

DISTASIO AGAIN HEADS VALLEY ASSOCIATION

Will Install The New Officers Tonight; May Act On Mayor's Denial About Dock

John Distasio of 98 Greylock avenue will again be installed as president of the Valley Improvement Association tonight when the organization holds its regular business meeting in Exempt Firemen's Hall. Distasio, who has been a member of the association for many years, was re-elected to the office several weeks ago.

The other new officers are Ora A. Current, vice-president; Mrs. Mary Peck, secretary; Mrs. Frank Hunkle, treasurer, and the board of trustees will consist of Mrs. Fannie Bohrer, Mrs. Ora Current, Mrs. Samuel Tiger, John J. Hewitt, Percy Finnerty, William Nicholson, John Zoppa, Anthony DiNicola and Benjamin Picarello.

It is expected that some action will be taken on the recent denial by Mayor Williams that he ever told the association that the town is planning a municipal dock on the town-owned property south of the Essex County Park along the river.

Williams' denial was made publicly at a Commission conference December 23. It was evoked by a letter from the association which suggested the continuation of the sea wall another 100 feet to the northern boundary of the New York Color & Chemical Company property.

Officials of the association declared again this week that the Mayor did make the statement some time ago at its anniversary meeting. At the Commission meeting several weeks ago the Mayor dictated a letter of denial which Town Clerk Florence Morey was instructed to send to the association, whose officials said yesterday that the letter had not yet been received.

Extra Cooperation Is Needed In Campaign By Red Cross

Mrs. Harvey B. Thompson, chairman of the production committee of the Belleville Chapter of the American Red Cross, yesterday appealed to the Belleville women for "extra cooperation" in an effort to complete the current quota of garments by January 31.

Plans for a course of instruction, first aid and accident prevention to be offered by the Red Cross will be discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the chapter Monday evening at 8 at the Woman's Club. ## Building Really Zoomed Here During 1940 For Biggest Year Since '29 Boom.

Permits Totalled $1,700,582 For Year; Industrial Construction Was Big Factor

Building permits issued during 1940 rose to the highest level since the boom year of 1929, a tabulation of the monthly reports of Building Inspector Edward O'Connor prepared yesterday by The News revealed. Permits were issued for a total of $1,700,582 of construction for the twelve months ending December 31. The lion's share of this figure, $1,047,950, was for industrial building and that total was mainly the result of the million-dollar plant erected by the Andrew J. Jengens Company. Residential development also accounted for a large share of the final figure with $560,500 for 135 new single-family homes. Sixty-seven of the latter were erected by White Oaks Company in their new development at the northern end of Union avenue near the Nutley line.

Leading the commercial end of the picture was the Witema Corporation of Mayor Williams which spent $20,000 on its two newest stores in the new shopping center opposite Town Hall. The two stores are now occupied by Sears, Roebuck, and the Belleville Liquor Store. A lingerie shop will shortly move into the other half of the latter store.

Two major construction jobs which are listed under "miscellaneous" in the accompanying table are the $20,000 structure of Bethany Lutheran Church at New and Jorammon streets and the $11,344 administration building of Glendale Cemetery at the western end of Jorammon street.

Residential Building Up

Especially heartening to local real estate men was the lusty upswing in residential building, which reached a new high for the decade. Barrett Brothers put up eleven homes; Own Home Corporation, eight; Jerry Lepre, seven; Conforti Construction and Joseph Neidzinski, six each.

Not included are the fifteen homes which will be erected soon by Aime Lariviere. Also omitted from the industrial tabulation, since no permit had been applied for before the end of the year, is the million-dollar plant which will be built at the north end of Washington avenue to house the Walter Kidde Company.

