

SCHOOL BOARD VOTES AGAINST MOVING CLASS

School No. 3 Second Graders
Will Stay In Basement
Classroom

Acting on recommendations made from what were termed the academic and health standpoints, the Board of Education voted unanimously Monday night not to transfer School No. 3 second graders from a basement classroom to one on the main floor. The board acted on the recommendation of its president, Herbert C. Schmutz, who reported on opinions which had been expressed by Laurence S. Chase, county superintendent of schools; Health Officer Eugene T. Berry and Dr. D. S. Brown and Dr. Barney Schaffer, school physician.

A month ago six parents protested before the board because the children had been placed in a basement classroom since the opening of school. They argued that the room had poor ventilation, bad lighting and that odor and distraction from lavatories across the hallway made the room undesirable for the 19 youngsters in the class.

They urged the board to move the pupils to a classroom on the first floor and cited the office used by Principal W. F. Richards as suitable and large enough for the class. The board promised an immediate investigation.

Schmutz Inspects Room

President Schmutz told the board Tuesday night that he had personally investigated the basement room and the one which the parents proposed that be used. He said his visit was made while school was in session and that he was very much impressed with the basement room. He said that he later learned that the same day which he visited, County Superintendent Chase was at the school to inspect the classrooms. "Mr. Chase later called the business office," Schmutz said, "and said that he thought, based on his inspection, that it would be unjustifiable to take the pupils out of the basement classroom."

He said that no claim could be made that the board had not made a thorough study, Schmutz said. Health Officer Berry and the two school medical examiners were then asked to inspect the rooms. He said that the health officer recommended that pupils not be moved. Berry was quoted by Schmutz as stating that there was no dampness, plenty of sunlight several hours each day and good light and ventilation in the basement classroom.

"From the public health point of view," Berry wrote in a letter read by Schmutz, "the basement room is superior."

Dr. Brown and Dr. Schaffer concurred from the health standpoint, Schmutz pointed out, while County Superintendent Chase and School Superintendent Parmer concurred from the academic standpoint.

"I recommend to the board," Schmutz said, "that the classroom remain the same and that it not be changed to the next floor."

'REC' DEPT. GIVEN OKAY ON GYMS

Basketball Leagues To Play
At High School Starting
November 3

The recreation department was granted permission by the board of education this week to use the old and new gyms in the high school for its four basketball leagues, industrial, intermediate, senior and church. The church loop will play in the new gym while the other circuits will use the old floor.

The indoor court season will run from November 3 to March 27, Building and Grounds Chairman Walter Gilby said in his report to the board. The recreation department agrees to furnish proper supervision and a policeman on duty each of the three nights, Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, that the gymnasiums will be used.

The Armistice day committee composed of representatives of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars was granted permission by the board to use Clearman field on Tuesday afternoon, November 11 for a football game between the Belleville and Kearny jayvee eleven. This is an annual affair.

The board also approved the opening of the high school on Monday night, December 22 so that the combined choirs of the churches, the high school singing groups, Belleville Glee club and the Woman's club singers could hold their annual Christmas festival. Proceeds from a silver collection to be made will be turned over to the Community Service bureau for its Christmas basket fund.

Community Chest Feather Follows Old Legends

Hundreds have been given red feather emblems this week for contributing to the Community Chest, but nobody seemed to know what it symbolized. Even chest officials were at a loss, stating that the only thing they knew was that the feather was used by the Pittsburgh chest drive last year and that it had been adopted for the nation-wide campaign this year.

It was finally learned yesterday that the symbol was adopted because it follows two old legends. One is that the knight in the olden days was given a red feather for each deed of chivalry. The other is that the Indian in early American days was given a red feather for each enemy slain.

The county board of elections has put one in the town hall which will be there until Monday night. A demonstrator is there each day from 2 to 9, including Saturdays. New voters are urged by Mrs. Florence Morey, town clerk, to take advantage of the opportunity so that they will know how to operate the machine before going to the polls on election day.

Gerard Ferrara Aims to Be Youngest Commission Candidate

He was graduated from the high school two years ago where he was class president in his junior and senior years. Ferrara is now employed by the Westinghouse company of Bloomfield.

