

Tomorrow's Their Big Day

HOLDING HIGH HOPES are these Nereid Boat Club oarsmen who tomorrow will vie on the Mississippi River at Minneapolis against three other leading four-man crews for a national title.

Rated as one of the strongest quad combinations in the East, the boys are anxious to bring home what would be the highest honors for Nereid in its sixty-six year history. From left to right: Al Walker, bow; Homer Zink, Warren Everson and Darrell Zink, stroke.

Nereid Oarsmen To Row In National Championship

Quad Crew Rows on Mississippi Against Three Well-Known Clubs; Brett Only Other Club Member On Trip; Left from New York Yesterday

The national championship aspiring senior quad crew of the Nereid Boat Club left yesterday afternoon by train at 4:30, bound for Minneapolis, Minn., where they will compete in the national rowing regatta tomorrow.

Victorious over quads representing two of the country's outstanding amateur rowing clubs two weeks ago at the People's Regatta, the four local oarsmen are rated as having a good chance of triumphing in the Minneapolis event.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4:40 (C.D.S.T.) the Nereids — Bowman Al Walker, Warren Everson, Homer Zink and Stroke Darrell Zink — will swing out onto the Mississippi with three other nationally known rowing quads — the unbeaten Barge Club of Philadelphia, the Minneapolis B. C. and the Pennsylvania A. C. of Philadelphia. It will be a final event with no heats and will be rowed over a one and one-quarter-mile course. Rowing in Lane 1 will be the Barge Club quad, the Minneapolis oarsmen will be in Lane 2, Pennsylvania A. C. in Lane 3, and the Nereids in Lane 4.

The Penn A. C. placed second to the Nereids in the People's Regatta. The local boat shot across the finish line thirteen seconds ahead of the Quaker City rowing quartet.

It is the first time in the sixty-six year history of the Nereid Club that a senior quad boat has been entered in a national event. In fact, according to the club's historical statisticians, the Philadelphia triumph was the first time that one of the Orange and Blue's quad boats had scored a triumph in an open regatta.

Brett Only Rooter Going

Though wherever Nereid men gather tomorrow there will be a silent cheer sent up for the quad oarsmen, there will be only one Nereid member standing on the Mississippi shore edging them on to victory. He will be forty-two-year member C. Leverich Brett, still one of the most active in the organization and the one who had charge of arranging for the transportation of the quad and its men to Minneapolis. There will be no crew substitutes making the trip.

The four oarsmen, Brett and the 150-pound mahogany-colored shell on which they pin their hopes, left yesterday afternoon from New York aboard the Advance Commodore of the New York Central. They will arrive in Minneapolis this afternoon and after working out the train-riding stiffness, hope to have a practice workout or two on the river to become accustomed to its currents and movement.

While in Minneapolis, the boys will stay at the Leamington Hotel. They are expected to return to Belleville over the weekend.

The dual regatta on the Harlem River last Sunday between Nassau B. C. and Nereid was won by Nereid 6-3.

Local P.B.A. Purchases $2,000 In U. S. Defense Bonds

Patrolman Harry Scott, treasurer, announced on Tuesday that he had purchased for the Association $2,000 worth of defense bonds. They will not be received here to be turned over to the treasurer for about two weeks, it was said.

EXECUTIVE GROUP OF RED CROSS MAKES CHANGES

Plans Shaped For Fall Activities
Miss E. Adams Succeeds Mrs. Fleming as Secretary

Planning for a speed-up of its activities in the fall, the Red Cross this week made several changes in the membership of the executive committee which met on Monday night at the Woman's Club in Rossmore place. Chairman Frank Chambers was in charge.

Miss Esther Adams was appointed executive secretary to succeed Mrs. Thomas W. Fleming who was forced to resign because of the pressure of other business. Miss Betty Sheehan was named secretary. Selected as chairman of the membership drive to be held in November was Daniel Spillane, Jr., who will be assisted by Miss Eileen Lynch and Otto Breunlich, co-chairmen. Fred W. Evans was appointed chairman of the home service committee and will be assisted by Fred Handlon. Mrs. Louis Noll was elected member of the executive group and will take charge of the first aid committee, replacing Miss Doris Scharfberg who is now serving as the chairman of the newly formed women's motor corps.

Report on Junior Group

Mrs. Harvay B. Thompson, chairman of the production committee, presented the report of the Junior Red Cross in the absence of Mrs. W. H. Williams. The production work of the Junior Red Cross between February 1 and July 1 covered 255 knitted articles, numbering among them twenty-six afghans, ninety-nine knitted caps, twenty-nine knitted wash cloths, and ninety-nine infants' garments such as dresses, slips, sweaters, kimonos, blankets, booties and mitts. An additional order of thirty-three garments and ten knitted afghans is ready to go out with the next shipment from the Chapter.

Mrs. Thompson also commented on the work of her production committee which has completed the fourth quota of work consisting of thirty-three complete layettes and a miscellaneous assortment of 250 infant's garments.

Under the leadership of Mrs. George Kelsall, the production group has agreed to assist Newark Chapter in the work of preparing abdominal binders, and have contracted to make 500. Mrs. Kelsall has asked for the cooperation of local women, requesting that they contact her at the Chapter Workrooms on Tuesday or call her at home, Belleville 2-4486 at other times. This work is to be done on a sewing machine.

Need For More Workers

Mrs. Thompson reports a need for workers during the summer months and advises that the work at the work room consists now of making boys' ship suits and infants' dresses (cotton and wool) ranging in size from 4 to 40. The work room at the Woman's Club in Rossmore place will be open each Tuesday, all during the summer, from 10 to 4.

Miss Adams, in charge of the knitting department, told of the completion of 157 articles covering the period from June 9 to July 1. This represents a total of 3,760 hours work, which does not include the time spent in distributing and collecting, in getting the garments ready for shipment or the clerical work necessary to keep the records in order. Miss Adams also asks for more workers and suggests that they contact her at Belleville 2-1843.

Aluminum Goes To Smelter

The person in charge must keep a record of the gross weight of the collected aluminum before it is sorted. Both this record and the net weight of the aluminum actually shipped to smelters should be reported to the OPM in Washington. The chairman then offers the collected aluminum to any smelter which has a defense preference rating.

The smelter will then contact a recognized waste dealer and arrange for the dealer to take the collection from the local committee. If requested, the municipal group must arrange for the transportation of the aluminum to the dealer.

