle coolness of snowy air, to hear the bells and music of the season, to catch the glint of tinsel? And do you not walk in imagination serenely among your loved ones, rested, groomed and groomed in beauty? Well, that is not and should not be a daydream! With proper planning it can be a reality.

Take Stock of Values

First you must take stock of the values of Christmas which are paramount to you and your family. The really vital moments of the great season are fleeting, but they are the ones which your children will take into the future for their comfort and joy. Religious, sentimental, comradely thoughts and memory pictures are the real treasures which will outlast materialistic gifts by an enormous margin.

If these are worth anything they are surely worth as much groundwork as you give to your Christmas shopping. In fact it is only by disposing of the latter, as well as the home preparations for the holidays, as promptly as possible that the former can be insured.

There will be school activities in which your children will long for you to share just before Christmas. Surely you can realize that their disappointment if you have not the time to spare will last longer than the memory of the very gift which you may be preparing for them. There will be swift evening shopping trips with your husband who, after all, cannot relinquish his daily routine no matter how strong his desire to share the happy bustle. Is it fair to dim his participation by being too exhausted to join him?

Why bring this up now? Simply because we would encourage as many women as possible to enter into a strong resolve that the coming Christmas will be one after which they will not have to say, "Oh, if I had only had time to enjoy it!" If you have to say that it will mean that you have also dimmed the joy of those whom you are above all anxious to bless.

Needless to say there is no time to be lost. Each shopping trip from now on should contribute at least one gift to your "must" pile. The advantages are many. Stocks are adequate now and merchandise is fresh. If you cannot get an inspiration from touring the stores now, do not expect a miracle in the weeks immediately preceding Christmas. The particular novelties which appear later are not the really lasting gifts that you want to make.

Then there are the gifts which you are making by hand. Don't wish you had made preserves and jellies for those who are not living at home where they can enjoy such dainties. Make them now when fall fruits are at their best. Dolls dressed now, rugs hooked, sweaters knitted or linens monogrammed will all be more perfectly done if you are allowed sufficient time.

Depend upon it there will be some demand for the final effort which fills you with the bursting joy of the season; but do not mar it with neglect of the fundamentals which can be cleared up by starting now!

Those Presidential Polls

The Republicans are learning that one of their toughest nuts to crack in this campaign is to combat a psychological trend which has developed in many places. The statement is frequently heard from people that they intend to vote for Wendell Willkie but have the suspicion that they are casting their vote for a losing cause. Most of this opinion has been based on the much-publicized Gallup poll, the results of which are carried in newspapers throughout the nation. The last Gallup survey showed that President Roosevelt is going to snow Mr. Willkie under a blanket of electoral votes.

The Republicans argue that Dr. Gallup is all wet and point out that he can be just as wrong as the Literary Digest poll of 1936 by which they were completely fooled. That survey, which helped bring about a complete foldup of the Digest, showed that Alf Landon was going to replace Mr. Roosevelt in the White House. We wonder what sort of stand the G.O.P. stalwarts will take if Gallup's report on the forty-eight states scheduled for release tomorrow shows that Willkie is leading the President. What may be a tip-off as to the change in the trend of the Gallup survey was given this week when it was reported that Willkie had passed the President in Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

Momentarily, Dr. Gallup is the white-haired favorite of the New Dealers. However, the Republicans are not without a survey to support their claims of victory. Statistics presented by the Dunn Agency show that Willkie will carry every state except those in the Solid South and perhaps one or two of the border states. The Dunn survey's claim to accuracy is about as good as Dr. Gallup's. It predicted the outcome of the 1932 and 1936 Presidential elections on the nose and added to it the 1938 gubernatorial, senatorial and congressional elections. It came within one-tenth of a point of predicting the margin by which Governor Lehman of New York triumphed over Thomas E. Dewey.

The Republicans have gone even further than that. They now claim to have in their corner the man who did the estimating by which Jim Farley made his prediction that the Republicans would carry only two states in the 1936 election. This expert, the Republicans say, predicts that Willkie will win by a healthy majority.

