RUBBER SALVAGE APPEAL MADE TO RESIDENTS

Committee Chairman Urges Them To Cooperate With Plea of President

Residents were urged this week by the salvage committee to cooperate with the 16-day nationwide collection of scrap rubber which will extend to July 1. Following the radio address by President Roosevelt on Friday in which the drive was announced, Robert G. Sutherland, salvage chairman, issued a bulletin urging townpeople to collect articles in their homes that contain rubber, for which they no longer have any use.

Scrap rubber should be left at gasoline stations or should be given to Boy and Girl Scouts who will call at houses.

Many Articles Listed

There are many articles, Sutherland pointed out, of pure rubber which contain rubber, which the average person does not readily recognize as a source of rubber for the government.

The salvage chairman listed rubber heels on shoes, rubber shoe soles as on tennis shoes, overshoes, hot water bottles, rubber gloves, bathing caps, bathing shoes, rubberized raincoats, fruit jar rings, baby carriage wheels, fly swatters, rubber stamps, plumber's suction cups, insulation wire and many other articles.

Purpose of the drive is to determine how much scrap rubber is available in the country and in turn to decide how much rubber can be used for civilian needs such as tires and other rubber articles for the duration or at least for the coming months. One of the important motives behind gasoline rationing is to enforce motorists to save tires. The country is making unusual effort to get motorists to make their tires last as long as possible.

War has cut off more than 90 per cent of the world's crude rubber as a source of supply for the United States. Reclaimed rubber is the only immediate substitute for the present. Amendment No. 6 to WPB Government Order M-15-B of March 20, forbids burning or destroying any kind of rubber, new or old. It also forbids withholding scrap rubber.

To meet present rubber requirements it means rubber reclaiming plants should be kept busy seven days per week, but there is such a shortage of old rubber coming in that some of these plants have been compelled to reduce to production to five days per week. More scrap rubber must be collected immediately throughout the nation. It is one of the urgent problems to which the president has had to direct his attention.

Clinton M. White, state salvage director for New Jersey, sent a telegram last Saturday to all local salvage chairmen urging them to impress upon their town the need for rubber and to appeal to the people of New Jersey to recognize such way that New Jersey will make an outstanding record in this country-wide scrap rubber drive.

BACKING LA BAUGH FOR COMMANDER

Legion Will Boost Him For County Post At Saturday Convention

The local American Legion post will put up the name of William I. LaBaugh of 62 Lloyd place for the post of county commander of the American Legion at the annual Essex county convention to be held in East Orange on Saturday.

A past commander of the Belleville post and director of the convention arrangements, LaBaugh has long been active in Legion affairs. The Legion voted to place LaBaugh's name in nomination at a meeting held here several months ago.

More than 50 members of the post and its auxiliary are expected to attend Saturday's veteran get-together. Because of present war emergencies, the session has been limited to one day instead of the customary two. There will be no parade or competition for drum corps such as has been held in the past.

Among the important resolutions which will be presented is one providing for the opening of the ranks of the Legion to those who are serving in the present armed forces.

The Legion headquarters will be at the East Orange Elks home with the First Reformed church being the center of the activities for the auxiliary groups. Auxiliary registration will be at 8:30 a.m. and the posts at 9.

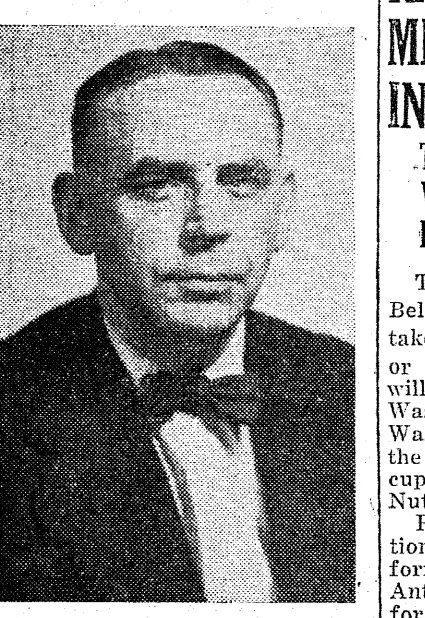

A dinner and entertainment in the evening will conclude the program. Assisting LaBaugh on the convention committee is Richard Shannon of 28 Bremont street.

DeWitt S. & L. Opens Doors With $766,000 In Assets

Commissioner King Is Association President and Edward Cantwell, Executive Secretary; Members' Accounts Are Insured By Government

A new financial institution formally started functioning on Monday morning when the doors of the DeWitt Savings & Loan association were opened at 280 Washington avenue. It marked the completion of the program providing for the merger of the Central, Home and Clover Building and Loan associations, and resulted in a new thrift institution where each member's account is guaranteed as to safety by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation of Washington.

The building, occupied by the DeWitt association was formerly the quarters of the Central B. & L.

Shareholders of the three associations approved the plan of merger of the assets of the associations which were acceptable to the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation at meetings held on March 10. The plan adopted by the shareholders provided for the DeWitt to receive these assets and also for the liquidation by the old associations of the assets not acceptable to the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation.

Get 65 Percent of Holdings

Under the plan, shareholders in the Home association receive 65 percent of their present holdings in insured accounts in the DeWitt, and certificates of interest in the Home association which becomes a liquidating corporation under the plan, for the remainder. Shareholders of the Central association receive accounts in the DeWitt equal to 60 percent of their present holdings and shareholders in the Clover, accounts equal to 95 percent of their present holdings with certificates of interest for the remainder, being issued by the old associations, which under the plan are to be liquidated.

Shareholders of the old associations were informed in a letter from Edward P. Cantwell, executive secretary and manager of the DeWitt, to bring in their old passbooks and certificates to the DeWitt association and exchange them for insured accounts and certificates of interest.

The letter to the shareholders stated that final approval had been given to the plan by the insurance corporation and the department of banking and insurance and that the new association would be in every respect a normally operating cooperative financial institution. The letter pointed out that the association was in a position to finance homes in Belleville and vicinity, to accumulate earnings out of which dividends would be paid to shareholders and to meet the demands for withdrawal or maturity payments which were made upon the association.

SCHOOLS OUT TOMORROW

5,400 Youngsters Will Start Their Summer Vacations

Vacation begins tomorrow afternoon for an estimated 5,400 school youngsters and nearly 200 teachers as the public schools close their doors. This week has been devoted to a windup of activities and each elementary school holding promotion exercises for the eighth grade pupils moving up to high school.

The outdoor high school graduation of the largest class in its 45-year history, scheduled for last evening, was postponed.

Classes will not be resumed in the schools until Wednesday, September 9. It will be no summer vacation for School Business Manager Ruel E. Daniels and the staff of panitors and maintenance men. New supplies will be purchased and distributed. All of the schools thoroughly cleaned, floors refinished and painting and other repair work done in some of the buildings.

RATION OFFICE MERGER IS DUE IN TEN DAYS

Three-Man Panels To Control Work; May Locate It Here

The merger of the Nutley and Belleville rationing boards will take place within the next week or 10 days. The two-town office will be located either here at 476 Washington avenue or at 61 Washington avenue, Nutley, in the building which has been occupied for years by the Belleville-Nutley Buick company.

