

RED CROSS UNIT FORMS COURSE IN MECHANICS

Will Train Women For Motor Corps To Be Used In Emergency

A course in mechanics will start under the auspices of the motor corps of the Red Cross Monday evening, June 9, at Davidson & Robertson's Service Station on Washington avenue and Essex street. Instruction, which will be from 7:15 to 9:15, will be given each Monday evening in June.

Miss Doris Scharfenberg, a member of the executive board of the local chapter and chairman of the first aid course, will have charge of the motor unit. Miss Eileen Lynch, also a member of the executive board, has been appointed first lieutenant and will assist Miss Scharfenberg.

The ten-hour course will cover practical experience, theory, moving pictures on highway safety and lectures on road safety. John Robertson of the service station has volunteered his services in mechanical instruction for which he will use cars owned by the members of the class.

Any woman with a car at her disposal may take the course. However, in order to become a full-fledged member of the motor corps she must also successfully complete the authorized Red Cross first aid course. Such a course is now being given by the local chapter and, for the benefit of those who have not taken it, another will be given in September.

A special appeal is made for membership among those women who have cars at their disposal during the day.

The present duties of such a corps will be limited to transporting those in need to hospitals or doctors' offices or taking materials to veterans and others in institutions. In the event of a national emergency, it is hoped, that they would be able to render even greater service.

JEWISH APPEAL TO CONTINUE

Local Group Joins Effort To Double 1940 Subscriptions

Although the joint campaign of the United Jewish Appeal of Essex County officially ended on Monday night, solicitation will continue until all of the 4,000 prospects listed by the executive committee have been contacted.

The progress as determined at a drive will be meeting to be held Monday evening, June 9, at the Newark Y.M.H.A. Drive leaders are confident that the final total will double last year's subscriptions. A thirty-five percent increase is already reported with slightly less than forty percent of the contributors still to be seen.

With Edward J. Ackerman, president, the local committee met at the Congregation A.A.A. on Monday night. Others attending included:

Abraham Atkins, William Abramson, Edward J. Ackerman, John J. Berlis, George Cherin, Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, Harry G. Fellman, Morris M. Gottschalk, Louis Haft, Dr. Benjamin A. Jacobson, Martin Kabot, Samuel J. Kogan, Dr. Morris Rochlin, Michael S. Smith, Dr. William Taffet and Barnett Yudin.

Henry Vreeland Corps Holds Services Tomorrow

The members of the Henry Vreeland Women's Relief Corps will hold short memorial services tomorrow afternoon at School No. 2 in Mill street in memory of the late William Smith, a World War veteran.

The pupils at School No. 2 will participate in the program. A wreath will be placed on a tree there which was planted in the memory of the veteran.

The corps attended memorial services Sunday morning at Montgomery Presbyterian Church when Rev. Frank Milman, a World War veteran, preached the sermon.

The Henry Vreeland group will also participate in the Memorial Day exercises on Friday morning at the Town Hall and at the Rutgers street bridge.

The Henry Vreeland Junior Club No. 4 will participate in the Memorial Day Parade. All officers are urged to wear white and to meet at the Town Hall at 8:45 Friday morning. A wreath will be placed on the monument by president Miss Gloria Elliott. Captain of the Colors is Miss Margaret Hunter.

Cub Pack's Final Meeting Thursday, June 5

Cub Pack No. 350 of Fewsmith Presbyterian Church will hold its final meeting of the season on Thursday evening, June 5.

The various dens will compete for the Frank Chambers trophy. Den No. 2 has won it two months in succession.

Plans will be completed for the Cub Scout camp to be held at the Scout Camporee at the Stadium on Saturday, June 6. Several of the acts will be rehearsed.

William Smith will be graduated from the pack into Troop No. 350.

Fred Ziegler, Cub leader of the Robert Trent Council, will visit and inspect the pack.

Maybe, Speech By FDR. Caused The Scarcity

Maybe, it was caused by President Roosevelt's speech, but the Town Commission chambers were barren last night when Mayor Williams rapped his gavel for the start of the meeting.

The crowd was whittled down to one lone spectator—a representative of Public Service.

And, as if to make the attendance decline complete, two of the commissioners did not put in an appearance. Commissioners Waters and Noll were both absent.

Lack of at least four votes to pass ordinances appropriating money forced the board to postpone action until next Tuesday night when an adjourned meeting will be held.

POLICE AND FIRE PAY CHANGED

Board Okays Amendments To Ordinance; Also Creates Promotions

The Town Commission, with Commissioners Waters and Noll missing, last night adopted Public Safety Director Clark's amendments to the police and fire department ordinances which would revise and amend the salary scale for employees in both services and which would also create several new positions.

The ordinance will become operative within ten days, Commissioner Clark said after the meeting, and he will then notify Town Treasurer T. Russell Sargeant that the police and firemen are to be paid under the provisions of the ordinance as it affects them individually.

One clause in both ordinances was deleted and a new section passed as an amendment last night. It is stated: "The annual increases herein provided are effective only on the recommendation of the Director of the Police Department and made so by his order." The same provision for the fire department was removed.

This clause, Clark said, was a carry-over from the old ordinance and one to which he was opposed and has not intended to be a part of the amended ordinance.

An Unfair Measure
It would be unfair to the members of both departments for him to be able to wield the power granted by that section in deciding whether or not they should receive increases. The whole effect of the amended ordinance would be "killed," he explained, if that section were not deleted.

The following section states: "The Director in charge of the Police Department may set salaries in accordance with the above schedule, at the present time based on the existing service records of members of the Department." It also applies to the first department.

The amended ordinance provides for the appointment of a deputy chief in both departments. At present, there are two captains in the police department, Captains Leighton and Anderson. One of these posts will be abolished. The ordinance also provides for the creation of the post of detective-sergeant in the police department.

VETS TO MARCH MEMORIAL DAY

Traditional Tribute To Be Paid To War Dead; Parade Starts 9:30

The town will join in tribute to the war dead Friday morning. Following the traditional pattern of past Memorial Day observances, the parade will form at the Town Hall where brief services will be held at the Victory Monument.

The line of march headed by veterans of past wars, Boy and Girl Scouts and other organizations will then begin its tour of cemeteries where they will honor the war dead and graves will be decorated. Visits will be paid to St. Peter's Cemetery where Rev. Joseph J. Kelly, pastor of St. Peter's Church, will speak. Stop will follow at the Christ Church Cemetery where Rev. Peter Deckenbach will be heard and at the Belleville Reformed Church cemetery where Rev. John Struyk will talk briefly.

The annual ceremony at the Rutgers street bridge in which a flower float in honor of the naval dead is placed on the water will follow.

