Rationers Swamped By Appeals, Those Wanting Less Gas

The offices of the rationing board in School No. 8 were swamped with two kinds of people this week—those who wanted more gasoline and those who wanted to return "X" or "B" cards for one that would entitle them to less gasoline between now and June 30.

An estimated 200 turned up at the school Tuesday night, most of them wanting more gasoline, while throughout the day since cards have been issued there has been a steady flow in and out of the office and hundreds of inquiries have been handled over the telephone.

Because of the number of appeals which are being made by motorists who believe that they must use their cars, the board set up a schedule of hours on Tuesday night. Starting last night and continuing until further notice, those automobile owners who believe that they are entitled to more gasoline may visit the board any weekday night between 7 and 9 p.m. They will be given Form 512, supplemental rationing request form, which must be filled out and signed by their employer. It should be brought back to the board when five units are left to be punched on a rationing card. If in the opinion of the rationing office, the request is reasonable, an additional allotment of gasoline up until June 30 will be granted.

Puel E. Daniels, who is secretary of the board and has been in charge of most of the work to date, was relieved of some of his duties Tuesday night. It was explained that Daniels in his regular position as business manager of the board of education has much work to be done between now and the middle of summer.

Son With Air Corps Writes Letter From Australia

A letter was received last week by Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Leitzes of 48 Belmont street from their son, Martin, somewhere in Australia. Leitzes, who enlisted in the army air force in September, 1940, was formerly stationed at Mitchell Field with the 35th Pursuit Squadron. He left San Francisco in January.

Nothing New To These Five Men

3 APPOINTMENTS MADE BY CLARK

White, Fire Lieutenant; Flynn, Police Sergeant; Natale, New Fireman

In his first official act following his re-election, Commissioner Clark, head of the department of public safety, this week announced the appointment of a police sergeant and of a lieutenant and a fireman in the fire department. All appointments were effective last Saturday.

Named as the new lieutenant in fire department was Fireman Harry White of 170 Linden avenue. A member of the paid department since January, 1930, White fills the vacancy caused by the death of Lieut. Walter Beresford last January.

Charles Natale of 14 Columbus avenue is the new fireman. Patrolman John J. Flynn of 74 Clinton street was named the new police sergeant. He comes from a family long associated with the police department in Belleville for his father is Michael Flynn, former police chief. Flynn has been a member of the police department since September, 1925.

White, who has been stationed at the main headquarters in Washington avenue, has been transferred to the Silver Lake fire station. He is 46 years old and has resided in Belleville for more than 25 years. A native of Nutley, he was well known both there and locally as a football and baseball player. He played second base for the Liberty Athletic club, state semi-pro champs for a number of years, and also was quarterback on the club's football team which held the state crown for eight years.

He first became connected with the fire department in 1919 as a volunteer and then was made a call man in 1923.

Clark started a move on Tuesday at the final meeting of the "old" board of commissioners for the naming of another fire lieutenant. He introduced an amendment to the fire department ordinance which would raise the number of lieutenants from three to four.

It is understood that if the ordinance is adopted Fireman William "Becky" Gilchrist will be named. Gilchrist since Belleville first organized its civilian defense program has played a leading part in instructing fire reserve members and has lectured before all defense council units and numerous other groups on incendiary bombs, their dangers and how to properly extinguish them.

Memorial Service Sunday Night Tribute To War Dead

Members of veterans' organizations and the public have been invited to participate in the annual memorial service in tribute to the war dead which will be held on Sunday night at 7:45 p.m. at St. Peter's church in William street. It has been arranged by the committee which also has charge of the Memorial day program to be highlighted by the annual parade on Saturday, May 30.

The parade will be preceded by brief ceremonies at the Victory monument in front of the town hall to be followed by a march which will take the parade through the usual route to the various cemeteries. Rev. Joseph M. Kelly, St. Peter's pastor, has been invited to speak at the service at the cemetery of his church. At other cemeteries Rev. Peter Deckenbach, Christ Episcopal church rector, and Rev. John Struyk, Belleville Reformed pastor, will speak.

NEWARK SESSION DECIDED IT

Commissioners Reached Decision On Departments, Mayoralty Monday Night

The newly elected commissioners settled the division of departments and the mayoralty question at a dinner conference held on Monday night at the Newark Athletic club. Mayor Williams notified each of the five of the meeting in telegrams which they received on Saturday.

After eating in the main dining room of the NAC shortly after 6 p. m., the five and Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan and Hugh Welsh, deputy to commissioner Waters, retired to one of the club's board rooms where they conferred for more than an hour and a half.

It was understood that departments were assigned first and then the mayoralty issue was voted upon. Commissioner Noll, it was learned, made a bid to have control of public buildings returned to his department, but this was promptly rejected by Director Waters, who has had control of it for nearly four years.

There were no further gestures on the part of the other board members to give up any other powers or acquire new ones. When it came to deciding who would be mayor, it was learned that the only supporter, Commissioner Waters had in his bid for the mayor's office was Commissioner Noll, the others backing Mayor Williams to retain the office he has held for eight years.

Approve Cops For Plant

The board of commissioners on Tuesday approved the designation of three Bart laboratory workers as special officers with police powers on the company property. They are Walter Drake, J. F. Hannon and W. T. Sullivan.

Second Practice Blackout Is Set For May 31-June 6; Be Longer Than First And Cover State

Belleville will participate in its second practice blackout for civilian defense preparedness some time during the week of May 31 to June 6 when the entire state will be darkened for the first time.

Defense Council Chairman Everett B. Smith was notified of the coming test today as were chairmen of 562 other local defense units throughout the state. All were instructed to make preparation for the practice blackout "to test the efficiency of protective forces without giving previous definite time warning."

The local council is scheduled to meet at town hall next Monday night and Judge Smith indicated last night that full plans and preparations for Belleville's part in the coming test would be made.

RATIONING MEANS RECREATION NEED IS GREATER-NOLL

People Staying At Home Must Have Something To Do, Says Director

Stating that Belleville has reached an "urgent stage in its community life," Commissioner Noll announced last night that he would during the next fortnight call a meeting of town leaders to consider an expansion of the recreation program to increase activities not only for the children but for adults as well.

"Gasoline rationing has changed our lives and habits overnight," the commissioner stated. "Inability to use automobiles and the probability that other means of transportation will be curtailed shortly means that most of Belleville must stay at home this summer. To those who work many hours each week in defense industries, it means that they will not have the opportunity to get away for even a day. We have a problem and we must do something about it."

