

MORE THAN 2,000 WERE REGISTERED IN NEW DRAFT

Figure Will Go Higher When Cards From Other Areas Are Received

With the biggest number reporting on Sunday, the draft board registered more than 2,000 men between 20 and 44 during the three-day weekend registration period. The final total figure may be much higher than that for it will be several weeks before the local board will receive the names and data on local men who signed up elsewhere.

The big task was handled by the three draft board members, John P. Dailey, Herbert Hardman and John Gannon, and Edward Reed, board clerk. The registering was done by the school teachers, members of the draft advisory board and women volunteers.

The work went off smoothly and without any hitches, it was reported. Health Officer Eugene T. Berry reported that 605 men had voluntarily submitted to blood tests which had been requested by the state department of health. The purpose of making the tests, the state department explained, was to discover syphilis so they may be notified that they have symptoms of the disease and may start medical treatment so that they will be ready for military duty if called.

Berry stated that more would have been given the test if physicians, who voluntarily gave of their time, had been available to the work. Physicians who co-operated with the health department by doing the work were Dr. Ellis Smith, superintendent of Soho isolation hospital; Dr. Barney Schaffer, Dr. William Frost and Dr. Joseph Roemer of the state venereal diseases division. Local nurses who gave their assistance were Miss Ethel Akers, Miss Helen Gilsenan and Miss Mary Millar.

Go To State Department

The blood specimens have been turned over to the state health department's laboratory for testing. If a man who has taken the test does not hear from the state department on or before March 16, Berry said, he may assume that he has proven negative and is all right. Those who are positive will be advised directly by the state department to consult their family physician.

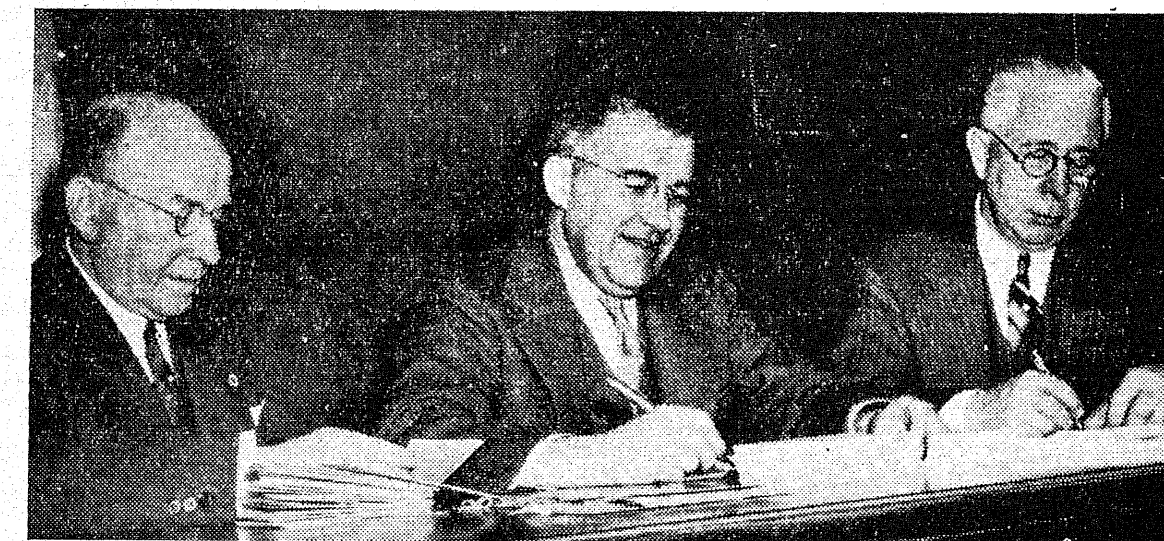

The draft was not without its amusing incidents. One young man went through the registration and it was then discovered he had been born just one day too late for his date of birth was January 1, 1922, and the federal law states that all those who were 20 on or before December 31, 1941, must register.