The dealer will then prepare the scrap for smelters. All authorized dealers, according to OPM and Civilian Defense officials, have agreed to handle the donated aluminum without making a profit.

The smelters will reimburse the dealers for the actual cost of sorting, preparing and shipping. The dealer should make allowances for the value of any rejections thrown out at his yard. Such rejections become the property of the dealer, but he is requested to deduct their value from his cost as reported to the smelter. The latter, after accepting the material from the dealer, will then pay an amount to the National Scrap Aluminum Fund based on the maximum prices which have been established by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply in Washington.

Copies of the settlement voucher will be sent to the chairman of the local committee. The voucher will show the amount of aluminum received, the rate at which it was paid for, the value of rejections at the smelter, the value of rejections at the dealer's yard, the total amount paid the dealer for costs and the total amount remitted by the smelter to the fund.

Rain Hits Schedule

Rain messed up the schedule of the Senior, Church and Industrial Leagues last week. Complete results of the contests being played at the municipal stadium this week will be published next week.

Although the boat is big, accommodations are limited so that those planning to attend should get their tickets as soon as possible. They may be obtained by calling Mrs. McNair at Belleville 2-3209-J. All tickets must be paid for in advance. Tickets must be purchased by Sunday, August 3.

Amateur Radio Operator Corrects News on Call Letters

Amateur Radio Operator Doug Sharp, a member of Sea Scout Ship 303, called The News' attention to the fact that the call letters of his station at 55 Prospect place is W2NLI, not W2NLL as reported in The News two weeks ago.

Doug and an Irvington Scout are at Camp Mohican for the summer doing some "brass pounding" with other amateur radio Scouts in this section. In this way those at camp are able to keep in close contact with Scout officials in this area. It also demonstrates the value that this branch of Scouting could be in an emergency.

TOWN LAND SALES ZOOM TO $91,830

Six-Month Total Nearly Doubles Amount For All Of Last Year

Doing more than its expected share to swell the anticipated revenue account at the Town Hall is the return on the sale of town-owned property. Report for the first six months of the year shows that sales have zoomed to $91,830, far ahead of the $46,833, the total for all of last year. 1941's six-month total is nearly four times the 1939 twelve-month figure of approximately $25,000.

The $91,830 does not represent actual cash in the town bank account at the moment for some of the sales have been negotiated on an installment basis with a percentage down payment and the rest within a period determined by the Town Commission and the purchaser.

Biggest single sale of the year was the one for $22,000 in which the Goldfarb Brothers, developers of the White Oaks section at the northern end of Union avenue, purchased forty-three lots in the Greylock Heights tract on which they are now building. The Conforti Construction Co., builders in the western end of town, made the biggest single purchase in 1940 when they paid $12,650 for a group of lots.

Property for Bowling Alleys

Trailing behind the Goldfarb purchase is that of property at 15-521 Washington avenue which Elwood Casperson of Caldwell bought for $11,000. He announced that a bowling academy with sixteen alleys would be erected there but as yet there has been no sign of construction, although Casperson said that he planned to open in the early fall. Next in line is the Own-Home Corporation which bought eighteen lots for $7,650.

Following are two developers. The Gibbs Development Co. last week purchased fifteen lots in Harvard and Jefferson streets where they plan to erect homes ranging from $4,900 to $6,500. The land cost the company $9,000.

Since 1938, Tax Assessor John Coogan, a former real estate broker, has had charge of the sale of town-owned land and Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan has supervised the actual sale and handled the detailed negotiations for the town. However, no sale is made without the terms and the price first being confirmed by the Town Commission.

Any person wishing to purchase town land is welcome to make an offer for the property. If the Town Commission is satisfied that it is a reasonable bid in view of the taxes and other liens which the town may hold against the land and the property's probable assessed value, the property will be placed up for public sale. Any no sale is made without the terms and the price first being confirmed by the Town Commission.

Tonight 21-Year Olds Will Be Radio Listening

Newest Batch of Draft Eligibles Will Be Anxious To Learn How They Will Stand In Draft; Use New System

Ear-cocked near radios tonight will be 186 local twenty-one-year-olds anxious to learn how they will stand in the draft as officials in Washington turn once again to the task of preparing the newest batch of candidates to take their turn for possible service in the Army.

The melon-colored cards on which the names of the men were registered on R-day two weeks ago have been shuffled and reshuffled and the new eligibles have been given "S" numbers ranging from one to 186. These numbers will be used to find "sequence" numbers after the second national lottery is held tonight.

"Sequence" numbers, it is understood, are similar but not identical to the "order" numbers obtained through the first lottery last fall. The difference is that each new man will be inserted into existing lists by a mathematically determined proportion, and after sequence numbers have been assigned he will be given an order number corresponding to that of the old candidate immediately preceding him.

How It Will Work

This can best be illustrated by a hypothetical case: if No. S-3 finds himself with sequence No. 29, for instance, and through insertion finds himself between order Nos. 1662 and 1663, his order number automatically becomes No. S-1662, and he will be eligible for draft call immediately after No. 1662 and before No. 1663.

New men here will go into existing lists by the ratio of about one to every twelve or thirteen names. 750 "S" numbers will be drawn from the famous goldfish bowl in Washington, and elimination of all numbers over 186 — the highest digit here — will determine the sequence for those 186 names.

Youngster Falls In River, Two Boys Save Him

Little heroes of the neighborhood this week are nine-year-old Robert McNish of 236 Linden avenue and his brother Jack, seven, who on Tuesday pulled Kenneth King, six, of 35 Malone avenue, out of the Passaic river when he fell into water that was over his head.

Kenneth had accidentally let a brightly colored stone fall into the water and went to retrieve it when he tumbled into the water.

Mrs. King was nearby when the boys performed their rescue job and brought back little Kenneth dripping from head to foot but none the worse for the ducking.

U.S.O. DRIVE HEADS OVER THE TOP

Returns from Manufacturers Expected To Put It Across

The U.S.O. committee is optimistically headed today toward its ultimate goal of $4,500. Treasurer Ernest H. Alden reported last night that the returns were veering over the $3,000 mark with no word as yet from the manufacturers' group.

Leading the manufacturers' drive is Martin T. Tiernan, president of Wallace & Tiernan Co. and president of the Manufacturers' Association. Always active supporters of town-wide efforts, Tiernan last week appealed in a letter to the members of the Manufacturers' group to do their part in making the U.S.O. campaign a financial success.