The commissioner said that he and Edward Liser, recreation director, are now studying possible plans and methods of widening the scope of the recreation program to meet the needs of the people.

"We are constantly told," he said, "that we must keep the morale of those at home high. As we take away from them some of the privileges and enjoyments which they have had, we must replace them with something else or there will be no morale. I think there is a job for every community to do and I hope that we can expand our program in Belleville without much delay."

Noll, who has been in charge of recreation for the past four years, said that he would invite leading members of the clergy, leaders of organizations and others prominent in community activities to attend the meeting and present their viewpoints on what is needed and what can be done.

The commissioner expressed the opinion that many of the town places which have closed down during the summer in the past would be kept open this summer. Plans are already being made to keep the playgrounds now in operation open from early in the day until well into the night with activities both for the youngsters and the adults.

"I think that giving people something to do and some place in town to go is a bigger problem today than it has ever been," the commissioner commented. "We should not lose any time in doing something about it."

AIR RAID TEST GOES SMOOTHLY

All Local Defense Chiefs, Schools And Industries Quickly Notified

Complete satisfaction with the functioning of Belleville's civilian defense network in Tuesday morning's surprise air raid warning "test" was reported yesterday by Municipal Judge Everett B. Smith, defense council chairman.

Word of the surprise alarm was flashed over the teletype machine shortly after 11 a.m. Smith was immediately notified as were the various chiefs of the defense units to be on the alert for a second alarm.

The police department also speedily dispatched notice of the alarm signal to all of the schools and the numerous local industries which are on the list of those to be notified and to those at which the air raid warning sirens are located.

It was a confidential message or "blue" signal so that no public warning signal would have been sounded. At 11:30 a.m., the "all clear" or white signal was sent over the teletype and all those in charge were notified that the alarm was ended. At the time of the test, local officials had no knowledge of whether it was a real air raid warning or a test.

LAST ACT

Old Board Rescinds Ordinance Voting Themselves Pay Increases

One of the last official acts of the old board of commissioners which passed into history shortly before noon on Tuesday was to introduce an ordinance to repeal an ordinance passed during the first month of their term in 1938.

The ordinance would have raised the salary of the mayor from $2,250 to $2,700 and that of the other four commissioners from $1,800 to $2,250. The measure caused quite a rumpus at the time with Commissioner Noll the lone commissioner opposed to its passage. He refused to take his increased salary and neither did any of those who had voted for it.

The rescinding measure approved unanimously on introduction Tuesday will have a hearing in two weeks.

Fratella Promoted

Pvt. D. Raymond Fratella, stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga., has been promoted to the rank of first class private. He is a graduate of the local high school, class of 1935, and was employed by Albert's Delicatessen before he entered the service.

Surprise Anniversary Party Held For Father O'Brien

A surprise party was held last night at Yountakah Country club, Nutley, in honor of the tenth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. John J. O'Brien of All Saints' church, Jersey City. Father O'Brien is the son of Mrs. Andrew J. O'Brien of 197 De Witt avenue and the late Mr. O'Brien. His brothers are W. Eugene O'Brien of the DeWitt avenue address and Daniel O'Brien of Fairview avenue. A third brother, Andrew O'Brien, lives in Irvington.

In the first practice blackout of North Jersey counties held last month, Belleville's civilian defense army of more than 1,000 functioned smoothly with only a few violations of regulations being reported and the only glow in the sky coming from some of the industrial plants engaged in civilian defense work.

Official notification of the second test was released at the New Jersey Defense Council headquarters in Trenton by G. Becker Jamieson, director of the department of public information.

Harry H. Neuberger, director of civil protection of the New Jersey Defense council, who has had charge of the preparations, said that all chairmen and other officials of local defense councils have been notified that every precaution must be taken to insure against injury and accidents during the all-state blackout.

Accidents can and must be avoided," he said. "They can be only if officials understand and obey instructions and see to it that the public and members of the protective forces do the same."

The warning will be given in the usual manner except that it will be preceded by the words "Practice-Practice" followed by the color of the warning signal. This was done so as not to confuse it with a real air raid, if one should occur during the week.

Virtually the same rules and regulations will apply during the all-state blackout as prevailed during the sectional blackouts during the recent months. All traffic will be halted with the exception of doctors, nurses on call, U. S. mail and postal inspectors, fire and police cars, public utility repair crews, clergymen traveling to give spiritual aid and units of the U. S. army, navy and marines.

All other cars will be ordered to pull to the side of the roads, turn out lights and remain immobile until the "all clear" signal is given.

Neuberger said that the test will be longer than the 15 minutes duration of previous tests. He refused to disclose, however, how long it would last.

Chief air raid wardens were notified that they must immediately arrange to have post and sector wardens prepare weekly schedules so that posts and sector wardens will be manned on short notice at any time of the day or night.

Don't Break Windows During the practice blackout air raid wardens will be required to see that all lights on their posts are out. They were warned, however, that they are not to break windows to extinguish the lights. Citizens, Neuberger said, must be instructed to turn out all lights in their homes when leaving if they expect to be away during hours of darkness. Night lights in stores, gasoline stations, road stores, office buildings and outside sign illumination must be extinguished when the last person leaves the premises every night unless an outside switch has been installed for use of the air raid warden or police reservist.

Between now and the time of the practice blackout, air raid wardens, finding lights on in business premises and no way of turning them off and no one on the premises shall call the proprietor and have him come to the store and turn them off.

All plants on war production are requested to put into effect as much of a blackout as is possible without endangering their equipment, but they are not to stop operations. Plants were warned against pulling the main switch unless precautions against sabotage have been taken. External lights that will not effect production should be turned off.

Traffic coming into the state during the test will be subject to the same regulations as that already in the area.

SELF SERVICE FOOD STORES

SUPER MARKETS

OWNED AND OPERATED BY THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

READ WHY YOU'LL FIND LOW CEILING PRICES AT A&P

FIRST—WHAT IS A CEILING PRICE? A store's ceiling price on any item covered by the law is the maximum price charged by that store for the item during March, 1942. Because every A&P price has been a very low price month after month, our ceiling prices are naturally very low. For some time past despite many advancing wholesale market prices, A&P did not advance retail prices until absolutely necessary. That's why so many of our prices did not require adjustment when the law became effective.

SECOND—WHY CEILING PRICES ARE NOT THE SAME IN ALL STORES. The regulations clearly state that each store must establish its own price ceiling. For example, if store "X" charged 17c for Jones Brand Tomatoes in March and store "Y" 15c for the same article, during March, then "X" can charge no higher than 17c and "Y" no higher than 15c. Prices of commodities affected by the law have been adjusted wherever necessary and we have fully complied with the new regulations in every respect.

