

WILL SENTENCE PAIR FOR LIFE IN SLAYING

Jury Recommends Life
Sentence For Buhrig, Rost
In Frederick Killing

Common Pleas Judge Daniel J. Brennan, on Wednesday, will impose a sentence of hard labor for life on August Buhrig, twenty-three, and Earl Rost, twenty, who were pronounced guilty by an Essex County Court jury of the first degree murder of Frank Fredericks of 134 Hornblower avenue, father of eight children, during the hold-up of Ziegler's tavern in Holmes street on May 5.

Hard labor for life was the jury's recommendation. "I think substantial justice was done under the circumstances," Judge Brennan said when he thanked the jurors.

When the jury retired to deliberate — it took thirty-six ballots — Buhrig was so weak from fright he could not get out of his chair.

The night he and his pal entered the tavern, the prosecutor contended, Rost fired his gun merely to prove wrong one of the crowd of standees who remarked that the holdup pair wouldn't shoot. The defense likened them to the "Dead End Kids."

It was related that Buhrig's mother was convicted and sent to Clinton Reformatory when Buhrig was three months old. Today at thirty-nine she has ten children.

When the blow of "guilty" finally landed on them both were calm. "Fair and Square," said Rost. "The same," said Buhrig.

COMISKEY KAYOED BY JUDGE SMITH

Patrick Edward Comiskey, Patterson's twenty-one-year-old "white hope" gift to the prize ring, was kayoed by Recorder Everett B. Smith in the local police court last night. Unimpressed by the 210-pound Irish behemoth's kayo record, Judge Smith with one looping right of his gavel sent Patrick Edward to the canvas for a three months' stay. In court jargon, this means that the recorder revoked Comiskey's driver's license for three months for speeding seventy miles an hour in Washington avenue on February 5.

Smith showed no more mercy to the much-heralded heavyweight hopeful than did Max Baer or Lou Nova, who both recently halted Comiskey's intended march toward a fight with Heavyweight Champ Joe Louis. The fighter was arrested by Patrolman Irving Holley after a two-mile chase which ended near the Clifton-Nutley line. The records show that Comiskey had previously been convicted for speeding in Budd Lake and Ridgewood and for driving on the soft shoulder of the road in Pine Brook. He came here from Florida for the court appearance and is returning to Miami immediately for another bout. Last Sunday night he kayoed Dominic Valin of San Francisco in one round.

ROTARY TO HONOR DETTELBACH

Charter Member Will Attend
His 1,000th Rotary Meeting
Next Wednesday

There will be no noon meeting of the Belleville Rotary Club next Wednesday. Instead, there will be a dinner that evening at Forest Hill Field Club to honor one of the club's charter members, Philip Dettelbach, general manager of L. Sonneborn Sons, paint manufacturers, who will be attending his 1,000th Rotary meeting with an enviable 100 per cent record.

The Rotarians have all been asked by Wilbur W. Brooks to assemble at 5:30 and from present indications there will be 100 per cent attendance to honor Dettelbach.

Dettelbach attended the club's first meeting in January, 1922. He was the club's second secretary and fourth president. Whenever occasion has demanded that he miss a Belleville meeting he has always attended a meeting that week of a club in some other town, usually the following day. His secret for perfect attendance has been never to put off attendance making-up. He once attended a meeting in the Canal Zone.

At the regular noon session yesterday, George Kaden presented kodachrome slides of Rotary members at the World's Fair.

WARNING ISSUED ABOUT MEASLES

165 Cases Were Reported
During First Ten Days
Of The Month

Health Officer Eugene T. Perry warned against laxity in the treatment of measles in a statement yesterday in which he noted that 165 new cases of measles were reported in the town in the first ten days of March as against 133 during the entire month of February.

"The present somewhat widespread prevalence of measles in Belleville and vicinity has been accompanied by the usual increase of bronchial pneumonia."

"There is an unfortunate tendency among the public to regard measles too lightly and as an ailment not requiring medical attention," he cautioned.

