

FAMILIES TO GET INSTRUCTIONS FROM ARP MEN

Questionnaires Will Be Given To 20,000; Big Turnout At Rally

The first move was made this week to have air raid wardens become familiar with the territory and the families in the districts which will be assigned to them. Air raid warden chiefs Edward Cantwell and Luther Van Pelt this week assigned the men their first work since the defense council set out to organize the group.

It is estimated that 750 have registered for duty in the ARP and it is planned to use all of them. Working in each of their districts, during the next week the wardens will distribute to householders more than 20,000 questionnaires asking them what service they would be able to perform in civilian defense, how many there are in the family and other pertinent information. In addition, more than 10,000 letters will be distributed explaining the purpose of the air raid wardens and how they will try to be of help to the families. Nine thousand copies of a pamphlet on what to do in an air raid will also be sent out.

The material was prepared and mimeographed in the revenue and finance department by girls from

DIRECTOR CLARK WARNS AUTOISTS

Advises Them To Note Serial Numbers of Tires As Protection

"Become your own detective" was Public Safety Director Clark's advice to local motorists today. Motorists can protect themselves against wholesale tire and car thefts, which are becoming more frequent as a result of tire rationing, and can also be of help to the police department.

The director said that every automobile owner should keep a record of the serial number of each tire and other automobile equipment. This will help the police department to check the property if it is stolen. If there is no manufacturer's item on the equipment, some characteristic mark which could not be easily rubbed off should be put on it. Motorists were urged to keep cars off the street especially on obscure side streets. Cars should be locked when not in use. Every motorist has an obligation, Clark said, to report to the police immediately if they see any persons meddling with vehicles, particularly when another car is nearby. Very seldom, he pointed out, does a car have more than one flat tire at a time.

Tire losses will be irreparable, Clark pointed out, under the new tire rationing. While insured owners may recover cash to buy used tires if they are available, what good will the money be if tires can not be purchased, the commissioner remarked.

In addition to tires, automobile thieves operating in gangs may take entire cars, heaters, radios or mechanical parts.

The meeting will be held at 414 Washington avenue.

has visited each state of the union many times. SGT. PEARL QUILTS AFTER 35 YEARS

He Was One of First Four Members of Police Force

An end was written yesterday to the 35-year record of active police duty of Sergeant Charles Pearl, one of the best known members of the town's police department. He is the last of the so-called "charter" members of the force, having been a constable before the department was organized in February, 1907.

With Michael Flynn, William Swin and Joseph Hannan, he formed the quartet that first kept law and order in Belleville. Hannan and Swin have died, while Flynn retired as police chief in 1936.

Sergeant Pearl was something of a "night hawk" of the department, for during all but two of his 35 years on duty, he was on night duty. One who liked to spend hours pattering in the garden and caring for chickens, he preferred to work on the night shift so that he would have the daylight hours for his hobbies.

He First Walked

Sergeant Pearl was made a roundsman, a rank equal to that of sergeant, about 1910. It was his duty to check the patrolmen on their beats. His recollection of his work goes along not only with the progress of the police department but of police work in general. In the early days, he walked around the town checking the patrolmen. Then, came a bicycle. And finally, in recent years, he has enjoyed the comfort of an automobile as the department became motorized.

The veteran policeman stopped working last Thursday when he started a vacation, but his retirement did not become official until today.

His 65 years forced his retirement. Born in North Arlington, he had spent almost all of his life in Belleville. He has no plans for the future at the present time.

Girl Scouts Will Contribute To Red Cross Campaign

The Girl Scouts who are members of Troop 19 are planning to contribute one-third of the cost of the gifts which they exchanged at Monday night's twelfth night party to the Red Cross for its war relief fund.

At the party, the girls welcomed back their leader, Mrs. Stanley Gibson, who had been absent since November. The affair was in charge of those Scouts earning their entertainment badge. Miss Betty Bowman was in charge of the serving of refreshments.

Games were played and grab bag presents exchanged.

The Girl Scout council will meet tonight at the Elks' club.

Start New First Aid Group Saturday Morning

A new Red Cross first aid class will be formed Saturday morning at the firehouse in Washington and Division avenues. Miss Doris Soleau will be the instructor. It will be held from 10 a.m. to noon and any person who is 17 years of age or older may enroll.