Tiernan named a committee to serve with him which would solicit the various manufacturers whether they are members of the Association or not. They were working on their fund-raising efforts this week and it is anticipated that the weekend they will have a report for the committee.

The executive group headed by Richard Shannon met at Town Hall Monday night and heard the report from Alden on returns to that date. Based on that it was voted to continue the campaign for another week.

Collect Half of Total

Handicapped by the number of people who are out of town, the house-to-house group of nearly 200 workers according to the latest reports have raised approximately half of the $3,000 total. John Charlton, executive secretary of the Welfare Federation, was originally named house-to-house leader but he was forced to leave town the second week of the campaign to take over his duties as one of the head counselors at Boy Scout Camp Mohican. Mrs. Charlton pinch-hit for him and has been handling the house-to-house division since then. She said last night that most of her workers have completed the canvassing of their divisions.

Those who have been out of town or have been missed in the solicitation by the house-to-house, business men or manufacturers' divisions and wish to contribute should send their donations to Ernest H. Alden, the treasurer.

Group Given Power By State Law Will Seek To Coordinate Efforts

A local defense council of fifteen members to organize Belleville for its part in the national emergency was announced last night by Mayor Williams. Representative citizens in various walks of life, the group will seek to coordinate the activities of organizations, study the local needs and problems and serve as a controlling board in event of an actual state emergency.

The committee will meet within the next few days, the Mayor said, to organize and plan its activities. First task which Williams has already assigned to them is the collection of aluminum which has been requested by Mayor LaGuardia, head of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Delegated authority and given power under recently enacted state legislation, the fifteen committee members will be assigned to various duties and will in turn name sub-committees to be approved by the Mayor which will assist them in their work.

Those named by the Mayor are reported to have already accepted their posts are:

Philip Dettelbach, general manager of L. Sonneborn Sons, Inc.

George Spatz, chief of the police department.

Everett B. Smith, police recorder.

Theodore Sandford, realtor.

Rev. Joseph Kelly, pastor of St. Peter's Church.

Dr. O. Bell Close, pastor of Fewsith Presbyterian Church.

James Waters, superintendent of the town public works department.

Mrs. F. Kenneth Mase, Consumers' Service.

Rev. H. C. Van Pelt, chaplain of state institutions.

Charles Cullen, American Federation of Labor.

Dr. George Kaden, dentist.

Martin F. Tiernan, president of Wallace & Tiernan Co.

Robert A. Reid, chief of the fire department.

Michael Caponegro, accountant.

Arthur W. Clark, secretary to the Mayor.

Preliminary efforts similar that of the defense committee has already been performed by Chiefs Reid and Spatz. Under their supervision, a law and order committee of nearly 200 members of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars have been organized. They have had several tests to demonstrate how quickly they could be called in event of an emergency. They would serve as an auxiliary to the police and fire department.

In some municipalities, these men have been organized and trained in fire and police work and fire aid. Some of the groups, numbering from 100 to 200 men, have been uniformed and meet weekly for drill and instruction.

The local defense council will have the direction of the State Defense Council which he takes its direction from the national group. A definite program has been outlined to local group by the state and recommendations made for the type of preparation and organization in which the councils should interest themselves.

PEEK-A-BOO ...

A Corner For Little Folks

Robert "Bobby" Addison Haug, eleven-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Haug of 529 Joralemon street, can no longer be tagged as "rugg romper." He now wears immaculate little boy suits. Mary Margaret Rafferty, four-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rafferty of 19 Church street, enjoys strolling in her carriage with her three-year-old brother Tommy. Lynda Ibbot, who is twenty-two months old, certainly surprised her mother, Mrs. William Ibbot of 254 Joralemon street, one day last week while they were shopping in Paterson. Lynda removed the hat from one of the plaster dummies in a store and toddled out into the sidewalk chirping "Mama's hat, Mama's hat." Mary Margaret Minasian is a great help to her father Henry Minasian of 19 Lincoln terrace. She might well be one of the "pretty maids all in a row" as she tends his garden while he is teaching students at the high school. "I'm sorry daddy, I did it," Bobby confessed. Robert Schaeffer of 134 Floyd street, who is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Miller received a miniature hammer as a gift with which, it seems, he broke a few dishes while driving a nail into the dining room table. Mary Lou Murray of 153 Belleville avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Murray, is not interested in dolls. Her father has a whole set of miniature trains and a city built for her in the cellar and although Mary Lou is not yet five, she really understands them. George Skippy Lorvin, who is a six-year-old resident of 185 Stephen street, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lorvin, likes nothing better than starting his father's car. Grace and John Reid, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Reid, are spending the weekend in Washington. Anne Doris Walldron, two-and-a-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Walldron, loves to have her breakfast out. Carol Anne Lombard of 138 Washington avenue, who is six months old, has already started saving her pennies in the bright new bank she purchased at a local toy counter.

Robert Joseph McGowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGowan, who is ten months old, has blonde fuzzy ringlets and a dimpled smile, doesn't mean to break his toys but they will break anyhow. Ellen May Kramarich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kramarich, is spending the summer at Chautauque Lake where she will have a real pony of her own. Joyce Peterson was shopping for that new boy cousin. We wonder if Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mears of 22 Mertz avenue are ever confused when they try to distinguish between their twin sons Raymond and Russell, who have a new saw-saw. Raymond and Russell have a big brother Kenneth. David Malcolm Shields of 410 Cortlandt street, who is only seven weeks old, takes an ounce and a half of orange juice and all his cod-liver oil. Ten drops to be specific.

Barbara Jean Breen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Breen of 84 Little street is five and a half months old. She crawls, pulls herself up and says "mama." Arthur Charles Jarkin of 59 Center street, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jarkin, is walking already. He was a year old on June 5. Robert "Bobby" Freitag of 328 Stephen street wants a big boat for his seventh birthday, but his father refused because Bobby already has a lot of boats, so therefore he is giving away those previously found in his collection. Additions to the list of new arrivals this week include a daughter, Lucy Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bolcato of Smith street, born at Columbus Hospital. A son, William Matthew, to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schlosser of Academy street, at St. Barnabas. To Mr. and Mrs. Graham Ross Adams, a son, Graham Ross, Jr., at St. Michael's Hospital. At Newark Presbyterian, a daughter, Rose Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Goodford of Ralph street. A daughter, Judith Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of Belleville avenue, at Fitkin Memorial Hospital. At Columbus Hospital, a son, Eugene Richard, to Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Wiley of Belmont avenue. A daughter, Gwendolyn Amanda, to Mr. and Mrs. John C. Van Eyk of Division avenue, at Newark Memorial Hospital. To Mr. and Mrs. John Caraciola of Roosevelt avenue, a daughter, Phyllis Fredia, at American Legion Hospital. To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jensen of Stephen street, a daughter, Elizabeth, at American Legion Hospital. A daughter, Jo Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Budd of Clinton street, at St. James Hospital. A son, Nunziante Enrico, to Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Cernero.

