

Bellboys And Kearny Both Are Hungry For First Triumph

Blue and Gold Gridders Have Better Defensive Record; Kards Have Lost Six Games

Two teams will be seeking their first win of the season at Clearman Field Saturday and it is a toss-up on who will get there first. Belleville will carry a record of two ties and three trimmings into the game, while Kearny has six straight defeats in the record books against it. Comparison of scores in the three games with common opponents gives Kearny a six-point advantage but a one-touchdown handicap can be overcome without too much trouble and comparative statistics often mean little.

The Cardinals are banking on their far superior weight to hold the Bellboys in check and to try to open up a few holes for a not-too-potent offensive. Belleville and Kearny have only two six-pointers each to their credit this year, both scored on the same opponents — West Side and Irvington. But the Hudson County eleven has been pounded for eighty points to fifty-one scored on the locals.

The Blue and Gold line will be outweighed 177 to 159, a twenty-two-pound advantage for the visitors. The team averages give the Cardinals a 171-155 lead in the

TOWN HAS MORE LAND TO SELL

Get Clear Title For Suburban Land; Good Industrial Development

Title has been cleared and a good deed acquired by the town for the property of the Suburban Investment Company on which the ill-fated Suburban Water Co. has stood for twenty-five years. The title was cleared this week, Mayor Williams announced yesterday, and the eight-acre tract is now ready for sale for industrial development.

The land, which lies in the area bounded by Ralph street, Greylock avenue, Main street and Little street, was bought by the investment company in 1915. A pumping station was erected and two twenty-four inch mains laid across the meadows for the purpose of supplying water to Staten Island.

Governor Franklin Murphy stepped in before the plant began operations and refused to permit water to be shipped outside the state. Later the resources of the company were tied up in the failure of the Mechanics National Bank of Bayonne. Williams has spent more than five years clearing the title to the property and putting it in legal condition for transfer. The town foreclosed because of tax delinquencies several years ago.

DINNER SUNDAY FOR W. S. BRYAN

Will Honor Head of Sons of Civil War For His Efforts

Willard S. Bryan of 503 Union avenue, commander of the Marcus L. Ward Camp, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, will be tendered a testimonial dinner in Newark Sunday evening. The principal speaker will be Col. Ulysses S. Grant, 3rd, grandson of the former President and great Civil War general. Bryan is the first man in the history of his organization to be elected to three successive terms as commander. Under his administration the Ward Camp has become the fastest growing chapter in the entire nation. He has drawn into it the eight surviving Civil War veterans in the county, each of whom is the last survivor of his chapter.

He has organized all societies allied to the Grand Army of the Republic under one title. There are twenty-one such organizations, among them the Henry Viscandio Woman's Relief Corps, the Sedgewick Circle and the Lincoln Relief Corps, all of this town.

He has also organized the first uniformed unit of the Ward Camp since World War I. The five-man color guard has made several appearances in and around Belleville, the latest being with the St. Peter's Society in the recent Holy Name parade.

Cops Nab Four Youths For Auto Thefts

The sharp eye of Officer Irving Holly caused the arrest of four boys charged with the theft of at least one automobile. One of the boys is Vincent Vitale, sixteen, of 28 Minker place. The others, who are from Newark, are Louis Galli, nineteen, of 87 Seventh avenue; Anthony Sabatino, seventeen, of 111 Bloomfield avenue, and a minor whose name police would not divulge.

Holly was cruising in a police car shortly after 11 Sunday night when he spotted a car reported stolen in Newark, in Greylock avenue. Four boys jumped from it as he approached and escaped in the fields in the vicinity but Holly was able to give descriptions of two of the youths to Officers Nygard and Booth.

The latter saw three youths standing on the corner of Washington avenue and Jorammon street two and a half hours later and recognized two as answering Holly's description. They took the young hoodlums to police headquarters where, after a brief questioning, they admitted theft of the car.

They implicated Vitale as the driver of the car and the local youth was arrested later at his home.

The four boys were turned over to Newark authorities for investigation and arraignment.

Expect 2,000 Will March In Armistice Parade

Twenty-one Musical Units Will March In Parade Monday Night; Special Services Sunday Evening at A. A. A. Synagogue

The twenty-second annual observance of Armistice Day will be one of the biggest the town has ever seen, Thomas W. Fleming, chairman of the committee on arrangements, promised yesterday. The trio of events scheduled for the weekend include the annual inter-denominational church service Sunday evening, a football game Monday afternoon, and a parade in Washington avenue in the evening. A point committee made up of members of the local posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion is assisting Fleming in the arrangements.

Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin will officiate at the church services which will be held in the Congregation A.A.A. at 317 Washington avenue. The football game between the junior varsity squads of Belleville and Kearny High Schools will be played at Clearman Field at 2. Forty-one organizations who have signed their intention of participating in the parade will assure a column of more than 2,000 marchers.

The service at the synagogue, the first there in ten years, will start at 8. Rabbi Dobin, who is spiritual leader of the Congregation and chaplain of the North Essex Post No. 146, Jewish War Veterans of the United States, will deliver an address on the theme "Speak Up for Democracy."

The services will begin with the massing of colors at the altar by all participating veterans organizations. Boy Scouts from the synagogue troop will act as ushers. A collation will be served in the vestry rooms of the synagogue at 9. Hostesses will be the wives of synagogue members who are veterans.

A good football game is promised for Monday afternoon. The local jayvees have come up against and great Civil War general. DRAFT ELIGIBLES GET QUESTIONS FROM BOARD

Questionnaires Sent To First Fifty; Medical Exams Start Next Week

The first fifty of 3,694 questionnaires to be sent out by the local Selective Service Board were mailed Tuesday. They were received by the fifty men whose numbers were drawn at the top of the lottery, and they must be returned to the board by Monday. Medical examinations of conscripts will begin a week from tonight in the Health Department at Town Hall at 8:15. The tentative schedule of examinations calls for sessions every Thursday evening, according to Dr. Edward A. Flynn,

Selective Service Board Announces Office Hours

The Selective Service Board announced yesterday that its office hours at the Public Safety Department in Town Hall will be open from 9 to 5 daily Monday through Friday and from 9 to 12 on Saturday. The office will also be open from 7 to 9 Tuesday evenings. The new telephone number of the draft office is Belleville 2-1723.

chief medical examiner for the local draft district, but additional hours will be scheduled as often as necessary. The third place on the medical board is expected to be filled within the week. It was vacated when Dr. James Irwin declared it impossible for him to accept. Dr. Anthony R. Caputo is the other member.

Questionnaires will continue to be sent out regularly until each of the 3,694 registered men in Belleville has been canvassed. After the forms are returned, the service board will begin the task of placing them in their proper classifications. Only those placed in class I will be called and John L. Dailey, chairman of the local board yesterday estimated that more than fifty per cent of Belleville's registrants will be eligible for exemption or deferment.

The latest unofficial estimates place Belleville's quota at 220 to be sent to military camp between the first contingent on November 25 and next June 30. It is figured that the town will be asked to send .00683 per cent of the state's quota of 32,170. This will mean, according to Dailey, that eligible men will be drawn from the 100 lowest numbers in the town.

Bernie Barnett Volunteers

Seven young men in town have volunteered to be placed at the head of the list of those to be called from here. They are Edmund Strykowski of 466 Jorammon street; Bernard Barnett, 11 Minker place; Kenneth H. Bedford, 38 Perry street; Theodore P. Sanok, 16 Montgomery place; Joseph D. Moraski, 24 Hilton street; Carmen Cerlingione, 13 Brook street, and Lucian A. Bailey of 125 Bell street.

Barnett, in volunteering, is putting off his third year in organized baseball. He has played for the past two years with Akron of the Middle Atlantic circuit. Strykowski has been high scorer of the Senior Basketball League for the past two years. He plays with the Senators, as does Bedford. Sanok is a golfer of some note and a brother of famed C. Sanok, former state junior golf king.

The Belleville service board has been assisted by volunteer clerical help since its formation because the state authorities have not approved any recommendations for the position of chief clerk. All appointments are expected to be made in the next week.

Among those who have helped out so far are Edward Reed of 44 Oak street, Miss Eleanor V. Brad of 25 Linden avenue, Miss Doris Harman of 269 Union avenue and Mrs. Wilbur Hart of 112 Floyd street.

Mrs. Shaw charged that her husband has paid nothing to the support of herself and their three children for the past two months. Under questioning by Judge Smith the man admitted living with a common-law wife and their three children at the Newark address for the past six years.