CUOZZO GETS THIRD 3-YEAR REFUSE CONTRACT

Bid of $95,000 More Than Double That For Last Three Years

Charles Cuozzo, local scavenger, started on his third consecutive three-year refuse collection contract with the town this week. Cuozzo, with a bid of $95,000, was low man in the bidding when quotations were received at last week's meeting of the town commission. Although opening of bids had been delayed by court action started by Pietro Roselli of East Orange, who sought to have the town's action in refusing him permission to bid lifted, it was halted when the town voted to let him submit an offer.

Cuozzo's price of $95,000 was more than twice the amount he received for the three-year period just ended when the town paid him $41,000. The increase was not unexpected for several months ago both Mayor Williams and Commissioner King, who has charge of refuse collection, predicted that there would be a sharp rise, basing their predictions principally on the increase in garbage contract costs elsewhere.

The local contractor, who resides at 94 Magnolia street, first received a Belleville contract in 1935 and has done the work continuously since that time.

Recommend 3-Year Period

After bids were opened by Mayor Williams, he turned them over to King and Health Officer Eugene T. Berry, who tabulated them and recommended to the board that Cuozzo be given the work for a three-year period. Bids were also received on a five-year contract.

The highest bidder was Thomas Viola & Sons of Nutley who offered to do the work for three years for $136,800 and for five years, $239,000. Other bidders were Roselli, for three years only, $120,000; LaFera-Greco of Newark, $105,000 for three years and $190,000 for five years; Capasso & Pucillo of Ridgewood, $99,825 for three years, and $177,105 for five years. Cuozzo was also low for five years, offering to do the work for $160,000.

TIRE RATIONING BOARD MEETS

Group States It Will Operate In the Interests of Townspeople

The local tire rationing board, headed by Edward T. Gramke, vice-president of the Andrew Jergens Co., organized last night at a meeting held in the board of education offices at School No. 8. Ruel E. Daniels, school board business manager, who has been named secretary to the board had the following brief statement to make after the meeting:

"The board has met to make plans to operate in the interest of the people of Belleville." He said that further plans would probably be released some time next week.

All of the members of the board announced last week, except Gramke were sworn in as federal agents at a county meeting held in Newark Saturday morning. Gramke, who was on a trip in the west, was sworn in last night by Postmaster Connolly of Bloomfield.

School No. 9 Swimmers Set For Coming Aquatic Meet

The Dolphin club of School No. 9, a swimming organization, again is preparing for its forthcoming meet with the Alsea street team of Newark on March 3.

The valley boys were defeated by two points by the Alsea street team last May but prospects look brighter since Thomas Malcolm an eighth grade boy, has come to join the team from School No. 1.

Malcolm is a fast swimmer and has shown up well at the Passaic "Y" during Wednesday sessions. Stuart Lawn, a seventh grader, also improved after two months instruction at Camp Mohawk for boys.

The Parent-Teacher association of School No. 9 will supply a bus for the journey to the Ironbound section pool of Newark and the youngsters look forward to it as a sort of junket.

Wilho Winlin and Thomas Gryczka are the instructors.

One Enlists In The Navy; Another Back To Fort

Edward Johnson of 66 Greylock avenue left Belleville Sunday, December 28, after enlisting in the navy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Johnson. He attended the local high school and was employed by the Rowe Manufacturing company of Main street.

Private Harry Gimbel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gimbel of Joramelon street returned to Fort Knox, Ky. on Saturday, December 27, after spending a two weeks furlough with his parents.

Postmen Quick To Let News Know It's Wrong

Say That Writer Slipped In Saying That Men In Blue Ride Free On Buses; Back Idea That Soldiers Should Not Pay Fares

The News' editorial writer's comments on "Free Rides for Soldiers" brought postmen here and elsewhere figuratively down on his head. In advocating that soldiers be given free rides on trains and other vehicles, the writer committed the faux pas of not being too familiar with regulations concerning post office employees riding on buses.

Postmen cannot ride in buses, even to and from work or to lunch, unless fully equipped with a bag laden with mail.

The postmen were rung in on the same paragraph with politicians who ride free on trains via passes. Also listed were police and firemen, although it was not the intent to confine it to local police and firemen, although permitting the mto ride to and from work is allowed in a number of places.

