

MAYOR IS CLEAN GOV'T. CHOICE AGAINST HARTLEY

Official Announcement Expected Next Week By G. O. P. Faction

Mayor Williams will oppose Congressman Fred A. Hartley for the Republican nomination for Congress at the mid-September primaries. That the local official would be the choice of the Clean Government forces was learned last night from a reliable source in that faction of the G. O. P.

Williams' name has been linked as a possible Clean Government choice to oppose Hartley for several months, but it was not until the past week, it is reported, that faction leaders definitely decided on him as their choice to oppose the incumbent congressman from this district.

It is understood that the selection of Williams will be officially announced next week, probably Thursday, when the rest of the Clean Government primary slate is announced. This will include candidates for the U. S. Senate, the state assembly and board of freeholders.

Hartley and Clean Government have never been on friendly terms although the representative did once run under the Clean Government label. His own coldness to Clean Government plus the fact that in some sections of the district there is agitation against Hartley because of his isolationist views on some issues pertaining to the war prior to this country's entrance prompted the decision to give him opposition.

Up For Eighth Time

This will be the eighth time that Hartley has sought to represent this district in congress. He has been successful in all of his previous campaigns, starting in 1928 when he was elected at the age of 24 and was the youngest member of the house of representatives.

In past campaigns and at various other times, Williams has been closely aligned with Hartley and his organization. At no time has either spoken ill of the other in public.

He has never been to the forefront in Clean Government circles, Williams has been on friendly terms with most of its leaders. He has served several times as chairman of the meeting when the Republican county organization has held its annual elections following the primaries. Even in Belleville there are others who have stood ahead of him in active local leadership.

Belleville has gone for a year without a place on the Clean Government slate. For a number of years, first as an assemblyman and then as state senator, Homer Zink of Rossmore place, home state controller, was a member of the ticket.

Williams is now serving his fourth term as a member of the town commission and the revenue and finance director. A native of Massachusetts and a resident of Passaic before he came to Belleville in 1924, he was first elected in 1930. He was high man in the 1934 and 1938 elections. The commissioners first made him mayor of the board in 1934 and in his successive terms since then he has been returned to that office. In the election held last May, he finished second in the field behind Commissioner Waters. The votes given him were considerably less than those he received in the 1938 race. However, the board, despite first indications that Waters wanted to be mayor, returned Williams to the office.

Active In Real Estate

Of recent years Williams has been active in the real estate field, having erected most of the stores which are situated in Washington avenue's principal business block opposite town hall. In Massachusetts and later in this state, he was engaged in the textile business for many years. He is a member and a past exalted ruler of the local lodge of Elks, a communicant of St. Peter's church and commander of the local defense council.

During the years that Belleville was in financial straits, Williams gained wide publicity for the issuance of baby bonds and other efforts to improve the municipality's condition. This resulted in his being asked to speak before finance and other groups not only in New Jersey but in other states. He resides in Rossmore place with his wife who is a teacher in Bloomfield high school.

Lieut. Smith Also Attends Newark Bomb School

In a story in another section of today's paper it states that Fire Lieut. William Gilchrist attended the two-day bomb school conducted by the army ordnance department in Newark yesterday and Tuesday.

The name of Police Lieut. Ken Smith should be added as another local representative to gain knowledge of bomb reconnaissance work and the handling of duds. Smith is the instructor for the police reserves.

Extend Old Record Drive To Benefit Armed Forces

Legion Sponsors Drive to Collect Old Records; Will Be Melted and Made Into New By Nation's Best Entertainers For Forces on Foreign Soil

Residents are not responding well to the American Legion's appeal for old and broken records to be turned in so that they may be dumped into a nation-wide scrap pile to be made into new records to be shipped to our fighting men.

It makes no difference whether it is the Tchaikowsky's Fifth Symphony as played by the Philadelphia symphony or Benny Goodman's arrangement of the "Jersey Bounce." They're both good for their purpose in the eyes of the Legionnaires. The record can be in one piece, cracked or broken into 20 pieces. It will still help.

So far, Belleville folks are far below the local quota of nearly 5,000 records for the drive. In an effort to bring it up to the desired mark, the Legion has extended its campaign until August 9.

