

GET NO ORDERS YET TO DEFER MARRIED MEN

Board Has No Official Knowledge Of F. D. R.'s Proclamation; Big Group Leaves

The status of married men in the draft has not been altered as far as the local board is concerned. Those married men scheduled to depart with the town's largest war-time contingent tomorrow morning will leave despite inquiries which have been made at the board office since the proclamation issued by President Roosevelt concerning married men until after all single men have been drafted.

The board, acting as are boards throughout the state, is following present regulations which provide that eligibility for drafting shall be decided on a dependency basis. The boards have received no formal notification of the Roosevelt proclamation or how it is to work and until such time as it does, will continue to operate under the present system.

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey conveyed the same thoughts to Essex county board members at a dinner meeting held with them last Friday night.

Flooded With Inquiries
Since newspapers published the story of the President's proclamation last week, the board office has been flooded with inquiries from married men who are in the draft group going tomorrow or believe that they are about to be called into service.

Hundreds of occupational questionnaires are pouring into the office daily, and the regular staff assisted by a number of volunteer workers, is in the midst of the big job of sorting, filing and compiling them.

Shortly, Miss Sadie Slusser, draft clerk, said yesterday the board will start sending occupational questionnaires to those in the 45-64 group which was the last to register before the 18- to 20-year-old youths who signed up this week.

No departure ceremony has been arranged for the town's largest contingent which leaves tomorrow morning. They are to report to the high school for induction at 7:30 a.m. From Belleville, they will be shipped to the Newark armory where they will be given physical examinations. If they wish, they may be granted an immediate two-week furlough to straighten out business and personal affairs and then must report to Fort Dix through their draft board.

REGISTER 594 IN 18-19 CLASS

Youths Will Be Called By Birthdays And Not By Lottery

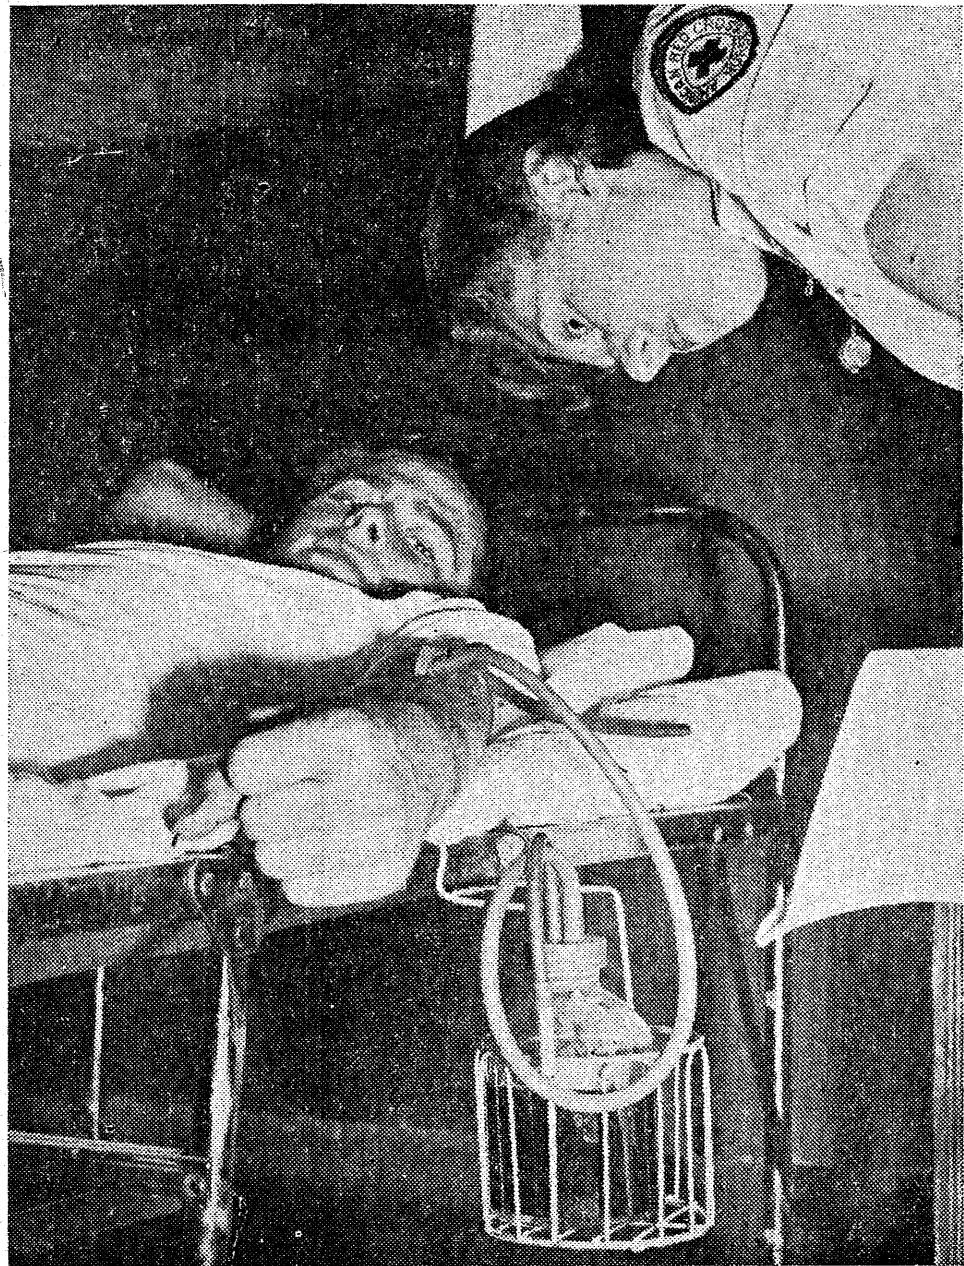

The youngest of Belleville's youth yet to be registered for the armed service, the 18-19 group, signed up on Tuesday at the high school. Directed by the draft board, with school teachers serving as registrars, 594 youths were registered.

This approximated the advance figure estimated by the draft board, but was above the predictions made in some sources. While the school was open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., the bulk of the registrants, more than 400, were handled after 7 p.m.

During the day, those who were students registered, while in the evening most of the youths listed themselves as working in defense plants. When selective service will start digging into this age category is not known but there will not be a national lottery to determine the order in which they will be called for service.

It will be by ages. Those who were born on or after January 1, 1922, will be the first subject to call. They will be issued N numbers and will be placed in the board's file behind those who were registered in the 20-44 registration. For example, if the last serial order number issued here to a 20-44 registrant was 12,254, then the order number of the first 18-19 registrant would be N-12,255.

