

MAN AT CONTROLS STILL IMPORTANT IN AVIATION

Guggenheim Aviation Expert Tells Rotarians American Planes Are Probably Best

The man at the controls is still the most important factor in aviation, Professor Frederick K. Teichmann of the Guggenheim School of Aeronautics of New York University, told members of the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon yesterday at Forest Hill Field Club.

"We all have read many stories that American planes are not standing up under present war conditions, and, naturally, we have wondered where the truth lies," he said.

"The cold fact of the matter is that American planes are as good if not better than planes manufactured by other countries and that the difference in pilots and their training accounts for better or worse plane performance.

"American planes are made to maneuver with great flexibility, whereas, for instance, French planes have always been built for stability. Now, the two things don't mix. Planes can't be built that are both stable and flexible.

"The result is that a French pilot in an American plane finds himself in the precarious position of being a novice horseman on an unbroken bronco, and that an American pilot in a French plane would find himself, one might say, to be a bronco pinner in a chicken coop.

U. S. Planes Probably Best

"The English have found that their pilots need at least three months' training experience in American planes before they are ready to capably handle them in fighting flight. So it goes, and thus to say that American planes are not good planes should be amended. Actually, American planes are probably the best, especially with our own pilots and with proper training, for all other pilots as well."

Teichmann restricted his technical discussion to bombers.

"Bombing airplanes," he said, "may be likened to long range pieces of artillery with the exception that once a big shell leaves the muzzle of the gun it is impersonal, invulnerable and inevitable, whereas a bomber is guided by human hands and brains, can be destroyed, can be recalled, can be redirected, and is continually dependent for success on weather, ground crews and preparedness and the efficiency of enemy defenses. An efficient bomber must be able to attain its target, attack its target and return from its target. The big shell out of the big gun has merely to attain its target.

"America is trying to build bombers that come back and, what with the thousands of the divergent engineering opinions to cope with and ever changing war conditions and improvements in enemy planes, the job is a tough one," he said.

Structural Changes Necessary

"The high altitude type of bombing has necessitated many structural changes that might easily stand in the way of imperative war needs. Planes must fly at 30,000 feet to avoid fire of anti-aircraft batteries that are now accurate at 25,000 feet.

"This means insulation against cold, cabin heating and oxygen control. At 20,000 feet the temperature is usually twelve degrees below zero, at 30,000 feet, twenty-nine degrees below. Then, oxygen pressure must be maintained at a constant poundage otherwise the bomber crew will suffer not only physically but reflexively. High flying requires quick thinking and oxygen is necessary for that.

"A bomber flying at 300 miles an hour at 21,000 feet usually releases its load about three miles from the objective and a tenth of a degree error would result in a mistake, all of which goes to show that bomber crews must have ground conditions in their cabins at high altitudes. Providing those conditions requires intricate, thorough engineering."

Prof. Teichmann said that none of the armament experts are in agreement as to the number or type of guns to be carried by bombers. Parenthetically he added that simultaneous firing of a bomber's usual complement of eight machine guns slows its speed at least thirty miles an hour.

In the future, dive bombers may be so constructed that the pilot will lie on his back or stomach rather than sit upright as at present. A prone position alleviates the upthrust shock to some extent. Teichmann pointed out that this innovation presents aeronautical engineers with another exceedingly tough problem.

Mayor Given 'The Business' By Radio Comic And Nutley Mayor Over Industries

Fred Allen Says Williams Tried To Sell Haunted Factory; Bill Keeping Quiet

Mayor Bill Williams has been harpooned for his sales campaign to sell Belleville as an industrial mecca by Radio Comedian Fred Allen and the fellow who is the mayor of that hamlet to the north of us — Nutley — where Charles A. Sherwood is the king of the roost. Allen, who needles his comic stuff via a national hookup once each week, and the neighboring chief executive have taken to writing letters to each other. Somehow, Mayor Williams' name got mixed up in the correspondence and the latest pieces exchanged by Allen and Sherwood really delve into the question of Mayor Bill with a zest.

Williams hasn't gotten around to answering either of the pair as yet. Of Sherwood's reported remarks, Williams pool-pooled them as just a bit of jealousy because the Nutley mayor hasn't found the secret formula that Williams possesses for snaring some of the industrial big fish. Of Allen he said that neither the name nor the face was familiar. (This is something which Allen's sponsors have been wondering about, it is reported.)

Thinks They're "Plugs"

Well, to get on with the story, it seems that Allen has been using Nutley as the locale for some of his comic sketches. Nutley's mayor thinks these are "plugs," but some think that Allen is doing it for other reasons (after all, the name is kind of nutty). And so, Nutley's mayor wrote a letter thanking Allen for the free advertising and warning him against Mayor Williams, whom he said was a "pirate."

In a recent sketch about Nutley, Allen wrote a character by the name of Kelly. Frank Kelly, Nutley's town hall custodian, thought it meant him and Allen in turn replied that it was not. In his letter to Sherwood, Allen took pains to berate the Nutley official for not giving Kelly more money.

Here's what the Nutley mayor wrote to Allen:

Nutley is very happy to be so prominently mentioned by you on your program even if it was necessary to assassinate one of its citizens in order to do so. Certainly any of our folks would be proud to make such a sacrifice for so worthy a cause.

I greatly fear, however, that you will be the victim of savage recrimination as a result of publicizing our fair town. Along side of us is an entirely different kind of a community called Belleville, governed by a ferocious fellow by the name of Bill Williams.

A couple of centuries ago, this chap would have been a pirate of the first water. Today he roams all over the country seizing upon innocent people to buy factories in his town. He even went out to Hollywood and sold a factory to Walter Winchell and I greatly fear that this pirate will seek revenge by selling you a joke factory in Belleville and a worse fate than this I could not picture for any one.

If you ever locate there, you will spend the rest of your days

Scout Troop Committee Chairmen To Meet

Under the direction of Scoutmaster Valsey members of Troop 11 will give an exhibition of scoutcraft, including first aid, knot tying and fire building.

Kenneth W. Bailey will be chairman. Jack De Nike, general chairman, will present the following speakers: Stanley J. Eisner, Scout Executive Arnold C. Sorenson, Council Commissioner Harry Brumback, District Commissioner Douglas Clark, Jr., Sea Scout Vice-Commodore Leonard Merrill, District Chairman Frank Chambers and Assistant Scout Executive Joseph W. O'Farrell.