Industrial and commercial permits taken out last year include:

Return Started In 1937

After the Grand Crash of October 1929, building began to fall off rapidly until a low of $86,487 was reached for the year of 1933. Then began a steady rise which reached another peak in 1937, a year of comparative prosperity which lasted but a brief time and tumbled again in 1938. Serious industrial building got under way in 1937 with the erection of the $157,000 addition to

KIMMERLE NAMED BY WILLIAMS

Takes Sinking Fund Post Vacated By Bragg; Mayor Renames McFadden

George J. Kimmerle, Jr., of 6 Bremond street has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Floyd F. Bragg on the Sinking Fund Commission, Mayor Williams announced Tuesday in a letter to the Board of Commissioners and Town Clerk Florence R. Morey. At the same time the Mayor revealed that he had reappointed Frank J. McFadden of 48 Floyd street to the same body.

Kimmerle, who has lived in Belleville since 1923, is employed in the Prudential Insurance Company of Newark. He will take the seat on the commission vacated when Bragg moved to Glen Ridge recently. His term will expire January 1, 1942.

McFadden was first appointed January 1, 1939 and is now beginning his second three-year term. He has been cashier of the First National Bank for the past five years.

Legion Is Sponsoring Oratorical Contest

"The interpretation of Americanism expressed by the students should prove interesting and they should have a large audience to inspire them to do their best," Richard D. Shannon said yesterday while announcing that plans were progressing rapidly for the local eliminations for the American Legion national oratorical contest.

The national organization of the Legion has offered a $4,000 scholarship to the high school student winning first place in an oratorical contest on Americanism and the Constitution. Belleville Post No. 105 is sponsoring one of the many elimination contests being held throughout the country. The local contest will be held in the high school auditorium January 30.

John Higgins, president of the junior class, appointed the following committee chairman: Hugh D. Kittle, Jr., orchestra; Walter Antonik, advertising (and publicity); Boyd Hartley, program, and William McNamara, tickets. Robert Fogarty won the award in the poster contest.

CLARK PROBABLE CHOICE TO HEAD FEDERATION

Nominating Recommended Renaming Him Tuesday Night; May Add Trustees

W. Douglas Clark, Jr., will probably become president of the Welfare Federation for the second year in succession when the elections are held early next month. He was renominated Tuesday night when the report of the nominating committee was approved. Dr. George Kaden and Joseph F. Howley are slated to be returned to their present posts of vice-president and treasurer, respectively. John S. Charlton, who was recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Lester E. McCorkle as executive secretary, was put up for that position.

Renominated to the board of trustees are Mrs. William P. Adams, Howley, Hugh J. Kittle, Wayne R. Farmer, Charles A. Gebhardt, John Ray and Herbert C. Schmutz. New names up for the board are John P. Coogan, Jr., Clarence R. Lommerin, Luther E. Van Pelt, Martin P. Cosgrove, Elwood P. Russell, Bert J. Woodhall, John J. Bertiss, Paul DeHagaza and Edward J. Paulgure.

A motion was introduced by Kittle to enlarge the trustee membership from twenty-seven to thirty-five. The motion was seconded by James M. Lynch and will be voted upon at the annual meeting in February.

Dettelbach Honorary Member

Philip Dettelbach, who resigned recently from the board because of pressure of business, was unanimously elected an honorary member of the federation. Other honorary members are Mrs. Beatrice Vail, George R. Gerard and Lawrence E. Keenan.

Frank L. Chambers, chairman of the Community Chest drive this year, announced that contributions had reached $15,009.97 due to follow-up letters written to former contributors who had not previously been contacted. When the drive finished, Chambers said that he anticipated additional contributions of $512.

Since that time all but $14 has come in. The federation voted to accept the resignation of Mrs. McCorkle and passed a resolution of thanks for her services in recent years. The appointment of Charlton to fill the term was confirmed and a committee appointed for the purpose. The committee included Everett B. Smith, Lynch, Kaden and Schmutz.

The committee appointed last month by Clark to investigate the medical care and treatment of indigent and borderline cases, dealing principally with the request of the Columbus Hospital in Newark for inclusion in the Chest funds, made a lengthy report which will be submitted to Director of Public Affairs King, who will confer with Mayor Williams and a committee from the federation to give the matter further study.