(The News intended no offense to the postal employees or a reflection on their patriotism. Its main effort was to plead the case of the soldiers, and to point out that others — principally politicians — do ride "on the house.")

From Joseph Mammon, president of Branch No. 38 of the National Association of Letter Carriers at Newark came the following comment:

"I read with unusual interest your editorial titled 'Free Rides for Soldiers,' which appeared in the last copy of your newspaper. While I agree with your thought pertaining to soldiers, I am sure you are very much misinformed about the postmen riding trolleys and buses 'on the house.'

"Have you ever read the inscription on the New York post office building? The postman who comes in touch with every person in these United States is the true representative of our great country. Are you putting the agents of our great nation in a category with the politicians? Do you not believe that this loyal worker is deserving of a better writing than that which you gave? Please see the light and vindicate the postman in your next edition. He represents the most efficient system in the world, the United States post office."

State Secretary Writes

From Frank B. Hartman, state secretary of the New Jersey State Association of Letter Carriers, at Camden comes the following:

"In a recent article of your paper under caption of 'Free Rides for Soldiers,' I was quite amused to find letter carriers included.

"We agree with you regarding the soldier but in the future please get your facts on those who 'ride on the house.' In the past office we would be demerited for such gross incompetency. For your information in the future — letter carriers do not ride free in uniform or without. The government pays when we have the bags on our backs. We pay when without the bag."

One of the local letter carriers, Andrew J. Garabrant of 46 Forest street, called to state that the bus fares of postman are paid by the government six months in advance as the regular rate of five cents. Postmen cannot ride in buses unless fully equipped with bags laden with mail. William Dunworth, another one of the men in blue, called to back up the story, while numerous other carriers, preferring to remain anonymous, called to straighten the editorial department out on its claim, while professing sympathy with the soldier viewpoint.

Mrs. Charles Zimmer of 69 Baldwin place, a mail carrier's wife, also wrote to let the editorial writer know that he had badly slipped by including the mailmen.

"I read your article today entitled 'Free Rides for Soldiers.' I just want to enlighten you on that subject. So many people believe that the postman rides free. He most certainly does not. When he carries his bag, he rides free, but the government pays the bus company, and when he travels to and from work, he pays the same as any other person. Secondly, I wouldn't call the wages they get 'good average wages' if you know what they get, and have to buy their uniforms out of this so-called 'good average wage.'

"I heartily agree with you about soldiers riding free, but the rest you have wrong."

Mother Writes Letter

Mrs. Harry C. Fredericks of 33 Montgomery place, who has three sons in the service, writes: "May I congratulate you on your editorial on free rides for soldiers. May I also add all enlisted men in our armed forces. Goodness knows, they have given up plenty by the time they receive their small monthly allotments.

"After their cleaning and laundry is paid what have those boys left to ride on, unless there family back home comes across and helps out? It seems as though the navy fares better in salaries than the army. We are doing so much for the world in general, why not do more for those who risk enough of their country to give up comforts of home—loved ones—and many with good positions."

(Although realizing the drain that this might mean on the transportation facilities. The News still takes the stand that if politicians and others can ride free when they please, there is none more deserving of the same treatment than the men in the service — Ed. Note.)

Red Cross Will Open Drive For $10,000 War Fund Tomorrow

Wheel Chair Is Needed For Crippled Boy

Do you have a wheel chair which you are not using? If so, would you be willing to lend it so that a 12-year old crippled boy, whose sight is very poor, will find it easier to get the schooling which is so important to him?

In the sight conservation class in one of the public schools here is this boy, who is one of four children of a poor Lyndhurst family, all of whom are enrolled in the class. Their tuition and other expenses are paid for by the Lyndhurst board of education. They are transported to and from school daily.

Since a great deal of moving around the classroom is done in remedial sight work, it is hard for this 12-year old youngster to get to school. A wheel chair would help him a lot. He would be able to join the others in their activities. Something which it is hard for him to do now.

If you care to aid this small youngster, who in his crippled condition is really in need of a helping hand, either by giving a wheel chair or contributing money for one—please go in touch with The News at Belleville 2-3200 immediately and arrangements will be made with school authorities.

