

$300 Salary Increase For Police, Firemen On November Ballot

Public officials are awaiting today the reaction not only of the public but of other municipal employees to the request of the members of the police and fire departments for $300 yearly increases which if approved would go into effect next January.

The Town Commission is expected to approve on introduction at its next meeting an ordinance which if adopted would place the question of raises for the cops and firemen on the ballot for the public to decide at the November general election.

Public Safety Director Clark broke the ice on the subject of pay increases for the men in his department at Tuesday night's Commission conference. Although there had been rumors in Town Hall circles for the past ten days or two weeks that the police and fire employees might broach the subject of a pay rise to the board, the request was not expected to come so quickly.

Clark told his board colleagues that a joint committee representing the two departments had met with him last week and requested the increase, giving the increased cost of living as their main reason. Several municipalities in this vicinity are planning to give increases, the commissioner said the representatives told him.

"The men made a specific request to have it put on the ballot at the November election," the commissioner stated. Clark declared that he had no particular objection to giving them the pay increase.

There are sixty-two men in the two departments, thirty-eight policemen and twenty-four firemen. The $300 pay jump would apply to the men in all ranks and salary brackets regardless of their length of service.

The Public Safety head commented that the men had a choice of having the board place it on the ballot or get it there by a petition signed by twenty percent of those who voted at the last general election.

Is True For Others
"What is true of the economic position of the police and firemen," Mayor Williams said, "is true for every other municipal employee. Some employees are reasonably well compensated. Others in view of their training and conscientiousness to their jobs are deserving of more money. The police and firemen do have assurance of a pension and have tenure of office, while the others can be dropped at any time. The police and firemen," he added, "receive benefits over and beyond those of the average municipal and industrial employee."

"The board ought to consider," Williams continued, "others who have similar responsibility but do not have the guarantee of pensions or jobs. The police and firemen are paying an extremely modest sum for their pension in comparison to the benefits which they receive."

While the actual increase in the budget if the pay rise should be granted would be $18,600 in the police and fire salary appropriation, it would require $21,300 in the budget, Williams said. He explained that under the law the town is required to place a fifteen per cent overlay in the budget by virtue of the cash basis act under which Belleville operates.

"I would like to see it go on the ballot," Commissioner Vaters commented.

"I concur in that," Williams said. "I must say," Commissioner Clark interposed, "that the men were courteous in their presentation and that they themselves wanted the question to go before the people."

The question of the phraseology of the referendum which will appear on the ballot if the board approves the ordinance calling for it was referred to Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan. All members of the board urged that the wording of the referendum should be as brief and specific as possible.

Comparative Figures
Clark also read a comparative report showing minimum and maximum salaries paid to police and firemen in a number of North Jersey municipalities which had been submitted to him by the joint committee. The present minimum for patrolmen and firemen here is $1,800 and the maximum is $2,500. Should the pay jump go into effect, the minimum would be $2,100 and the maximum $2,800. Below is the comparative list of minimum salaries for patrolmen and firemen:

	Minimum	Max.
East Orange	$1,950	$2,500
Paterson	2,300	2,500
Nutley	1,800	2,500
Summit	1,900	2,400
Elizabeth	2,150	2,375
Hillside	2,100	2,375
Irvington	2,300	2,500
Clifton	2,000	2,500
Blonfield	2,100	2,500
Montclair	1,600	2,700

MERCHANTS WILL DISCUSS METERS

Group Asks for Permission To Confer With Board On Question

Interested in the town's parking problems, the Belleville Merchants' Association this week asked the Board of Commissioners for permission to attend the meeting on Tuesday evening, September 9 and confer with the board on the question of parking meters.

Public Safety Director Clark, under whose jurisdiction the parking problem comes, said that the merchants would be welcome to attend but explained that the board would have a long meeting that night because of the hearing which will be held in the Kraus liquor violation case.

Bernard Yudin, secretary-treasurer of the merchants' group, said last night that this would not make any difference and urged that not only all merchants but the general public make an effort to attend the meeting.

The association, Yudin said, has not taken any stand either for or against the meters.

To Express Views
"We want to talk with the board so that everybody can express his views on the situation," Yudin stated.

For several months the police officials have been considering the installation of parking meters as a solution to the parking situation along Washington avenue. On display now at police headquarters is a meter which provides a one-hour parking and one-cent fee for twelve minutes.

Commissioner Clark said that he had come to no decision on the question and that he was considering offers from a number of meter companies. Under the general plan offered by these concerns, which varies slightly in different cases, the town is not required to lay out any cash for the purchase price or installation of the meters. They are paid out of the receipts with the company taking seventy-five percent and the municipality twenty-five percent.

Local Fishermen Haul In Plenty of Tuna

A group of local fishermen joined the hundreds who are finding the waters off the Jersey shore abounding with tuna this month. On Sunday the Klein brothers, Ed, Mike and Bob of this town and John of Kearny, and John Blumenshine of Nutley, returned loaded down with tuna.

Biggest of those caught was a sixty-five-pounder hauled in by Ed after a thirty-minute battle.

Military Group Muffles Liberal Class In Japan

Professor Joseph J. Michle Tells Rotarians That Liberals Must Wait Their Day; Says All Is Not Well Among The Militaristic Leaders

That the liberals are staging a losing fight in Japan against the military clique which envisions itself as fighting for the divine right of kings, is one of the principal conclusions of Professor Joseph J. Michle, recently returned missionary from Japan.

In his talk before members of Rotary at their luncheon meeting yesterday, the professor who has been a member of the Methodist board in Japan for the past twenty years cited the "feudal tradition in Japan and the weakness in its constitution" as decided advantages for the military faction.

These, coupled with the fact that as long as the militarists continue to acquire new territory and achieve a few victories, the people as a whole will be behind them.

However, all is not well within the military sanctum. The professor gave as an instance, the divergence of ideas between the army and the navy. The first is decidedly imperialistic, he said, while the latter tends toward liberalism.