Three More Elks Observe Birthdays This Month

Three more Elks' members who were not included in last week's list of lodge men celebrating their birthdays during this month were honored at the first monthly birthday party held Saturday evening at the club. The were John Hudson, Emil Sadlock and Patrick Carragher.

Poppy Posters On Display

Posters entered in the poster contest sponsored by the Essex County American Legion in its poppy campaign will be on display at the Free Public Library beginning on Monday. Mrs. Joseph Kolinsky of the local unit was chairman of the County Auxiliary's part in the poppy sale drive.

Mayor Does Some Scissor-Wielding

GET CERTIFICATES IN FIRST AID

Group Sponsored By Legion Auxiliary Completes Standard Course

Certification cards from the National Red Cross Headquarters have been issued through the local chapter to those who have successfully completed the standard first aid course.

The class was organized by Mrs. Joseph L. Kolinsky and sponsored by the local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary. It met each Thursday night in the Recreation House from January 23 to April 3.

The class was under the direction of Gottfried Johnson of Tappan avenue, assisted by Theodore Marsh of Newark. The course was not confined to Auxiliary members or Belleville residents.

Those receiving cards were Marion Babcock, Eleanor Burns and Laura Congleton of Newark, Maude Christie, Alice Claren, Mary Hoffman, Madeline Hoffman and Eleanor Hansen, R. N., of Bloomfield, Lavinia Frass of East Orange, Carolyn Kemp, Clara Prill and Josephine Lanzillo of Nutley, Helen LaBaugh, Sadie Lilienthal, Elsie Kant, Sadie Konrad, Lillian Johnson, Rose Masterson, Julia Heumer, Mildred Kolinsky of Belleville, and Leona Kolinsky of Newark.

Many will enroll in the advanced course which will start in the fall.

WANT TIN FOIL FOR CAMP FUND

CSB Wants To Send Youngsters Away This Summer

The camp committee of the Community Service Bureau helped to send twenty-six boys and girls to camps last summer for a total of fifty-four weeks.

Tin and lead foil collected and sold by the committee helped largely to defray expenses. Mrs. Frank J. Ackerman, chairman, reported yesterday.

"The committee has continued to work quietly throughout the winter and we hope to be able to equal last year's record," said Mrs. Ackerman. "We are sending a call to all those who have been saving their tobacco foil, bottle tops and tooth paste tubes to turn them in now as we must dispose of them soon. The lead foil must be separated from the tin and aluminum to be marketable and it is a great help when those who donate have them separated in different containers. Children in all schools have been saving foil for months and the total is very satisfying.

Contributions should be sent to Mrs. Ackerman at 60 Fairway avenue.

Local Council To Attend Rally To K. of C. Leader

John H. Baney, grand knight of Belleville Council No. 835 of the Knights of Columbus will head a large delegation of officers and members to Newark on Wednesday evening, June 11 to attend the meeting in honor of the visit of the Supreme Knight, Francis P. Matthews of Omaha, Neb.

It will be the first time since his election to the highest K. of C. office that the Supreme Knight has visited this state.

The exemplification of the first degree of the order will be given by the State Council officers to a class of over 200 candidates.

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, JEWELRY, at prices always in line with the quality of the merchandise offered. Victor Hart, Jeweler, 457 Washington avenue, Belleville, N. J.

Competition By Patrols To Feature Camporee

Troops in Final Week of Preparing for Big Event At Stadium; To Be Judged on Proficiency; Special Recognition for Attendance

A brown-shirted band of more than 300 invaders will descend on the Turf Bog Stadium in mid-afternoon on Friday, June 6, and within a few short hours the green-surfaced field will be dotted with many khaki-colored, tri-cornered tents.

Not an invasion of the Army, National Guard or new training site for draftees—but the annual Camporee of the local Boy Scouts. The three-day tenting-out for the youngsters is being arranged under a committee with W. Douglas Clark, Jr. and Hugh D. Kittle as chairmen.

Final preparations are being made this week and scoutmasters are now in the midst of the final task of getting their troops ready for the event and for the competition which will be an important part of the program.

While it will be a lark for the youngsters, it will also be a practical demonstration of the many things which Scouts are taught in their weekly troop meetings throughout the year.

In addition to awards to each individual Scout who attends and participates in the Camporee, there will be awards for the troops compiling the greatest number of points in the events which have been arranged.

May Score 2,200 Points
It will be possible for a troop to score a total of 2,200 points in the events on which scoring will be judged. Activities to be considered are hikecraft, campcraft, scoutcraft, and inter-patrol competition by patrols.

Troops scoring from 1,500 to 2,200 points will be given honors or a blue rating, 1,000 to 1,499 points, very satisfactory or red rating; 551 to 999, satisfactory or white rating, and 0 to 550, participation or purple rating.

The greatest number of points may be gained through inter-patrol competition in which there will be a minimum score of 400 and a maximum of 600. Other events will be scored as follows: hikecraft, 50 to 200; campcraft, 50 to 200, and scoutcraft, 50 to 200.

Special recognition will be given to each troop having a minimum of thirty-two boys and 100 percent attendance. All events will be judged on a patrol basis and the troops scoring the highest will be declared the winner.

Patrols should strive, the committee states in its program outline, to qualify on a proficiency standing rather than competing against the other scouts.

Hikecraft, scoutcraft and campcraft will be judged on a troop basis. The inspection of packs, blankets, proper methods of carrying packs, clothing, shoes and scout conduct and cooperation will count in hikecraft. In judging campcraft, the reviewers will score on the basis of the proper use and care of the camp site, equipment, the selection of the menu and the preparation and handling of food at meals. Participation in activities, cooperation, patrol organization and leadership will count heavily in scoutcraft scoring.

Inter-Patrol Events
The following events will be the basis for scoring in the inter-patrol competition: signaling and nature lore, fire building, string burning, boiling water, first aid, knot tying, judging, compass use, scout pace, wall scaling, blanket rolling, chariot race, handicraft and nature exhibit, pup tent pitching, hatchet and knife throwing, and a tug-of-war.

One of the most interesting of these events will be the scout pace. A patrol of eight, pacing one mile each around the field or other designated mile distance. The time for each mile will be averaged and the patrol that averages closest to twelve minutes will be scored highest.

The camporee will open at 3 on Friday afternoon, June 6. The hikecraft inspection will be followed at 5:30 by supper. There will be no cooking required but there will be an inspection of the campcraft. Services for the Jewish youths attending will be held at 7 A.M.

Highlight of the afternoon will be the circus which will be staged by the youngsters of Cub Pack No. 350. While they will not be permitted to camp out with their older Scout brothers, the Cubs will be allowed to attend the camporee all day on Saturday. They will be under the supervision of Scoutmaster Harold Snook, assisted by Joseph Cardoza and Wilbur Riker.