Youngsters Get 5 Tons of Rubber In Scrap Pile

Overman Tire Plant Heap Discoverers Have Struck It Rich In Pennies; Small Fry Is Making Drive A Success; Closed Stations Hinder It

If the town's rubber salvage drive goes over the top, it will be to the credit of patriotic (and penny-minded, too) youngsters who have been hauling odds and ends of old rubber from attics, cellars and scrap piles for the past two weeks. They have 10 more days to help swell the nation's rubber pile and from present indications of the amount which is pouring into gasoline stations there will be no let-up in their hunting.

The real rubber bonanza has been struck by 14 youngsters in the valley section who are daily "mining" an average of 1,000 pounds of scrap and crude rubber out of a lot next to the old Overman Tire plant in Cortlandt street.

According to George Mead, operator of the service station at Washington avenue and Rutgers street where the youngsters have been turning in their rubber for pennies, they've accounted for more than 90 per cent of the 10,000 pounds which has been brought to his station.

From early morning until dark, the youngsters may be seen digging in search of new "veins" of their rich discovery. One day this week the 14 kids brought in a total of 900 pounds at one time, overtaxing the two scales at the station so much that the haul had to be taken to the Smith Bros. coal yard for weighing on their big scales. Of the total 900 pounds, three youngsters accounted for 500 pounds of it.

Most stations reported receiving the usual run of old rubber commodities found in cellar and attic scrap piles. While there was a good turn-in the first few days, it slackened off at most stations. Some dealers thought that the gasoline shortage and the fact that many stations are closed most of the time had something to do with it. This week Mayor Williams and Robert G. Sutherland, chairman of the salvage committee, renewed their appeals for residents to cooperate and lend their bit toward the success of the drive.

King Seeks Pay Increase For Three Employees

Three of Commissioner King's department of public affairs employees will receive pay increases if ordinances calling for the raises are adopted on July 14.

King introduced at Tuesday night's meeting measures to increase Health Officer Eugene Berry's salary from $3,000 to $3,200, Overseer of the Poor John Hewitt from $2,700 to $3,000, and Edward O'Connor, plumbing inspector from $2,600 to $2,700.

109 GIVE BLOOD TO RED CROSS

Defense Plant Workers Make Up Most Of Groups; Helps Soldiers, Sailors

Blood flowed freely here yesterday afternoon and early evening as 109 patriotic citizens did their part to help those on the fighting front by contributing one pint of their blood to the American Red Cross blood bank.

Aided by members of the Red Cross motor corps and canteen units and Boy and Girl Scouts, a staff of nine headed by Dr. Josephine Wells from the New York headquarters of the Red Cross, directed the blood giving in the new gym of the high school.

A small number of the 134 who had indicated a willingness to give some of their blood were turned down because they had once had malaria or other infectious diseases, or because the examining staff felt that their age or physical condition made their giving blood inadvisable.

Everybody entered the effort with a spirit of doing a small part to help the war effort and perhaps help to save the life of some wounded soldier or sailor some day when a quick transfusion is needed.

Most of the donors agreed that the transfer of the blood from their arms to the sterile storage bottles was painless. Three super-

PRIORITY RATINGS DELAY DEFENSE HOUSING PROJECTS

Town Is Unable To Release Materials For Water, Sewer Without Rating

Priority ratings are delaying the start of at least two local defense housing projects, including the proposed garden apartment development in Carpenter street.

It developed at the town commission conference on Tuesday night that the public works department is unable to release any materials for the construction of water or sewer connections or repaving of broken pavements or new pavements, even though the materials may be in stock, unless a priority rating is obtained.

The stumbling block was explained to the commissioners by Town Engineer Hugh Welsh who quoted sections from the WPB ruling.

The situation prompted Mayor Williams to remark that "these things can't wait too long. I fear that we have already lost one development because of the delays." The Conforti Homes company, represented by Emanuel DeNol, purchased from the town four lots in Mill street west of Montgomery Presbyterian church, where defense type houses will be erected if the company is able to obtain a priority rating. The sale price of the property was $1,500.

One Needed For Other
However, it was explained that the building firm must first have water taps installed to gain a priority rating so that building may proceed. Engineer Welsh explained that the town could not install any water taps until it had obtained a priority rating from the builder.

"We cannot use these taps even though they are in stock," the engineer said. "We must have a priority rating."

Mayor Williams said that he believed the solution to the problem would be for the town to give the Conforti company a letter to the effect that if a priority rating is secured, the water taps would be released for installation.

The same problem arose on the garden apartment development in Carpenter street where a New York concern plans to erect 14 eight-family dwellings. In addition to need for priority ratings to construct sewer and water connections, a rating must be obtained so that the entrance mall from Carpenter street into the center of the development can be paved.

Welsh said that he understood that the concern would be able to obtain an A-2 rating.

Summer Schedule Starts For Town Baby Clinic

A summer schedule for July and August has been put into operation for the town-sponsored baby-keep-well stations. All clinics will be held in the morning.

Nurses will be at the town hall and at School No. 3 on Thursdays from 10 a.m. to noon. On Wednesdays, they will visit the Silver Lake Community house from 10 a.m. to noon and will be at School No. 2 on Tuesdays from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Industrial Sugar Users Register Any Day

Industrial users of sugar, who were given an allotment by the rationing board which was to last them until July 1, may apply any time during the day from 9 to 5 and from 9 to 12 on Saturdays at the rationing board for more sugar.

There are no special registration days.

TO REGISTER NEXT WEEK FOR GAS

Motorists Sign Up For New Rationing At School No. 4, High School

Local motorists will sign up for the new gasoline rationing next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at two places, School No. 4 in Silver Lake and the high school at Washington avenue and Holmes street. With permanent gasoline rationing scheduled to go into effect on July 22, all motorists must register if they want to secure gasoline after that date.

Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer, who will be in charge of the registration, said that the work would be entirely handled by school teachers. Despite the summer recess, he declared that there are sufficient number of them still in town or nearby who have volunteered to perform the work as they did the last time.

The school buildings will be open each of the three days from 1 p. m. to 8 p. m. Silver Lake residents are requested to go to School No. 4 while those from all other sections of town will report to the high school.

Robert N. Hayes will be the site director at the high school and James G. Shawger at School No. 4. Those who register will need their motor vehicle registration cards.

Appear Alphabetically

In an effort to speed registration, Superintendent Parmer has requested that residents appear in the following alphabetical order:

Those whose last names begin with letters A to G, Thursday; H to P, Friday; and Q to Z, Saturday.

Official instructions for the registration were issued from Trenton yesterday by James Kerney Jr., state director of the office of price administration. All owners with a few exceptions will register for the basic "A" gasoline ration book at the public schools. All owners of trucks, buses, taxis, boats and other vehicles in a "service" category will register at the rationing board office at School No. 8 on the same dates or after.