He also admitted obtaining relief in Newark while enjoying an income of $25 a week from racing motorcycles and midget cars. Shaw pleaded guilty to his wife's charges.

Lack of Foreign Tulips Curtails School Planting

Due to the British blockade of Europe, no Holland tulips are available, so American varieties of doubtful value are being used this year for spring blooms for School No. 9. The tulips produced on Long Island and Michigan are somewhat scarce and rather expensive.

The school has purchased 500 bulbs, which is about half the number usually set out. Walter Bartholomew, gardener and janitor at the valley school, began the planting of the bulbs this week and hopes to complete his task before the ground freezes. There will be an annual spring tulip festival as usual in May.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT

The People Have Decided

Ninety-one per cent of the eligible voters in this community went to the polls on Tuesday. This figure has been exceeded a few times during the past quarter of a century. The majority of them voted for a losing cause for they were in favor of the candidacy of Wendell L. Willkie. It is not how they voted that is of concern, but the fact that they did vote. They exercised the sacred privilege which is one of the foundations upon which democracy is built—the right to vote for whom and what they please without fear.

The march of millions to the polls throughout the nation on Tuesday was an answer to those who say that democracy is crumbling. The American public demonstrated to the world that democracy and the freedom under which we live is stronger today than it ever was.

It was a bitter campaign. Harsh words were exchanged between the candidates of both parties. There were exaggerations and slurs hurled by both sides. That is all over now. The majority voted for President Roosevelt. Wendell Willkie was not the victim of a crushing defeat when Mr. Roosevelt's advantage is measured in popular votes. The mandate of the people in effect declared that in the present international crisis they believed that the interests of the country could best be served with the continuance of Mr. Roosevelt in office.

Selective Service Task Begins

The final week of the election campaign pushed conscription off the front page but with the voting now out of the way, the nation will settle down to the task of putting one million young men into military service during the coming year. Here and throughout the country selective service boards are each day getting nearer to the start of their all-important task—that of picking the men who will be conscripted for one year.

The News publishes today the names of the first 1,000 local men in the order that they are subject to call for military service. This does not mean that they will be the first 1,000 called for many of them will be stricken off the list because of dependents, physical disabilities or because they are in positions which are vital to national defense.

Of young men who have thought of military service have already volunteered for service which automatically

Love It

For a while we sit back and let a gang of all-day suckers take our country really are. Somebody gives us a good kick in the pants and we are for more or we just shrug our shoulders and decide that there's nothing to be done about it. Take the case of the properties owned by American citizens in the Cardenas regime in Mexico in 1938. The Mexican government seized the illegally acquired oil on the market at reduced prices.

Capitalist nations—Germany, Italy, Japan—grabbed up 20,000,000 barrels of oil, materially aiding them in carrying on their war against Great Britain. India was Mexico herself who is suffering by driving private capital out of the country, many of her people have been reduced to poverty, thus weakening her within and making it easy prey for Fifth Column movements of the Axis forces.

Comparative Figures Mean Little

Sometimes we have heard fire officials brag that they had a lower fire loss than their neighboring community, speaking of it as a triumph for the situation. And at times they brag about the appropriation or expenditure of money for fire fighting equipment has been considered, we have seen officials brag about comparative figures in defense of not making purchases which would make for a better defense against possible fires.

This argument is cockeyed for we have seen municipalities which have had the best fire fighting equipment suffer from a unusually number of fires. The fact cannot be escaped that there is a certain amount of luck involved when it comes to a community's fire experiences. If it gets a big fire, it may go for years with very few losses, even though its fire protection is far from adequate and its restrictive measures pertaining to fire prevention are obsolete.

In a recent bulletin, the National Board of Fire Underwriters stated in part, "Per capita fire losses, to those who have analyzed the subject, are a meaningless compilation of figures and prove nothing."

A poor fire defense is about the most costly thing a community can have. The only true measure of a town's fire protection is whether or not it has the best that can be obtained. For anyone to point a finger at fire fighters and say they are inefficient is wrong. The men are only as good as the equipment with which they have to work. For anyone to claim that this or any other community is lax because it has a higher fire loss than a neighboring municipality is out of order.

You Eating More Apples?

You have wondered during the past year at the number of times that the news has made an apple pie, applesauce or baked apples, it is because of the consumer drive made by the National Apple Institute in cooperation with stores and independent grocery stores throughout the nation. As the apple raising season ended, the growers and themselves in a desperate state. The market abroad had wiped out an abnormal export outlet of more than 1,000 bushels of apples.

