

BOARD REJECTS APPLICATION FOR CARNIVAL

County Legion Request Refused; Newark Test Black-Out To Affect Part of Town

Basball, a carnival, a black-out and real estate held the attentions of the town commissioners Tuesday night. Mayor Williams was absent and several of the discussions were left to be finished at a special meeting next Tuesday evening when the full board will be in attendance.

The commissioners unanimously rejected an application from the County American Legion organization to hold a carnival at Edison Field June 9 to 14, on the grounds that a carnival would attract undesirable, be unsanitary and damage the field. Richard D. Shannon represented the Legionnaires and Charles Powell the World's Fair Shows, Inc.

The matter has been under consideration for several weeks and it was the reports, one from Chief Spatz and another from Health Officer Berry, which prompted the rejection.

A test black-out in Newark late in May which would affect 198 street lamps in Belleville tied in on the Newark circuit, was given into the hands of Commissioner Clark for study and report. A letter from Newark's chief engineer, James W. Costello, acquainted the commissioners with the test plans.

The Turf Bog came to life when the commissioners temporarily placed the field in the custody of Commissioner Noll, who announced that he has a prospective paying tenant for the baseball diamond. Joe Lanning, a Newark semi-pro baseball tycoon, would like to organize a Belleville unit of the Essex County Baseball League with the Bog as a home field and pay the town a percentage of gate receipts.

Elwood Casperson of Caldwell offered to buy the L-shaped town owned property at 615 Washington avenue for $11,000. He said he wants to erect a $60,000 building on it. He did not disclose what sort of a building or for what purpose it would be used. The offer was laid over.

SOHO NEEDS MORE EMPLOYEES

Annual Report Shows Work Has Increased; Death Rate Down In 1940

The County Isolation Hospital in Belleville set two records in 1940. More patients were admitted than in any other year and the death rate was lower than ever. This was pointed out to Essex County Freeholders in the thirty-third annual report of the institution by Dr. Ellis L. Smith, superintendent and medical director.

The report said, in part: "The mortality figures are most impressive and, of course, reflect the care given our patients. A comparison table shows that in 1922 our mortality was 6.6 percent, as against 1.2 percent this year."

The hospital's death rate was 1.7 percent in 1938, 2.2, in 1937 2.8 and in 1935 3 percent.

There were 4,121 patients in 1940 of whom 3,996 were discharged. Admissions in 1939 were 2,743.

In relation to the large number of admissions and discharges the report said:

"This is evidence of the many patients moving in and out which calls for more work, medical nursing and clerical. To admit forty patients and discharge thirty-five in one day from a communicable disease hospital with its exacting technique, entails hard and conscientious work all the way down the line, which is vastly different from handling of the same number of patients by a general hospital."

In 1940 the cases of measles totaled 1,138 as against two in 1939; scarlet fever was second with 995 as against 1,046 in 1939; mumps jumped to 381 from sixty-eight in 1939.

Prezioso's Record Is Best Reply To CCC Inquirers

Naples Avenue Youth, Now First Class Private, Was Highly Commended For Work in CCC By Brigadier-General George Marshall

To those youths who look quizzically at Miss Julie Chalmers of the local Welfare Department and blandly ask what they could get out of joining the Civilian Conservation Corps, she proudly points to the record of George Prezioso whose home is at 50 Naples avenue. As far as the department is concerned, George is the best example of what the CCC can do for a young man who is floundering about without a job but who has the ambition and desire to work and learn. Young Prezioso is now a first class private in the U. S. Army Air Corps stationed at Mitchell Field, L. I., but if it were not for the training and experience which might not be where he is today.

Most prized among his possessions is a letter to his commanding officer while he was stationed with the CCC at Glenada, Ore. It was written by Brigadier General U. S. A., Commanding Officer George C. Marshall and commended Mrs. Morris Rochlin have been named captains of teams for the sale of tickets for these concerts. The local ticket drive, under the auspices of The Belleville Woman's Club, is in charge of Mrs. Lloyd C. Nunn, chairman of the music department.

Bryan, Mrs. Samuel Goldberg, Mrs. Joseph Ryan, the Misses Palma DeNoia and Eleanor Aggar, Mrs. Elmer Hyde, Mrs. William Williams and Mrs. William Engelmann.

COURT DECISION IN UTILITY TAX TO HELP TOWN

Increased Revenue From State May Go Over $120,000

Belleville and more than 200 other municipalities figuratively clapped their hands and did a jig this week when by unanimous vote the Court of Errors and Appeals upheld two 1940 laws which give State Tax Commissioner Thayer Martin the right to set the formula for the distribution of public utilities gross receipts and franchise taxes. It means that within the next month, or so $100,000 in 1940 taxes will be poured into the coffers of the municipalities which received nothing from this source during last year.