RED CROSS RALLY DRAWS 1,000

Sixty Receive First Aid Certificates; Two More Classes Start

More than 1,000 attended the rally of the Red Cross held in the high school on Tuesday night which had a two-fold purpose, the presentation of certificates to 60 volunteer first aid workers and instructions for the opening of the chapter's campaign for $10,000.

Mrs. Louis A. Noll Jr., chairman of the first aid division, presented the certificates to those who have completed their 10-week training in first aid under the direction of qualified instructors. She announced that two new first aid classes would be started. Last night at the Congregation A.A. in Washington avenue a class was organized which will be instructed by Dr. Samuel Goldberg. Others interested may still register at the session to be held next Wednesday night at 8 p.m.

Dr. Martin Meehan will instruct a class which will be held at School No. 5. Although the board of education has not as yet given formal permission, it is expected that the first meeting will be held next Wednesday night at 8 p.m.

Two films, furnished by the Public Service, and showing various kinds of first aid treatment and artificial respiration work, were shown at Tuesday night's meeting. Both films were recently released by the company for use before public gatherings.

Williams Will Appoint Mrs. Zink For 5 Years

Mrs. Homer Zink of Rossmore place, wife of the state controller will continue to serve as the woman member of the board of education. Mayor Williams announced yesterday that he would re-name her for a five-year term. Mrs. Zink's present term expires on February 20.

She was appointed to the board in 1939 to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Mary Sheldon, who resigned as a trustee after eight years' service.

Young Carollers Raise $3.10 For Red Cross Drive

Eight little girls residing in the Belwood Park section have done their bit to help the Red Cross war relief drive. On Christmas eve they went from one neighbor's house to another lustily singing carols and then asked the householders to contribute to the Red Cross.

When the evening was over they had secured $3.10 in change which was turned over to Frank Chambers, Red Cross chairman. The girls were Marilyn Verbe, Marjorie Burke, Madeline Maser, Dorothy Johnson, Barbara Lunsford, Flora Boniface, Teresa Dunn and Doris Stewart.

Library To Close Mondays From 12:30 To 3:15

The schedule for the first aid class which the library staff is attending has been changed to Mondays. Therefore, the Library will be closed every Monday afternoon from 12:30 until 3:15 p.m. until the course is completed.

More than 500 Red Cross volunteers under the general chairmanship of Robert G. Sutherin will open the chapter's 10-day drive tomorrow to raise $10,000 locally toward the national organization's $50,000,000 war relief fund. In every block of town, it is expected that workers will go from house to house seeking contributions from residents which will far exceed the amounts that were contributed during the recent annual membership roll call.

Both Sutherin and Frank Chambers, chapter chairman, stressed the fact last night that in the present campaign a demand is being made upon Belleville's citizenry to contribute approximately three times as much as was sought here in the roll call.

"We need money and let's get it," Chambers told about 1,000 Red Cross first aid and volunteer workers at a rally held in the high school Tuesday night. Following the meeting, he explained that every corner of the town would be covered in the chapter's quest for money, and it is his hope that at the end of the 10-day fund raising effort, the workers will have topped the $10,000 quota which has been set.

"Information comes from national headquarters in Washington," he commented, "that already the Red Cross is turning over thousands of dollars for the relief of injured men in the service in war-stricken areas, and that furthermore as much aid as is possible is being given to the civilian population. In Hawaii, in the Philippines, the Red Cross was the first on the job and daily more medical supplies and other equipment and personnel are being sent to these areas."

Is Biggest Job

"This is the biggest job that the Red Cross has ever been called upon to perform, and it is the duty of every citizen to get behind it and do his part. Our fighting men are prepared to do a job for us and we must be ready to back them to the fullest extent."

At Tuesdays meeting, Chairman Sutherin explained to the workers the routine details of drive and made assignments to the various captains and workers. For campaign purposes the drive has been divided into 25 tracts and captains named to each sector with a crew of volunteer workers under their leadership. It is estimated that no worker will be required to work more than two hours to cover the territory which has been assigned to him.

Sutherin said that he was hopeful that there would be mass coverage of the town tomorrow night and that over the weekend, officials would have a good idea on the campaign's progress. It is officially scheduled to end on Monday night, January 19.