WHY A&P CEILING PRICES ARE LOW—For years we've waged war on needless waste in distributing foods—cut out unnecessary expenses—eliminated FRILLS. And the savings made have been shared with our customers by giving them low prices. The new ceiling price regulations will not alter in any way our policy of bringing you the finest foods the markets afford at our lowest possible prices. You are invited to visit your nearest A&P Super Market today—Come in, shop and save with confidence!

GIRL SCOUTS AID SALVAGE DRIVE

Preparation Of Tin Cans Theme Of Display At Acme Market

The Acme Super market at 335 Washington avenue is one of the stores in town which houses a Girl Scout demonstration on the preparation of tin cans for the salvage collection which will be staged by the local defense council on May 28, next Thursday.

An effective display, showing an empty can in each stage of preparation, is arranged there and Girl Scouts are in attendance after school hours to answer any additional questions which shoppers may ask. The wrapper is first removed from the cleaned can, the bottom is cut out and top and bottom pieces are placed inside the can, which is then flattened. A caution regarding the last operation is that the can should not be completely compressed. A space of half an inch or so should exist between its sides. According to previous explanations this is to permit the free flow of chemicals around all surfaces of the can in the de-tinning process.

Certain food and drug stores in every section of the town including Silver Lake have these educational displays arranged by the Girl Scouts at the request of the defense council.

Free War Training Course At Newark Engineering

Free war training courses in the field of engineering and production management offered by the Newark College of Engineering started yesterday. Designed for workers in war industries, these courses are a part of the program of the U. S. Office of Education. Classes are held at night. Enrollment will continue for the following week to permit all qualified men and women an opportunity of admission classes.

The courses offered have been prepared to specifications laid down by local defense industries, and include engineering drawing, electrical drafting, industrial organization and scientific management, time and motion study, industrial relations for engineers, costing for engineers, metallurgy and physical properties of metals, gages, shop processes and inspection problems, machine design, tool design and introduction to ultra-high frequency.

Another series of courses is designed especially for training those not now employed in war work. Many women are expected to enroll, as well as numerous students just completing their high school courses.

The War Training Office of the Newark College of Engineering will be open during the day and evenings to receive applications and interview candidates.

SWIM CAMPAIGN AGAIN PLANNED

Montclair 'Y' Announces It; Transporting Children Will Be Problem

Hundreds of Belleville children will have an opportunity again this year to learn to swim free of charge, it was revealed yesterday in Montclair following a meeting of the 1942 Learn-to-Swim campaign committee.

Last year Belleville had the best representation of any community in this area in the drive and is expected to be a leader in the movement again.

Because of several pending arrangements, the campaign dates will not definitely be set at this time but it is expected the drive will be held again late in June. Announcement of the dates will probably be made after the next meeting of the campaign committee which is scheduled for May 28.

Mayor Williams of Belleville has already been appointed to the Mayor's committee which helps sponsor the program and will soon name a delegate to the general committee which is headed this year by Commissioner Raymond D. Shepard of Montclair.

Transportation Problem

One of the problems yet to be overcome is that of transportation to and from pools where lessons are to be given by qualified instructors to the children who are unable to swim. Committee members are working with rationing officials to determine if the use of cars to get the children to and from instruction points can be effected again this year.

The 1942 campaign is being sponsored by a group of more than 20 co-operating organizations and municipal governments. Direction of the campaign is in the hands of the Montclair Y.M.C.A.

The Montclair "Y" and the Montclair Branch Y pools and the Silver Lake Community pool in Belleville have already been named as instruction points. Others are expected to be named within the next few days.

Special apparatus developed by him while instructor for the Montclair Y. M. C. A. will be used for the first time. All juniors in the Nutley club will be eligible for the training and two classes will be formed, one for beginners under 12 and the other class for players under 18.

Wiess, who was graduated from the local high school and employed by the Tobacco Machine Supply company on Main street, enlisted in the Navy two weeks ago.

MAYOR PROMISES AID TO NEGROES
Tells Newark Luncheon Group He'll Arrange For Confab With Industrialists
Two Belleville residents were prominent among those at the annual luncheon of the employment department of the New Jersey State Federation of Colored Women held Thursday at the Riviera hotel in Newark.
Mrs. Leonora B. Willette of Stephens street is the state chairman of the employment department and introduced the speakers including Mayor Williams. Among the other prominent speakers were Harold G. Hoffman, former governor and present head of the New Jersey Unemployment Compensation commission; Rev. Hamilton L. Garner, assistant regional director of the NLRB.
Mayor Williams said that he believed that Belleville industries had taken a first place in assuming a full democratic responsibility for greater production in the war effort by the employment of all capable persons regardless of race and place of birth. He offered to arrange a meeting of three or four leading local industrialists with representatives chosen by the federation. The group would discuss methods of obtaining further employment for Negroes in local plants.
Mrs. Willette also attended the Governor's conference held at Trenton on Monday under the auspices of the Governor's Goodwill commission. During the luncheon held at the Hotel Hildebrecht, Hoffman commented on the Newark luncheon meeting and the remarks made by Mayor Williams there.

STEWART GIVES EDISON PRAISE
'Familiar With Machine Control Tactics', Candidate Writes On Meaney Appointment
Governor Edison gained at least one local supporter for his stand on the appointment of Thomas F. Meaney to a federal judgeship for this state when he received a letter from George E. Stewart Jr. of Smallwood avenue yesterday.
Stewart, who was a candidate in the recent commission election, wrote the governor:
"This letter, the first I have written to a Governor of our State, is impelled through pride and appreciation of your attitude concerning the Meaney appointment."

Freedom Is Mockery
"Freedom from fear and the right of free speech become objects of mockery equalled only by voters who are bought for the price of a beer, a dollar or harassed by police in civilian clothes under orders to get out the vote, leaving the community virtually unprotected while they do so. Promises of reward, promotions, new jobs to be created putrefy the very air of freedom and prophesy more tax dollars to be sweated from the public to be sacrificed on the altar of personal ambition, greed and power."
"It is because of this that I can appreciate and pay tribute to a man like you for your work against great odds, and to you I know will come the satisfaction that somewhere there is a voice of encouragement, be it ever so dim and unknown, which will continue to repeat, Preserve our state, our country and our democracy. May God be with you."