If that song has lost its interest for you or it's getting kind of worn, turn it in to the Legion old record headquarters at 356 Washington avenue. Maybe you don't like it any more, but there's some soldier in Australia, Iceland, Alaska, Egypt, India or some other distant foreign land that is just yearning to hear Bing Crosby sing "The One Rose," Sammy Kaye lull them with "My Buddy" or Benny Goodman swing out with "St. Louis Blues," or maybe if he's on the more serious side he'll want to hear Lily Pons sing something from "Lakme" or Richard Crooks singing one of the arias from "Rigoletto."

Give Talent Gratis

The entertainment stars of the nation, serious, light and comic, stand ready to give their talents free to make thousands of American soldiers feel that the homeland isn't so far away if those with old records will only turn them in to the big scrap pile. If you have so many records that you can't transport them to the broken record headquarters or you have any further questions call Commander-elect Alonzo Hartley and he will offer advice.

Organized under the name of "Records for Our Fighting Men, Inc." the organization aided by the Legion hopes to collect more than 37,500,000 old and broken records between now and August 2.

The group which originally sponsored the plan is composed of Kay Kyser, Kate Smith, Fritz Reiner, Sigmund Spaeth and Gene Autry. With the proceeds from the scrap collection, they will have made record platters ranging from hillbilly tunes, jumpin' jive and sweet music to symphony and operatic numbers.

Leading bands and entertainers who have toured army camps throughout the nation, impressed by the tremendous response and popularity of their visits, have indicated that they would like to do the same for the boys overseas.

The only way that it can be done is through records—the old and broken ones that are now cluttering up your closets and drawers.

Quick Police Action Nabs Pair On Abortion Count

The well-founded suspicion of Patrolman James Lee that something was amiss led to the arrest on Saturday of a woman and a medical student, both Paterson residents, on the charge of performing an illegal operation on a local woman.

The pair, Mrs. Edna Clifford, 41, of 452 East 34th street and Eugene R. Pometti, 37, of 100 Lakeview avenue, both Paterson, are now held in $5,000 bail by the county prosecutor's office awaiting grand jury action.

Patrolman Lee was summoned Saturday afternoon to take the woman home in a police car when she became ill while sitting in an auto in Washington avenue. His suspicions aroused, Lee reported the case as he believed it to his superiors when he returned to headquarters. A short time later, police raided the home and arrived just as Mrs. Clifford and Pometti were leaving. Police said that the pair had come to treat the local woman at her home. Pometti is said to have admitted to his questioners that he had been practicing as a physician although he did not have a license. The Paterson man said that he attended a medical college, but had not graduated.

The pair were turned over to Prosecutor's Detective Hartnett by local police. Bail for the two was fixed by Assistant Prosecutor James L. McKenna.

Missing A Week, Boys Were Just Camping Out

Two families were greatly relieved yesterday when their 11-year-old sons were returned to them. Reported missing for a week, it developed that the two youngsters, Joseph Hood of 22 Smith street and Patrick Ryan of 17 Remington road, Radburn, had been camping in the woods near Wallpack.

The young campers were tracked down Monday night after a woman had seen a bonfire in the woods near her home. Sleeping in the open, the youngsters had been living on canned soup and beans. They were picked up and returned to their homes by Detective Mallack.

Grant Tire Applications

The tire rationing panel at its Tuesday night meeting granted the following applications for new tires and tubes and for retreaded and recapped tires:

Virgil Mangrolo, 400 Belleville avenue, four passenger retreads; Edna C. Scully, 200 Holmes street, two truck retreads; Dr. Roger A. Greco, 377 Clifton avenue, Newark, stationed at Soho Isolation hospital, one new tire, two retreads, and one tube; Federal Leather company, 681 Main street, two new truck tires, one tube and two truck retreads; Edwin J. Doran, Pavia avenue, Jersey City, two retreads; Albert H. Borman, 45 Mercat avenue, two truck tires and two tubes.

RENT REGISTER HELP IS WANTED FOR NEXT WEEK

Landlords Will Register At School No. 8 Monday To Friday

The OPA is seeking volunteers to assist with the registration of landlords next week at School No. 8. Those who are interested and able to serve from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. from Monday through Friday or a part of that time are requested to register immediately with Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan at the town hall.

If they are unable to do this and still want to serve, they should report to School No. 8 in Union avenue, midway between Holmes street and Belleville avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 p.m. At that time a representative of the OPA rent division will be present to explain to them the work which they will be required to perform next week.