Representatives of the two ration boards were officially informed of the consolidation by Anthony P. Miele, rationing head for Essex county, at a meeting he attended at the request of the Nutley ration board last Saturday afternoon. Herbert C. Schmutz was the only member of the Belleville board who attended.

While they were informed, the members of the two boards were requested, it was reported, not to make any public statements on the matter. The consolidation is in line with a program which the office of price administration in the state under the direction of James J. Kerney is putting into effect throughout Jersey. Both Nutley and Belleville boards, as was the case elsewhere in Essex county, opposed the merger, claiming that the best possible and most economical job is now being performed by the individual boards.

All Members Retained

It is understood that all of the board members will be retained and serve as members of the joint board. However, they will be divided into panel groups of three with each directing the rationing of certain commodities. It was also reported that membership on each of these panels has already been agreed upon but it could not be released.

The panels are food, fuel, tires, automobiles and miscellaneous items. On each committee there are representatives from both towns.

The federal government is now paying the salary of a clerk-stenographer working on each board and it is understood that these girls will be retained to work in the new office. An executive secretary, who will be in charge of the office, will be hired at $1,800 per year. While Belleville does not have such an employee at present, Nutley a month ago hired a man who has worked in such a capacity. His salary of $30 weekly is being paid by the town.

No decision has been made on a general board chairman, but it was reported that the chairman would be drawn from one town and the executive secretary would come from the other community.

Town Topped $100,000 Mark In May War Bond Sale

Belleville topped the $100,000 mark in the sale of war stamps and bonds during May. The report shows that $91,540 in bonds and $13,045 in stamps were sold. The total sold to date in Belleville is $1,317,266.

A stamp booth has been opened in the F. W. Woolworth store at Washington avenue and Rutgers street.

To See Ambulance

Following a luncheon today at Masonic temple, local chapters of the Order of Eastern Star will view the ambulance which will be presented Sunday by the Order of Eastern Star of New Jersey to the coast guard. Miss Lillian Harris of Union avenue, past worthy matron of the state organization, headed the drive for funds which resulted in the purchase of the ambulance.

Guarding Rubber Problem; Waters Offers Town Yard

Commissioner Says Town Trucks Will Pick It Up; Most Contributors Don't Want Cent A Pound; Many People Are Giving To Drive

From the sigh's around some of the service stations, Belleville is all-out for President Roosevelt's two-week rubber salvage campaign. While few people turned out with old rubber tires, hose, water bottles and a score of other rubber odds and ends on Monday, it picked up on Tuesday and by yesterday most of the stations were doing a better business in collecting rubber than they were in selling gasoline.

One of the problems puzzling most operators was how to determine the weight of the salvage material. However, in most cases people did not want the one cent a pound which was offered for the rubber. However, the youngsters, and there were plenty of them ransacking the neighborhood, looking for extra pennies, bargained with most of the dealers for claims of weight that usually exceeded the actual truth. As for paying one cent a pound, dealers pointed out that some of the articles, even tires, are not all rubber. The question is—how do you determine how much rubber actually is in it?

May Be Stolen

Also troubling the service stations was the job of storing the rubber until trucks come to haul it away to reclaiming plants. Most of them are fearful about leaving it outdoors unguarded to be stolen.

Weather's Sudden Change Postpones Graduation

A sudden change in weather (details cannot be given because of wartime censorship) forced postponement of last night's high school graduation.

The exercises for the 308 seniors in the 45th class to be graduated from the high school will be held tonight at Clearman field unless there is another sudden switch in the weather.

TAKE BACK 203 OF 'X' CARDS

Only 163 Left In Town After Re-Check By Ration Board

Belleville has considerably less "X" gasoline card holders today than it did a week ago. In a three-day re-check of all of those holding the unlimited supply cards, the rationing board took back 203 out of the 366 cards which had been issued.

Some of those holding cards turned them in voluntarily when they were summoned to the board offices, but in other cases the board had to exercise its right to withdraw the card and issue one of another classification where it was thought that such action was justified.

The re-check order followed a cursory examination of all applications in board files. Board members stated that they had discovered "flagrant" violations of the gasoline rationing regulations and added that some holders had misrepresented their status in securing the cards.

Those holding "X" cards were notified to appear before board members last Thursday, Friday or Saturday.

30 K. OF C. MEN TO GET DEGREE

Will Participate in First Degree Ceremonies at Seton Hall Sunday

A class of 30 candidates from Belleville council of the Knights of Columbus will participate in the first degree ceremonies to be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at Seton Hall college gymnasium. The 39 councils in the Archdiocese of Newark will participate in the exercises which will celebrate the 60th anniversary of the founding of the order.

Archbishop Thomas J. Walsh, head of the Newark diocese, will preside over the degree exercises which will also be attended by the supreme knight, Francis P. Matthews, and international and state dignitaries of the church and the order.

At a meeting of Belleville Council at St. Peter's hall on Monday night, Eugene Kelly was elected grand knight. Other officers named were Joseph Harter, deputy grand knight; Harry J. Sullivan, chancellor; James A. Leonard, financial secretary; Gilbert E. Howley, recording secretary; Oliver F. Brown, treasurer; Christopher Kelly, warden; Dominick Walsh, advocate; Edwin Smith, John Baney and Martin Halague, trustees; Hugh M. Nixon and Joseph B. Priester, inside guards; Michael Ford and Edward Lukowiak, outside guards; and Rev. John S. Nelligan, chaplain.

Make Final Payments

The Belleville Building and Loan association, the second oldest organization of its type in New Jersey, made final payments last Wednesday evening to all stockholders of dividends which have been liquidating for the past 10 months. The building and loan group was organized in 1872.

DEFENSE PARADE WILL FEATURE 4TH PROGRAM

Civilian Volunteer Display Follows Thoughts Of Governor Edison

Fourth of July will be a big day in Belleville, featured by the mobilization and demonstration of its civilian defense forces. In compliance with the request of Governor Edison that throughout the state on that day the defense organizations be put on public display, Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan in cooperation with council chairmen and representatives of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars has arranged a day-long program.

Edison's appeal called for the observance of the Fourth in old fashioned manner except for the fireworks which have been banned by both state and federal orders. In his proclamation the governor said: "The present gas rationing emergency can be used to good advantage. Once again we can recapture the old town meeting spirit which was so characteristic of Colonial America. Once again we can assemble in the village square or city park and renew our appreciation of the priceless possession of our American citizenship."

Parade In Morning

The program will be divided into two parts with a parade in the morning and a demonstration of defense training at the municipal stadium in the afternoon.

It is planned to have the parade take place in Washington avenue and Sullivan has urged all defense unit leaders to mobilize their entire organizations for it.

In his letter to the chairmen, Sullivan said in part that the demonstration would be held "in order that the townspeople of Belleville can see the unselfish men and women who are giving so freely of their time and effort to protect their friends and neighbors in time of emergency."

It is expected that the uniforms of the police reserves, funds for which were obtained from several manufacturers, will arrive by that time so that the men will be able to wear them in the parade. At Monday night's meeting of the defense council, funds were voted to Sullivan which will be used as prize money for drum and bugle corps which will be invited to participate in the parade and will be judged on their performance.

The council coordinator said that he was confident that the parade would be one of the largest, if not the largest, in the town's history.

Edward Cantwell, American Legion commander, and Richard Doherty, V. F. W. leader, have selected members for a committee which will assist Sullivan in the preparations. Also serving are Mayor Williams and Police Judge Everett P. Smith, who is defense council chairman.