"While this may be true of eighty per cent of all cases, the remaining twenty per cent do develop dangerous and often fatal complications, such as bronchial pneumonia, otitis, media, mastoiditis and meningitis."

"Under two years of age it cannot be said that any case of measles is free from complications."

"During the month of February there were 133 cases reported and in the first ten days of March, 165. The health department is not anticipating a let-up in the present outbreak until the latter part of April."

"If your child develops red or inflamed eyes, running nose, fever, harsh, dry bronchial cough, the chances are that he is developing measles and should be kept home from school and isolated from the rest of the household."

"All cases should be under suitable medical supervision. Do not wait until your child has developed some unfortunate complication before consulting your family doctor."

Twenty-four signed up for the ten-week course, successful conclusion of which entitles students to the Red Cross first aid certificate and the right, later, to take an instructor's course. With the local Red Cross Chapter planning to start a motor corps, several of the enrollees had that fact in mind, a first aid certificate being a pre-requisite to membership in the corps.

Lennox, Fred Holland and the Misses Jane Whelan, Margaret Soleau, Betty Schwab, Margaret Rodgers, Marie Weiss, Doris Soleau, Doris Scharfberg, Eileen Lynch, Ethel Virginia Ryan, Jule Mapes and M. J. Pat Waters Calls Turn On Weekend Weather

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters proved himself to be an ace weather man when he called the turn for fair and warmer for the weekend following Saturday's foot-deep snow storm, the worst in six years, and put his trust in Old Sol to remove most of the snow at little extra cost to the Belleville taxpayers.

He struggled through the drifts and depths all day Saturday with his scant eighteen men, recruited from the street, water and sewer departments, and only ten extra in help to do a lightning job of removal, in fact, so good a job that more than a dozen letters of commendation were received at Town Hall. The extra men were employed to clean sewer openings, street intersections and all and any spots where beige silk stockings were likely to take a beating. The regular help worked at just everything.

Defense Committee Seeks Instructors For Classes

The Belleville National Defense Production Plan Committee is in the same fix as the government. The government needs tools with which to build defense equipment. The Belleville Committee needs instructors for their more than 100 applicants for a course in how to build tools.

Personal efforts on the part of members of the committee to find two instructors — men over twenty-five with at least eight years' practical experience — having bogged down, the committee has now turned to newspaper advertising.

The instructors will be paid.

BOARD CONFIRMS SALE OF $27,000 IN PROPERTY

Affirm Sale of Forty-Three
Lots To White Oaks;
Zone Change Sought

The Board of Commissioners did a $27,000 business in sale of town-owned land at its Tuesday meeting and received offers of purchase amounting to $10,000 for other properties. They recommended acceptance of a $22,000 offer from the White Oaks Development Corporation for forty-three parcels in the Greylock Heights section and of a $5,000 offer from Joseph M. and Pallogie Niedzinski of Nutley for land at 31 and 61 Parkside drive.

The White Oaks Corporation controlled by the Goldfarb brothers of Newark has erected about eighty houses in the tract on the eastern side of Union avenue north of Greylock parkway. Similar type homes will be erected by them in the Greylock Heights section.

They originally offered $21,500 for the land but were forced up to $22,000 as the result of an intermediate bid by the O'Connell Home Corporation.

H. R. Ritter Trucking Company, now situated at the corner of Joralemon and Ralph streets, made application to buy a two acre parcel of town-owned land in Ralph street between Joralemon and Holmes street for $5,000. The land will be put up at the next auction of town-owned property.

It is partly in an "A" zone and partly in a "B" zone, thus the Zoning Board will first have to change the restrictions to permit the trucking company to erect a garage, estimated to cost $50,000 before it can safely bid.

Would Lift Restrictions

It was the consensus of commissioners that the zoning restrictions be lifted and a petition to the effect was passed ordered sent to the zoning board. The company's trucks are forty-two feet in length and difficult to maneuver into the lot garage.