We do not know what poll to believe and sometimes think that they have a bad influence as well as a good one on the public's mind. There are two situations which we think may greatly influence the final outcome of this election. Wendell Willkie has campaigned more vigorously than any other candidate since William Jennings Bryan. He has been seen by and has talked to several million people. It is bound to carry some weight. On the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt is the chief executive of a nation at a time which is critical in its history. Will the people feel that it is unwise to make a change or will they vote on the premise that the democratic system under which we operate can function as well or better for the safety and preservation of this nation with a turnover in administration?

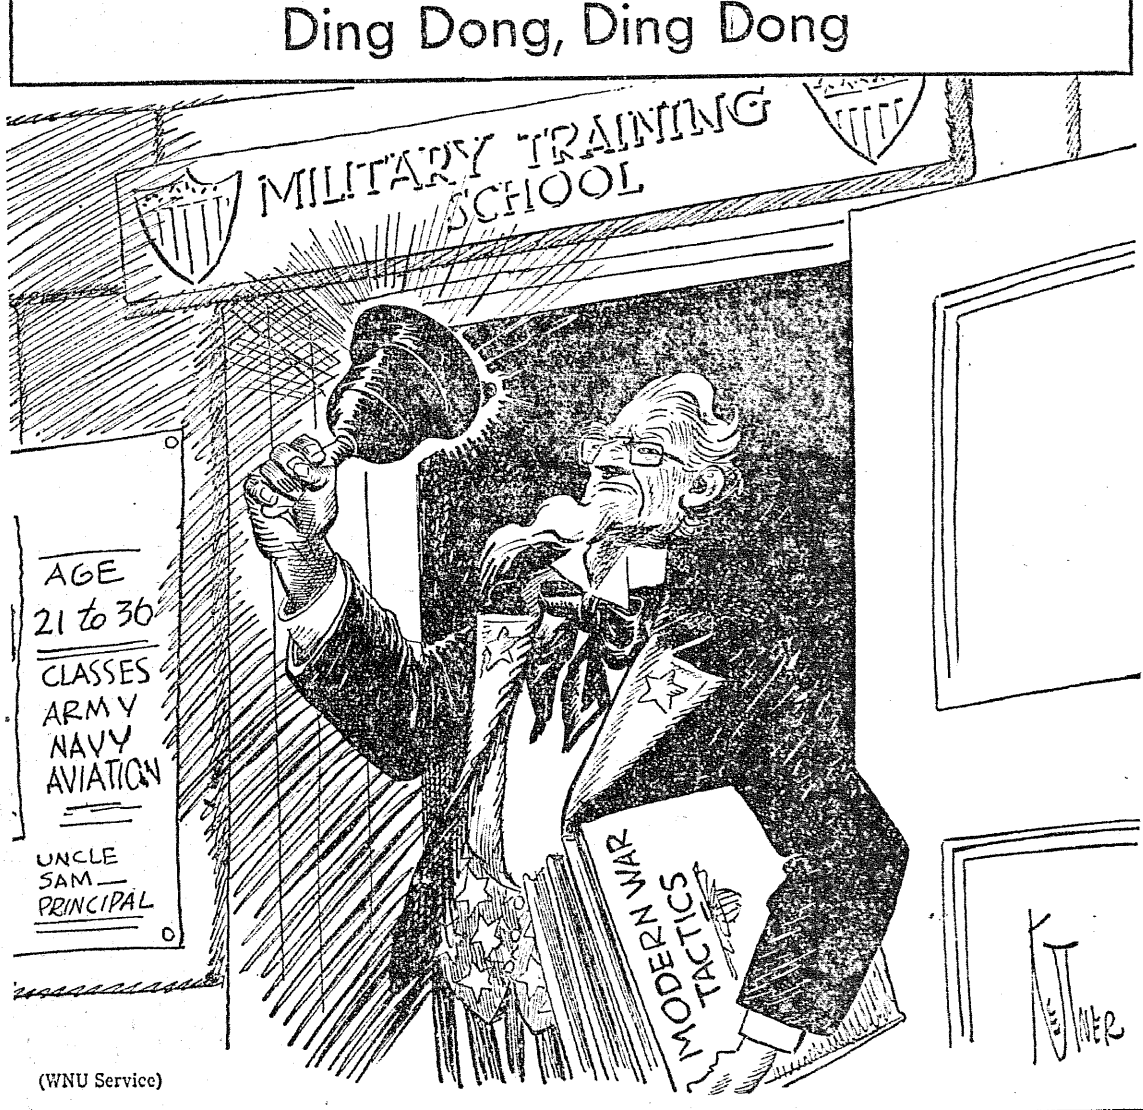

ultimate in automobiles then and compare it with what is being offered to the public today. Refinements and superior safety and driving advantages were then confined for the most part to the higher priced cars, but today the car buyer who by necessity must confine himself to the small car field finds that he can purchase an automobile which has incorporated into it virtually all of the features which can be found in the higher priced products.

The cars this year seem bigger, more spacious and more eye appealing than they were last year. Whether or not there will be new models next fall depends on the capability of the automobile industry to coordinate its new car production program with the pledge that it has made to contribute its aid to the national defense program. But, if there are new models, they will be even more tempting to the buyer than this year's products.

County Clerk Gates was undoubtedly sincere in his opinion that people would have to pull sixteen levers to vote for Presidential candidates, reasoning that some people might wish to split their electoral votes. There probably are some who would do this but they are so much in the minority that it would seem impractical to upset the entire election machinery to cater to them. The decision to give paper ballots to these people is a better plan.

Splitting ballots is receiving considerable attention from New Jersey politicians in this campaign. Some politicians are predicting that Willkie will receive the nod for the Presidency, Senator Barbour will triumph over James Cromwell, but Democrat Charles Edison will top State Senator Hendrickson for the governorship. This prediction is based on the apparent Willkie-Edison support which is talked about.