In addition to this basic lack of cohesion, the military powers have as a goal the establishment of a new order in the Orient, which they recognize as being completely blocked by the United States and England. Although they realize, the speaker said, that their chances of winning a war against the Allies are approximately one in ten, they have gone too far down the road of the Axis to turn back now. All of which brought the professor to voice acute pessimism concerning future peace in the Pacific.

As an experiment which has been tried with little success, the professor told of the attempted colonization of Manchuria. A concrete example of how even the Japanese cannot compete with the Manchurian standard of living is the fact that beer, for instance, is sold in Manchuria by the storekeeper at cost. However, he sells the box that the beer arrives in too, and is satisfied with whatever profit, and of course, the most pertinent problem the military would encounter, should they be tempted to give up the campaign would be the double

DEALERS URGE U. S. RATIONING OF GASOLINE

Object to Being 'Gas' Policemen; Customers Blame Them

With the ten percent federal slice in dealer allotments midway in its second week yesterday, Belleville gasoline merchants pleaded for a public rationing system to "take us off the spot."

The motor manufacturers claimed the present system forces them to decide who may buy fuel and how much, and declared customers were being alienated and business lost by this "pump owner" policy.

"Many customers can't understand why we won't give them all they want, and they think we're trying to put something over on them," one leading dealer told The News.

He called this idea "both absurd and pitiful," pointing out that dealers make money by selling gas, not by refusing sales. The only reason for station rationing is to conserve supplies so motorists can drive at the end of each month as well as at its beginning, he stated.

Others agreed with him, holding that efforts to stretch reserves through the month were a "public service," since profit remains the same whether allotments are sold in thirty days or only twenty.

Needs Government Sponsorship
All agreed that only a government sponsored system of rationing the public would solve the problem and insure fair treatment for everyone.

"The government has the power and facilities to check each car owner's needs and to ration his gas accordingly. We don't." That was the way spokesmen in a cross section canvass of local stations put it.

The ten percent "slice" went into effect August 15. July sales are taken as a base, and future allotments are computed from it. Dealers are allowed forty-five percent for August 15-31, and it is expected ninety percent in September. The dealers seemed uncertain of just what September will actually bring, however, and advised that all motorists contact their favorite filling stations for their favorite filing stations for developments. To date no uniform method of handling the situation has been adopted.

Policy Differs
Some stations report they have been selling indiscriminately to any driver who appeared at their pumps, while others said only "regular" customers have been or will be served.

How regularity of the favored buyers in these cases is determined seemed equally vague. Most dealers said that they "remembered" the regulars, and only one thought he might issue windshield stickers for identification.

That plenty of gas will be available over the weekend seemed probable, however, since seventy-five percent of the queried dealers indicated there was no danger of dry tanks.

The remaining reported prescient supplies will be exhausted by (Continued on Page Four)

LIQUOR DEALER FACES CHARGE

ABC Men Allege Kraus Store Sold Liquor To Minors; Hearing Sept. 9

Acting on the first local instruction issued by recently appointed State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commissioner Alfred E. Driscoll, the Board of Commissioners this week set Tuesday evening, September 9 as the date for the hearing against Max Kraus, Union avenue retail liquor dealer, on the ABC-preferred charge that minors had been sold liquor at his store.

Kraus is the operator of the Kraus Liquor Shop at 562 Union avenue. The allegations made by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission have been based on an investigation made by two investigators, Frank Carlin and Frederick J. Best.

Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan, who will prosecute the case, is studying the evidence submitted to the town by the ABC board. Named as material witnesses in the case by the ABC were Frank Kriz of 132 Overlook avenue, John Petro of 298 Greylock parkway and Edwin P. Donaldson of 500 Union avenue.

In its report, the ABC stated that it had received a complaint alleging that Kraus was selling liquor to minors at his package store. Best and Carlin reported that they made their investigation early on the evening of August 4. They stated in the report which was filed with the Board of Commissioners this week, that as they approached the Kraus store they saw two young men "who appeared to be minors" leave the premises carrying a package "which appeared to be a bottle."

Says He Got It There
They stated that they asked Kriz, seventeen, what he had and that the youth admitted that it was a bottle of rye which he had purchased at the Kraus store. He was accompanied by Petro, who is eighteen, the agents' report said.

Kriz, they said, identified Edward Kraus, twenty-two year old son of the proprietor as the person who had sold him the bottle of liquor. Young Kraus, the agents stated, admitted that he had sold the liquor to the seventeen-year old youth claiming that he "appeared to be over twenty-one." Under questioning, the investigators' report said, Kraus admitted that he had made no inquiry of Kriz's age.

The youth told the investigators, it was reported, that he had been sent to buy the liquor by Donaldson, who is thirty-three.

Services Tomorrow at 2
For Mrs. Florence Delaney

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 for Mrs. Florence Crocker Smith Delaney, wife of Raphael Delaney, of 194 Hornblower avenue who died yesterday after an eight-month illness. Mrs. Delaney, who was twenty-three, was the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of this town who survive.

In addition she leaves a son, Martin and a daughter, Marlene, a sister, Miss Helen Crocker and a half-sister, Miss Frances Dailey, both of this town.

Services will be held at the William Irvine Funeral Home at 276 Washington avenue followed by interment in Glendale Cemetery.

Two Plants Get Approval
For Special Policemen

Permission for three employees of local plants to act as special policemen on company property was granted by the Town Commission. William V. Deindorfer and William C. Anderson will act in that capacity at the Isolantite plant while Norman Lauterette was given police powers at the National Grain Eyst Corp. plant where he is employed.

YOUTH STRICKEN WITH INFANTILE PARALYSIS

15-Year Old Boy In Soho; Berry Urges Parents To Be Cautious

Belleville's first infantile paralysis case was reported this week on the heels of the epidemic which has broken out among adults in Bergen County. Although concerned about the case, Health Officer Eugene Berry said that there should be no cause for alarm among parents but that they should be cautious.

A fifteen-year old high school youth whose name Berry preferred not to release is in Isolantite Hospital where he was taken early this week. Berry stated that it was "an average case" and the boy had developed paralysis in one leg.