Marks Milestone

George L. Fralley of 36 Mertz avenue, dial equipment specialist on the general plant supervisor's staff, New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, took time out today from his task of checking over the new "crossbar" dial system at Union City, due to start service at the end of next week, to mark his twenty-fifth anniversary as a telephone man.

Fralley, a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America, entered the industry July 17, 1916, as a Western Electric helper in Newark, became successively inside man, chief switchman and wire chief for the Telephone Company in Newark by 1923, and served as district maintenance supervisor and district equipment superintendent in downtown Newark before being appointed to his present position as staff assistant in 1933.

The company has awarded him its quarter-century gold service emblem in recognition of the milestone.

H. S. ART PUPILS GET MORE HONORS

Roger Mellion and Robert Valentino Receive Awards In National Magazine Contest

More honors were heaped upon Belleville High School Art students this week when the American Magazine announced that two local boys, Roger Mellion and Robert Valentino, were among the 678 art division winners in the fourth annual youth forum competition. Students of P. Webster Diehl, high school art director, Mellion and Valentino were among the 57,173 students who submitted either drawings or paintings. All told, 655,898 young people throughout the country entered paintings, drawings and articles.

The paintings were submitted under the general theme for the forum contest of "What My Community Means to Me." Mellion was among the 150 who received $5 awards and Valentino was one of the 500 who received honorable mention.

Both youths in their work attempted to put on canvass their impression of what Belleville through its industries and its people contribute to the nation.

Cardinals Lose In Tilt With Jamesburg Boys

The Cardinal softballers found that they were stacked up against good competition on Thursday when they travelled to the Jamesburg Reformatory to play the seventh grade boys there. The Jamesburg kids won, 6-1. The game was arranged by Rev. Harry C. Van Pelt of Stephens street, who is a state probation officer and chaplain for the Negro youth at the Jamesburg institution, and Fred W. Handlon, police court clerk. The eleven boys on the Cardinal squad were transported for the game by Handlon and Hugh Clark.

Recipe Column

Strawberries, cherries, peaches — with these luscious milestones the menu planner checks off the summer months. And now in mid-season peaches occupy the lime-light. Everyone is familiar with their delicious cold sweetness when served sliced or in sherberts or ice cream. While the early white variety is still available there are some hot peach desserts which you will relish especially on unexpectedly cool July days.

Bran Peach Turnovers

1 1/2 cup all-bran
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
About 5 tablespoons cold water
1 cup sliced, sweetened peaches
Roll all-bran until fine and combine with flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water a little at a time until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out lightly on floured board to about one-eighth inch in thickness. Cut into five inch rounds with cutter. On one half place a mound of sliced peaches. Moisten edge of dough. Fold other half over to cover peaches and crimp edges with a fork. Place a dot of butter on each and bake in hot oven (425 degrees) for twelve to fifteen minutes. Serve hot with hard sauce.

Peach Fritters

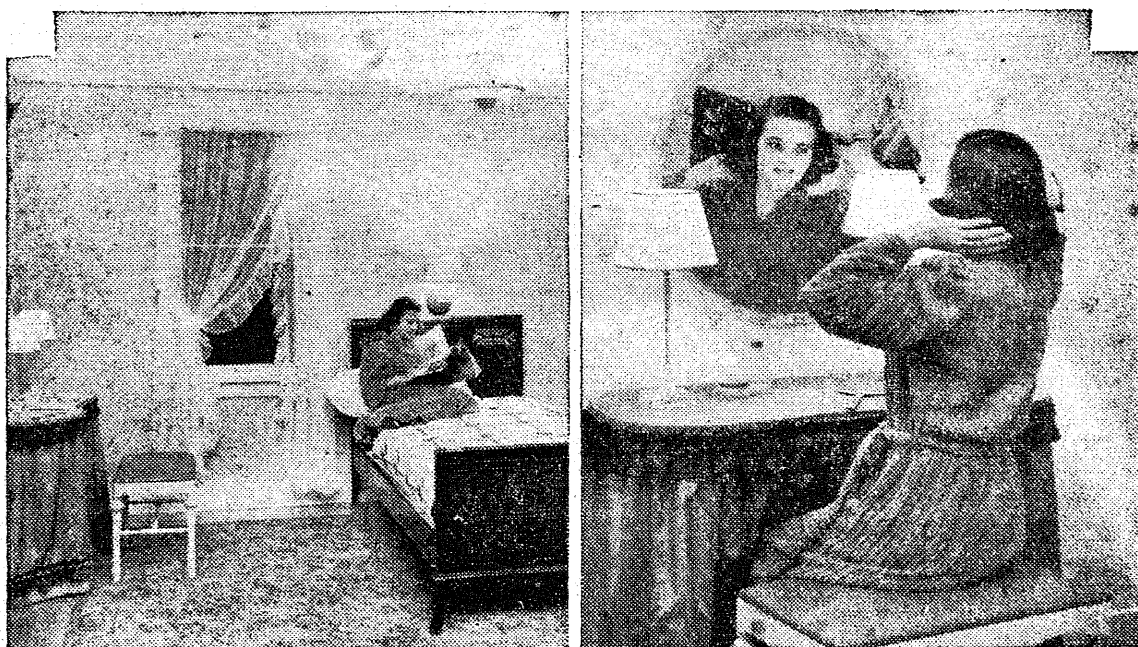

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons confectioner's sugar
1/3 cup milk
1 egg
2 cups sliced peaches
Sift flour, baking powder and salt and sugar together. Combine beaten egg and milk and add, stirring until smooth. Dip peach slices in batter. Fry in shallow fat for three to five minutes until delicately browned. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with confectioner's sugar.

For a varied and different flavored fruit cup use chilled peaches as follows:

Florida Fruit Cup

2 cups Florida canned citrus fruits
1 cup sliced ripe peaches
1 unpeeled red apple, sliced
6 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup powdered sugar
Combine fruits and lemon juice. Divide among six to eight sherbert cups. Chill in refrigerator. Sprinkle with powdered sugar when ready to serve.