Based on the number of landlords who have already applied for rent applications, there will be a flood of people moving in and out of the school all day next week.

The registration of landlords is in line with the OPA's decision to "freeze" rents at the March 1 level in 10 North Jersey counties, including all of Essex. Landlords are required to furnish the OPA with detailed information on the rent charged and the services rendered for every one of their tenants. In the case of an apartment house, a separate form must be filed for each dwelling unit.

Copy For Tenants

Three copies must be filled out by each landlord. One copy will be sent by the OPA to the tenant. If it is satisfactory, he keeps it. Otherwise he is to note the discrepancies in the statement made by the landlord and notify the OPA office at 20 Washington street, Newark, so that the matter can be checked.

Members of the local fair rents advisory committee will be on duty at the town hall on Tuesday night so that they may be of assistance to any landlord who may need advice before filing his statement. The rent control act, however, is not a legal body and cannot make any decisions for the landlords.

Landlords who have failed to obtain their rent forms may still secure them at School No. 8 where an OPA representative is on duty daily.

Realizing that he will need many volunteers to augment the staff, H. Russell Phillips, area rent director for the OPA, issued a request for help yesterday. "I appeal to the citizens of the state to volunteer for the important task that confronts us in the registration of landlords beginning next Monday."

The same sentiment was expressed by Coordinator Sullivan in urging that local people respond to the call for assistance.

"We realize that people have many duties to perform now," Sullivan said. "We have already called upon them to do much work and they have responded beautifully. This is just another one of the sacrifices and patriotic efforts which we are asking them to make. I hope that we will have a large number of volunteers."

Rent Director Phillips said that it had been brought to his attention that some landlords are looking upon the registration with a lack of interest.

"By this time," Phillips said, "everybody ought to know that landlords are obliged to report all dwellings rented by them or offered for rent. Failure to obey the obligation will entail severe penalties."

Is Belleville Marked?

Defense Officials Hazard Guesses As To Whether Town Was Marked In Passaic Valley Region Listed As Target Of Nazi Saboteurs

Civilian defense officials hazard guesses this week as to whether Belleville was one of the communities in the Passaic valley region which was marked on Nazi maps and aerial photographs of this region for possible sabotage.

Their thoughts echoed reports issued by the FBI over the weekend warning the public to be on the alert for German saboteurs who may be in this country. While the federal agency's announcement did not definitely state that the men were in this country, a detailed description of each of the trio was given.

The FBI report said that if the men were here they were equipped with detailed maps and aerial photographs of the metropolitan industrial area. Specifically named as probably included in their possession were maps and photographs of the Passaic Valley region. Since Belleville does border on the Passaic river and since it is one of the few communities along the winding course of the river that does have a number of war producing manufacturing plants, defense heads felt that if the Nazis are in this country and if they do have such information in their possession, Belleville is marked.

That Belleville is considered a vital war area and a military objective was considered most likely by defense executives. It was pointed out that while Belleville has been able to obtain a promise of the loan of thousands of dollars worth of equipment for air raid wardens, fire reserves and other civilian defense needs, neighboring Nutley has been flatly refused by the OGD.

In a letter to Nutley defense officials, the Washington office of the OGD said: "Because of the limitation on our funds and the shortages of critical materials necessary to produce civilian defense equipment, we cannot logically make allocations of such equipment except to those areas considered to be possible military objectives of prime importance. Consideration is given to the recommendations of the war and navy departments with respect to important war industries and other military objectives, and the location of the community in relation to so-called strategic areas. The Town of Nutley has not been given to us by the war or navy departments as the location of industrial facilities or of military objectives which should be considered by us as in need of protection."

Belleville Avenue Is One Way East of Washington

Although the signs are big enough for anyone to see, the police department knows it will take more than that to break custom. Belleville avenue, east of Washington avenue, is a one-way street going east.

Motorists are not to enter the road from Main street or are they to turn out of streets running off that section of Belleville avenue and head west toward Washington avenue.

Big pointed black-and-white arrows have been placed at all intersections affected by the traffic department under the supervision of Lieut. Ken Smith.