Another application for change of town-owned land was received from a concern, its undisclosed, which desires to a 45,000 square foot factory and 12 Willet street. The concern offered $5,000 and that it would employ about persons.

FORMER RESIDENT VISITS ISLANDS

Mrs. James Thetford Enjoys
Stay In West Indies
With Son

Had you heard about Mrs. James Thetford's five-week visit with her son Norman, way off on the island of St. Croix, in the West Indies? The Thetfords used to live on Bremond street, you know, and now reside in Washington, D. C. Norman is the government physician stationed at Frederiksted, an island of St. Croix, so he and his wife really gave Mrs. Thetford a whirl. Aside from a nice long visit during which she met a lot of their friends, they took her over to Puerto Rico where they stayed for five days or so, seeing the sights and hobnobbing with socialites at the inauguration and receptions for the governor. Not only did they have the fun of seeing the new governor of the islands installed in offices with ceremony, butting his rank, but by a happy coincidence the new governor of the Virgin Islands was also officially received into office and given a reception while they were there.

Congregation Starts Drive For New Members

A membership drive to affiliate all the Jewish families in town with the Synagogue has been announced by Edward J. Abramson, president of Congregation Ahavah Achim. The campaign will last for three weeks and will conclude with a communal get-together scheduled for Sunday evening, March 30, in the congregation social hall. Under the leadership of Abramson, cards listing the names of all unaffiliated families were distributed to present members of the congregation. They must be reported on during the next two weeks.

In order to help this drive increase the membership of the congregation and further the religious, educational, philanthropic and social activities of the Synagogue, Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin has prepared a special membership brochure for distribution to every family in town. All Jewish families in Belleville are asked to respond to this campaign.

Will Hold Purim Carnival At Congregation Sunday

The annual Purim Carnival of the Religious School of Congregation Ahavah Achim will be held Sunday morning at 10 in the social hall of the congregation. Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, principal of the school, is in charge of the program which will include various holiday games, a Purim song fest and "Shalach Monos," during which the children will exchange small gifts of food.

A Purim play entitled "The Haman of Today," will be presented by a group of children who were coached by Mrs. Yetta Ehrenworth. Those taking part in the play are Harold Atkins, Ruth Goodman, Lionel Ehrenworth, Ned Becker, Elaine Weinglass and Murray Glaser. A special holiday issue of "Hatzvah," the student publication, will be distributed.

Fannie Winter Briden

Services were conducted Monday afternoon by Rev. Peter L. Deekenbach of Christ Episcopal Church at the People's Burial Company, Newark, for Mrs. Fannie Winter Briden, sixty-two, wife of Edwin Briden of 135 DeWitt avenue, who died on Friday after a stroke at Presbyterian Hospital, Newark. Burial was in East Ridgeland Cemetery.

Mrs. Briden was born in Munich, Germany, and came to this country when she was two. She had lived in Belleville twenty-two years. She was a member of Arem Chapter, Eastern Star. Besides her husband, she leaves a son, David.

Monday Speaker

Miss Caroline Hood

Woman's Club Will Hear About Rockefeller Centre

Two events of outstanding importance are on the calendar of the Belleville Woman's Club for the coming week. Miss Caroline Hood will speak on "Secrets of Rockefeller Centre" at 2 on Monday afternoon in the clubhouse at 51 Rossmore place. The program sponsor is the club's American Home Department, of which Mrs. F. Kenneth Mase is chairman.

Bob Wyder, Proprietor of The Well, West Caldwell, is gaining quite a reputation for himself as a talent scout.

A little less than a year ago he "discovered" the Three Octaves who have been playing good music and singing witty songs there ever since. Now, commencing this Sunday night, he is presenting for the first time in New Jersey the Chordsmen, a quartet of musicians, direct from Manhattan's Belasco Theatre where they were the musical support for eight weeks for the play "Mr. and Mrs. North." In addition, as an intermission singer he will offer Miss Jeanne Stewart, who, until recently was one-third of the popular Stewart Sisters trio.