RECOVER BODY OF NEGRO BOY

Police, Sea Scouts Continue Search For Other Drowned In Passaic River

The body of one of the two Negro boys who drowned in the Passaic river, near the mouth of the Second river, on Monday night, was recovered shortly before dusk last night.

Police and local Sea Scouts under the direction of Scout Commissioner W. Douglas Clark and Fireman Carl Hundertpfund, Sea Scout skipper, were continuing their grapple efforts well after dark last night in an effort to find the other body.

The body recovered was that of James Massey, Jr., 14, of 42 Schuyler street. Still sought is that of Robert Brown, 11, of 19 Terrace place. The boys had been missing since 4 p.m. Monday afternoon and the first report that the boys might have been drowned was given early that evening when another boy found some clothing on the bank on the Newark side of the Second river. After grappling was started, a necktie was pulled up which was identified by the father of the Massey boy.

Sea Scouts maintained a vigil along the riverbank and in boats on the river all day and night Tuesday and yesterday. It was believed that one of their number first saw Massey's body when it came to the top of the water in the wash of a passing tugboat. The body was brought from the water by William Wells.

Why unnecessary telephone calls may delay urgent ones in an air raid emergency

IT WOULD BE out of the question to build a telephone system large enough to take care of all the calls that would result if everybody tried to telephone at once — just as it would be impracticable to build highway and transportation systems in the expectation that everyone would want to use them at the same time.

Your telephone system, whether dial or manually-operated, is equipped and manned to take care of calling that is normally distributed in varying amounts throughout the day, with some reserve for the unexpected. Should many more than the normal number of calls be crowded into a very short period, the system would probably be clogged and many calls, emergency calls among them, would not get through.

The rule, "Don't telephone unless urgent", applies both during an air raid alarm, and for some time afterward, because defense action must be taken in both periods by telephone. General public observance of the rule will go far to insure fast, dependable telephone service in case of an emergency.

NEW CAPTAIN FOR MOTOR CORPS

Name Mrs. Thelma Ford; Make Plans For Red Cross Blood Bank

After the resignation of Miss Doris Scharfberg as captain of the Red Cross Motor Corps the appointment of a new chief for that group was confirmed Monday evening at a meeting of the executive board. Mrs. Thelma Ford of Washington avenue will be the new captain. The 22 active members of the corps who have passed their physical examination and successfully completed a mechanics course and the standard and advanced first aid courses, are now engaged in military training which is being conducted by a Glen Ridge unit.

Their leader is anxious to increase the enrollment to 35 members. Out of the original 25 applicants only 3 were rejected because of physical unfitness.

Detailed plans will be made Monday night for the reception of the Red Cross mobile blood donor's unit which will come to Belleville July 1.

John Charlton, chairman of the local chapter's blood donation; John J. Hewitt, nutrition chairman, Mrs. Ford, Dr. William Taffet, who heads the group of town doctors and nurses assigned to assist the unit, and Miss Vivian Kilpatrick, publicity chairman, will coordinate the final plans.

The scene of the donations will be the old gym of the high school where donors will be received from 2 to 7 p. m. on July 1. Members of the motor corps will transport those who cannot otherwise reach the high school if these people will apply beforehand to the Red Cross headquarters at the Woman's club. The canteen, under the direction of Mr. Hewitt, will provide refreshments for donors.

Ninety-seven registration blanks have been returned to date to Miss Esther Adams, Red Cross secretary, out of a total of 125 sent out. Among these are represented employees of various manufacturing concerns in Belleville. Letters were sent to these manufacturers when it was found that an insufficient number of volunteers had signed up to donate blood.

The Red Cross is anxious to equip as many young people as possible for life guarding and teaching positions at the nation's pools, beaches and camps. The ranks of senior lifesavers have been seriously depleted by the diversion of numerous young men to armed service.

Of the seven aquatic schools in the eastern part of the country, Camp Manhattan at Narrowsburg, N. Y., is the one chosen for students from this area. A course will be conducted there from June 17 to 27 and the fee for board, lodging and textbooks will be paid by the local chapter for any individual whom they select. Those who are skilled in water sports, who are free to be assigned to camp or beach work in the summer and who can pass the necessary physical requirements may apply to the Red Cross headquarters at the Woman's club. Any applicant who has had first aid training will have an opportunity to take instruction in advanced subjects such as the teaching of water sports, handling small craft and advanced life saving.

URGE SALVAGE FOR VICTORY

Committee Points To Many Articles of No Value That May Be Junked

Belleville householders engaged in the annual spring cleaning are urged to take this opportunity to "salvage for victory."

The salvage committee of the defense council points out that many articles no longer of value for their owners may contain materials which can be salvaged to contribute to the nation's war effort.

Robert Sutherin, committee chairman, urges everyone to consider what part of those items being discarded could be diverted from the rubbish heap into reclamation channels.

Sutherin listed these general categories of materials worth salvaging: Paper and cardboard, old clothes and rags, old rubber such as worn shoes, inner tubes, old tires, overshoes and raincoats, anything containing such metals as iron, steel, brass, copper, aluminum or lead. These metals may be reclaimed from discarded tools, beds, stoves, tire chains, pots and pans, clothes hangers and the like.

The salvage committee suggests that such items be segregated and packed in separate boxes or bundled neatly. Instead of placing them at the curb for the refuse collector, Sutherin suggests householders call in a reliable junk dealer who will take them at current prices.

Funds thus obtained, Sutherin adds, may be invested in war stamps. The householder thus disposes of unwanted trash and also obtains "found" money to invest in the greatest war effort in the nation's history.

Archie G. Baxter Is Latest Naval Training Recruit

Archie G. Baxter, 27, of 43 Linden avenue, is the latest recruit to be sent from Belleville to the U. S. naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill. for a period of training prior to being ordered to active duty either with the U. S. fleet at sea or at a naval shore station.

These new recruits are training thoroughly in seamanship and naval procedure during their preliminary indoctrination at the Great Lakes Training Station. Baxter received the rating of machinist's mate, second class.

LEGISLATURE GETS GROUP'S REPORT ON CONSTITUTION

Seven-Man Committee Makes Report; Five Main Proposals

The seven member commission on revision of the New Jersey constitution which since last November has studied methods of improving the framework of constitutional government in New Jersey, has made public excerpts from its report which it submitted to Governor Edison and the state legislature on Monday.

The commission's report, which is unanimous, is signed by all seven members. The report recommends a new constitution for the State of New Jersey, the full text of which will be set forth in the commission's complete report when it is submitted on Monday, next. Bills to give full effect to the commission's entire recommendations also are being prepared for introduction in the legislature shortly.