CORNER COWBOYS TOWN TARGET

Clark Proposes Measure To End Abuses; No Law At Present

The town commission moved this week to put an end to the "street corner cowboys" and their nightly roundups. Sponsored by Public Safety Director Clark, the board adopted the measure on first reading and it will have a hearing on August 11.

The ordinance in effect would empower the police to arrest those who loiter on street corners, annoy passersby and create a disturbance which bothers people in the neighborhood. While complaints of this sort are among the most common which the department gets, the police have been powerless to arrest young men because there has been no municipal ordinance governing it.

Requests for such legislation have come from many sections of town, but Commissioner Clark said there has been considerable pressure lately from the Greyhound section. Mayor Williams commented that there have been numerous complaints of the young men in that area making remarks at women who pass.

The ordinance language is blunt. It states in part:

"No person or persons shall loiter or assemble in or about any street or public place or in or about the front of any building; or shall loiter in or upon any street or public place in a parked automobile or other vehicle; or utter any loud, indecent, abusive or offensive language, or address or make any offensive remarks or comments to or upon any person or persons lawfully being in or upon any street, public place or building."

The ordinance carries a penalty conviction of $50 fine or 10 days in jail, and not more than $200 fine or 90 days in jail for each and every subsequent offense.

Coast Guard Auxiliary Wants Radio Amateurs Equipment

Radio amateurs owning ultra short wave radio telephone equipment can be of great service at the present time by placing such equipment in use in connection with a much needed communications setup planned for coast guard auxiliary patrol boats.

Amateurs interested in joining the auxiliary and offering the use of their service and equipment should contact their local auxiliary communications officer. Amateurs in Essex, Passaic, Hudson and Bergen counties should communicate at once with Commander Robert J. O'Brien of Flotilla 305, whose address is 49 Belmont street and whose telephone number is Belle 2-3818.

Communications are to be made under the supervision of the coast guard.

HARTLEY TELLS NATION RUBBER STORY TUESDAY

Talks Over WJZ National Hookup; Capitol Quiz Hears Fuel Men

Speaking over a coast-to-coast WJZ hookup, Congressman Fred A. Hartley Jr., representative from this district, will report to the nation on the causes of the current rubber-gasoline-fuel shortage as brought out in the first week of testimony before the house of representatives investigation. He is vice-chairman of the committee which was appointed at his instigation by the majority and minority leaders of the house.

"Is the rubber shortage synthetic?" will be the congressman's topic. Disclosures relating to the confusing statements which have been issued, particularly in Washington, and especially in the rubber situation, prompted the blue network to offer Hartley its nationwide facilities for a 15-minute broadcast. He will speak over WJZ from 10:30 to 10:45 p. m. Tuesday night.

The house committee moves into the fourth day of its investigation of the shortage and the state of conditions and how they may be alleviated along the Eastern seaboard. Sitting on the inquiry body are 10 congressmen, equally divided between the two major parties, all of whom come from states bordering on the Atlantic. To date, most of the testimony given has been devoted to the fuel oil situation and interest in this phase of the investigation was heightened Tuesday by the WEP order announcing that fuel oil distribution to the East coast would be further curtailed.

Dreads Winter Ahead

Testifying before the committee on Tuesday, Wiley Butler, chairman of the Atlantic Coast Independent Fuel Oil Dealers, told the congressmen that he viewed with dread the winter ahead "if we don't stop the delivery of essential gasoline to the Eastern market and bring in fuel oil instead." Butler is vice-president and general manager of the Home Fuel Oil Company located in Passaic. He claimed that an estimated 4,000,000 gallons of gasoline above the rationing quota is being moved into the Eastern seaboard.

"Federal agencies have confused the public to such an extent that the public takes it all as a hoax," Butler said.

Claiming that there was bootlegging of gasoline, when pressed by Representative Forand of Rhode Island to be more specific, Butler declared that he would start gathering the evidence when that returned to New Jersey and that he would send it to the committee.

"It is the duty of those charged with the enforcement and not of your association to uncover the (Continued on Page 2)

Schmutz Rapped By Speed For 'Sneak Attack' Tactics

Attendance Officer, Replying to Board Head's Criticism, Challenges Him; Hints at Reason For Charges Being Made Against Him

Charles Speed, school attendance officer, who was the target of an attack by School Board President Herbert C. Schmutz at last week's board of education meeting, bounced back with the statement yesterday characterizing the board president's attack as one that "reminds me much of the sneak attack of Pearl Harbor."