The youth first developed symptoms of the disease on Thursday, the health officer said, but it was not until Saturday night that he was stricken. Berry stated that his investigation had showed that the boy had not been on a vacation and that he had not been swimming. The health officer made a thorough investigation to see if there had been any possible contact between the boy and some person in Bergen County where the disease has broken out in a number of places in the past week or ten days.

"Parents should not become unnecessarily alarmed or panicky," Berry stated. "The best advice I can give them is to keep their children from gatherings and travelling."

A sore throat, upset stomach and pains are the first symptoms of the disease and if a child shows any of these, the health officer said that the family physician should be called immediately.

Crowds and travelling for youngsters should be avoided until cooler weather, Berry stated, explaining that infantile paralysis is a hot weather disease and that the possible dangers of its spread will be greatly reduced with the arrival of cooler days.

The youth who is in the Isolantite Hospital is a member of the Sea Scouts and attended a meeting of that group on Thursday night. Berry learned the names of those who attended that session and has placed all of them under quarantine for the two weeks' observation.

One case of infantile paralysis was reported here last year.

NEREIDS READY FOR BIG MEET

Oarsmen To Compete Sunday In Middle States Regatta At Camden

The Nereid Boat Club oarsmen are looking forward with optimism to Sunday's Middle States Rowing Association regatta to be held on the Cooper river at Camden. Following their seven-ear sweep in the meet with the North Shrewsbury Rowing Association on the Passaic Sunday, which added another string of victories to the club's most successful season, the blue and orange oarsmen are confident that they can bring home some laurels in Sunday's events.

The locals will have five entries led by an intermediate eight-oared boat with Barney Swain, Bill Fehon, Andy McMaster, Les Burnley, Bill Trier, Carl Hagert, Frank Ziegler and Darrell Zink. Hugh Kittle will be the coxswain. Al Walker and Darrell Zink will row in the senior doubles while Homer Zink will try for honors in the senior singles and Gunther Meder in the junior singles. In the junior four-man gig Howard Wilson, Frank Siegler, Warren Eversen and Gerard Rhoades will row with Kittle as coxswain.

Darrell Zink and young Siegler will have a busy afternoon for they will row in two events. The Nereids will take four boats with them to Camden while the fifth for the eight-oared event will be borrowed from one of the Philadelphia clubs.

The Camden Boat Club, a year-old organization, will be the hosts for Sunday's regatta in which entries from a dozen rowing clubs from New York, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., and Virginia are expected to compete. The course over which the races will be run is ideal and runs through park which has a grandstand and benches for spectators.

In defeating the North Shrewsbury oarsmen, the Nereids won from a club which is only a year old, having been organized after the nationals event was held on the Shrewsbury river.

Belleville Is First Town To Buy Defense Bonds

Williams Reviews Creation of Surplus Which Made Purchase of $50,000 Bonds Possible; Helped By Minimizing Gross Receipts Tax Returns

The Belleville Town Commission became patriotic as well as investment-minded Tuesday night when it voted to concur in Mayor Williams' recommendation that the town purchase $50,000 of Series F United States Defense Bonds.

The Mayor said that from what he had been able to learn from the Federal Reserve and from other sources Belleville is the first municipality in New Jersey to purchase the bonds.

Under the Series F provision, a corporation, partnership, association or two co-owners may purchase up to $50,000 worth of bonds in one year. It is possible, Williams explained, for the town after holding the bonds for six months to dispose of them if necessary and receive a proportionate rate of the 2.5% interest rate. If the bonds are held until their maturity date twelve years hence, the Mayor said, the return value will be approximately $67,000, which would represent a $17,000 profit on the investment for the town.

The Mayor emphasized that he believed it is a much better way of investing surplus cash than leaving it in the bank where it will bring only 1% interest or in investments which produce little more than that. Williams told the board that he would again recommend in January that the town purchase another $50,000 worth of the bonds.

Commissioner Clark commented that it was "a splendid suggestion" and Commissioner King added that it was "a fine gesture."

Reviewing the town's financial position for the first six months of the year, Williams in a report sent to each member of the board yesterday stated that the town had $783,870.14 on hand June 30 after all 1941 state and county taxes had been paid.

The policy which the local board has followed in handling the gross receipts and franchise taxes, Williams said, has proven its value.

SECOND AUCTION BOOSTS PRICE

Barrett Bros. Pay $9,200 For Town Land Offered At $6,643 Minimum

This has been one of the most successful weeks for town real estate during this year, the Town Hall clerk registered for a total of $11,500 in property sales. Topping the list was the spirited bidding for property in Charles, Center and Arthur streets which finally went to William J. and P. J. Barrett, local builders, for $9,200. All sales were confirmed by the town board on Tuesday night.

In the role of auctioneer, Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan presided at the public property sale on Monday afternoon at Town Hall. The bidding for the property which went to the Barrett brothers completely overshadowed the other sales.

Two weeks ago the town board turned down the recommendation of Mayor Williams that the Charles, Center and Arthur street properties, consisting of approximately twenty lots, be sold for $6,500. The board held then that $6,500 per front foot or $6,643 was the minimum and instructed Town Attorney Keenan to make arrangements for another sale.

The property involved is 49-75 and 32-68 Charles street, 15-27 and 37-39 Center street and 6-12 Arthur street. Two weeks ago Daniel McMillan of East Orange, representing Sally Walsh of Newark offered $6,500 for the land. Frank Palmieri of Bloomfield bid $850 for 6-12 Arthur street.

Discrepancy between the per frontage figures offered by McMillan and Palmieri prompted the board to place the property up for sale again. McMillan's per front foot offer was $6.43 compared with Palmieri's $7.59. McMillan claimed that Palmieri had picked the best lots in the tract while that which he had offered to buy would require much filling in before it could be used for building purposes. Town Engineer Matthew J. Sheehan's estimate that it would cost more than $100 per lot for fill, Williams said had prompted him to recommend to the board that the property be sold for $6,500.

Bid on Three Sections
Bidders were given the opportunity on Monday of bidding on three sections of property, one including the Arthur street property, another excluding it and the third on Arthur street alone.

In addition to Barrett brothers, the bidders were Palmieri, McMillan, David Wilensky of the Own-Home Corporation of Passaic and R. W. Brown of the Murrel Holding Co. of this town.