Lighting Makes Bedroom Brighter

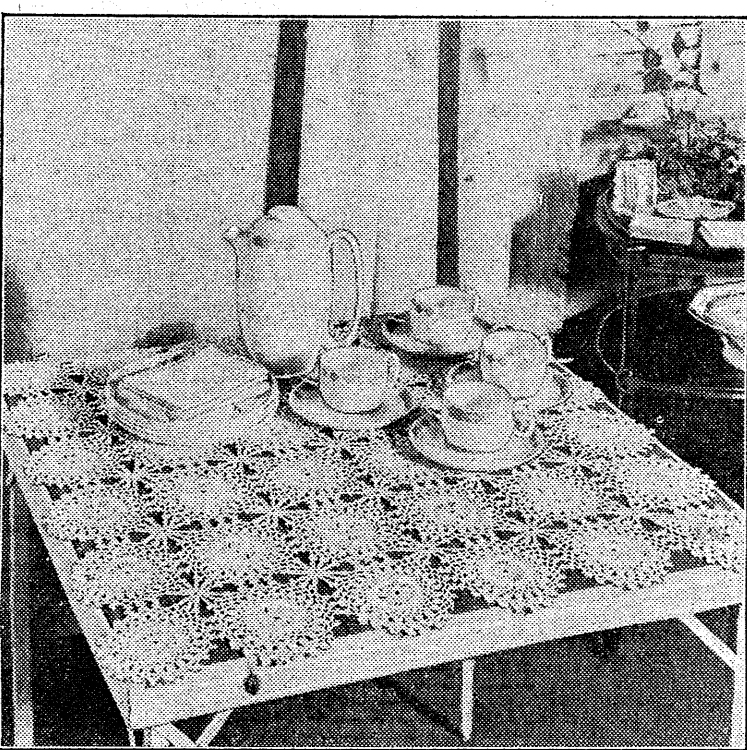

Long summer days and more time spent outdoors reduces somewhat the necessity for artificial lighting. Even though we can now enjoy getting meals in a daylighted kitchen and reading the evening paper on the terrace, there is need at any season for careful attention to lighting in the bedrooms. The dressing table particularly should be properly lighted. While this seems like a minor item, it is really doubly important for it provides not only a more cheerful looking bedroom but a guarantee that make-up will be properly applied, even after dark or on gray, gloomy days.

Many people too find it difficult to fall asleep early in excessively warm weather and prefer to read something light and distracting instead of lying awake in the oppressive darkness. A good investment for such a person is a pin-up lamp or a wall bracket, such as that shown at the left above, with an inner bowl to properly diffuse the light. This will be found much more comfortable to the eyes than the more direct beam type of light. A husk, bowl and shade set may be purchased which will transform even an old wall bracket into a modern bed reading lamp. If you have struggled un-happily with beautiful but useless boudoir lamps on your dressing table the chances are that they are too low. Discarding them in favor of tall ones will be a good investment. They should be at least eighteen or twenty inches high and, importantly, shaded in white or near-white. This is to help you see the true color effect of your make-up. A 60-watt bulb is recommended. If your dressing table mirror is hung on the wall, take care to place a pair of pin-up lamps beside it at the height where light is shed directly on your face and neck and not on your lap.

Has Summer Coolness

Coolly suggestive of frosted window panes is the name of this design for a bridge table cover — Jack Frost. Even though you may be doing a creditable share of war knitting you can find time to make the thirty-six medallions in this simple stitch which form the cloth. Crocheting is restful to those who enjoy it and the mercerized cotton cloth will tub well and often. Directions may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Belleville News Office.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

Dramatically and boldly a recent feature-article sketches the organized action of the women of Britain today in an analogy which parallels their role with that of a wise and competent wife. The government of that empire in a desperate situation realized that it had need of many things, things which it had no time to accomplish. It is admitted that when the women were appealed to for certain designated tasks it was never expected that the vast, tireless, ever-present army of them which is now serving in innumerable fields would appear. They are, literally, all things to all people. They feed huge numbers of soldiers in training and sustain morale by constant circulation among the far-flung encampments with whatever small comforts of life they can procure for these men. They house and scrub and feed the evacuated children so that a strong new race may grow in the midst of catastrophe. They farm, carry dispatches for military encampments, operate and service machines and participate in the most severe air raids where the highest tests of nursing qualities are to be passed. And at the same time they manage those most womanly tasks of stitching all available cloth into usable garments and producing a comforting cup of tea at every turn.

Our Problems Differ

True, these noble efforts have been cited many times; and usually with a view to training the minds of American women on their technique. In our estimation there is a much more noteworthy characteristic in the lessons which have come out of British endeavors. First, we vary in locale and necessity so that we do not need at the moment to pattern our actions on theirs.

Secondly, we have, because we are not engaged in actual conflict, a distinct opportunity to look over and above war itself and read for ourselves in the searching glare of its illumination, all the weaknesses of our present mode of life and the needs of the new life which we must carve out of the future.

Even while we have already undertaken drills in the mechanics of fighting air raids and while our efforts know no bounds in relief work, we still have an obligation to exercise the use of our perspective. This is automatically denied those who are buried in conflict and becomes a high privilege, thereby, for us who still possess a refuge from which to view both sides of the question. With these thoughts in mind we return to the good British "housewives." War, like any other major catastrophe and perhaps more than any other, quickly reduces life to first principles. Many illusions and most of the trappings of complicated living and false principles are shorn away and we think with exceptional clarity.

Here is a case, aptly stated, where the things needed most by the empire battling for the essentials of decent living turned out to be the most homely requisites — a need for economy in the distribution of food, an old-fashioned need for scrimping to get every tiny scrap of goods converted into clothing, a need to pacify and train infants and children of all ages, a need to stanch blood, put out fires and make tea. Added to this is the frightening knowledge that grain must be grown, chickens and pigs and cows raised if survival is to be accomplished.

What are any of these but the simple, homely tasks which women have been carrying on for centuries? Not everywhere, it is true. Not to any great extent in our present memory and within the bounds of the metropolitan lives most of us lead. But always, somewhere, these accomplishments, down to the most elemental of them, have been quietly carried on. Proof of their ultimate value is the fact that, almost by second nature, they can be set in operation by any group of women at any time.