The representatives of the veteran groups have had considerable experience in staging Belleville's past parades, particularly those annually held on Memorial and Armistice days. The committee will hold a meeting tomorrow night at the town hall at 8 p.m.

At the stadium program in the afternoon, the defense units will present demonstrations of some of the work in which they have been trained. Judge Smith is securing a prominent speaker who will be heard on the program there.

Because of the dimout regulations, no night activities have been considered.

WILL OUTLINE DIMOUT RULES

Wardens To Get Orders At Meeting Scheduled For Tonight

Detailed instructions for the enforcement of the new dimout regulations issued by the army for the second corps area will be explained to air raid wardens at a meeting to be held tonight. Copies of the regulations will be distributed to wardens so that they may give them to storekeepers and others who may be affected by the new rulings.

Defense Coordinator Harry Sullivan said that during the next week surveys would be made to determine if residents are complying with the orders which were issued by Major General Terry in command of this area last week. It was admitted that at present some of the stores on Washington avenue are not meeting the requirements of the new regulations and that steps will have to be taken to require them to meet the orders.

Instructions — how to obtain War Risk and Bombardment Insurance on your home — the contents of your home and your automobile is given with rates set forth in a notice to the People of Belleville by JOHN F. COOGAN, Jr. Real Estate and Insurance Consultant on page 4 of this newspaper. Further information can be had from him at his office, 140 Washington Avenue, Belleville 2-2892. —Adv.

Greatest Number Will Leave In Next Draft Group On July 3rd

Who Will Help Address Those 5,000 Questionnaires?

In the draft office at town hall are four big mail bags containing more than 5,000 occupational questionnaires. All of them must be addressed and mailed to local men of draft age so that the board may obtain information which will assist in classifying them.

But, the present board staff is unable to do the work with all of the other details that must be handled daily by the office. Volunteer workers are needed, even if they are able to devote only a few hours each day. They do not have to be typists. The occupational questionnaires can be addressed in longhand.

Last week's appeal resulted in several volunteers offering to help but more are needed. Typists, clerks and just those who write in longhand.

Any woman — and those girls of high school age, too — who are willing to give some of their time may obtain further information by calling at the town hall.

PLAN DEFENSE ON NO. 37 LINE

P. S., Town Prepare To Fight Park Board Stand On Mill Street Use

The town and the Public Service will oppose the efforts of the Essex County park commission to have the No. 37 cross-town line banned from traveling over the section of Mill street which runs through the Branch Brook park extension.

Commissioner Noll, who has charge of local transportation; his deputy, Charles Tedesco; and Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan and Public Service Transport officials conferred yesterday on the arguments to be advanced before the public utilities commission in opposing the protest of the park commission.

Several weeks ago the park board filed a complaint with the utilities commission claiming that the operation of the bus through the parkway was a violation of their regulations prohibiting the use of any park roads by commercial vehicles.

Commissioner Noll answered that he believed that the rights of Mill street, under the old route which it followed, were carried over to the parkway and that no regulation was violated. He also pointed out that the route followed was the most direct between the main section of Belleville and the Silver Lake area. The bus line, he declared, was not only used by many residents but by a number of people employed in defense plants in Silver Lake and in other sections of Belleville.

The director said that he had received no further protests or information concerning the continued daytime operation of the No. 92 line.

"As I see it," Noll said, "Mr. Eastment (national director of the office of transportation) has settled that question and there's little that the Public Service can do about it."

Noll said that he did not believe that the company could ever receive permission from Washington to re-route some of the No. 37 line buses so that they would continue from Washington avenue up Jorammon street to Ligham street.

Some Teachers Given Pay Increases By Board

The board of education at its Friday night meeting on the recommendation of the teachers' committee headed by Charles Gebhardt awarded $100 pay increases to a number of teachers and other school employees, including janitors and clerks.

While the total number who received raises was not given out, it was reported that it represented a majority of the staff.

Silver Lake Youth Makes Good With Big-Time Band

Vincent (Jidge) Riccio, Now Singing As Jack Carroll, With Les Brown Orchestra; In Hollywood To Make Motion Picture

Ever since Silver Lake folks can remember, Vincent Ralph Riccio wanted to be a singer. Even when he was just one of the gang in School No. 4 and was known as "Jidge," he was quite a warbler. While he was still in knee pants, he was in demand as a singer at neighborhood gatherings, and when he was only 13 made somewhat of a debut at Fuld hall in Newark when he sang "My Heart Is An Open Book."

Now a good-looking, 20-year-old six-footer, he seems headed for stardom. Singing under the name of Jack Carroll, he was recently signed to be featured vocalist with Les Brown and his well-known radio orchestra. Following a three weeks' engagement at a Washington hotel, Jack left with the band on Saturday night by plane for Hollywood where they will be featured in the picture, "Red, Hot and Sweet," starring Lucille Ball and Victor Mature.

Born in the Silver Lake section, Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Riccio of 57 Magnolia street. He was graduated from the high school in 1938 where for three years he played third base on the baseball nine. After graduation, he drove a truck for the Charms Candy company and then worked at the Bloomfield Westinghouse plant. He left there to go with Brown and his band.

The young singer's first outstanding appearance was in 1940 when he sang before Governor Edison at the Thomas A. Edison memorial service at Oranah high school when he was heard in "I'll Take You Back Again, Kathleen," one of the governor's favorite numbers.

With the orchestra he has been heard over the Columbia network, and will be heard several nights weekly broadcasting with the band from the Palladium night club in Hollywood.

SAYS THIS TOWN WASN'T GUILTY

Smith Denies Belleville Warned Defense Forces Before Blackout Alarm

Defense Council Chairman Everett B. Smith stated this week that Belleville was not one of the communities at which the state defense council heads pointed a finger in their criticism of the effectiveness of the June 1 blackout test. In a statement which declared that the blackout was far from being perfect, Harry H. Neuberger, director of civil protection, this week attacked defense councils and chairmen who permitted the confidential air raid warning message to reach workers before the air raid sirens were sounded.

Council Chairman Smith said that in Belleville only the leaders who had been previously designated were notified on the yellow and blue signals which were received over the teletype at police headquarters. He said that the vast majority of volunteers knew nothing of the test until the sirens were sounded.

Heard it Elsewhere
Smith said, "they heard it from people in other towns nearby who were notified in advance contrary to regulations."

In his statement, Neuberger said: "Twenty-seven central telephone offices were literally swamped prior to the yellow warning having been sent out, and traffic at 42 central offices indicated considerable chain-calling after the yellow alarm was sent out. Obviously information as to the time and date of the blackout leaked out in certain locations; and in order to make a good showing, certain chairmen of local defense councils permitted chain telephone calling on an elaborate scale. In the event of a real air raid, should such telephone calling take place, there is a reasonable certainty that the red warning itself might not reach its proper destination with dispatch. This would mean the breakdown of our whole system."

"In addition, should an emergency of a purely local nature occur at the time telephone central offices are flooded with unnecessary chain-calling, a serious loss of life and property might result. Telephone lines must be kept free to handle vital calls of the military and civil authorities. Unnecessary telephone calling by the civilian defense personnel may well defeat our best interests. Only key agencies and individuals who have elaborate preparations to make can be alerted by telephone; and the majority of your civilian protective forces must be made to realize that they will take their posts on the sounding of the audible alarm."