It was Brown's entry into the field of prospective buyers that played an important part in boosting the final sale price to $9,200.

The trek back to class-rooms and desks for more than 5,000 public school youngsters starts on Wednesday morning when the local schools will re-open their doors after a ten-week summer recess. More than 200 teachers will be on hand to welcome the boys and girls back to their studies.

Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer reported yesterday that everything was in readiness for Wednesday's pupil invasion, while School Board Business Manager Ruel E. Daniels said that both teachers and students would find the schools in excellent condition because of the work done during the summer by the maintenance staff and by contract.

For the teachers school will start a day earlier for they are due to report on Tuesday morning with a general teachers' meeting scheduled for School No. 8 at 11 in the morning. Preceding this meeting, the various principals will confer with Superintendent Parmer in his office at 10. Following these two sessions the principals, teachers, clerks and members of the Board of Education will get together for a luncheon meeting to be held in the high school cafeteria at noon. Principals will meet with their faculties at 1:30.

Grade school pupils, from kindergarten through the eighth grade, should report on Wednesday from 8:40 to 8:55 a.m. They will be dismissed for luncheon at 11:45 and will need to be back in their classrooms for the afternoon session at 12:55. The afternoon session will end at 3:15.

The high school session will start at 8:30 a.m. and will end at 2:50 p.m.

Must Be Five Years Old
Any child who is five years old or shall be five years old on or before December 31 may be admitted to kindergarten. Any child who is six years old or older on or before December 31 may be admitted to the first grade.

"We urge," Superintendent Parmer stated, "that parents who have children of kindergarten age see that these children be given the very important advantages of kindergarten. Kindergarten training is fundamental to the work our children do in the first grade in the Belleville schools."

All children should be admitted and registered on Wednesday beginning at 8:40. The school law states that "children who shall have never attended any public or private school may be admitted to a public school during the ten days immediately following the opening of said school and at no other time except by a majority vote of all members of the Board of Education of the School District in which said school shall be situated."

"We very definitely advise parents," Parmer explained, "to enter their children on the very first day that they may suffer no inconvenience or disadvantage in respect to their progress because of loss of time."

Buses transporting Silver Lake students to the high school will leave that section at 8:15, and the one from Soho at the same time. Pupils using these buses are requested to be at starting points promptly.

High School Cafeteria
All high school students may eat in the high school cafeteria. If they prefer, they may bring their lunches from home and eat there. On stormy days, any student has the privilege of changing his or her plan in the matter of bringing lunch from home or buying it in the cafeteria.

"Parents are sincerely invited to confer with the principals, teachers or myself," Parmer said, "concerning any problems which may arise in respect to their children. Our first interest is that of the welfare of the boys and girls."

"We trust that it will be remembered," Parmer continued, "that all new entrants to our schools must be vaccinated before entering. It is also hoped that parents have not neglected the dental work suggested to them in reports to them from the school last year — reports sent out as a result of the school dental diagnostic work."

This remedial work will not only mean much to the physical welfare of our children but also to their school progress. A child must be in good health if it is expected to make normal progress in school work. Dental neglect may be very injurious to health. Certainly it is not economical to neglect dental needs. I implore parents and others responsible for children to give serious consideration to this matter."

Will Purchase Bonds At Banks Tuesday

Mayor Williams and Town Treasurer T. Russell Sargeant will visit the town's two banks, the Peoples National Bank and the First National Bank, next Tuesday to purchase the town's $50,000 defense bonds. They will purchase $25,000 worth at each of the institutions.

Williams formally filed the town's application for the purchase of the bonds with the U. S. Treasury Department yesterday afternoon.

Should Enroll Next Week For Vocational Schools

Students who wish to enroll in the Essex County Vocational Schools should, if possible, report to one of the schools on September 4 or 5 between 9 and 3. They will be interviewed and tested to determine their ability to profit by the course of instruction they wish to pursue.

Applicants will be accepted after classes begin on September 8, but those who wait run the risk of finding classes filled. They will find, also, that they cannot be taken care of as rapidly nor can they be given as much attention. The entire school faculty will be available on September 4 and 5 for the sole purpose of interviewing and testing applicants. # HANDICAPPED! HELPED!

One child in five sees "through a fog"...is handicapped by faulty sight. Defective vision makes studying difficult—an unpleasant and unwelcome task, tiresome and tiring. Low marks result.

Because of faulty sight, a child may be "left back", he may be less apt in games and sports than his fellow playmates. Eventually a sense of inferiority develops—the child becomes shy, "difficult," or a bully. These traits leave a permanent mark upon character, warp it.

A "poor start" educationally, physically, or psychologically in childhood handicaps an individual when mature. And often such a "poor start" is directly traceable to poor vision.

Be sure that your child can see easily and clearly. Have his vision examined—this week.

Meters Are Not Only Solution

The parking problem has steadily grown on Belleville until now it is a full-sized problem child — one which must be dealt with quickly if business along Washington avenue is to continue in the flourishing manner which has marked the past year.

Parking is a situation which faces every community that has a sizeable business center and generally the condition cannot be eased without stepping on somebody's toes. Almost any solution which could be advanced would be bound to bring criticism from some source. But, business is bound to suffer unless something is done.

The proposal to install parking meters is a step in the right direction but it is not the answer to the whole problem. The Public Safety Department apparently has under consideration numerous types of meters. Like every other driver, we do not like to put a nickel in a meter when we know that we will stay only five or ten minutes. It is not the sum to which we object but just the principle of the thing. Perhaps, that is why we have been especially taken with one suggested type of meter which calls for a one-cent charge for short period parking or five cents for an hour.

Like almost every other improvement that has ever been recommended, the meters will draw opposition from sources. They always do. But, psychologically, they are one of the best and most inexpensive means of keeping out the all-day parkers in areas where business demands that shoppers have room to park while making purchases in nearby stores.

However, as we stated above, the parking meters will not in our opinion entirely solve the problem. There are merchants, their employees, other workers in the business areas and shoppers who will take more than an hour, to be considered. More than that, the parking space along Washington avenue in certain sections will be constantly filled up in spite of the meters.