Although the decision affects only 1940, it will have a direct bearing on future years for the formula set by Martin and approved by the State Legislature will be the yardstick for the distribution of public utility tax money in future years. The court did not decide on the cases involving the taxes for 1938 and 1939 which are still pending. Under laws passed by the Legislature last year, the municipalities have been paid about sixty percent of the total amount due them for 1938 and 1939.

Only Rough Estimate

Definite information as to what Belleville realizes as the result of the decision was not available. Mayor Williams, finance director, is out of town on a short vacation and Town Treasurer T. Russell Sargeant has not as yet had time to study the complete decision. However, he roughly estimated that for 1940 taxes and increased payments of the taxes this year under the Martin apportionment, Belleville would benefit to the extent of $120,000.

This money is not available for use this year as an anticipated revenue but can be viewed as a surplus to start 1942.

DECISION APRIL 17 IN ZONE CASE

Residents Protest Application Of Town For Change To Industrial

The local Board of Adjustment will render its decision April 17, on the application of the town for change of the zone of property extending from 307-19 Main street to 94-108 Ralph street to the industrial classification to permit erection of a garage by the H. K. Ritter Trucking Company to house its more than thirty huge oil trucks.

Residents in the neighborhood opposed the zone change from residential to industrial at a hearing last week. Among them were Joseph d'Alessandro, speaking for his mother Mrs. Katie d'Alessandro of 293 Main street; Kark Haussling for the Halcyon Building and Loan Association, Newark, of which he is real estate manager; Mrs. Frank Hunkle of 291 Main street; William Spencer of 105 Ralph street; Miss Genevieve Zmuda for her mother, Mrs. Veronica Zmuda of 122 Ralph street. Tax Assessor Cogan represented the town.

Objections were that trucks would endanger children, shake houses, crack walls, spew oil and grease on sidewalks and roads and create a fire hazard. Cogan said the garage would be in the center of the plot and that the trucks would be pulled off the street.

The land for the garage was sold to the trucking company for $5,000 by the town with the understanding that zoning restrictions would be changed.

The business zone at 663-87 Washington avenue was extended 280 feet back from the street to permit Hillside Enterprises Corporation, operating Riverview Park, to build an extension to its roller skating rink.

Fred Fischer was elected secretary of the board, succeeding Harry F. Brumbach, resigned. A. A. Buckley who has been chairman since 1925 and Mrs. Helen Cannon, clerk, were re-elected.

Passover Feast To Start Tomorrow At Sundown

Holiday Will Continue Through April 19; Recognized As the Feast of Freedom; Rabbi Dobin to Preach At Services on Saturday Morning

Jews everywhere will begin the observance of Passover tomorrow at sundown. The holiday will extend to sundown Saturday, April 19. Passover, according to the Jewish calendar, is celebrated from the night of the fourteenth of Nissan to sundown of the twenty-second. The observance this year will begin on Friday evening. Pesach as the holiday is known in Hebrew commemorates the freedom of the Jewish people from the bondage in Egypt. The festival is almost 3,500 years old, thus making its ceremonies among the oldest in the Jewish faith.

Pesach is rich in tradition and ritual. The time-honored ideals of this "Season of Freedom" are expressed in the symbolic nature of the many Passover ceremonies. The first two nights are known as the "Seder" nights, during which the Passover service as contained in the "Hagadah" is followed in every Jewish home. The head of the house conducts the "Seder" the feast and the service for the assembled guests and family.

Included in the service are the asking of the "Four Questions" by the youngest child, inquiring about the meaning of Passover the "arbah kossos," or the four glasses of wine to signify the four expressions used by the Bible in relating the redemption of the Jews from Egypt; the "Kosshel Eliyahu," or the cup of Elijah the Prophet, who according to the legend, visits every Jewish home on these nights. Matzo's and other unleavened food are eaten during the eight days of the holiday.

Feast of Freedom

Passover, fundamentally, is a feast of freedom. "Significant it is to note that when the Israelites left Egypt, a host of Egyptians left with them," Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin relates. "The Pharaoh of old tried to enslave forever an entire nation, and our modern 'Pjaraohs' are still trying to make bondsmen of whole nations of free people," he continued. "Thirty-five centuries ago such an infamous scheme failed and it is doomed to failure again in our times. Many of us who believe in freedom and democracy may become disheartened when we view the depths to which our modern world has sunk. Let us, however, emulate the courage and fortitude of Moses and Aaron, who, in the face of all dangers and obstacles, dared to demand of Pharaoh the freedom to which all are equally entitled. This is the message of Passover to all people: When the bright sun of complete freedom will rise, as it must, it will shine for all people, of every nationality, in every country, till the end of time." Congregation A. A. A. will hold services for the holiday at its Synagogue on tomorrow and Saturday evenings and on Sunday and Sunday mornings. The evening services will begin at 5:45 and the morning services at 9:30. Rabbi Dobin will officiate and will preach on Saturday morning. His sermon topic will be "The Eternal Quest for Freedom." On Sunday morning he will discuss "Levels of Freedom."