It may happen but we offer the story of the Clean Government freeholders as an illustration that once people start going down the line most of them do not switch over to another. Split voting of the Willkie-Edison type may be common among those who are close to the political picture but it will be a rarity in elections if the general public follows along behind. The average voter is going to go all the way with Republicans or with the Democrats.

TENTATIVE ROUTE FOR S-3 ROAD RELEASED

Highway To Lincoln Tunnel Will Run 1/4 Mile North of Nutley

The proposed route of Highway S-3 to serve municipalities in this vicinity was released this week. Although Essex County municipalities were apparently pleased with the route which the State Highway Department has tentatively plotted for the $4,000,000 highway, some Passaic County leaders let it be known that they are opposed and will urge Highway Commissioner E. Donald Sterner to re-consider.

Montclair, Glen Ridge, Bloomfield, Nutley, Rutherford, Lyndhurst, Clifton and this town have fought for number of years to have the State construct the road. Two months ago the highway department let the contract to the La Fera Greco Construction Co. of Newark for paving the first section.

As proposed, Route S-3 will run from the junction of Routes 6 and 23 at Little Falls east along the northern boundary of Montclair, Bloomfield and Nutley and then across the Passaic River, running on the Lyndhurst and Rutherford town line. After reaching the easterly end of Rutherford avenue the route will go across the meadows eventually connecting with Route 3 at the entrance to the Lincoln Tunnel. It is estimated that driving time to Broadway and Forty-Second street, New York, from Belleville will be cut to twenty-five minutes when the road is completed. Highway Commissioner Sterner estimates that the road, which will have four lanes, will be completed some time in the spring of 1942.

Route Near Nutley

Plans now in preparation by the State Highway Department indicate that the road will cut across the river just north of the Rutherford Avenue Bridge and then cut southwesterly across Delawareana just north of the Waldrich bleachery. It will run through Delawareana and Allwood less than one-quarter of a mile north of the Nutley town line. Originally, it was understood that after entering Delawareana the road would run over the present Allwood road to the Allwood traffic circle where a four-lane road was built in 1929 for a short distance running through the Reis home development.

As now planned, the highway would be about a quarter-mile south of that road. When the change in route was learned, the Clifton City Council protested to State Senator Oscar Wilensky of Passaic County, claiming that they would lose at least $100,000 in ratables by the new route because it would cut through property on which a builder proposed to erect new homes. Several members of the Allwood Civic Association also joined in the protest.