Because the hospital's application was received too late for this year's Chest drive and after the allotment of funds to its participating agencies, it will not be given financial aid by the federation.

A meeting of the federation trustees and the heads of the local chapter of the Red Cross was set for January 20 at the Woman's Club. The conference was requested by Chambers, chairman, and Mrs. Thomas W. Fleming, secretary, of the Red Cross.

Sale of Town-Owned Land Boomed During 1941

Increase Over Previous Year of Nearly 100 Per Cent; Realized $46,833 From Public Sales; Most Residential Building on Land Thus Acquired

Sales of town-owned property during 1940 increased almost 100 per cent over the previous year and hit a new high in the history of the town, it was announced yesterday by John F. Coogan, Jr., who has charge of the town's real estate besides being tax assessor. During the last year $46,833 of town-owned property was transferred compared to approximately $25,000 in 1939. The largest individual sale of the year was made in May when the Conforti Construction Company purchased twenty-two lots with 964 feet of frontage on Fairway avenue for a total of $12,650.

Coogan pointed particularly to the development of Springer street on which Joseph Neidzinski has built every house and all of which property was bought from the town. Sales were made on twenty-eight different streets in widely scattered sections of the town.

Wilber, Adelaide, Charles, Arthur, Dawson, Magnolia, Frederick, Heckel, Springer, Harrison, and Jorammon streets; Baldwin and Fairway places; Elmwood, Watessing, Watchung, Union, Sanford, Fairway, Mt. Prospect, Myrtle, Belmont, Liberty, Franklin, Berkeley, Continental, Tremont and Greylock avenues. "Our success in selling town-owned properties in recent years," Coogan said, "has quite completely dispelled the reluctance which many at one time held to purchase property from the town because of their doubt as to the validity of the title."

May Exceed Last Year

"The preponderance of residential development now going on in the town is being carried out on building lots purchased from the town." He said that he expected 1941 to see "a continued activity comparable to 1940" and added that "it may even exceed it."

Coogan had been tax assessor for eight years when he was assigned late in 1938 to handle real estate as well. Before taking the job, he had had many years of experience in the realty field.

May Be Forced To Move His Garage Three Feet

Building Inspector O'Connor charges that Connelly's garage is less than the minimum ten feet from a neighbor's house. It is understood that the neighbor lives on Berkeley avenue, is making that the suit be pressed. The neighbor was not named in the complaint.

AS almost everyone knows, Pal's Cabin has shown the most phenomenal success in New Jersey restaurant-cafe life. Reason, of course, is smooth management, continually making improvements; enlarging, expanding. Latest innovation, following closely on the heels of the redecorated Pine Room, is the importation of Walter Liberace, brilliant twenty-one-year-old concert pianist, who recently thrilled the mid-West as guest soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, who will play nightly in the new Pine Room and will give Sunday afternoon concerts there. They never stop doing things at Pal's; other innovations are on tap. Marty Horn and Roy Sale, their department heads and employees, make up the most animated, go-getting aggregation this pillar has yet discovered.

IT being fun to talk about success, let's not forget the exciting results at the Alderney Milk Barn, Route 10, at Morris Plains. Opened less than two years (it'll be two in July) this bright spot on the highway has become not only a landmark, but an institution for people of all ages.

SUCCESSFUL, too, is the beautiful, new Busch & Sons' jewelry store at Broad and William streets, Newark. It is truly a great monument to the sixty years of Busch & Sons' continuity of success, and Messrs. George J. Busch, Sr., (the founder) and George J. Busch, Jr. (the president) have reason indeed to be proud.

MR. Robert Wyder, proprietor of The Well, West Caldwell, has been receiving pats on the back for the fine job he has done at that popular rendezvous. Not only has the entire place been done over, but there are innovations to come that will make it even more enticing for the local sun-dodgers.

CONGRATULATIONS, too, to Lloyd G. Robinson, vice-president and general manager of the Hotel Robert Treat, which had its best Christmas and New Year's weeks in the history of the hostelry.—Adv.