Every able source is being used to drive the Red Cross campaign to the public, Sutherin said. Starting last night and continuing until Saturday, a short feature is being shown at the Capitol theatre which emphasizes the need of the Red Cross for $50,000,000 and pictorially explains what will be done with the money. Tomorrow night a sound truck will travel through the streets informing the people that Red Cross workers will visit their sectors tomorrow night.

It is believed that the majority of workers will make their first solicitation visits tomorrow night between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Detailed mimeographed instructions have been prepared by Sutherin and Miss Vivian Kilpatrick, chairman of the chapter public relations division. Captains are given advice on the organization and instruction of their working crew, the approach to householders and an explanation of the disposition of funds which will be raised.

The district-by-district organization will take in every household and business establishment except the manufacturers, which are being solicited by a special committee headed by Chambers, who is an official of the National Grain Yeast corporation.

15 Percent Will Stay Here

Of the total amount to be raised here and in communities throughout the nation, 85 percent will go to national headquarters for its war relief work while the balance will remain in the hands of the local chapter. Of the 15 percent to be left here, it will be used to aid in the training of

PARENTS DON'T KNOW WHEN A CHILD SEES

LIKE THIS

OR THIS

Parents often have no idea their child's vision is not good. And the child can't tell them—for he thinks the way he sees is the way everyone sees. The only way of being sure that a child's vision is right is to have it examined.

Defective vision is a tremendous handicap to a youngster—retards the development of his mind, his body, his character.

Be sure your child's sight is right. Have it examined—now.

Rise In Refuse Collection Costs

The doubling of the price for refuse collection should not have been entirely unexpected even though some of those at town hall were surprised last week when the bids were opened. Once again, Charles Cuozzo, local contractor, was awarded the job.

He has offered to do the work for three years for $95,000, which is more than twice what he received for the three-year period just ended. How come the big jump? The simplest way for us to put it is that for three years Belleville residents received most reasonable and inexpensive service. It figures out to something like 40 cents per capita. If you do not think that this is a low figure compare it with the contract charges in other communities in this vicinity.

Even at the new figure when compared with prices being asked by contractors in other municipalities, it appears as though Belleville is getting a low figure.

Calling For A World Map

So long as the principal war theatre was in European countries where most of us had heard of countries and cities in the last world war we had a pretty good understanding about what the commentators were talking about when they analyzed the offensives and retreats of the various armies.

We started to mire down a bit on our geography when Hitler invaded Russia, and from then on the only thing that that war meant to us without carefully studying a map was that the Nazis were headed toward Leningrad, Moscow or Sevastopol.

Now that the war front has moved to the Far East we find the task of keeping tabs on the allied fighting forces is even more difficult, without a good-sized map or globe to follow we cannot see how any person can grasp the immensity of this war. We have been surprised at the number of people who have a mistaken idea about the size of the Pacific ocean. They speak of this country sending troops to the Philippines or the Netherlands Indies or Malaya as if it were something like a ferryboat ride across the Hudson river.

We know nothing of Mr. Cuozzo's business, but from comparison with other figures and some sketchy pencil figuring, it seems to us that in the last three years he certainly did not become wealthy on the money which he received from the town for the work.

Like every other business the cost of operating a garbage service has greatly increased and the outlook for the next three years indicates that there will be more added expenses. Labor is at a premium. Cost of new equipment and the repair and maintenance of the old has greatly increased, and in view of present conditions, it is most difficult to obtain equipment.

All of these things must be taken into consideration when refuse collection costs are argued. Correspondingly, other municipal services are bound to be affected by war conditions because of labor shortages and price rises.

Just take a look at a map. Look how far San Francisco is from Japan the Philippines and other sections of the fighting front. It is an 8,000-mile jaunt from California to Japan, and if you are further interested in geography, a few moments' study of a map or globe will reveal to you that in the case of the Pacific ocean, a straight line is not the shortest distance between two points. To go north from San Francisco, skirting Alaska and the Aleutian Islands and then heading south toward Japan is several thousand miles shorter than to set out on the Pacific and head straight across.

This war in the Pacific will last a long time and if you intend to understand it, you better have a map on hand to understand what the radio and newspaper reporters and commentators are talking about.

Give More Than Ever Before

We have made appeals, and in the days to come we will be making more. We have urged local residents to support the Red Cross to the utmost in its roll call drive, and now we are being asked to join with the rest of the nation in raising a $50,000,000 war relief fund.