With the exception of the unnecessary telephone traffic, the New Jersey Defense Council feels that the blackout itself proved conclusively that civilian defense workers are on the alert and anxious to do a good job. It seems a pity that certain chairmen have not had the foresight to impress on their protective forces the fact that the telephone simply cannot be used for chain-calling on an extensive scale."

AWARD SCHOOL COAL BUSINESS

J. Frank Post, Smith Bros. Get Contracts; $581 Above Last Year's Prices

The board of education on Friday granted contracts to low bidders to supply the schools with coal for next winter. The bulk of the business went to a Newark concern, J. Frank Post, with the Smith Bros., of town, who sold the system all of its coal last year, getting a share of the business.

It was stated last week that the increased prices at which dealers were offering to sell the school board its coal supply would raise the total coal bill for the coming year $581.

The Post company will supply the schools with rice coal at $3.07 per ton, and buckwheat for $3.04. Smith Bros., low bidders for the above coal, will furnish it for $3.95 per ton.

The price for rice coal is 39 cents higher per ton than it was last year, buckwheat 46 cents higher and stove coal, 50 cents.

NEW LAWS GIVE DEFENSE UNITS LEGAL POWERS

State Legislation Imposes Penalties For Violating Orders

Civilian defense volunteers have been delegated authority under new state legislation and the public is warned that it must be complied with or violators will be subject to prosecution. Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan drew attention yesterday to Chapter 251 of the state laws which concerns civilian defense.

While there has been agitation for the passage of local legislation to cover the situation, the town had bowed to the state request that no action be taken since laws were pending which would empower defense volunteers such as air raid wardens and police reserves to act against violators.

The new laws will apply not only in a blackout but at all other times which are designated as periods of emergency. The law states as follows:

- Violations—Penalty
- Any person who shall:
- a. Commit any unauthorized or otherwise unlawful act during the threat or imminence of danger, in this war emergency that jeopardizes the health, welfare and safety of the people; or
 - b. Commit any unauthorized or otherwise unlawful act during the threat or imminence of danger during this war emergency that contributes to the loss of or destruction to property; or
 - c. Hamper, impede, or in any way interfere with any person who is performing any function authorized under this act; or
 - d. Drive any motor vehicle in a prohibited area during a blackout or while an air raid alert is in progress or in any other manner contrary to the rules and regulations covering any period of danger; or
 - e. Go within a prohibited area contrary to rules and regulations; or
 - f. Refuse to obey the lawful orders of any air raid warden, civilian protection worker, or other person who is duly authorized to perform any act or function during the threat or imminence of danger; or
 - g. Refuse to cooperate with any air raid warden, civilian protection worker, or other person who is duly authorized to perform any act or function in connection with war activities during the threat or imminence of danger; or
 - h. Violate any order, rule or regulation adopted by the Governor and promulgated as provided by this act; or
 - i. Violate any other provision of this act declared herein to be unlawful shall be adjudged a disorderly person and shall be punished by imprisonment in the workhouse, penitentiary or county jail for a term not exceeding one year or by a fine not exceeding one hundred seventy-five dollars ($175.00), or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Pfc. Arthur M. Ronco

The fact that he is serving in the Marines did not keep Pfc. Arthur M. Ronco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard P. Ronco of 194 Washington avenue, from being on hand to receive his college diploma.

To get to the commencement exercises at Seton Hall college on Saturday, Ronco flew from Quantico, Va., where he is a member of the candidates' class studying for a lieutenant's commission in the marine corps. He was presented with a degree of bachelor of science. While at Seton Hall he was active in the Knights of Setonia and the Thirteen club.

A surprise party was given in his honor Saturday night by his fiancée, Miss Clelia E. Pomponio, also of this town.

TIES FOR LEAD IN BOTH LOOPS

Three Battling For First Place Honors In National Circuit

The three-way tie in the national division of the industrial recreation softball leagues was continued this week with Walter Kidde, Newark Wire and Lloyd Engineering on top with four wins and one loss each.

The Lloydmen topped the Bart Lab team 8-6, while Sonneborns were the victims of the Wire team 7-2. The Kidde softballers clouted Sonneborns 15-5 for their fourth victory. Russo led the winners with four hits.

In the American circuit, the Federal Leather boys kept up their fight for first place supremacy with Carson-Newton. Clouting Wallace & Tiernan for 17 hits, the Leathermen won 16-5, while Carson-Newton had to put on the pressure to top the Eastwoods 3-1.

MINORS BACK ON DIAMOND AGAIN

War Dents The Roster But They Field Team For 13th Season

Neither the draft nor gasoline rationing will keep the veteran Pittsburgh Minor aggregation from the diamond this year. Starting their 13th year, the Minors have played six games thus far, and have lost three by a one-run margin.

They have met the Vailsburgh Shamrocks, Linden Colored Giants, Irvington Sports club, Hillside A. A. and the Newark Colored Giants.

Scheduled to bear the brunt of the hurling are Harold Allston and Bill Lister from last year's mound staff. Elmer Doremus, also of the 1941 squad, will be behind the plate. In the infield Paul Drexler is at first, John Sans at second, Ed Gutman at shortstop and on third, Jim McDonald.

Drexler played with the Minors from 1932 to 1934 during which he compiled a three-year batting mark of .358. Gutman was one of last year's regulars and McDonald was a utility infielder. In the outer garden patrol are Ed Fink and Charlie Calabro, newcomers, and Henry Lubben, manager and 13-year veteran player, who has been responsible for holding the team together.

30 Now In Service

At least 30 players who have been with the club in the past are serving in some branch of the armed forces. Of last year's squad, Jim and Frank Lynch, Roy Walker, Dick Valencourt and Hank Borkowski are in the army. From past years' teams Mel Behney is in Ireland, Bill Cowan and Arnold Clarke in Hawaii, Jack Hardell and Reggie Haines in Australia and Tony Hughes, Bill Hamilton, Bill Harbough, Jerome and Roger McGlynn, Ed Mullin, Ed Sullivan, Bill Teller, Alex Young, Harmon Kimble, Charlie Cook, Bob Wingate, Jack Harington and Bill Pisk are at posts throughout this country. George Wiggins, Bill Cavanaugh, Paul Merck and Richard McManus are studying to be naval ensigns.

War Damage Insurance Plan Gets Local Agents' Help

The billion dollar war damage insurance, financed by funds of the RFC, is receiving wide support from local members of the Essex County Insurance Agents Association.

The corporation was created to provide, through premiums collected, a government-sponsored reservoir from which bombardment and war damage losses will be paid to property owners who suffer from enemy attack or from the action of allied forces in resisting attack on and after July 1.

The present arrangement whereby the federal government provides free and automatic insurance against loss of this kind is only those owners of real and personal property who have bought and paid for their own protection will come under the government plan.

The government has asked the insurance agents to place their offices and facilities at its disposal in order to make war risk insurance available to the public as cheaply as possible. Although the agents clearly foresee that they cannot possibly meet even bare expenses, they have agreed to handle the coverage on the basis of a patriotic duty. They say it is not to be considered in any sense an ordinary commercial activity.