ISOLANTITE STRIKE HAS QUIET WEEK

CIO Injunction Reply Hearing
Postponed; Company Spurns
Conference

The Isolantite strike dragged along this week with nothing of importance to report on either side of the controversy. The CIO attorney, Samuel L. Rothbard, secured an adjournment until next month of the hearing before Vice Chancellor Bigelow of his argument on why a permanent injunction to prohibit picketing and other strike measures by the strikers should not be granted.

Late last week Kenneth D. Hamilton, vice-president and general manager of the company, spurned an offer of the CIO to confer on the strike situation. Hamilton took the stand that Isolantite has a contract with the A. F. of L. and has no reason to confer or negotiate with the CIO.

Recorder Everett B. Smith postponed for the second time the hearing against 15 persons for alleged disturbances caused at the strike scene. Attorney Rothbard requested the adjournment.

JUNIOR HIGH PLAN BEFORE BOARD FOURTH TIME

School Superintendent Recommends Building; Also Supervisor for Primary Grades

The question of a junior high school building came up again this week for the members of the board of education to consider. Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer in his annual report recommended the setting up of a complete junior high school program and building.

It was the fourth time in the past year that the recommendation for the building has been brought to the board's attention. Parmer recommended it in his 1940 annual report, officials of the state department of education followed him and in the spring Dr. O. P. Dales, school survey expert, spoke in favor of it in his report to the board after a study of the local school problems.

The superintendent also recommended that a primary supervisor for the first three or four grades be hired. He said the person selected should be qualified for the intimate supervision of reading. "This means," the superintendent said, "one who can take a class in reading and give a 100% demonstration of how most effectively to teach this subject. Because of the importance of reading in these early grades due to the fact that reading is fundamental in all the subjects throughout school life and, in a big way, throughout our entire life, this has become a specialized field with more emphasis than any other sector of the entire school program."

Parmer, however, stipulated that his report did not necessarily mean that the recommendations should be taken up immediately. "I recommend the above suggestions be given serious consideration," he said, "with the object of putting them into effect as soon as the board of education feels that the community is in a position to assume the financial responsibility involved."

AIR ASSOCIATES LOCATES HERE

Airplane Parts Firm Leases
Old Hoyer Products Co.
Building

the manufacture of airplanes for defense with the location here of Air Associates, incorporated of Bendix. Mayor Williams announced this week that the concern had signed a long-term lease for 40,000 square feet of space in the old Hoyer Products company building at 740 Washington avenue, near the Belleville-Nutley line.

Negotiations were completed on Tuesday by the mayor, C. A. Reed, vice-president of Air Associates; John McCarthy of Alexander Summers company Hackensack industrial realty firm; and John Hart, Erie railroad representative.

It is estimated that from 250 to 300 employees will be employed there and that the plant, which is already undergoing alterations, will be ready for occupancy within 60 days. The mayor also announced that the company would lease from the town several municipal-owned lots on Carmer avenue for parking space for employees' cars.

The building, after the Hoyer company moved to its new home in Cortlandt street, was last used by the Sawyer Biscuit company of New York, which moved out some time ago. Years ago it was known as the Kelsey Motor company.

Air Associates will manufacture airplane parts here, Williams said.

Chest Drive Nearing $7,000 Figure; Well Ahead of '40 Mark

Winchell, Allen Asked
For Chest Donations

Community Chest Campaign Manager Hugh D. Kittle is leaving no stone unturned in his effort to rout out every dollar he can for the fund. Not leaving the money-raising job to the workers, Kittle has rolled up his sleeves and buttonholed many people personally in addition to writing letters asking for contributions.

Two nationally known radio personalities received letters from him during the past week in which he asked them if they would care to contribute. Since Andrew Jergens has moved here, Kittle took the liberty of writing to Walter Winchell, who is paid by Jergens for his Sunday night gossip chat on the air, asking him to give his bit as are other employees of local concerns. Since Fred Allen has seen fit to use Belleville in the title of some of his jokes, Kittle asked him if he wouldn't like to pay Belleville back for the use of its name by giving to the Chest. To date Kittle has not had an answer from either one.

PACKING GIFTS FOR REFUGEES

Prepare Packages For British Youngsters

Mrs. William H. Williams, chairman of the Junior Red Cross reports that the school children are preparing Christmas gift packages for sick and homeless English children. The American Red Cross has made special arrangements with the British ministry of shipping to permit early shipment of the packages, which are standard cardboard cartons to be filled with a variety of small inexpensive items calculated to cheer the saddest war orphan or evacuee.