Speed was scheduled to meet with the members of the teachers' committee of the board and Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Farmer Monday night but the meeting was called off at the last minute.

Schmutz's statement that the board "was not receiving a good systematic job" was made during the meeting when Superintendent Farmer read the attendance officer's activities for the month of June. Sharply criticizing Speed's activities, Schmutz stated that the job could be done so efficiently that a man could devote half of his remaining time to another job in the system.

In his statement given to The Times yesterday, Speed said: "This reminds me very much of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. Apparently, Mr. Schmutz has just become aware of my alleged inefficiency although I have been attendance officer for almost three years."

"Could this be because of my activities in conjunction with my work as deputy chief of air raid precautions? Could it be that there is some objection to the use of the schools in this necessary work? Could it be that my air warden activities do not coincide with the personal views of Mr. Schmutz? Could it be because of the recent incident at School No. 5 when I was forced to go to one of the board members for a key despite the fact a reservation form for the school was filed a week in advance? Meanwhile members of the air raid precautions organization were kept waiting outside the building. Later I was reprimanded for adopting this unusual procedure to obtain a key."

8,000 Gas Requests Swamp Rationers; Get Volunteer Assistance

Board Soon To Have Evening Office Hours

The war and price rationing office at 476 Washington avenue is open daily from 9 to 4 p. m. This is one hour longer than that requested by James J. Kerney Jr., state OPA director, who has informed chairman that offices should be open six hours each day.

Plans are now under way for opening the office two nights each week so that those who are unable to get there during the day may visit. This will necessitate staggering the hours of the small staff employed, Chairman Ruel E. Daniels said.

JOHN J. KANT, JR. AMONG MISSING

20 Year Old Youth Enlisted 6 Months Ago; Navy Notifies Family

Twenty-year-old John J. Kant Jr., son of a world war veteran, was reported as missing by the navy department on Tuesday. The official notification was received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kant of 440 DeWitt avenue.

A seaman, second class, Kant enlisted in the navy six months ago. He received his training at Newport, R. I., and was then shipped on a merchant vessel. His family last heard from him in April when his ship sailed from an American port. The navy has furnished them with no further details.

Born in Belleville, young Kant attended Good Counsel high school in Newark and was graduated from Bloomfield high school in 1939 when the family resided there for a short time. Prior to his enlistment in the navy, Kant was employed by the Weston Electrical Instrument company of Newark.

The Kants have three other children, James, William and Mary. His father in the world war served in the ninth infantry of the second division.

Canning Demonstration

A canning demonstration was held Tuesday at Fawcett church. Twenty women attended and worked on the latest methods of canning fruits and vegetables under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Jackson. Any other groups which desire such a demonstration should contact Mrs. Jackson at 12 Campbell avenue.

"Because of the grumblings which have come from a number seeking more than the 470 miles per month allotted for business regarded as non-essential to the war effort, one board member emphasized yesterday that the public should understand that the rulings are not made by the local board. They come from the OPA headquarters in Washington which has established the rules for the board to be guided by."

Each day has seen the three-man gasoline panel composed of Charles Scanlan, Nutley and Herbert C. Schmutz and George McClaren of this town gain volunteers who have assisted in some capacity although they have not made the final decisions for the board members.

Could Use More Help

Members of the Woman's club stepped forward this week to offer their services. All the help that can be secured is needed, even if the person can only type out the cards which are sent to supplementary gasoline applicants. It is impossible for the three-girl staff of clerk-stenographers to do all of this work and handle the tremendous amount of detail that is connected with the rationing of tires, automobiles, sugar, bicycles, typewriters and other miscellaneous matters.

Among those volunteers from town who have put in long hours are Philip Lettebach, superintendent of the Sommer plant; Charles Peierls of the Sweeney Lithograph company; Commissioner Joseph King, Seven West; William Chapman, John Hefferman and Mrs. Ann Forrester. From Nutley have come Rahvi Zvi H. Schreiner of the Temple B'nai Israel, John H. Peto and Paul P. Pfeil.

Says He's Unaware Of Work

"Further, Mr. Schmutz implied that I was neglecting my duty by stating he had spent one entire day in an attempt to find me. It is obvious Mr. Schmutz is unaware of my duties and the precise manner of carrying them out. Had he communicated with the school (Continued on Page 5)

Swamped by an estimated 8,000 applications for supplemental coupons from Nutley and local residents, the gasoline panel of the war price and rationing board assisted by the office staff and a number of volunteers has been working night and day in considering them.