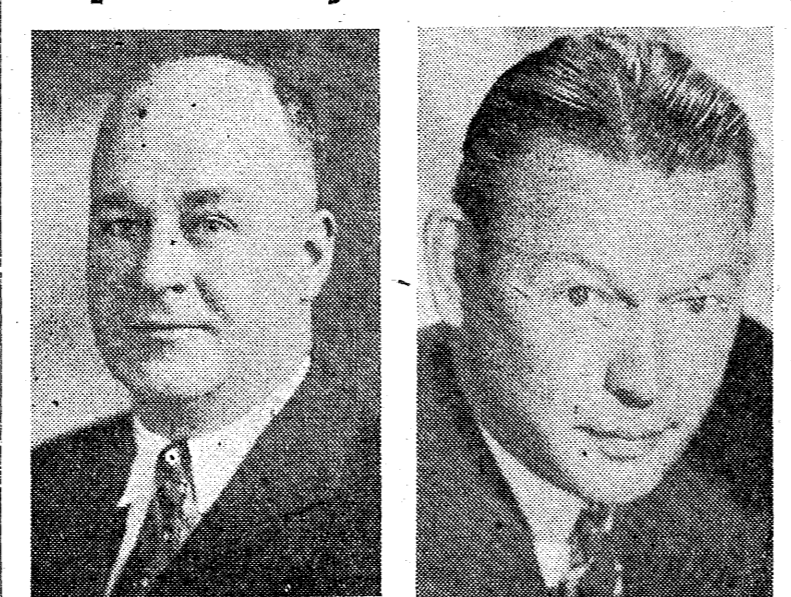

Nutley Driver Is Held In Hit-Run Fatality

Leroy Rutledge, seventy-six, of 110 Holmes street, fatally injured early Thursday morning at Washington avenue and Holmes street by an auto driven by Alphonse Caputo, thirty-four, of 37 Satterthwaite avenue, Nutley, was buried on Sunday at Overlook, Pa.

Caputo, charged with being a hit-run driver, is being held without bail for the Grand Jury on an automobile manslaughter count.

Rutledge was walking to his work as watchman at the Holmes street crossing of the Erie Railroad when struck. He was born in Rutledgeville, Pa., and had resided in Belleville for fifteen years. Surviving are a brother, George of Newark, a son, Ralph of Binghamton, N. Y., and two daughters living in the West.

Time Marches On --Finally The Ceiling Falls Down

Board Gets Recommendation That No. 3 School Auditorium Ceiling Be Repaired; Comes Two Years After Voters Okayed Repairs To School

On April 2, 1938, Seymour Williams, inspector of buildings for the State Department of Schools recommended, after an exhaustive survey, that extensive repairs be made to School No. 3. On March 28, 1939, Belleville voters approved a proposed bond issue of $89,000 to repair and add to the school. At that time it was expected that Federal Aid would provide an additional $60,000 to make up the necessary amount of $150,000.

On Friday, January 24, 1941, a ceiling board, ten feet long, three inches wide, fell from the rear of the ceiling of the auditorium. It clattered onto the floor and chipped, being upwards of forty years of age and very dry.

A teacher and a handful of pupils were gathered in the front of the auditorium at the time. They were disturbed by the noise. On February 3, 1941, Ruel C. Daniels, district clerk, wrote the following letter to Walter Gilby and Charles A. Gebhardt, members of the building and Grounds Committee of the Board of Education:

"On Friday, January 24, a ceiling board in the rear of the auditorium of School No. 3 dropped to the floor. The board was ten feet long and three inches wide. There was no one in the auditorium with the exception of a teacher and a few pupils practicing in the front of the auditorium.

"This matter was reported to me this morning, February 3. I immediately made an inspection of the auditorium of School No. 3 and find that seventy-five per cent of the boards in the auditorium are loose. They are extremely hard and brittle from age. If we attempted to nail them they would split.

"A small hole might be drilled in each one with a hand drill. I find on investigation they are not nailed to beams, but are merely nailed to the furring lath. In fact, it seems almost impossible to me to nail these boards.

"I recommend that some steps be taken to remove all the boards from the auditorium of School No. 3. The boards on the ceiling have warped so badly that in some places there are openings of at least an inch, allowing the heat to go up in the attic."

On February 18, last Tuesday, Gilby recommended to the board, at the regular monthly meeting of the body in School No. 8 that building contractors be asked to submit bids for repairing the ceiling of the auditorium, preferably with some sort of fire resistant material.

Walter Warrick, retiring as president after two years of service, was commended in a resolution citing the growth of the Community Service Bureau during his terms of office.

Jr. O.U.A.M. Mark Forty-Seventh Anniversary With Party

Belleville Council No. 163, Junior Order United American Mechanics, celebrated the birthday of Washington, Lincoln and its own forty-seventh birthday, at a meeting Tuesday evening in Veteran's Hall.

Victor Schlicker talked on Lincoln, Paul deHagara on Washington and Roy C. Walker, state secretary of the order, felicitated the Belleville Council. William Wakefield presented the twelve Belleville members whose birthdays occur in February with J.O.U.A.M. tokens.

Henry Vreeland Relief Corps To Celebrate Birthday

Henry Vreeland Woman's Relief Corps No. 32 will celebrate its fourteenth birthday party this evening at Veterans' Hall. All of the Corps' past presidents will be guests. Those in charge of the affair are Mrs. Mae Bonnefond, Mrs. Florence Roselle and Mrs. Jane Jarry.

Tomorrow evening the Henry Vreeland Junior Club will hold its first regular business meeting at Grace Baptist Church. Miss Gloria Elliot will preside. Flags will be presented to the group by the Ladies of the Grand Army and by Marcus L. Ward Camp No. 18, Sons of Union Veterans.

POLICE FLOODED WITH DEMANDS FOR PROTECTION

Requests For Payroll Escorts Follows Robbery At Crowhurst Plant

The police have been swamped with requests for payroll and other escort services since the $4,837 daylight payroll holdup of two officials of the A. J. Crowhurst & Sons Company, 35 Mill street, last Friday morning.

The bandits stuck up P. James Crowhurst, treasurer, and Charles M. Crowhurst, vice-president, as they drew up to the plant entrance after having collected the payroll cash from the People's National Bank and Trust Company.

The holdup pair fled with a flourish of guns in an automobile which they had stolen earlier in the day from Carmen Lilore of 22 King street, a brother of Patrolman Gerald Lilore. The car has been recovered. The bandits are still at large but with Captain of Detectives Elmer Leighton somewhere on their trail. The payroll was insured.

It has never been a customary practice of the town police to escort payrolls because such service is usually performed by an independent detective organization.

However, the police have always performed escort work when asked and now that a holdup has actually occurred they are somewhat at wit's ends to satisfy all requests without impairing usual police services, school crossing traffic supervision, patrolling and so on.

JUDGE IS GIVEN GAVEL KNOCKER

Smith Receives 'Block To Be Knocked' From Lawyers' Club

Recorder Everett B. Smith was presented with "an engraved block to be knocked" by the Lawyers' Club of Belleville at the opening last evening of the regular Wednesday evening traffic court.