The revised constitution, recommended by the commission, retains all of the basic guarantees of the present constitution, such as the bill of rights.

The new document, however, contains a comprehensive and complete revision of the state's present basic law, embodying many new principles which have developed in public thinking since the state's constitution was last rewritten in 1844. In the commission's judgment, the revision will give the people of New Jersey a government adequate to meet the demands of current and future conditions.

The effect of the revised constitution would be to bring about major changes in the legislative, executive and judicial branches of state government and in the concept, control and administration of government at the state level in New Jersey.

The commission's report recommends:

1. That through suitable enabling legislation, the legislature at the primary election in September, next, shall request authority from the people to submit a revised constitution at the general election of November, 1942.

2. That upon a favorable vote of the people on this question at the primary election, a revised constitution shall be incorporated in a legislative bill and be enacted as a law.

3. That such law should set in motion the machinery for submission of the constitution to the people and be enacted in time for action at the general election in November, 1942.

4. That the law provide for such distribution and publication of the revised constitution as the legislature may deem appropriate.

5. That the submission of the revised constitution be in such form that the people will vote either for or against the document as a whole.

These five proposals mean that if the commission's recommendation of a revised constitution is ultimately to be accepted by the people, two distinct steps must be taken.

First, the legislature must place on the primary ballot the question, "Shall the legislature submit a revised constitution to the people at the general election in November, 1942?" If the people vote to give the legislature this authority, the legislature must then submit a revised constitution at the general election in November.

Mrs. Edward Dunham, Mrs. Arthur MacCarrick, Mrs. Frederick Idenden, Mrs. Howard Ryer, Mrs. Norbert Bertl, Mrs. Frederick Ochsner and Mrs. Paul McDonnell were bridge guests yesterday at the home of Mrs. Jane Truscott of Montclair.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Members Assist Post In Poppy Sale

Members of the V. F. W. auxiliary will assist the Post. Geo. A. Younginger post in the sale of Buddy poppies from Saturday through May 30.

The auxiliary will also attend the special memorial services which have been arranged by the Memorial day committee and will be held at St. Peter's church Sunday night at 7:45 p. m.

An election of delegates and alternates to the 24th annual state encampment to be held at Asbury Park on June 24 to 28 will take place at the regular auxiliary meeting to be held on Wednesday evening, May 27. The headquarters for the women will be the Monterey hotel with business sessions scheduled for the Convention hall.

A luncheon for V. F. W. post members will be served by the auxiliary at the headquarters in Belleville avenue on Memorial day, May 30. Mrs. Irving Holly will be the chairman assisted by Mrs. Anna Walsifer, Miss Jane McArt, Mrs. Fred Singer and Mrs. John Kant.

PATRIOTISM WAS CONCERT KEYNOTE

Nutley Symphony Presents Final Concert; Schoonmaker Is Praised

Playing the national anthem with a spirit and verve which was the keynote of the entire evening, the Nutley symphony orchestra, under the baton of Nicos Cambourakis, gave the concluding concert of its 1941-42 season in the Nutley high school auditorium recently.

The "Leonore Overture No. 3," with its off-stage horn part and lyrical melody, received excellent treatment and brought a virtual ovation from the listeners to both orchestra and conductor.

William Schoonmaker, piano soloist in d'Albert's "Concerto No. 2," gave a splendid reading of a composition which cannot boast the audience-appeal of some of the greater piano concertos. Nevertheless, the symphony enthusiasts were so definite in their approval of Mr. Schoonmaker that he was finally prevailed upon to play an encore, Rachmaninoff's "Humoresque."

The "Scherzando Suite" of Rimsky-Korsakoff occupied the second half of the program, and was roundly applauded.

New officers of the New Jersey Federation of Music clubs attended the concert and were among forty guests entertained after the concert by Eleanor Bacon-Peck of this town. Among the guests of honor were president, Mrs. Lewis J. Howell of Camden; first vice-president Mrs. Frank N. Garland of Newark; Howard Kasschau, composer, of Ridgewood, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicos Cambourakis and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Eldridge of Nutley.

Women's College Club Elects Officers At Tonight's Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's College club will be held tonight at the Helen MacHugh studio, 37 Washington street, Newark. Miss Elizabeth N. Kennedy will preside.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Jackson is general chairman of nominations and is being assisted by the Misses Elizabeth Montross, Margaret Lyons and Irene O'Toole. Election of officers will take place. This year there are three offices to be filled: vice-president and program chairman, corresponding secretary and treasurer.

Following the business meeting, Harold C. Bohn, English instructor at Montclair State Teachers college, will speak. Bohn, a graduate of Hamilton college and drama instructor of the Montclair institution, has chosen as his subject: "Sanity in the Modern Drama."

Everybody For Himself And The Country Be

The automobile is an integral part of American family life and when its use is taken away from them, it is bound to bring discontent, grumbling and unrest. The gasoline rationing plan has done just that. It has stirred up jealousy, bickering, spying and general criticism, the like of which has never before been so generally displayed.

Promotion of discontent in this country is just what our enemies want. It is what they clamor for and what they believe is one of the best means of undermining this nation so that it will eventually be weakened enough for them to overcome it. We do not believe that day will ever come. But, we have started ourselves down the road to just such a condition.

One of the primary reasons for the downfall of France was internal disruption and jealousy. Everybody was for himself and the country be damned. Is it not that which is taking place right here today?

Not all of the people, it is true, but too many of them are all out for themselves. They are lying, chiselling, evading the law where they can get what they want. Very suddenly, they have discovered that they are in business in which the law demands that they use commercial plates on their cars, although they have never worried about the law before. Some others, employed in an official capacity of one kind or another, have at the same time learned that their automobile is indispensable — on call 24 hours a day, likely to be needed in an emergency at any moment. All of these claims lead them up to demanding and in most cases receiving "X" cards which entitle them to pull into the gasoline station and say "fill it up."

This practice in the gasoline rationing of seeing how much can be grabbed without being caught is quite typical of the attitude that has eaten its way into many fields of American life. It is an unhealthy, unpatriotic condition which once it has gained a foothold could lead to ruination.

The rationing system has set up neighbor against neighbor. It has encouraged backbiting, whispering and rumor mongering of the worst kind. In the minds of many there has been created a belief that the government is not dealing fairly and honestly. Gasoline dealers, rationing boards, those who issued the cards—in fact, no source—has escaped from suspicion.