The growers were threatened with serious consequences unless the additional millions of bushels they had on their hands were worked into consumption at home. The representatives sat down with campaign to convince housewives throughout the nation that there could not be any happy home unless apples were served in some form at least once a day. They scheduled a series of three seven-day drives. The first ended with Halloween and according to figures compiled by the Apple Institute it was a big success.

Here in New Jersey we are quite close to the problem for this state rates ninth in the nation in the number of apples grown annually. It is estimated that New Jersey farms produce an estimated 3,500,000 bushel crop.

There might be a new paraphrase on the old expression "an apple a day keeps the doctor away." It might go "If you'll eat an apple a day, you'll keep the apple grower away from the poorhouse."

Armistice Day

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

As far as New Jersey was concerned Tuesday's election resulted in a moral victory for the Republican party. Roosevelt limped through with a plurality of around 68,000 compared to 364,000 for the Democrat. Senator Barbour got a plurality of approximately a quarter-million votes while in 1936 he lost by nearly 200,000. Most of the Republican congressmen who were elected in the so-called Barbour landslide of 1938 were returned by even larger majorities than they were given then. The State Legislature remains overwhelmingly Republican. Best of all, the Hague machine in Hudson seems to have been spanked and put in its proper position. The returns indicate that majorities of the past few years have been fraudulent to a certain degree. Had the Democratic party not put up a man of Edison's reputation and character, its candidate would have gone down to certain defeat along with James H. R. Cromwell.

N. J. Democrats Are Weak
Actually, the Democratic party in New Jersey is weak, surprisingly weak. It elected its candidate for governor in 1937 by a very slim majority when one considers that it had the prestige of the Roosevelt landslide of the year before in its favor. The next year its candidate for United States Senator was decisively beaten and the delegation to Congress went three-to-one Republican. Practically all of these gains were retained on Tuesday.

Although its position is weak from a statistical viewpoint, its luck in electing two governors in a row carries enormous advantages. Practically every office in the state to be filled by gubernatorial appointment now will be Democratic. Federal favors will be expected to continue to come, although Edison rather than Hague will be their probable dispenser.

Edison Must Rebuild Party

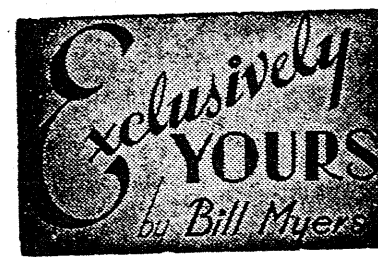

But both of these advantages are temporary. They will disappear completely during the next few years unless the Democratic party regains the psychological advantage that it had in 1931, for example. Moreover, Moore's victory in 1937 and Edison's election Tuesday were handed the Democrats on a silver platter by Republican malcontents.

The shadow of Harold G. Hoffman—still a giant although in eclipse—haunts the Republican party. Hoffman's followers threw the 1937 election to Moore and they probably supplied the margin by which Hendrickson was defeated on Tuesday. Republican headquarters buzzed Tuesday night with reports that the Pierce E. Franklin machine supported Edison and Barbour almost solidly. In Essex there was a shift of approximately 73,000 votes from the Republican to the Democratic columns between Barbour's name and that of Hendrickson. This represented a division in the Republican ranks that worked decisively for the Democrats.

Hague Stands Discredited

The conclusion that Charles Edison can draw from this is that he was elected by Republicans no less than by Democrats. If he has the welfare of the Democratic party in New Jersey at heart he will undertake to rebuild it in a way that the next Democratic candidate can hope to win by party votes. He stands in the same position that Woodrow Wilson stood three decades ago. The old order is discredited statistically as well as morally. Hague did not elect Edison, and if public opinion does not differ radically, he will not be able to elect a candidate in 1943.

ELECTION Echoes: In the Robert Treat's cafe-lounge: "When Willkie concedes, I will 'I should have played Wendell for place' . . . 'I only lost half as much as I could have; I got 2 to 1' . . . At The Well, West Caldwell: 'Someone ought to start a 'unity bonfire' of those Willkie posters' . . . 'How could Willkie win when my wife came out for him?' . . . At The Blue Door, East Hanover: 'We want Willkie in 1944' . . . 'That ought to put an end to Al Smith, John L. Lewis and Hugh Johnson' . . . 'He sure was an actor' . . . At Busch & Sons' jewelry store, Newark: 'Let me see your American flag novelties, my lapel looks bare without my Willkie button.' . . . At The Condon, Livingston: 'The best man won.'"

