

Teachers Carry Fight For Pay Increases To The Taxpayers

Will Renew Appeal Before Board Monday Night; Claim Salaries Lower Than Elsewhere

The Belleville Teachers' Association will make another attempt Monday night to have the Board of Education reconsider its refusal to put the requested amount to cover desired raises for school employees in the 1941 school budget. This was decided Monday afternoon at a meeting of the association held in the auditorium of School No. 8. The association has asked for an appropriation of approximately $17,000 additional in the budget to care for raises and higher salaries under a proposed new "automatic raise" system. When the proposal was first put forth two months ago, members of the school board estimated that the cost would be nearer $23,000.

The Teachers' Association has become a strongly-knit unit in the past several weeks and has become what Herman Walker, executive secretary of the Newark Teachers' Association, characterized as something akin to a union in its collective bargaining power. Walker addressed the local group at Monday's meeting.

The teachers are emphatic in declaring that remedial steps must be taken in the near future. It was pointed out at Monday's meeting that Belleville has the lowest salary average in the county and that it is more than $350 below the average for the state. While insisting that they intend to have "cordial relations" with the Board of Education, the teachers made "unification and solidarity" the keynote of their revived association.

"The teachers had no worries in the good times," Walker told the teachers, of whom more than 100 were present at the session. "They were not in the habit of being in salary trouble." Ten years ago the troubles started with the depression, he declared, and that was when the new type of teacher association was born.

Forced To Organize

"In 1933 the cost of living was up and salaries down. Teachers were forced to organize and acquire a spirit of collective bargaining," he said. He was not proud of any profession "which pays less than $25 a week." He pointed out the years of preparation, the ability and the service to the community provided by the educators.

Belleville, he said, is pointed at as the example in Newark and teachers there are asked why they need higher salaries when they work for such low salaries in Belleville. Does it cost less to live in Belleville? I'm sure bread, eggs and butter are no lower here than they are in Newark. I don't think the doctor and dentist make special prices for you because you live in Belleville."

Walker declared that the primary difficulty with all the municipal education systems is the constantly decreasing state aid in New Jersey, which gives far less than most of the other states in the nation toward local schooling. He also stressed the need of educating the townspeople and the Board of Education to the need for higher salaries.

The first step in the association's fight for salary increases was the enlisting of every member to write a letter to each member of the school board, asking them to reconsider "their new budget to include sufficient funds to make the salary schedule" proposed by the association "effective for all school employees during the next school year."

Appeal To Public

As the second step and one directed primarily at the citizens of the town, each teacher was asked to contact ten persons, explaining to them the issues at stake and asking for their support in the campaign. To each interested citizen this week has been handed a mimeographed handbill entitled "Do Belleville voters want cheap schools and underpaid teachers?"

The paper contains a table which shows a rise of $533,000 in town expenditures between 1929 and 1939. During the same period, the paper states, the amount spent on education has risen only $20,000. In 1929 education cost 32.2 per cent of the town's expenditures while in 1939 it was only 24.4 per cent. Says the handbill: "Total town expenditures have increased 36.7 per cent since 1929. Town education expenditures have increased 4.4 per cent since 1929. Shouldn't the investment in your child's education be increased in the same proportion as other services are increased?"

"Of the fourteen communities in Essex County only Belleville, Newark and Orange average thirty pupils to a class. Glen Ridge has twenty-one. Wouldn't your child receive better education in a smaller class?"

"The instruction cost for each child in Belleville is $53 per year. All other communities in Essex County pay from twenty-five to 100 per cent more. Is it fair to the children to spend less for their instruction than is spent on a neighboring town?"

Lowest In County

The average Belleville teacher salary is $1,611, the lowest in the county.

COMMUNITY HOUSE IN SILVER LAKE MAKES REPORT

Mrs. Herkins Writes About Work Organization Did During Year

The importance of the Silver Lake Community House to the educational, character building, and social life of the community was stressed in the annual report submitted this week to the officers of the House by its manager, Mrs. Martha S. Herkins. In spite of increased activity by other agencies in the neighborhood, including the establishment of Edison Field as a Recreation Department playground, the facilities of the House were well patronized during 1940.

"In the matter of club life, the Community House is not unlike a school with its rotation of classes," said the report. "Children become members in early life and, generally speaking, stay with us through their adolescent years and on until business and 'cupid' claim them."

The staff offers assistance in solving "all sorts of problems. Members and non-members come to us with their family troubles; when they need advice and assistance in sickness and when unemployment makes itself felt in their family budgets. They come to us when one of their family gets in the toils of the law."

Trips to the World's Fair and to seashore resorts were organized during the summer. Many clubs for boys and girls have been organized there: the Hi-Hos, the Debs, the Owls, the Robins, the Condors and the Penguins. Members are starting to come in from the Stephen Crane Federal Housing Project on North Sixth street, Newark.

Scout Troop Organized

At the request of the Thomas A. Edison Company, a Boy Scout troop was organized under their sponsorship with Peter Caruso as scoutmaster. The House also organized a white and a colored Girl Scout troop.

Of the summer program, Mrs. Herkins said: "Our lack of equipment on the playground is a big handicap. Inventory taken at the end of the season disclosed the following: three big swings (bolts badly worn), two baby swings (fair condition), two sets of quoits, volleyball standard and net and tables for games."

The library has been rejuvenated, a set of new shelves added, new lighting fixtures and 482 books from the Belleville Public Library. The interior of the House was painted during the year, additional lighting fixtures installed, a concrete floor laid and other improvements carried out.

"When Italy entered the war last June, I anticipated that we might have some trouble... due to a misguided racial patriotism but I am happy to state that my fears were unjustified... No attention is being paid, at least (Continued on Page 2)

Relief Cost And Cases Showed A Big Drop In 1940, Hewitt Reports, But Administrative Cost Stayed Up

Salaries and Administration Higher Today Than During Peak of 1938

Relief costs and the number of persons on relief showed a sharp drop in 1940, according to the annual report by Overseer of the Poor John J. Hewitt to Public Affairs Director Joseph King this week. The number of persons being carried on the public pocketbook slithered to an all-time low in December, declining from 1,164 at the beginning of the year to 656 last month. The previous bottom figure was 733, reached in July of 1937. 1940's figure of an average of 986 on public relief, while a distinct drop from 1939, was nevertheless still higher than 1937 when an average of 979 persons per month were supported by the town. One of the most encouraging signs in last year's tabulations, however, is the fact that the relief load dropped almost uninterruptedly since the first of the year. Only in February and May were there increases and since the latter month there has been a steady decrease. The active case load report together with the commitments for relief for last year shows:

Month	Cases	Persons	Cost
January	282	1,164	$8,535.99
February	287	1,231	9,541.08
March	267	1,131	9,554.86

December	160	656	6,888.44
Monthly ave.	2,885	11,889	$95,435.86

Comparative figures for each of the years since the local Welfare Department was set up on April 16, 1937 show that 1940 was equal to the minor business boom of 1937 as reflected in relief load and surpassed it in relief costs. In the following table it must be remembered that only eight and one-half months are considered in 1936:

NOLL'S BUS POWER FINALLY DEFINED BY COMMISSION

Authority In Transportation Matters Is Established By Resolution

Final definition of the power of Director Noll of the Department of Parks and Public Property to grant municipal consents to bus lines in his own right and without the necessity of concurrence on the part of the rest of the Board of Commissioners was made by a resolution passed last night at the Commission meeting.

The resolution pointed out that transportation matters, insofar as they "shall involve common carriers and public utilities," were assigned to the department in May, 1938 and that "it was intended to delegate to said department the power of this board to issue consents for the operation of any autobus" carrying passengers in any part of the town.

The document was drawn, it was understood, to prevent any question by transportation companies of Noll's authority in the matter and places full authority to grant and change consents in his hands.

Noll asked Town Attorney Keenan for his opinion on the question several weeks ago and Keenan suggested "that an amendment or a supplement to the original resolution delegating specifically the power given to the Board by virtue of the Public Utilities Act would be a better basis for the exercise of said powers than your department has at present."

Reflects Future Attitude

"You brought to my attention," Keenan said, "the recent case in the Supreme Court... which I believe reflects the future attitude of the court relating to the delegation by a municipal governing body of (such) powers."

"The court indicated that municipal consent preliminary to the matter being considered by the Public Utilities Commission given by Mayor Ellenstein of Newark, who had had assigned to him the control of streets in that city, was sufficient and that it was not necessary for the full board to give this consent."

Keenan cited the fact that the local Commission had delegated to Noll all the powers and duties relating to transportation matters. "To my mind, this indicates that the Board intended to give to you the same powers that were exercised by Mayor Ellenstein."

Zink Heads Five Committees In State Senate

State Senator Homer C. Zink of 26 Rossmore place was made chairman of five major committees, it was announced Tuesday by Senate President Scott. The local man will head the groups dealing with elections, economy and reorganization, municipal aid, and revision and amendment of laws in the Senate and the joint committee on election reform.

Police court clerk Frederick B. Handlon, who lives at 243 Greylock parkway, was elected the first president of the New Jersey Court Clerks Association when the organization met Monday night in the Town Hall here. Twenty-one members were present and ten voted by proxy. Recorder Everett B. Smith was named counsel.

The association was organized last month to promote "general welfare, to exchange ideas" and to study legislation affecting police clerks. It now numbers 168 members from every section of the state. The next meeting will be held January 31 in Irvington.

The other officers are John Grossi of Paterson, vice-president; Philip Deutsch of Irvington, secretary; George Benson of Clifton, treasurer; S. M. Staats of Plainfield, sergeant-at-arms.

ISSUES WARNING ON INFLUENZA

No Cases Reported Here But Health Officer Gives Advice

Health Officer Berry yesterday warned citizens of the prevalence of influenza that is spreading throughout the country. "Influenza travels in cycles, but fortunately the present disease does not compare in severity with the epidemic of 1918," Berry said.

"To date the United States Public Health Service reports that approximately 100,000 cases have been reported during the present epidemic. To date no cases have been reported in Belleville."

"Influenza usually strikes overtired people or those whose resistance is low through lack of sleep and too much work or pleasure seeking. In case you should contract a severe cold or think you are coming down with the grippe, the chances are it is the flu. Go to bed as soon as symptoms develop and remain there until thoroughly recovered. Call (Continued on Page 2)

Gigantic Playground Project Is Proposed For Turf Bog By Commissioner Waters

Patrick A. Waters, Commissioner Patrick A. Waters who conceived Turf Bog project.