Commissioner Louis A. Noll, who is 43, was the only one of the five commissioners required to register. In the last war, the director was at Fort Hancock ready for training when the armistice was signed. Others who registered included Ruel E. Daniels, business manager of the board of education; Hugh Kittle high school principal; Charles Gebhardt, draft appeal agent and board of education member; and John Coogan and Ray Mertz, commission candidates, both of whom saw service in the last war.

At least one father-son combination appeared to sign up together. Leon Abbate, 44, of 16 Mt. Pleasant avenue and his son, Frank L. Abbate, registered on Sunday. The father, who was born in Italy, served in World War I. His son is employed by the Prudential Insurance company.

Not found shirking from his responsibility was Jim Sing, Washington avenue Chinese laundry man. Mrs. William J. Irvine, who worked as a volunteer registrar, signed up her son, who is 20.

Registration Means More Work For Them

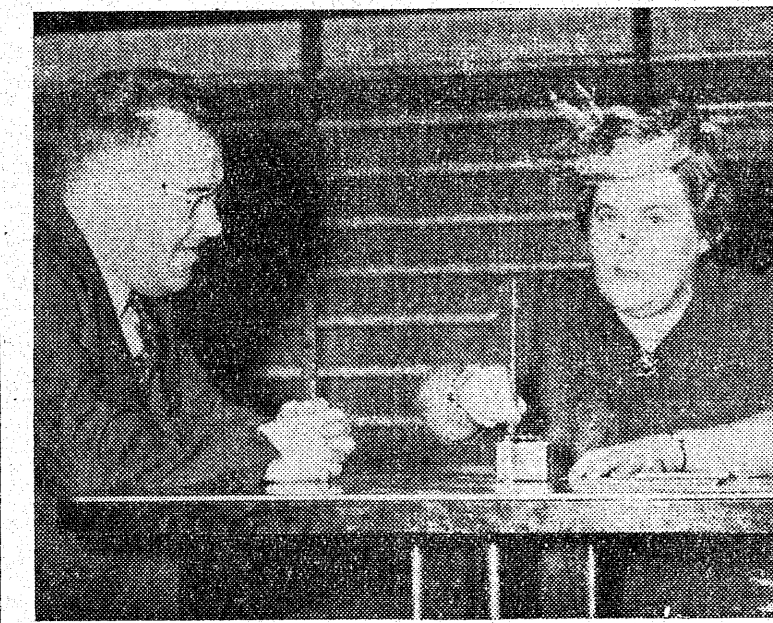

REGISTRATION OVER THE WEEKEND of more than 2,000 men was only the beginning of another big payless job for the town's three-man draft board. Shown while they were busy directing the registration are John F. Gannon, John P. Dailey, board chairman; and Herbert V. Hardman.

Your Age, Commissioner . . . ?

ONLY COMMISSIONER TO REGISTER was 43-year-old Louis A. Noll, director of parks and public property, who is shown being questioned by Mrs. Eleanor Fehlinger of 123 Smallwood avenue, one of the numerous women volunteers, who aided the draft board in its big job.

Even Board Chairman Signs

SISTER SIGNS UP BROTHER. Draft Board Chairman John P. Dailey had to register along with the rest of local men between the ages of 20 and 44 over the weekend and it was his sister, Mrs. Helen D. Onions, a School No. 3 teacher, who took down the facts and statistics about her brother, who is personnel manager at Wallace & Tiernan.

Localite, 8-Month Bride, Among Those In Aruba

Mrs. Arthur Dunden Veghte Went To Aruba In June To Marry Oil Company Employee; Parents Here Get Letters From Her Regularly; Likes It There

An eight-months bride, Mrs. Arthur Dunden Veghte, until the middle of last year a local resident, is among the Americans living in Aruba, Netherlands West Indies, which was attacked by Nazi submarines this week. Mrs. Veghte's husband is employed by the Lago Oil and Transport Company, Ltd. whose refinery was one of the first objects fired upon by the Nazi ships, according to reports.