Opportunities Attract Them

And yet how many women today in the cities and little towns of America become wearied and impatient as they search a host of girls and women to find one who can competently perform the duties of homemaking. Perhaps the reflection may well be cast upon the disdain for first principles and menial labor which has marked several recent generations. Few girls have wanted to become "domestics."

Opportunities in other fields, synthetic opportunities at that, have attracted them and a selfish, rather scripping desire on the part of many homeowners to get all possible bodily exertion out of one domestic has so distorted the picture that a wide breach has established itself between the employer and the employee.

At the same time education, which has proved by test that young people who are not fitted for the normal amount of classroom work can be turned into the highest type of artisans, provides no definite curriculum for training the girl in the art of homemaking. It is an art, it is a high calling and desultory classes in cooking and sewing are not adequate preparation. The house mother often has not contributed her share because she has not realized that the girl whom she patiently trains, treats with the deepest respect, does not overburden, is not only a satisfaction to her as a member of her household but a genuine contribution to society — the same society whose standards she is so anxious to raise for the sake of her own children.

Will it not bear cogitation — this idea, that the simple art of being an efficient womanly woman should be incorporated into our scheme of training young girls? Regardless of a young woman's personal traits or the lofty heights to which she may carry it, this training starts with the fundamentals of running a home. If they are sufficient to take a mighty part in winning wars are they not worthy of a more prominent place on the curriculum of studies in a great democracy?

IRONING Made Easy BY ELECTRICITY

WHAT'S EASY to iron? Flat things.

WHAT'S HARD to iron? Children's dresses, shirt-waist frocks and men's shirts.

The Gladiron (Thor electric ironer) will do all your ironing for you, while you just sit and guide the work.

Flat pieces are done quickly and easily. No practice required for them. Then with a little practice, you'll handle the other things just as skilfully. Frills and tucks are easy to manage and you can get pleats back into their proper place.

An adjustable thermostat keeps the Gladiron at the right temperature for the material. This ironer may be operated on the kitchen table or a card table. Moderately priced.

PITTS SHUT OUT BY NETCONG 5-0

Bunt By Bill Lynch Is Only Hit For Local Tossers

The Pittsburgh Minors were the near victims of a no-hit no-run on Sunday afternoon when they tackled the strong Netcong B.C. and were blanked 5-0. The lone hit for the locals came in the seventh when Bill Lynch beat out a dribbling bunt for a cheap bingle that is not being talked about.

The game took a queer twist to it for it was actually a Minor player who won the game for the Netcong boys. Sallo, the home team's first baseman, was injured early in the game and was unable to continue. Ray Johnson, who was warming the bench for the Pitts, for the locals came in the seventh when Bill Lynch beat out a dribbling bunt for a cheap bingle that is not being talked about.

In the seventh, when the home club scored all of its runs, Johnson drove in Arbolino with the first run, which was a sufficient victory margin.

Holzworth on the hill for the winners struck out fourteen Minor swatters in addition to holding the visitors to a lone hit. He walked one man.

The Minors big chance to score came in the seventh when Ed Gutman was safe on an error, stole second and advanced to third on Lynch's bunt. With two on and none out, Holzworth bore down and fanned Frank Lynch, Sallo, Belisano and Elmer Doremus in nine pitched balls.

R. Cordasco, Fusaro and C. Calicchio each had two hits in the triumph over the Valley Browns.

Defense Bond Quiz

A. You can cash your Bond at any time, after 60 days, for the full amount paid, plus any interest due you.

Q. Do many Bond owners cash their Bonds?
A. No. People want to help arm America against all attacks. In many cases, people are putting every cent they can spare into Defense Bonds and Stamps. Some are doing this by asking employers or banks to withhold part of their salaries in order to buy these Bonds or Stamps for them.

Note. — To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Kids Think Jergens' Aerifier Is New Town Pool

Plant Has Troubles With Youngsters Who Plunge Into Pond That Is for Purifying Water; Dangers Of It Are Pointed Out; Cops on Guard

These warm days many a youngster — and dog, too — looks longingly at a brook, stream or pond that he can't wade or swim in because of pollution. Annually, like Fourth of July, Health Officer Eugene Berry dusts off an old, worn report and tells the folks that swimming any place in town is taboo.

It doesn't take kids long to find something new out — and last week they learned that in addition to being a fine addition to the municipal scenery, a ratable riser and a source of employment for many, the new Andrew Jergens Co. plant builders hadn't forgotten them. They had built a swimming pool for the youngsters.

Well, at least that's the way the kids looked at the new aerification pool just north of the main building. There, as they peered through the fence was a big pool of clean, inviting water. It had overhead "showers," too.

So over the five-foot barbed wire fence they went and in a moment or two were splashing about in the water in great glee.

hurry-up call for the police but by the time they got there, the youngsters had been shooed away and left only the dog who took a nose dive and got his head stuck in between the pipes and drowned.

It was not the first time the youngsters decided to take a dip in the pool. Watchmen at the plant at night have had to keep an eagle eye open for moonlight bathers who go for a dip in the pool. Police have been asked to keep a more watchful eye on the place, Jergens officials pointing out the danger of some youngster being injured there — and, after all, the pool was constructed to purify the water.

EXCERPTS OF COMMENTS

Condition of Finances and Debt Data
The Current, or general operating group of accounts, at December 31, 1940, showed an excess of cash over cash requirements in amount $191,770.25, after provision in full for school funds in amount $200,000.00, payable in installments to June 30, 1941. See Exhibit "A-7." The sum of $195,000.00 was appropriated from this source as revenue in the budget for 1941. A cash surplus resulted from 1940 operations in the sum of $187,888.06, despite non-receipt of Franchise and Gross Receipts Tax revenue anticipations in the sum of $110,625.84.

Collection of current taxes equaled $4,957.62 of the amount levied, compared with $6,697.62 in 1939. Delinquent taxes collected in 1940, equaled $1,535.62 of the total outstanding at the beginning of the year, compared with $2,787.57 in 1939. Redemptions of tax title liens, which are not anticipated as revenue in the budget, yielded $2,243.09 in 1940, compared with $2,722.00 in 1939. Comparative ratios of the balances on January 1 of each year were 6.89% and 6.347%.