Their circus, which they have been rehearsing and preparing for during recent weeks, will be presented between 2:30 and 4:30. The big camporee bonfire will be held on Saturday evening at 8. Wally Jones, William Gilchrist and Joe O'Farrell are in charge of arranging the program. Following the lights out order at 9:45, there will be a scouts' conference at 10.

Sunday morning the boys will again roll out at 6. After breakfast there will be another campcraft inspection to be followed at 7 by combined religious services. The boys will break camp at 8, to be followed by another final check-up.

Parents and friends of Scouts and others interested in the event will be welcome to attend the camporee on Saturday and Sunday. No visitors will be allowed on Friday evening.

LEARN-TO-SWIM CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

Red Cross and Schools Will Cooperate In Effort

An effort is being made by the schools to interest youngsters who are not yet able to swim in participating in the Learn-to-Swim campaign. Originated by the American Red Cross during the winter, the campaign has been planned under the supervision of Miss Eileen Lynch.

Mayor Williams and other municipal officials are cooperating, having last week designated June 23 to 30 as Learn-to-Swim Week. Although the town has not entered the campaign in past years, it has been an annual event for some time with the Montclair Y.M.C.A. which conducts the classes. Children ten years of age and over are eligible to take part.

From June 23 to 30 local children will be given lessons in swimming under competent instructors at a conveniently located pool, free of charge. Instruction is provided over the six-day period with a test to determine the entrant's ability to swim on the sixth day.

The entry blanks are being distributed directly to the children through the schools. Permission of parents is necessary before the children may take part. After the entry is made the children are assigned to a period and pool. Entry is made by sending the blanks to the Montclair Y.M.C.A.

Last year 7,000 persons died by drowning in the United States. The Learn-to-Swim campaign is being conducted as a means of reducing this toll in New Jersey. It has the support not only of mayors of most communities in the state but of Governor Charles Edison.

ALUMNI HONOR CLASS JUNE 7

Second Annual Invitation Will Be Held At High School

The second annual invitation dance sponsored by the High School Alumni Association will be held Saturday evening, June 7, at the high school.

Final plans were made last evening at a meeting of the general committee with James Tully, association president, at the Recreation House in Joralemon street.

Music will be furnished by Johnny Matt and his Top Hat orchestra.

Feature of the evening will be the presentation of awards by the association to the boy and girl graduates of the June class at the high school who have maintained the highest scholastic standing during the four years spent in the high school. Tully will make the presentation.

In addition to the graduating class, guests will include Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Farmer, High School Principal Hugh D. Kittle and members of the Board of Education.

Members of the committee handling the arrangements include: Miss Janet Forbes, chairman; Alice Shanahan, Doris Prophet, Anne Donovan, Ruth Brinkhoff, Patricia Fields, Margaret Brown, Barbara Lent, Gloria Louser, Mary Reilly, Werner Tietze, Randall Holden, Henry Harder, Edwin Mallison, Harold Fairweather, Eugene Boenziger, William Holland and Vincent Cortese.

Blaze Partially Destroys Old Belleville Hall

An old landmark, Belleville Hall, at 258 Washington avenue, across the street from the Belleville Elks Club, was partially destroyed by fire late Monday night.

Once a town center for club meetings, dances and political rallies, it now houses the Linbro Dress Co., a cabinet making shop owned by Edward J. Littig, the Spring Neckwear Co. and several stores.

The heaviest loss was suffered by the Linbro Dress Co. on the first and second floors. Slight damage was suffered by Littig who occupies a basement floor. None of the stores in the front of the structure or the neckwear firm were damaged.

It is believed that the blaze started near a fan in the wall of the pressing room of the dress factory.

William A. Braun Graduates From Notre Dame Sunday

William A. Braun, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Braun of 431 Washington avenue, will be among the 652 University of Notre Dame students who will receive baccalaureate and advanced degrees at the ninety-seventh annual commencement exercises on Sunday afternoon.

Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to England, will deliver the commencement address. Braun is a graduate of the School of Commerce.

Belwood Park People Again Fight To Block Zoning For Business

Extension of Zone for Bianchi To Build Service Station Brings Out Opposition

Belwood Park residents are preparing for another battle before the Town Commission to prevent further encroachment by business development upon their section of town. Because of their stern opposition nearly two years ago, the Town Commission entered into one of its most spirited zoning battles, eventually ending in the State Supreme Court with the town being reversed in its stand.

The same property which was under dispute in that suit is up again and from the statements made by several Belwood area residents last night at the Town Commission meeting conference, this fight may be just as heated and long as the last. Mayor Williams cut short what would have been an endless debate on the subject when he stated that the board should be given time to study the matter fully and that they would confer within the next week, and that action would probably be taken at the meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, June 10.

Property on Belleville avenue, just west of Smallwood avenue and known as 729 Belleville avenue, is owned by John B. Bianchi of Montclair. In the near by vicinity are many small homes owned by Belwood Park residents. To the west is the Bloomfield town line, a lumber yard and other business properties, including stores.

Nearly two years ago Bianchi applied to the Zoning Board of Adjustment for change from Residential "A" to business zone so that a restaurant could be erected there. The zoning board recommended the change. The residents stormed the Town Hall and after several heated sessions the Town Commission voted not to grant the change.

Went to Supreme Court

Bianchi, represented by Edward J. Abramson, took the case to the State Supreme Court and won. Since that time, the restaurant now has the opportunity to sell the property to a company interested in erecting a gasoline station there.

Under the court action of September, 1939, Abramson told the commissioners last night, seventy-three feet of Bianchi's frontage on Belleville avenue was changed to business zone. This is not sufficient for the station the company is interested in building. Commissioner also pointed out that a gasoline station property must have at least eighty feet of frontage.

Abramson appealed to the board for a change of zone from where Bianchi's property ends twenty feet east to the corner of Belleville and Smallwood avenues.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment has already ruled favorably on the request. Of the twelve property owners within the 200 foot area who have a right to legally voice their opinions on the zone change, Abramson said that eight of them had given their consent to the change of the twenty-foot frontage to business. Arthur Chiappari, who was one of the most persistent opponents in the last zone episode there, has expressed himself as not opposed, Abramson said.

Abramson and Robert L. Lunsford, owner of property on the southeast corner of Belleville and Smallwood avenues, got into a dispute during the conference. Lunsford, who owns the one-family residence on the corner, has an application before the Zoning Board of Adjustment, which will have a hearing on June 5, for the erection of a gasoline station on his property. It would also require a zone change.

Says He's Not Sincere

Abramson said that Lunsford had opposed Bianchi's application for a zone extension "Not as a sincere objector but as a competitor." He also claimed that Lunsford had approached Bianchi and had attempted to purchase his property.

Lunsford readily admitted that he had had his plans for a gasoline station and was seeking a zone change.

"I did those plans sincerely," he told the Mayor and commissioners. "If you give him one, I'm going through with it harder than ever."