Mrs. Veghte is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Eberhard of 234 Union avenue. In June she sailed for the West Indies where she was married to Veghte last July 9 at the Lago Colony church in Aruba.

Mrs. Veghte's parents last heard from her last Thursday and expect to receive another one of their daughter's regular letters today. Mrs. Eberhard said yesterday that she had thought she might receive a cable from Mrs. Veghte but then realized that all communication lines were probably being left open for government purposes.

Mrs. Eberhard said that her daughter has written that she likes Aruba very much and that she has been happy there.

Her husband, a native of Montana and a Penn State college graduate, is employed by the Lago Oil and Transport company, limited, a Standard Oil company subsidiary.

Another former local resident, John D. Albere, who works with Veghte, is also at Aruba. Albere and his wife attended the Veghtes when they were married.

Mrs. Veghte is a graduate of the local high school and attended the Newark School for Secretaries.

NEXT THURSDAY DEADLINE FOR GETTING '42 CARS

Ration Board Can Release Them Until Then; After That They'll Be Rationed

Local residents who ordered new automobiles before January 1 but did not get them because of the "freezing" order handed out by the federal government in Washington on that date have been given only a few days in which to get their cars under the orders which have been issued.

The local rationing board has been directed by Washington to handle the release of the new automobiles, but although some people appeared at the board meeting Tuesday night to make application, their cases could not be considered because the board members had learned only 20 minutes before time what they were supposed to do.

Application forms did not arrive until yesterday afternoon. Board Secretary Ruel E. Daniels said yesterday, so that those wishing to apply had to be sent home until the board had time to study what it should do in its latest job and obtain the forms which the applying car owners must fill out.

Must Offer Evidence

Daniels said last night that those who can offer evidence to the rationing board that they had ordered cars will be given release certificates by the board which will turn over to the concern which is now holding their car so that it can be delivered.

Even though Belleville residents may not have purchased their cars here, they must obtain the release certificates from the local board.

It was emphasized that next Thursday is the final date for obtaining release papers and delivery of these new automobiles. After that date, all cars which have not been delivered will be held to be rationed under the eligibility classification which is used in determining those who will be granted permission to buy new tires or have them retreaded or recapped.

Those persons who contracted to purchase new cars before January 1 and who want to get them should apply at the next meeting of the rationing board next Tuesday night at School No. 8. Inquiries may be made any day prior to that at the office of Ruel E. Daniels, board of education business manager, in the same building between 9 and 5.

Need Written Proof

Written evidence which will be accepted by the board as proof that an order was placed for a 1942 automobile prior to January 1 will be: a contract or bill of sale, a sworn statement by the dealer that application for title has been filed in the purchaser's name, a cancelled check for over $25 made out to the dealer by the purchaser, or a certificate of title in the purchaser's name.

With the "freezing" order on tires going into effect at midnight last night, the board will also take over that work and applications will be considered on the same basis as if they were applying for new tires. Only those who have been eligible for new tires such as doctors, nurses and other emergency agencies and businesses will now be granted permission to have tires retreaded or recapped.

The Same Newspaper — Under A New Name

Starting with this issue, the newspaper that, during the past two years, you have become accustomed to having delivered at your door every Thursday morning will be known as THE BELLEVILLE TIMES

This change of name, made necessary by existing circumstances, in no way affects the editorial or news content of the paper. The Belleville Times is published by The Belleville News corporation and by the SAME personnel at the SAME office, 328 Washington avenue.

The change of name does not, in any manner, affect the town-wide coverage created and maintained during the past two years—8,300 guaranteed circulation within the town limits of Belleville.