Edward Abramson, representing the club, said that while a lawyer likes best to win his case he likes next to feel that he has had a square deal. "And all the members of the Lawyers' Club consider Judge Smith to be synonymous with the best connotation of the term 'Justice'."

When he introduced Lawrence E. Keenan, town attorney, who had the ebony block.

Thanking the lawyers, Judge Smith said that all of them, unfaithfully, had helped him in his court work and availed himself of the opportunity to praise Captain of Detectives Elmer Leighton "whose prowess has been of great aid always to this court."

Relief Should Be Down This Year, Zink Says

Senator Tells Republican Women About The New Formula Being Worked Out For Payments By State To Municipalities; Praises Erdman

Present relief trends indicate that cost of relief in New Jersey in 1941 will be at least twenty per cent less than in 1940, Senator Homer C. Zink declared at the monthly meeting of the Belleville Woman's Republican Club last Thursday in the Belleville Woman's Club, 51 Rossmore place.

"The last time I discussed relief before a group like this," Zink said, "the subject was a painful one. That was about two years ago. Although unemployment was steadily growing less, the cost of relief and the number of cases did not show a corresponding decrease. In fact, costs were actually increasing in certain municipalities."

"Obviously, there was something wrong with the administration of relief or with the philosophy of relief, or both."

"A few of us in the Legislature were quite realistic," the Senator continued, "concluded we would find out what the trouble was. There was set in motion an investigation of relief by a Joint Legislative Committee, which filed a report just a year ago."

"It is interesting and significant to note that, immediately upon the appointment of the committee, the cost of relief began to run more nearly in proportion to the decrease in unemployment. This proportionate decrease was particularly noticeable as the committee sent investigators into certain municipalities which had hitherto shown an increase in cost that ran counter to the lessening of unemployment," he commented.

"From the middle of 1936, when Federal relief grants to New Jersey were discontinued, until a year ago, the State carried the open end of relief costs; that is to say, the municipalities which asked for State aid to carry a certain minimum amount based upon ability to pay. The State then paid the entire balance of the cost. As a result, there was no incentive for the municipalities to keep down the cost of relief, although many cities and towns did a notable job in that respect."

Comiskey Speeding Case Off Till March 12

The case of Patrick Edward Comiskey, heavyweight boxer of 48 Chadwick street, Paterson, charged with doing seventy miles an hour through Belleville and Nutley, was postponed until March 12 last night by Recorder Smith in Traffic Court. Comiskey is in Florida to fulfill a fight engagement.

Walter Tabaka, eighteen, of 250 Dwaoline road, Clifton, arrested with Comiskey and charged with racing the fighter along Washington avenue, was fined $3; cost and his license revoked for sixty days.

News Has Highway Maps For Those Interested

It won't be long before you will be gassing up the old bus for a Sunday spin over the countryside. And when you go, you'll want to know the best route to follow. If you're a salesman going about the state every day, you too will want to know all about the roads and the location of every hamlet.

The 1941 edition of the State Highway Department's road maps has just come off the press and The News has obtained a number of them which will be given to those who will call for them at The News' office, 328 Washington avenue. They are attractively printed with each county shown in a different color. In addition there is information about various places in the State.

TELLS DIFFERENCE IN TWO BILLS

Lawyer deHagara Discusses Two Proposed Wage and Hour Measures

The Republican and Democratic wage and hour bills before the New Jersey Legislature were compared by Paul de Hagara, president of the Belleville Taxpayers' Association and secretary of the Belleville Lawyers' Club, at a meeting of the club Tuesday evening in the Elks Club.

De Hagara said that the only real difference between them is the definition of "employer" in Assemblyman Ferster's (Rep. Essex) bill which states that "employer" shall not include such as are subject to the provisions of the Federal Communications Act, nor any hospital, educational, religious, child welfare, or social service organization operated for such purposes and not for pecuniary gain.

The definition, the lawyer said, was included in Assemblyman Ferster's bill as a result of pressure by Western Union, Postal Telegraph and other communications businesses already amply covered by Federal laws.

The Democratic bill was presented by Assemblyman DeVoe (Dem. Middlesex). Both bills have the same title, the same declaration of policy and both stipulate that after 1945 the minimum wage shall be forty cents an hour and that after 1942 the maximum work hours a week shall be forty, with excess hours paid for at time and a half.

Two new members were admitted, George H. Brown, Linden avenue, affiliated with Bred, Abbott and Morgan of New York, and Marcus Rubin of 379 Washington avenue.

Defense Plan Classes To Start At School Within Ten Days

Seventy-nine Men Are Enrolled For Training; Earl Seibert Will Be Supervisor

With seventy-nine men enrolled for class and shop training in the production of defense materials, the Belleville National Defense Production Plan Committee has announced that preliminary classes will be started within the next ten days in the high school work rooms. The hours will be from 3 to 5 p.m., five days a week and all classes will be under the general supervision of Earl Seibert, guidance director and psychologist. The Essex County Vocational System will provide two instructors who know shop work from theory to the finished product.

EIGHTEEN MORE LEAVE TOMORROW

One of Original Quota Replaced By Volunteer; Next Group Goes February 28

Louis John Luzzi of 184 Passaic avenue, one of the original eighteen designees for the fifth contingent of Belleville draftees, will be among the missing tomorrow when the boys go off to Fort Dix. It will be through no fault of his own, however.

Joseph Orlando Vitiello of 41 Jeraldo street, whose draft number is 3,334, among the very high ones, asked the Selective Service Board to ship him off as soon as possible, a request the board complies with whenever possible. Inasmuch as Luzzi's number trails the list among those of the current contingent, his departure was held up to make room for Vitiello. Luzzi will go off with the sixth group on February 28.

Vitiello brings the number of volunteers for the fifth group to twenty. William Arnold Garcia of 339 Stephen street was the only other one.

The sixteen other youths are: David Carroll Townsend of 293 Chestnut street, Nutley, until recently a Belleville resident; Achille Peterzone, 45 Honiss street; Carmine Peter Fusello, 138 Belmont avenue; Thomas Sebastian Natale, 15 Van Rensselaer street; Raymond F. Bleski, 123 Cortlandt street; Edgar Barnard Bloemke, 86 Cortlandt street; Nicholas Philip Grande, 113 Union avenue; Rocco Daniel Andreatto, 93 Magnolia street; James Michael Catalano, 14 Belleville avenue;

Donald Langford Smith, 37 Fairview place; Joseph Cocco, 25 North Eighth street; Donald Louis Brown, 128 William street; Norman William LaBar, 226 Stephen street; Joseph Michael Petillo, 63 Hornbowl avenue, and Sebastian Anthony Stella, 40 Frederick street.

The programs will take the radio audience into defense producing plants to talk with employees at their benches and into the offices of the production executives.