Board Members Approve Plan To Cost $10,000; Swimming Pool Is Suggested

Belleville will get its municipal swimming pool a years of discussion. It will also get a paved playground covering 105,000 square feet which will provide space for basketball, volleyball, deck shuffleboard, handball and tennis. The town can also look forward to having the 10 square feet flooded to form one gigantic ice skating rink in the winter time. This was practically decided last when the Board of Commissioners unanimously (but specially) approved the impressive plans of Commissioner Waters for the completion of the Municipal Athletic Center at the Turf Bog. The project will cost the municipality $10,000 more. Waters told the Commission that he had remaining $100,000 in WPA grants for labor, $15,000 for materials and that, unless the money is used on the Bog, it must be returned.

Waters said he had proposed the new development he saw the response. He said the town had opened ten days ago for tennis courts. He said that 20,000 skaters had rink in that time.

The latest plan calls for of the courts and the 60,000 square feet of them. A curbing would around the entire area could be flooded in ice skating. In this case, the town would be placed many different ball courts and the skating rink.

Pool Nothing

The swimming pool nothing new. Various town have been trying for many years. The town had been planning for several years to build a Recreation Camp, closed.

The exact location is not yet set. Ten years ago, the town had a pool on the other side of the town. A new pool was planned when Waters was there. There are four lots in town property that all have delinquent taxes. These are taken over by the town. The pool would be near Noiton street where, according to Waters, the locker shower rooms in the stadium could be used and no bathhouse would have to be built.

The pool would be 75 by 100 feet and would be comparable to a model in Montclair which caught the Commissioner's eye some time ago.

Sewerage problems are also solved there, by the fact that there is a sewer line under the pool site. Water would be supplied for the pool from one of two springs in the vicinity. One of the springs said to give 110,000 gallons of water a day.

It was pointed out at last night's meeting that the swimming pool could be not only supporting but also self liquidating. At a small nominal admission charge, the interest on the pool would have to be paid off in short time.

The four other commissioners all jumped in wholeheartedly. Waters' plan. He pointed out the present request for a pool would be the last and would cost $100,000. The town has 100 in the whole town. The project so far and the town's effort has been 100 through WPA.

Waters said that Engineer Sheehy had all ready and submit all their plans. They will sit with Mayor and Williams within a week to make final plans. The final plan is in the 1941.

WORK STOPPED

Ground Broken For Plant; Work In Mid-May

Ground was broken for the new plant of the Kidde Company, located on the old site between Washington and the riverfront near the border of the town. The work was started for the first time, which will be north of Roosevelt and east of the Erie Railroad.

Company officials said that they expect to be ready for occupancy by mid-May. They denied reports that the work would be carried on a four-hour basis. No permit had been taken yesterday but the project is expected to cost in the hood of a million dollars.

Draft Officials And Doctor On The Merry-go-Round

Dr. William Halpern In and Out and In Again All During A Week; Final Disposition of Case Won't Come up Until Some Time in March

The celebrated case of Dr. Halpern moved with startling rapidity this week but was by no means finished, even with the "final" decision of the local draft board. The last chapter probably will not be written until some time in March when his commission in the Army Medical Corps is expected to come through. Meantime, it has been a merry game of "pass it around, boys" between Belleville, Newark, Trenton and Washington. The subject of the whole thing is tall, amiable William Halpern, M.D., of 224 Washington avenue who received state-wide publicity several weeks ago when it was made known that he was the first doctor to be actually drafted for military service. Practically every medico of conscription age has gotten at least promises of commissions in the medical corps. So did Halpern, but his commission is not scheduled to come through until March.

He passed his medical examination here and was placed in Class I-A. The local Selective Service Board might, it is understood, have given him a temporary deferment until March, if it chose. But it did not. Correspondence with state officials in Trenton brought an opinion, according to Chief Clerk Edward Reed, that there is "no authority in the regulations to defer a registrant merely because he has applied for a commission."

A Lyndon Brice, an official in the Newark induction headquarters, also took the matter up with Trenton. Reed said, and the answer was the same. "There was no alternative but to induct the man," according to Reed, "pending receipt of his commission."

Sent Back Home

Halpern was sent down to Newark with the rest of the contingent of thirteen that went on Friday. After a conference with Major Scialy there, he was sent back to tell the local board to defer him until he receives his commission. Halpern had closed his office and so went to visit his family in Woodbine until his time came.

Monday morning, however, Newark called saying that a telegram had just been received from national headquarters in Washington stating that "all doctors in I-A are to be inducted." After several hours of telephoning, Halpern was located in Woodbine and told to report for the January 24 call. It was not indicated who called Washington's attention to the matter.

Edwin W. Lowe of 505 Joram street, a volunteer, was sent down Monday morning to take Halpern's place. Three men have been added to the January 24 quota of seventeen to fill the places of the three who were turned down at the induction station Friday.

Reed yesterday issued the corrected list of the twenty men who will leave Belleville a week from tomorrow:

Dr. William Halpern of 224 Washington avenue, Newark; Reed of 25 Van Houten place, Newark; Post of 113 Forest street, Newark; Mario Malorano of 102 Dow street, Newark; John C. Worthington of 177 Holmes street, Newark; Edward J. of 188 Franklin street, Newark; Joseph Tish of 67 Frederick street, Newark; William J. Bryan, Jr., of 503 Union avenue, Newark; Raymond A. Farnagot of 2 Lake street, Newark; Anthony Dorella of 79 Heckel street, Newark; Carmine Della Fera of 130 Heckel street, Newark; Louis Pesci of 38 Eugene place, Newark; Anthony J. of 133 Washington street, Newark; Francis J. of 133 Washington street, Newark; Joseph A. of 57 King street, Newark; Thomas Fitzgerald of 1 Smallwood avenue, Newark; R. R. of 67 Heckel street, Newark; Francis J. of 133 Washington street, Newark; J. Bahula of 96 Passaic avenue, Newark; R. Wyckoff, Jr., of 481 Union avenue, Newark.

tion of Mill street, being one of the necessary factors in protecting the new road on the south side of the Second River."

Hewitt called the relief woodyard on Montgomery place "our crowning achievement." Two buildings have been erected there, one of which is 108 feet by thirty feet. It is divided into three sections: one housing two trucks, another the thirty-foot crescent circular saw and the third a work shop. The other building, nearly complete, will be a small home for a man who will be permanently located on the premises.

The yard was built at a very little cost to the town since the buildings were constructed mostly from structures demolished by the department. All wood cut there is used as fuel for relief clients and heating the department offices at 250 Mill street.

The abandonment of state aid for the sewing room has thrown the full burden on the town. This became effective January 1 and will mean a cost of $8 per month for each person employed there. Nutley has closed its sewing room and is now sending its workers to Belleville and sharing the costs on a pro rata basis. All garments made in the sewing room are in relief cases.

More than 2,000 toys "and considerable clothing" were donated to the department's Christmas fund last month. The department remained open until late Christmas Eve distributing the gifts to needy children and their families. The Housekeeping Aide project employs twelve persons and services members of families in which the mothers are convalescing and are therefore in need of aid temporarily. "This program is a distinct aid at a time when physical resources are at a low point and helps to aid a quick rehabilitation."

The Pre-School Nursery project sponsored by WPA is aided by the Welfare Department, which pays its rent at Veterans' Hospital, and permits work-for-relief to help clean up.

It is of interest to note that some employables have secured private employment who, because of physical and social limitations, might reasonably be presumed to be long-time dependencies. It emphasizes the difficulty to label one as being unemployable and resolves itself into a matter of job placement."

"The Town of Belleville has operated a work-for-relief program since 1936. We feel that the idle time of employables, no matter what the degree of employability is, should be used to try to perform some effort as a conditioning effect. We believe they should become job conscious and that the community merits some return for their rehabilitation interest."

Interest Rate On Taxes Overdue Is Lowered

The interest rate on overdue taxes was lowered from eight to seven percent by a resolution adopted last night by the Board of Commissioners. The move was taken on the recommendation of Mayor Williams who said that he believed the higher rate worked a considerable burden on those who had fallen behind. There will be no interest charge for the first ten days after each deadline. These will be the ten days of grace.
The board also passed its temporary budget of $326,000 to operate the town until the 1941 budget is passed, probably some time next month.

Mayor Promises Action Soon On Riverfront Land

Improvement of the much-discussed strip of town-owned property between the Passaic River and the plant of the New York Color & Chemical Company was practically promised last night as Mayor Williams said at the commission meeting that definite proposals would be brought into the next meeting of the board.
Mrs. Samuel Tiger and Mrs. Mary J. Peck represented the Valley Improvement Association at the meeting and requested that the plot be graded and seeded. Williams will confer with the Essex County Park Commission in the near future and will come back in two weeks armed with definite proposals. Another story on this matter will be found on Page 5.

TOWN WON'T PAY MEN DRAFTED

Board Aims Matter After Request Is Made By Michael D'Agostino

Municipal employees who are caught in the draft will not receive the difference between their regular pay and their salaries as privates. This was laid down as a matter of policy by the Board of Commissioners at last night's meeting.
The matter was brought up for discussion as a result of a letter received from Michael D'Agostino wrote that he expected to be called for compulsory military training within a few weeks, that he is the first municipal employee to be drafted and that he felt that the town should make up the difference in the salaries.
The Commission held a lengthy, private conference on the subject. Mayor Williams said, and decided against the requested policy. The board does not know how many men would be affected, the Mayor said, but there is every indication that the eventual cost would be substantial.
He pointed out that there are many men in private industry who are not receiving such consideration when they are drafted. "We must recognize that the annual cost may run into a rather large sum," he said.
"While the Board is appreciative of the patriotic contribution of these men who join the service and is also appreciative of the many services rendered to the town, it was the unanimous decision of this Board that such a policy could not be adopted."

RINK IS GIVEN 1-YEAR PERMIT

Effect Of Riviera Park Roller Skating Arena On Rest Of Neighborhood Aired

Another one-year license was granted the Riviera Park Roller Skating Rink by the Commission last night but not before it had discussed possible revocation and the effect of the rink on the surrounding neighborhood. They granted the permit when William Mishkind, proprietor of the place, told them that he had $32,000 invested in the plant and anticipated expenditures of $8,000 more in improvements.
The feelings of the White Oaks development were considered. The board felt that the developers plan on bringing their settlement as far east as Linden avenue and that would bring them quite close to the rink. But Mishkind pointed out that he owns a lot with 358 feet of frontage on Washington avenue and, with an option which he holds on two acres behind the plot, controls as far west as Beach street.
The board was doubtful on the permit until Commissioner Waters jumped in to say that the board had no right to revoke a license which would jeopardize a man's livelihood. "The rink makes less noise than that new plant across the street will," he was referring to the Walter Kidde Company now being planned. "There is nothing we can do but grant this license until the place becomes a nuisance."
The owners tried to get the board to commit itself to a permanent license but the Commission would have none of it. "You got a least a three-bagger. Don't ask for too much."