Recipe Column

One vegetable that you must enjoy throughout the cold weather if you are to get it at its prime is the sweet potato. This is ironic since the sweet potato perishes very easily in the cold; but properly shipped and stored they will come to you now at their best. A few suggested recipes follow.

Sweet Potato Puff

5 or 6 medium sweet potatoes
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons hot milk
Boil the potatoes until tender. Remove the skins and any discolored portions and press through the ricer. Beat the yolks and whites of the eggs separately. To the potato pulp add the egg yolks, fat, milk and salt. Beat well and fold in the well-beaten whites. Pile the mixture lightly into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes, or until light and fluffy and brown on the top.

Candied Sweet Potatoes

6 medium sweet potatoes
1 cup corn syrup
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter

Partially cook the sweet potatoes in boiling water, cool and skin. Cut in halves lengthwise and place in a greased baking dish large enough for one layer without packing too closely. Make a syrup of the other ingredients by boiling until fairly thick. Pour over the potatoes and bake in a very moderate oven for an hour or more. Turn carefully while cooking until thoroughly glazed.

Scalloped Sweet Potatoes

With Apples

3 medium sweet potatoes
4 medium apples, pared and cored
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter

Cook the sweet potatoes in boiling water until tender; cool and skin. Cut the potatoes and apples into slices, place in alternate layers in a greased baking dish, sprinkle each layer with sugar and salt and dot with butter. Add a small quantity of water or orange juice and bake for 30 to 45 minutes until the apples are soft and the top layer is brown.

BEFORE YOUR EYES

By Joe Duval

In This Corner We Have

We gathered 'ourselves up in this corner last week to inquire—a little impatiently, we admit—why it was that the Grammar School Basketball League had not yet gotten under way when permission was refused the Recreation Department nearly two months ago to sponsor a similar loop. Then we continued on the line of thought that one of the reasons for the poor sports records in the high school was the lack of proper training in the elementary schools. Comes now a reply from School Superintendent Farmer which is intended to lay at rest the fears of the public on the latter score:

"The following is a statement in reply to this article (Sports Before Your Eyes last week) which is done in the best of sportsmanship, not because the writer cares to be capable of writing in the sports field, but only because he must do so in fairness to the patrons and friends of the schools for the accomplishments of which, as head of the schools, he is definitely responsible—responsible not only to the Board of Education that has approved the institution of the program, but also to the people of the community whom they represent and whose children are affected by that program . . .

"Our program of physical education is divided into three parts. First the Fall division, consisting chiefly of Fall sports, the carrying out of which is according to the following outline (this is in addition to the program of formal work):

"Football: fundamentals (catching and throwing, kicking, line stance, center passing, shifting, blocking); skills (reverses, spinners, cut-backs, double and triple passes, deception plays, ball handling, defensive set-ups); major rules and penalties; games leading up to football (relay races with football, accuracy tests); touch football (team competition, intraschool games).

"Soccer: fundamentals, skills, rules, playing line soccer."

The Winter program "includes stunts, tumbling and games" and "under the division of games comes:

"Basketball: relay races; skills; fundamentals (passing, dribbling, shooting, pivoting, combination relays, rules and penalties); games leading up to basketball and played with basketballs (cornerball, bombardments, dodge ball, kick ball, end ball, ball ball)."

Mr. Farmer also lists in the Winter program: volley ball, boxing and an "intraschool basketball tournament for eighth grade boys."

"There is quite an extensive program during the Spring of outside games and activities including:

"Baseball (softball is generally used but the game contains most of the elements of regular baseball): relay races; group work (double and triple plays); spud; skills (running bases, sliding, test for accuracy, catching, pitching, other positions, batting, bunting, technique of the game).

"Track: relays, weight throwing, jumps, dashes, distance running, skills (starts, baton passing, manner of approach for the take-off in jumps, etc.)."