Since the World War, Junior Red Cross groups have been sending these packages to children in foreign lands. Last year, over 30,000 went to England, and a portion of these were distributed to Belgian, Czechoslovakian and other refugee children in that country, while another 25,000 delighted the hearts of youngsters in the Philippines, Alaska, China and Greenland.

In addition to the Christmas packages for England, another 50,000 gift boxes will be sent this year to children in other lands and in the territories and insular possessions of the United States. Letters from those who received packages last year were from children in hospitals, children whose homes and possessions had been lost by bombing, and children who had been evacuated from blitzed districts and could not go home to their parents for Christmas.

"Send what you would send to a friend," is the slogan which guides the filling of these packages, but positively no candy. The heat is intense, deep in the holds of the ships and even hard candy becomes a sticky mess that will ruin many packages. All gift packages are checked over before they leave the schools, for if someone succumbed to the temptation to include just one small box of fudge or something breakable, such as a bottle of perfume, it would destroy the usefulness of a number of packages.

Community Chest drive officials reported last night that a total of $6,558.66 in cash and pledges had been received in the first seven days of the drive toward the $16,000 goal. The current campaign is well ahead of the corresponding period for last year when only $3,453.14 had been raised.

It was emphasized that the figures issued after reports had been submitted by the various captains last night will probably soar considerably during the next few days since much of the contribution which is expected from the industrial division has not been received as yet because some of the plants will not ask their workers for contributions until the end of the week when they will be paid. In the house-to-house division no report has been received as yet from 10 divisions.

The $6,558.66 grand total was represented by $2,264.66 in cash and $3,556 in pledges. Of the divisions which reported, the industrial group had the most with a total of $3,283. $2,535 of which was in pledges.

The divisions reported as follows:

Division	Cash	Pledges	Total
Industrial	$718.00	$2,535.00	$3,253.00
Street Vendors	199.00	422.00	621.00
Out-of-town	199.00	165.00	364.00
Churches and Organizations	16.00	—	16.00
Club and Veterans	10.00	—	10.00
Professional	60.00	125.50	185.50

Post Office	16.00	1.00	17.00
Teachers	60.00	826.00	886.00
High School	—	24.41	24.41
House-to-house	$98.25	140.00	238.25
Total	$2,264.66	$3,556.00	$6,558.66

The house-to-house division solicitation, which is being handled by various organizations, reports as follows: District 5, Community Service bureau, $87.45; District 7, Boy Scouts, $183.80; District 8, Girl Scouts, $222.55; District 10, Belleville High School Alumni Association, $89.50; District 12 and 13, School No. 5 P-T, $75.50; District 14, Belleville Teachers' association, $109.31; District 15, Everyman's Bible class, $35.35; District 18, Belleville Teachers' association, $164.75.

The drive, which is being run under the direction of Hugh D. Kittle, high school principal, officially supposed to close on Sunday, having started on Thursday, October 16.

Manhood's success often depends upon childhood's vision

The leaders of tomorrow are the learners of today. A good education is a good foundation for successful adult years. Yet many bright, intelligent, alert youngsters are being robbed of a good education by defective sight. By poor vision that makes studying an exhausting chore, and learning difficult.

CHILD DAY CARE PLAN STUDIED

Community Service Bureau
Will Make Survey
Of Its Need

A committee, headed by Mrs. Robert Lunsford, met Tuesday afternoon at the Community Service bureau to start work on the problem of providing day care for the children of parents who are necessarily employed during the daytime. Need for this service was pointed out several weeks ago by Mrs. Julia Reiner, executive secretary of the bureau, in a report to the trustees.

The first step will be a survey to determine exactly how many children in the town are in need of such care. Much of this information will be obtained from the school and public health nurses whose daily contacts with the homes where such children are located gives them first hand knowledge of the situation. Interviews will be conducted with them and with other organizations and groups whose work involves the health and welfare of children.