TO TRY AGAIN

Adult School Scheduled With Registration Tonight And Tomorrow

One more attempt to open the Belleville Adult School will be made next week, Hugh D. Kittle, director, has announced. He has set tonight and tomorrow night for registrations for the twenty-seven courses offered and the first classes are scheduled to open next Thursday in the high school. It had been hoped early last fall to hold two semesters of the school this year. The first attempt failed, however, when a disappointing number registered in October. At that time the project was abandoned and registration fees refunded. No announcement has been made regarding the course of action to be followed should a similar situation arise this week.
Even the return from the postal card mailing conducted by the school committee under the chairmanship of Charles A. Gebhardt was disappointing. The committee mailed 225 cards out to former registrants asking them whether or not they would be interested in the courses this year. The mailing was made a month ago and by this week 165 had been returned. Of these approximately forty were sent back by the post office for faulty addresses; another forty or fifty said they were not interested and the remainder indicated a desire to continue their studies.
The courses are offered for a ten-week period ending March 27. The subjects covered in the syllabus are bookkeeping, contract bridge, English, Spanish, golf, home decorating, mathematics, photography, public speaking, etymology, sewing, typewriting, blueprint reading, home nursing, mechanical drawing, Americanization and naturalization, "just fishin'" world affairs, handicraft, "the changing world in plays and theatre," cooking for men, music appreciation, law for laymen, personality and vocational adjustment.
Kittle said that twenty-one post cards showed a preference for the golf course, which will be taught by Maurice O'Connor. Eight were interested in public speaking and the remainder were split among the remainder of the subjects.

Bank Officers Re-Elected

All officers of the People's National Bank were re-elected Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the bank. B. Thomas Aitken was named for his third term as president. The other officers are Albert B. Luscombe, executive vice-president; Luther E. Van Pelt, cashier and trust officer; Frank J. Bolen and Louis J. Ventura, assistant cashiers.
The bank retired $6,000 of preferred stock during 1940, it was reported, and added $10,000 to the surplus. Resources increased $229,000 during the year.

Town Decides Not To Close Arthur Avenue

Arthur avenue will not be closed off — and least, not entirely. Arthur avenue is a little street which runs between Franklin and Smallwood avenues forming a triangular island. The county wanted to close it to prevent accidents at the intersection after fire through thoroughfare of Franklin avenue opens.
The county went so far as to build its Franklin avenue curbs right across the mouth of Arthur avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Eli J. Snow of 28 Smallwood avenue appealed to the Commission last night to keep the street open for their convenience. They own property which runs between the two streets.
The Commission acquiesced but decided to make it a dead end street so that cars cannot enter Franklin avenue. A complaint about rubbish and dirt in Arthur street was referred to Commissioner Clark for investigation.

CAN'T APPRECIATE ALIENS' FEELING

Foreigners Possess Something Not Appreciated By Citizens, Says Captain

Aliens who are flooding naturalization offices these days "have something which even we do not appreciate," Capt. Howard K. Shaw, assistant judge advocate of the 44th Division at Fort Dix, said. The Good American Council, Daughters of America, at its installation ceremonies in Veterans' Hall Tuesday night.
Capt. Shaw represented Major General Clifford Powell, who was unable to attend. "The people who are getting citizenship papers," he said, "are really interested in the country that we were born in and often do not appreciate."
These aliens "have made a choice. They have become American citizens because they want to be and have seen something which inspires them. The least we can do is to make sure that what we have is passed on to the next generation." The captain answered numerous questions from the audience about Fort Dix.
William Wakefield, past state councilor of the J. O. U. A. M., represented Congressman Hartley, who had been scheduled to speak. It was understood that Hartley was ill with a throat infection. Through Wakefield, the Congressman thanked the people of Belleville "from the bottom of his heart for the very loyal support given him in his last campaign."
Sadie Linkletter, a member of the national council of the D. of A., also spoke and outlined the aims and functions of the organization. The audience was entertained by accordion selections by Theresa Masciola of Newark.

Credit Woman With Saving Lives Of Three Children

The bravery of one woman was believed to have been the cause of saving the lives of three children Saturday when fire swept through their apartment at 136 Heckel street. Mrs. Regina Fabio of that address broke the window, roused the children and led them to safety. She suffered cuts on her arms.
The building is a six-family dwelling. Fire broke out in the apartment of John Citradella and was discovered by Mrs. Fabio, who smelled the smoke. Citradella and his three children were sleeping. The building is said to be owned by Mrs. Camella Constantino and was damaged to the extent of $500.

List Of Engagements Continues To Grow

Kimble-Wedekind

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Wedekind of East Orange have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Florence, to Edgar M. Kimble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Kimble of 286 Cortlandt street. Mr. Kimble is a Belleville High graduate and is employed with the New York Color & Chemical Company. They plan a July wedding.

Braedel-DuMont

Xavier F. DuMont of 20 Hornblower avenue has announced the engagement of his daughter, Frances, to Francis L. Braedel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Braedel of Newark.

Christiano-Juliano

Mrs. Rose Juliano of Bloomfield has announced the engagement of her daughter, Genevieve, to Angelo Christiano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Christiano of 15 Lake street.

Petreans Will Hold Breakfast Dance February 21

The Petrean Club's formal affair which was announced tentatively last week has been definitely decided as a breakfast dance to be held on the eve of Washington's birthday, February 21, at the Forest Hill Field Club, Bloomfield.

A round robin chess tournament has been organized between club members and within the next few weeks the club champion should be decided. Among those contending are Nick Candura, William Liebau, Bernard Ward, William McCabe, Ramona Grey, May Watson, Bob Farrell and James Donachie.

Members of the entertainment committee have volunteered their services to Rev. Joseph Kelly, pastor of St. Peter's Church to be used in serving refreshments at a program to be presented by the children of St. Peter's school. Tom Mullen has accepted the chairmanship of the glee club and has requested that anyone interested in singing call him as soon as possible.

SCENES reminiscent of Chateau Frontenac may be observed almost daily now in and around Alderney Milk Barn on Route 10. Girls in colorful ski outfits and boys in cumbersome mackinaws and red ear-muffs have been making the place a rendezvous during ice-skating weather, and ravenously hungry from long hours of fun in the outdoors, they pile in the orders for Alderney oyster stews faster than they can be turned out. With ice skates slung over their shoulders these red-cheeked jersey-makers frequently go for second helpings. Late afternoon the Alderney Barn closely resembles a Canadian ski shop, and when skating is possible the management anticipates a rush that will compete with mid-summer attendance records.

I LIKED the story of the mother and daughter who visited Busch & Sons' new jewelry store at Newark's Broad and William streets the other day. The mother was buying her daughter a graduation ring. "Funny," said the mother to the clerk, "my mother bought my graduation ring at Busch & Sons nineteen years ago. I've never had it off my finger!"

REASON those working at The Well, West Caldwell, are so full of pep these days and nights is because Mr. Bob Wyder, the boss, believes in applying a little psychology in business. He decided that if a fellow has to work on Sunday why not give him Monday off? He tried it Monday and it worked, because since, there has been a noticeable speeding-up all around.

A PLACE that is bound to go places is The Blue Door, Route 10, East Hanover. Only two months old under the management of Carl Mau and Frank Clement, it has become so popular because of the excellent food served, the owners are beginning to figure just how they can enlarge.

WALTER Libera, the young concert pianist playing in the new Pine Room at Pal's Cabin, West Orange, has been such a distinct hit that his original engagement has been extended. His first Sunday afternoon concert drew music lovers from many parts of northern New Jersey, and their compliments must have made Walter's ears burn.—Adv.

DOES FORD PAY GOOD WAGE

HERE ARE SOME FACTS about Ford Labor.

During the year ended November 30th, 1940, the Ford Payroll throughout the United States averaged 113,628 hourly wage earners, not including office employees, students, or executives. They were paid $185,105,639.12. On this basis, the average annual wage was $1,629.05.

According to the latest available government figures, the annual average wage of all workers in employment covered by old age insurance law was $841.00.

If the 45,000,000 workers of this country received the same average wage as Ford employees, they would have had additional wages of more than $35,000,000,000, thus increasing the national income about 50%. Think what such an increase would mean to the workers of this country and to the American farmer, whose prices are based on the national income.

Wage scales in the Ford Rouge plants are divided into three classifications:

Unskilled . . .

Minimum hiring wage . 75c per hour

Semi-skilled . . .

Minimum hiring wage . 80c per hour

Skilled . . .

Minimum hiring wage . 90c per hour

Higher wages are in consideration of ability and years of service.

Minimum wage scales for unskilled labor at the Rouge plant are the highest in the industry. Top wages for skilled labor compare favorably with, or are higher than, wages in other automobile plants.

Now some facts on Ford labor conditions:

Not only are sanitation and other health conditions the best in the industry, but Ford also leads in safety devices for the protection of employees. Proof of this is found in the following comparison of compensation insurance costs:

The national average rate in automotive manufacturing plants as computed by the National Association of Underwriters is in excess of $1.50 premium on each $100 payroll. The Ford cost of workmen's compensation is less than 50c.

This indicates that the chance of injury in a Ford plant is much less than in the average automobile plant.

The Ford Motor Company has no age limit for labor, and in fact deliberately attempts to keep older workers working. The average age of Ford workers at the Rouge and nearby plants is 38.7.

A recent check-up shows that nearly on half the workers at these Ford plants were 40 or over, falling into these age groups:

25,819 between 40 and 50

14,731 between 50 and 60

3,377 between 60 and 70

417 between 70 and 80

12 between 80 and 90

In addition to the so-called employees, the Ford Motor Company hires, and now has on the payroll some regular hourly wage, the workers who are blind, crippled, wise incapacitated for normal work. They are not selected ability to build cars or to man plant. They are on the payroll Henry Ford's belief that the rest of a large company to labor yond the point at which the worker can no longer produce

The above are facts. They are anyone who really wants to deal. Anyone who wants to get a job . . . or place a national defect tract on the basis of fair labor ment must place Ford at the of his eligible list.