The aims for the physical education program, of which these games are the major part, says Mr. Farmer, are: 1) "promotion of normal growth and organic development . . . 2) the development in each pupil, through activities which appeal to his deeper instincts and emotions, of those fundamental traits of character which have a direct relation to his associates . . . 3) the development of those personal traits which have an indirect effect upon one's associates . . . 4) to create in youth an intelligent and healthful interest in physical activity that will carry over into adult life . . .

"Any citizen has the privilege of reading and studying our physical education plans or manual of instruction and also the privilege of visiting our schools to see whether or not it is being carried out. We are not able to give you a more convincing reply to the careless statements which have found their way into our local News."

"The facts are not hard to obtain. Your Superintendent of Schools is always happy to inform any citizen of the work in the schools and considers it a privilege to personally conduct any individual or group of individuals to observe or study any department of work in actual operation and this includes most certainly our physical education program."

"So far as the Eighth Grade Basketball Tournament is concerned, let me say that this is only a conclusion, in the form of competition, of an extensive program in the grade school playrooms and grounds, the chief value of which is the motivation of game interest and accomplishment. These contests begin with the new year and will be carried on as usual on Saturday forenoons. There has been no change in our plans over previous years in this connection."

Thank you, Super, for the academic expose of what is being done for the kids in our athletic elementary schools. We're glad to know what is being done; but we honestly believe that the de-emphasis of the competitive basketball game is little to what the boys' appetites for being active ones. Give them something to fight for and you'll find the results will be more satisfactory.

Italian Baptist dropped its second straight game Monday night and helped Dutch Reformed to get a tighter grip on the race for first-half honors in the Church Basketball League. Flashy Fewsmith last year's kings, dropped the Italians by a convincing 33-20 margin at the high school.

Meantime the Reformed boys were playing heads-up ball to trip Wesley Methodist, recent conquerors of the Silver Lakers. Grace Baptist took the measure of Christ Episcopal and St. Peter's downed the unfortunate Congregation A.A.A.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

For one of those thought-provoking treatises masquerading as comedy a current magazine article has as its subject the American pastime of showing people around our homes. The battle of wits between the hostess and her planned itinerary and the guest and her anticipated comments is often highly amusing, occasionally sarcastic and almost always a strain on both. It is a matter on which we have often pondered trying to recapture our own reactions and to interpret the exact degree of attractiveness in the occupation which is increasingly noticeable among friends and acquaintances. Like any activity conducted in our homes, its appropriateness and capacity for being enjoyable depends entirely on the guests. Consideration of this aspect seems to us to be a simple answer to the problem.

Guests are of two general categories — acquaintances with whom we may be still in the experimental stage of discovering our common interests; or friends with whom we already spontaneously share a similar life pattern. In the case of the first we believe it highly impractical not to have a planned activity to occupy at least the major portion of their visit. A game, music and refreshments will confine your guests to the reception hall, or possibly a bedroom for disposing of their wraps, and the living room. We do not of course say "confine" in the strict sense of the word. The more subtle effect which we think should be striven for is one which makes the acquaintance utterly welcome and at the same time holds out to him the promise of a more intimate knowledge of our surroundings as our mutual interest grows.

Is it not something of a shock to find yourself rushing through a tour of inspection which leaves you with a cyclonic impression of your hostess' pastel bedrooms, orchid bath, miniature fish in a glass and aquarium, sparkling kitchen gadgets and polished basement floor? We are positive that your summation of your new friend if you were asked about her would not concern her personality at all but would be closer to an attempt at a short course in interior decoration.

Had she cleverly spent a quiet time with you in whichever room she chose for your reception you would have come away with several lovely details — ivy in a copper bowl, friendly books on a polished surface or a graceful candlestick on her window sill. These resting lightly in your memory would carry with them her true character. Relieved too of the unavoidable duty of praise which the inspection tours imply you would undoubtedly strike the conversational chords which would determine your degree of friendship.

Although greatly in advance of the exhibition, which will be held in Newark from February 24 to March 8, early returns indicate that 1,000 pupils are entering their arts and crafts work from all over the state.