ONE of the happiest men in Newark is Col. Bill Kelly whose F.D.R. fervor paid off on Wednesday . . . The big national polls were pretty close, but underestimated the President's popularity . . . Only the Roosevelt posters remain on the cars now. . . . New York's new paper "P. M." ran a facsimile of its Wednesday's Page 1 headline Tuesday. It read: "It's F.D.R."

UP at the Alderney Milk Barn on Route 10 the high school kids were asking for a "Unity Sundae," a combination of several flavors with syrup, whipped cream and cherry . . . The warm election made the Alderney Barn look like a mid-summer weekend, with the largest November patronage on the records there . . . Alderney's new homogenized milk is registering new gains along the routes, with Alderney's raspberry sherbet still getting the women's vote at the Alderney Barn, and elsewhere.

WITH alterations completed at West Caldwell's The Well, Bob Wyder now has one of the most beautiful cocktail and dining emporiums in the East, and it will be well worth your visit to hear the Three Octaves who play there nightly. Set in rural surroundings, The Well has all the interior warmth and friendliness of a country club, and many of Mr. Wyder's guests are celebrities of no little note.

A NOTHER stop you should schedule is a visit to Busch & Sons' Newark jewelry store, for here you will be able to settle your Christmas problems in a flash without the confusion usually associated with Christmas shopping. Merchandise is virtually laid out on platters for you. You see it, want it, buy it. It's as easy as that. And I assure you of tops in courtesy whether you buy or not.

LAST, but far from least, try one of the small, choice morsels of steak as they prepare it at The Blue Door, Route 10, East Hanover. You will thank us for this recommendation. Here, in a cozy, homey atmosphere you may relax in soft candle-light comfort and enjoy a meal (as inexpensive as anything) to your heart's content. And the owners are really very fine fellows.—Adv.

HUMOROUS SONGS FOR CONCERT

Combined Nutley-Belleville Groups To Sing December 9 At High School

A pair of humorous songs and two rollicking drinking songs will be inserted into the program to lighten the winter concert of the combined glee clubs of Belleville and Nutley. The concert will be presented in the High School auditorium on December 9. It will be under the direction of Arthur E. Jacobus, regular director of the Belleville Glee Club. The change in the locale of the concert was necessitated by the large increase in the number of persons participating and the expected large attendance from Nutley. There will be seventy male voices in the chorus, fifty from Belleville and twenty from Nutley.

Heretofore the concerts of the Belleville club had been held in the auditorium of School No. 10. This year, in an effort to revive interest in glee club work in Nutley, it was decided to hold two joint concerts, with the second in the spring to be held in the Nutley High School.

The tenor of the concert will be broken at intervals with "Bold Turpin" by J. Frederick Bridge, "Alexander" by A. Herbert Brewer, "Laughing" by Franz Abt and

"Now 'Tis Time to Go" by Johann Sebastian Bach.

From "Pickwick Papers"

The first is the melodramatic tale of the meeting of the Bold Turpin and the Bishop on a dark night on Hounslow Heath. The Bishop does not escape with his life. The words are taken from Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers" and set to wild and woolly music by Frederick Bridge. The description of Alexander's store is such that the author of the words chose to remain anonymous. The roistering melodies which carry the words "and now 'tis time to go and spend an hour or so in drinking" and "comrades we'll be laughing while we drink our wine" are calculated to be sure-fire hits.

Jacobus is expected to announce the complete program of Christmas carols and songs for the concert within the next week. Arrangements are also nearing completion for the engagement of the guest soloist.

To Unveil Memorial

A memorial monument will be unveiled for Daniel B. Lemell, deceased husband of Mrs. Daniel B. Lemell of Berkeley avenue, at his grave in Old Shalom Cemetery Elizabeth on Sunday at 3. Rabbi Dohin of Congregation A.A.A. will officiate at the ceremony. Mr. Lemell died very suddenly a year ago while attending a testimonial dinner at the Essex House in Newark under the auspices of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company by whom he was employed.