Larry Gates Approves
The newest changes in the football rules should suit Larry Gates. The fine next fall if he makes an extra touchdown out of them. Now he thinks they are just about the finest things that have come down the pike—since the last rule changes. It sure is funny every coach has it all figured out exactly how any changes are to help him and "Oh, if we could only have done that in such such a game last fall." Seriously, Larry believes that all the changes are for the betterment of football generally and that at one will benefit Belleville directly. (Wasn't that nice of the fathers?) When Gates plunked himself down in the chair on the other side of our desk the other day, we just let him talk.

LOOKS LIKE IT'S DECIDED
The first change discussed was the elimination of the touchback. Unsuccessful fourth-down attempts, this means that the ball will be put in play on the five-yard line, and that's a bit to get out of.

North Ends Top West Quintet In Opening Clash Of Second Round
The second round of the West Belleville Basketball League was practically decided in the opening games last week. North Ends beat West End and that just about decided the outcome. These two quintets battled neck and neck in the first round and settled the issue when they played each other in the final contest.

The Northerners won that one, too. None of the other teams in the circuit was able to come anywhere near the two leaders in any game and none of them appears to have strengthened their outfits for the second round fight. The King Association tripped the Pirates in a low-scoring game. The Triangles were idle.

Then we came to the matter of the following backs to hand the ball forward on reverse plays instead of having to pass it back or sideways. "This was always a sticking point for officials. Some of the spin plays were mighty close and gave the officials gray hair. It is natural to pass it forward and sometimes it takes the guards out of a team to have a long run called back simply because an official thought the ball was handed forward. The change in the rules will help deception and should make the game much more interesting."

Well, of course, we then got to what rule changes Larry would like to see. Every coach has an opportunity to put it all on the shelf. It is a lot of abuse but it is the way to decide who have to decide who are not a team comes to the result and that's out of the team."

For their return to the rules which are still professional teams. Main points in the forward pass behind the line of scrimmage he believes that a seven-man line eliminated from high school. They are all defense, he says, schools can master to cope with the changes can handle the but not secondary. So much of the is taken up withamentals.

Riordan ran away with honors in the monthly contest sponsored by the Camera Club Monday at the Recreation House. He took first and second in the contest on points.

Mecca For Skaters From Near And Far

Belleville has become a mecca for ice skating enthusiasts from many parts of North Jersey in recent weeks. Pictured above is part of the crowd which jammed the new rink of the Public Works Department Sunday. The picture might have been taken any day since the rink froze several weeks ago, long before other ponds and streams were ready for skating. The 150-by-300-foot rink, located at the Turf Bog, was the work of Commissioner Waters. Yesterday Commissioner Noll announced that the pond on the Third River at the Recreation Camp is also ready for skating. The Recreation Department is setting up benches there, lights are being installed and the camp house is ready for use by the public.

The Junior Pals turned in the most impressive win of last week's contests in the Intermediate Basketball League, the only second division club to come up with a victory. They, along with several other clubs, have five games left with which to drag themselves up to eighth place or better to prevent elimination from the second round of the league.

The Pals trounced the Cardinals 35-24 with Lawlor nabbing fourteen points to lead the way. The league-leading Starlings kept their undefeated record intact, thanks to the cellar Senators who forfeited by failing to appear for their game. The Senators were discouraged by losing five games in a row, three of them by one-point margins. The Chiefs and the Imperials kept on the Starlings' heels by winning their games by comfortable margins.

Nobody Testifies Man Was Drunk—So He Ain't

Because not one witness, not even the doctor who examined him, would say flatly that he was intoxicated, James A. Maguire of 545 West 150th street, New York, escaped a conviction for drunken driving Friday morning. Acting Recorder Charles A. Gebhardt dismissed the complaint. Lawrence E. Keenan handled the prosecution for the town and Edward J. Abramson was defense attorney.

All the prosecution witnesses were hostile. Even James J. O'Dea of 60 Walnut street, the driver of the other car involved in an accident with Maguire, would not say under questioning anything more than that Maguire's eyes "looked tired" and that he talked irrationally.

Lawrence, bride of the president of the college. Miss Drentlau is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Drentlau of 370 DeWitt ave.

Where's The Turf Bog?

Before The News had been on the streets more than a few hours last week, its editorial office had received a dozen telephone calls asking for the location of the Turf Bog. Most of the calls came from Belleville residents! They wanted to get to the ice skating rink there. It had been thought that everybody in town had learned where the Turf Bog is during the past ten years of discussion and construction there.

Laurence Torley Talks About Dogs

America's pure-bred dogs already have begun to take their places in the national defense program and it is likely that during 1941 their aid will loom large in many fields. The American Kennel Club, the oldest membership club, Westminster, is donating the proceeds of its forthcoming show to the Red Cross. The Newark Kennel Club which will stage its annual show on Sunday January 26 is donating the proceeds of this event to St. James Hospital and it is expected that other notable exhibitions will follow suit by aiding worthy causes.

Various pure-bred dog organizations already have been actively engaged in helping sufferers in the war area. Canteens, ambulances, clothing and many other items in the present are being financed with the aid of "man's best friend." It is nothing new for pure-bred dog organizations to contribute to hospitals and charitable causes of all kinds. Many shows in different parts of the country have been carrying on this good work for many years.

BELLBOYS HALT JEFF QUINTET 26-22

Last Quarter Indifference Almost Costs Them Game; Jayvees Win

The high school courtmen had a narrow escape from defeat Friday night on the local court when final-quarter lagging nearly upset a runaway victory into a miserable defeat. After running up a 22-8 lead on unfortunate Thomas Jefferson of Elizabeth, the Bellboys tried to follow orders from the bench to "slow the ball down" and barely escaped with a 26-22 win.

The hard-playing junior varsity went through another romp in the preliminary to chalk up its third straight victory. The Bellboy understudies took a 24-3 halftime lead and finally wound up with a 46-15 triumph.

Captain Johnny Calichio was the sparkplug in the varsity's 8-0 lead at the end of the third quarter. The Blue and Gold leader dropped in two long set-shots and a beautiful one-hand flip under the basket during the canto. Bill Austin tallied the other goal on a follow-up. Jack Malcolm and Jim Joiner counted in the second period before the Jeffs started to move.

Norman Jones plopped in a pair of twin-pointers and Allan Mayer tallied on three foul shots to bring the score up to 12-7 by halftime. During this half of the game the Bellboys missed all of their five foul shots, for which they and the team manager heard plenty between Coach Wise, who had the reins during Al McBride's illness.

Extend Lead To 22-8

Early in the second half the Bellboys finally realized that Joiner was not covered under the basket nearly 100 per cent of the time. He dropped in three baskets in the next few minutes. With a flurry of scoring, the locals ran the score up to 22-8 and then the Jeffs got busy.

The lagging of the Zebras was the best offense the Betsytowners could have had. The Bellboys started late in the third quarter trying to freeze the ball. With erratic passing and the game slowed down to a snooze as far as Belleville was concerned, the visitors had little difficulty stealing the ball any time they chose.

From that point to the final whistle they outscored the winners 14-4 and nearly gave the Zebras a different story. The Jayvees provided the real playing of the night, even though the competition was far from keen. With a dozen or so men who have seen action in all games this year, the Blue and Gold has an outfit which will assure good teams in future years.

In winning their third straight on Friday, the Bellboy underlings showed real power, snappy ball handling, an aggressive attack and a close-guarding defense which permitted Jefferson mightily few shots at the basket. After running up a 42-11 lead in the first three quarters they were able to drift through the final period concentrating on defensive work.

Two Tough Games Ahead For Bellboy Quintet

West Orange Bounces Them 29-22; Rough Weather Ahead With Orange and Bloomfield Next On The Schedule To Be Met

Belleville High's third loss in five starts came Tuesday night at the hands of the high-riding Cowboys from West Orange, 29-22, in the local gym. Neither team showed much real scoring punch but the visitors were able to summon just a little bit more than the homesters. Now the Bellboys are looking forward to two more tarts in their schedule and both games will be played on foreign courts. Tomorrow night they will go, bag and baggage, to Orange and will visit Bloomfield on Tuesday. Both teams held the Indian sign on the Blue and Gold last year but Belleville eked out a one-point margin from the Bengals on the c-

ST. PETER'S SHOCK CHURCH LEAGUE

Team Hangs Up Scoring Record In Thrashing Episcopalians 53-16

St. Peter's alarming quintet, until recently one of the weakest in the Church Basketball League, gave the rest of the city something to shoot at Monday night as it hung up a new scoring record in the history of the loop. The Petreans scored from every place on the floor to blitz Christ Episcopal with a 53-16 trouncing.

Episcopal has won only one game this year and that the opener from hapless Congregation A. A. Monday they were no match for a St. Peter's outfit that reached top speed to win its third in a row. Johnny Rhodes, also tied the mark set up earlier in the year by Mike Marotti of Italian Baptist by tallying twenty points.

The Italians took a more secure hold on their title of "flood of the season." They had won four straight games and were considered a cinch to cop the title, when suddenly the team fell apart. Monday they were beaten by Grace Baptist for their third straight defeat. Fewsmith Presbyterian and Wesley Methodist also won. The league-leading Reform quintet was idle.

HAFFNERS HOLD LEAD ALONE

Floater Bounce Baldwin Brush 41-39; Royals Lose To Eagles

Haffner's Floaters took the big step toward the second round championship of the Senior Basketball League Tuesday night by tripping Baldwin Brush 41-39 in a thrilling extra-period contest.

The outcome left Haffner's in sole possession of the top rung of the ladder, since the Eagles came along later and obligingly lost to the Royals.

The Floaters led by a single point at the end of the first quarter but were in a 23-21 hole at half-time. A rally in the third stanza again put them in the lead and Baldwin had to come thundering up to gain a tie just at the end of the game. Haffner's won the extra period 4-2.

Don Richards and Ted Close were the big guns in the Haffner attack with twelve and ten points respectively. Every man in the line-up scored at least two marks. Bud Brown was high for the Brushers, with fourteen. It was a rough game. Baldwin lost via personal fouls, Haffner's finished without Close, Breen, Walters and Plenge.

The Eagles, who have the same names and faces in their line-up but who have lost all their punch since last year, were on the short end of a 32-24 score in their contest with the Royals. Chubby Andrews popped them in from all angles to wind up the evening with fifteen points.

With Johnny Rhodes continuing the brilliant scoring he began Monday in the Church circuit, the Belleville Rosery was able to slap a 32-27 loss on the seniors, who have been able to do little or nothing since Ed Stryski went to Fort Dix.