"Meet The Wife" Is Next At Montclair Theatre

Walter Walters will present his Theatre Group Players in Lynn Starling's comedy, "Meet the Wife," at the Montclair Theatre, Montclair, for one week beginning Monday evening, with matinees Thursday and Saturday. "Meet the Wife" ran for a season on Broadway and revolves about the social ambitions of Gertrude Lennox, a mid-western town celebrity hunter. She possesses the tenacity of a bulldog, but her feminine charm and sheer inconsistency saves her from being annihilated by her friends, for she is a lovable fool. She is twice married, her first husband conveniently disappearing after an earthquake. Her second husband, Harvey, is a good-natured, plodding companion who makes the best of a bad bargain, matrimonially speaking.

At Wellmont

Nelson Eddy is starred in "Bitter Sweet" with Jeanette MacDonald, which starts a four-day run at the Wellmont Theatre in Montclair tomorrow afternoon. The companion feature will be "A Dispatch from Reuters" with Edward G. Robinson.

Important Point To Remember

The report on the sale of town-owned property shows that there was an increase of nearly 100 per cent in the amount purchased last year in comparison to that which was sold during 1939. In 1940, according to Tax Assessor John F. Coogan, Jr., who has charge of the town's realty matters, property was sold which poured $46,833 into the town's coffers in comparison with about $25,000 in the previous year.

While $46,833 is a tidy sum, it is not the only important point to be remembered when considering the value to the town of these property sales. Just as important, if not more so, is the fact that exempted property has been returned to private ownership so that it can be included as a part of the ratables. The more property that the town has on its hands, the more each of us has to pay.

Thus, when speaking of the improvement made in the last year in the sale of town-owned lands and buildings, it is well to keep in mind that one of the most important gains — the return to the ratables — is hidden behind the scenes. In selling property, particularly in the case of the town, it is difficult to get a payment in cash that could be termed equivalent to its estimated value. In determining the ratable value of the property which was sold during 1940, Tax Assessor Coogan has approximately estimated that it is about a quarter of a million dollars — $175,000 in the value of buildings sold and $80,000 in the value of land. This is a note which should be particularly pleasing to every taxpayer for it should proportionately reduce his share of the tax burden.

Newark's Real Trouble

Newark's real estate men are quite concerned about the future of the city and have tried to put their finger on that which is to blame for the city's decay. Industry has gone elsewhere, home dwellers have moved out and other signs point toward a continued downhill trend when other cities are continuing to move ahead.

The real estate men or anybody else do not have to look very far or hard in an effort to find the principal reason for Newark's decline. It's at City Hall which has housed some political administrations, which have been bent not on the preservation and progress of Newark but only on themselves. The sum total of these administrations, when put together, gives Newark one of the highest tax rates in the country and a yearly bill for the cost of government that has staggered the population.

Industry and business have been hindered, not helped. Many home owners, tired of seeing their money wasted, have moved to communities which are governed by public-spirited and business-like officials. Newark's ills are not incurable. They are no worse than those which have been suffered by other big cities. But, there must be some stopping point to the stranglehold of greedy political elements on the city's progress and development. Governed by the right type of men, Newark can start on the road back. A public properly aroused and organized would support such an effort. In May, Newark has an election at which new city commissioners will be elected. Then is when the realtors and others interested should act. To wait longer would be foolish, for the further down in the mire that the selfish can pull the city, the more difficult becomes the job of bringing it back again.

Our Loss Another's Gain

The parish of Grace Baptist Church suffers a loss this week in the departure of Rev. Walter J. Lake, its pastor, to accept a new pastorate in Freehold. The community, as well as the parishioners of Grace Baptist Church, has lost a valuable friend for the Rev. Mr. Lake measured his duty and obligation not alone within the province of his church but of the entire town. The solace of those who will miss him is contained in the fact that the splendid work and leadership he performed here contributed largely to his being offered a better place in the church which he represents.