LAUTERETTE MADE CAR CONSERVATOR

Directs Local ODT Campaign To Promote Group Riding Plan

Norman D. Lauterette, general traffic manager of the National Grain Yeast corporation, was this week appointed local administrator for the conservation of vital war transportation by Mayor Williams. Notice of the selection of Lauterette, who has had long experience in the transportation field, has been forwarded to Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, in Washington.

The major objective of the conservation of war transportation is the promotion of group riding among those traveling to work daily by automobiles. While no definite details of the program which the ODT has in mind have been received as yet, it is understood that the plan will consist of an educational campaign to urge the motorist to conserve the use of his car and take better care of it, to prevent a surge to public transportation facilities and promote greater group use of private autos.

Parish Honors Father Kelly On 35th Year As a Priest

St. Peter's Pastor Presented Check for $2,000; Church and Town Turn Out For Reception Held In Old School Hall On Monday

Hundreds from St. Peter's parish and the community joined Monday night in honoring Rev. Joseph M. Kelly, pastor of St. Peter's church, on the 35th year of his ordination to the priesthood and his tenth anniversary as pastor of the William street church.

It was a surprise reception, held in the old school hall, arranged by a large committee directed by Rev. John S. Nelligan, St. Peter's curate. A check for $2,000 was presented to Father Kelly by Father Nelligan on behalf of the members of the parish and its friends.

Joining in the tribute to the priest were other church dignitaries and municipal officials. At the close of the program, Father Kelly cut huge cake, more than two feet high, which was presented to him.

The St. Peter's pastor was ordained on May 26, 1907, at the Immaculate Conception seminary in South Orange. He served as an assistant pastor here for one year under Father Smith in 1907. He returned to Belleville 10 years ago as the church's pastor. During the first world war, Father Kelly served with the 59th Pioneers as their chaplain. Commissioned as a captain, he was in France for more than 13 months. Throughout the years since the war, he has maintained a close relationship with the activities and members of the 59th Pioneers association.

Monsignor Hughes Speaks

Heading the list of those representing the church who spoke was Very Rev. James A. Hughes, chancellor of the archdiocese of Newark. Monsignor Hughes, who served here for several years as assistant under Father Kelly, is now pastor of the Church of St. Paul of the Cross in Jersey City. Two priests who were members of St. Peter's parish and received their schooling here also spoke. They were Rev. John J. O'Brien of All Saints church, Jersey City, and Rev. Dr. Aloysius Welsh, who is now teaching at the Immaculate Conception seminary at Burlington. Also present were Lieut. Chaplain Aloysius Carney, a nephew of Father Kelly's, who will report to Camp Blanding, Fla., tomorrow, and James McCloskey, representing the 59th Pioneers association, of Wilmington, Del.

Highest Tribute

"This has been a most gracious tribute," he said in conclusion. "One of the highest tributes that any priest could receive."

In addition to the speakers already named who spoke briefly, those seated on the platform included Commissioners Joseph King and Louis A. Noll, some of the committee heads and members of Father Kelly's family.

Three branches of the church contributed to the entertainment which interspersed the various speeches in tribute to Father Kelly. Representing the children of St. Peter's school, five youngsters danced or played instruments. Geraldine Cunningham did a military tap as did Mary Armstrong. Patricia Dempsey performed an acrobatic dance and (Continued on Page 8)

The town's first war-time parade as a civilian defense morale booster, scheduled to be the feature of Saturday's Fourth of July celebration, has been badly riddled by war regulations.

Although 30 drum and bugle corps and bands were invited to participate and compete for prizes, it appeared last night that there would be two musical units and possibly four in the line of march. Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan, who is in charge of arrangements, and Harry Scott, parade grand marshal, were even keeping their fingers crossed on these.

Rationing of gasoline and rubber, plus the fact that buses cannot be hired to transport private groups such as bands, has taken its toll among the number of corps which will be able to accept the invitation to parade here.

The parade received a further blow yesterday when Sullivan was notified that an army detachment, which the town had been previously notified would march, would not be able to appear. The coordinator said that earlier in the week he and Mayor Williams had been given definite assurance that the men would be here.

State Junior Champs Scheduled

There was almost definite assurance last night that the Edward Ballantyne corps of Irvington, state junior drum and bugle corps champions, which have competed here in the past, would be in line as would the Newark police department band. However, yesterday afternoon, Sullivan was notified by Commissioner John Keenan of Newark that the police would be unable to appear because of a previous engagement. Later in the afternoon there was word from Newark that their appearance would be almost certain.

Two Nutley units, the St. Mary's drum and bugle corps and the junior corps of the Holy Family church have promised that they will make an effort to appear.

A large number of musical units have always been a feature of Belleville parades, particularly the night parades held annually on Armistice days. Leaders of all of the corps said that they were anxious to appear but that they had no means of transporting the units or their instruments. A number of corps are also participating in parades which are being held in their own communities since virtually all towns will have parades and celebrations on the Fourth.

The only solution that Sullivan has to the scarcity of music is the use of the police department safety patrol car, which has record turntable and will play martial music. The coordinator also expects to obtain another sound truck.

Despite all of the disappointments it is expected that more than 1,500 will be in the parade which will start from Greyclark parkway at 9:30 a.m. and will proceed south in Washington avenue, past the reviewing stand at the town hall, and disband at the Newark city line at Mill street.

Insignia For Each Group

A number of attractive signs with the insignia of the defense units have been made by Walter Garvey of Prospect place, a member of the police reserve and each unit will line up behind its proper mark.

It is expected that the police reserves will appear for the first time in their new uniforms which arrived and were distributed this week. Money for the uniforms was obtained from several manufacturers.

The parade, headed by Grand Marshal Scott, will be divided into four divisions which will assemble and march as follows:

- First Division
Point of assembly, Broad street south of Greyclark parkway. Aides, Richard Berry and Otto Brumich. Regular police department, regular fire department. Newark police band, town officers, staff of civilian defense council, consumer interests committee, supplies committee, safety committee.
- Second Division

NO HOPE IS HELD FOR NO. 92 LINE

ODT Refuses To Alter Ruling On Daytime Operation

Any illusions which hill residents may have had about the return of daytime service on the P. S. No. 92 line were shattered on Tuesday night at the town commission conference when Commissioner Noll, who has charge of local transportation, reported on a conference which he and Mayor Williams had held with E. J. Hill, superintendent of Public Service Coordinated transportation.

Noll said that at the present time there is no chance of the service being resumed because of the ruling of Joseph Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, in Washington.

The No. 92 bus operates in Belleville along Joralemon street and Washington avenue to North Newark. A month ago the bus service during the daytime was halted. The bus operates from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. and from 4 to 7 p.m.

At the town meeting three weeks ago it was explained to residents, particularly of the Joralemon street vicinity, that the Public Service was powerless to continue the line because of ODT regulations which require that a certain number of passengers be carried on each round trip. However, it was promised that Noll would make a further appeal to Public Service.