Mrs. Lunsford, who is a member of the board of trustees of the Community Service bureau, will be aided by Mrs. Allen Turner, Mrs. Leslie Woodruff, Mrs. Herbert Dobbs and Mrs. Morris Rochlin and will have the cooperation of the social service department of the Woman's club. Chamber of Commerce Against Pay Raises While not directly affecting Belleville at the moment, the report of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce on police and firemen's salary referendums is interesting. The chamber has taken a stand against pay increases at the present time and is making an effort to present its case in the 50 or more municipalities throughout the state where a vote on the pay question will appear on the November ballot.

The survey made by the organization's department of governmental research headed by Walter Kidde shows that the average salaries now paid to policemen and firemen in New Jersey municipalities are much higher than the average salaries paid to public employees in these classifications in comparable municipalities of any state in the nation or any country in the world. Of the 50 municipalities in the country which maintain the highest salary schedules, the Chamber of Commerce claims that 35 are located in New Jersey.

Police and fire pensions, which have been the subject of much debate throughout the state in recent years, did not escape the Chamber of Commerce report. "Municipal policemen and firemen in New Jersey are the beneficiaries of the most liberal pension system in the United States," the report says. Citing the case of a policeman who is getting $2,500 per year, the report stated that the man is required to contribute $100, or four percent of his salary, each year into the local pension fund. "In return for this," the report continues, "he receives benefits of an 'insurance policy' for which a private citizen would pay a premium up to $1,000 a year." This last figure is based on the retirement of a man at the age of 50 after 20 years' service.

Turning to the well-known fact that there is not a pension fund in the state which is not in the red, the report comments: "It is estimated that the taxpayers of New Jersey will be compelled to pay a total of over $109,000,000 during the next 35 years to make up police and fire pension fund deficits alone, unless the present unsound pension laws are amended."

While police and firemen argue that the rise in the cost of living warrants the salary increase, the Chamber of Commerce claims that the salaries of other workers not on a day-by-day or hourly basis is lagging, too. Some day, the report says, there will be a drop in the cost of living and wages will go down, but those of the police and firemen will not because they are fixed by law.

"Available records reveal," the Chamber concludes, "that only once before were the salaries of New Jersey policemen and firemen generally reduced. This was in the period of 1933 to 1936. It took the worst depression in United States history to effect this reduction. Even then, the reduction was only a temporary one and did not compare with those imposed upon salary and wage earners in New Jersey and throughout the country."

Every municipality which is not having a referendum on salaries on November 4 will watch the election results with interest. If the people in the majority of the municipalities vote to increase the pay of police and firemen, it is bound to have its effect in communities which did not vote. It will not only result in police and firemen seeking more money, but other employees such as school teachers and municipal workers.

Impatience and Cocksurenness of Drivers

Two impressions about many automobile drivers have come to us lately—their impatience and their over-confidence in the ability of their automobile to perform mechanically what they want it to do at the exact moment that they need it.

This business of driving impatience is particularly true in the area in which we live, and it is a dangerous practice for drivers to follow. If there is anything that is annoying and unwarranted, it is the driver who pulls up behind you when you halt at a "stop" street and blasts his horn if that "go, get going" manner. Then, there is the autoist who will be at the tail end of a long line of cars in a heavily trafficked street. He bites his nails because he must idle along at 20 or 25 miles an hour. Finally, unable to stand the pace any longer, he zooms the car into second gear and tears out of line. Nine times out of ten he can't make the head of the line and must sneak in the middle some place, thus causing the drivers behind him to jam on their brakes and possibly be involved in an accident.

It is true that many motorists have become entirely too dependent on the mechanical performance of their car. They count too much on its speed to get them out of a tight spot or its brakes to work just right when it seems that they will be headed for a crack-up. Many accidents are caused by human failures.

The safety experts studying the reports of accidents on the Pennsylvania turnpike, super highway linking Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, found that human failures caused most of the accidents. All of the accidents could have been eliminated, it was said, had there been safer driving practices on the part of the motorists.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Magee, who frequently speaks out against the motorist who counts heavily on the mechanical performance of his car and never on his head, this week criticized the drivers who are always close behind the car that is ahead of them. Following too closely, Magee said, was the direct result of 3,216 accidents in New Jersey last year.

Few persons realize, he pointed out, the distance that a car will travel before it is possible to bring it to a stop. The average re-action time to an emergency for even the most experienced driver is about three-fourths of a second. A car travelling at the rate of 40 miles an hour will go 44 feet before the foot is moved from the accelerator to the brake pedal. After applying the brakes the car will travel an additional 88 feet before it can be brought to a stop, assuming that the brakes are in good working condition and the road surface is dry. Thus, based on Magee's test, the total distance travelled from the instant danger was first detected to the time that the car stopped is 132 feet.