The hottest place in either town—except for a boiler room—the ration office at 476 Washington avenue has been jammed daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with gas-hungry truck and car owners seeking more coupons. Throughout every day, night and over the weekends, the gas panel members and their aides have been struggling with the thousand of applications to act on them and get them out of the office as speedily as possible.

When asked by a reporter yesterday afternoon if there was anything important that he thought the public should know at this time, one panel member replied:

"Only this. Ask the public to please believe that we are trying to get the job done as quickly as possible, and please not come in here and bother us with a lot of questions, especially about when they will get their supplementary gas and why they can't get it at just the moment they want it. Every one of us is working as hard as he knows how and every minute we waste answering foolish questions means just that much more time lost in handling another application."

This statement was reiterated by both Ruel E. Daniels, board chairman, and Lloyd Kenny, board secretary. Both urged car owners who have filed supplementary applications not to come to the ration board to inquire when they will get their additional coupons. All will be notified by the board when their book is ready and then they should report to the board.

Hundreds of cards have already been sent out to residents of both towns. No favoritism or partiality is being shown in the handling of applications. They are put in the file as they come in the mail. It is a case of first come, first served with the gasoline panel.

Because of the grumblings which have come from a number seeking more than the 470 miles per month allotted for business regarded as non-essential to the war effort, one board member emphasized yesterday that the public should understand that the rulings are not made by the local board. Panel Member Schmutz, forsoaking the cool breezes of his summer home at Bretton Woods, gave up a weekend with his family and (Continued on Page Two)

Four Graduating From AAF Radio, Mechanic Schools

Pvts. James P. Donachie, Francis P. Iannicelli Complete 19-Week Courses At Keesler Field; Bruegman, Hogan Get Diplomas For Radio At Scott Field, Ill.

Four local youths are among those graduating at army air corps schools in distant parts of the country this week. At Keesler field, Miss. yesterday, Pvts. James P. Donachie of 168 Washington avenue and Francis P. Iannicelli of 84 Mt. Prospect avenue were members of the 15th class, numbering several hundred, who were graduated after completing a 19-weeks mechanics course.

Both young men, who were inducted into the service early in March, will be assigned to fighting units of the air forces in some section of the country. Iannicelli is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Iannicelli of 84 Mt. Prospect avenue while Donachie's mother, Mrs. Bridget A. Donachie, resides at 168 Washington avenue.

At Scott field, Ill., Pvts. Robert B. Hogan and Richard A. Bruegman were graduated at the radio university of the army air forces this week. Bruegman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Bruegman of Stephens street and Hogan is the son of Mrs. Josephine Hogan of 224 Hornblower avenue. The announcement that they had received their diplomas for radio was made by Col. Wolcott P. Hayes, commanding officer.

The two soldiers will soon be assigned to serve with communications crews of the air force on active duty.

Goes To OCS School

Among those recently admitted as an officer candidate at the air forces officer candidate school in Miami Beach, Fla., is Corp. George F. Brown, son of Mrs. Grace J. Brown of 140 Bremond street. After successfully completing a 12-week course, Brown will be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the army.

Pvt. Albert A. Zuzzio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Zuzzio of 20 Springer street, is now stationed at the medical replacement center at Camp Pickett, Va.

Will Hold Services Tonight For R. E. Edwards, Builder

Robert E. Edwards, 73 years old, a resident of Belleville since 1898, died at his home, 401 Cortlandt street, Tuesday evening. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah R. Edwards, and eight children: Robert E. Edwards 2nd, of South Belmar; Mrs. Joseph Monje of Muskegon, Mich.; Franklin W. Edwards of Belleville; Mrs. Irving Golden of Newark; Mrs. William Schaeffer of Lake Hiawatha; Mrs. Walter Stehli of Newark; Milton Edwards of Belleville, and Lester W. Edwards, who is stationed in New York as a merchant marine.