That he was well liked and respected by his fellow pastors is attested to by the letter composed by the Ministers' Association

Applause Means Little

Mrs. Roosevelt wrote in her syndicated column "My Day" on Tuesday that she was terrified and shocked at the attitude of Republican legislators while listening to the President's message to Congress on Monday. From her seat in the gallery, Mrs. Roosevelt wrote that she observed that the Democrats did all of the applauding while those with the G.O.P. label on them sat on their hands.

We cannot agree with Mrs. Roosevelt's interpretation that the Republican legislators, because of their failure to lead in the applause, are placing party before country. To say that of any member of Congress is unfair and to our mind an exaggeration of the facts. The President's message to Congress on Monday — or, for that matter, any of the speeches which he is making on national defense or our relationship with foreign powers — are not cause for dancing in the streets. Just as he has that he is saddened at the position this nation has had to take, so are we and we do not think that it is an occasion for attempting to break the applause meter to impress upon a radio audience the President's popularity.

Mrs. Roosevelt may be partisan, but looking back on Monday's talk to Congress, we do not remember any time during the broadcast that the applause — Democratic or Republican — might have been termed the kind that would rock the rafters. The day marked the start of business for the seventy-fifth Congress — one that is destined to be one of the most important in the history of this nation.

Every legislator was vitally concerned about what was in the mind of the man who is leading them and the policies and course that he would like to see them pursue during the coming session. Lack of applause is not the measuring rod to be used in calculating the effectiveness of the Presidential speech. The message was one that required thought, study and deliberation. Applause won't build or speed up a defense program. Cooperation will and it still must be proved to us that the vast majority of legislators in Washington are not behind the President just as the people of the nation are.

MUSICAL REVIEWS

Hazel Ellsworth is one of the busiest young soloists we know. Following her debut as a joint recitalist with Maxine Mills, cellist, at the Marsh Art Studios in Essex Fells in December, engagements have been amassing generously. Last Sunday afternoon Miss Ellsworth and Mrs. Mills were guest artists at a Philharmonic tea and musicale given by Eleanor Bacon-Peck at her studios.

Next Sunday afternoon at four, the pair will be presented at the Art Center of the Oranges in a recital arranged by Mrs. Arthur T. Hafela, music chairman of that organization. Miss Ellsworth will play piano compositions by Scarlatti, Chopin, d'Albert and Ravel. She will assist Mrs. Mills in the Rubenstein 'cello Sonata and accompany her in a group of shorter pieces. Following the program a tea and reception will be held for the artists.

The Rehearsal Club of Upper Montclair will have Miss Ellsworth and Mrs. Mills as their artists on their Wednesday afternoon program.

Miss Ellsworth, who seems totally unaffected by the attention

the musical world is bestowing upon her, spends her spare moments in arranging her new studio which has its own entrance at 275 Little street, just two blocks from her former address.

Philharmonic Tea

A Philharmonic tea and musicale was given Sunday afternoon by Eleanor Bacon-Peck, first vice-president of the Philharmonic Symphony Society of New Jersey, at her studios, to create interest in the society and in the concert to be given in the Moscone on January 22 by the orchestra under Henri Pensis, with Germaine Leroux, French pianist as soloist. Mrs. Frank N. Garland of Newark, president of the society, spoke of the aims and work of her organization. Guests from Belleville included Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Hayes, Mrs. H. C. Schmutz, the Misses Helen and Margaret McNair, Elsie Gibson Gause, Sylvia Seymour, and Donald Gause. Guests from Bloomfield, Newark and Glen Ridge were also present.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Since the primary elections will not be held this year until September there is a tacit understanding among politicians that discussions about candidates be kept at a minimum. No such understanding, however, exists regarding the Newark commission election. This will be held May 20 which is only four months away. Already Newark is one giant rumor factory, operating on a mass production basis and on a 24-hour schedule. If appliances could be turned out in Newark as efficiently as rumors Hitler wouldn't bother to fight it out. He would bow to superior force much as the unhappy Bulgarians are expected to do.