Belleville's drive is scheduled to open officially tomorrow and in the next 10 days it is hoped that the $10,000 goal of the campaigners will be over-subscribed. In war as in peace, the Red Cross stands ready to lend a helping hand to the injured, sick and the homeless.

Every person has a son, a brother, some other relative or even a close friend who is serving in the army, navy or marines. If not, they may have relatives or friends in the civilian population in areas which may already be subjected to bombings or even invasion.

The Red Cross is the organization which these people count on for help. It stands ready to do a job but it takes money—lots of it. Many have given annually to the Red Cross in its membership roll call. Now, they are asked to give again—not the same amount, but three and four times that. And those who did not contribute in the past should also give, for they do not know when they may look to the Red Cross for help and assistance.

The New Year

Odds and Ends From Other Pens

Bankruptcy Threatens Liberty

Our approach to the problems of debt and taxation within the next few years will determine the future of representative government in this country for many generations to come, perhaps for the life of the nation. We cannot afford to do too little or to do it too late in meeting what yet may prove to be the most deadly threat to liberty—bankruptcy.

The federal government is, or soon will be, spending twice as much money, your money, as it receives from you in taxes. The current fiscal year will see an outgo of approximately 24 billion dollars, 18 of it for defense. Federal taxes for 1942 will reach 12 billion, an increase of 58 percent over this year, but still only half enough to meet expenses. Rapidly falling is the ratio of receipts to expenditures. By next June defense cost is predicted to reach two billion a month. And all that will come on top of continued record-breaking non-defense government expense which already have caused a peace-time Federal debt of 50 million dollars.

Nothing will be done to correct this situation until the people recognize the danger and demand action. It is not a question of balancing the budget. It is a question of adopting a program which will convince even the most cynical that this country can be saved from economic collapse. Correction will come only when the people realize that individual freedom actually is at stake. May it then be not too late.

Only two methods will prevent bankruptcy—economy plus more taxes. Congress has made no reduction in non-defense spending where at least a million dollars could be saved according to Secretary Morgenthau. Adequate revenue must be raised. Individual spending power must be reduced. Taxation that injures the capacity of business to produce must be avoided. Measures other than those which involve economy and new taxes are only palliatives.

—Irvington Herald

On the Home Front

Our actual involvement in a major shooting war should bring home many a hard truth to Americans. One of those truths is that we can no longer afford political persecution of industries whose fullest possible production and co-operation is necessary to building our defense and prosecuting the present war.

Most active of the business-destroyers are the utility baiters. These men, apparently, want complete socialization of the electric industry and they will do anything to gain that goal. Recently the administrator of the government's Bonneville dam told an Oregon private utility which has been distributing Bonneville power, and passing all savings on to consumers, that it could no longer buy juice unless it would agree to certain stipulations. One of those stipulations was that the utility must agree, in advance, not to oppose public ownership campaigns.

In other words, the administrator said that the utility must not defend the investment of its stockholders against attacks which threaten its very existence—and that if it does defend itself, it will be cut off from a source of power on which it and its customers, many of them defense industries, depend. The purpose is clear—to make private utilities as defenseless as possible in the face of determined, ruthless drives for power socialism.

If the right of protest and of self-protection can be taken from a utility company, it can be taken from any other kind of business which public officials might want to socialize in the future.

An abundance of power is an essential of defense production. The private utilities can provide power from widely scattered sources, which is an indispensable asset as a war-time safety measure against bomb attack demoralization. But how can private companies carry on if public officials are permitted to use the most high-handed methods to forward socialism? The internal war against business endangers the very safety of the nation at a time when we are fighting the greatest external war in our history.

Citizens Have Duties

A great deal is said and written about the rights of a citizen in a democracy such as ours, but very little attention is ever paid to the duties of a citizen.

Now, however, American citizens, if they intend to hold on to their democracy, must consider the duties which they owe to their country.

This country has done a great deal for the average American. It has provided free schooling for him, offered him the right to worship in the church of his choice, allowed him to talk as he liked providing he didn't slander others, allowed him to assemble in meeting places, has given him employment at the highest wage average in the world, has guaranteed him fair treatment in the courts, and has allowed him to read and think what he likes.