The annual children's Seder of the religious school will be held on Sunday morning immediately after services. All young people are invited to come. The women's group of the School Board will be in charge. The last holy days of the festival will begin Thursday, April 17 at sundown and will last till sundown Saturday, April 19. Announcement of services on these days will be given later. The Yiskor memorial services will be chanted on Saturday morning, April 19.

P. S. Output On Increase

Output of electricity by Public Service Electric and Gas Company for the week ended April 3 was 72,003,674 kilowatt hours compared with 69,867,089 kilowatt hours in the corresponding week a year ago, an increase of 11,136,585, or 15.8%.

Make your Power as you need it

THE only way to get power out of an engine is to burn fuel in it.

And it wouldn't be smart to burn enough gas to develop a hundred-plus horsepower all of the time — when it usually takes only a small part of that to give the performance you want.

The sensible thing to do is to develop power as you need it — and that is precisely what the Buick FIREBALL eight with Compound Carburetion† does.

As long as one of the two carburetors in this system will do the job, that is the only one that functions.

But when you need extra power, extra pressure on the foot throttle throws an extra carburetor into action, feeding more fuel mixture into your engine and pouring more horsepower out.

You thus make your power as you need it.

You know the lift and life of plenty-power when it's wanted.

You have a smooth-working, purring, never-overloaded engine at all times and all paces.

"Best Buick Yet"
EXEMPLAR OF GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

And you get such frugal operation over the whole range of your driving that two carburetors give as much as 10% to 15% more mileage than the same engines once gave with one!

Interesting? We think so too — especially now. See your Buick dealer and learn about FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion out on the road.

From The SIDELINES

As Seen By The Sidelineer

They can rip down the goal posts at the Turf Bog now. It looked like it was intended to keep them up until next fall with the hope that some team would play football there. But word came to the Town Commission this week that there was some interest in organizing a local team, which would play in the Essex County League. The application for the use of the field came from Joe Twomey of Newark, who has been a leading figure in semi-pro ball circles for some time.

This will be good news for the local baseball die-hards who have missed their Saturday and Sunday afternoon ball games. The Turf Bog should make an ideal field and if Twomey can get together a good club, Belleville may be back on the baseball map.

For several years the town did have an entry in the Essex County League. The team played at Clearman Field but when the leadership started to lose interest so did the team and it finally folded. There has been some re-vamping in the Essex County League since those days. The Nutley A. C., which for a number of years was led by Bill Brothers, dropped out of the picture about three years ago. Caldwell, Verona, Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, and Montclair were active last year and all will probably have clubs back again this year.

There's enough good baseball talent within Belleville's borders to put out a good nine. But the one big mistake that any manager can make is to load up the bench

Two local men, William Anders of 111 Smallwood avenue, and Jack Hogan of 115 White Oak terrace, were named to serve on the Western Electric Kearny Works men's golf club committee for the coming season. The selection was made because of the playing ability of these men who have been playing a top game for the past several years. Hogan is the present Wekearny golf champion.

The Wekearny schedule will be limited to three golf tournaments, one in the spring, summer and fall, in addition to the two team matches with the golf clubs of the company's Point Breeze Works at Baltimore, and the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

PITT MINORS BACK ON DIAMOND

Henry Lubben Will Start
Twelfth Year At Helm
With Club

One of the veteran independent ball clubs in this section, the Pittsburgh Minors Leaguers will be back on the diamond this season. The team will be starting its twelfth year and Henry Lubben, who has managed and played with them through the past eleven seasons, will be back at the helm. He has the distinction of being the only survivor of the team that started twelve years ago.

The Minors had one of their poorest campaigns last season and during the winter months Lubben has been combing the territory in search of some new talent to bolster up the team and also replace some of the boys who have or will be called for the Selective Service draft before the season is very old.

As a nucleus around which to build the club he hopes to have back such veteran performers as Bill Listers, who has been with the Pittsburghers for seven seasons; Jim Lynch and Ed Piske, four-year vets; and Bill Lynch, who has been with the club for two seasons.