"They (meaning Public Service) can't do anything," Noll said.

He said that the company had informed him and the mayor that Eastman will not permit Public Service to extend, change or grant new franchises.

Take Buses Off Run

Government men in cars, representing the ODT, will ride bus routes in cars sending back all buses which they find are not carrying any passengers or a number which is far below the seating capacity of the bus.

It is not the fault of Public Service officials," Noll said. "It's an order from the government and we have to accept it."

"We don't say it's the final answer," William Wiedman, representing Public Service said.

"We haven't given up hope yet. But, it's our answer now."

Noll said that during a test period, following the start of gasoline rationing, the No. 92 line had carried 19 passengers.

Several plans were suggested for the change of the routes of other buses, but all of these were ruled out as impracticable and also contrary to ODT regulations.

The commissioner said that he would continue his effort to bring about some solution of the problem, but added that there appeared little that could be done for the present.

Hearing On No. 37

A hearing was held before the public utilities commission in Newark on Thursday on the petition of the Essex County Park commission over the use of Mill street through Branch Brook park by the No. 37 crosstown line running to Silver Lake. The operation of the bus, the park board claimed, was contrary to its regulations. The board claimed that it, and not the municipality, has jurisdiction over Mill street. Commissioner Noll contends that the town retained all of its rights over Mill street when the route of the road was changed so that it would run through the center of the parkway.

While the utilities board did not hand down its decision on the dispute, the park board representative stated that the body would be willing to permit the line to continue to operate in Mill street for the duration of the war because the bus transports a number of defense workers to plants in the Silver Lake and Bloomfield sections.

Stadium Program At 2:30
The afternoon program at which demonstration of work of most of the emergency divisions of the defense organization will be given is scheduled to start at the municipal stadium at 2:30 p.m.

The program will be opened with the singing of the national anthem followed by a tribute to the air raid wardens to be made by a member of the defense council. After the pledge of allegiance to the flag led by the air raid wardens, there will be a tribute to the Red Cross first aid instructors followed by a first aid demonstration by picked teams including stretcher parties.

Members of the fire reserves, directed by Fire Lieut. William Gilchrist, will demonstrate incendiary bombs and how to properly extinguish them. Members of the Boy Scouts will participate in a demonstration by the communications division.

The police and fire reserves will battle it out in a tug of war after which William O. H. McEnroe, coordinator for the state civilian defense council in this region, will speak.

The Boy Scout messengers will put on a bicycle race and the police and fire reserves will engage in a softball game. Highlight of the afternoon will be the demonstration by the fire reserves making a rescue from a burning building and extinguishing the fire. A makeshift wooden structure has been erected at the stadium.

Scrap Drive May End 22-Year Battle Over Greylock Avenue R.R. Crossing

Removal of 60-Ton Girder That Caused Fight Is Proposed

The nation-wide drive to convert tons of scrap iron and steel into war machines and weapons may shortly end a grudge which Greylock avenue residents have gloated over for 22 years.

It is nearly 22 years since the town hall was the scene of a bitter fight which almost resulted in the railway being abandoned. The Erie railroad laid a 60-ton steel girder across its right of way at Greylock avenue, thus cutting off a direct route for the residents of the street to Washington avenue.

Greylock avenue runs from Main street west to the railroad right of way. On the west side of the tracks, Greylock parkway starts.

Mayor Williams asked the engineering department at Tuesday night's town meeting to study the possibility of removing the big girder and adding it to the scrap pile.

Charles Bradford, Jr., added that it would be a more direct route for residents and industrial plants in that section of the valley region. To get from Main street or adjacent streets to Washington avenue, it is now necessary to go down to Little street or to Park avenue, Nutley.

Ripped Up Crossing
The trouble over the big girder all started in April, 1920, when Mary Natale, Florence DeMeio, Nicholas Di Nicola and several other residents complained to the board of commissioners that the Erie had ripped up the crossing which they had laid across the tracks. The late John Waters was mayor at that time.

The residents protested that they would have no place to cross the tracks between Little street and Park avenue, Nutley, and it would cause a great hardship. They claimed that a map was on file in the hall of records in Newark which would show that a right of way existed there before the railroad was built.

After more than a month of searching, Town Attorney Connolly brought to light the fact that such a map was believed to have been attached to a petition for the paving of Greylock avenue in 1915.

The dispute really broke wide open on August 2, 1920. In the darkness of the night, while most good Greylock residents were home sleeping and had been lulled into security by the thought that the commissioners would do something, an Erie railroad gang came from Jersey City with a work train and swung the 60-ton girder into place with a crane, thus effectively blocking the right of way across the tracks.

Rip Up Tracks
Infuriated residents sweated all morning long with jacks and crowbars trying to tip the giant girder over on the tracks. It was no use, but about midnight they ripped up one section of the tracks and greased the rails for several hundred feet. However, Mayor Waters persuaded them to put the rail back in place and remove the grease.

At the next commission meeting, the board passed a resolution to petition the public utilities commission to grant permission for the construction of the right-of-way over the railroad. An ordinance was also adopted to extend Greylock avenue over the railroad. However, nothing was ever done about it.

Immediately after the meeting, many of the complainants who failed to understand the workings of the law came near to physically attacking the commissioners. They felt that the board was siding with the railroad and that their failure to order the immediate removal of the girder proved it.

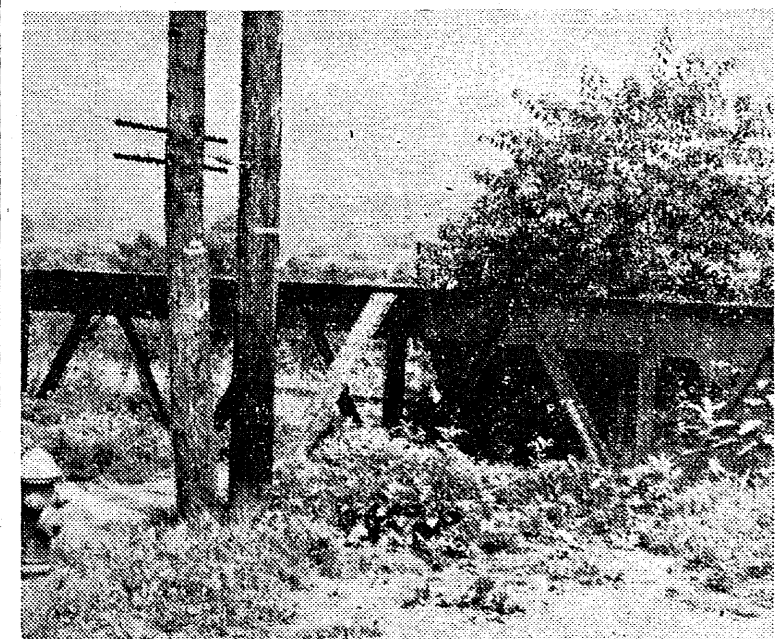

Speaking of the melee, The Belleville Times report of that date noted, "The women took the most active part in the attack. They seized members of the board by their clothing and pulled them around to the accompaniment of shouted questions and imprecations. Dr. Frederick S. Bootay, who resided in the section and is known to most of the mob, became active as a peacemaker but despite his efforts the disorder continued for more than 20 minutes."