The property owner also bore out the statement that he had contacted Bianchi but insisted it was not with the ulterior motive which Abramson sought to infer.

Interest of Neighborhood

He said that the offer to Bianchi had been made in the interests of the neighborhood because he believed that it would be detrimental to the vicinity to have a gas station. Lunsford said it was impossible for the residents to meet Bianchi's price of $6,000.

Philip Riede stated that the notice which had been sent out to property owners in the vicinity notifying them of the hearing on Bianchi's application before the Zoning Board of Adjustment was illegal. Harry Ingram told the mayor that if Bianchi should be given a zone extension so he could erect a gasoline station, another station would soon be constructed on the northeast corner of Belleville and Smallwood avenues.

Board To Join Teachers In Study of Salaries

The Board of Education will cooperate with a committee representing the Belleville Teachers' Association in studying employees' salary schedules. Board President Herbert C. Schmutz at an adjourned meeting held Monday night, named Charles A. Gebhardt, teachers' committee head, and James M. Lynch, finance committee chairman, to represent the board. Gebhardt will serve as chairman.

The Teachers' Association has advocated a revision of the salary schedule so that increases would be decided on an automatic increment basis. The board has indicated that it will continue the "merit" system under which the school officials decide whether or not teachers will receive increases.

SORORITY MEETS WITH MISS MANN

Mrs. John Hudson Will Have Guests Today At Bridge

NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the following proposed ordinance was introduced and passed on first reading at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Belleville held Tuesday evening, May 27, 1941, and further notice is hereby given that the second and third reading of said ordinance will be considered by said Board at a meeting to be held at the Town Hall, Washington avenue and Belleville avenue, Tuesday evening, June 10, 1941, at 8 o'clock p.m. (D.S.T.) when all objections to the passing of the same will be heard and considered.

FLORENCE R. MOREY, Town Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND AN ORDINANCE ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE REGULATING AND LIMITING THE HEIGHT AND BULK OF BUILDINGS HEREFTER ERECTED AND REGULATING AND DETERMINING THE AREA OF YARDS, COURTS AND OTHER OPEN SPACES AND RESTRICTING CONGESTION AND REGULATING AND RESTRICTING THE LOCATION OF TRADING INDUSTRIES AND THE LOCATION OF BUILDINGS DESIGNATED FOR SPECIAL USES AND RESTRICTING THE BOUNDARIES OF ZONES FOR THE SAID PURPOSES AND PROVIDING PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF THE PROVISIONS," passed September 4, 1932.

The Board of Commissioners of the Town of Belleville in the County of Essex, do ordain:

Section 1. That the building zone map accompanying and made part of the ordinance to which this ordinance is an amendment is hereby amended by changing the following property from its present zoning status to a "Business Zone":

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect immediately after final passage and publication in accordance with law.

ROSE-MC MASTERS RITES TOMORROW

Wedding To Be Solemnized Tomorrow Evening At Christ Church

Miss Margaret Virginia Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell K. Rose of 30 Rossmore place will become the bride of John Howard McMasters, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McMasters of 242 Washington avenue tomorrow evening at 8:30 at a candlelight service at Christ Episcopal Church.

The ceremony will be performed by Mr. McMaster's uncle, Rev. Henry Drew of Highland Falls, N. Y., who will be assisted by Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach.

Mrs. Harry Fallows, Jr. of this town, sister of the bride-elect will be the matron of honor and the bridesmaids will be the Misses Lorna Zink, Virginia Breunich, Barbara Ennis and Judith Hyde and two cousins, Miss Frances Haworth of this town and Miss Helen Mae Moore of Jamestown, N. Y. Andrew McMasters of this town, brother of the groom-to-be will act as best man. Ushers will be Frank Ziegler, Mitchell Cumberley and Brannard Swain of this town and Mario Santamasimo of Nutley.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father, John Markoe, organist of the church will play the wedding march.

The bride will wear a gown of white satin trimmed with lace and pearls from her mother's wedding dress. Her white lace veil, made from the lace in her mother's dress will be caught in place with orange blossoms sent from Florida by her grandmother. She will carry an arm bouquet of calla lilies with an orchid in the center.

For travelling the bride will wear a blue suit with a white satin blouse and blue accessories.

The matron of honor will be gowned in yellow net and will wear a small flowered hat with veil. Her flowers will be yellow roses and delphinium. The bridesmaids will wear gowns of marquisette in the rainbow colors of orchid, green and blue. They will carry old-fashioned bouquets and will also wear small flowered hats with veils. The mother of the bride-elect will be dressed in powder blue french crepe and will wear a corsage of orchids. The mother of the groom-to-be will wear honey beige chiffon and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents for the bridal party and the immediate families. After a two weeks' trip to Florida, the couple will reside at 105 Belleville avenue.

Miss Rose is a graduate of the high school and attended the Fine and Industrial Arts School in Newark. She is a member of Omega Chi Alpha Beta Sorority. Mr. McMasters is a graduate of the high school and New York University.

Engaged

Doris Amelia Murray

The engagement of Miss Doris Amelia Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira H. Murray of 352 Washington avenue to William G. Radler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave J. Radler of 74 DeWitt avenue was announced Wednesday evening at a party at the Murray residence.

Twenty-five guests were present from East Orange, Irvington, Hillside, Newark and Belleville. Miss Murray is a graduate of the high school and attended the Y. W. Secretarial School.

Mr. Radler is also a graduate of the high school and the School of Fine and Industrial Arts in Newark. He is employed at Westinghouse in Newark. No plans have been made for the wedding.

School No. 10 Musical Show Was a Big Success

A capacity audience Thursday and Friday evenings and a substantial financial return rewarded the efforts of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 10 for presenting a rollicking revue an dminstrel.

Characteristic of the performance were such originalities as the part enacted by George Stickle, whose presentation of a disgusted and obnoxious spectator from the audience was so genuine that attempts were made to eject him.

A volley of cotton balls surprised the audience during "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" and the waltzing, costumed chorus presenting "Strawberry Blonde" was generously applauded in the Gay Nineties episode.

A formation of Boy Scouts accompanied the patriotic numbers which closed the show. It was written and directed by Miss Elleen Ellis of Newark, who made her debut as a director of amateur productions with these performances.

For eight years Miss Ellis has been assistant and accompanist to James McGinnis, dramatic coach of Newark. She accompanied most of the numbers in the revue with the piano or accordion.

Helps Keep Sun Off

Matching hats to protect their heads from the sun's strongest rays are provided with these brother and sister sun suits of cotton seersucker. Rickrack braid is the trimming. Ease of laundering, needles to say, is the main characteristic of this popular fabric.

New Scoutmaster Named At Fewsmith Church

William M. Willits of 16 Nolt street has taken over Troop 350 at Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church as scoutmaster.