There are certainly many who have a legitimate reason for needing one type of card or another, but the person who lies to obtain extra mileage for pleasure or who gets cards for the two automobiles he owns when he would be able to get along with one is the chiselling termite who is at the root of all of this unrest and discontent.

Who can straighten it out? The people themselves are the only ones. Rationing has obviously been instituted because it was necessary, notwithstanding all of the alleged well-informed gossips. It is a part of the tremendous effort which we must make if America is to win this war. We won't win it if half of us are doing our best to help while the other half are cheating and sneaking where they can—whether it be gasoline, sugar or any other needed commodity. The old saying that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link can apply here—a nation is only as strong as its most weak-minded, selfish citizen.

Telling The President In Strong Language

President Roosevelt has displayed several times of recent weeks that in spite of being deeply embroiled in the war effort, he can still be a politician, and by so doing ignores some of the rules which he himself has quoted in his desire to see us unified in our present battle.

Here in New Jersey, the act of the president which has let us know that he still has his hand in politics and that he can get down in the rough with the rest of them, was his appointment of Thomas F. Meane to the new federal judgeship for this state. Mr. Meane's record, it must be said is not one of the most puritan cloth. In fact, it is pretty much soiled with New Jersey politics of the kind that we are not proud. Mr. Meane has been tramping faithfully in the footsteps of Mayor Frank Hague for many years and has long been recognized as one of the favorites among the mayor's many vassals.

The sharp, strongly worded statement deploring the choice of Meane came this week from the president's long-time friend and faithful supporter, Governor Edison. It was not only a rebuke of Meane but of Mayor Hague and the president as well. It was stinging, but it contained many real wholesome thoughts of the type which we would like to hear from more of our political leaders and in which we would like to have them believe.

"I hold," Governor Edison wrote in a letter to the federal judiciary committee investigating the appointment, "that no man should ascend the bench to pass upon the rights of other men when he is obligated to a political boss, when worse, the judge has been a part of unsavory political-judicial moves. Still worse, it seems to me, would be a judge long associated with and long beholden to a man who says that and acts as if the law begins and ends with himself. This kind of dictatorship ought, in my judgment, to be entirely foreign to the American judiciary."

Elsewhere he remarked, "This democracy, I am profoundly convinced, will survive so long and only so long, as there is unimpaired confidence in the evenhanded, non-partisan administration of justice. The courts of Germany, by common knowledge, do the dictator's will regardless of the merits in the litigants' causes; if the American courts do the same, we take leave of those rights of individual citizens to the equality of justice for which we fight this war."

Had Governor Edison's opposition to the choice of Meane been motivated solely by the fact that the president had ignored his personal recommendation, he could have stated his position otherwise. But, in his blunt and pointed letter, he spoke straight from the shoulder in a convincing manner in which readers could see that Edison was not only disgusted and surprised at the president's action, but that he has nothing but contempt and dislike for Mayor Hague, for that for which he stands and for those who stand with him.

President Roosevelt's action in this appointment has been an ingracious affront to Edison. He has been an ardent supporter of the president from his earliest days in the White House, and has used his influence among the decent thinking people of this state to keep them in line for Roosevelt. That Roosevelt should totally ignore Edison in the choice of a federal judge, and should be guided by a political boss who has been discredited many times for his acts, is something which is difficult for us—and apparently for many others—to understand.

Making The Governor Mean Something

The report released last week by the commission on the revision of the state constitution will provide plenty of talk during the coming months. It will be officially submitted to the governor and the state legislature and it will be surprising if it is approved by the legislators speedily enough to put up to the public for approval at the election next November.

While major changes are proposed in all branches of state government, it is notable for the recommendation that it makes for increasing the power and authority of the governor. It provides that every state administrative official be directly accountable to the governor—and not to some commission or group of legislative members.