Cocksure drivers may dispute this, but we would rather take the word of the motor vehicle department and play safe by allowing plenty of room between cars.

Public Disinterest In Election

Politicians are concerned over the apparent apathy of the public about the general election which is less than two weeks away. The feeling has seeped into both the Republican and Democratic organizations and leaders are finding it a hard job to arouse even their most ardent campaigners to their annual work.

The war is being bamed for it since there seems to be no better reason. This may be so, but it is a dangerous condition—one however, which is pleasing to politicians who have an organization vote which can always be counted upon to appear at the polls and do what it is told.

This has been styled as an "off" year election, but not so "off" when it is realized that voters will elect a state senator, an assembly slate and a sheriff among the more important officials. The selection of assemblymen should be just as important to the public as the interest which is aroused when a gubernatorial election rolls around. After all, it is the assembly which thinks up ways to spend the taxpayers' money and passes the laws under which we live in this state.

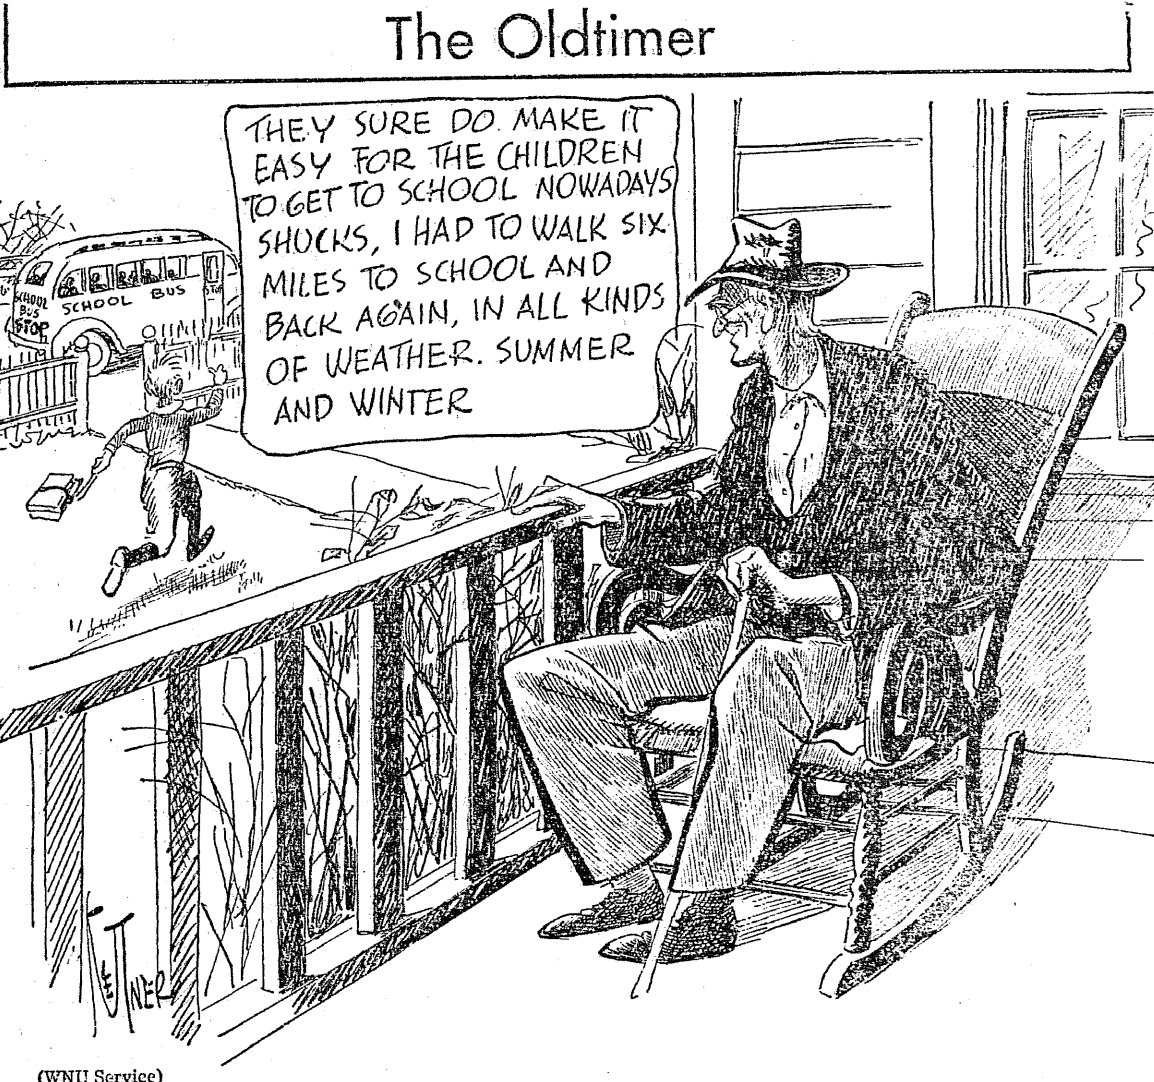

It may be quite natural that there should be public disinterest, but it is a breach of the principles of democracy. All of us will pay the bills, but only a small minority of us will take the trouble to go to the polls to say who we want to spend our money.

There may not be "name" candidates in this election, but those who are running are important to every taxpayer and it would be well for every voter to sit down and study the qualifications of those who are seeking office on the Republican and Democratic tickets.

We may think that almost all of the nation's manufacturing time is being spent in defense work. This is not so, according to Price Administrator Henderson. America is giving only one hour of eight for defense work. This will be increased to two out of eight by next June, but is nothing compared to Hitler's using five out of every eight hours for Germany's war effort.

There's talk of a paper shortage, but from the amount of "stuff" the postman brings to us in his mail bag mornings from almost every government agency in the book, we don't believe it or else Uncle Sam has a corner on the market.

Odds and Ends From Other Pens

Vote Slackers Are Alien Enemies

A vote slacker is a traitor to his country. A person qualified to vote who wantonly fails to do it deserves to be deprived of his American citizenship. He deserves to be ruled by dictatorship. There ought not to be any such thing as an "off year election." Certain officials of government are to be chosen at the polls in November. Voters are said to be apathetic about that election, disinclined to take the trouble to cast a ballot. It was apathy which destroyed France. It was apathy which has placed England in a precarious condition. It was not apathy which has made Germany thus far victorious in her mad lust for conquest.