To Display Jewish Ceremonial Art At Synagogue

A display of Jewish Ceremonial Art will be held on Tuesday night in the social hall of the Congregation in Washington avenue. This display is under the auspices of the Sisterhood of the Congregation and is being arranged by Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, spiritual leader. Mrs. Helen Sussman is in charge of the Sisterhood committee.

The showing, the first of its kind ever held in Belleville, will include every type of ceremonial art, such as prayer shawls, candle sticks, scriptures, prayer books, Palestinian art work, Menorahs and many other items of Jewish interest. All articles on exhibit are for sale. Proceeds will go to further the charitable and also the educational work of the Sisterhood. The display will open at 8 p. m.

Legion Will Register Vets On Washington's Birthday

Belleville Post American Legion will conduct registration of all veterans on Washington's Birthday, at the Recreation House between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., in compliance with a request from State Legion Commander John A. Whomsey that all ex-service men voluntarily list themselves for governmental use.

Every ex-service man is urged to register for the national defense program. If he is not a member of the Legion he should bring his discharge papers with him to the Recreation House.

Every registrant will be given a questionnaire to fill out, which lists eighty-two war time occupations.

Gets Safe Driving Award

Raymond B. Cure of 668 Belleville avenue was awarded a "safe driving award" by Representative Hart, chairman of the New Jersey Safe Drivers' Committee, on Monday. Cure had driven more than 250,000 miles without a reportable accident.

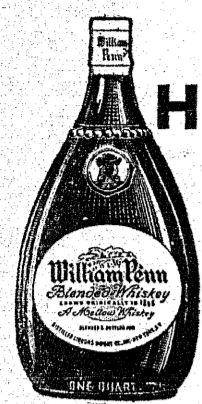

Dr. Halpern Gets Commission, But He's Still Private

Dr. William Halpern of Belleville, the first physician drafted from North Jersey, has received his commission as a first lieutenant in the Reserve Corp. But he's still a buck private at Fort Dix, assigned to the infirmary which caters to recruits and officially is known as Private Halpern of First Battalion Infirmary No. 1229.

JUNIOR RED CROSS HEADS TO MEET

Spring Program Will Be Outlined For Youngsters;
 Plan Swim Campaign

Miss Eileen Lynch, chairman of the Junior Red Cross, will entertain a group of school teachers at tea in her home, 175 Tappan avenue, on Tuesday afternoon to discuss the spring program of the Juniors.

Among those who will attend are Miss Frances Williamson of School No. 1, Miss Maude Miller of School No. 2, Miss Agnes Gailley of School No. 3, Miss Evelyn Pozzo of School No. 4, Miss Mary Gailley of School No. 5, Mrs. Ruth Kime of School No. 7, Miss Ruth Brohal of School No. 8, Miss Isabelle Abbott of School No. 9 and Mrs. Mary Davis of School No. 10.

A learn-to-swim campaign will be the chief feature of the spring campaign and, with no pool in Belleville the group will take steps to obtain use of a pool in some neighboring community. The Montclair Y. M. C. A. has already offered its pool.

All grammar school children are knitting afghans, sweaters, caps, making hospital garments and collecting tin foil and wool for more knitting. The Juniors have issued an appeal to everyone to send wool, no matter of what color, to the schools.

Mrs. William Cross of New street was hostess Tuesday afternoon at two tables of bridge. Guests were present from East Orange and this town.

A LITTLE bit different from anything else you have ever seen is the new Crest Drive-In at the very top of South Orange avenue in South Orange — and a little bit different in several other ways. Opened only a week, it has the distinction of perfection of service, a menu that is distinctly unique (and moderate) and an atmosphere that is a cross between Wyoming avenue drawing room and country club lounge. The view from the great East windows is far more thrilling than you expect in the Poconos. Drop in first chance you get and try the Crest's famous Welsh Rarebit — or their creamy, delicious Waffles. For dessert make it Viennese pastry.

ALDERNEY Milk Barn, Route 10, had two distinguished patrons last week: Bernie Cummins, the orchestra leader, who took an Alderney chocolate malted with a dash of mint, and Jack Pomeroy, the Coast talent scout who put away a tall plateful of Alderney coffee (the men's favorite) ice cream. Alderney oyster stews have continued to be popular at the Alderney Barn and will be continued with the cold weather.

RECOMMENDED Clubs: Pal's Cabin, for its food and for its sparkling entertainment with Jay Sims, Three Skyliners, Marilyn Stuart and Walter Libreri. So crowded lately on weekend evenings reservations are suggested. Same applies to Sunday afternoons. Try Lobster Thermidor next time there.

THE Well, West Caldwell, for such a sophisticated manner in such a rural setting. Never a dull moment, and always a happy, laughing crowd around the big circular bar. The irrepressible Three Octaves continue extremely popular. Food and service excellent. Call Fred for reservations.

TWIN Cedars, West Orange: Most intimate, cafe-lounge dining salon on the "Hill." Has the distinction of being busy Mondays when most places are quiet. Music by Novachord nightly, orchestra Saturday, and during Sunday afternoon cocktail hour, which has become exceptionally popular.

LOCAL night club talent are using DeCamp Bus Lines on their jaunts to and from midtown Manhattan. From the heart of the New York theatrical zone to virtually any section of Essex County they have found the DeCamp way to travel the most convenient and the most comfortable.

Katherine Domenick Wed Sunday To Anthony Baer

St. Anthony's Church was the scene of the wedding on Sunday of Miss Katherine Eleanor Domenick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Domenick, Sr., of 50 Magnolia street, and Anthony Baer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baer of 11 Magnolia street. Rev. Titian Menegus performed the ceremony.

A reception for several hundred friends and relatives followed in the church auditorium. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Josephine Rossi was soloist and organist, and Joseph La Sala of this town acted as best man.

The bride was attired in an ivory white satin gown made princess style with a long train. Her tulle ivory veil was caught with a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a muf of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Colly Zaccane was maid of honor. She wore a satin and net shrimp satin gown with head-dress to match the gown, with a taria of flowers and a short veil falling to shoulder length in back. She carried a muf of gladioli. The bridesmaids, the Misses Rose Fuselle of this town and Miss Mary Casa of Bloomfield, formerly of this town, wore pastel blue satin gowns similar to that of the maid of honor and carried muffs of gladioli.

Gerald Corbo and Enrico Pennisi, both of Montclair, William and Angelo Domenick, Jr., brothers of the bride, were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a soldier blue crepe dress and the bridegroom's mother a black crepe dress. They each wore a corsage of gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of the 1934 class of Belleville High School. After a motor trip to Washington, D. C., for a week, the couple will reside at 83 Baldwin place.

MAYOR GIVEN

gazing pensively toward Nutley with those boundless wells of humor completely dried up within yourself. So look out for a wild-eyed cadaverous man, a regular will in sheep's clothing named Bill Williams.