Petreans Will Hold Breakfast Dance February 21

The Petrean Club's formal affair which was announced tentatively last week has been definitely decided as a breakfast dance to be held on the eve of Washington's birthday, February 21, at the Forest Hill Field Club, Bloomfield.

A round robin chess tournament has been organized between club members and within the next few weeks the club champion should be decided. Among those contending are Nick Candura, William Liebau, Bernard Ward, William McCabe, Ramona Grey, May Watson, Bob Farrell and James Donachie.

Members of the entertainment committee have volunteered their services to Rev. Joseph Kelly, pastor of St. Peter's Church to be used in serving refreshments at a program to be presented by the children of St. Peter's school. Tom Mullen has accepted the chairmanship of the glee club and has requested that anyone interested in singing call him as soon as possible.

SCENES reminiscent of Chateau Frontenac may be observed almost daily now in and around Alderney Milk Barn on Route 10. Girls in colorful ski outfits and boys in cumbersome mackinaws and red ear-muffs have been making the place a rendezvous during ice-skating weather, and ravenously hungry from long hours of fun in the outdoors, they pile in the orders for Alderney oyster stews faster than they can be turned out.

With ice skates slung over their shoulders these red-cheeked merry-makers frequently go for second helpings. Late afternoon the Alderney Barn closely resembles a Canadian ski shop, and when skiing is possible the management anticipates a rush that will compete with mid-summer attendance records.

I LIKED the story of the mother and daughter who visited Busch & Sons' new jewelry store at Newark's Broad and William streets the other day. The mother was buying her daughter a graduation ring. "Funny," said the mother to the clerk, "my mother bought my graduation ring at Busch & Sons nineteen years ago. I've never had it off my finger!"

REASON those working at The Well, West Caldwell, are so full of life these days and nights is because Mr. Bob Wyder, the boss, believes in applying a little psychology in business. He decided that if a fellow has to work on Sunday why not give him Monday off? He tried it Monday and it worked, because since, there has been a noticeable speeding-up all around.

A PLACE that is bound to go places is The Blue Door, Route 10, East Hanover. Only two months old under the management of Carl Mau and Frank Clement, it has become so popular because of the excellent food served, the owners are beginning to figure just how they can enlarge.

WALTER Liberace, the young concert pianist playing in the new Pine Room at Pal's Cabin, West Orange, has been such a distinct hit that his original engagement has been extended. His first Sunday afternoon concert drew music lovers from many parts of northern New Jersey, and their compliments must have made Walter's ears burn.—Adv.

DOES FORD PAY GOOD WAGE

HERE ARE SOME FACTS about Ford Labor.

During the year ended November 30th, 1940, the Ford Payroll throughout the United States averaged 113,628 hourly wage earners, not including office employees, students, or executives. They were paid $185,105,639.12. On this basis, the average annual wage was $1,629.05.

According to the latest available government figures, the annual average wage of all workers in employment covered by old age insurance law was $841.00.

If the 45,000,000 workers of this country received the same average wage as Ford employees, they would have had additional wages of more than $35,000,000,000, thus increasing the national income about 50%. Think what such an increase would mean to the workers of this country and to the American farmer, whose prices are based on the national income.

Wage scales in the Ford Rouge plants are divided into three classifications:

Unskilled . . .

Minimum hiring wage . 75c per hour

Semi-skilled . . .

Minimum hiring wage . 80c per hour

Skilled . . .

Minimum hiring wage . 90c per hour

Higher wages are in consideration of ability and years of service.

Minimum wage scales for unskilled labor at the Rouge plant are the highest in the industry. Top wages for skilled labor compare favorably with, or are higher than, wages in other automobile plants.

Now some facts on Ford labor conditions:

Not only are sanitation and other health conditions the best in the industry, but Ford also leads in safety devices for the protection of employees. Proof of this is found in the following comparison of compensation insurance costs:

The national average rate in automotive manufacturing plants as computed by the National Association of Underwriters is in excess of $1.50 premium on each $100 payroll. The Ford cost of workmen's compensation is less than 50c.

This indicates that the chance of injury in a Ford plant is much less than in the average automobile plant.

The Ford Motor Company has no age limit for labor, and in fact deliberately attempts to keep older workers working. The average age of Ford workers at the Rouge and nearby plants is 38.7.

A recent check-up shows that nearly on half the workers at these Ford plants were 40 or over, falling into these age groups:

25,819 between 40 and 50
14,731 between 50 and 60
3,377 between 60 and 70
417 between 70 and 80
12 between 80 and 90

In addition to the so-called employees, the Ford Motor Company hires, and now has on the payroll same regular hourly wage, the workers who are blind, crippled, wise incapacitated for normal work. They are not selected ability to build cars or to maintain. They are on the payroll Henry Ford's belief that the rest of a large company to labor beyond the point at which the worker can no longer produce.

The above are facts. They are anyone who really wants to deal. Anyone who wants to get a job . . . or place a national defect on the basis of fair labor must place Ford at the head of his eligible list.

Group Wants Something Done About Riverfront

Valley Improvement Members Still Think Mayor Said Town Would Construct Municipal Dock; Want Property To Be Cleared Off

The contention of the Valley Improvement Association that Mayor Williams had told it that a municipal dock would be erected at the foot of Terry street was reaffirmed Thursday night when the association held its regular bi-weekly meeting. Spokesmen said, however, that the group was really trying to get the property cleaned up and was not necessarily intent on the construction of a dock there.

In the course of a letter sent to the Board of Commissioners last month, the association mentioned that "Mayor Williams advised us at our anniversary meeting last year that the town had under consideration building a municipal dock on this strip of property." The Mayor flatly denied that he had told the group any such thing and dictated a letter to be sent to the association. It arrived Thursday morning.

Mayor Williams advised the Board that the only time at which a discussion was held relative to a municipal dock was at the time the Essex County Park Commission asked them to give consideration to the installation of a proper dock.

Couldn't Finance It

"Mayor Williams has recommended to the Board that neither the financial condition of the municipality or necessity warrants the expenditure of public funds of the Town of Belleville for this work. He says the Board has expressed appreciation to the County for their offer to loan us equipment but will be much more pleased if the County will install the dock and use our equipment. "Very truly yours, Florence R. Morey, Town Clerk."

The last sentence of the letter was said to be impossible. Mrs. Samuel Tiger declared that it is "impossible for the county to build on anybody's property even with written permission." The county must have the deed to land before it can build on it, she stated. It was later said that the town should give the property to the county if the former did not intend to improve it.

Mrs. Tiger declared that the "main thing now is to get the strip cleaned up. Right now it is a nice plot of stinkweed. Why couldn't it be grass?" She stated that many members of the association heard the Mayor make the statement about the dock last year.

The Mayor took credit for forcing the need of industrial zoning in the Valley nine years ago when the entire section was being zoned, she said, and the need was recently borne out when the Walter Kidde Company decided to locate there.

Is He Sincere?

"I don't like to see people recall so vividly things after nine years when they can't recall what they said a year ago. There is a doubt in my mind whether or not he is sincere." Another member asked whether or not there is "any possibility that New York Color & Chemical Company might be interested in the property at a later date." The two plots adjoining

John J. Hewitt, Overseer of the Poor and a trustee of the association, suggested that the organization go on record as requesting some plan for grading and seeding the plot. "I am quite sure that Mayor Williams would be one hundred per cent for it. He is always interested in improving land near industrial property."

Ora Current, vice-president, declared that "whether he said it (about the municipal dock) or not does not avail us anything. Let's proceed and see if we can get the sea wall put in." He was referring to the wall which has been constructed by the park commission for some distance along the river bank.

No Dock—No Wall

"If the municipality hasn't the funds for a dock," replied Mrs. Tiger, "it has none for the wall. Yet, the county can do nothing about it. Nevertheless, it should be cleaned up; it is disgraceful." A committee composed of Mrs. Tiger, Mrs. Mary J. Peck and Vitold Milton was appointed to lay the Valley's case before the Commission at its next meeting.

Other points which were to be discussed with the Commission was the "seven-foot hole dug last spring" in the north end of the Valley allegedly to obtain dirt to fill at the Turf Bog and also the removal of piles of stone and dirt dumped in the north end of Stephens street at the time the addition was built to the high school several years ago.

Installation of officers preceded the meeting and Mrs. Tiger was appointed chairman of the good and welfare committee.

Freshman Basketball Team Looking For Games

The freshman basketball team of the high school expects to open season late this month, Coach Blair announced yesterday. The schedule is not yet definite but he is dickering with Kearny, North Arlington, Clifton and Rutherford High and Bloomfield Junior High. He anticipates booking two games with each school. Blair's yearling outfit last year was unbeaten in eight games. Sixty-five hopefuls answered the first call for candidates recently. Last week the squad was pruned to thirty. Blair said he will carry fifteen on the final version of the squad. The boys are enthusiastic and willing, but short on height and experience.

MURPHY CONCERT PLANS COMPLETE

Matthew Ryan, Local Tenor, Will Sing At Affair For Disabled Fireman

Plans for the benefit concert for the family of disabled fireman James Murphy are complete, Commissioner Louis A. Noll, who is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, announced yesterday. It will be held February 11 in the high school auditorium.

The featured soloist will be Matthew Ryan, dramatic tenor of 351 Joralemon street. He will be assisted by Catherine Dieckman, contralto of New York, and Bernardine Hale, concert pianist and organist of Newark. Ryan, well-known to Belleville music lovers, has appeared in concert, light opera and opera for the past ten years on many occasions. He has been at various times soloist with the Seton Hall Glee Club, the Erin Society of Newark, Epiphany College concert, the Irish-American Glee Clubs of New York City and at many other concerts throughout New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. He will make his New York debut at Carnegie Hall in the near future.

Has Sung Operatic Roles

His principal opera role to date was in Aida which he did in New York with Carmella Ponselle, Helen Gahagan and Giuseppe Martino Rossi. He has also been heard with the New York Light Opera Guild in numerous productions and in several concerts staged by the Victor Herbert Music Festival Society and the Newburgh (N. Y.) Music Festival. He has been heard on the radio in his own program over WOR for the past two years and on several programs over prominent New York stations.

The local concert is sponsored by a committee of prominent men and business and social organizations throughout the town. Assisting Noll are Ernest H. Alden and Luther E. Van Pelt, treasurers; and Charles B. Tedesco, secretary. Committee chairmen include Gilbert E. Howley and William Chapman, tickets; Noll, advertising; Joseph C. Duval, publicity; Alden, Robert Smith and William J. Konrad, organizations; Ryan, program; Edward J. Abramson and Arthur E. Mayer, professional and business men.