Problems new and distinct from anything in previous American experience are expected to require a high-type of agency service based upon a thorough understanding of the policy, its provisions, limitations and exclusions. In order that their members may be equipped to provide competent counsel on war damage coverage, the Essex County Insurance Agents Association has arranged a special forum to be held next week at which time every detail will be explored to the limit of its possibilities. Belleville members of the Association who will attend are: Harvey B. Thompson, Miss Jane Donnelly and representatives of Davidson & King, Inc.

The Home Front

Don't you believe those Garden State armchair strategists telling you, "Okay, Bill, you can take it a little easy now—relax." Remember, just six months before our Midway island blitz they were giving you the "jim-jams" about Pearl harbor.

You probably read how the army crews took their huge flying fortresses back into the fight two and three times in a single day. Six months of slow, hard pulling have changed Uncle Sam as a fighting man. Today with our civilian economy being reorganized and streamlined, our warships and soldiers poised for action in every part of the globe—with our war industries reaching out for those astronomical goals of planes and tanks—we might be allowed to relax. But only for a minute.

"No Relaxin'" Says Rochester and Depew, N. Y.

Better not use that word "relax" down at the Westinghouse plants in Newark, Bloomfield and Belleville, or at the duPont plants scattered all over New Jersey. The working guys might not like it. Back in April, those men took Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, up on his idea about joint committees to speed up war output. The report for May, first month of the plan is in—and it's a pile-driver.

Production has increased by leaps and bounds over the preceding three months. Same bunch of foremen and mechanics; same old management. And output per man-hour of employment has gone up and up. Moreover during the first month of the production drive, workers and foremen are coming across with ideas on how to speed up production. Sometimes the pencil points weren't very sharp, the paper thumbed with machine oil—but many an idea was put into operation immediately.

Time to relax? Well, the boys in these industries are out to excel each week's production.

Relaxing Won't Solve Rubber Shortage

Time to relax, Mr. Garden Stater? Listen to this. There's a dark cloud ahead—even while we're blitzing the Jap navy off Midway—a cloud of growing shortages of metals and materials. It may mean closing down blast furnaces at the very moment when our shipyards clamor for more steel plate. It can stop completely those rollers in rubber reclaiming plants now working only half time because of a shortage in scrap rubber collections.

Last week 16 freight car loads of scrap rubber—from worn-out tire carcasses to bomb-ripped hot water bottles arrived from England. It will keep the reclaiming mills rolling for a while. Yet

America itself has rubber reserves lying wastefully around in garage, closet, and factory. How much nobody knows. It is up to you to find this out.

Let a Soldier Show You

And don't think our soldiers and sailors will laugh at you going around picking up "junk" as your contribution in the war effort. Pvt. Stuart Green, of Syracuse, is a musician and a radio engineer. Taught himself music at high school. Several years back he bought a pipe organ costing $1,000. Last week, his mother received a letter from him, telling her to sell the metal parts of the organ to a junk man. Uncle Sam needed more bullets, Pvt. Green said. And a few hours later the organ pipes were on their way to the smelter. What have you got to salvage, Mr. and Mrs. Home Front?

We'll Have Food a-Plenty—But—

Relax back to our old pre-Pearl harbor days? All the sugar you want, the coffee, and gas? Midway island is precisely that—"midway" to final victory. Here's a blue-print for our food program—it's not too dismal, but it shows we are drafting the plans to see this war through. Yes, we have rationed sugar. And the Nazi U-boats have made it harder to find ships to bring in our peacetime needs of coffee, tea, and bananas. Fish will be harder to get. Last week the Navy announced that two Gloucester fish-boat schooners had been torpedoed. Moreover, Uncle Sam has contracted for the whole canning pack of salmon and tuna fish this season, because we've half a dozen AEF's to feed abroad, plus our allies.

Eat It "Fresh" and Like It!

That old gag about the new young bride and the can-opener will have to make way for another one with whiskers these days. Tin cans contain very little tin metal, of course, but that's where 70 percent of our tin went in pre-war days. Young Mrs. Garden Stater's new slogan now is "Eat it because it's fresh." We're being urged to buy and consume fresh fruits and vegetables—locally grown if possible—in order to cut down on tin for cans, for our overloaded transportation facilities. So next time you pick up the can opener, remember—there's enough tin in a single can to provide metal for two army compasses. Therefore, if there's a tin can collection campaign in your community, why not begin turning over your used cans to your local salvage committee?

Making Those Tires Last

Chances are you've suddenly begun to wince when a motorist squeals his shrieking car wheels against a curb. Sometimes you may even end up giving him a dirty look as if he were a fifth columnist. That's exactly how you should feel, because the tires on America's 30 million cars and trucks represent our last remaining rubber reserve. So try passing on to such culprits this advice from OPA experts: Pinching, overloading, and bruising are the easiest ways to kiss your tires goodbye. Pinching usually is caused by striking objects which fold a tire wall against the rim, often breaking or loosening the cords. Bruising comes from striking stones, chuck holes, or curb stones. Overloading and too little air pressure magnifies all the other tire abuses. Wheel misalignment too is a potent danger. It scrubs rubber from your tire tread. So beware!

Legion Laundry New Member Of Laundering Institute

The Legion Laundry of Heckel street has been accepted into full membership by the American Institute of Laundering, research and industry representative of a majority of North America's 7,000 professional laundries.

The announcement was made this week by George H. Johnson, general manager of the institute, which has its million dollar headquarters, laboratory and model plant in Joliet, Ill.

Three other local laundries also are associated in institute activities. The Belleville Laundry company, Home Laundry and K. W. and J. R. Wardell's Laundry have been members for a long time.

An outgrowth of one of the oldest trade associations in the United States, the institute was formed in 1920 to answer, through thorough scientific research, the laundering problems which were bothering laundries and laundry customers. And, in the present war emergency one of its valuable contributions is the advice provided for conservation by the public of its wearing apparel and fabrics.

Need For Teachers Stressed By Education Department

The New Jersey State Department of Education has reason to believe that there will be a shortage of teachers in some areas of the state during this coming year. This shortage will probably be more particularly in the rural counties.

Recent information secured seems to show that there will be shortages in the high schools in the following subjects: biology, chemistry, physical education for men, and Spanish. There will also be places for a considerable number of teachers in the elementary grades. Teachers who hold a New Jersey state certificate or who are eligible for the same, living in Essex county are offered the opportunity to call at the office of the Essex County superintendent of schools in the hall of records, Newark, and register for employment as teachers.

It is believed that a very considerable number of successful teachers who have married and left the profession, may find this a favorable opportunity to again take up the work for which they are trained and experienced. Those unemployed teachers who have had successful experience and are willing to accept employment into the areas of the state will also find themselves in a particularly favorable situation as regards employment this coming school year.

Would Have Schools Secure Air Raid Insurance

James M. Lynch, school board member, recommended at a special meeting of the board of education last week that insurance be secured as a possible protection against damage to buildings and contents as the result of air raids.

Lynch told board members that the government agreement to pay all damage to buildings from air raids runs out on July 1. He said that the annual premium cost for complete coverage of all school buildings would be $1,767. The total cost for present insurance carried on buildings is $1,200, he said.

"I think that it is too cheap to ignore," Lynch said, "considering the damage that could be done in a raid."

The proposal was taken under advisement.

Past Presidents' Hostess

Mrs. Charles S. Smith of Nutley, former Belleville resident and past-president of the local Women's club, entertained the other past-presidents of that organization Friday at luncheon at the Franklin Arms in Bloomfield and at her home, 202 Alexander avenue, in the afternoon.