Number May Try Out

Lined up for tryouts which will get started shortly are Monroe Weiss of the West Side Bears, Jim Cavanaugh of the Reche A. A., Charles Hosky, former hurler in the Canadian-American League; Jatsy DiPanno of Heller Bros. B. C.; Bill Dreschel of West Side High; Jim Satalo of Weequahic High; Ed Gutman of Irvington High; Russell Mertz and Harold Allston of the Nutley B. B. C. and Hank Borkowski from the Newark Ironbound League.

Lubben expects that Jack Hardell, Frank Lynch, George Wiggins and Mel Behney will be lost for the season because of the draft and is not counting on them for many games if at all.

Teams interested in playing the Minors should write to Lubben at 38 Lincoln avenue, Newark.

Roserys Take Title By Win Over North Belleville

Champs Have Tougher Time Turning Back Grace Baptist 28-26 in Semi-Final; Pirates Take Intermediate Circuit Crown

The town recreation basketball championship was decided this week when the strong Belleville Rosery courtsters ran away with the North Belleville quintet 40-20 in a clash at the high school gym on Monday night. The Roserys, winners of the Senior League crown by virtue of triumphs over the Haffner five, worked their way into the final clash by taking over Grace Baptist, the Church League champs, 28-26.

In an intermediate League tilt also on Monday night, the Pirates defeated the Starlings 37-29 for the loop championship. Bowden looping in fifteen points and Oschner's eleven points for the Pirates proved to be too much for the Starlings to overcome.

The Roserys, who in their final spurt for the Senior League crown displayed scoring punch that seemed unbeatable, had their hands full in halting the Grace Baptist boys. The Church League just refused to be counted out and the outcome was in doubt up until the final whistle. McNally led the winners' scoring attack with eleven points while Brown registered the same number for the losing cause.

In Monday night's game with the North Belleville lads, winners of the West Belleville Senior League championship, the Rosery boys showed their superiority from the outset. They were just too fast and too experienced. While Harry Stratton's ten points for the North Belleville team matched that of Handley of the winners, Calichio and Hanly gave their teammate better support than Stratton received from any of his cohorts.

From The Greatest History of All

This week we look to the greatest and most richly worded and beautiful history book of all — The Bible — for the stories which will prompt worship by the followers of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths. Those who pray before the altars of our Protestant and Catholic houses of worship tomorrow will do so in sorrow for the memory of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. On Sunday their sorrow will turn to prayers and hymns of joy in celebration of the knowledge of the resurrection and the fact that Christ had risen from the dead.

Just as sorrow becomes joy within the churches, so does the story as narrated in The Bible rapidly change from one of sadness to one of wonderment and joy. Out of the darkest hours of sadness for followers and disciples of Jesus Christ there came to them the realization that He had risen from the dead and their belief in His teachings was strengthened.

Today the outlook is gloomy and dark.

There appears no ray of convincing light to give rise to the hope that the un-Godlike ruthlessness of war-crazed powers will be stopped. War and strife have killed, maimed or made homeless and hungry thousands of innocent men, women and children. But amidst it all we cannot forget this great story which should serve as solace and conviction to those who believe in God and Christianity.

Tomorrow at sundown followers of the Jewish faith here as well as those throughout the world will begin the traditional observance of the Passover, the feast of freedom, commemorating the flight of the Jews from Egypt and the overbearing, cruel rule of the Pharaoh. Believing in freedom of worship and the right to live as they wished, the Jews sought escape from rulers who sought to enslave them for life. And in their prayers during the coming observance, the Jews will be pleading that their brethren and others in nations under the yoke of dictators may once again be free.

The Job Must Be Done Thoroughly

It is an old story which we have heard over and over again that there is no point in doing things halfway. This applies to the government just as well as the rest of us. Last week, we, like the rest of the newspaper publishers in this country, big and small, the news photographic agencies, magazines, radio broadcasting stations and newsreel concerns, received a communication from the Public Relations Bureau of the U. S. Navy. It requested that the possible movements of British warships in and out of the ports of this country should not be reported, or broadcast. The request briefly but pointedly stated:

"The Secretary of the Navy directs that I advise you that he feels that movements and presence of British warships which may arrive in this country for repairs, outfitting, reconditioning or any other purpose should not be reported, photographed or broadcast. He will appreciate your cooperation."

Compliance with this request would be self-imposed. While not directly concerned about this notice, since there would be little likelihood that any British vessel of war would attempt to anchor in the Passaic river, we were nevertheless interested, feeling that something of importance was about to happen.

Monday morning when we picked up the paper right in front of our eyes was splashed a big picture of a British warship sitting in New York harbor and headlines describing how the battered ship had limped into the port for repairs. Some papers did not use the story but those that did spared none of the details.