But the point of this paragraph is the fact that Sunday night will be Gala Night at The Well. It will be farewell to the Octaves (who will be back after they fill an engagement in Chicago) and welcome to the Chordsmen and Miss Stewart. Reservations have been piling up. It will probably be the biggest night in The Well's successful history. The Chordsmen, made up of four good-looking boys, play the vibraphone, Spanish guitar, electric guitar and violin and the bass violin. You may have heard them on NBC. Better make it a date for Sunday night at The Well.

STILL another "discovery" of ours is the T-bone steaks at Frank Crum's Rock Spring Corral, Northfield road, West Orange. Frank confided to us Tuesday night that they arrived daily by special delivery service from "Wotiz" meat's Central avenue and 9th street headquarters in Newark. They are really delicious as any of Mr. Crum's discriminating patrons will tell you.

SPEAKING of good food, The Blue Door, Route 10, East Hanover, has a lamb chop that literally melts in your mouth when it comes out of the broiling oven. Garnished with home-cooked vegetable delicacies, it makes a more than satisfying dinner, along with the home-made pie a la mode that you get there. This is a spot for you to get acquainted with.

FARTHER up Route 10 at the intersection of Route 202, the Alderney Milk Barn, popular all winter, has dug itself out of the snow, and is getting ready for the spring and summer rush. This is the spot where you get the original Alderney Brooklawn Guernsey milk direct from Alderney's adjoining Brooklawn Model Farm. All of Alderney's other dairy products are also available there.

CREST DRIVE-IN, at the top of South Orange avenue, South Orange, new as it is, has been doing the business that an old land-mark might expect, and Bert Knaster and his associates in this fine dining spot should (and no doubt are) justly proud. We advise you to try the Crest Drive-in, even if you have to drive off your course to get there. Their menu is entirely (and exclusively) different.

TWIN CEDARS, West Orange, maintains a steady increase in patronage, for the reason that once you go there, there is something that makes you go back again and again. There are so many nice things about the place it is hard to put your finger on just what it is. From Freddy and Billy Carmine, the proprietors, to the youngest bus boy, hospitality is supreme. Better get acquainted. If you haven't a car DeCamp Bus Lines can get you comfortably and swiftly to many of the night spots in the mountains. And for the theatre in Manhattan there is no more convenient way to travel. This is also true for shopping expeditions, whether your destination is Herald Square or further uptown. DeCamp's midtown terminal at 43rd street is mid-way between 6th and 7th avenues.

LAST, but far from least, we'd like to talk about popular Pals Cabin at the top of Eagle Rock Hill, West Orange. Here is an organization that is one big happy family. The result is that the customer gets friendly, spirited service, foods prepared with an extra-curricular touch, and a check that is usually so moderate you look at it twice with wide eyes. Adv.

Eight Balls of Fire

IF YOU like fireworks, and who doesn't, it's really too bad you can't see what goes on inside the sparkling big Buick FIREBALL straight-eight engine.

There you'd see eight busy cylinders, with pistons flashing up and down...

You'd see each fuel charge packed tight into a tiny bundle shaped like a flattened ball...

You'd see the spark leap, the flame spread, the piston thrust down with extra force as each furious fireball lets go its pent-up wallop—as fast as thirty times a second in each cylinder.

Gasoline gives up more of its power when it's packed as tightly as it is here.

That special, flattened-ball shape of the compressed fuel charge means smoother, better burning, full focus of the power on the piston head, where it counts.

So when you've got these eight balls of fire working busily under the bonnet, you really travel!

You travel farther on every gallon and you travel more pleasurably.

You travel—but, shucks! Why listen to talk when there's a Buick dealer nearby waiting to show you how you travel behind a FIREBALL?