The total indebtedness of the Town, outstanding at December 31, 1940, was $3,964,337.00. The Net Debt was $3,130,821.46, or 11.34% of the average assessed valuation of real estate for three years. The Water Debt was fully deductible by reason of a surplus from operations. Gross Debt, including School Debt, was $4,892,163.34, or 16.52% of the total assessed valuation for 1940.

RECOMMENDATIONS
(A) Repeated from previous audit:
That care be exercised to avoid error in charges for water consumed.
That the minutes of every meeting be signed by each board member present at the meeting.
That the surety bond covering Recreation Supervisor Lister be rewritten to cover cash receipts as well as Petty Cash Fund.
That the practice of issuing duplicate receipts for cash and other items received by or for the Recorder be adopted.
That all saleable liens be included in each tax sale.
That lists of delinquents per R. S. 34-3-2 and '33 be filed by the Collector as required.
That interest on delinquent taxes be collected on every delinquent payment.
That the item in the Current Account termed "Building and Other Permits to be refunded," in amount $5.00 be cleared by appropriate action.
That petty cash funds be turned in on December 31 of each year and reestablished in the new year.
(B) 1940 Recommendations:
That missing tax sale certificates be replaced or the covered properties resold.
That evidence of ownership, not presented for examination on two parcels of foreclosed property, be located.
That minor errors in vouching payments and listing of vouchers in the minutes be located.
That the stated intention to transfer foreclosed property records to the machine ledger system be accomplished before the close of the year 1941.
That extreme care be exercised to avoid errors in machine postings, particularly on entries of Journal type.
That further review of prior year personal property taxes be made on action evident in 1940 continued until final elimination of these delinquencies is

Town-owned Land Sale Pays Dividends

Sale of vacant town-owned land has been one of the big problems for many municipalities. Unlike properties on which there are buildings such as houses or storage structures, it can not be rented or leased so that it will produce some revenue even if it is not possible to sell it.

Every plot of land which the town sells to a private owner should be welcome news to every taxpayer. It means that that property has gone back into the ratables and is revenue-producing. It is no longer a millstone around the neck of the rest of the folks who must pay that portion of the total cost of operating the community that that property should bear. Invariably, when vacant land is sold some structure—either a home or a business building is erected and this further increases property values in the neighborhood as well as in the town total.

Good news to local property owners this week came from the town real estate department which showed that during the first six months of this year property which the municipality has been holding was sold for $91,830. This represents nearly twice the amount which the town received during all of last year.

Most of the sales were to purchasers who already have or will erect homes on the property. Biggest single sale was for forty-three lots in the White Oaks section for which the town was paid $22,000 and which will result in the erection of one-family homes which will bring approximately $4,000 each in ratables within the next year.

So long as Belleville continues to grow in industry and in business, it will attract people who want homes and who are willing to buy them. Every realtor has noted that the demand for homes has been on the rise in recent months, and builders conscious of the demand have responded by purchasing suitable town-owned property. Town-owned land is one of a municipality's dreaded liabilities and when taxpayers see that another plot has been sold they can count that as another asset on their side of the ledger.

Congressmen Playing General

When the Congressional politicians start to tell the Army how to run things, the outlook for the future independence of the nation takes on a gloomy hue and we wonder if it would not be advisable to sit down at a peace parley with Adolf and save ourselves a lot of embarrassment and expense. Congress for the most part seems to have enough difficulty unsnarling its own troubles without telling the Army generals how to handle the soldiers.

Congressmen usually don't seem to get good harmony out of their tunes. A few days back some of them were raising the top off the Capitol dome with denunciations about swivel chair Army bosses, and in the next breath from the same halls other gentlemen were giving General Ben Lear a harsh tongue-lashing because he meted out discipline to several hundred men under his command by forcing them to walk fifteen miles for having yoo-hooed at several shorts-wearing pretty young things on a golf course.

After reading what some of the Congressmen said about the General, many folks must have thought that he is an old so-and-so who should be shoved into a concentration camp on a bread and water diet. However, we've held our opinion on the general and this week talked with some of the young soldiers who are under his command and are now home in these parts on furlough. They opined that General Lear was a fine soldier, one who is well liked and respected by the men under his command. Furthermore, they added that the vast majority of soldiers think that Congressmen should zipper up and tend to more important things.

Shuffling one-year trainees in amongst regulars is a difficult job. Fresh from jobs behind desks and homes and life where they did as they pleased, many selectees dislike the discipline and toughness of Army life. They even resent that they should be placed under the same stringent regulations that apply to the rest of the forces.

This is the problem that faces every commanding officer and he cannot afford to let any of his men get out of hand or he is lost. Congress would do better to give attention to those Army officers who are pulling the "bloomers" and let alone those such as General Lear whose troops have proven themselves capable and outstanding in maneuvers.

Nereids Gain National Prominence

Worthy of public recognition is the feat of the Nereid Boat Club. One of the town's outstanding organizations not alone for the athletic feats which its members have performed but for its historic significance and the representation of high type citizens, it is seeking new laurels this week.

Tomorrow and Saturday four of the Nereid members will seek national honors far from the home waters, on the Mississippi River at Minneapolis. While victory is important to them and to the club members, even without it Belleville should be proud that they have an organization of such standing that its men can compete nationally and help to spread further the name of Belleville.

They will carry not only the hopes of fellow Nereids but of many other residents who recognize the honor which has been bestowed upon the rowing organization. They are to be congratuated and we wish them well.

Let Us In On The Story

Most interesting and important story to come out of Washington this week was one about which most of the public knows nothing except that it has stirred a tremendous fuss not only on Capitol Hill but throughout the country. General George C. Marshall, head of the Army, apparently jarred the members of the Senate Military Affairs Committee with what he told them in an "off-the-record" session behind closed doors last week.

Since that meeting out of Washington has poured daily stories about extending the one-year service of trainees in the Army. That General Marshall's report of the state of affairs must have sunk deeply into Administration minds is clear, for the President's forces would not attempt to pass legislation to keep the selectees if they did not believe that it was imperative, based on the general's opinion. Among the general public, and principally among many of those families who have members in the service, there is bound to be strong opposition.

That the President and his supporters have abandoned thoughts of legislation which would enable them to send selectees out of the Western Hemisphere if the situation developed, is clear. Having conceded that point, they are now bent on forcing Congressional action on the time extension measure, and one of the bitterest fights in recent years is likely to ensue during the coming weeks in the Capitol.