The obvious intent of the Secretary of the Navy's request was to keep the arrival and departure of this ship and others which may come, from the German government — not the American people. Certainly, there is no more conspicuous place along the Atlantic seaboard that they could have chosen to bring in the ship for repairs or to test the ability to stifle the newspapers' cooperation in a censorship attempt.

Some may question the ethics practiced by those of the press who used the story. Their failure to do so may result in somewhat more drastic action by the government in an effort to control all newspapers. Yet, one fact sticks in our mind. While the government is attempting to get the press, radio and other reporting agencies to subsidize this news, Communists, Nazis and other un-American agitators bask in the freedom of the Constitution. They go, do and say what they wish. The government knows as well as our next door neighbor that much of the trouble which has been stirred up in plants handling defense contracts that are now on strike is the result of the work of leaders whose first loyalty is to some foreign power.

These are the people from whom information pertinent to our defense should be kept. Stifling them in their activities is more urgent than seeking to clamp down on the press and radio. Making fish of one and flesh of the other will never work and as long as these groups which are opposed to this nation can work unmolested within the country's borders, there will be trouble.

Bring The 'Bill Out In The Open

There is no recent measure which has been brought before the Legislature that has stirred greater interest among the average public than the Scott parochial school bill. It is not because of the measure's vital importance but because of the campaign which has been made for several years among the public for the support of such legislation. While the bill has been favored by the Senate by an eighteen to one vote, it has not been reported out of committee for debate and possible action in the Assembly. Assemblywoman Olive C. Sanford of Nutley heads the committee on education which has the power to bring the measure up for consideration.