From The SIDELINES

As Seen By The Sideliner

Mushing through the fields in last Saturday's snow making believe that we were snowshoeing in Alaska, our mythical dog team brought us up to the edge of the Turf Bog Stadium. The sight of this concrete mass dripping with snow frosting like a big loaf cake jarred us out of our dream of the frozen northland and brought us back to home. It was all quite peaceful and elegant. But we couldn't help wondering how much longer the Turf Bog would be as free of human beings as it was at that moment.

We have rolled through the winter months without any disposition as yet of the case of who is going to run the place. In fact, there has not even been a decision on whether or not anybody is going to use it outside of the neighborhood youngsters.

With spring and baseball, softball and whatnot just around the corner it seems as though the time would be ripe (even over-ripe) for the powers that be to put their heads together and decide who will be boss and the rest of the stuff that goes with it. Without a doubt it is one of the finest athletic plants for a community of this size and there's going to be an awful lot of ribbing from inside and out unless it is used.

We're naturally hopeful that the high school teams — track and baseball — will use it this spring and that when fall comes around the Blue and Gold footballers will show their stuff there. Of course, there's been hoping before and that's as far as it has gone, but really, it's about time that something be done.

Helmets for High Schoolers?

For several years there has been a campaign carried on through newspapers and sporting magazines to have baseball players wear helmets. Now, this does not mean that the boys would step up to the plate with headpieces resembling those worn by football players. But, for a long time it has been realized that players run the risk of long-time or permanent head injuries through being struck on the head by pitched balls. Having star players "beamed" has been costly to several major league clubs and in a few cases has wrecked brilliant futures or halted the careers of outstanding players.

However, most clubs have been reluctant to make any change and the majority of the players felt that any headpiece designed to protect vital parts of the head would prove more of a nuisance than a help. It remained for Larry McPhail, the Brooklyn Dodgers' progressive prexy, to be the first major league mogul to announce that the players on his team would wear caps designed to protect them from possible serious head injuries.

The new headpiece is not in the strict sense of the word a helmet. It is similar in design to the regulation baseball cap, but inside of it are two zipper pockets into which are fitted plastic pieces — one for each side of the head. The plastic material is so light in weight that it can hardly be noticed, yet it is of such a hard substance that it could not be broken by a blow such as that of a speeding baseball.

If the major leagues are concerned about head injuries to their baseball players, why not the high schools? It is not too much to say that school players are more frequently subjected to the possibility of "beaming" than major leaguers because they face young pitchers who as a rule have less control over their deliveries than big leaguers.

No effort should be spared to make baseball as safe as possible in high school. The results of the experiments with the protective baseball caps should be carefully watched by high school coaches. If they prove as practical as some of the Dodge players have already testified, then it would seem advisable for high schools dealing with young boys to use them.

While Grace Baptist continued to thunder along in first place in the Church League with a low scoring 19-10 triumph over Christ Episcopal, the second place tie was broken when the Fewsmith Presbyterian boys stepped out to trim the Italian Baptist team 26-22. The Baptist boys then slid into a third place deadlock with the St. Peter's five which bounced the lowly Congregation A. A. 25-20. In the other game Reformed edged up a bit on the head vanguard by halting the Wesley Methodist quintet 34-24.

Cahey's nine points paced the Grace Baptist team in their triumph while Bowden looped in ten markers to lead the Fewsmiths in their win. Marrotti's eleven points were not good enough to overcome the Fewsmith advantage.

Community Work By Red Cross

Frequently we have heard some chronic grumbler complain at the time of the Red Cross' annual drive that he did not see why he should contribute. What did the Red Cross do for him? All they were interested in was the welfare of some poor urchins in far-off China or some other distant country. Two excellent illustrations of the work the organization does in local communities have been given here during the past week.

One branch of the local chapter has announced that it will sponsor a learn-to-swim course for the younger children, while another group has opened a series of first aid classes. These are important community projects and without the supervision and effort of the Red Cross, it is doubtful if Belleville would have either of them.

Campaigns to have more adults learn about first aid have been numerous in recent years and with the entire nation girding itself for any emergency, one of the best projects that a community such as ours can undertake is to train a corps of its citizens for first aid work.