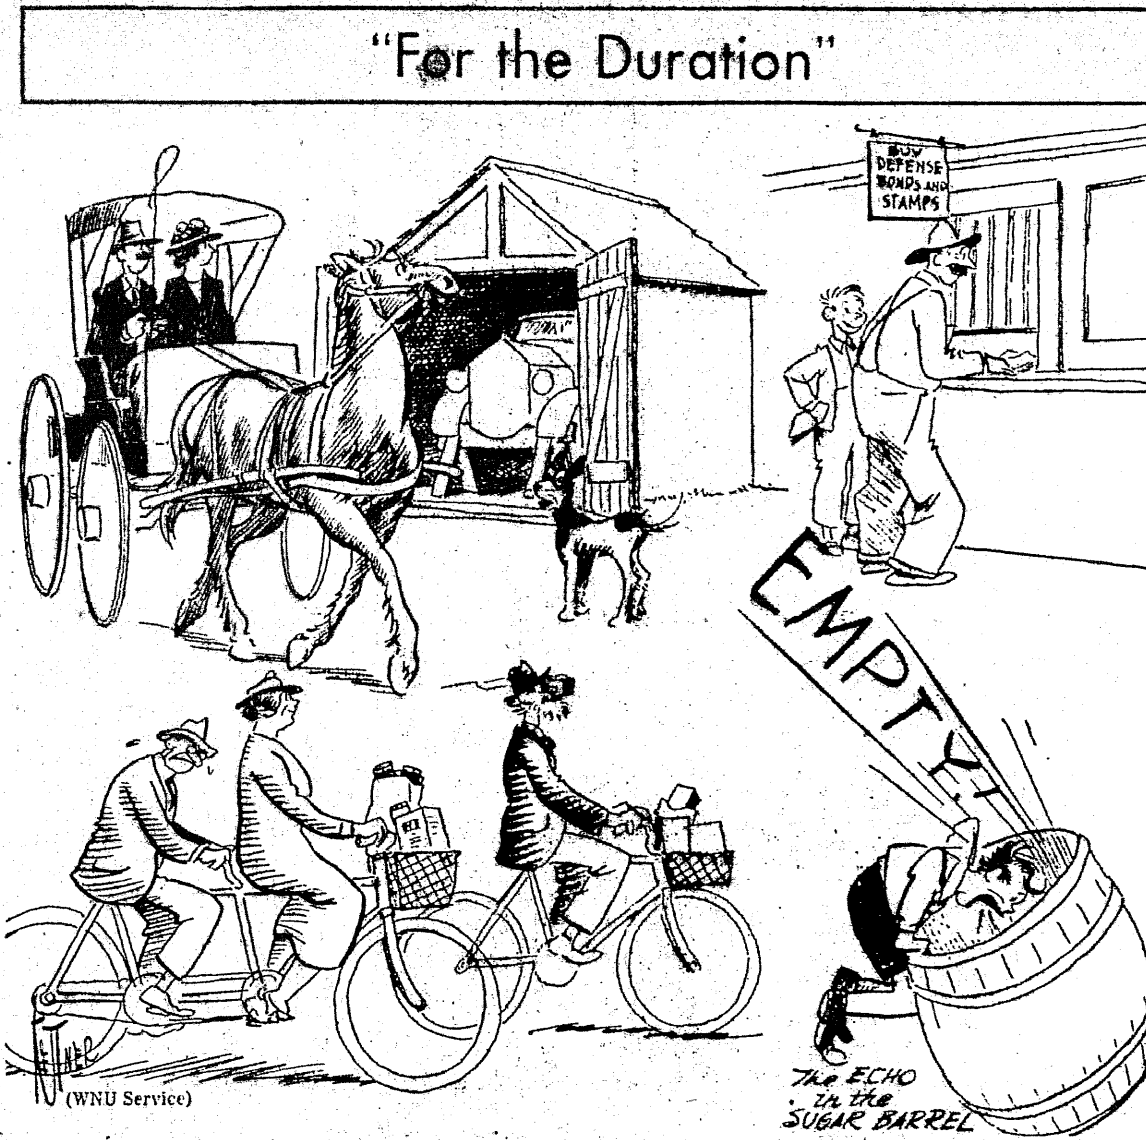

Principal among the changes is that the governor be permitted to serve a term of four years instead of three, but he will not be able to succeed himself.

While the average taxpayer and citizen of New Jersey may not realize it, there are more than 90 separate agencies and departments in state government. No man could keep track of them. No man could control and administer to their heads as he should with bureaus which annually spend millions of dollars. Well recommended is the committee's suggestion that the departments be cut down and placed in one of nine suggested divisions.

Apparently foreseeing a cry from some legislators that the proposed legislation would make the governor too all-powerful, the committee states, "The relation of the governor to the legislature is defined more clearly by retaining each branch in its own sphere and preserving the traditional checks and balances."

It is a well rendered and prepared report suggesting much which might help to improve the maze of bureaus and commissions plus the hand-tieing of the governor. But, nothing will ever come of it if our legislature, following its usual course, starts kicking the report about the state halls in Trenton.

Odds and Ends From Other Pens

Hit Or Miss Financing

Disciples of efficient government in New Jersey look forward this year to action streamlining the State's complex financial structure by the simple — but much resisted — process of operating the general state fund and state highway fund, the two chief sources of state revenue, on a standard fiscal year.

Year after year state fiscal officers, business men and such sound-thinking citizen organizations as the New Jersey Taxpayers Association have urged that the two funds be consolidated or that their operation at least be made to coincide so that the guiding heads of government and citizens of the State could learn at any time just where the State stands financially.

The general state fund at the present time operates on a July to June fiscal year while the highway fund is operated on the January to December calendar year. State finance officials admit that this uncoordinated set-up is perplexing even to them. It is almost impossible to prepare a statement setting forth the State's financial position clearly and concisely over a given period, State Comptroller Homer C. Zink admits.

While such an authoritative complaint should be cause for prompt legislative action to correct the confusing condition in state finances, strong pressure always has been exerted against any change that would cause the state highway department to lose the advantages of operating under its own financial system.

This year the legislature adopted bills providing for expenditures of $36,297,250 and additional transfers from the highway fund for the 1942 calendar year while the general state fund appropriations bill provides for spending of $36,397,668.12 during the fiscal year beginning July 1. Thus, despite the need for maximum efficiency and all possible economy in state government operation during the war emergency, the lawmakers again adopted the "hit or miss" method of financing state government.

Twenty-one states are now operating their highway departments on July-to-June fiscal year coinciding with their other operations, according to the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce. Fiscal officials of those states have expressed astonishment that New Jersey retains its complex and confusing system.

Officers of any private business concern, particularly one of such huge proportion as the State of New Jersey, spending $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually, would not tolerate operation under such conditions of doubt and misunderstanding as permitted in state government.

With highway department operations being reduced to a minimum because of war-time priorities and with a change in the department's administration, the time is opportune for switching the highway fund to the standardized fiscal year. Such action is needed to provide simplified, comprehensive, business like operation of the state's financial affairs, particularly during the present emergency.

Conscientious Objectors

Three Negroes apprehended in Washington for draft evasion told the court that they had become Moslems, were registered in Mecca as "citizens of the universe," and were opposed to war on principle because of their religion. The fantastic story did not convince the jurors, who probably knew better than the "converts" before them that Moslems owed their rise to the instrumentality of war.

There can be no question that some of our "conscientious objectors" are unconscionable frauds seeking a way to avoid the dangers of military service. But, at the same time, there are some who are quite sincere, either through personal conviction or by passive acceptance of a body of teaching that includes pacifism as one of its tenets. These constitute a problem for any democratic government that seeks to defend itself in a democratic way.

The popular movie star, Lew Ayers, received considerable public sympathy when he announced himself a conscientious objector ready to take his place in a labor camp, and accept all the other consequences of his stand. This meant, probably, the end of a successful career; separation from a life that brought him riches, influence and congenial companions, and acceptance of drudgery without a future. It was generally recognized that Lew Ayers paid a high price for his conscientious scruples, but that was all that could be said for him.

We can judge of such action better if we can observe it far away, in a clearer perspective. The example of Mahatma Gandhi, in India, furnishes us such an opportunity. This modest little philosopher of great power and prestige clings to his professed pacifism and non-resistance in the very presence of threatened brutal subjection. By his own involved reasoning, teaching and preaching he has built a smoke screen around him that prevents him from seeing what is clear to the simplest water carrier in his village — that his attitude invites enslavement of his people.

If pacifism is fair and reasonable for one, it is for all. And if a nation, big or little, will not fight for its liberty it will soon lose that liberty to some ambitious and conscienceless nation. If it is better to accept slavery than to fight, then the pacifist is justified. There might be reason in becoming a pacifist nation in mutual agreement with all the other nations in the world. Something might be said for being a pacifist, a non-fighter, as far as aggression against any other nation is concerned. But a man who refuses to defend himself, his property, his wife and children, from rapacious robbers is less than a man. He is even less than one of the most timid brutes.

Join Or Starve

What would you think if a law were passed making it possible for a private organization to legally force you to buy its product and pay its initiation fees and dues?