During the past fortnight other members of the Allwood Association have protested to the City Council that they did not wish to have the highway run through the heart of Allwood and that the tentative route was acceptable to them.

WORK IS SPEEDED ON NEW ROAD

Stretch Linking North Sixth Street With Franklin Avenue Ready Next Summer

The Essex County Highway Department is pushing work on the construction of the link that will connect North Sixth street with Franklin avenue at Belleville avenue. The contractors, the La Fera Greco Construction Co. are also straightening out the corkscrew route which Franklin avenue follows along the property on the Essex County Isolation Hospital. The route when completed will cut from Belleville avenue across the corner of Hendricks Field Golf Course and a section of the hospital grounds to Berkeley avenue where it will link with the existing section of Franklin avenue.

The portion of the road to be constructed from Belleville avenue to Mill street near the site of the Andrew Jergens plant now under construction will border on the golf course property. The construction of a viaduct which will carry the Erie Railroad over the road will be done under separate contract to be let and supervised by the Public Utilities Commission.

P. S. Plans Bus Line

When completed it is expected that the road will provide those residing in the western part of town and in Nutley a shorter and faster route to Newark. The Public Service Coordinated Transport has already made plans to use the route for a new bus line which would come from Nutley and connect with the western terminus of their subway route which ends at Heller parkway, Newark. The company is now completing construction of a spur and station one block north of Heller parkway on North Sixth street which will be the connecting point for the bus line which will traverse the new route.

The Highway Department anticipates that the road will be ready for use some time late next spring.

GUIDANCE PROGRAM WORK INCREASED

Seibert to Conduct Explanatory Course At The Adult School

This is the second year for an organized guidance program in the public schools. The work of assembling facts about the aptitudes and personality traits of pupils was begun last year. These facts are used in counseling with the pupils and helping them plan for the future. One of the emphases this year is to be that of extending guidance services to the community. Graduates of the high school, as well as former pupils, are urged to keep in touch with the guidance office. Parents are invited to come in to discuss the educational and vocational problems of their children. The guidance office telephone is BE 2-4470.

To assist in this service, a course is being offered in the Adult School, beginning October 3, on "Personality and Vocational Adjustment." This study is planned to help out-of-school young people "find themselves" in work and personal relationships and to assist parents in understanding the complexity of the problem of adjustment their children have in the modern world.

The course will include a discussion of personality, aptitudes, and choosing an occupation. The instructor will be Earl W. Seibert, guidance director and psychologist for the Board of Education. He received his M. Ed. degree from Pennsylvania State College in guidance and has matriculated for a Ph. D. degree in psychology at New York University.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

by Meador Wright

Outstanding piece of political news during the past week was the announcement of the huge registration increase in New York City. This increase, which may reach the staggering total of 450,000, has political analysts baffled. Ordinarily it would be considered favorable to President Roosevelt and the Democrats. But the presence of hundreds of Italian-American women in the registration lines points in another direction. It is conceded that a large majority of the new registrants are women, many of them middle-aged or past. Now there are two groups of women in New York who might be expected to be keenly awake to the present international crisis and its influence on the Presidential election. These are the Jewish and Italian groups. But all advance indications point to opposite reactions. Voters of the Jewish faith are overwhelmingly for Roosevelt; those of Italian extraction are expected to vote for Willkie. In New York City there are roughly two millions of the former and one million of the latter.

Since war and peace are issues in this campaign, despite the similarity of views of the two candidates, there is also the possibility that women will vote for Willkie in larger numbers than men because of their traditional "peace" sentiment. It may be that many of the New York women who registered for the first time belong to this group.

The New York situation is thus mentioned at length because it reflects accurately the situation in New Jersey and Essex. Here we have racial minorities strong enough to have an important influence on which way New Jersey goes on November 5. The total Italian population of New Jersey is estimated at roughly 300,000. This means a voting group of some 160,000. No one can be sure how this group will vote this year or just how it voted four years ago.