Guests were Mrs. Frederick E. Dodd, Mrs. William P. Adams, Mrs. R. C. Whitford, Mrs. William Entekrin, Mrs. William Engelman, Mrs. Lloyd Nunn and Mrs. Elmer Hyde of this town.

Former Resident Betrothed

Mrs. Edith B. Howbrigg of Meriden, Conn., formerly of Belleville, recently announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Lucibel Gertrude Howbrigg, to Frank W. Bennett, son of Frank J. Bennett of that city. The couple will be married in the fall.

Miss Howbrigg was graduated from Meriden high school in 1936 and is employed by a branch of the General Motors corporation in that city. Mr. Bennett is associated with his father in the printing business at The Nutmeg Press. He was graduated from the Meriden Trade school. Mrs. Howbrigg and the late Mr. Howbrigg were long time residents of this town. Mrs. Howbrigg taught in School No. 1.

Performed Their Duty To The End

In its final days as a rationing body, the Belleville board has once again proven that its membership is of the highest type and that the members are bent on rendering sincere service to their government.

With consolidation with the Nutley board overshadowing it, the board could have slackened in its enthusiasm to do a good job and could have permitted matters to take their course. But they did not do this. Last week, it was announced that they would begin an immediate check on all "X" gasoline card holders. Of the total number of 366 who held cards, the board has tallied back 205. This means just that many more people will not be able to pull up to the gasoline station and greedily say "fill it up." It means that just that many more of us will be able to share the decreased amounts of gasoline which are being distributed to gasoline stations and in a small way it will mean a lesser number of lives that will be risked to bring gasoline to the eastern seaboard for unnecessary driving.

Belleville residents would be inappreciative if the ration board members were not commended for the excellent service they have rendered during the months which they have served. They were asked to perform a difficult task which affected every person in the community. We believe that they approached and have done the work they were charged to carry out with not only understanding for the individuals concerned but with constant concern for the welfare of the government—which has established that rationing of certain commodities is one of the important battles on the home front. We can only hope that the consolidated board of Nutley and Belleville will work with the same co-operative spirit and with the same service and duty that has been displayed by the members of the Belleville board.

Have They Missed The Boat?

The decision of Rev. Lester H. Clee not to be a candidate for the United States Senate leaves the Republican party, particularly the Clean Government wing, in a peculiar position. They are without a strong candidate with which to combat Senator Smathers, who will have the wholehearted support of Mayor Hague of Jersey City for re-election.

Most Republican leaders had gone along on the theory, we believe, that Clee would be the candidate. In various sections of the state, groundwork was being laid for his entry into the field and it was a foregone conclusion that the Newark clergyman would win the primary race hands down.

Of all of the choices which the Republicans could make, there is none for whom they would have to do less missionary work than Clee. He is already well known to the voters, having made a strong bid for the gubernatorial position in 1937 and having accredited himself as a member of the state assembly and senate previously. Clee's oratory and color alone were winning points that would make him a difficult opponent for Smathers.

But, with his withdrawal, the Republicans are now in the position of having come up to near the time of the race without a popular choice. Neither Albert Hawkes nor Joseph Bowers, both of whom are Essex residents, are men who are well known to the average voter. While both have accredited themselves in their respective fields and have performed much good in public life, they have not possessed the appeal nor performed feats which would make them favorites in the eyes of most voters.

The Republicans are faced with a man-sized task in putting across either one of these candidates. From present indications it would appear that Mr. Hawkes would be the choice of the Clean Government forces. Two of their foremost political maneuverers are already associated with the Hawkes' boom which would indicate that their entrance into his camp must have had the blessing of Clean Government directors.

At a time when not alone Republican forces but those of the Democratic party led by Governor Edison are bent on upsetting Mayor Hague's political appellation at every possible turn, it appears that the G.O.P. has missed the boat. Hague's chances of greatly aiding the re-election of Smathers to the U. S. Senate appear most strong. It cannot be said to the credit of Republican leaders that they laid their plans well for putting up a man who could defeat Smathers. They should not have operated on the premise that Clee would be a candidate, they should have made certain about it. They come up to the barrier at this late time in not too strong a position.

They Have Regulations To Follow

It has been said before, but perhaps it is worth repeating. The local draft boards are governed by regulations which are established not here in Belleville, Bloomfield, Montclair, or Nutley, but by the director of selective service in Washington.

The calling of men between the ages of 18 and 44, some of whom are married and who long ago established homes, has once again started whisperings and rumors. It has resulted in twisted, erroneous reports being circulated, which do not have any basis in truth. The simple fact is that local draft boards are given a quota for each call of men by federal and state headquarters. They are required to fill that quota by calling a certain percentage of the men from the 18-44 age group. It is not the ruling of the local board, it is an order from headquarters and it must be followed.

If you have any justifiable complaint, or if you feel that some person is illegally evading draft regulations and is being deferred under false pretenses, do not gossip about it in the neighborhood or at the corner store. Nothing can be done about it there. It is your patriotic duty to report it to the draft board, which it can be assured will keep your name confidential.

If you are not willing to do this, then you should not talk for you may not know all of the facts, you know little or nothing of draft board regulations and you are doing rumor-mongering of the worst kind which should be stamped out.

Above all, do not believe every newspaper and radio report that you hear about what some politician or official in Washington has stated concerning the draft. Reports this week that married men would be deferred is a typical example. It undoubtedly started thousands of families talking. There was nothing official about it—and it is not official until the ruling is in the hands of the local draft board. When that order is received in Belleville—then and not before then—it becomes a part of the official regulations by which the board is governed in its decision.

Central Depot Would Be Better

The plan to use service stations as a depot for scrap rubber may have been a good one, but we believe that it would have been much better if the plan had been followed which was used in the scrap metal campaign last year.

Few gasoline stations are equipped to weigh sizeable amounts of material, and they are put to an even greater inconvenience to properly store the old rubber so that it will not be stolen by thieving scrap collectors before it is picked up to be taken to reclaiming plants.

With rationing, the hours that most stations are open are irregular. Most of them are sometimes closed for several days. For people to leave old rubber articles there unguarded after they have patriotically contributed them, seems foolish.

It seems to us that the better plan would be to have one central depot. There contributions could be left by people or could be dumped by trucks which picked articles up in the neighborhood. Under such a plan, it would be all in one place and could be easily guarded so that people would know that their old rubber would get into the nation-wide fight to win.

Importance Of The Production Front

Because of the nature of the work which they are performing, it is seldom that the public has the opportunity to learn the part which the vast number of employees in local industrial plants are playing in the war effort.

However, last week, some conception of the important work which the thousands are doing who are employed at the Walter Kidde company's plants here was gained at the war production rally held in front of the main building.

Added color, and certainly inspiration to the workers to produce more than ever, was given by the story released by the navy department that day of the feats of a naval aviator who had a ringside seat to the battle of Midway from a life raft which saved his life after his plane had been shot down. The story was important to Kidde workers for the life raft which he used and the life vest which he probably wore were products of the local concern. It is stories such as these which make us realize how important is the job of those on the production front.

Doing The Impossible

Now it's an army of 8,000,000 men by the end of next year and a seven-ocean navy. Since Pearl Harbor $72,603,000,000 have been appropriated for weapons and equipment that will beat the axis. That's the victory news from Washington these days. Production schedules are so huge that you begin to ask if all that work can be done, and done in time, even in the wonder world of America's mass production factories.