Charles A. Sherwood, Mayor.

P.S.: Nutley has some very fine factory sites.

Allen Makes a Reply

Allen writes letters without the use of capitals or paragraphs. Various reasons have been given for this, all of which will be passed up at this time. Here's from Fred to Charlie: dear mayor sherwood i have purposely delayed answering your letter, recently, i had occasion to write a mr. kelly, a part-time custodian in nutley, and i didn't want to put your mailman to any further trouble until he had had a short period of rest.

mr. kelly, i learned today, released my letter to the nutley sun for publication. if the nutley custodian is reduced to selling his mail to keep body and soul (assuming mr. kelly is not an atheist) together it is high time that you, as mayor of nutley, either raised his salary or permitted mr. kelly to keep anything he finds on the town hall premises.

i appreciate your kind letter and you will be dismayed to learn that as a result of mentioning nutley on our program our rating on the latest crossley survey dropped three points. if constant nutley mentions are going to alienate our belleville listeners the least you can do in return is to see that the nutley fire department uses texaco gas and that mr. kelly use our havaline oil exclusively when lubricating his spectacle-hinges. i am sure that our three point drop was the on-town of belleville tuning out as a man at the first mention of nutley and knowing you to be a champion of fair play, by proxy, i am sure that you will see that amends are made.

i have heard of this rural go-getter bill williams. he tried to talk a friend of mine into buying a haunted factory in belleville. mr. williams claimed that my friend could snatch the sheets off the ghosts and open a linen mill. belleville is the first town to sound a "swing curfew" to get jitterbugs in off the streets. mr. williams also treks around surrounding towns throwing termite into bowling alleys and loosening the heads on salvation army drums.

mr. williams once claimed that the nutley skyline consisted of four pogo sticks on the upbeat. this i denied vehemently at a recent meeting of people who passed through belleville without looking up during 1940.

Won't Locate Here

there is no danger that i shall ever locate in belleville. if i stay in radio much longer it is believe i will have to worry about, thanx again for your kind letter and continued success in your municipal capacity. fred allen.

PERSONAL LOANS For The HOMEMAKER

The greatest industry in the country is conducted by women. That business is housekeeping.

The good homemaker budgets her expenditures in relationship to her income, as a good business man will do. But her budget will not always balance. Expenses come in groups sometimes just as callers do. They get bunched up like your appointments, until it is impossible to meet all of them. Particularly true this is at this time of year when you have the cost of fuel and winter clothing, school bills, etc.

A timely loan may be the answer to your problem. Consult the Peoples National Bank and Trust Company where you will find an officer glad to talk over your needs with you in a confidential, helpful way.

Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobile Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d—until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

Thought it was time someone built a truly big car—big in ability, in room, in beauty—that was still compact enough, bumper to bumper, to fit your garage without dispossessing the garden tools.

So today in Buick dealers' showrooms you'll see four new models, additions to the 1941 Buick SPECIAL line.

They are typical Buicks on every count—trigger-quick, steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

They dress every mile you travel in trim Buick style—cradle every yard of distance on soft all-coil springing. They top off every trip with an even greater measure of gasoline economy, thread traffic with a new nimbleness, and when it comes to parking find the proverbial dime roomy as a dance floor.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the over-all length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling—and both will stand up and cheer for the easily-reachable price.

Fals Of The Groundhog

Tillie our typewriter lunged for the carbonate of ammonia and whiffed in a couple of good snorts after almost turning up her toes from palpitation of the keys. And all because some Mercury-heeled courier of Dave Lamb's came bustling through the door with the breathless, startling news that the Congregation A. A. A. had trimmed the Belleville Reformed basketball boys 27-21. Now, if you don't follow such things as Church League basketball, you've missed one of the wonders of the ages—in Belleville at least.

The Hanlon & Goodman courtsters were knocked out of a second place by the Federal Leather this week in the Industrial circuit when they were bowled over by the Wallace & Tiernan quintet. While these teams were fighting it out for the runner-up spots, the Eastwood steamroller purred along contentedly in first place by trouncing the Sweeney Lithograph boys 32-21. It was the fourth straight win for the loop leaders.

Kennedy, rimming the basket for eleven points, led the Wallace & Tiernan boys in their triumph over Hanlon & Goodman. However, the high scoring performance of the night was turned in by Muscotte of Federal Leather who swished the cords for a total of twenty-two points. This point spree was largely responsible for Federal's 49-21 win over the Viking Tool combine.

Keep Trying Lads

When Sam Blair isn't busy trying to teach some of the high schoolers the differences between the black and red side of the ledger, he's spending time with the newly organized freshman basketball squad. They've had their first taste of playing under interscholastic fire in the past two weeks and have come out on the short end in both tussles—being defeated by a crew of youthful brawlers and then clipped by a horde of Kearny freshmen. Maybe, they won't win any games but they're learning a lot of the 1-2-3 rules of the game which count.

Perhaps out of the combination of developing material through this squad plus the talent that should come out of the Grammar School League/Belleville will some day take its place in the sun when it comes to basketball. Looking over the scores in that elementary loop makes one feel that they're must be something there.

The time for the crocuses to push up through the ground and the Easter Bunny to go on parade can't be far off when the Nereid oarsmen start talking about dragging out the shells for the season and Ed Lister hobbos about the outlook for a walloping softball season.

The Hot Stove League's holding some of its longest "jam" sessions now and the baseball bigtims are already getting the knicks out of their legs under the southern sun. Lots of local diamond followers will be on the trail of the Newark Bears this season. Postmen delivered contracts to four young baseballers, all of whom are known to local baseball bugs by name if not by sight. If they make good with the Grizzlies in spring training, they'll be seen at Ruppert Stadium this season. From Bloomfield the Bears will be drawing Hank Borowy and Don Savage. Russ Bergmann hails from Madison and Leo Intrabartola from Hillside.

Borowy, who was one of the mainstays of the Bears' pitching staff last season, is heading south for a try with the New York Yankees but Manager Johnny Neun is privately hoping that he will be back for another year with the Bruins. Bergmann, who is an infielder, was up with the Newark last season, while Intrabartola, who is a catcher, comes to Newark from Williamsport and Savage, a garden patroller, from the Norfolk, Va. club.

Neither Savage nor Borowy need any introduction to local fans who followed Bill Foley's Bloomfield High teams a few years back. Borowy had no peer as a hurler in high school ranks and when it came to hitting was just what his name implies. As for Intrabartola, he was one of the best backstoppers turned out in school-boy ranks in this section for some years. He was one of the main sparkplugs of the Hillside High nines which battled their way to two Greater Newark tourney championships. Leo is a chunky, well-built backstopper who should have the stuff to stay up with the Bruins.