Another son, Richard, died as a young boy 26 years ago. There are also nine grandchildren. Mr. Edwards has been very active in the growth of Belleville for the past 44 years. When he first came here, he owned and operated a bicycle shop at the old Belleville hotel, where Wallace & Tiernan are now situated. Since 1910, he was in the building and contracting business, and has built many homes in Belleville. About five years ago, he retired and was in fine health until stricken suddenly on Tuesday evening.

Rev. Edgar M. Compton will officiate at the services which will be held at the home, 401 Cortlandt street, at 8 p. m. tonight. Interment will be tomorrow morning at the convenience of the family. Burial will be in Glendale cemetery. William W. Irvine will conduct arrangements.

Mrs. Sarah Edwards, widow, is well-known for her work in church affairs for the Wesley church. Her sister, Miss Lillian Budd, who has resided with the Edwards for 42 years, is a singer in the Wesley church.

NO POLITICS IS KERNEY'S ORDER

Ration Employees Must Observe Hatch Act Provisions

An outline of the duties and functions of ration board members was received yesterday by Ruel E. Daniels, local board chairman, in a letter from James J. Kerney Jr., state OPA administrator. No paid employee can participate in any political activity and all members of the board actively campaigning for any public office should not continue to serve.

The state head's letter said: "You shall, as the ranking member of the board, have the authority to call meetings of the board and the order of business in these meetings will be determined by you."

"One of your most important functions will be to see that the instructions sent you are specifically carried out and that the paid clerical staff, as well as the voluntary workers, conduct the detail of your board in a satisfactory manner. It will be your further duty to see that the work of your board is up-to-date at all times. This comprises not only the filing of the supplemental rationing applications, but also the safe keeping and storage of sugar certificates, gasoline coupon books and other important forms entrusted to your care."

Must Observe Hatch Act

Kerney also issued "operating regulations" for the guidance of all personnel of the OPA, both paid and volunteer. He specifically warned against violation of the Hatch act which prohibits federal employees from engaging in political activities.

The "operating regulations" OPA officials pointed out, extend the moral principles of the Hatch act to include volunteer members of rationing boards and of the OPA. Kerney's bulletin stated:

"The rationing and price control programs serve all the people. They must be administered in the most impartial manner possible. At no place in the OPA program is there room for any politics whatsoever. Every local board member and every employee of the OPA understands fully the need for keeping politics removed from rationing and price control. I am certain that you will be as anxious as I am to do everything to keep our path clear."

"To clarify this situation, I should like to call to your attention the following operating regulations:

"1. All paid employees of local boards and the OPA come under the Hatch Act and must refrain from any political activity.
"2. No member of a local board may deal with or sit on a panel dealing with any commodity with which he has a business relationship.

(For example, no automobile dealer or automobile insurance salesman can serve on an auto panel, nor can a grocer serve on a sugar panel.)

"3. No person actively campaigning for any public office may continue to serve on a local War Price and Rationing Board, whether as a volunteer or a paid employee."

On the basis of incomplete reports from War Price and Rationing Boards throughout the State it was estimated that approximately 785,000 basic "A" gasoline ration books for passenger cars, and 2,700 "D" books for motorcycles were issued during the recent three-day registration period at public schools.

Actual figures reported to date for the State total 628,019 "A" books for passenger cars and 2,192 "D" books for motorcycles issued. Reports are still missing from 147 localities — approximately 25 per cent of the State's communities.

Boats can now be sent full speed astern without either reversing the engines or shifting gears. A reversible pitch propeller has been developed by the industrial research laboratories of one company.

FLORENCE R. MOREY, Town Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A PERMANENT WALL OF DURABLE CONSTRUCTION TO BE LOCATED AT THE CORNER OF WILLIAM STREET AND CORTLANDT STREET, AND FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A PERMANENT STORAGE YARD AT THE NORTHWEST CORNER OF WILLIAM STREET AND CORTLANDT STREET, AND FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A PERMANENT STORAGE YARD AT THE NORTHWEST CORNER OF WILLIAM STREET AND CORTLANDT STREET.

Whereas, on June 9, 1942 an ordinance was adopted for the construction of a permanent wall of durable construction to be located at the corner of William Street and Cortlandt Street, and for the construction of a permanent storage yard at the northwest corner of William Street and Cortlandt Street, and for the construction of a permanent storage yard at the northwest corner of William Street and Cortlandt Street.