Many are the parents who have meant to teach Junior or Sister how to swim but have never gotten around to it. Now, they haven't the time and in many instances Junior or Sister would not pay any attention to them as an instructor. However, it is important for young children both from a health and safety standpoint to know how to swim. The wise parent will see that his youngsters are enrolled in this course where they will be taught by trained instructors.

Prematurely Subdivided Property — A Luxury

Probing and research to find an explanation for the economic sins which helped bring the last depression tumbling down upon us should help save us from future pitfalls. Unless we profit by experiences of what has happened before, we cannot but expect to suffer just as miserably or even more so in the future. Poor planning, wild spending and little or no business-like administration put some municipalities into bankruptcy and others near-bankruptcy. The innocent taxpaying property owner suddenly had a gigantic tax bill presented to him which it was impossible for him to pay. In many instances these owners were forced to let their homes go to foreclosure. For everything there is a reason. During the past few years numerous surveys of the local government problem have been made by commissions in this state. One of the most interesting and thought-provoking is that of the New Jersey State Planning Board, the findings and conclusions of which have just been presented to the Governor. It is an enlightening revelation of some of the ills which have saddled many towns and which have wrought financial hardships not only for the taxpayers in the individual municipality but for those of the entire state.

It is a report on the study of prematurely subdivided lands, which the Planning Board terms a luxury. These subdivided lands, which came during the "boom" building period shortly before the depression, are sufficient to supply over a million 50x120 foot vacant lots, one for every family now resident in the state. In a survey of nine municipalities, the Planning Board found that forty-five per cent of all vacant lots in the area have been tax delinquent for more than one year, most of them for more than five years. Based on previous studies, the committee arrived at the conclusion that similar conditions are general wherever there is a large surplus of subdivided land and estimate that approximately forty per cent of all vacant lots in the state are chronically tax delinquent.

Millions of dollars are represented in unpaid municipal charges on this subdivided land, the Board believes, for in eight municipalities surveyed the total delinquency exceeded $7,500,000. Poor location and quality of these properties tends to discourage development.

And what does it mean to the taxpayers who are paying their bills? A large part of every tax dollar which they are paying goes to pay the cost of the retirement and interest on bonds which were issued to pay the cost of the construction of unused improvements for these properties. Many of the communities which are today deep in the financial rut can trace their troubles back to the "boom" days of wild spending and poor management.

The Board concludes its report with recommendations for legislation which it believes should be effected to prevent a recurrence of these ills. All property tax delinquent for more than one year should be sold at a tax sale unless some provision is made for payment. A maximum period of delinquency should also be provided, the Board states, beyond which municipal liens not redeemed should be foreclosed. The procedure and the cost of foreclosure should also be reduced. It is also advocated that more stringent regulations be set for land subdivisions in the future. There should be better planning by the municipality and the developer should be required to bear a greater burden of the cost of improvements.

This study is of importance to every municipality whether it directly affects them or not. Indirectly, at least, all of the taxpayers are made to pay the penalty for poor municipal management, regardless of whether it is in their own community or not.

Happy Landing

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Hope for a genuine fusion ticket in the Newark Commission election is fading fast. It is barely possible that the return this week of Joseph M. Byrne will act to revive the ailing movement, but the best observers think otherwise. Byrne is expected to run but strategists believe it will be as an independent. One well-informed person told me recently that he would not be surprised if all four of the present commissioners should be re-elected along with John Brady. In an independent race Ellenstein and Byrne are considered sure to win, with Franklin and Murphy more in doubt. Brady is considered a strong candidate.

No Italian-American candidate now in the field is considered able to win, although Anthony Giuliani probably has the strongest personal organization. Voters of Italian origin in Newark are extremely group conscious, and in their present mood will vote a straight Italian ticket. But this Italian vote is not expected to go above 25,000, which is not enough to elect. Alignment with other groups is necessary to produce a winner. But other groups are wary about entering such an alliance. In the first place, it is doubted whether any Italian-American candidate can persuade voters of his group to vote for candidates other than those with Italian names.