It is understood that once the girder is removed, an application will be made for the extension of Greylock avenue over the tracks.

Van Pelt Is Installed As Lions Club Head

Luther E. Van Pelt, cashier of the Peoples National bank, was installed on Thursday as president of the Lions' club at its weekly luncheon at the Forest Hill Field club. He will take office at today's meeting.

Other officers chosen were Henry DePhillips, first vice-president; Norman Lauterette, second vice-president; Alan Scott, third vice-president; Edward Lister, secretary; Morris Rochlin, treasurer; Fred Handon, lion tamer; W. Brand Smith, tail twister; and Abram Atkins and Henry Charrier, directors.

MAY SOON BE FIGHTING AXIS instead of being a nuisance to Greylock avenue residents. These 60-ton steel girders were put there by the Erie railroad 22 years ago to prevent people from using the right of way over the tracks. It caused one of the hottest fights in town commission annals.

LAUTERETTE MADE CAR CONSERVATOR

The details of the plan would be outlined as information is received from Washington.

"A sense of utterly false security exists in the private automobile owner's mind," the transportation expert said. "He believes he can ride in a bus, street car or train when his car is gone. He views the mass or public transportation system as his ultimate transportation resource. However, the truth of the matter is that many transit systems are already overtaxed."

Couldn't Handle Them
Lauterette cited a midwest city in which 26,000 people are employed in war industries. The bus company, which has 30 buses, transports 4,000 workers to factories in addition to carrying the usual downtown and school traffic. The remainder of 22,000 factory workers get to work in 15,000 private automobiles. If the entire group of 26,000 workers turned to the bus company, Lauterette explained, its load would be increased to six and one-half times its present size. It would require 10 times as many buses because of the widespread territory over which they would have to operate.

"Multiply this many times over the country," Lauterette said, "and it's quite evident that the industrial effort would have to be turned from machines and weapons to making buses, street cars, trains and trucks."

The automobile owner must realize, Lauterette declared, that his own hope of continued transportation facilities lies in protecting the life of his present tires and automobiles.

In checks which have been made of the transportation of workers to war plants, it has been found that loads in private cars differ widely and that a large proportion of drivers to all plants ride alone. In most instances, the survey showed that in the majority of cases more than 50 percent of the cars were carrying only a driver and a "lonesome" passenger. Lauterette said, "reveal the extent of wasteful use of the automobile."

By loading five passengers in one car from a certain neighborhood going to the same plant or others en route, Lauterette continued, leaves four cars at home each to take its turn at making the run, thus extending the usefulness of all cars.

More effective usefulness of the nation's 28,000,000 cars must be accomplished immediately, is the opinion of ODT officials, Lauterette declared, if transportation facilities are to be assured for the duration.

This will mean the elimination of non-essential driving, more walking where distances will permit, more use of public transportation during the hours of light travel, improved driving practices and more group riding.

Lauterette said that he would be willing to offer his assistance to residents interested in forming group riding clubs.

A resident of Elena place, Lauterette is also co-chairman of the transportation and evacuation committee of the defense council, a member of the New York, Newark and Chicago Traffic clubs, member of the New Jersey Industrial Traffic league, serving as chairman of the perishable committee of the organization, member of the Atlantic States Shippers' Advisory board, the local Elks and Lions' clubs.

Is Refrigerated
Immediately after the transfusion had been completed, the blood in sterile bottles was placed in a refrigerated box. It is not retained in the so-called banks, common in a number of the bigger hospitals. The fluids are processed to separate the white and red corpuscles from the liquid—

The "Last Minute" Man

He is not the man shown here, for the Minute Man stood ready and armed, but he is the man who lets his wishes govern his beliefs. We have all been "last-minute" men.

We had "inside information" that there would be no war. Hitler was bluffing. The Japs were too bankrupt to fight. Gas and sugar rationing would not be necessary for the war will soon be over!

But in spite of our wishful thinking we see the four horsemen now armed on land and hurtling through the skies — striking at the oil fields of the Caucasus, and are in Eastern Asia and blazing across the burning desert.

It's late! Don't be a "last-minute" man any longer. Buy War Savings Bonds — lend your dollars to help the U. S. A. to arm.

There Are Shifts in Mealtime, Too

HOUSEHOLD SCHEDULES have to be adapted to the worker's hours. Some weeks you may serve dinner in the middle of the afternoon, but that's a small concession to these changing times and one you'll make readily. Men, who work hard on production jobs, need nourishing and sustaining food—regular meals—meals they can work on.

It IS possible to serve nourishing and appetizing meals without a monotony of fare. It is so easy to follow the same old routine, that you forget you can have variety in food and in the ways it is prepared. Consult our Home Economics Department. They know all the shortcuts to meal preparation, all the ways of keeping within a budget and they will be glad to help you.

The Tribute To Father Kelly

The splendid tribute paid to Rev. Joseph M. Kelly by the parishioners of St. Peter's church on the 35th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood is indicative of the spirit and devotion which has made St. Peter's an outstanding parish.

In the community as well as in the church, St. Peter's has played an important and leading role. Of the many activities in the parish which Father Kelly has directed, none has been more outstanding or successful than the united organization into which he has enrolled the young people. Under his leadership they have grown and developed so they have forged to the forefront in the church and in the town.

It was a well-deserved tribute to a priest who in his spiritual direction and in his counseling and guidance has more than fulfilled the holy obligations of his office. Belleville has called upon Father Kelly for his assistance and advice many times, and he has always responded with his own support and that of his parish.

When the local defense council was organized, he was one of the first called upon to serve. In his position as chairman of the committee on supplies he has recommended the expenditure of municipal funds for defense needs in a wise and careful manner.

It is our hope, as it is of many others, that Father Kelly will be among us to guide and aid us for many years to come, and that he will have the pleasure of being honored by his parishioners on more anniversaries.

Helping To Keep Down Inflation

In the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, an article by Harry Sherman, "Invisible Greenbacks," tells why every one of us should buy war bonds and how important it is to prevent inflation.

Some have the misconceived idea that if the government did not sell war bonds, it would be unable to build a powerful air force and army. Billions of dollars could be quickly raised by borrowing from the banks, but as history has shown it is a quick and guaranteed method to inflation which will lead to economic destruction.

"If you were a dictator," the author inquires, "and had the power quite easily to avert a ruinous inflation in the United States—of the type that wrecked Germany after the last war—would you do so?"