Unfortunately, during the last 20 years, most of us have taken our country for granted. Our only thought has been what we could get out of the country, not what we could give. Large pressure groups, such as some of the farmers, unemployed, veterans, big business and organized labor, have all been taking instead of giving to the United States.

Now Americans are faced by the greatest task in their history, a task which will require many people to give their lives and livelihood to the government. Soldiers and sailors are already making the supreme sacrifice for the United States, and other Americans are being called on to serve in civilian defense posts as airplane spotters, first aiders, fire and police reserves, air raid wardens, nursing services, motor corps, canteen workers, and to invest their incomes in defense bonds and stamps for the preservation of our democratic form of life.

Let's Be Sensible

What a tremendous difference just a few days can make! It seems but yesterday when people were either secretly or openly laughing at those who were training for service in various of our local defense units and accusing them of a desire to "wear a uniform and play soldier." Then came the war and those who laughed the loudest were the first to become hysterical and rush madly hither and yon, wondering what they could do to serve.

Even though somewhat belated, this desire to serve is commendable. However, let us be sensible about the whole thing. Let us go about our duties in a realistic way. Today the scoffers have gone. The war has changed all that, but in their place has arisen an hysterical group which is dashing around as though the end of the world was just around the corner and approaching rapidly.

Admittedly, these are serious days and undoubtedly even more trying times may lie ahead. Be that as it may, let us meet what is to come with calm and logical reasoning. It would be foolish to say that business is to go on as usual. It definitely will not. Changes will come and adjustments must be made. We shall all have to face things as they are and cut down along many lines, both as a community and as individuals. On the other hand, we as a people must make every effort possible to see that life goes on as usual in so far as war conditions permit.

We must keep our community projects alive. We must keep an interest in local events and happenings, letting them share a proper place in our reading with the war news. We must not forget to laugh and have fun whenever the opportunity presents itself to do so without detriment to the serious duties and demands.

Above all, we must not become morbidly inclined about this war which we are now in and which we will see through to a successful conclusion. When we Americans reach the point when we can no longer "be ourselves" . . . that will mark the day when our feet have started down the road which leads to defeat. Let us all be sensible and that day will never come.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer, and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

This column doesn't intend to substitute economics for politics, but just now economics is charging across the political scene with something of the impetus of our 30-ton tanks.

Writing about politics without taking into account this background of war would be as unreal as contemplating a landscape in the midst of an earthquake. If anyone had any doubts about the totalitarian nature of this war as applied to the United States, they must have been resolved by President Roosevelt's speech. When the President asked for 60,000 planes during this calendar year of 1942 he swept away more American traditions than all the wars, depressions and revolts of our previous history combined. A dozen problems heretofore considered acute became instantaneously of minor importance. The shortage of rubber for tires ceases to be of major importance when cars could not be run even if tires were available. Unlimited use of the automobile has long been America's chief luxury. When our standard of living is to be drastically reduced it is only natural that our chief luxury should be curtailed first. Tires or no tires, use of the automobile must be greatly limited. And with the automobile will go hundreds of other items. The only parallel in our history to what is about to happen is supplied by the Southern states during the Civil War. There a whole civilization was wrecked in a matter of months. We hope the social impact of this war will be less severe now, but that must depend upon how soon the war is won.

Politics Forgotten

Where does all this leave the politician? To paraphrase an old Southern adage, he is left largely dancing in a pig trough. The public is not much interested either in him or in the game he is playing. To the extent that the people to the government, the politician transmits the will of the people to the government, but the public official or political leader who fancies that the will of the people is going to be as it has been in for a rude awakening. Just now the people are more interested in having efficient government than they are in who shall administer it. The public official who grasps the seriousness of the situation today and is able to meet the many emergencies that will arise is likely to be well rewarded later. The one who fails to do this is likely to be dismissed from office with little ceremony.

An example of the sudden turn of events is supplied by the estimate of Governor Edison that gasoline taxes in New Jersey will probably be some 10 million dollars less than in 1941. This means either much higher real estate taxes or greatly reduced expenditures. The forthcoming budget hearings in Trenton will be of immense importance. Recently created bureaus like the State Advertising Council should be dropped completely until the emergency is over. Others like building and road departments should be sweeping curtailed. Traffic will cease to be a problem if the estimated 25 percent of cars are off the highways. As for buildings, we must simply get along with what we have. Instead of advertising New Jersey during 1942, let us do a little advertising of Pearl Harbor. If the Japs are not stopped

What's Ahead?