Town Has Unlimited Quota For CCC Enrollment

Belleville has been given an unlimited quota for the next enrollment for Civilian Conservation Corps, it was announced yesterday by Miss Julie Chalmers, assistant to Overseer of the Poor Hewitt and in charge of CCC enrollments. The town may also send four colored boys. The current enrollment ends Tuesday.

The number of local youths enrolled in 1940 dropped considerably under the previous year— from 121 to eighty-three, according to Hewitt's annual report made this week to the Board of Commissioners. "The increase in private employment and the war activity" were believed responsible for the decreased interest.

Aker-Rose Nuptial

Miss Patricia Ann Rose, daughter of Mrs. Helen A. Rose of 120 Rutgers street, and David E. Aker, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Aker of 176 Joralemon street, were married Friday by Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach at the home of Miss Rose's sister, Mrs. Frank Krummenaux, Jr., of Nutley. Mrs. Rose gave her daughter in marriage. The Misses Ella Rose and Virginia Ganssner of this town attended the bride and John Hobby of New Hyde Park, L. I., was Mr. Aker's best man. A reception for forty-five guests followed the ceremony.

Miss Rose was graduated from Belleville High School in 1938 and Mr. Aker is a graduate of Long Branch High School. The couple will be at home after February 1 at 38 Newell place, North Arlington.

See "Meat and Romance"

The home economics classes of the high school were shown a sound motion picture "Meat and Romance" at the school yesterday. This motion picture was the result of collaboration between authorities in the meat and live stock industries and the United States Bureau of Home Economics in Washington.

The second picture, partly in color, was entertaining as well as instructive. It told the story of a young married couple who solve the problem of meat planning and of making the food dollar go farther. Much misinformation about meat was corrected with authoritative support and advice was given about the cooking of meat. The place of meat in the diet of infants and young children was also well covered. M.B.

TEACHERS

in Essex County. The nearest average salary to ours is Verona's $1,777 and the highest is Newark's $2,627. Wouldn't you prefer to have Belleville's children led by teachers who have economic security and freedom from worry?

"Due to salary cut and lack of regular $2 a week raises some teachers have lost as much as $4,363 in the last nine years. Roughly, about $500,000 has been 'contributed' to town savings by the teachers.

"Education, therefore, has made its contribution in the interest of economy. It is realized that relief expenditures have been high and have caused increased tax rates. It appears, however, that the time is at hand for relief expenditures to decrease sharply. To keep in step with this, the tax rate should go down. But of any budget, high or low, education should receive the proportion it formerly enjoyed."

Plans were outlined for a public relations program "for the immediate campaign and to protect any gains" at Monday's meeting. Said one association spokesman, "The teachers cooperated with the town in the lean years and now we ask the town's cooperation."

Building Code Violations Settled Peaceably

Two building code violators settled their differences with the town Monday morning when they appeared before Recorder Smith. Both were charged with erecting garages closer than the required ten feet from the nearest residential building. Sylvester Connelly of 128 Carpenter street decided to move his. Giuseppe Migliaro of 280 North Belmont Avenue agreed to nail up the doors of his and not use it.

Connelly figured in another court action on Monday when he was one of the complainants against Irving Garry Vogel of 4222 Ketchum street, Elmhurst, L. I. Connelly charged that he paid the New Yorker $210 to build the garage and that the latter skipped with the money without finishing his work. The same charge was made against Vogel and Milton L. Hyman, address unknown, by Solomon and Ida Spivak of 38 Tappan Avenue. The Spivaks claim that they paid $225 for the work, which was started nearly a year ago.

Fall Down Cellar Stairs Fatal To Woman

A solemn high mass of requiem will be offered this morning at 9 in St. Mary's Church, Nutley, for Mrs. Benjamin Harrison of 60 Overlook Avenue, who died Monday morning of injuries sustained when she fell down the stairs leading to the cellar of her home. She was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, in the town ambulance and she died there fifteen minutes later.

Mrs. Harrison was born in Belleville seventy-six years ago. Her father, James Mulligan, was also born here. She was formerly Rose Mulligan and was reared in Bloomfield but returned here after her marriage. She leaves a brother, Augustine J. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Hundertpfund O'Hara; a son, Wilbur O'Hara of Bloomfield; a daughter, Mrs. Gordon Chaffee of Madison; a brother, Vincent O'Hara of Kearny, and two grandchildren.

A solemn high mass of requiem was offered in St. Peter's Church Monday morning. Interment, cemetery.

Two Slightly Injured

Two persons were slightly injured in a head-on collision Saturday evening at the intersection of Mill and Main streets. Miss Cecilia Munster, seventeen, of 511 Fleming Avenue, Newark, suffered leg bruises and Robert Laird, thirty-eight, of 116 Harper Avenue, Irvington, received lacerations of the head.

Laird told police that he was driving south on Main street when another car shot out of Mill. The Irvington man swerved to miss it and crashed into the other car, driven by Erminio Savia, eighteen, of 495 Fourteenth Avenue, Newark, in which Miss Munster was a passenger. Laird's delivery truck and the Savia car were both towed to a garage.

Cousin Passes In Newark

Foster Burnet Price of Newark died Sunday in Beth Israel Hospital at the age of sixty-nine. He was a cousin of Mrs. Arthur C. Martin of 35 Van Rye place, Herbert V. Hardman of 269 Union Avenue and J. Harry Hardman of 20 DeWitt Avenue, all of this town.

Mr. Price was a descendant of Jonathan Dickinson, the founder and first president of Princeton University. He was prominent in several Newark organizations: the Wednesday Club, the S. A. R. and the Third Presbyterian Church. Interment was held Tuesday in Fairmount Cemetery.

Several Collection Marks Were Exceeded

Tax collections were up to new record heights all down the line last year, it was reported last week. Current taxes for 1940 amounted to $1,179,429.73 of the $1,385,546.76 levy. This was a percentage of 85.12 compared to 80.71 the previous year and the all-time low of 47.25 in 1933. Court fines amounted to $3,492, nearly seven times the anticipated $500. Revenues received from other sources than taxes were almost $15,000 more than the expected $75,123. Not included, however, were the gross receipts and franchise taxes which had been expected to bring the total to $227,123.

Delinquent taxes collected on previous year's levies amounted to $218,755 while it had been expected that $175,000 of this might be obtained. Current collections were believed to have set a new record for the town.

Miss Ellsworth Was Pleased In Program At Orange

Miss Hazel Ellsworth, talented young pianist of Little street, played before over 100 at the Art Center of the Oranges Sunday afternoon. An unassuming manner coupled with adequate technique endeared Miss Ellsworth to her listeners immediately. Equally appreciated was the cello solos by Maxine Mills with Miss Ellsworth at the piano. So pleased was one of their admirers that they were engaged for a recital in Morristown in February.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

Dorothy Canfield, who has done some of her most inspired feature article writing since the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, writes this month in one of our most valuable women's magazines on the subject of the American woman's new field of pioneering. She may not phrase it exactly as we have just described her topic and perhaps the accompanying photograph of that inspiring statue, "The Pioneer Woman," has also influenced us; but we feel that she has brought out through analogy a vital course of action facing us today.

None of us has ever failed to be overwhelmed, I am sure, with the heroic deeds of the women who helped shape the course of the nation in the days when colonies were forming. Descriptions of their efforts in wrestling a semblance of home life from the rigors of the wilderness have often made us literally ache with sympathy. And yet in the light of what must be done today we can understand that their problems, dealing as they did with physical endurance, were actually less difficult than those for which we must gird ourselves with the armor of mental strength.

They dealt with the simple fundamentals of life — coaxing sustenance from the soil, bearing the hardships of child rearing alone and unaided, calling up all their resources by the softening effects of generations which have not been accustomed to rigors; particularly do the mental aspects of her children challenge her, even in normal times, to a new and trying alertness. Miss Canfield, whose deep, protective sympathy for youth rises from her conviction that their problems are the greatest in this time of stress, calls upon women in particular to lose no opportunity for moral support.

The dominating thought, one on which we cannot ponder too often or too carefully, is that it is up to us to justify the American way of living. Think of the world situation as a challenge to the survival of our life pattern. Before we can close in on the defiance of totalitarian nations in combat we have the indispensable task of proving to our youth — our defenders, incidentally, that their actions will be justified. The American woman cannot be too busy about this "pondering." It is the first step in her new "pioneering."

Hardly an undertaking will fail to take on new importance when we begin to think seriously of our new obligations. Take the simple item of a spring wardrobe, or that even trivial longing for a bright dress in the waning days of winter. Are we to blindly begin practicing self-denial simply on general principles? By no means! But we can to great advantage resist the impulse for over indulgence. A judicious slit, which is actually more truth than poetry, describes a woman succumbing to the lure of the yard goods department at this season.

Being no more of an expert than the majority of us, she nevertheless cannot resist the lush colors and rippling folds of silken prints. Quick calculations show her that she can purchase sufficient material for considerably less than the price of a comparable ready-made dress. When she has assembled a becoming pattern, zipper, closing, binding tape and decorative buttons, however, the price has mounted alarmingly.

Don't Get Full Value

The moral struggle which ensues is known to all of us. Even with the best of luck, the resulting dress never quite achieves that smooth smartness which instantly becomes to the wearer the thing most to be desired. And the dress is worn spasmodically, if at all, and discarded long before a small percentage of its value has been received. Worse is the urge to buy several pieces of material because it is so reasonable. Perhaps one will be made up and the others laid on a shelf awaiting those never-to-be-realized spare moments.

These remarks apply only, of course, to the inexpert and not to those much envied women who constantly augment their wardrobes with lovely, wearable garments. The warning is to those whose fond attempts only result in waste.

G.O.P. Leader Speaks Before Republican Women

Stanley W. Naughton, chairman of the Essex County Republican Committee, addressed the meeting of the Woman's Club Thursday night at the Woman's Club and drew a parable from the book "Mansions" by Henry Van Dyke. He flayed persons who seek aggrandizement through contributions to charity for publicity purposes.

Naughton commended the club on its attainments in the political, social and welfare fields. Mrs. Emily Sundheimer presided and announced that State Senator Homer C. Zink would be the speaker at the February meeting.

The annual party for the fifteen members of the executive board of the club will be held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John F. O'Brien of 205 Grafton avenue, Newark. The guests of honor will include Mrs. Abbie W. Magee and Assemblywoman Olive Sanford and Constance Hand.