Parking meters and a municipal parking area, we believe, go hand in hand and in progressive communities where municipal areas have been put into operation we have observed that they have been a help to merchants and have been appreciated by shoppers who enjoy finding a place near a business area to park without having to travel around the block half a dozen times.

The meters will ease the condition as it exists today but during the weekend shopping period, it is going to take more than that to eliminate it. The parking meters will force some motorists to park on nearby residential streets. This will bring protests from residents who will be justified in their complaints.

Particularly in the vicinity of Washington avenue between Rutgers and William streets, where the business development has not yet reached the saturation point, the problem will remain acute in spite of the installation of meters.

We are neither a planning nor a parking expert but from personal observation we have seen some interior lot and back street wasted areas utilized for parking areas that have proved a success. There is vacant land in the rear of the Washington avenue stores between Rutgers street and Belleville avenue. Then, there is the parking area in the rear of the Town Hall which could be enlarged.

The cry will go up that any such plan would require the expenditure of money. That is true. But we have never seen any business expansion that did not require money and we think that in proportion to the ratables which the new business establishments are paying to the town and the employment they are giving to local residents, the expense would be small.

The problem of parking deserves study and action not just for the next few months to come but with a view toward the further increase in business and the expansion of it which can be expected within the years to come.

The Question of Salary Increases

The request of the police and firemen for salary increases should not prove to be too much of a surprise to the public. Municipal employees are no different from those in private employment. Everywhere demands are being made upon employers for wage increases caused to some extent by the rise in living costs but just as much by the fact that a lot of people employed in defense industries are lugging home much fatter pay checks than their neighbors.

The Board of Commissioners intends to place the question of pay increases for the uniformed departments in the hands of the public to do with as they wish at the polls in the November election.

If granted, the raises will create an approximate $18,000 rise in the police and fire salaries appropriation in the budget.

The taxpayers should keep one point in mind. Should the police and firemen be successful in their request, it is only fair that other workers, including those employed by the town and by the schools, should expect to receive increases. For, if there is an increase in the cost of living for the cops and firemen, there surely is one for the rest of the people.

Had the employees made requests for $300 raises two years ago we think that they would have been met with a stern rebuff both from the board and the public. But, today many of the public are in a spending mood and more inclined to see the other fellow get a break as well as themselves.

But, we do feel that if the public grants increases to the police and firemen, they are more or less writing out a blank check for pay raises for those working in Town Hall and the teachers and other school employees. What is good for one is good for the other.

Canning Again Is Becoming Popular

During the past week we have talked to housewives who either at present or during the next few weeks are planning to do some canning. Several of them have never tried it before while others admit that it has been some years since they have stocked up for winter through preserving fresh fruits and vegetables.

However, while the husbands are worrying about the income tax rise, the gasoline shortage and other price increases, women are concerning themselves about stretching the dollar at the food stores and they already know that the dollar is not going as far now as it did this time six months or a year ago. Warnings from government authorities and other sources indicate that even further increases in the prices of canned foods can be expected during the winter months. Both the priority which has been placed on such metals as tin and the purchase by the government of large quantities of food for the armed forces are factors in this situation.

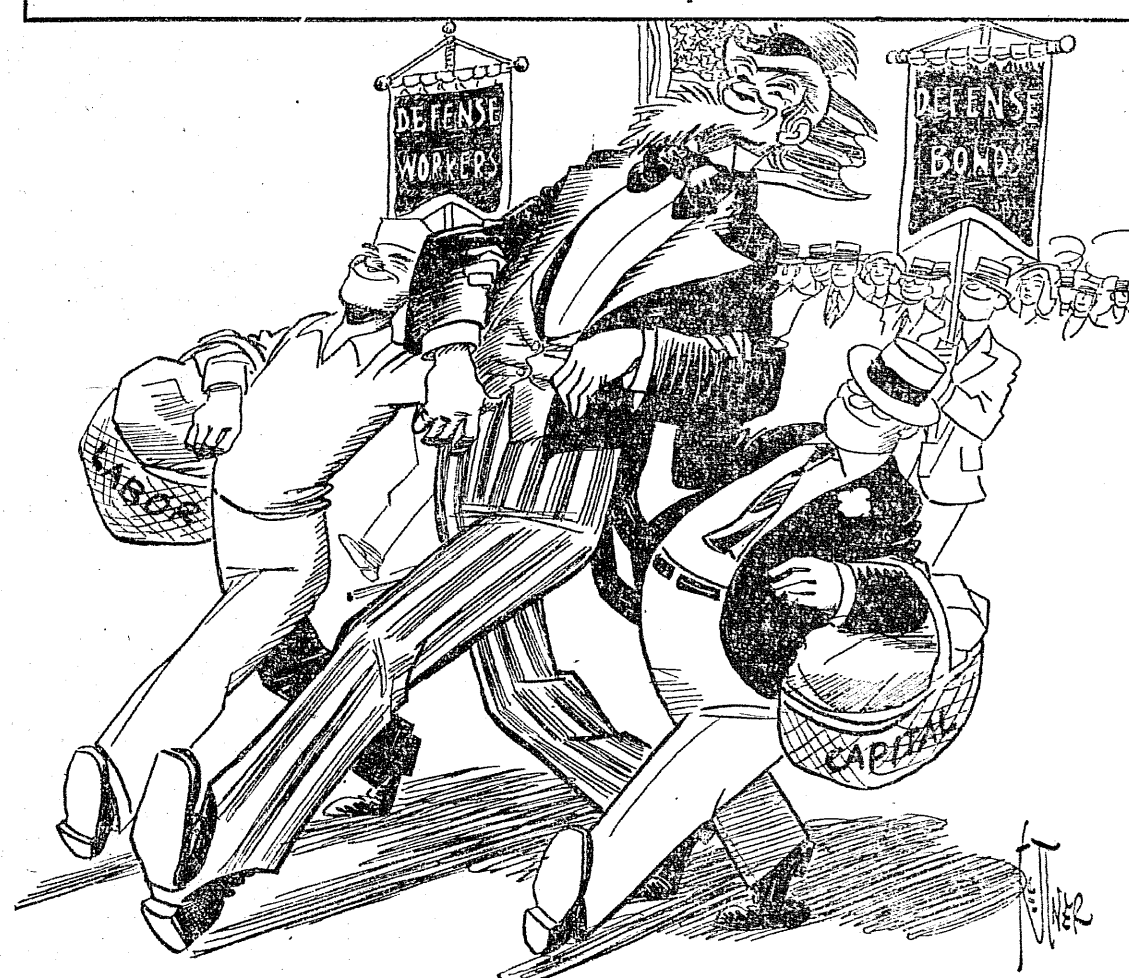

The New Jersey Defense Council is awake to the problem and in cooperation with the State Department of Agriculture they are urging housewives to can both peaches and tomatoes. This year the state has had a bumper peach crop and although cool weather has delayed the ripening of the fruit in some parts of the state, there is already a large supply available at reasonable prices on the market.