Will Cut Them

The influence of the World War has tended to make many Italians more and more clanish. In the second place, other racial groups, particularly Poles and Jews, are not expected to be very enthusiastic over Italian candidates. They are likely to cut them even though their political leaders tell them to do otherwise.

The situation therefore tends to breed mistrust among the many racial groups that make up Newark's polyglot population. This fact, plus the huge number of candidates, gives the present incumbents a tremendous advantage. It might also work to the advantage of a fusion group which would have outstanding candidates like Byrne and Dr. Lester H. Clee. But such a plan must have the initial urge. Once started it would have a good chance of gathering momentum. Public apathy, however, is so great that launching a fusion movement strong enough to combat the huge personal machines already built by the present commissioners looks hopeless.

Those close to Dr. Clee say he has no present intention of entering the race. He continues to permit his name to be used as a possible candidate to encourage an independent movement which he thinks is Newark's only hope, but he will not run unless there is a genuine demand for such a slate.

Essex Legislators

A statement in this column two weeks ago that the present Essex Assembly delegation lacked leadership and political strength has brought a surprising number of protests. Examination of these protests leads me to the conclusion that the statement was basically unfair and should be corrected. The present legislative set-up in New Jersey is so futile that it is hard to write about any phase of its work without implied criticism.

Many individual members, however, are doing careful although largely thankless work. Such industry merits praise. Homer C. Zink of Belleville, Mrs. Olive C. Sanford of Nutley and Frank Platts of Newark, titular leader of the delegation, are three members whose individual efforts are particularly conscientious. The work they do is largely without pay, as is that of the other members of the delegation.

Furthermore, the Essex group has done good work in blocking ripper legislation and it is to be hoped that it will continue to do this. The press would be doing a poor civic service if its criticisms of the whole legislative picture should contribute to lessen resistance of individual members to bad government.

On the other hand, care should be taken lest praise of the work of individual legislators should be interpreted by the public as condonation of the present system.

Commissioner Mathes expressed disapproval of issuance of a license to Belleville Post No. 105, American Legion, to hold a carnival, reasoning that carnivals were unsanitary and that it had been rumored that town officials had accepted graft to permit the holding of one. Commissioner Minion said he was not so much worried about the unsanitary angle as he was about the immorality of carnival side-shows.

Application for a permit to build a movie at 362 Washington avenue, brought up at the same meeting, was deferred for future action to give objectors time to formulate their reasons.

Note was made in the social column that "J. Gardi of Jopalemon street transacted business in Newark on Tuesday."

C. H. Cutler advertised eleven lots on the westerly side of Dela-

An advertisement announced the opening on March 16 of a fish market at 133 William street by C. Hallie, the market to be stocked with all kinds of sea food in season direct from the nets at Sea Bright.

Trip To Washington?

"Shall I go to Washington?" This is the question which is bothering a number of seniors. Plans for this trip which will be taken during Easter Vacation from April 17 to 19, are being formed. Debaters Are Busy

The Debate Club, under direction of L. Howard Fox, has a busy season ahead. The team has already debated two games with both South Side and Passaic. Among the members of the team are Robert Boice, George Clarkson, Harry Hammon, Nancy Lynch, Mollie Leites, Lydia Mossier, Ann Ushakarity, and Blanche Wells, the four best debaters will be chosen to represent the school in the New Jersey Forensic League of Secondary Schools State Contest. The North Jersey elimination contest will be held at Montclair State Teachers College, Saurday, March 23. At this same date South Jersey eliminations will be held at Trenton State Teachers College. The top four teams of both contests will go to Princeton, April 4, for the state contest.

The schedule for the team is as follows:

Wednesday, March 19—Dover High at Belleville.
Friday, March 21—Rutherford at Belleville.
Wednesday, April 2—West Side at Belleville.
Thursday, April 3—Belleville at West Side.