"You now have this power, in common with tens of millions of other plain men and women as undictatorial as yourself.

"Every runaway inflation in history has had the same prime cause: an enormous sudden increase in the money being used by a people.

"Such a swift increase in our own nation's money-supply is now taking place—invisibly! And it is we—tens of millions of patriotic citizens—who are responsible for most of that increase. Through negligence, of course, but does that make any difference?

"By failing to buy war savings bonds, with money we can spare for that purpose, we are continually forcing the United States Treasury to create new money with which to pay its war bills."

In the closing paragraph, the article optimistically states:

"We will never allow ourselves to be defeated in the military war in which we are engaged. But we can very easily be defeated in our internal war against inflation.

"That war can be lost—it is now being lost—by our own multitudinous delinquencies with regard to war savings bonds.

"The sober ultimate truth is that only our personal savings can now save our civilization—the savings of tens of millions of little people all garnered together and thrown into this breach. If this is not done voluntarily, it must be forced—so clear and great is the need."

This story may not ring with the impassioned patriotic fervor that has marked some of the appeals for the purchase of war bonds and stamps, but it has the dollars and cents approach which is important to every one of us.

Warning For Us To Be Silent

The revelation that Nazi saboteurs bent on destroying important industrial and utility centres had landed on our shores is a story that reads to most of us like one out of fiction—one that might happen in the movies or in some of the more thrilling of the Sunday comic pages.

But, it is almost impossible for us to realize that less than 50 miles from our own homes, German agents landed from submarines loaded down with munitions and other weapons to wreak havoc in our very midst.

It makes sense to some of the stories which we have read. Perhaps now, we will believe some of the warnings which we have been given. We are much closer to war and its horrors than we had ever dreamed it would be possible for us to be.

The thought that has passed through the minds of most who have thought seriously about the incident which the FBI revealed this week is whether the Nazis have been able to land others on our shores who were fortunate enough to escape the net of the FBI and who may soon be at work in some industrial centre. When we see how easy it was for the Nazis to send eight men ashore, we cannot help but think that it is quite possible that they may have been more successful previously or that they will be at some later date. Of the Germans it must be said that they are not discouraged nor do they readily give up if at first unsuccessful. Lives mean nothing to them, and if there is something which they are seriously bent on destroying in this country they will make every effort to do so.

The agents' arrival should be a warning to all of us—to keep quiet and don't talk too much. In a restaurant, on a train or bus, in a tavern or in any public place, we may not know the person who may be sitting next to us. We know nothing of their sympathies nor of their allegiance to this country or some one of our enemies. We may have laughed at those posters which depict Hitler listening to every conversation. It may seem fantastic, but it can happen.

Don't be Johnny-know-all telling about the kind of work that you are doing in the defense plant where you work. Don't discuss how many of this or that kind of a machine the plant is making each day. Because you have a son or a brother in the army or navy do not discuss all that he may have told you—although he should have known better. This is war and we are rapidly learning that anything can happen. Don't permit anything which you may say or do be in any way responsible for causing the loss of life or serious damage to vital industrial plants.

There Are Laws For Cyclists, Too

As gasoline becomes more scarce and the tires on the car are beginning to give out, the older folks in the family are looking enviously at the bicycles which Junior and Sis have been pedalling about. In fact, in many families they have already taken possession and the younger folks must walk.

While there is a "freeze" order on new bicycles, and even when that is lifted there won't be enough to go around, there are lots of wheels, long discarded in the attic and cellar, which have been taken out and given an overhauling.

An increased number of bicycle riders presents a new problem, just as do a great number of automobiles. Those folks who may have forgotten some of the rules of the road from their earlier bicycle days should refresh their memory, or they may tangle with some automobile.

The most flagrant violation of cyclists, both young and old, is riding on the wrong side of the street, that is toward oncoming traffic. The law is pretty clear that cyclists like autoists must ride on the right. Do not ride at night unless your bicycle is equipped not only with a tail light, but a headlight. It may be easier and safer riding for you, but it is against the law to ride bicycles on the sidewalk. There are a number of cases in which pedestrians have been injured because of cyclists speeding along walks instead of out in the street.

Riding a bicycle may be simple, but it requires the same common sense and respect for laws that exist in automobile driving.

King Opposes Rail Removal, Favors Taking Sashweights

Commissioner Suggests Public Service Put Trolleys Back In Service To Save Rubber, Gas; Get More Scrap Out Of Attic, Unused Sashweights

Public Affairs Director King went on record at Tuesday's commission meeting as opposed to the removal of the trolley tracks from Washington avenue, and not being one to condemn without offering something better, he did.

King claimed that he would be able to salvage a lot more scrap iron and steel out of unused window sashweights than would be gotten out of ripping up the trolley tracks.

By keeping the tracks, the Public Service could establish a shuttle trolley line from the Newark city line to Nutley, King said, which would save the company rubber and gasoline and ease the transportation problem.

It was explained that the switches on the trolley line have been removed and that there would be a great cost to installing them again.

"I think it's waste of time, money and labor," King said. "The cost of the switches is a mere bagatelle compared to the rubber that would be saved."

King estimated that there is 80 to 100 pounds of unused sashweights in the homes that have attic windows. If it were collected, he predicted that it would far exceed the amount which would be realized out of the rails.

Would Take Both

Both Mayor Williams and Commissioner Noll offered the opinion that the government would take both the sashweights and the rails.

The mayor said that he understood that the Public Service has already sold all of their rails to the Metal Reserve corporation.

The town is not directly concerned with the removal of the rails in Washington avenue for the street is a state highway and the removal work would be under the supervision of the highway department.

The engineering department estimated last week that the removal of the rails would add about 924 tons to the nation's scrap pile or enough material to make more than 50 medium-sized tanks.

Urgent Appeal For Stenographers For Washington Is Made

The second district of the United States Civil Service commission, embracing the metropolitan area, has issued an urgent appeal for stenographers who would take positions in Washington.

The war program is progressing so rapidly, the office said, that there is a serious shortage of qualified stenographers.

Any girl who is a United States citizen, eighteen years old by October 1, next, in good physical condition and able to pass the necessary examination will be given an immediate appointment at $1,440 annually.

Full particulars may be obtained from the Civil Service secretary, Room 152, Newark post office.

Defense Council Urges People To See New U.S.O. Film

The public relations committee of the defense council calls attention to the fact that an important defense film is being shown at the Capitol theatre today and Friday. The picture, entitled "Mr. Gardena Jones", dramatizes the story of the U. S. O.

Carey Wilson, who wrote the story for "Mr. Gardena Jones", also speaks the commentary for the film, while George B. Seitz, one of Hollywood's leading directors, staged the production. Four screen luminaries—Charles Winninger, Fay Bainter, Ronald Reagan and Laraine Day—contributed their performances.