No man knows what lies ahead, what tests of courage and endurance may confront us tomorrow. No man can predict the defeats and victories; but every man can be willing and ready.

A way of life is at stake. It's a way that has permitted American individuals and industries to become great. It is based upon humanity and loyalty to freedom's code. It is worth dying for, and without it, no cause is worth living for. It demands strength and character and ungrudging sacrifice.

The industrial and business life of New Jersey has played a major part in American peace-time economy. It will be called upon to play a greater part in the hours ahead—and it will be found ready. Public Service pledges itself to the common cause, without reservation and without limit. Its great electric, gas, and transportation facilities will be devoted to insuring the ultimate victory and the peace to follow.

Here Are The Vitamins That Build Health and Energy

VITAMIN A is the anti-infective and growth-promoting vitamin. Its lack results in susceptibility to colds and other ailments . . . its insufficiency in children results in scrawny and stunted growth. Principal sources, halibut-liver oil.

VITAMIN B is "the spark plug of the human system" . . . it tones the nervous and digestive systems, promoting growth, appetite and energy. It also helps to remove lactic acid from the blood-stream, thus eliminating the feeling of fatigue. Principal sources, yeast and wheat-germ.

VITAMIN C protects and feeds the capillaries under the skin; it helps to heal wounds, and prevents scurvy. Modern diet is usually lacking in this vitamin because it is easily destroyed by cooking. Principal sources, tomatoes and oranges when freshly picked.

VITAMIN D is the "sunshine" vitamin. Tests show that it remedies the disorders caused by the deficiency of ultra violet rays in this climate's sunshine. Without it, normal formation of blood and bone ceases, resulting in rickets, sagging muscles and decay of the teeth. Principal source, cod-liver oil.

VITAMIN E is the "anti-sterility" vitamin. It has additional important uses in that it promotes mental vigor and tones the muscles. Principal source, wheat germ.

VITAMIN G is the riboflavin factor of the B vitamin that improves stomach tone, remedies skin eruptions and loss of red blood corpuscles. Principal sources, yeast and liver.

20 Local Couples Attended New Year Party At Y

Belleville shared in the success of bringing in the New Year at the Montclair YMCA. Of the 150 young people who attended the party last Wednesday night, 20 couples were from town.

The affair was held in the main gymnasium which was banked with red and white streamers. The evening's highlight was the grand march shortly before midnight with balloons and snowballs descending from the ceiling on the horn-toting merrymakers. Dancing, entertainment and games kept the merrymakers busy until breakfast was served at 3:15 a.m.

About 2 a.m. the Belleville group took over the bowling alleys, and because of the scarcity of pin boys, tuxedoed young men set up pins for young girls who took off their high-heeled dancing slippers and bowled in their stocking feet.

Mercer C. MacPherson led the doxology and the community singing at the breakfast with Rev. Robert Foster of Montclair delivering a brief New Year's message. Because of the success of the affair it is planned to hold another next year.

BELLBOYS BOW TO KARDS 29-26

Hudson County Quintet Tied But Never Headed By Blue and Gold

The high school's basketball tossers could not match the scoring skill of the Kearys high five in the locals' home debut on Tuesday night. After trailing the Kards for nearly four periods, the Bellboys caught up and tied the score at 26-26. The Cardinals, bent on not losing their lead, made a free foul count and then sewed it up with a basket just before the final gun was fired. Keary had an iron man five with none of the starting quintet dropping out for a rest. With five baskets and two foul shots, Bob Kirk led the Kearys' scoring attack. However, it was John Alexander's foul shot that broke the 26-26 tie, and John Pearce's two-pointer that clinched the game, 29-26.

Maginnes with nine points led the way for the Bellboys. Keary stepped off to a 6-1 lead in the first period, while the Bellboys pulled up to within three points of them and 16-13 at halftime. At the end of the third period, the Blue and Gold trailed 22-21. While the varsity was not able to win and dropped its first game, the jayvees snowed under the Kearny jayvee quintet 42-26.