With his staff, he has already planned this first month to be "Out of Doors Month." During this period, some of the objectives that he has outlined for the troop, the staff and the members will be to recruit boys to bring the patrols and troop to full strength, to make every scout a worker and to have a speaker at the meeting on the last Monday of the month.

Willits has had training in scouting in Providence, R. I.

DeCamp Lines To Inaugurate New Bus Service

On Monday the De Camp Bus Lines will inaugurate a new service from New York to Lake Hiawatha, seven miles west of Caldwell. The service will consist of five trips in the morning, between 6 and 8, to New York, and seven trips during the late afternoon and evening, between 4:55 and 12, from New York to Lake Hiawatha.

The routes will include the present communities, the additional service being only from Caldwell to the Lake.

Many Customs Associated With The Shevuos Holiday

Local Jewry Will Join in Observance; Begins At Sundown Saturday and Ends Monday Night; Rabbi Dobin to Preach Special Sermons

Jewry everywhere will observe the holiday Shevuos, the Feast of Weeks, beginning with sundown Saturday and extending to sundown Monday. This holiday which falls on the sixth and seventh days of the Jewish month Sivan, has great significance for the Jewish people.

In ancient Palestine this period coincides with the time of the wheat harvest, and it has therefore become a tradition of the farmers of Palestine to bring the first fruits of their crops as a thanksgiving offering to the Temple in Jerusalem, when they make their tri-annual pilgrimage there.

One of the more important reasons for the holiday is the giving of the Ten Commandments to Moses on Mount Sinai. This holiday is therefore called "The Season of the Giving of the Law." The Decalogue is included in the service of the day. Because of this, Shevuos is also referred to as the anniversary of the Jewish religion.

Many Customs Observed

Many beautiful and meaningful customs are observed on this holiday of Pentecost, which comes on the fiftieth day after the second day of Passover. The Synagogue and home are decorated with green plants, reminding of the agricultural significance of the festival. Dairy meals are featured in the homes during these days, because when the Jews were busy themselves with preparations for receiving the Ten Commandments they did not have the time to prepare lengthy meals.

Before reading from the Torah, an inspiring series of verses is read. These poems are called "Akdamos" and they extol the beauties of the relationship between the Torah, Israel and God. The Biblical Book of Ruth is also read on this day.

The Congregation Ahavas Achim will hold special holiday services in observance of the Jewish feast of Weeks, Shevuos. Services will take place Saturday, Sunday and Monday evenings and on Sunday and Monday mornings. The evening services will start at 8 and the morning services at 9. Rabbi Dobin will officiate and will be assisted by Morris Rosen. At the Sunday morning services, Rabbi Dobin will preach on the topic, "The Message of Shevuos in These Times."

The Yiskor memorial services will be recited on Monday morning, at 10. Rabbi Dobin will preach on the subject, "Can We Attain Life Eternal."

St. Mary's Rosary Will End Season June 3

The Rosary Society of St. Mary's Church, Nutley, will hold its last quarterly social of the season Tuesday evening, June 3, at 8:30 in the school auditorium. Mrs. Walter Debold of this town is chairman of the affair, and will have as co-chairman Mrs. Joseph Kilpatrick and Mrs. William Vogel of Belleville, and Mrs. Christopher Trautvetter of Nutley.

An unusual program has been planned, which will include a travelogue of the Holy Land, showing the Coronation of Pope Pius XII.

Musical selections will be rendered by Mrs. Katherine Seaine Ward of this town. Refreshments will be served and all members and friends are urged to be present.

Chief of Police and Mrs. George R. Spatz of Greylock parkway entertained Friday evening with supper and bridge for Town Attorney and Mrs. William F. Gorman, Dr. and Mrs. Edward P. Duffy and Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Duffy, Sr. of Nutley.

Spoiling a Beautiful Season

Belleville High's track team has had a most successful season. It stands out like a sore thumb amidst the disastrous wreckage of football, basketball and baseball.

This is not being preacher-like. We're not flapping our white wings yet — and nobody has ever pinned one of those white Easter lilies on our breast. But, there's a blotch on that track record that can't be rubbed out.

One careless moment — one empty-headed youth — who probably momentarily forgot the rules of the game — caused a mar on the record of the cinderpath hoopers.

Against Kearny on Friday, as you may already know a Bell boy runner in one of the events struck a Kearny trackster.

Some more fast throwing ensued and to end it all the meet was called off with everybody going home without either side winning — but Belleville losing.

Sure, there'll be a meet next year — and that's all the more in favor of Kearny's coach, Hal Jardine. Less wise mentors might have pushed the Bellboys out of the park with the advice never, never to come back again.

When the Bellboy trackster committed the foul, he not only hurt himself, the team and his coach, but every one of the students in Belleville High as well as the school itself.

What many young athletes fail to realize when they are playing on school teams is that they not only represent themselves but in colors they wear, the school.

This is not the first time that such an incident has occurred. It may not be the last — but we hope that it is. The high school has received some bad publicity for the incident has been well spread over certain sports pages. It has been a black eye. It won't be forgotten.

No glory covers himself with any glory by capitalizing on the misfortune of another. That isn't the idea of the game as we see it.

Oh, we've seen it before and it will happen again — maybe, to a Belleville team. But, put yourself in the shoes of the coach who has to sit on the bench and take it. You try to pep up a gang of youngsters for another ball game after they've been steam-rollered by such a score. It's no cinch.

There's another fellow not so far away who used to have to wear over-sized vests because his chest jutted out so far from sitting on the bench and watching his teams roll up big scores. Well, the last year or so he's had to sit and take it. And, has he cried!

This is not an eye-for-an-eye or a tooth-for-a-tooth sermon, but we hope that some day in baseball, football, fiddlesticks or button-tongue, there'll be a Blue and Gold team that will write that Saturday episode off the books.

The young man who fouled undoubtedly regrets it. Belleville lost, but the foul offender has undoubtedly learned a valuable lesson — win if you can, but win fairly. It's better to be beaten on the up-and-up than to win by unfair tactics.

Let Them Gloat

Call us chicken-hearted if you wish, but we've never had any use for coaches — in basketball, football or baseball, who were so victory thirsty that they would sit on the bench and let their teams roll up as big a score as possible because of the misfortune or inferiority of their opponents.

That's just the way we feel about Irvington's 32-0 win over the Blue and Gold in baseball. Sure, they set a scholastic record of some kind or other. They've got something to gloat over. But what did it gain them?

If we go out and beat up the four-year-old son of the lady next door, does that make us heavy-weight champion of the world? Of course not. Well, it's the same way with that ball game. Sure, Irvington is good, we knew that before the local team, travelled there. We didn't expect them to win.

We hope "Doc" Gantz enjoyed that victory — and we hope he'll live to see the day that a Bellboy nine will run every one of those runs down his throat until he yells "huff."