Bergmann, who played for Madison High, in the Lackawanna League and later at Duke University before he entered pro ball, is headed for the big-time unless far better baseball judges than us are off their trolleys.

SID SUMMERFIELD WILL CONDUCT TENNIS CLINIC

Will Instruct In Series
At Montclair Y.M.C.A.
Starting Saturday

The veteran local tennis star, Sid Summerfield, who held the town tennis championship in 1935 and '36, will take up a new role in the racket field as director and coach of a co-ed tennis clinic at the Montclair Y.M.C.A. The clinic will be conducted weekly at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium starting Saturday and ending April 5.

The series of seven combined lecture practice instructions will be delivered on Saturday afternoons at 3:30 and men and women, regardless of age, will be enrolled.

The instruction will include playing the forehand, backhand, volley, service, overhead smash and the lob; also footwork and anticipation will be featured. The clinic will teach beginners the fundamentals of the game and will stress such points as court strategy and tactics with demonstrations by the instructor and the students.

Summerfield, who recently completed a study of the methods of the former coach to the Davis Cup team, Mercer Beasley, will follow closely the principles of this coach, including the number system of play.

Special features such as moving pictures and dance records will be introduced to teach the rhythmic muscular co-ordination necessary for accuracy in stroke production. New methods will be tried out for the beginners and awards will be made for the most advancement made during the clinic.

Fewsmith Boys Run Wild In Y.M.C.A. Circuit

Grace Baptist forged farther ahead of the pack in the Church League this week when they massacred the cellar dwelling Congregation A. A. A. quintet 43-14. With the defeat suffered at the hands of the high-flying Graces, the A. A. A. boys lapsed into the defeatist rut from which they had sprung for their first win in two years against Belleville Reformed last week. While Fewsmith Church was idle, the Italian Baptist boys pulled themselves up a notch in the standings by a thrilling 31-29 victory over the Wesley Church five.

The week's real kalsomining job was applied by the lowly Bethany Lutheran team which rose up and smacked down the Christ Church team 36-7. Belleville Reformed did not help their cause any by forfeiting their tilt to St. Peter's, which helped the latter court five to move up into fourth place behind the Italian Baptist team. Reformed was knocked out of a third place tie with the Baptists down into the fifth spot.

Low Scoring Marks Games In West Belleville Loop

Low scoring contests were the feature in the West Belleville Senior League this week. The Triangles sprung up to bowl over the West Ends 12-10 while the North Belleville quintet skipped by the King Association 19-12 to hold their first place position.

New Thoughts On An Old Problem

Present building operations plus prospects for the future development of property along Washington avenue for business purposes indicate the extent to which the scope of this shopping center is expanding. Hand in hand with it walks that old bugaboo — automobile parking. Having spouted so much about it and the necessity of alleviating not only present day conditions but envisioning what it will be in the future with the continued development of business, we hesitate to dwell on it once more.

One of the most generally recognized methods of dealing with the task of keeping cars from piling up in one spot in a business area for a long period of time is through the use of parking meters. It has proven highly satisfactory in many places. However, we have been interested in the approach to the problem which is being made both in Montclair and Nutley, two communities which are at their wit's end in attempting to provide space for all of the automobiles that want to get into the shopping districts. They have been investigating the feasibility of rear-yard municipal parking areas. Both of them are about at the point of actually trying the plan out.

The off-the-street parking plan is not new and it has been used successfully in a number of communities, notably Garden City, L. I., which is recognized as one of the pioneers in the field. Last week we heard Allan H. Rogers, who is the superintendent of Public Works in the Long Island city. The rear-yard plan is his brainchild. As he explained the problem that confronted his municipality a few years ago, we realized that much of what he had found wrong there is troubling Belleville today.

The rear-yard parking lots should not be confused with the common parking lots which may be found in the larger cities. One of the basic strong points of the Garden City plan is that it does not take valuable business frontage. If possible, interior property, which otherwise is of little value, is used. It is land in the rear of the business section for which entrances from side streets either directly or through rights of way can be provided. Most of the lots are small, designed to serve only a small group of businesses. In the Garden City business area there are seven.

One of the main features is that the merchants who will benefit from the establishment of the parking area are called upon to pay a share of the cost through assessments which are levied over a ten-year period. In Garden City, Mr. Rogers claims that merchants can point to a-facts and figures benefit from the plan and that the parking problem which long plagued the business districts has been appreciably diminished.

We have listened to many opinions on how parking problems should be solved. Some of them are most expensive. The Garden City scheme to us seemed one of the most practical. That it could be applied to or used in any way to meet Belleville's problem could be determined only by study.

Rotary Celebrates Another Birthday

Rotary International celebrates its thirty-sixth birthday on Sunday. The organization boasts of a membership of more than 210,000 men in all walks of life in more than three-score of the countries of the world. Rotary's primary ideal is one of service and not alone as an international organization but in every Rotary Club with which we have come in contact that ideal is constantly carried out. Rotary is more than a once-a-week luncheon club. It is a meeting of the business minds of the community where they may exchange thoughts which are of benefit not only to themselves but to their town.

In benevolence and charitable work Rotary has a place among the leaders for the organization has performed much good among crippled children, delinquent youth, college students in need of financial assistance, the blind and the underprivileged, among others.

It is pitiful that one of the main objects of Rotary seems so futile in the world today. It states that one of its chief purposes is: "The advancement of international understanding, goodwill and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service."

It seems a waste of words to hope that these principles could be exchanged for the chaos surrounding us today. But, how great it would be if mistrust, hatred, misunderstanding and intolerance could be replaced by trust, friendship, understanding and tolerance.

Commissioner Magee's Manual For Drivers

One of the branches of the State government which frequently gives evidence of performing a valuable service to the public is the State Department of Motor Vehicles. The timely bulletins, statistical and comparative reports on accidents and other information issued by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Magee to the newspapers helps to make the public conscious of the importance of its job as drivers and pedestrians.

The Motor Vehicle Department is arriving at its rush season for agencies throughout the state will soon be as busy as beehives issuing new license plates and registration cards to car owners and drivers. Commissioner Magee is taking it as an opportunity to present to each driver a "Manual for Driving" which has been prepared by the department.

If each motorist would take an hour's time to study it and the motor vehicle and traffic laws which are also included, there should be more safe driving. The booklet seeks to point out to the driver the tremendous force and mechanical power which he has under him when he sits at the wheel and it tries to make him understand the responsibility he has as a driver.

The manual is a self-given examination for each driver, many of whom long ago forgot the rules and regulations of the road which they learned when they were given their licenses.

Industry Wants More Workers

The demand of industry for more workers was driven home forcibly here this week when Earl Seibert, the guidance instructor at the high school, stated that he had more jobs than he had people to fill them. This is the direct reverse of the situation that has existed for some years. He told of several cases in which plants had called seeking to employ young people and he was forced to tell them that he did not have the applicants to send to them.