Kelly Not a Candidate

The rumor so far to attract the most attention in the suburbs was that Col. William H. Kelly, erstwhile county chairman of the Democrats, would be a candidate. This was circulated first by the Sunday Call's columnist Carteret, who carefully noted that Kelly had changed his voting residence from East Orange to the Robert Treat. The political "line-em-up boys" who remembered Kelly's liberality in distributing his autograph (on checks) in 1937, were all for it. Carteret was a more popular writer than Shakespeare for the time being, but his fame was short-lived. Kelly quickly spiced the rumor in terms that could not be mistaken and gloom was on the faces of "the boys." Kelly didn't say, however, that he would have no part in the election, so there is still hope that he may be campaign manager for a ticket, as he was four years ago.

Can't Beat Ellenstein

Public sentiment among Newark politicians has about crys-talized on one point: Mayor Ellenstein is too strong to be beaten. The man most responsible for this belief is none other than Mayor Frank Hague. Weeks ago Hague gave the word that he would back Ellenstein for re-election. This started the bar-travagor rolling and most Democratic leaders of prominence have climbed on it. Many of these hope that Gerald McLaughlin can be induced to run with him. Another likely member of the team is John Brady who has already started his campaign.

Left unanswered is the question about Commissioner Byrnes. Byrnes is bitterly hostile to Mayor Ellenstein and is personally non grata around the prosecutor's office. Members of the prosecutor's staff resent some criticism of the conduct of that office by Byrnes and would just as soon see him retire when his present term is up. McLaughlin, however, and Byrnes are said to be still friendly. A word from Jersey City would probably end this tempest-in-a-teapot feud and if it should seem politically wise, Byrnes would probably be offered a place in the prospective bracket.

Vanderbilt and the News

Watching all this are two more-than-casual bystanders, Arthur T. Vanderbilt and The Newark Evening News. Neither will ever compromise with Ellenstein, and Vanderbilt is not likely to give any support to a candidate whom Hague favors. A fusion ticket headed by Byrnes, should the latter break with Hague, would delight The News and probably Vanderbilt. But such stands in the way of such a ticket. The influence of both The News and Vanderbilt is greater outside of Newark than in that city. Working more or less together, they can usually swing a county election, but not one in Newark.

An unusual sidelight to the Newark situation is the reluctance of any major group to team up with an Italian-American candidate. The death of the late Themistocles Mancusi-Ungaro left an opening that will be hard to fill. Clean Government and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour R. Pellet and Douglas Clark will be made and elections of officers for the coming year will be held. It is expected that a large local delegation will attend the annual dinner of the Robert Treat Council in Newark on Wednesday, January 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schreyer of Smallwood avenue had as dinner guests Saturday evening Seymour Case and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Case of Sunnyside, L. I. and other groups were prepared and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour R. Pellet and Douglas Clark will be made and elections of officers for the coming year will be held.

It is the great-grandfather of the Schreyer children, Jeanne, Norman and Thelma.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Why Not Face The Facts

After all, this is a practical age, and we are a practical people. Why should we shun something that is inevitable? There should be no sentimentalism about arranging for funerals in advance. In itself, it is a business procedure, and the many people who have come to us concerning this feature, have taken that attitude.

Consider its advantages—how it immeasurably relieves the responsibility placed upon those who are left behind, and how it avoids dissatisfaction in any way.

Montclair Driver Crashes Into Stone Wall

James Wright, twenty-four, of 103 Watchung avenue, Montclair, thought it was a street; but it turned out to be a stone wall and that wasn't very good for his car. Driving west in William street Friday night, he attempted a left turn into what he thought was the intersection of Bridge street.

What Wright did not know was that Bridge does not go straight across William but, for some unaccountable reason, twists up William street another hundred feet. His car climbed the sidewalk and crashed into the stone wall by St. Peter's Church.

He was brought to police headquarters and examined for intoxication but was found not to have been under the influence. However, he was given a summons to answer a charge of damaging property — he loosened several stones in the wall.