So, it looks like many kitchens will be turned into small canneries. Jars that have been gathering dust in the cellar for years will be dragged out and washed off and the closets stocked for the winter.

Some statistics were issued this week claiming that seventy-eight per cent of all automobile trips are for necessary purposes and that only twenty-two per cent are for recreational and social use. Well, maybe so, but we know two groups that might dispute the figures. The cops who handle the shore traffic on Sunday nights and the gasoline dealers who have been pumping tankfuls of gas into cars which up until a week or two ago would pull in and ask for five gallons.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

The inability of a New Jersey Governor to succeed himself is one of the most vicious practices in the State's government. Concealed as a deterrent to governors' perfecting personal machines that would give them an unfair advantage in seeking re-election, the injunction results in far more harm than that which it seeks to prevent. Under the practice a governor cannot hope to become the genuine leader of his party. That leadership must devolve on someone else, which is almost a guarantee of boss rule. Frank Hague is the inevitable product of the 1844 convention's abortive theory. Without this prohibition a governor would be the natural antidote of the people to boss rule. By re-electing a governor who refused to take the boss' dictation, the people could dethrone that boss over night.

Since they are not able to do this the people have no recourse from boss rule save by turning to the opposite party or parties. The absurdity of thus limiting their alternatives can easily be grasped by visualizing the dilemma they will face when Governor Edison's term is up.

Since Hague, through his Hudson machine, plus a few allies, can easily dominate a Democratic primary, it is fair to assume that a candidate who may be expected to do his bidding will be nominated. The voters must then either condone this selection or else repudiate the Democratic administration of Governor Edison. Thus, the latter will have no chance of getting his policies reviewed by the people until 1946 when an entirely new set of conditions may be expected to exist.

The fundamental principles and processes of democracy are perverted, and there is no cure for it save by changing the constitution to permit a governor to succeed himself.

This lame-duck status of a New Jersey governor is partly responsible for the conduct of Attorney General Wilentz in using his office to deliberately oppose the policies of Governor Edison. Wilentz may believe that the railroad tax settlement urged by Edison is unconstitutional or improper, but the suspicion nevertheless exists that the Democratic leader of Middlesex County is bowing to Hague rather than Edison. If he aspires to reelection or to appointment to some other post, it is Hague he must look to and not Edison. Unless a miracle happens, the latter will soon be sleeping in a newly dug political grave with New Jersey's sacred 1844 constitution for a headstone. Despite the Bible, it is the politically astute rather than the meek who inherit the earth today. Mr. Wilentz is smart.

Clean Government again sits at the top of the roost in Essex. It has sat there ever since it seized power from the tottering Salmon leadership in 1934. It seized power then by presenting a better program than the opposition backed up by a better organization. It will stay in power until one and probably both of these conditions are reversed. At no election since then has either its program or its organization been equalled. For the opposition to try to beat it is as though a small and poorly armed army should hope to defeat a bigger one better armed. The present ticket led by former Surge General Herrigel of Short Hills plans to fight to the end. But the withdrawal of George Stringfellow from active participation means that hope for victory is near the vanishing point. The latter has in mind to plan a program and perfect an organization that in some measure will match those of Clean Government. The biggest problem he will have to face is in getting unified support even for such a research organization as he visualizes.

DEALERS URGE

Saturday, but revealed fresh supplies will be available before Monday.

Sales may be limited because these supplies will be deducted from September allotments, but enough will be sold to each customer for reasonable use, it was indicated.

Aside from lamenting that they were forced to play policeman unpopularly, a few dealers also complained that their continuance in business might be threatened by the gas shortage.

"How we going to pay rent and taxes, with no gas to sell?" asked one. His colleagues felt less concern, most of them holding that since July was a banner month, their allotments and reserves would carry them over normal demands easily.

Although dealers in some nearby towns began closing on Sunday afternoons last week, there was no indication such a move would be inaugurated here unless demanded by the government.

Prices likewise will remain stable, it was felt. Agitation for a half-cent increase was started Tuesday by a minority group, but was quickly squelched by the town's leading distributors.

"We'd have no authority for such a move," it was explained yesterday. "That's something only our companies can dictate."

SECOND AUCTION

$9,200. On the opening bid, $8,600 was offered for the first section, second $7,300, both by Barrett; and third, $1,400 by Brown. Keenan then re-opened the bidding and McMillan offered $8,700 for the first section. Barrett was then forced to boost his price to $9,200 to get the property. William J. Barrett represented the brother partnership in the bidding.

He protested Keenan's action in re-opening the sale, claiming that he should have been closed after the first call. He stated that he would protest the attorney's action before the town board but failed to do so on Tuesday night. The attorney stated that he was acting only as agent for the town and that he was under orders to get as much for the property as he could.

The board ratified the sale of an interior lot at 148 Little street to Mrs. Amelia Raser for $250, one to Barrett brothers at Franklin and Berkeley avenues for $600, 23-27 Continental avenue to John Eikamp for $825, 16 Parkview drive to August Boniface for $400 and 23 Columbus avenue to Daniel and Mary Rinaldi for $225.