Mertz, Political Newcomer, Enters Town Board Race

No Past Affiliations In Politics, Says Real Estate Man; Been Resident 42 Years; Father Was Town Councilman; Is Fifth Candidate In Field

A new face in Belleville politics came to the forefront yesterday when Raymond E. Mertz, real estate broker, announced that he would be a candidate for the town commission. Not a new name to local political history, though, for the name of Mertz goes back to the earlier days of the town when his father, the late Emil C. Mertz, was a candidate.

The new candidate, who is the fifth to officially enter the race, announced that he would run as an independent, and that he believed his long training as a business man qualified him to be one of those to operate town hall for the people of Belleville on a business basis.

The 44-year-old veteran of World War I resides in Van Rye place. He conducts his real estate business from his office at 382 Union avenue. Born in Newark, he has resided in Belleville for more than 42 years and received his education in local schools.

With his father, who while he was on the town council was head of the finance department, Mertz conducted a well-known home building business for a number of years, erecting many of the houses which are in the hill and Union avenue sections. His father passed away seven years ago.

Not a Politician

The candidate emphasized yesterday that he is not a politician and has never belonged to any political group or organization in town, confining his activities during nearly 25 years to the building and realty business.

His only local affiliations are with the Belleville Lodge of Masons and the American Legion post. In World War I he was completing training in the infantry officers' training school at Camp Lee, Va., when the armistice was signed.

Mertz is married and resides at the Van Rye place address with his wife and two sons, Ray E. Jr., and Kenneth A., who are students at Newark academy. He has never sought public office nor served on any local municipal committees until recently, when he was named a member of the rationing board and was appointed to the demolition, rescue and repair committee of the defense council.

No Manager Yet

The candidate said that he had not as yet selected any campaign manager or committee to assist him in his campaigning.

"I believe," Mertz said, "that I have had the business experience and possess a business man's qualifications to operate the town of Belleville on a business basis for the people of Belleville. I want it clearly understood that I am not a politician, make no pretense at being one and do not aspire to be one."

Previous candidates who have officially declared that they would run are John F. Coogan, Jr., Elmer S. Hyde, James Tully and Arthur Mayer.

A detailed report of the contributing groups will be announced as soon as all figures are complete.

Salvage Committee To Confer With Local Scrap Dealers

An invitation has been extended to all local licensed scrap dealers to meet with the salvage committee of the defense council tomorrow night at the offices of Davidson & King, 414 Washington avenue.

Robert G. Sutherland, committee chairman, said the conference with the dealers will be to discuss the types of materials the government needs and also the method to be employed in collection of the articles.

Sutherland also announced the selection of George H. Weston to act as public relations head of the committee.

Elmer Hyde Association Card Party March 3

The Elmer Hyde association, first of the groups rallying to candidates for the town commission, will hold a public card party for their standard bearer Tuesday night, March 3, at the Elks' club on Washington avenue. Several hundred are expected to attend, according to Mrs. Louis Frick, who is general chairman. Members of the committee who are assisting here include Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Ernest Alden, Robert P. Smith, Fred Schofield, William Bennett, George Irwin and Henry Klepe.

Coogan Represents Glen Ridge In Tax Appeal Case

John F. Coogan, Jr., local real estate broker and appraisal expert last week was successful in defending the Town of Glen Ridge on a state tax appeal.

The nearby community engaged Coogan to represent it as an expert in defending an appeal against tax assessment valuations filed with the state board. Coogan was retained by Frank H. Thompson, Glen Ridge tax assessor.

The former local assessor worked with Thompson and Judge John Millard, Glen Ridge counsel. They were successful in defending the appeal totalling $22,000 to the extent of 90 percent, leaving only $2,200 of the $22,000 valuation reduction sought by the appellant.

BELLEVILLE DEFENSE COUNCIL

CITY OF NEWARK SELLS ACRE HERE FOR $7,000

Defense Plants Corp. Buys It For Kidde; Paid Belleville $13,000 For 6 Acres

The City of Newark this week reached an agreement with the Defense Plant corporation, subsidiary of the R-construction Finance corporation, for the sale of less than an acre of ground at the corner of Main street and Greylock avenue for $7,000.