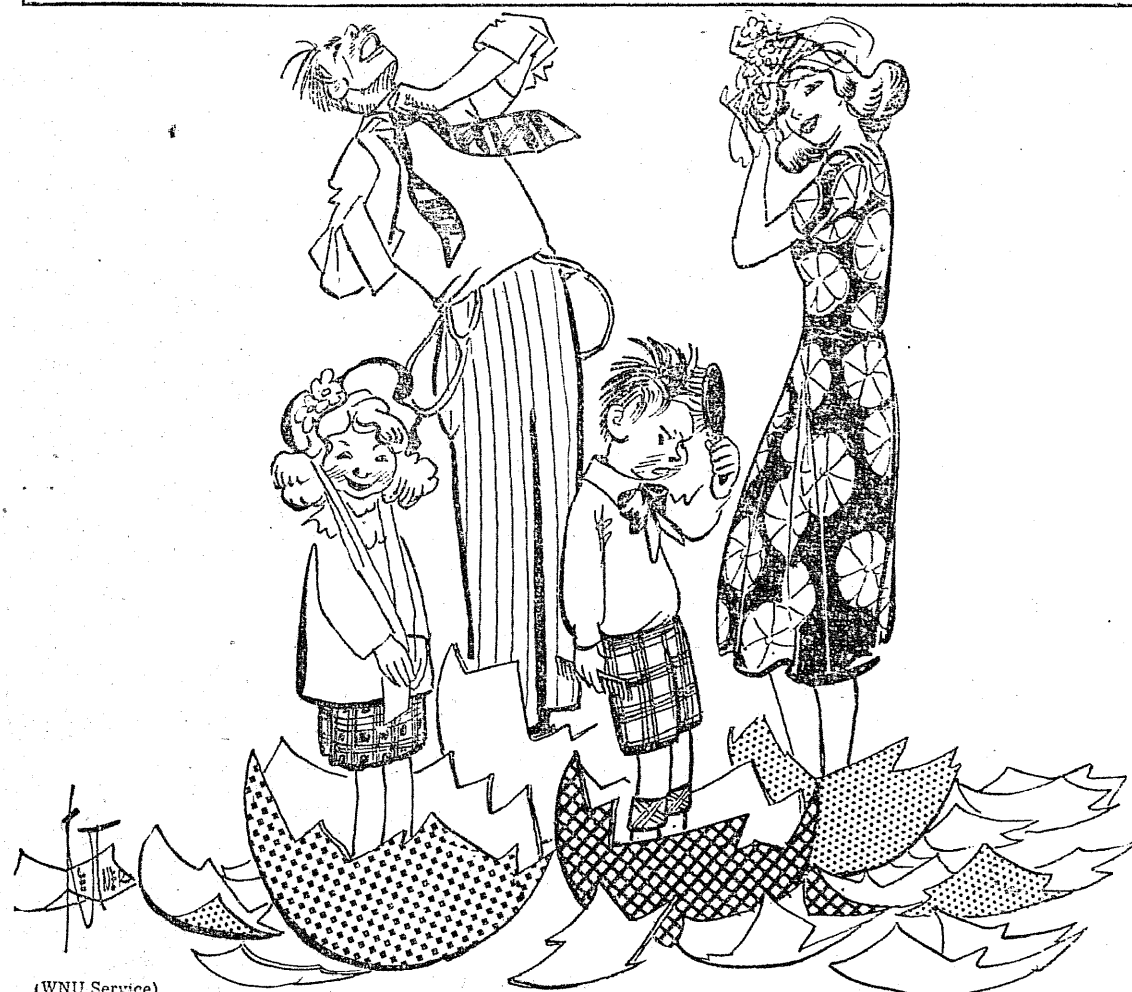

Regardless of the merits of this bill, to leave it buried in committee can only lend strong support to accusations of religious intolerance and bigotry. To levy this charge against any member of the Legislature would be unfortunate, but it will not be escaped if the bill does not have a proper hearing.

The measure is deserving of a public hearing since it has aroused such public concern. The action of the New Jersey Education Association in condemning the bill before it has had an opportunity to be presented to the Assembly for a public hearing is regretted. The claim has also been made that the bill has been loosely drawn. If this argument has support, it would seem that public debate and open consideration by the legislators would be advisable so that the measure could be amended and presented for consideration.

The cry has also been raised that the measure seeks to aid special groups and that it will pave the way for the establishment of more non-public schools which will be aided in their maintenance by public funds. There are two inescapable facts in support of the measure and of the group which is working for its passage. The parents of children attending parochial schools help pay for the buses which are used to transport other children to public schools. Literally, millions of dollars would be added to the already heavy burden of the taxpayers if these same parochial schools were to close their doors and let the public schools educate their thousands of children.

Passage of the measure would benefit for the most part youngsters in the rural areas. It would provide that if they resided two miles or more from the school they would be transported the same as the public school children and in the same buses.

Of the many people interested in Assemblyman Homer Zink's prospects of remaining in the Legislature he, himself, appeared to be least anxious, according to a political forecast story. He said if he wasn't nominated on his record alone then he was not to be considered at all.

Belleville's first robin was seen by Mrs. William Armstrong of 16 Agnes street.

Joseph A. Williams, said to be the outstanding influence in Belleville sportdom, announced his retirement from American Legion athletic activities.

The Town Commissioners adopted a resolution recommending that the State Highway Department use Verona avenue for the proposed State Highway 10.

The following were elected officers of the Board of Trade: S. S. Kenworthy, president; J. J. Gibson, first vice-president; Charles Campbell, second vice-president; A. A. Ackerman, third vice-president; H. J. Weiss, secretary, and H. S. Lewine, treasurer.

John McCarthy was elected president of the Reciprocity Club; James Higgins, vice-president; Peter Deighan, treasurer, and William Dunn, secretary.

James Clark won a $50 shuffle contest from John Fitzgerald on the Democratic Club's board.

H. Otto Wittmann, naval officer of the Port of New York, was honored with a dinner by the Belleville Democratic Club. Among those in attendance were Mayor Waters, Town Attorney Joseph A. Connolly, Tax Assessor Frank A. Neary and Recorder Gustavus S. Wines.

The Lyric Theatre, a vaudeville house, billed the Indian baritone, Chief Eagle Horse, for the last half of the week. Japanese acrobats were billed to round out the show.

This is the first of a series of articles sponsored by the Interpretation Committee of the Community Service Bureau—Earl Seibert, Chairman. The committee believes that there is value to the public in creating wider understanding of the place of a family and children's agency in the community.

Broadly the purpose of the Community Service Bureau is to assist people within the limits of their capacity to lead socially useful and satisfying lives. This kind of service to individuals is timely when considered in relation to the various and new demands of the Defense Program on people in every walk of life. People come to the Community Service Bureau for advice, guidance and help in meeting the difficulties which have overtaken them. Some come to make their own requests for help, and others, who may not be familiar with the character of the agency's service, are referred by friends, neighbors, employers, hospitals, schools, nurses, etc.

Each person, requesting a service, is seen privately, sometimes for only one or two interviews. If the situation is a complicated one the person, or various members of the family may be seen at regular intervals over a period of months, and sometimes even for a year or two.

The requests made of the Community Service Bureau are too diverse and involved to be classified or easily described. It is true that the immediate problems, with which people wish help, may be listed under such headings as illness, marital difficulty, nervous breakdowns, unemployment or concern about the development or behavior of children, etc. But the real character of the trouble is only dimly suggested by such descriptive titles. The issues behind the particular form of the predicament are often important and vital ones, affecting in various ways every member of the family. Whether to leave a husband or wife is not a simple concrete problem that can be settled by a calm analysis of the rights and wrongs in the situation.