If red-blooded American citizens prefer to be apathetic about this election perhaps it had better be called off. That is just what is being done in New Zealand where press reports yesterday declared parliament has postponed elections for a year because of the war situation.

For that same reason, "war situation," Americans had better wake up and exercise the privilege of the ballot or admit they are a spineless lot who deserve nothing better than a dictatorship.

Back To Old Thanksgiving

We see that the Congress has taken time out from debating and voting on defense activities to consider a bill to make the last Thursday of every November Thanksgiving Day. This would put an end to the possibility that the annual carving of the turkey could be switched by the president such as was done several years ago by President Roosevelt.

Even F. D. R. has come around to the conclusion that it was not such a good idea after all and has said that he would put Turkey Day back to the old date after this year. The change was made because certain business interests felt that an earlier Thanksgiving would leave the way open for longer and better Christmas spending. Well, it didn't work out that way so there's a move back to the old date. We're quite satisfied because whenever anybody has asked us when Thanksgiving was, we had to do quite a bit of figuring and calendar searching before we were really sure.

Motor Transport's Job

Once again we are touched by the influence of war, and history is repeating itself. Transportation—and especially motorized transportation—compels full recognition of its supreme, vital importance to national well-being.

Two courses are before us, points out Harvey Fruehauf, truck trailer manufacturer. A choice must be made. Our progress can be blind or directed. We have already witnessed the elimination of many man-made obstacles—usually referred to as "State Barriers"—that have threatened to strangle motor transport during the past two decades. The others will go as the mounting demands of the next few years sweep aside the artificial restrictions. Our government, in granting priorities to motor truck and trailer manufacturers, has acknowledged the need and cleared the way. Now it is up to motor transport to handle its job.

Let us go about this business of expanding highway transportation in a planned, intelligent manner. Let us select equipment that will do the job efficiently, with a minimum of traffic congestion. Let us get behind the movement for better highways—not left-over from the days of the horse, but real highways designed for motor transport with the vision in our minds of the years ahead.