No coach covers himself with any glory by capitalizing on the misfortune of another. That isn't the idea of the game as we see it.

Oh, we've seen it before and it will happen again — maybe, to a Belleville team. But, put yourself in the shoes of the coach who has to sit on the bench and take

it. You try to pep up a gang of youngsters for another ball game after they've been steam-rollered by such a score. It's no cinch.

There's another fellow not so far away who used to have to wear over-sized vests because his chest jutted out so far from sitting on the bench and watching his teams roll up big scores. Well, the last year or so he's had to sit and take it. And, has he cried!

This is not an eye-for-an-eye or a tooth-for-a-tooth sermon, but we hope that some day in baseball, football, fiddlesticks or button-tongue, there'll be a Blue and Gold team that will write that Saturday episode off the books.

The young man who fouled undoubtedly regrets it. Belleville lost, but the foul offender has undoubtedly learned a valuable lesson — win if you can, but win fairly. It's better to be beaten on the up-and-up than to win by unfair tactics.

Let Them Gloat

Call us chicken-hearted if you wish, but we've never had any use for coaches — in basketball, football or baseball, who were so victory thirsty that they would sit on the bench and let their teams roll up as big a score as possible because of the misfortune or inferiority of their opponents.

That's just the way we feel about Irvington's 32-0 win over the Blue and Gold in baseball. Sure, they set a scholastic record of some kind or other. They've got something to gloat over. But what did it gain them?

If we go out and beat up the four-year-old son of the lady next door, does that make us heavy-weight champion of the world? Of course not. Well, it's the same way with that ball game. Sure, Irvington is good, we knew that before the local team, travelled there. We didn't expect them to win.

We hope "Doc" Gantz enjoyed that victory — and we hope he'll live to see the day that a Bellboy nine will run every one of those runs down his throat until he yells "huff."

No coach covers himself with any glory by capitalizing on the misfortune of another. That isn't the idea of the game as we see it.

KNOT HOLE GANG

TICKETS READY

Noll Announces That Youngsters Can Get Series For Bear Games

It won't be long before school will be out and then the youngsters will start to think about how they will while away the summer days.

Commissioner Noll is ready to help, announcing this week that Knot Hole Gang tickets, admitting youngsters to the Newark Bears' game, can now be obtained at the office of Superintendent of Recreation, Edward J. Lister at 407 Jonathan street.

There will be a charge of ten cents for the book of tickets which will admit youngsters to all seven of the games which have been listed for the Knot Hole Gang, a youngster cannot be more than twelve years old.

Those dates which have been arranged for games are as follows: Saturday, June 14, Newark Bears vs. Buffalo; Wednesday, July 2, Bears vs. Syracuse; Wednesday, July 18, Bears vs. Baltimore; Saturday, July 28, Bears vs. Buffalo; Saturday, August 23, Bears vs. Rochester; Saturday, September 6, Bears vs. Syracuse, and a game between the Newark Eagles and an unnamed opponent, date to be announced.

GOLFERS DEFEAT

BENGALS TWICE

Calicchio Leads The Locals In Final Matches On Schedule

With the defeat of the Bloomfield High golfers two weeks in a row, the Belleville High team closed a most successful season of its regularly scheduled matches. Led by Captain Fred DeFuria, the Blue and Gold putters won six out of the eight matches, losing only to Verona and West Orange.

Against the Bengals on Monday, they won 7 to 5, repeating their triumph of the previous week when they won 6 1/2 to 5 1/2. John Calicchio set the pace in both matches, this week stepping around the course in 77 while last week he did it in 78. Fred DeFuria carded a 79 in Monday's match.

BLUE AND GOLD

BADLY BEATEN

Coordination of Effort Needed

Preparation for the defense of this nation is largely dependent upon the voluntary cooperative efforts of thousands of our citizens. Either as individuals or members of civic-minded organizations, many are already trying to do their bit.

It will not succeed without the coordination of these efforts, shelving of personal praise and ambitions and a sincere desire to work together on an equal basis. The task of preparing to defend America in the event of war is growing in size like a fast-rolling snowball.

Is it becoming unwieldy or will it collapse because of an absence of control and a force and a program which will make individual efforts dovetail into a common purpose? Putting it simply, our observation has been that things are heading toward the "too many cooks spoil the soup" state.

To get down more specifically to cases, let's make our own community the common divisor by which the situation can be more clearly and better understood. As yet, Belleville's program lags behind that of many other communities, but it is gaining momentum as more people become aware that perhaps not far in the future there may be serious trouble.

Frankly, there is too much glory-seeking on the part of some folks. We like to think that it is unintentional but the fact still remains that there already exists a situation in which certain groups and individuals think that what is to be done should be guided by what they think is right and that everybody else should follow behind.

This is not the time for self-grandisement. We are all in this together and unless we are willing to cooperate and to perform that which is assigned to us and aspire to nothing greater, we are doomed to failure.

There are several well-intentioned groups which have begun what could be called emergency efforts. Some of the purposes, which they have individually set up as a part of their program overlap with those of others. They are bound to clash. In minor instances feelings have already been hurt.

This is not the time for quibbling or for envy to get the best of the common purpose. It is time that these groups sat down in council and under one leadership decided a united program. The President has called for the cooperation of all — he has not said that any of us should be left out of the picture. He has not looked upon certain groups with favor and stated that they and they alone should be the ruling force in the organizing for home defense or a state of emergency.

Those who are given to glory-seeking and ambitions to be in the center of the limelight are really making a false front of their patriotism.

Want to Be Rather Choosey

For one who has been elevated to one of the most important offices among women in this country, we thought the statement of Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, new president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, at the convention this week in Atlantic City, was rather ill-chosen.

"If women are not organized," Mrs. Whitehurst told her feminine listeners in speaking of the part they may play in national defense, "they are going to have to take what is handed them." Mrs. Whitehurst further intimated, feared and expressed herself as opposed to what she believed would be an effort to draft women for the next war.

Where in this national emergency have any of us been told that we could choose what we wished to do if called upon to serve our country? If we are the loyal Americans that we should be, we would accept the task given to us and not quibble. Have the thousands of young men who have been conscripted been given the opportunity to choose what they wished to do? Of course they have not.

Out of the group which Mrs. Whitehurst heads has come much of the propaganda for women to be placed and considered on an equal footing with men. These are the same folks who have likewise resented the fact that they have been barred from Selective Service Boards.

But Mrs. Whitehurst has changed the tune when it comes to playing a part in the defense of the nation. Women, she says, should be given the chance to pick their spots. It is not what we would call the most patriotic gesture. In fact, we do not think it expresses the feelings of the vast majority of women who are ready, willing and already training for some service.