Issues Are Personal

The issues are always personal ones, involving feelings of love and attachment, as well as those of disappointment and resentment. The problem, which might be classified coldly as one of marital difficulty, is in essence a problem of seeking security in relationships, of finding a way of life that is bearable, of discovering substitute satisfactions if former affectional bonds are completely broken.

In the same way many behavior difficulties of children or adolescents are not isolated episodes that can be remedied wholly by concrete measures such as providing recreation, new living quarters or a job. The problems again may be ones of disturbed family relationships, and the particular difficulty only the child's way of expressing his deep personal unhappiness. Unless in such instances the inner disturbances are recognized, the attempts to change the behavior are likely to end in disappointment and failure.

An application for help in meeting a particular problem often carries with it an implicit request for support in rising above the defeats and misfortunes,

Who killed Fusion? This question is being asked frequently in Newark. For the present everyone is too busy trying to get themselves or a friend elected commissioner to track down the murderer, but the question must be answered some time. As a matter of fact, Fusion was never very robust as this column pointed out from the first. But it had the ardent backing of influential groups and might be styled Newark's last opportunity to get decent government.

From this distance it looks very much like Edward Fenias is the man most responsible for the failure to agree on a Fusion slate. When his group bent the gun and announced a ticket that did not meet with Dr. Lester H. Clee's approval the deed was done. Why did Fenias profess for months to be preparing the way for Clee and then suddenly throw a carcade across the road? Was he taking orders from someone? If so, who?

Clee Acted Wisely
I have no right to say that Fenias was working for Ellenstein, and I can't say. But I can say that if he had been working for him he would not have acted much differently than what he did. Clee realized that he stood to be caught in the middle, and very wisely withdrew from the whole mess. By withdrawing he "lives to fight another day" was the way the Newark Ledger put it.

When that day will be is still uncertain. Clee, himself, speaks lightly of running for the Senate this fall. But my off-hand guess is that he will run regardless. His personal reluctance to running is based upon the fear that Charles Edison will put him on the spot in regard to patronage. To me this argument is not very convincing. What Clee should do would be to announce in advance that he would expect the Governor to make the appointments entrusted to him by the constitution and that as Senator he would do no more than block those he thought were unfit.

Unorthodox But Workable
Such a stand would relieve him of patronage worries. From there on he should do everything in his power to put over Edison's program. Then as a candidate for Governor in 1943 he could campaign on the platform that he would continue Edison's policies. Such strategy would be unorthodox, but I believe it would work handsomely.

Mrs. Olive Sanford is in a tough spot in her opposition to the parochial school bus bill. Her stand is a brave one, and in accord with Thomas Jefferson's doctrine that the state should in no way subsidize schools controlled by any religious organization. Likewise, it is in accord with the New Jersey Constitution that public monies shall not be appropriated for private purposes. But it is considered doubtful that the bill can be blocked permanently in view of all the pressure for having it passed.

School No. 9 Children Will Go To Philadelphia

Recreation Centre Haven For Groups Of All Kinds

Taxpayers' Group, Clubs, Lodges and Other Groups Find Meeting Place at Recreation House; Department Plans to Expand Its Work

Last year the Belleville Recreation Department provided 140,930 good times for the town youth and older folks at an average cost of slightly more than six cents a good time. This year the department, one of those in the portfolio of Commissioner of Parks and Public Property Louis A. Noll, expects to do better than that both in the number of good times and the cost. Edward J. Lister is the department's superintendent.

All of the playgrounds and a new one at St. Peter's are now being refurbished in preparation for the spring-tide of youngsters, community center programs are being changed to conform with the season's sports and general improvements are being made at Recreation House at 407 Joralemon street.

An indication of how the good times were had last year and will be had again this year may be seen from the following figures taken at random from the department's annual report:

Playgrounds had an attendance of 68,541, baseball had 596 participants; basketball 22,430, softball 5,104, boxing 342; community centers were used by 24,402; tap dancing enlisted 454, ice skating 2,200, and so on.

Pivot Around Centers

Activities of the department pivot around the three community centers. Recreation House, St. Peter's Recreation Community Center in William street and the Friendly House Recreation Center at 23 Frederick street; around the athletic centers, the old gymnasium in the high school and the new gymnasium; at the Field House Recreation Camp at the western end of town; and around the playgrounds at Recreation House, No. 1 School, Edison Field, the "urf Bog, Terry Field and at St. Peter's where the department has taken over the playground.