The Town of Belleville, Mayor Williams revealed yesterday, recently sold the Defense Plant corporation approximately six and one-third acres adjacent to the Newark property for $13,000. On the southwest corner of the tract which the town sold, the pumping station erected a number of years ago by the Suburban Investment company stood, until it was recently demolished by the new owners.

The property has been purchased by the DPC for the Walter Kidde company which will erect a one-story, windowless building there, according to plans announced by company officials this week. The building will be the third which the concern has constructed. Two others have been built in property fronting on Main street north of Roosevelt avenue.

Negotiated Two Months

Negotiations for the sale of the property have been under way for nearly two months, but Mayor Williams at the outset requested that no details be given in the press. The Defense Plant corporation was represented by Samuel D. Williams, an attorney.

In the initial appearance before the Newark city commission, Mayor Williams appeared and offered the neighboring city $2,500 for the property which it had held for water purposes. Commissioner Ralph Villani, who has charge of city-owned property, rejected it on the grounds that the land had been assessed at a much higher figure by Belleville. The mayor admitted this but said the assessment had been reduced to the $2,500 figure.

On Monday, the Newark officials agreed to sell the land which has a frontage of 221 feet on Main street and a depth of 400 feet for $7,000. In addition, the sale of a 10-foot strip of land, 1,000 feet deep, bordering on Greylock avenue, was included.

Street That Isn't There

Between the two pieces of property which have been purchased for the Kidde company, town maps show that at some time Belleville dedicated a 40-foot street for a distance of 1,000 feet. Should the town board vote to abandon the street, the Defense Plant corporation by virtue of the fact that it owns property on both sides of the "paper" street would automatically acquire the property. Providing People A Place To Live

Housing presents a major problem to the government in the industrial defense effort and there is no area which is more affected by it than that in which we live. With houses and apartments scarce and those which are available being offered at premium prices, the question of where people will live is just as vital as the fact that they have a job.

Converting all possible labor to war production and housing go hand in hand. Builders are showing increasing interest in local vacant areas as suitable building sites. Belleville plants are expanding and new ones are being built. With these will come many workers and they must have a place to live.

As industry increases its production capacity through building expansion, the town and its taxpayers should correspondingly gain in ratables. New homes and apartments should result in a greater rise.

The increase in the number of homes will be fine for Belleville only if building standards are kept at a high level. There is no point to permitting structures which will bring less in revenue than they and their tenants will receive in municipal services. As we see it, that is the big thing against which every municipality must guard today. To date, every development which has had the approval of the town commission, we believe has been a gain for Belleville, and there is no reason why that standard cannot be maintained.

Belleville is a town of 30,000 residents. Its population will undoubtedly increase in this and succeeding years. We must not forget that as population rises, our municipal services—police, fire, health and even schools—may be expected to be forced to increase.

You Pay—Why Not Understand It?

The machine which keeps any town rolling is its municipal budget, for it is by it that the governing officials judge how much it will cost to operate the town during the year and also determine how much will be asked of the property owners in taxes.

Next week the board of commissioners will consider for adoption the budget which would provide the funds for the operation of Belleville during the current year. Granted that the long columns of facts and figures do not make interesting reading, we still think that any property owner who each year pays out his well-earned money should read it to learn in some measure how it is being spent.

You don't pay bills without knowing what they are for and what you received in return. Paying taxes is no different. The budget is not as complicated as it looks. If you do not understand it, there's a place to get the right answer—and that's the town hall. Keep asking until you clearly understand just what you want to know.

try to get a clear understanding of the budget and what the town does with its money. In another month, candidates will be talking and disputes are likely to be started from platforms. It is your business to know who is talking the right way. Do not be misled by stories which are not factual. Politicians have the habit of twisting figures so that frequently even they themselves do not know the right answer.