Using Ronald Reagan, in the title role, as an example of all soldiers, Director Seitz takes the audience into a small town with 20,000 troops camped on its outskirts. He shows the desolate life of the soldier on leave before the U.S.O. establishes its recreational

Veto Transfer, New License For Woman-Owned Tavern

The board of commissioners refused to grant a liquor transfer and issue a license for the new fiscal year to one tavern, but renewed the licenses of 50 other taverns, liquor stores and clubs Tuesday night. Their action followed a report from the police department that no complaints had been issued against taverns during the year.

A transfer and a new license was refused to Mrs. Santa Nappa of 52 Belmont avenue who proposes to purchase the license and the building which has been occupied by the tavern operated under the estate of the late Florence Core.

Martin Simon, Newark attorney, representing Mrs. Nappa stated after the commissioners had taken their action that he would immediately appeal the case to the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

The application for the transfer of the license was first presented to the board three weeks ago. On the recommendation of Commissioner Waters action was tabled for three weeks to permit investigation. Waters was not present at Tuesday's meeting. It was explained that he was detained at work. Mayor Williams said that it was a board policy not to act on a matter on which a commissioner had a recommendation or thought unless that commissioner was present. Commissioner King moved that the transfer question be delayed for another two weeks.

Had Time To Investigate

Following the commissioners action, Simon said he wished it placed in the record that there had been no investigation of the applicant, Mrs. Nappa, and that the board's action was prompted solely by the informal request of Commissioner Waters. Nothing was brought out, he said, dealing with the eligibility of the applicant.

When Simon asked for a reason for the denial, Keenan replied that it was self-explanatory and that it would not be elaborated upon since it would be the town's defense in event that Mrs. Nappa should appeal the case to the ABC.

Didn't Investigate

Following the commissioners action, Simon said he wished it placed in the record that there had been no investigation of the applicant, Mrs. Nappa, and that the board's action was prompted solely by the informal request of Commissioner Waters. Nothing was brought out, he said, dealing with the eligibility of the applicant.

When Simon asked for a reason for the denial, Keenan replied that it was self-explanatory and that it would not be elaborated upon since it would be the town's defense in event that Mrs. Nappa should appeal the case to the ABC.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

Republican leaders in Essex seem to be getting deeper and deeper into the mire in their efforts to decide upon a candidate for the United States senatorial primary. H. Alexander Smith has all but taken himself out of consideration. Essex Clean Government leaders definitely will not endorse either Joseph A. Bower or Albert W. Hawkes of Montclair. This leaves only Gill Robb Wilson of Trenton as a serious contender among the many who have been mentioned. But Wilson at this stage bears unmistakably the trademark of a second choice candidate. Likewise, he will be far from a unified choice. The delay in making the decision—and it is not even sure at this writing that Wilson will be endorsed at all—tempts many Republicans to declare either for Hawkes or Bower.

Bower has been in the race for many weeks now and, on the whole, has conducted an intelligent campaign on a high plane. He started with very few followers and the campaign has evoked little popular enthusiasm. But the important factor is that he has been gathering some support—how much must await the actual primary voting.

While Hawkes has been in the race only a short while he had many influential backers to start with. Men like S. Bayard Colgate and George W. Merck are reported for him. Business leaders in every section of the state will give him substantial support. Quite a sizeable segment of Essex County Republicans will back him no matter what the ultimate decision of the organization is.

The cumulative effect of Clean Government delay plus the support gathered by Hawkes and Bower tends to make the ultimate decision on a candidate of diminishing importance. Under normal conditions, endorsement by the Clean Government organization in Essex almost guarantees a majority of Essex votes. But conditions this year are highly abnormal. Public interest is so absorbed by the war that great difficulty will be faced to get a substantial vote to the polls. Presumably, there will be no second state and county ticket. Thus, there will be great temptation for organization Republican workers to spend most of August and September fishing. They will have the excuse that it is hardly fair to get out and work for an outsider like Wilson when there are two local men of long residence and high character in the field.

All this could be upset, of course, should someone attempt to sponsor a second ticket. Due to the mix-up on the voting machines, three anti-Vanderbilt freeholder candidates were elected in 1940. If three more could be chosen this year, Clean Government theoretics would lose control of the board. This threat would prompt the most determined effort of Clean Government leaders to get out the vote. There are some rumblings of a second ticket, but not one in a dozen thinks it will materialize. But there remains the old adage that anything can happen in love, politics and war.

At this writing (Wednesday) it seems certain that Thomas F. Meany will be confirmed as Federal judge. But the heroic efforts of Nebraska's veteran Norris to block confirmation gives a moral decision to the opposition. The fight against Meany has been historic. Taken up first by the Newark Evening News, it was given early impetus by a $1,600 advertisement in the New York Times which was sponsored principally by George D. Hofe of South Orange and by William E.

Speers and Bayard H. Faulkner of Montclair. At this point Governor Edison put the fight on the front page of every important paper in the nation by his opposition to Meany. From then on the fight became general. In New Jersey Mrs. Charles F. Robbins and Mrs. Horace A. Woodward of West Orange fought like Flying Tigers against confirmation. Now Norris has given the matter to history. All in all, I suspect Senator Snathers wishes he never had heard of the name of Meany. He will win but at a great price.

Jack Burns, 50-Year Man, Among Those Who Are Honored

The Eastwood-Nealley corporation, wire manufacturers, tendered a dinner to a large number of employees who have proved themselves in various fields during the past year at the Forest Hill club last week.

Health Dept. Repeats Ruling After Another Rabies Case Is Listed

The health department renewed its warning to residents this week that all dogs running at large must be muzzled. It was prompted by an increased number of complaints from residents about dogs running loose and another rabies case.

Health Officer Eugene T. Berry advised dog owners to have their dogs on a leash when they are out on the street. The muzzling of dogs ruling, which is a state law, is now in effect the year around.

On Monday, a beagle hound owned by Isadore Padula of 193 Fairway avenue was judged to be rabid after it had died at the Humane society headquarters in Newark.

Joseph Padula, 17, is taking Pasteur treatments, Berry said, because he came in contact with the dog while trying to force some medicine down its mouth.

DAYLIGHT RAID TEST COMING

Scheduled To Be Held Next Week Although Town Knows Nothing

Although the defense council has had no official notification, it is preparing for the daylight test air raid, which the state defense council has announced will be held some time after Saturday during the coming week.

As elsewhere in the state, it is expected that the test will show just how weak the various divisions of the defense organizations are in the number of persons who are available for daylight duty. This is particularly true in the air raid warden group where a survey has shown that the vast majority of the members are available for duty only during the evening hours.

Several of the local manufacturing plants have set up a system for the evacuation of the plants, during a raid, Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan said yesterday. Tentative plans for handling the test and for observing how effective it will be were made at last night's meeting of the defense council.