What was it that General Marshall revealed that made Congressional leaders so readily heel to his recommendation? Are we nearer to trouble than the public has been permitted to believe? If so, why not tell the parents and relatives of these men and the rest of the nation what is so serious that a virtual promise made last fall through Congressional action must now be broken?

In certain Congressional quarters, the defense has been raised that no unconditional pledge was made that the men would be kept for only one year. It has been pointed out that according to the provisions of the Selective Service Act, when inductees have served their twelve months they are placed in an organized reserve corps and are subject to call at any time. Thus, say those who believe that the Administration is not breaking faith, there never was any iron-clad understanding.

That there may be legal paragraphs in the law around which Congress may sneak is not questioned, but to average folks the understanding of the law was that after one year of service the men would be permitted to return to private life.

General Marshall has pointed out that withdrawal of the men at this time would mean the breaking down of the organization which it has taken nearly a year to build. It would deplete some of the outposts of a large percentage of the men who are now defending them. True as all this may be, the Army's brain could have taken this into consideration a year ago when draft legislation was being considered and told Congress that a year would not be a sufficient length of time for service.

If there has been a decided change in the present emergency which warrants the continued service of these men, the public has a right to know the details — and it would not be telling Hitler any secrets, which lately has become the Washington excuse for keeping the doings of our Army and Navy under a few privileged Washington hats.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

The political ice-jam in Essex appears to be breaking up. Within the next two or three weeks the various Republican factions will be operating in the open. Democrats are still waiting for Governor Edison to indicate his attitude. If he doesn't join in the selection of a ticket, James J. McMahon's slate will win by default, as will McMahon himself. Most Democratic leaders expect that Edison will do nothing. Many of them are disappointed. Edison, himself, probably will follow the maxim of when in doubt keep quiet. Taking over the Democratic party in Essex is a big order. It is possible that he simply hasn't the time and energy to do the job. He may plan to do it next year.

Election of Homer C. Zink of Belleville to the state comptroller'ship brings the showdown between Dr. Lester H. Clee and Arthur T. Vanderbilt that much closer. The selection is generally approved. Zink's friends and foes alike concede that he will make an excellent financial officer. Vanderbilt scored heavily by the appointment. Despite his excellent record as assemblyman and senator, Zink was something of a hot potato politically due to his action in voting to confirm Frank Hague, Jr. as judge of the highest court in the state.

Clee can have no such objection to Zink as he had to W. Stanley Naughtright. Thus, Vanderbilt accomplished the ouster of Frank J. Murray as comptroller, got credit for a good man being named in his place. Likewise, he got rid of having to make a troublesome decision about backing Zink for re-election and left his relations with Clee no worse than they were before. Naughtright still has no job, but that is more his worry than Vanderbilt's.

But the showdown between Clee and Vanderbilt is inevitable. It may come this year when the new ABC commissioner is elected. It may be postponed until next year. But come it will. The selection of a committee of two, Alexander Smith and Robert Hendrickson, to recommend an ABC commissioner is a clever move on the surface, and suggests Vanderbilt's political technique. But the proof of this political pudding will be in the eating.

If the much advertised committee decides that John F. Evans of Paterson is the man, the public is very likely to consider it nothing but a delayed pass in the old game. What is more, Dr. Clee is likely to view the matter in the same light. If he does a statement denouncing Vanderbilt and stating that he is no longer a member of Clean Government in Essex would be in order. Clee promises such a statement in the event the other deal involving Naughtright went through.

I have heard some shrewd observers in Essex suggest that Vanderbilt may have another rabbit in his hat besides Zink, which will be brought forward at the proper time. This is none other than Supervisor Ernest C. Reed for the ABC post. They point out that Reed has one of the best civic records in the state, that he is thoroughly experienced and knows enough about politics to prevent the liquor boys from putting anything over on him.

From a civic standpoint, Reed's election would draw as much praise as that of Zink. Likewise, it would keep the post in Essex and give Vanderbilt the reputation of accomplishing the very difficult job of getting politicians to serve the ends of good government. Clee, also could have no objection to Reed. He knows his honor and ability too well.

out as many men as possible so that the town may be better covered. Our problem is to try to get more men on the streets."

The shifting of the men is in charge of Deputy Chief Leighton and went into effect this week.

Better Coverage Aim

Better coverage of both the business and residential areas at night is one of the aims of the plan. Three men will walk beats in Washington avenue from the Nutley to Newark lines. West of Washington avenue a patrolman will cover the area to Union avenue while another officer will be detailed to the section west of Union avenue.

Under the system which has been in existence, two men have walked night beats in Washington avenue, but one has been required to remain close to police headquarters to be on hand for reserve duty or to answer ambulance calls. The four patrol cruisers will continue to cover the town with three of them assigned to residential areas. Shifting two men now assigned to inside work at headquarters to outside day posts is also contemplated. This would permit two more day men to be shifted to the night side.

It does not mean that those men currently doing night duty will be permanently assigned to those hours. The police department operates under three-shift squad system which permits the complete rotation of all men so that every one works on the various shifts.

Use The Progressive Merchants' Guide To More Sales Volume-- The Belleville News

THE PROBLEM of getting sufficient customer traffic into a store is recognized by every merchant. With few exceptions, the life and success of a business is in direct proportion to the number of possible buyers who daily pass through the doors. Similarly, every established merchant realizes that the customer who enters his place of business is in search of certain quality at a certain price. The successful business man stocks the items in the quantities and qualities desired by his customers.

But after a merchant stocks the right merchandise and recognizes the need for customer traffic, what shall he do then?

He can follow the lead of successful merchants still further! He can advertise! He can tell the families living in Belleville about his business and his merchandise. He can make them special attractive offers to increase his store traffic.

How can he reach those necessary families for the least amount of money and with the greatest amount of certainty?

He can advertise in THE BELLEVILLE NEWS, the newspaper that is read and accepted by 8200 Belleville families weekly!

"Week In and Week Out" Advertising in The Belleville News Brings Consistent Results!

Case histories of ads run by consistent advertisers show an even greater degree of success than those run by occasional advertisers. Regular Belleville News advertisers build up an acceptance in the minds of readers. Their ads have an identifying continuity that potential customers look for. "Life" is the lesson-sermon subject for Sunday in all Christian Science Churches and Societies. The golden text is: "The Lord will command his lovingkindness in the daytime, and in the night his song shall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life."

Among the lesson-sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life."

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Life is the origin and ultimate of man, never attainable through death, but gained by walking in the pathway of Truth both before and after that which is called death."