But when the first war schedule was announced after Pearl Harbor it seemed so impossibly huge that the axis called it propaganda and said that for all our manufacturing skill and great resources we couldn't do it. You remember that schedule—125,000 airplanes, 75,000 tanks, 10,000,000 tons of shipping by the end of 1943.

Today our factories are turning out these planes and tanks and ships so fast that in many instances they are actually ahead of schedule. Proof of that is given in the stories written by the newspaper men who made a tour through several of the country's closely-guarded war plants. They reported some astonishing facts.

Liberty ships are now being built in 100 days and less, instead of the original estimate of 200. A factory manufacturing machine guns has doubled its production since February. The United States is now far ahead of the axis in the number of machine tools it is making for use in war plants.

In almost every instance weapons are being produced faster today than most people thought possible only a short time ago. Big as the original schedules were, they are actually being exceeded. And the new ones will be exceeded, too, for our industries have hit their victory stride. Doing the impossible is for them almost a routine job today.

End Boondoggling Now

At long last Washington's house of representatives has reduced non-war appropriations. For 1943 it has been cut two billion below this year. Such action is the best word from the capitol in years. We hope the senate concurs. It should, after having argued against increasing service boys' pay to $50 a month.

The house cut appropriations for almost every office and activity not directly connected with the war effort. Saving of the money is important, a help toward preventing inflation. Of greater importance is the realization by the house that we cannot pay for history's greatest war and at the same time spend countless billions for non-essentials without courting disaster. Lavish spending by the federal government in itself vastly increases purchasing power without a corresponding increase in the production of goods and services. If inflation is to be prevented, the government, no less than industry and individuals, must pull in its belt to the last notch.

The house has made a fine start. Now let it go ahead and effect further economies. There are many notorious examples of glaring waste in governmental affairs. Very large sums of money are being spent on activities which could and should be paid for by private business. The goal must be to cut our government competition with taxpaying private enterprise, and to abandon or defer any and all political projects not absolutely essential.

In short, let our public servants practice what they preach to the people. The house has acted. The kind of thinking that made the reductions possible must be encouraged and intensified. The boondoggling era must come to an end.

Standard Oil Company

In these days when so many politicians are hurling "un-American" charges at the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey because of certain alleged pre-war business dealings with German interests, the company is advocating a policy which refutes those critics.

Because of the country's need to conserve fuel for war uses, the company is now recommending that many of its customers convert their oil burners to the old-time coal style. This obviously means heavy financial loss to the company. An "un-American" company certainly wouldn't take such a position.

Americans' traditional sense of fair play calls for less "baiting" of such a concern and more understanding of what it is doing now to aid the war effort.

Destroying The Man Who Helped

It is reported that congress is being flooded with communications from retailers throughout the country, requesting that the general price freeze order be reopened to public hearing to review the disastrous situation facing thousands of stores. On top of that, it is reported further, manufacturers are tremendously concerned over the probable loss of distributive outlets.

One can sympathize with the point of view of government officials who believe that the most stringent possible measures are necessary to prevent a ruinous price inflation. But it is becoming evident that the price freeze will literally dislocate and destroy a large part of the retail businesses of this country unless adjustments are made to take care of the very wide lag that has long existed between wholesale and retail prices.

The merchants who are writing congress and the OPA are not asking for big profits and a chance to profiteer. They are simply asking the chance to price their goods at a level which will return them sufficient profit to stay in business. If the current order stands as issued, merchants will have to replace stocks at present wholesale price levels and sell them at the prevailing March retail levels. That means that the sale of many items would be made with no profit—and that the sale of some items would have to be made at an actual loss. The public-spirited merchant, who cooperated with the OPA and priced his wares on the basis of original cost, not replacement cost, would take the worst beating.

It is difficult to exaggerate the potential effect of this on the country. The small store will be hit hardest and will go to the wall first—large retail organizations, with capital behind them, can last longer and can better adjust themselves to changing conditions. The tens of thousands of little retail businesses which are the backbone of the American private enterprise system are in danger of extinction. That is the immensely grave situation which confronts congress and the OPA today.

The Roosevelt Summer

Like another war President, Mr. Roosevelt has selected "a little cottage" near Washington, where he will go occasionally to get away from the capital's heat.

Washington has always been an unbearable place in the summer. Abraham Lincoln toiled in the stifling White House during the day, but at night rode out to a cottage on the 500-acre Soldiers' home estate overlooking the Potomac, three miles from Pennsylvania avenue.

The location of President Roosevelt's vacation hideaway will be more or less secret. Certainly wartime censorship will prevent its publication. But the whole country and the Confederacy and all his enemies knew where President Lincoln was.

His restless habit of wandering around the grounds at night terrified his guards. Occasionally he even rode out in the dark from the White House on horseback alone. That ended one night in mid-August of 1864, when he hammered hatless through the gates of the Soldiers' home on a frightened horse.

He said calmly that someone had fired a gun, the horse had bolted and jerked his hat off. The hat, the familiar silk stovepipe, was found down the road, a bullet through the crown. He refused to believe that someone had tried to kill him, but after that he was never permitted to ride alone.

Lincoln never resigned himself to the need for protection. It is ironical that his assassination was made possible when a negligent guard deserted his post at the entrance to the box in Ford's theatre.

The men who guard Presidents these days combine great skill with unobtrusiveness and go about their task with vast authority which even the President cannot overrule. The Roosevelt vacation cottage was not selected until the Secret Service had made sure that while there the President could be kept from intrusion or harm.

Wherever it is, the nation hopes his haven will be cool and comfortable and that there he can find relaxation, for no man in the United States needs to keep fit for work this summer of 1942 more than Franklin D. Roosevelt.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Failure of the New Jersey Senate to confirm Joseph F. S. Fitzpatrick for the Civil Service Commission and Donald M. Waesche for the Board of Tax Appeals is significant enough to overshadow all other political news of the week. These men were appointed by Governor Edison with the clear aim of clipping the power of the Hague machine at the points that would hurt worst—namely, jobs and tax favors for the faithful. In caucus, the Republican Senators voted eight to five in favor of confirmation, with three non-committal.

There are only four Democratic members of the Senate and one Republican vacancy, this due to Senator Hendrickson having resigned to become State Treasurer.

The statistical picture given above should be studied carefully by all men and women who are sincerely interested in better government for New Jersey. It should be studied even more carefully by Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Alexander Smith, Robert Johnson and other Republican leaders pledged to reform.

In the first place, the picture is fairly typical of Republican conduct. Eight Republican senators wish to help Edison in his fight against Hague. Five want to help Hague in his fight against Edison. Three are either weak-kneed stragglers or prospective guests at the Hague pie-counter. And there is one vacant chair. This chair should be occupied by Robert Hendrickson who was the Republican candidate for Governor last year. But where is Hendrickson? He left the post to which he was elected to take a salaried job as Treasurer. To his credit, it can be said that he is leading the fight in his capacity as titular head of the Republican party to have Fitzpatrick and Waesche confirmed. But he should be leading this fight from the vantage point of the senate floor where his vote might have tilted the balance.

Hendrickson Candidate?