Let Your Children Take Part

Through the efforts of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, the town officials and the schools, Belleville will participate this year in the Learn-to-Swim campaign which is conducted annually by the Montclair Y.M.C.A.

For growing youngsters there is nothing from which they should derive greater benefit or enjoyment than learning to swim. As both a health and life safeguard, we think that every parent who has the interest of their children at heart and who is able should permit their children to enter the classes.

One never knows when the ability to swim will be valuable — either to save the individual's own life or that of some one else. Its value is also great as a health and body builder.

Thoughts on Several Topics

The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce is a few steps behind the local Manufacturers' Association. Released this week was an appeal from George K. Batt, president of the Chamber, urging manufacturers with production machinery which at present is not being used for defense work to communicate with the Chamber of Commerce.

It is several weeks since the local manufacturers' group through its president, Martin F. Tiernan, asked Mayor Williams to make a survey of local industrial facilities which possibly could be used for defense work and are not at present.

To thousands the real import of Newark's blackout was lost in a New Year's Eve-like atmosphere. Along Broad street, they whooped and hollered when the lights were doused with more enthusiasm than on the arrival of a New Year. And, as for cars and people, they were countless.

There's no doubt that Newark was blacked out — a test of what may some day really happen. But as for many of the public, it was an occasion for letting loose in which many failed to realize the real significance, the grimness and the importance of it all.

In case you've felt sorry for Mr. and Mrs. Gargantua because they're cooped up in a circus cage, rest your sympathy. Science has again triumphed if we can believe the publicity release from one of the country's leading electrical manufacturers.

Ah yes, the circus gorilla stars no longer pine for the tropical sun of darkest Africa. The couple now own (or do Ringling Brothers) and use a portable sun lamp. And what's more, they not only live in an air-conditioned home as they travel about the country, but breathe air made bacteria-free by ultra-violet rays.

Both of them bask in the rays of their sun lamp for three or four hours each day.

Better off, than most of us human beings.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Political observers have long noted that time and population trends in Essex were on the side of the Democrats. When that party swept the county in 1931 behind A. Harry Moore, electing a fair assembly slate and a good freeholder trio, it looked as though the tide had turned. The new Democratic chairman, William H. Kelly was untried politically, but he had a good business record and was widely popular. The Republicans at that time were disorganized and the Vanderbilt leadership appeared tottering.

But what happened during 1932 was enough to put the Democratic party in eclipse for a decade. First, Kelly's leadership was immediately challenged by William J. Egan and Trenton and Jersey City failed to back up the former sufficiently. Egan controlled a majority of the county committeemen and Kelly was forced out of the chairmanship.

While an unusually astute politician, Egan permitted the election irregularities that resulted in the 1932 general election ballots from the Third Ward being stolen. This rank-and-file is not yet aware of this significant change but the more astute Republican leaders are aware of it, and are wondering not too hopefully about the outcome of future elections.

Until this year the Clean Government group in Essex had a practical monopoly on reform as a campaign issue. In the primaries they could point to efficient county government under Vanderbilt's able leadership and single out Pierce R. Franklin as the potential enemy who would drag that record in the mud. In the general elections they put out a double barrage. They said that Hague dominated the government in Trenton and Democrats were in control of the shamelessly corrupt government of Newark. Both of these accusations were true, and both proved tremendously effective.

What of This Fall? What will be the picture in the primary and general election this fall? In the primary Franklin as a whipping boy will be no more. The evil he did may live after him, but the man himself will have disappeared. A ghost makes a much poorer campaign issue than a flesh and blood incarnation of evil. Clean Government will have a much harder time in picturing possible opposition as the sworn enemy of all political virtue, as well as of county government efficiency and economy.

When the general election arrives, Essex Republicans will find even more liabilities facing them.

They will find Democrats in complete control of Newark's government. Just how much of an asset this will be to the Democrats is not certain now. But the indications are that Newark's government will compare reasonably well with that of the county.

Miracles do not happen in a few months, but the past has been so black that any future will look reasonably white. Certainly no Republican strategist at this writing is justified in hoping that an election can be won by pointing to Newark as an example of what defeat would bring to the people.

As regards Trenton, the Democrats will be in even a better position. If they are in their right mind, Democratic candidates for senate and assembly will pledge unqualified support to Governor Edison. And if Democratic leaders here, Edison included, are in their right minds they will select candidates of a type whose pledge will mean something. Hagueism will still be an issue of a kind, but very feeble. To offset this, the Democratic candidates will have an issue of their own. What, they will ask, has the Republican legislature done to justify retaining control?

Essex Situation Precarious Until recently Essex Republicans had a partial answer. They could point out that the Essex groups had stood solidly to protect Edison from the rapacity of other Republicans. But by supplying the four votes to assure passage of the notorious term extension bill, Republicans here threw their unanimous record on the scrap heap. If present Republican tactics in Trenton are continued, I would not be surprised at a Democratic sweep of New Jersey that would engulf Essex along with other counties. I don't say this is probable, but it is entirely possible.

Much will depend on how Edison handles the situation between now and November. If he hesitates to go forward resolutely, he may lose his present popularity rapidly. The critical Sunday Call editorial of May 25 was significant. But neither Edison nor the Newark commission majority is as likely to make any single major mistake as are Essex Republicans. From now on it looks as though victories will have to be fought for. The day of silver platters is over.

Praise For The Town

From Russell K. Rose
30 Rossmore Place
To the Editor of The News:
At a civic meeting in Newark recently attended by many prominent business people of Essex County, the question of the quality of administration of public business in various municipalities was discussed.

Having resided here many years, I was made to feel very happy by the remarks of several widely known persons that my town of Belleville was repeatedly cited as a model of what can be done to add prestige to a community when strong leadership, official cooperation and high ideals are maintained by the men we select to run our public business. Splendid tributes were paid to our town, mayor and commissioners by men from several other Essex County communities. "A fine, well conducted town," "citizens must feel proud of that town of theirs," "Belleville citizens and her officials deserve great credit," "A fine example for any group of officials to study," were expressions made by various speakers.

These remarks just made me think your readers may have had similar experiences and others would be glad to give thought on the respect our town has beyond the borders of Belleville.

Recipe Column

With the advanced season that we are now enjoying it looks as though the Memorial Day weekend will be an auspicious time for picnics. For that, and the many other picnic occasions which will follow, there are some particularly fitting recipes.

Banana Bran Nut Bread
1 egg, well beaten
1 1/2 cups mashed bananas
1/4 cup melted butter
1 cup bran
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup broken nut meats
Use fully ripe bananas and combine with egg, shortening and bran. Then sift together the dry ingredients and add nut meats. Add to the banana mixture, stirring only enough to absorb all flour. Bake in a well greased bread pan in a moderate oven for an hour and ten minutes.