Administration And Relief Costs

The breakdown in relief costs for the depression period published elsewhere in this issue makes interesting study for those who are interested in how the total cost of relief is annually accumulated. The report for 1940 which Overseer of the Poor John J. Hewitt submitted to the Town Commission last night shows that relief costs in 1940 were whittled down to a low point for the depression period as far as the town is concerned.

However, $113,252.28 is a sizeable sum and that is what was expended to take care of needy families in town last year. This represents a considerable chunk in the tax rate so the time has not arrived as yet to consider relief one of the minor problems of municipal government. Regardless of the return of many workers to private employment through the defense program, the care of the needy will continue to be a big nugget for municipalities annually to crack.

There is one feature of the analysis of relief costs dating back to 1936 which caught our eye. According to the figures, relief hit its peak here during 1938 when the total cost was $178,692.91. That year approximately eight and one-half per cent of the total amount spent went for salaries and administration. Last year's total relief cost was considerably below that and 159 less cases involving 670 less people were handled by the department. But — administration and salaries represented almost sixteen per cent of the total bill. This means that while the number of persons receiving relief dropped appreciably, the cost of handling these cases almost doubled.

Relief is generally viewed as a problem which can go up or down depending on the times and employment conditions. Correspondingly, it seems to us, the cost of administering it should fluctuate in the same manner for the work involved in handling it is in direct relationship to the number of cases. While relief may be a permanent problem, there should be some elasticity in operating it. The amount that is drained from the public payroll to supervise it should be dependent on the demand.

Thousands — yes, millions of dollars in public money has been spent in the last decade for relief. When there is a possibility to give the public a respite in the cost that must be borne, every effort from all angles should be made to do it.

Teachers And The School Board

The taxpayers at the moment are assuming an important role in the school affairs. The teachers, dissatisfied with the present salaries paid to many of them, have decided to appeal to the public in their campaign to persuade the Board of Education to give them the increases that they wish. School Board President Herbert C. Schmutz, in rebuttal, states that not the board, but the taxpayers are the ones to decide if more money should be spent to pay teachers' salaries. The momentary role of the taxpayer in school affairs is worthy of note for it is one of the departments of government in which he shows little interest or is encouraged to be interested.

Whether it be on the side of the teachers or the Board of Education, it is important that the facts be presented clearly and without confusion. There is no reason for the presentation of involved figures which will only cause the public to become muddled over the real facts. There is only one point to be considered — should the teachers be paid more money and if so, how much?

The Board of Education and the public must seriously consider one phase of this controversy. The teachers are apparently dissatisfied with their present pay or else they would not be making this organized effort to bring about increases. An employee works for money, not for glory. When he is not well paid for his work, he does not do his best and goes about half-heartedly and disgruntled.

In the case of the teachers, it means that if they are not satisfied, the students will be the sufferers. This is where the parents come in. Few people will quibble, we believe, when it comes to spending money to educate children if it is being wisely and judiciously spent. They want the youngsters to receive the best in education that is possible.

Belleville has the lowest per pupil cost of education of any school system in the county. Members of the Board of Education are proud of it. But, is it false economy? Are too many corners being cut and are the pupils suffering as a result? We do not know, but we think that this is one of the important facts to be discussed and emphasized in the present discussion.

By the campaign on which they are now embarking, the teachers can accomplish one of two things — they can create goodwill and sympathy for themselves among the public or they can do themselves irreparable harm. If they make their organization solely a "pressure" group which will seek to get what they want merely by delivering a demand and a threat "or else," they will incur public antagonism. If they will direct their campaign with rationalism and with an attitude of cooperation and appreciation of the public's position, they will find the road much easier.

Striking A Happy Medium

One of the problems that public education must still solve is striking a happy medium on what to teach, who to teach it to and how much. It is not so many years ago that at every town educators were bent on putting into the school curriculum all of the courses that would prepare pupils for college. At the same time, the youngster who did not take these college preparatory courses was not helped, through the courses available, to find his place in society.

Today, we find that the youngster who did not take the college preparatory course is working in shipyard, airplane factory or in some other productive form of employment knocking out union wages and taking home a paycheck for any sum between $50 and $75 weekly. And what about the one who went on to take his place in society? Well, if he is fortunate, he has landed a white collar job and is getting $25 per week.

The colleges have turned out so many people for behind-glass-top-desk positions that there are not enough jobs to go around. Yet, industry is crying for more workers. Production must be speeded up. The national defense program has bogged down badly behind schedule because of a lack of workers.

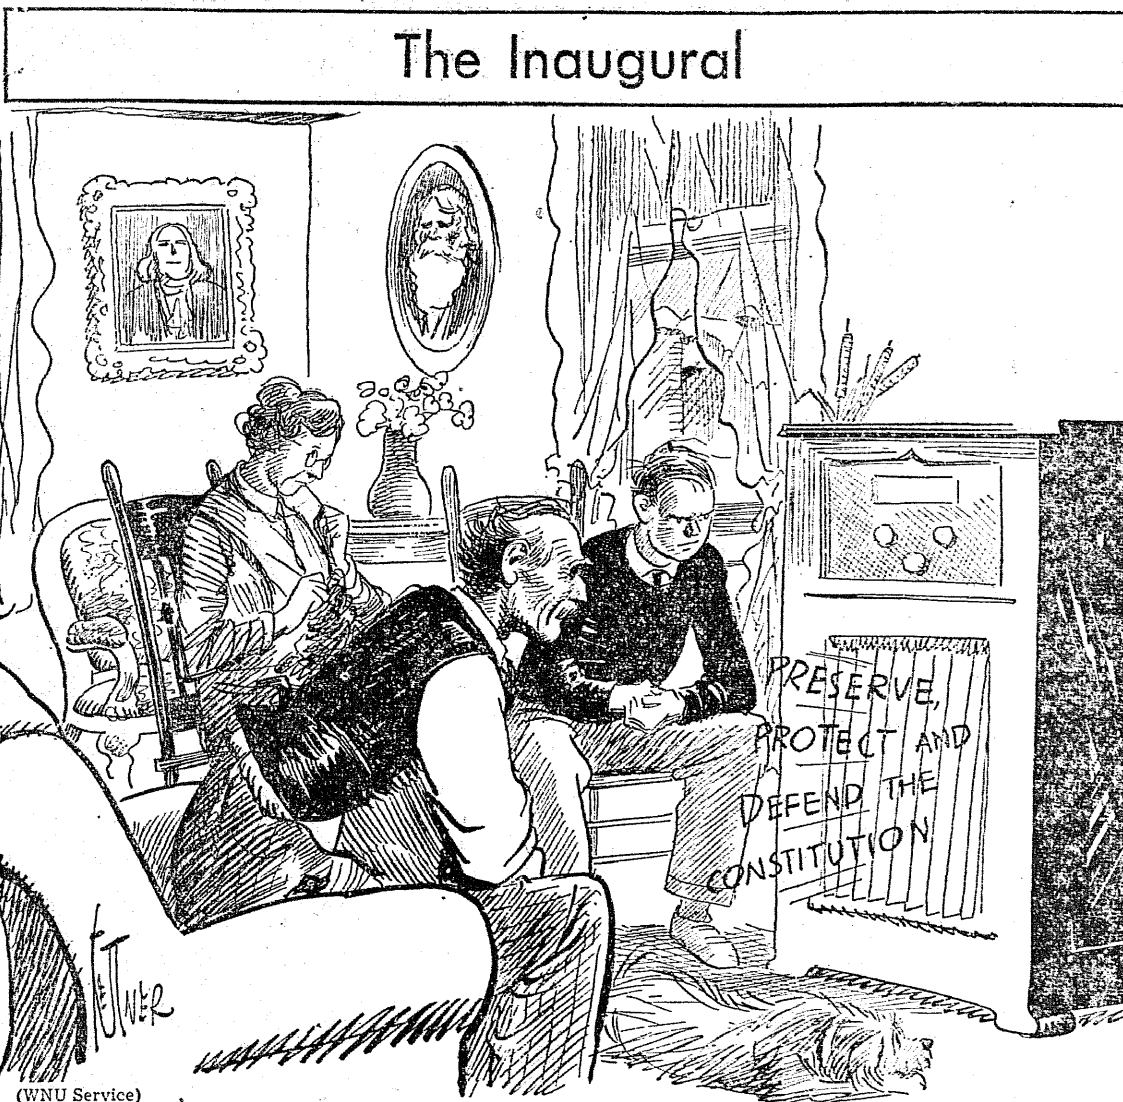

Now educators have come to the conclusion that there has been too much emphasis on working with the head and not enough on working with the hands. We should build vocational schools — dozens of them — and turn out young people prepared to take their place on the assembly line.

There is just as much chance that they will go too far off the deep end on vocational training as they did in the effort to convince parents and students that a college education was the only thing. There must be some happy medium which can be struck in our efforts to educate the nation's young people. There must be or we are always going to be faced with the constant problem of a young, discouraged, misfit population.

To spend millions on vocational training and turn the educational system upside down because of the present demands of industry would be impractical. We do not know how long this sudden surge in the need for productive workers will continue. It is possible that if education is steered too much one way we may find ourselves in a worse position in a few years than we are today.

However, the present problem should be a permanent reminder to educators that there is such a thing as too much emphasis on one type of education. Vocational training on a moderate scale should have its place in every school system and vocational schools should be strategically located throughout the state and country.

Leon Carson Musical Silhouettes—A Commentary On Music

CCCLII
"Beauty should be the dowry of every man and woman, as invariably as sensation: but it is rare."
—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Good Business:

According to latest reports the Metropolitan Opera box office receipts are showing something of a more or less direct reflection of the rising industrial activity, or so-called "war money." It cannot be from the successful workings of industry in general, for there is no such thing as the present moment; it must be from the inflationary profits made possible by the new defense program. However, the box office receipts on December 23 at the Metropolitan registered their largest single day's income since 1928. This particular week the ticket sales, — exclusive, of course, of the traditional subscription seats, — amounted to over $10,000. Surely there must be plenty of money about, and with it the urge to see and hear opera. It is truly a fact that many times this season patrons have been turned away. Grand opera still rides high in a glamorous season and we hope it lasts.