If you will study the budget, you will have the best guide as far as expenses and finances go to determine if people are talking facts.

Has MacArthur Gone On Strike?

There was a time when strikes were regarded as something that just could not be avoided. They delayed production, but folks shrugged their shoulders, knowing that sooner or later management and labor would settle their troubles.

But, today when we hear that in a certain place a couple of hundred welders have walked out of a shipyard or airplane workers have gone on strike, it is heart-rending. For every day and hour when men are wounded and dying because of lack of equipment, it is criminal that those in our war producing plants should halt work over differences which could undoubtedly be settled while production goes on.

At home, war labor is receiving a fair wage. In many cases when demands have been made for increases, they have been granted. Are General MacArthur's brave men receiving a fair wage? Are they quitting or quabbling because of petty matters? Of course not. They are battling to preserve this country and all for which it stands to the last man. They are prepared to make the most tremendous sacrifice of all.

In face of this exceptional and courageous bravery, it is disgraceful that there should be any force or group which should slack in its effort to help these men and all others who stand ready and willing to pay with their lives in bringing victory.

The success of our cause is vital to every one of us—not just the men on the war front. Remember, if there is no victory, there will be no freedom, no right to walk off jobs as it pleases, no unions or high wages. It's something for those who are so willing to be defiant to think about.

Present Attitude Is Washington's Fault

There is little doubt that the minds of the American public are confused. Some are complacent, over-confident; others dubious, even pessimistic.

The announcement of the fall of Singapore and the haughty fashion in which the Nazis paraded the might of their sea power right under the noses of the British past the white cliffs of Dover were jarring blows to allied strength and confidence. Even the efforts of the U. S. naval public relations department to offset this bad news by glowing accounts of the victories achieved by the Pacific fleet at Gilbert and Marshall Islands did not overshadow the two dark stories of the week.

Early this week the war was brought closer to us when it was announced that submarines, presumably German, had shelled islands in the Netherlands West Indies. Closely following was a declaration from President Roosevelt that attacks on both the east and west coasts during the coming months could be expected.

That our position is becoming increasingly dangerous cannot be doubted from the facts. Many leaders talk of public complacency, but in putting the blame for this situation at the right place, it can be laid right on a few Washington doorsteps. The public was lulled into a state of self-assurance by the many sugar-coated speeches to the effect that if anybody started anything with Uncle Sam they would be wiped off the face of the earth in jig-time.

Today, we know that that is not true. Our adversaries are better prepared for this war than we are at the moment. Some places they have gained the upper hand and we will have the battle of our lives to move them since they have gained a foothold.

All that we have been told thus far by the leading allied statesmen is that this will be a long war and that we must expect a hard fight. Since the report to the nation of what happened at Pearl Harbor, we have heard nothing. Censorship has shut off the stories of what or what not our navy has done to the Nazi submarine fleet which has been playing death-dealing tag with ships off the eastern coast.

Secretary of Navy Knox is in favor of keeping as much news from the public as is possible. He believes that it is a great weapon to beat down enemy morale. But what about American morale and confidence? It should be given something and it is not being helped by the absence of straight-from-the-shoulder declarations by the men at the head of our government on just where we stand. There's plenty of confusion and indecision, and it can be principally blamed on Washington's policy.

Tonal Art Quartette Concert Proved To Be Pleasing

The Tonal Art Quartette presented a pleasing program Saturday evening at the high school in its benefit concert for the Red Cross relief fund, sponsored by the Woman's club. Ruth Miller, Mildred Beaff, Donald Gauss and Edgar Green make up the group.

Opening the program with quartet arrangements of songs by Schubert, Mendelssohn and Rasbach, the four immediately established themselves as serious, well-trained singers and knew what they were about.

Subsequently three songs in lighter vein were well-received by the listeners, and in their concluding numbers from von Flotow's 'Martha', ably annotated by Mr. Gauss, they reached the high point in their offerings.