Don't say, "That's impossible!" For that is what powerful labor unions are seeking under closed shop contracts. In some industries, such as soft coal, they have succeeded.

The demands now made by the Steel Workers Organizing Committee on the companies known as "Little Steel" are typical. The Committee would make it a condition of employment that all employees of the company become and remain members of the union in good standing within 30 days of their time of employment. They demand further that the companies "check off" (deduct from all employees' pay checks) the union dues and initiation fees and turn them over to the union. And finally, they demand that the union itself be regarded as sole judge of what is meant by the term "in good standing," and that the employer be absolutely bound by the decisions of the union on this matter.

What does this all mean? It means that no man could hold a job unless he joined a union, paid tribute to a union, and kept in the good graces of union officials. It means that the employer would be forced to act as a collection agency in the matter of dues, irrespective of the wishes of the employees. It means that union officials would be given vast sums of money to spend in any way they saw fit — money over which there is no governmental regulation or control of any kind. And it means, lastly, that these union officials would have czar-like authority over the jobs, the opportunities and the livelihood of all workers in great basic industries.

Labor organizations are no longer content with voluntary collective bargaining. They are no longer content to "sell" their services to potential members on the basis of merit. They want every working person to be compelled to join or starve. If they get their way, we might as well stop talking about freedom in this country.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Interest in the outcome of the fight to prevent the confirmation of Thomas F. Meane to the New Jersey Federal District Court tends to overshadow other political events this week. Started mainly by the Newark Evening News, the Meane fight has now assumed national importance. Last week's Time Magazine devoted a column. Wednesday's New York Times in an editorial urged President Roosevelt to withdraw the nomination and, failing that, the Senate to reject him. Dozens of other newspapers throughout the nation are doing the same thing.

However Governor Edison's carefully written letter to the Senate was more influential perhaps than anything else. Edison minced no words. He recalled Hague's famous "I am the Law" statement of four years ago and the mayor's subsequent admission that the assertion was substantially correct. But with fall of his devastating blows, Edison's letter was moving in the obvious sincerity of his words. He told the senate how he had started out single-handed to fight the powerful Hague machine and how completely the Meane appointment undermined his efforts.

Smart enough to realize that Edison's opposition at this fall's election might be serious Senator Smathers immediately took a different cue. Instead of trying to rush through the Meane appointment, Smathers (he is chairman of the Senate Judicial Committee) surprisingly called a second hearing for May 26. It was announced that he had invited Senator Crawford Jamison, State Banking Commissioner Agger and Robert C. McManus, editor of the New Jersey Spokesman, to attend the hearing. Those opposing Meane have been particularly anxious to get Dr. Agger before the Senate Judicial Committee. Agger is said to be reluctant to let the Department of Banking and Insurance get mixed up in a "political" issue. But the belief in many quarters — and the hope in all — is that he will tell plenty. Senator Jamison opposed the confirmation of Frank Hague Jr., to the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals. His presence in Washington will give emphasis to Meane's part in that notorious deal. McManus has been one of the leading journalistic figures in the state in the long fight against Hague.

All recognize that the real issue at stake is Hague and not Meane. This gives the opposition a great advantage. In many ways Meane has a good record, but his subservience to Hague is hardly questioned. I would suggest that Norman Thomas be invited to participate in the hearing. It was Hague's action in having his uniformed thugs toss Thomas head first into a ferry boat early in 1938 that participated the national revulsion against him. Before that the Jersey City boss was a local issue. Over night he became known to the whole world.

An important element in getting the fight against Meane started was the action of several dozen New Jersey citizens in raising $1500 to insert a half-page advertisement in the May 17 New York Times urging citizens protest confirmation. It is known that hun-

WILL OBSERVE SHEVUOS HOLIDAY

Confirmation Exercises To-morrow Night Are Feature; Services Also Tonight, Sat.

Jewry everywhere will observe the holiday Shevuos, the Feast of Weeks, beginning sundown to-night and extending to sundown Saturday. This holiday, which falls on the sixth and seventh days of the Jewish month Sivan, has great significance for the Jewish people.

In ancient Palestine, this period coincides with the time of the wheat harvest, and it has therefore become a tradition of the farmers of Palestine to bring the first fruits of their crops as a thanksgiving offering to the temple in Jerusalem, when they make their tri-annual pilgrimage there.

One of the more important reasons for the holiday is the giving of the Ten Commandments to Moses on Mt. Sinai. This holiday is therefore called "The Season of the Giving of the Law." The decalogue is included in the service of the day. Because of this, Shevuos is also referred to as the anniversary of the Jewish religion.

Many customs are observed on this holiday of Pentecost, which comes on the fiftieth day after the second day of Passover. The synagogue and home are decorated with green plants, reminding of the agricultural significance of the festival. Dairy meals are featured in the homes during these days, because when the Jews were busy themselves with preparations for receiving the Ten Commandments, they did not have time to prepare lengthy meals.

Before reading from the Torah, a beautiful and inspiring series of verses is read. These poems are called "Akdomos" and they extol the beauties of the relationship between the Torah, Israel and God. The Biblical Book of Ruth is also read on this day.

Congregation Ahavas Achim of Belleville will hold special holiday services to observe Shevuos at the synagogue tonight, and Friday and Saturday morning and evening. Evening services will start at 8 p.m. and the morning services at 9:30 a.m. The confirmation exercises of the religious school will take place at the Friday night service at 8:30 p.m.

The girls who will be confirmed are: Muriel Atkins, Rita Jacobson and Elaine Weinglass. Those boys who became Bar Mitzvah during the past year, Ned Becker, Lionel Ehrenworth and Richard Nanes, will also take part in the services.

As part of the service, each confirmand will present her confirmation theme to the congregation. The general topic chosen for this year is "Our Source of Jewish Inspiration." Muriel Atkins will speak on "Palestine, a Source of Jewish Inspiration"; Rita Jacobson, "Torah, a Source of Jewish Inspiration"; Elaine Weinglass, "Jewish History, a Source of Jewish Inspiration."

Rabbi Dobin will officiate and will present the charges to the confirmands. Louis Haft, chairman of the school board, will present them with confirmation certificates and white Bibles as gifts of the Sisterhood.

hood. Edward J. Abramson, president of the congregation, will extend greetings on behalf of the Jewish community.

Yiskor memorial services will be recited at the holiday service of Saturday morning, at 10:30 a.m. Rabbi Dobin will officiate and will preach on the topic, "How Can We Attain Life Eternal?"