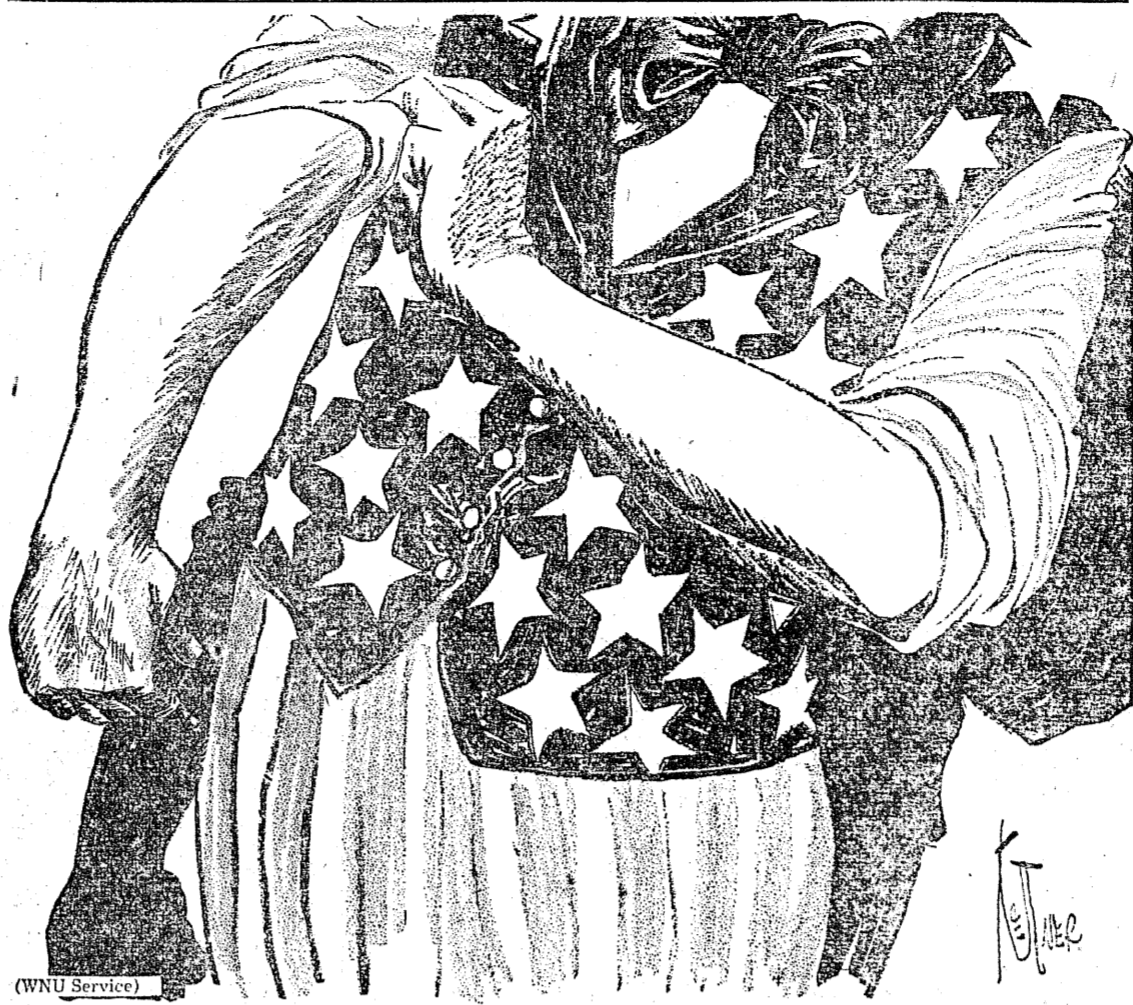

This condition shows that there is employment for those who will work. The importance of it is further stressed when in our own community we have manufacturers working together on the establishment of a training program which will prepare men so that they can take jobs in industry.

The Manufacturers' Association, which in cooperation with the town and school officials is setting up this plan, has demonstrated the willingness of industry to give all the aid that is possible to increase the efficiency of the national defense program.

The local group not only talked about a program but they have actually done something, which is the important part. With speed that is characteristic of private business, they have in a few short weeks started the wheels going on a plan which should prove helpful to local manufacturers and which may establish a pattern for other communities to follow.

There's work to be done fellows!

Manpower — The Basic Resource Of Defense

By Eugene T. Berry, Belleville Health Officer

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of four articles on "Manpower—The Basic Resource of Defense."

Gonorrhea is a very serious disease. It is not the same as syphilis, but gonorrhea and syphilis may occur in the same person not a simple disease. It is very much more serious than the "common cold." Untreated, it cripples. Gonorrhea may cause sterility in both men and women. The direct cause of gonorrhea is a tiny biscuit-shaped germ called the gonococcus. It is spread primarily by sexual intercourse. It is not caused by strain or heavy lifting. Gonorrhea is very catching. The germs of gonorrhea first attack the sex organs and nearby areas. They often attack the joints, causing rheumatism and arthritis.

Often the first sign is a burning pain while urinating. There may be redness and irritation. These signs appear usually from three to five days after the germs enter the body, although they may not appear until several days later. Within a day or so pus appears. The pus is white at first; afterwards it becomes yellow and thick. Thousands of germs are in every drop of pus. A small drop, if it gets into the eye of a newborn child, may cause blindness. This is why doctors always put silver nitrate drops in the eyes of newborn children.

Unless good treatment is given by a doctor as soon as signs appear, the disease will spread. The germs will hurt the various sex organs, will seal up important tubes and passages. Sterility — which makes it impossible to have children — often results. The physician will diagnose gonorrhea by putting a drop of pus on a microscope slide and looking for germs. Perhaps the germs cannot be found. Then in the laboratory the doctor "plants" some of the pus on a special food material to see if the germs will multiply enough to be found. If proper treatment is given at this time by a doctor, the disease may be kept from spreading.

Within recent months new ways of treating gonorrhea have been developed. Drugs of the sulfonamide type seem to hold promise. To buy these drugs at a drug store and to treat yourself without the advice of a doctor is dangerous. Don't do it! A drug which may have cured another person might be very dangerous for you. An experienced doctor must first make proper tests and then watch you carefully during the full course of treatment. A person with gonorrhea needs the best and most complete treatment there is. Don't take a chance with someone who is interested only in your money. Go to a doctor!

- Remember:
1. Gonorrhea is a very serious disease.
 2. A doctor can cure it by early treatment.
 3. It's not safe to take a chance with quack doctors, or home remedies.
 4. Go to your doctor or local health officer if you think you have been exposed or may have gonorrhea.

Yesteryear.....