Miss Miller brought a satisfying dramatic quality to her solos, which was evident also in her duets with Mr. Greene, whose voice has a rich bass resonance. Assurance backed by ample experience marked Miss Beaff's performance, both in solos and in duets with Mr. Gauss whose work was particularly fine.

Miss McNair, accompanist of the evening, acquitted herself splendidly. Providing an adequate background for the soloists, and being one with them, her playing had a self-effacing effect that was most pleasing.

Here is a well-integrated group of young musicians that should go far, for voice, dramatic feeling and appearance are all present. A professional atmosphere pervaded the evening. Belleville should stand back of the Tonal Art Quartette.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

An index both of the awareness of the burdens of war and of the methods of New Jersey bureaucracy was furnished Monday when Motor Vehicle Commissioner Magee appeared before the legislative appropriations committee.

At the hearing Magee "guessed" that motor vehicle registrations in New Jersey would be down 10 percent for the fiscal year beginning April 1. Yet, in spite of this impending reduction, Magee asked for and was given an increase of $23,300 for additional help.

The excuse Magee gave for the increase was that his staff had been "overworked" last year. Apparently the broad-minded statesmen who compose the appropriations committee agreed. Thus with all the calls for labor to work longer hours to win the war, Magee and his legislative cronies decide that additional labor to the extent of $23,300 worth shall be used to handle just 90 percent of the business of last year. That's business as usual, or isn't it?

Deserves Recognition

We hope Magee's noble efforts to win the war come to the attention of the war department, for such heroic sacrifice deserves recognition. We suggest that the distinguished service cross be awarded him immediately, with a more important decoration to come later. It is just possible, however, that Magee and the appropriations committee are slightly confused as to whom we are fighting and, Don Quixote like, are charging at the taxpayers instead of the Japs.

With obvious reluctance the legislature finally gave Governor Edison permission to replace Budget Director Stephan as head of civilian defense with Leonard Dreyfuss of Essex Fells. But there were informal warnings that the authority would be taken away if the Republican legislators didn't like the way Edison and Dreyfuss were conducting things. In fact, Cape May's Senate President Scott and Assembly Speaker Boswell issued a formal statement declaring that they thought the change not for the best.

Thus, there is unity in the defense set-up with a pistol pointed at the heads of Governor Edison and Dreyfuss. If these two are wise they will go ahead as though the pistol were a popgun, as it probably is. Dreyfuss has the reputation of being an extremely able executive and if anyone can straighten out the present mess he ought to. He serves without salary.

Thinks Edison "Through" Edison's troubles are not limited to the Republicans, however. Democrat sars supporting him of the extent that the leaders think they will be rewarded by patronage and no more. I have talked to Democrat after Democrat in Essex and invariably their attitude is one of defeatism. More and more of them are openly siding with Frank Hague. Others are still with the governor on the surface, but all are waiting. They think Edison is "through" politically and are waiting to see what will come after him.

Contests for the legislature this fall will be subordinate to the congressional contests and those contests in turn will depend upon how well the average voter thinks the Roosevelt administration is conducting the war. But the Democratic party, especially in Essex, is in a poor condition to conduct a spirited campaign.

My REAL Name is "CROAKER"

Some people call me "Hard Head" or "Red-Bass". I am caught in nets during the night, then brought to the beach within forty-five minutes. I'm placed in baskets, washed off in chilled ocean water, then frozen, all within three hours after I am caught. I get two thin sprays of ocean water which they call a glaze, to preserve my freshness.

I AM YOURS FOR 12¢ lb

FRYING:
Dip in salted milk then roll in corn meal or flour or crumbs. Place in hot skillet with about 1/4" of hot oil or fat... (not butter).

BROILING:
Remove rack from broiler pan... place fish on waterproof paper in pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, brush with oil or fat.