More Property Offered
New properties to be offered for sale include 520-576 Jefferson street and 9-11 Jefferson street at a minimum price of $1,250 and 1-3 South Wilber street and 22-28 Center street for $1,450.

has affected Belleville, the Mayor-Finance Director stated that the state had told municipalities that they could anticipate ninety percent of the 1938-39 gross receipts and franchise taxes as an anticipated receipt for 1941. Belleville being owed $48,540 could have expected $43,685, he said. Williams recommended that none be anticipated. The town has received $48,540, he said.

Based on prior years' receipts it was estimated that for 1940 and 1941, $60,000 would be received for each year from this source and the state permitted municipalities to anticipate getting all of it. Williams recommended that only $36,000 of the amount be regarded as sure money.

The town has received $50,000 for each year to date and assurance that it will go as high as $72,000.

By minimizing its anticipation for 1940 and 1941 and not anticipating any return for 1938 and 1939, the town has acquired a "nest egg" surplus of more than $100,000. Out of this surplus created in the 1941 budget, the town has been able to purchase the $50,000 in defense bonds and also earmarked an equal amount for purchasing more bonds next January.

"This picture," Williams stated, "should dissipate remarks by politically-minded individuals that the board was trying to create a surplus for an election year."

$300 SALARY

In May the Town Commission passed an ordinance introduced by Clark to correct discrepancies in the maximum salaries paid to police and firemen created by the adoption of an ordinance passed in 1935 at the instigation of George R. Gerard, who was then Director of Public Safety.

The ordinance passed then created a situation whereby the town appointed after its adoption received a lower maximum than those appointed prior to that time. There has been some agitation among the teachers for salary increases. Late last winter the teachers started a movement but it was rebuffed by the Board of Education. However, at a later date, members of the teachers' committee and a school trustees conferred on the situation. At a recent meeting, School President Herbert C. Schmutz and Charles Gebhardt stated that they were still working on the revision plan and hoped to have a report soon.

Miss Helen Thalheimer and Miss Irma Donnelly of this town will leave Friday morning on a Labor Day cruise to Virginia Beach aboard the Robert E. Lee. While there they will stay at the Hotel Cavalier and also visit in Norfolk, Va.

Lillian E. Bechtoldt Is Wed In Home Ceremony

Former School No. 8 Teacher Married on Sunday To Henry J. Cooper of Rhode Island; Irvington Girl Bride of Robert MacKinnon on Saturday

Miss Lillian Ellen Bechtoldt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Bechtoldt of Mt. Prospect avenue and former teacher in School No. 8, and Henry Joseph Cooper, son of Mrs. Robert Cooper of Apponaug, R. I., were married at the bride's home Sunday afternoon. A family friendship for three generations forms the background of the couple's marriage. Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach of Christ Episcopal Church performed the ceremony. A reception at the Bechtoldt home followed.

The bride's princess gown of shadow chiffon was made with square neckline and bishop sleeves. Lilies of the valley held her veil, and white roses, gypsophylla and light blue delphinium formed her bouquet. Her mother's gown of morning glory blue and Mrs. Cooper's of dusty rose chiffon were worn with corsages of delphinium and Briarcliff roses.

The bride, who was graduated from Belleville High School, Newark State Teachers College and Rutgers University, is a member of the Belleville Teachers' Association and president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Newark.

Her husband is vice-principal of Samuel Gorton High School at Longmeadow, R. I. A graduate of Brown University, Mr. Cooper is a member of Sigma Chi, honorary scientific society, and Nathaniel Green Lodge, F. & A. M. The Coopers are honeymooning in the White Mountains and Maine, after which they will live in Longmeadow.

Miss Alice Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cannon of Irvington, and Robert MacKinnon, son of Mrs. Edith MacKinnon of Cortlandt street, were married Saturday afternoon in St. Leo's Church, Irvington. A reception was held at the Stuyvesant Community House in Union Township. Two brothers and two sisters of the bride and Miss Nora Healy of Irvington were members of the bridal party. The couple will reside in Newark after their honeymoon trip to Cane May.

Miss Caroline Byrns of DeWitt avenue and Mrs. Irving Hermann of Bloomfield were guests Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Higgins of Radburn, formerly of this town.

Mrs. George Patrick of Ogden road entertained at luncheon Friday for Mrs. Edith Mae Brown and Mrs. Jane Dobson of Kearny.

Mrs. Mary Stewart and son John and Miss Stella Taylor of Belleville avenue were weekend guests of Mrs. George Cook of Totowa.

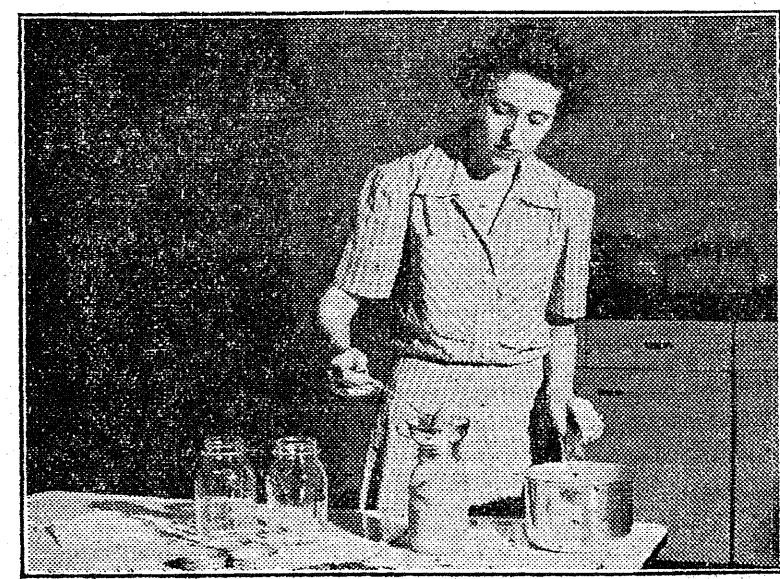

Miss Jean Carragher of Dow street and Miss Bernadette Schlafline of Prospect place spent Wednesday in Rockaway, N. Y.

Gallagher-Allen

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Allen of 567 Washington avenue announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Allen to Robert J. Gallagher of Clifton Saturday evening at a party at their home.