I have heard Italian-Americans make the following estimates, which sound reasonable: They estimate that three Italian-Americans out of four voted for Roosevelt in 1936. This year they claim that the proportion will be reversed. In other words, whereas Landon got 40,000 of these votes four years ago and Roosevelt 120,000, this year they estimate that Willkie will get 120,000 and Roosevelt 40,000. This would represent a vote shift of 80,000. Assuming all other factors were the same as in 1936, this shift would cut Roosevelt's majority from around 260,000 to 200,000.

Such a shift in voting habits would be little short of revolutionary. Yet I cannot see how the estimates are very much out of the way. All indications point to just such a shift. But the Italian-American group represents only seven per cent of New Jersey's total population. There are other groups much larger. One of these that deserves more attention than it has thus far received is the Irish-American group.

Conversations I have had with Irish-Catholic voters indicate a very sharp shift in opinion from that of four years ago. They are not for Roosevelt to the extent they were then. On the other hand, many of these voters live in Jersey City and will vote Democratic regardless.

All of these factors add up to one thing: uncertainty. This election may be one of the greatest surprises in the history of America. Even the Gallup polls indicate this. States shift from one column to the other in the brief space of three weeks. It looks as though public opinion was too fluid even to be measured by Dr. Gallup's scientific methods.

of the three commissioners were put in circulation. The petition charged that all business of the town had been presented in secret meetings and that the public meetings are perfunctory; that there had been alleged extra expenditures, increased salaries, unnecessary assistants and disbursements; that contracts had been awarded to other than the lowest responsible bidders; that work had been given out without competitive bidding. The tempest was aroused over the budget with the staggering total of $128,380.

Each Year Brings Something Better

One of the strange things about automobile shows is that when we have looked over the new models we are sure that we have seen the superlative in automobiles and that there could not be anything designed or built which would be better. And then the next fall along come the manufacturers with something new which completely overshadows the previous year's models. The cars which will be on display at the Newark Automobile Show starting Saturday night will be no exception.

The designers and engineers have surpassed anything they have ever done before in safety, beauty and almost every phase of performance. The automobile industry is one of the few which each year has a complete turnover and overawes the public with a product which is an improvement over the effort of the previous year.

It is almost laughable to think back about ten years and recall what was the

One Lever Vote For President

The court has decided that Essex County voters may cast their votes for the Presidential candidates by pulling down one lever instead of sixteen. This change was the result of a hard fight made by the Democratic organization after County Clerk Gates had announced that voters would have to pull down sixteen levers. When we first heard of the mechanical manipulations which voters would have to go through to give a vote to Willkie or Roosevelt we made the prediction that there would be many who would just skip that part of the voting.

It is not that we doubted the intelligence of the voters, but we know how little attention many of them pay to the position of parties and names on the machine and how poorly informed they are on what to do before starting to pull down the levers. Frequently we have seen voters start their balloting and then when they were not exactly sure of what next to do, have pulled back the curtain. By that move they lost their privilege to continue voting.

YESTERDAY... and TODAY
Grandmother used a kerosene lamp. She lighted it with matches and refueled and cleaned it daily. It was the best means of home lighting available then, but a bother to maintain. The light provided was inadequate for reading, writing and sewing; very hard on grandmother's eyes.
TODAY... Granddaughter can use an I.E.S. Better Sight lamp... the kind approved by the Illuminating Engineering Society for correct lighting. This type of lamp provides a combination of direct and indirect illumination—light that is soft and restful for eyes.
The beauty of the old-fashioned kerosene lamp is retained in the two I.E.S. table lamps pictured here. Note the familiar pebble glass font, the polished brass standard and the old-fashioned marble base. These lamps go well with early American style furnishings.
There are I.E.S. table and floor lamps in many beautiful styles. Models include a variety of table lamps, 6-way floor lamps, junior floor lamps, swing-arm floor lamps and torchiere lamps.
These lamps will brighten the rooms in your home. Use I.E.S. Better Sight lamps in your home.
I.E.S. LAMPS
I.E.S. lamps are now made in period styles. The I.E.S. table lamp below has the crystal pebble glass font, wick key and marble base.