In many instances, we have outgrown our roads. We must rearm transportation-wise just as we should replace obsolete planes, artillery or ships. Without the highways and the transportation equipment, as a nation we are paralyzed.

Under the cruel demands of another great conflict, we are forced to give our utmost. Let us plan our progress. Let us produce the equipment that will handle the job, the highways that will carry it, the terminals that will expedite it and the administrative ability that will operate it.

'Running' Stop Signs

Montclair's Police Department is amply justified in its efforts to bring about a more general observance of "stop" street signs.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur Magee, in a recent interview, said that there were 1,453 accidents and 39 deaths last year as the result of "running" stop signs.

He said further: "The habit of stopping for stop signs and waiting for the road to clear is one that may prevent untold suffering and injury. Since every intersection is a danger point, the few seconds lost by stopping, at the posted signs at intersections may pay big dividends in the long hours of safe motoring. With present day high-speed traffic, the risk in ignoring a stop sign is tremendous.

"Coming to a full stop at signs, which are erected only after accident experience has shown their locations to be hazardous should be repeated and repeated until it becomes a habit. If a driver makes an effort to observe properly every stop sign a hundred or more times, the habit will be established so firmly in his mind that he will have no trouble in stopping thereafter."

Commissioner Magee added that seven out of every ten fatal accidents caused by ignoring stop signs took place in daylight hours. Montclair is determined to make stopping at stop signs a habit in this community.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, necessarily those of the writers and not those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Only as regards chronology can the present campaign be said to have shifted into high gear. The Essex Republican organization is functioning smoothly as far as strategy and leaders are concerned, but the inertia is something terrible. The public is simply not interested in the issues that they must decide on November 4. Community Chest campaigns, activities incident to preparation for war, social affairs—all of these seem to be having a normal response. But not the game of politics. For some reason it seems to have lost its fascination. Why this should be I cannot say. But I do believe I am correctly reporting a fact.

On the Democratic side falls the shadow of Hague dissatisfaction. Two weeks ago I reported in this column that organization Democratic leaders were sulking in their tents. They are still sulking. In many ways the Democratic campaign here shows signs of aimlessness. The leader of the ticket, J. Raymond Berry of East Orange, is conducting an unusually aggressive campaign. Not since William A. Wachenfeld opposed Joseph G. Wolter nine years ago has a Democratic candidate taken his case to the people as ably as Berry.

He has seized upon issues as they have arisen and tried to exploit them effectively. An example of this is the rumormongering he has kicked up over the rise in price of milk. Selection of Arthur Foran as head of the milk control board by the Republican-controlled legislature left the G.O.P. particularly vulnerable. Then when Foran conveniently ordered a rise in the price of milk just before election, Berry went into action. From the space his protests have received in the press, one would judge that there must be some public interest in them.

Essex G.O.P. Has Defense

But as in all attacks on Republican state policies, candidates from Essex have a good defense. It was Essex opposition that blocked for more than a year Foran's brazen demand for a job. The arrangement that finally put him in his present post was not initiated by Essex legislators, although most of them did go along at the end.

The Democrats, too, are yelling murder in too many directions. As regards a constitutional convention, the record of Essex Republicans is fully as good as that of their opponents. On the Democratic side only Governor Edison and Dr. John E. Boutwell have made any considerable contribution toward constitutional revision. This can be fully matched by Republicans from Arthur T. Vanderbilt down. In their campaign literature the Republican nominees have endorsed constitutional reform without qualification or reservation. For the Democrats to continually accuse them of insincerity in the face of this platform and record doesn't quite make sense.

Nor can Essex Republicans be held more accountable for the conduct of their colleagues outside of the county than can Essex Democrats for the strange behavior of their colleagues in Hudson. As regards allies, both groups are just about in the position of a man who associates largely with pickpockets. Quite properly he can be viewed with suspicion. But when his accuser marches into court with the same kind of cronies accompanying him the case is hardly made stronger.

In their criticism of the county government, the Democrats are on even weaker ground. With few exceptions, Essex has had an efficient and honest county administration. About all the Democrats have to fall back on is their plea for minority representation. But that is a technical argument not likely to have much weight when the specific need for a minority has not been demonstrated.