There is talk of Hendrickson as the Republican leaders' candidate for the United States Senate. These leaders had better analyze this latest Senate action in Trenton before putting him forward. When Hendrickson left his Senate seat for a few loaves and fishes as treasurer he just about rode out of history as well. In the present fight he belongs with the eight who voted for Hague, not with the eight who were for Edison.

It is an old custom of the New Jersey senate to elect good men to jobs, both to get them out of the way and to establish a precedent so that scoundrels can follow. Hendrickson played this game.

I do not have the names of the eight senators who were with Edison at this writing, but I mean to get them and give them to the readers of this column next week. When doctors start to combat a pestilence of yellow fever or some other disease, they plot the areas where it is most deadly. Republican leaders should prepare a similar map of New Jersey in their fight against the Hague pestilence. It will take science as well as sincerity to stamp out New Jersey's worst political plague.

The withdrawal of Dr. Lester H. Clee as a candidate for the Senate took Vanderbilt and other Republican leaders by complete surprise. Actually, Vanderbilt was at his cottage in Maine for a week's rest, supposedly without a telephone. But some Essex leaders knew he had a phone and how to reach him. He came home post

Classes

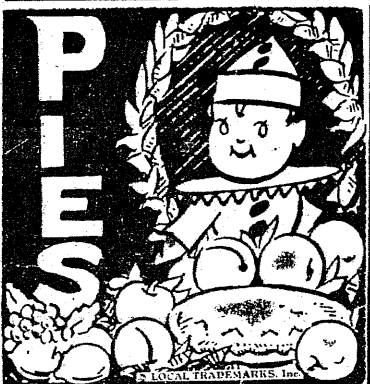

Mrs. John Denike, president of the local Woman's club and local representative of the Essex county home economics extension council, this week announced the names of the following women in Belleville who have been trained by the Extension Service to guide neighborhood groups in the latest methods of canning fruits and vegetables: Mrs. D. E. Jackrell, 12 Campbell avenue; Mrs. V. L. Hart, 116 Crest drive; Mrs. Elwood Russell, 253 Greylock parkway; Mrs. W. R. Hamacher, 428 DeWitt avenue; Mrs. Antor Scholtz, 364 DeWitt avenue; Mrs. Rose Masterson, 193 Floyd street; Mrs. Julia Heumer, 176 Cedar Hill avenue; Mrs. George Cherin, 31 Perry street; Mrs. Morris Rochlin, 171 Cedar Hill avenue; Mrs. Chester Chinnock, 173 Cedar Hill avenue; Mrs. Peter Johnson, 108 Smallwood avenue.

These women were trained by Mrs. Margaret C. Shepard and Mrs. Sally Spilain Serbell, home demonstration agents. They are qualified to give general and specific directions to groups and organizations of individuals. They have also been informed on the methods of preserving with a minimum amount of sugar.

A recent conference was held by Mrs. Denike and John J. Hewitt, chairman of the local nutrition committee, with regard to the possibility of purchasing farm fresh vegetables and fruits for canning at bulk prices. It is considered very likely that this can be done provided that sufficient women organize to make use of these foods as promptly and rapidly as possible. Places for group canning will be provided.

Those women who are interested in joining groups where they may secure foods for preserving at the peak of their nourishment value and at reduced prices should contact Mrs. Denike or Mr. Hewitt as promptly as possible.

Don't waste anything, for that means wasted money. Wasted money is wasted lives in wartime. Every dollar you can save should go toward war bonds to help your state meet its quota.

PLANT BLACKOUT
ORDER IS NEAR

Believe War and Navy Depts.
Will Issue Ruling
Shortly

Industrial plants may shortly be ordered by the army and navy to blackout, it was learned this week. While no official order has been issued, Harry Sullivan, town defense coordinator, said this week that state officials anticipated that one would soon be forthcoming.

"It seems rather foolish for us to insist that air raid wardens go around making sure that residents don't have a bit of light showing in their homes during blackouts when defense plants are blazing with lights."

Neither the office of civilian defense in Washington or the state defense council have any jurisdiction over the blacking out of industrial plants which are engaged in war work, Sullivan explained. They come under the jurisdiction of the army and navy.

There are a number of local plants, particularly those in the valley section, which are engaged in war work on a 24-hour basis. In last week's blackout despite the efforts of residents to cooperate the valley section glowed from one end to the other from the lights of these factories.

REGULATIONS

Pursuant to authority contained in Executive Order No. 9066 and Public Proclamation No. 1 of the Commanding General, Eastern Defense Command, the following rules and regulations are hereby established for the control of artificial lighting within the zone hereinafter defined, effective immediately, from one hour after sundown each night until sunrise the following morning for the duration of the war or until such time as these orders may be rescinded or amended:

All exterior lights used for illumination or guidance of traffic (such as street lights) and all lights used for security measures or necessary outdoor protection, outdoor manufacture, storage or shipping of war materials (such as floodlights or artificial illumination in freight yards, docks or shipyards), shall be reduced in volume, number or wattage to a minimum consistent with their purpose and shaded so as to prevent their direct rays shining at an angle above the horizontal.

All other exterior lights used for illumination of open areas, such as parking lots, playgrounds, places of amusement or entertainment, sidewalk cafes, marquees, open-air gardens or terraces, etc., must be so shaded as to prevent their lights shining at an angle above the horizontal and the combined lighting of such areas may not exceed the average of one-quarter watt per square foot, and no individual light used for such purposes shall be in excess of one hundred watts at the rated voltage.

All lights within display windows, shop windows, open lobbies and other places of business shall be so shaded by opaque material as to prevent their direct rays being visible from any point on the exterior of the window or opening, and the total lighting of such display windows shall not exceed the average of one-half watt per square foot of vertical window or opening. Where the lights of the interior of such shops, stores or other places of business are normally visible from the exterior thereof, they shall be so shaded by opaque material as to prevent the direct rays being visible from any point outside of the building. Lights reflected outward by mirrors or other polished surfaces are subject to these provisions.

visions. Where the display window or opening is not protected from the main portion of the store, shop or place of business by a protective backdrop or partition, the wattage for lighting of the interior of such store, shop or place of business shall not exceed the average of one-quarter watt per square foot of floor space.

All other windows, openings and skylights that open either on the street or courtyard or roof, shall be so screened or shaded as to prevent direct rays of light escaping therefrom. In lieu of complete screening or shading of such windows, the interior lights of the room concerned shall be individually shaded to prevent the shining or reflection of lights out of such windows.

All exterior advertising signs illuminated by floodlights, incandescent bulbs, neon, fluorescent, or other lighting, shall be extinguished.

Bonfires, brush fires, burning fields, etc., specifically come under the same regulations concerning other lighting. Where brush, rubbish, fields, etc. are burned, it shall be so arranged that these fires will be extinguished completely by one hour after sundown.

Pursuant to authority contained in Paragraph 6 of Public Proclamation No. 1, Headquarters Eastern Defense Command, dated May 16, 1942, the agencies designated to enforce the provisions of these regulations are as follows:

a. State and/or local authorities are charged with the enforcement of such of these regulations as pertain to private and public lighting (except military establishments and war plants operating under the Department supervision).

b. The military authorities are charged with the enforcement of such of these regulations as pertain to military establishments and war plants operating under the supervision of the War Department.

These regulations supercede all previous regulations concerning the control of artificial lighting issued by this headquarters.