The Recreation House is Belleville's Hyde Park. There twenty-one organizations meet regularly. Some of them are the Camera Club, Chess Club, American Legion units, a few Boy and Girl scout troops. Newly formed organizations frequently meet there until they make arrangements to meet elsewhere. For instance, the congregation of Bethany Lutheran Church worshipped in Recreation House while its new church was being erected at Joralemon and New streets. The Belleville Property Owners' Association, one of the foremost critics of the town government, finds sanctuary in it. The bars are down for practically any and all types of organizations.

Recreation House, in other words, has no creed or class distinctions and little or no political aura. It's Jersey City's Journal Square without the cops, without the strong-arm deportation methods, without the stigma of the violation of free speech.

Besides the organizations Recreation House roofs woodworking classes, sewing and cooking classes, tap dancing classes and a multitude of others.

The pool at Friendly House is used to teach youngsters how to swim and the gymnasiums are used for basketball practice. The department provides a great deal of the equipment for the thirty-seven teams participating in the basketball leagues in Belleville — the Church League, Senior League A, Senior League B, Industrial League and Intermediate League. It provides bats and bags for the various softball leagues. Additionally the department provides scorers, umpires and coaches for all games and, of course, supervision at the playgrounds and special instructors for dancing. All together it does far more than just look.

Former Resident Will Wed Bloomfield Man Saturday

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Elaine Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Frank Peterson of Bayfield, Wis., and Stanley Brewster, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brewster of Bloomfield will be solemnized Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Montclair by Dr. White, pastor of that church. Miss Peterson until recently resided at 15 Forest street with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell T. Abel.

The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Harry W. Peterson of Montclair and attended by another sister, Mrs. Wilbur D. Snyder of Newark. Warner Heath of Nutley will be Mr. Brewster's best man. A reception at the Franklin Arms in Bloomfield will follow the ceremony.

Miss Peterson's powder blue suit will be worn with a pink blouse and navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses and violets. Mrs. Snyder's yellow and blue suit will also be accented with navy accessories. She will wear a corsage of yellow roses.

Easter Service

firmation class will be confirmed and adult members will be accepted. Special music will be offered by the junior and senior choirs. Tonight at 8 there will be a special choir service and sermon at the church.

The First Italian Baptist Church will hold a special Good Friday service from noon until 3. On Sunday morning at 5:50 there will be sunrise services in the church grounds. There will be trumpeters, chimes, congregational singing and a sermon by the pastor, Rev. Benedetto Pascale. Regular services will be held at 10:30 in the morning and 6:30 in the evening. There will be baptisms at both services.

Pagentry At Bethany

The sacrament of Holy Communion will be administered tonight at 8 at services to be held at the Bethany Lutheran Church, while tomorrow evening at 8 the pastor, Rev. Willard H. Borchers, will speak on "The Challenge of the Incomplete." At the Easter services, Rev. Borchers has chosen as his sermon topic, "The Garden by the Gate." On Sunday evening at 7:30, the Sunday School will present its Easter pagentry, "When Easter Dawned."

Four services have been planned for Sunday at the Wesley Methodist Church. The sunrise service at 7 will feature the boys' choir. The Church school will hold its services at 8:45 to be followed at 9:30 by a worship service with the junior choir singing. The final morning service will take place at 11 with the senior choir participating. There will be an Easter vesper service at 7:45 in the evening.

To Present Biblical Play

A pagentry play, "By This Sign Conquer," written by Elsie Duncan Yale, will be presented at Grace Baptist Church Sunday night sponsored by the Goodwill Chapter of the World Wide Guild. The play gives the Easter story against a colorful background of early Roman history. It portrays a part of the life of the mother of Constantine, Queen Helena, when she made a pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

The part of the queen is played by Mrs. Lorraine Hageman. Ruth Topping and Betty Cook are her handmaids and Harry Hageman and Donald Hartley are the Roman soldiers.

The Biblical characters appearing in Queen Helena's vision are the Misses Ruth Hogan, Flora Longcore, Marguerite Crippen, Florence Heffernan and Charles Thomson and Charles Buckley. Representing the Spirit of Christianity is Miss Edna Hogan. Music for the production will be rendered by Miss Elizabeth Sharp, organist, and Miss Alice Hart, vocalist.

Easter Sunday morning during the Sunday School hour a group of children from the Church School will present a two-act religious pagentry, "The Little Shepherd." The leading part, of the blind shepherd boy, will be portrayed by Donald Richmond. The leading female parts will be played by Barbara Armstrong and Joan Pugh. Others in the cast are Edith Lind, Lorraine Grant, Eunice Miller, Joan McGinnis, John and William Russell, Bruce Tenscher and John Stoddart.

Mrs. Lorena Clark, chairman of the committee on Religious Pagentry, is in charge of both productions.