Five Years Ago

Mrs. Clara C. Schickfus Williams, wife of Mayor Williams, died at her home suddenly after a long illness. She was born in Jersey City and later lived in Passaic until her marriage in 1922 when the couple moved to 82 Rossmore place.

The Mayor recommended that more polling places be provided for the school elections, claiming that it was too difficult for residents of outlying sections to reach the one booth at the high school. The suggestion was made after only eighty-eight ballots were cast in the previous week's voting.

All the officers of the Welfare Federation were reelected: Everett B. Smith, president; Alva A. Buckley, vice president; John P. Dailey, treasurer; Charles A. Gebhardt, treasurer.

John P. Dailey was elected to his third successive term as a president of the Board of Education. Mrs. Porter F. Sheldon was reelected vice president.

Edward Kastenbaum of Jersey City helped Detective John Flynn chase the "robber" of a St. Peter's poor box but, on question-ir, admitted the theft himself.

The Bellboys won their tenth of the season, dropping Bloomfield's basketweavers 29-25.

Ten Years Ago

Commissioner Williams accused Town Attorney John H. Brown of "deliberately maltreating your opinions in an attempt to confuse." The dispute arose over Brown's recent reversal of an opinion on the number of votes needed to approve the town budget. Brown defended himself by saying that he had reversed his opinion on the advice of Walter Darby, Commissioner of Local Government.

School Superintendent George R. Gerard was detailed by the Board of Education to make a survey of the necessity of special classes for subnormal children. The board believed there were thirty such cases, requiring two classes under the state law. Gerard said a similar survey several years before showed only nine cases.

Mrs. Julia Morgan was appointed deputy overseer of the poor to assist Mrs. Lucy Bootes.

Twenty Years Ago

Opposition was growing daily to the bill sponsored by Harold A. Miller providing for the annexation of Belleville to the City of Newark. John DeGraw wrote The Belleville Times to the effect that Newark's per capita costs of municipal management were three times those of this town.

The appointment of Eugene M. Gavey as Registrar of Vital Statistics was confirmed by the state Board of Health.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Deciding to erect a nine-room addition to the Silver Lake School, the Board of Education decided to ask five architects to submit plans. Two of the five were Bellevillites: Charles Granville Jones and James V. Thetford.

Two children were severely cut in sledding accidents. They were ten-year-old John Baney and eight-year-old James Rowe.

Thirteen directors of the Belleville B. & L. attended its annual dinner, but superstition caused them to invite the proprietor of the place to sit at the table with them. The year before, when thirteen attended, the dinner was followed by a fatal accident to Tax Collector George W. Staniar who was among them. Staniar was injured in a fall at home the next day.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

It is practically impossible to ascertain the progress being made by the groups favoring a Newark City Commission slate led by Dr. Lester H. Clee and Joseph M. Byrne. The latter is sick at his home and Clee seldom confides in anyone. Great pressure will be put on Byrne to prevent him from accepting a place on such a ticket. He is an organization Democrat and has accepted honors from the Hague machine, notably an appointment to the Port of New York Authority.

But Democratic pressure these days is twofold. The party now has two leaders, Frank Hague and Charles Edison. The Hague machine in the ordinary course of events would oppose such a coalition. Edison, on the other hand, would be inclined to favor it. But Democratic strategists everywhere can be depended upon to block Clee's personal ambitions. The constitution may be changed between now and 1943 so that a governor can succeed himself. But even if Edison is not a candidate then, he most likely will try to name a successor. If he made a successful effort to clean up Newark, Clee would loom as the strongest Republican candidate. Hence, it is hardly in the cards that Democrats should help to build him up to defeat them.

May Have Different View. The field the better would be Clee's chances. Hence he may be looking at both contests at once. The better the Senatorial situation looks the less he would be inclined to gamble with Newark.

But Byrne may take a different viewpoint of the matter. He may argue that a coalition effort to clean up Newark will inure to the benefit of the Democratic party no less than the Republicans, and that Clee will run for the Senate if he does not seek a commissionship. He knows that an alliance with Clee will add tremendously to his following. Furthermore, he is not too friendly to Jants J. McMahon and would like to see a Democratic new deal in Essex.

Byrne's main political ambition is to see built a Democratic party in Essex that can compete on equal terms with the Vanderbilt organization. For this to be done he knows that the government of Newark must be brought to a degree of efficiency that will compare favorably with that of the county. Newark is the natural stronghold of Democratic strength just as the suburbs are the nucleus of Republican strength. If by Clee's help Newark's government can be reformed, Byrne would logically reason that it would be good Democratic strategy to make use of it.

My own belief is that Byrne and Clee will make an extremely strong combination. What is needed most is one other candidate of the same caliber. None is in sight at the present moment. After all, two men are an inevitable minority in a group of five. Three strong men can overshadow two weak ones. But the independent public may not take too friendly to a slate containing three political hacks or racial candidates.

May Not Gamble

Republican leaders close to Clee say that he is not inclined to take a long gamble in a Newark Commission fight. If conditions do not appear propitious, they say he will decline to run at the last minute and seek to be elected to the Senate instead. He deliberately offered to run if he could get party backing to encourage such backing but doesn't propose to be made a political martyr.

As to the Senatorial situation, Fred G. Stickel, Jr. is said to have, informed Homer C. Zink that he intends to oppose him this September. A number of other leaders have the same idea in mind. The more candidates in

CAN'T FILL CALLS FOR WORKERS

H. S. Guidance Director Is Swamped With Employers' Requests; Wants Applicants

Earl W. Seibert, guidance director and psychologist of the Belleville public schools, is receiving more requests for workers from employers than can be filled. The high school placement bureau began to receive employee requests a few weeks before Christmas. Since then they have come in increasing numbers and Seibert is hard put to find boys and girls to fill the jobs. On Monday Westinghouse Electric Company and two Arlington business firms asked for high school graduates and had to be told that there were none available.

Seibert has announced that he will interview any job applicant among high school graduates and from among those in the sixteen and over age group regardless of school attainments at his high school office during the usual business hours.

To save applicants' time, Seibert suggests that they telephone for an appointment, Belleville 2-4470. He stressed the importance of renewing applications in his announcement and asked that all boys and girls placed inform him of their success so that he can take their names off the job applicant list.

Job offers include all the usual classifications, drafting, office boy work, nurse-maiding and some openings that provide training and work.

The children's story hour, held every Saturday morning from 10:30 until 11, provides much entertainment for youngsters. The stories are in a series of tours through different parts of the world. To date the children have heard about "Little John of New England," "The Little Woodmen of the North," "The Little Indian Weaver" and "The Little Mexican Donkey Boy." Saturday's narrative will be "The Little Farmer of the Middle West."

Maps have been provided for each child to follow the route of the stories, and a gold star record of attendance will be kept.