A simple filling of cream cheese, or cream cheese combined with chopped fruits, is all that is necessary for making sandwiches of this bread. They will be favorites with the children and a nice substitute for desserts which cannot easily be carried in picnic lunches.

Barbecued Steak Sauce
A sauce for barbecued steaks, which may be prepared at home and stored in a jar until needed, is suggested for the picnic where the attraction is grilled steaks. Round steak, sliced 1/2 inch thick, is a good selection.
2 tablespoons butter
1 minced onion
2 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup catsup
1 cup water
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup minced celery
1/2 tablespoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
Melt butter, add onion and cook over medium heat for a few minutes; stir in remaining ingredients. Simmer until sauce is thickened and celery tender. Dip steaks into the sauce and cook over grill or barbecue pit.

Memorial Day preparations in your house may so far be purely material. Perhaps, with the extremely propitious weather conditions, you may be planning the first outdoor excursion or picnic of the year; perhaps your young son or daughter may be going to participate in some decoration day service and you are preoccupied with the problem of his grooming.

But don't let it stop there. It may sound trite — but it's too essential to go unprepared — that this Memorial Day holds a special significance for all of us. How much easier it is for us who now have members of our families and friends in military service or who, at least, have become accustomed to the machinery of defense through reading and hearing of its production and routine, to visualize the actual sacrifice which was made by those who died in the various conflicts which have made possible and preserved for us our liberties. If the sound of marching feet, martial music, taps and guns have left you untouched on previous Memorial Days, be prepared for a new tug at your heart strings this time.

Unnecessary emotionalism should be strictly eschewed for the safeguarding of our morale in the struggle for which we are mentally girding ourselves; but the tribute of a thought, a silent prayer of gratitude or a pang of sorrow for those who have already defended us will be an especially becoming American gesture on this occasion. If the day, in your hearts and the hearts of your children, is dedicated to an honest recognition of its true meaning instead of representing merely the start of summer sports and refreshments it will truly be a profitable one for the nation.

Significant To Women

There are three phases of Americanism which strike us as being particularly significant to women on this Memorial Day. Our feet are firmly planted on the bedrock of a liberty which is secure because it was won the hard way. Our hands and brains today are busy with bending every effort we can make to ease the way of those who are even now making extreme sacrifices to preserve this same liberty. Our hopes and dreams are centered around the men of the future for whom we desire a life free from such sacrifices. Well rounded thinking must include the past and future as well as the things which absorb our present consciousness. Let this holiday mark for us a new breadth of thought, a new significance of sacrifice.

A fitting commemoration to the Glen Ridge and Mrs. Harry Van Orden and Mrs. Horace E. Winship of Newark.

Miss Naomi Waters of Union avenue and Miss Alice Higgins of Bloomfield will leave tomorrow evening to spend the holiday weekend in Boston, Mass. They will be registered at the Kenmore Hotel. Miss Waters will be installed as the delegate from Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority to the Panhellenic at the meeting following the dinner at the William Pitt this evening.

recent sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the American Red Cross is the publication of a biography of Clara Barton, its founder, by Mildred Mastin Pace who has written the book for children. The book was planned to make it absorbing reading for youngsters who have reached an age when they need motivation for the ideals which begin to claim their minds and efforts. Mothers and teachers undoubtedly will derive as much satisfaction from a book like this as the children for whom they buy it and to whom they read it.

It seems that too much attention cannot be called to the accomplishments of a woman like Clara Barton. Her accomplishments indicate a sublimation of self, a quiet practicality and determination which is the result of conquering most of the faults and frailties of womankind and attaining her most worthy characteristics. The great organization, which today carries indestructible prestige because it is founded on honor and charity, is one of the most magnificent tributes of all time to the vision and power of such a woman.

The story is told without dramatics, a type of writing children very much enjoy contrary to common belief. The life of a woman who began the career of her young organization with the Johnstown flood and who commanded a supply ship in the Spanish American War, who made apple pies for homesick soldiers and learned to typewrite at the age of ninety is worth buying for your children and worth reading with them.

Nationwide conventions during the past few weeks have brought to a close the activities of many women's clubs; although some of the larger groups have determined to maintain an active schedule during the summer months for the benefit of defense measures undertaken by them. Some of the opinions of the leaders, expressed in convention addresses, make us hope that they do voice the opinion of the majority of club women.

They allude to "obstacles" (apparently State, Selective Service or local legislation) which make it impossible for women to make their best possible contribution to national defense; they charge that nurses, hostesses and librarians hired by the Army are not being given the proper status to compensate for their efforts; they insist that women, unless powerfully organized, "are going to have to take what is handed them" in defense measures.

It really seems unfortunate that organized women so often confuse the issue. They are bearing resentment still that selective service functions with great efficiency, since it deals exclusively with the problems of men, without them. They should inform themselves better on the subject of nurses in the army who are certainly surrounded with every possible safeguard to their prestige and awarded the ranks they deserve. As to the possibility that women will not have the opportunity to choose their particular activities for defense, we would venture the opinion that the greatest privilege lies in doing exactly what we are told to do when the time comes.

It is to be hoped that the easily aroused antipathy of some clubwomen toward authority will not be reflected in the numerous individual members who are content to spend the quiescent period, until women are needed, in individual attempts to sustain the morale of their families and communities.

Brooks, Magazines Wanted For Soldiers In Camps

A special appeal is being made by libraries for more books and magazines for soldiers at camp. Many of the new camps and centers at without enough reading matter for the soldiers, and much more material is needed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shattuck, head of the local library, will accept any books or magazines of fairly recent date, and in good condition at the library, where they will be held until called for by the State Library's facilities.

Two unusual new novels in the seven day collection are: Amiel, by Myrtle Johnston, a story within a story — the tale of Michael McClane, who is writing a novel about a character named Amiel. The text of the book in construction is interspersed among the chapters of Michael's own story, which is compelling in itself, as he writes under the bombings of war while his wife lies critically injured in their dingy room.

Then shall the dust return by Julian Green, a fantastic story based on a theory of the transmigration of souls, from one body to another as centuries pass. An ancient chain necklace is the symbol of a love that comes down through the ages, always accompanied by tragedy and suffering.

Local Residents Subscribe For Concert Series

Among the local residents who have subscribed to the entire series of the Essex County Symphony Society's outdoor concerts at the Newark Stadium, which will open Tuesday evening, June 3, are:

E. L. Chesley, Mrs. Charles Forsythe, H. M. Hentz, Earl W. Seibert, Mrs. Stephen Vazkis and Miss Gertrude Wheeler.

Approximately 25,000 are expected to attend the opening concert. Paul Robeson will be guest soloist and Dr. Frank Black of the National Broadcasting Company will conduct the 100-piece orchestra. Four concerts will be presented by the Symphony Society on consecutive Tuesdays in June.