Complete Representation:

We trust our readers will pardon just one more reference to the American composer Stephen Foster and the Hall of Fame to which his name has but recently been elevated. It is amazing how rapidly and thoroughly opinion on matters musical change. For instance, Foster, who becomes the first musician to occupy a niche in the famous colonnade of N.Y.U., was the only one chosen of 141 candidates proposed to the 110 electors at their recent session. When Foster's name came before them in 1930, he received only seven votes. Five years later his name was again proposed and he won eighteen additional votes or a total of twenty-five. And now in 1940 he receives 110. All this represents a terrific gain in popularity, — or a finer sense of musical values in the minds of the judges. You may take your choice. There is, however, another answer. Foster rightfully belongs in the American Hall of Fame, and somehow we feel that he will be remembered long after many of the others have faded into oblivion. Admittedly he was not a great musician in the technical sense of the word, but nevertheless his songs still continue to move Americans more deeply than any other sentimental music ever written. They are sincere, tuneful and simple, — a splendid human combination of attributes.

Confusing?:

A recent issue of the Chicago Tribune included the following excerpt: "Sign on a West Side church in Chicago:— 'DO YOU KNOW WHAT HELL IS? COME IN AND HEAR OUR ORGANIST PLAY.'"

Between or Not:

Olin Downes, eminent New York music critic of The Times has started a controversy which bids fair to smolder for a long time to come. It is about the matter of applause. Among other things, Mr. Downes claims that the audience should applaud (if it so desires) between movements of symphonies. He cites the exciting effect of the march in the Tchaikovsky "Pathétique," and says it is not only ridiculous but frustration for audiences to be made to wait until after the dirge-finale to applaud. Naturally, Mr. Downes is shattering that fatal thing called orchestra "tradition," and many critics and musicians are definitely and loudly opposed to his suggestion. We rather agree with him, though.

This sets us to thinking. Why applaud anyway? Many times it is applause for applause's sake only, which means blindly following an empty custom. There seems to be a steadily growing body of listeners who apparently have no desire to applaud at all, on the basis that it serves no particular, legitimate function. According to this idea, the important thing is the music, not an audience's audible reaction to it. And yet, asks the worthy Mr. Downes, — "If the audience behaves no differently in the course of a bad performance than in the case of a good one, why have an audience or a concert?" We could continue with this for columns but limited space forbids. In the controversy, however, there is ample food for thought.

Yesteryear.....

Five Years Ago
Mayor Williams appointed Herbert C. Schmutz to the Board of Education and re-appointed Walter Gilby. Schmutz filled the unexpired term of James J. Turner, resigned. In making the appointments, Williams scored Public Safety Director Gerard for allegedly attempting to make all appointments to the school board himself.

Mrs. John F. O'Brien, Jr., president of the Woman's Republican Club, announced that she would support Harold G. Hoffman for president of the United States.

The name of Thomas Bride was removed without comment from the list of chancemen by Commissioner Gerard. Bride had been a chanceman for ten years and was next in line for patrolman.

The Board of Education introduced its tentative budget of $636,358.94 for the fiscal year 1936-37, about $30,000 less than the average for the preceding six years. John P. Bailey, president of the board, declared a $259,000 deficit from 1933 had been cleared.

In the absence of an official recreation center, Veterans' Hall was turned over to the youth of the town for basketball.

Ten Years Ago
Local Jewry mourned the passing of Nathan Schwartz who died before he could carry out his dream of combining Belleville, Nutley and Lyndhurst into one large Talmud Torah (Hebrew school).

The Board of Commissioners appropriated an additional $10,000 as an unemployment relief measure. The number of persons on relief was still climbing in the second year of the depression.

Nathan Berger was elected president of the Peoples National Bank, succeeding James T. Boylan, who became chairman of the board of directors.

The high school was made by junior Frederick Trost with 94.8 for the first semester.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Annexation to Newark was favored at a meeting of residents of Silver Lake. A motion that steps be taken to have the annexation bill introduced at the present session of the Legislature was carried without a dissenting vote.

The erection of a fourteen-room addition to the Silver Lake School was recommended to the Board of Education by the building and grounds committee. The committee also recommended remodeling the assembly and study rooms of the Foreman Union School into classrooms. School Superintendent Gerard maintained a nine-room addition would be sufficient.

The new high school building was formally opened.

The Sinking Fund reported assets of $93,615, according to Treasurer Edmund W. Bechtoldt.

Junior Music Group Elects Officers For Year

The Junior B Natural Music Study Club elected officers at its monthly meeting held Saturday at the Aker's Studio on Union Avenue. The president is Phyllis Conklin; vice-president, Janice Dunn; secretary, Gloria Welch. Discussion of the life of Franz Schubert was followed by a period of theory and key board harmony work. The members are participating in a contest for which credits are awarded monthly for their performances and a prize will be given at the end of the club's season. Five students, Anne Kelsall, Phyllis Conklin, Frances Whinnates, Gloria Welch and William Akers, are preparing studies and solos for the "auditions of the Music Contests: League of New Jersey which will be held in the Griffith Auditorium in Newark during March.

The proceeds of the card party given in October amounted to over $100 and in addition many generous cash donations have been received. "This money has been used for the purchase of a blood transfusion outfit and for medical supplies. The continuous sale of attractive Bundles for Britain playing cards, pins, cigarette cases, compacts and other things also nets a considerable sum which is invested in wool for sweaters, socks and helmets. Letters To The Editor

Sorry, Our Mistake

From Edward Street 6 Hornblower Avenue Pres. Wesley Epworth League To the Editor of The News:
It appears from your paper that the Epworth League of Wesley Church is going to enter Casey Jones school, if you will notice the article on your front page of the January 9 edition. We had a lot of fun trying to figure out how we could send them all to Casey Jones. We finally decided that it couldn't be done.

Condemns Hoodlums

From Mrs. Edward T. Cassin 65 Ligham Street To the Editor of The News:
Christmas Eve in our section of town it was a pleasure to go through the streets to see the homes lighted more beautiful than ever, but alas a gang of hoodlums stripped us of bulbs. Three times we replaced ours before we finally gave it up as a bad job and as this has happened other years we will not attempt any more outdoor decorations.

I was out on Long Island last week and it was a veritable fairyland of lights unmolested so they told me by the low element we have to put up with in our town. The same low class that make it necessary to station policemen at our school functions.
Thanksgiving night a crowd of ruffians got in my garden to strip it of bird homes, sun dial, etc. only to smash it all up in the vacant lot next door.
Such vandalism is a far cry from childish pranks and makes me think we have a fifth column in our midst bent on harassing our American way of life.

GOOD CHRISTIAN DEFINED

Fewsmith Young People's Speaker Discusses The Qualities of A Good Citizen

The Fewsmith Young People, a youth organization of Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church, have been having a series of talks about Christianity. This group meets every Sunday night and about fifty young people attend. Each week one of the members takes charge, leading the singing and giving a short lecture. A talk was given at a recent meeting by Herbert Martin, entitled "How Can Our Nation Be Really Christian?" Following is a text of the talk.

"The obvious reply to this is to develop Christian citizens. Although this is a reply it is not an answer, for this gives rise to other questions. How can we develop a Christian citizen? What is a Christian citizen?

"A Christian citizen is a man who in an election is much more interested in helping to select a man who will do a good job than he is electing a man because of party loyalty. He is a man who has a pride in his community and his country and willingly works for them. He is a man who is generous and considerate of the beliefs of others. He is a man who, sincerely believing that Jesus' way of life is most important, does all he can to influence others to follow it. Such are the virtues of a Christian citizen.

"Naturally, no one person, or any group of people can make America Christian. But every group, and every person may have a share in making this nation Christian, and helping to bring the kingdom of God to earth, that civilization in which honesty and friendliness in personal life and social institutions will be made universal and secure, a civilization in which all men as sons of God will work together in a powerful, true and faithful brotherhood at all the varied tasks to be set for them by the unfolding of the will of God.

"It is easy for us to feel that the dream of such a Christian world is far from reality, and feel that our efforts would have little effect. But this is not true, there are thousands of other societies like our own scattered all over the country, all exerting their influence for good. To a world that is threatened with war, intolerance, tyranny, vice, poverty, and distresses unnumbered, Christians the world over, must speak the words of peace, friendship, mercy and joy.

"But before we can do this effectively we must seriously examine our own lives to discover whether they truly represent in our present society that fellowship devoted to justice, mercy and faith which is the true church of Christ. Our first job is to make ourselves examples that others can follow; we must first make ourselves true Christian citizens."

Fewsmith Young People's Speaker Discusses The Qualities of A Good Citizen

The Fewsmith Young People, a youth organization of Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church, have been having a series of talks about Christianity. This group meets every Sunday night and about fifty young people attend. Each week one of the members takes charge, leading the singing and giving a short lecture. A talk was given at a recent meeting by Herbert Martin, entitled "How Can Our Nation Be Really Christian?" Following is a text of the talk.

"The obvious reply to this is to develop Christian citizens. Although this is a reply it is not an answer, for this gives rise to other questions. How can we develop a Christian citizen? What is a Christian citizen?

"A Christian citizen is a man who in an election is much more interested in helping to select a man who will do a good job than he is electing a man because of party loyalty. He is a man who has a pride in his community and his country and willingly works for them. He is a man who is generous and considerate of the beliefs of others. He is a man who, sincerely believing that Jesus' way of life is most important, does all he can to influence others to follow it. Such are the virtues of a Christian citizen.

"Naturally, no one person, or any group of people can make America Christian. Take Charge, Mister... and Let's Fireball!

THERE'S a new word spreading through the vocabularies of car owners who have made firsthand acquaintances with this slick new 1941 Buick.

It's a word we first picked out as an apt description of a new and better engine — but it is rapidly coming to mean a completely new and excitingly pleasurable manner of motorcar travel.

All over the country, "to fireball" now means to enjoy both ease and dispatch in your travel by car — with a very special new manner of thrift.

Not the ordinary, scrumpy, self-denying sort of thrift, but thrift with all the thrills left in!

Now, just why that happens is easy to understand.

*Optional equipment on the Buick SPECIAL, standard on all other series.

Reenforced by Compound Carburetion* this FIREBALL eight develops nearly 17% more horsepower on exactly the same fuel rationing.

With all that power on call, we can use a more economical gear ratio as our standard high gear—a ratio that ups miles per gallon by giving more revolutions of the wheels for every revolution of the engine.

Then, in addition, we have in Compound Carburetion a fuel supply system that adjusts itself according to the driving conditions you meet.

Thus your engine is always getting the utmost benefit out of the least amount of gasoline that will give the performance you want.

And that spells economy.

So much economy that a man who drives 15,000 miles a year gets as much as 2,000 miles' extra driving on the same amount of fuel.

And that, Buick buyers will tell you, is something very much worth looking into through a free demonstration such as any Buick dealer will gladly give.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $935 for the Business Coupe delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.