Miss Allen, who attended Belleville High School, is employed by Baker and Company of Newark. Mr. Gallagher attended La Salle Hall and College in Washington, D. C. His employer is the Wright Aeronautical Corporation of Paterson.

Peaches For The Winter

This year's abundant crop of New Jersey peaches will be more than a pleasant memory in this homemaker's household when winter rolls around. Because of the possible rise in food prices and the relative inexpensiveness of peaches now, the New Jersey Home Economics Extension Service, Rutgers University, is urging homemakers to follow the example of the woman in the picture above and can peaches this season. With a bushel of peaches, you can have from fifteen to twenty quarts on the shelf in half a day. Complete directions for several methods can be obtained from county home demonstration agents or directly from the State Home Economics Extension Service, New Brunswick.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

This column has suggested before that one of the pressing needs of the town, indeed of any town, is the establishment of bicycling rules and the enforcement of them. This is a topic which rises into prominence as soon as an accident occurs and fades as quickly when the tragedy has been forgotten. It will, of course, never be solved or even attacked until it is recognized as a crying need. How one can be automobile operator, bicycle rider or parent of a bicycle rider and not be convinced of this need is beyond the comprehension of the writer.

We are quite convinced of the fact that the first step should be a new conception of the use of the two-wheeled vehicle. Is it a play-toy, a youngster's first opportunity to produce speed of locomotion, and thereby experience a new thrill of pleasure, or is it a serious, honest means of getting from one place to another? As much as we desire that it should be only the former, we are forced to admit that the operation of a bicycle in a town of this size comes solely under the second category. Hardly anyone will disagree.

Can parents, then, in presenting their children with bicycles for the first time give them in the same spirit of unrestraint which usually accompanies the other needs of childhood? It appears not; unless, of course, one is living at a resort or country place fairly free from traffic where a child, once he learns the operation of his wheel, can be comparatively safe. The bicycle then should really be regarded in the serious light of a child's adaptation to an entirely new sphere of life.

To Get Places Quickly

He is going to have at his disposal an exhilarating, rapid mode of travel. The irksome distance between home and school, home and the playground or home and the stores to which he may be sent on errands, is going to be lightened and made swift and pleasurable. The carrying of packages will be solved by addition of a carrier which adds to the coveted impedimenta which children love to see attached to their wheels. Front and rear lights, bells and little whistling sirens adorn the bicycles and give their owners a feeling of substantiality. But all of these privileges can only be secured at a price. That is the neglected item.

We feel, in other words, that the greatest source of the discomfort to others and danger to the riders comes from the fact that the obligations which should be imposed on those who operate bicycles are almost entirely ignored. The carefree, relaxed boy who just wheeled rapidly along the sidewalk in front of our window, for instance, is leaning unconcernedly on his handlebars while the unconscious motion of his legs carries him swiftly (and too silently) ahead of the poky, slow-moving group among whom he has just vacated the movies. Skillfully observing the contents of all the show-windows along his route, he hardly seems to notice that his weaving progress imperils every pedestrian on the sidewalk. Neither does he sense the tense anxiety of hurrying garage men further along the street who must back cars in and out of an obstructed driveway.

Has Never Been Told

Undoubtedly the main reason why he shows no consideration for these things is that he has never been instructed or restricted in the use of his vehicle. Writing in the Rotarian Magazine, Paul Kearny, noted safety expert, bears out this very line of reasoning when he points to the fact that the young children who are hurt and killed in accidents involving bicycles are largely devoid of "education, enforcement and engineering" in the use of their wheels.

The most constructive fact he stresses, however, is that in the 150 cities in the country where these remedies to the "bike problem" have been undertaken the drop in accidents has been immediate. It is not as simple as a mere licensing, however. The rules are no use unless enforced. In this respect the combination of administering summonses through the regular police force and dealing out justice through youth courts has been the most successful. It would seem that such a program is feasible for any city, including Belleville.

Some organizations searching for motivation in local projects would do well, it seems to us, to undertake the study of practical application which has been made to this problem in other towns. After all, the most successful ventures are those based on simple rules. If bicycles were subject to the laws which govern the motorist and prohibited the lanes which are reserved for pedestrians, there would not be much to be desired.

This sort of conduct coupled with the mechanical examination of wheels at stated intervals, the mass instruction in their use at playgrounds and other central places, the necessity for licensing in order to properly enforce the laws, should convert what is now a potentially great danger into one of the most effective means of launching the child into the adult world of obligation and responsible conduct.

PITTS SHELLACKED BY IRVINGTON

Sports Club Pounds Three Hurlers; Minors Commit Five Errors

The Pittsburgh Minors had one of their bad days on Sunday and were handed their worst beating of the season by the Irvington sports Club at Chancellor Field, Irvington, being trounced 15-5.

Bill Lister, the Pitts' No. 1 hurler was touched for six runs in the first four innings and retired in favor of Jerry Zuzzio who later gave way to Bill Lynch.

A total of five errors by the Minors didn't help the situation much as the Sports Club nine kept piling over the runs.

Bill and Frank Lynch tried to do their bit at the bat for the losing cause, collecting seven of the ten hits which the Minors chalked up.

Recipe Column

Peach recipes abound and suggestions for preserving the bountiful crop of these fruits are plentiful. Although you may be including them frequently in your menus the following dessert is an outstanding one for you to try.

Fresh Peach Chiffon Pie

¾ cups sugar
1½ cups chopped, fresh peaches
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¾ cup cold water
½ cup boiling water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup heavy cream, whipped
Add sugar to peaches and marinate for thirty minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water and add boiling water. Cool, add peaches, lemon juice and salt. Chill partially, fold in cream. Fill crust and chill thoroughly.

A flaky, rich pastry crust is preferred by us for this pie but one made of corn flakes may be substituted and thus do away with the necessity of using the oven. A cup of crushed corn flakes may be combined with ¼ cup sugar and ¼ cup melted butter. Press this mixture firmly into a 9 inch pan and thoroughly chill.

With the summer drawing to a close your family may have slightly jaded appetites when it comes to salads. It would be a pity to lose the benefit of the crisp, fresh greens which are still in market and the numerous