"We will know a lot more about how good our organization is after the test than we do now," Sullivan commented.

Defense Workers Doing Double Duty

HELPING GOVERNMENT ANOTHER WAY. Stephen Patrician and Vera White are shown with the treasury department Minute Man flag which they received Friday on behalf of 200 Westinghouse workers at the plant here. Philip Dettelbach, chairman of war savings committee holds a special honor certificate showing that all of the employees now regularly purchase war bonds through the salary allotment plan.

Also on the platform were (left to right) H. A. Murphy, of the state administrator's office, treasury department; W. Douglas Clark, chairman, Belleville payroll allotment committee, and A. Richard Fiske, who was master of ceremonies. Not shown is A. E. Snyder, chairman, joint labor-management committee, Westinghouse lamp division.

MINUTE MAN FLAG
TO WESTINGHOUSE

Workers Get Treasury Dept.
Award For 100%
Enrollment

A treasury Department "Minute Man" flag was awarded this week to the Westinghouse Lamp division plant for the 100 percent enrollment of the factory's 200 employees in the payroll deduction plan for buying war bonds and stamps.

It was the first local plant to receive the award which was presented at ceremonies held at the Washington avenue factory on Friday.

Miss Vera White and Stephen Patrician accepted the flag and a special certificate from the treasury department on behalf of their fellow workers. The flag, awarded only to plants with more than 90 percent enrollment in the salary allotment plan, shows the Minute Man encircled by 13 white stars silhouetted against a field of blue.

Miss White was also presented a $25 war bond for her prize winning entry in a recent Westinghouse contest entitled "What Freedom Means to Me."

The ceremonies, arranged by the company's joint labor-management committee, were held in the plant yard. H. A. Murphy of the state administrator's office of the treasury department, congratulated the employees on their 100 percent enrollment. Brief addresses were also made by Philip Dettelbach, chairman of the local war savings committee; W. Douglas Clark, chairman of the payroll allotment plan committee here, and A. E. Snyder, assistant general manager of the Westinghouse Lamp division and chairman of the Westinghouse joint committee of labor and management. A. Richard Fiske was the master of ceremonies.

Specht on WPB Board

Harry G. Specht, general manager, Eastwood-Nealey corporation, has been appointed a member of the pulp and paper wire cloth manufacturers' industry committee, an advisory body for the war production board.

THREE MORE JOIN
MINUTE MEN

People's Bank, Town, School
Employees To Get
Treasury Awards

Three more local groups will receive certificates from the U. S. treasury department for 90 percent or better enrollment of employees in the voluntary payroll allotment plan for the purchase of war bonds and stamps.

Award of the certificate also entitles them to the right to display the blue and white minute man flag which has become the symbol of the treasury department campaign. The lamp division of the Westinghouse company in Washington avenue was the first in town to be presented with a certificate and flag.

Tomorrow morning Philip Dettelbach, superintendent of L. Sonneborn & Sons Paint company and chairman of the Belleville war bond and stamp committee will present a certificate to the employees of the People's National Bank and Trust company who have a 100 percent enrollment record. The certificate will be accepted by Louis Ventura, assistant cashier and teller, who is the oldest employee of the institution in point of service.

Shortly, there will be a formal presentation of certificates to both the town and school employees who have near 100 percent enrollments.

G A S REGISTRATION

1. The dates for the registration of car owners for the permanent gasoline rationing program are Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, July 9, 10, and 11.

2. In general, registration will be held at public elementary schools during the hours of 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. There may be local variations of the registration sites and hours. If so, local rationing and school officials will announce such changes in the local newspapers. For example, some communities may find it necessary to use high schools in addition to public elementary schools; in others it may be necessary to adjust registration hours for the benefit of war plant workers who are not able to register during the 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. period.

3. The following must register at schools:

"All owners of passenger cars and motorcycles, with the very few exceptions listed in item 4 below, must register at the nearest public elementary school, and will receive the basic 'A' gasoline ration book, regardless of whether the car is used for business or to drive to work, and regardless of what type of ration card they now possess under the emergency gasoline rationing plan. This includes doctors, ministers, and others who use passenger cars in their business or profession.

"Each car owner will be required to show his motor vehicle registration certificate, and will be asked to fill out a brief application form.

4. The following must register at local rationing boards:

"a. All buses, trucks, jitneys, taxis, livery vehicles, or vehicles available for public rental.

"b. An ambulance or hearse.

"c. A vehicle, passenger vehicle included, which is part of a fleet of four or more similar vehicles used principally in the business or occupation (whether gainful or not) of the same person.

"d. A vehicle, passenger type included, which is owned or leased by a Federal, State, local, or foreign government or government agency.

"e. A vehicle held by a dealer for sale or resale.

"f. Boats.

"g. Off-the-highway users of gasoline, such as farmers who use gasoline to run tractors and other farm machinery, industrial users such as dry cleaners, and others who customarily purchase gasoline in bulk for non-highway uses.

"5. The owner of a vehicle need not appear in person, but must register through an agent. Such agent must present the motor vehicle registration certificate in order to secure a ration book.

"6. Procedure for applying for supplemental ration books:

"Any recipient of the basic 'A' ration book who believes that the basic ration does not furnish gasoline sufficient for his occupational needs may make an application for a supplementary book. Follow this procedure:

"When you register at your school on July 9, 10, or 11, ask the registrar for an application form for a supplementary ration book. You will not fill this form out at the school, but will take it with you and fill it out at your convenience. You may then either take it or mail it to your local rationing board. In the interests of speeding up the registration and rationing procedure, you are urged to mail the application instead of appearing in person at the board office.

"On the basis of the information you have supplied on the application form, the local board will issue the appropriate supplemental ration book which you may use in conjunction with your basic 'A' book."

FATHER KELLY

Flora and Lawrence Piana played accordion solos.

The church choir, directed by Thomas Hancy, sang "Blessed Be God." The Petrean club glee club led by Ambrose Culklin sang "My Rosary." Father Kelly is the moderator for the Petreans. George Ashenbach, a club member, sang "Johnny Doughboy Found a Rose in Ireland."

Madame Jean Bordone of Newark also sang several numbers.

Petrean Member Writes Poem

Printed on the back of the program book for the reception was a poem written by Miss Patricia Field, a member of the Petrean club. Dedicated to Father Kelly, it was titled "The Priest With the Laughing Irish Eyes."

Though in size he may be small
His heart is big enough for all.
When in sorrow, he'll console;
When succeeding towards our goal
He'll lead us on with counsels wise—

The priest with the laughing Irish eyes.
With such a past behind him,
We pray the years will find him
Within our constant reach.
So now, a little prayer from each
May help us keep our treasured prize—

The priest with the laughing Irish eyes.