Whereas, it has been found necessary to appropriate an additional sum of $3,000.00, and to amend the ordinance of June 9, 1942, in order to provide for additional construction; therefore,

The Board of Commissioners of the Town of Belleville, in the County of Essex, do ordain:

Section 1. That ordinance referred to above be amended and supplemented by the within ordinance.

Section 2. That in addition to the purposes heretofore set forth in ordinance which the ordinance amending the Town of Belleville, in the County of Essex, do ordain:

Section 3. It is hereby determined and stated that it is necessary that the Town of Belleville in the County of Essex shall raise money for the purposes set forth in the immediately preceding paragraph.

Essex Auto Deaths Higher

Despite Gas Rationing The effects of gasoline rationing, reduced speed and tighter law enforcement during June brought a one-third reduction in the total number of traffic accidents, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Magee announced this week.

Accident severity, however, did not decrease in the same proportion as total accidents. Fifty-two deaths were reported as compared with 87 last June, a reduction of 9 per cent.

Reporting for the half-year period, Commissioner Magee announced a total of 401 fatalities, the identical number during the first six months of last year. He looks forward to a considerable reduction in the remaining months with car use further limited under the new rationing program.

Following is a comparative record of fatalities during the six months period by counties:

County	1941	1942	Change

superintendent's secretary, she would have been able to tell him where I could be reached. In carrying out my duties I have always made it a practice to keep the superintendent's office informed of my whereabouts so that I could be reached in the event of something urgent.

"Also it was suggested gasoline and wear of tires could be saved by making phone calls to schools and the homes of absentees. If this procedure is to be followed, it is not necessary to have an attendance officer. The phone calling could be undertaken by the school clerks and principals.

Mr. Wayne R. Farmer, is a capable man, trained to handle the school system in the proper manner and engaged by this town for that purpose. He knows that my work has been satisfactory and told me so the week of June 15. I work directly under Mr. Farmer and do not intend to allow this unjust criticism to pass. I feel that I have turned in a good job, particularly in the phase of following through in certain stubborn attendance cases which have necessitated extensive work in welfare activity and other juvenile adjustments."

To the Editor of The Times:

I would like to take this opportunity of publicly commending Patrolmen Cristiano and Hilton of the local police department and other members of the staff on duty at the headquarters Saturday night for their courteous and efficient aid during a slight accident on my premises.

The men assisted in extricating my fingers, which were caught when the door of my car jammed into a garage wall. Their prompt measures then and in securing the services of a physician resulted in a minimum of injury.

"Tough luck, old man—my money's all in nontransferable War Savings Bonds."

The Home Front

This week, the people of New Jersey read their newspapers grimly. They forgot their occasional grumbling about sugar and gas rationing. Workers in Paterson, Trenton and Camden, farmers in Cumberland County, shopkeepers in Hackettstown, housewives from Cape May to Sussex, suddenly remembered little things they hadn't bothered to do—because the war front seemed so far away.

For this week, the office of war information issued the first figures of our total war casualties—44,133 soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guardsmen and Filipino scouts. With America still on the defensive against her enemies, the Home Front saw that its activities—salvage and conservation—rationing and price control—production and the purchase of war bonds, were part and parcel of the war front. The casualty totals meant dead, wounded and missing brothers, husbands, sweethearts, and other relatives of Garden States. There were no longer a home front and a war front—there was only a victory front.

What Are Our Goals?

What is our part of the victory front? It consists of three main jobs. First—the task of supplying materials for our factories; it includes salvage and saving. Two—all-out production, a job which enlists all the energies of a vast and constantly growing army of New Jersey craftsmen, both industrial and agricultural help. And third—the gigantic job of transportation. Assurance that materials to factories are delivered when needed; the finished guns and tanks taken where our fighting men and allies can use them.

Salvage Scrap Now

Salvage and saving is the key-note of production. Right now Donald M. Nelson, head of the war production board is asking state and local governments to lend trucks and manpower to salvage committees to help get scrap to the railroads. Reason is that it requires 750,000 freight car loads of metal scrap to keep our steel furnaces going at full capacity this year. We haven't got that many railway cars available without hampering transportation facilities for other needs of our war program. Trucks and manpower assistance in cleaning out remote areas too far from railway lines, will shoulder a large part of this critical burden.

Material Saved Aids Victory

Savings in materials is another tactical advance on the production front. Week in, week out, WPB curtails the manufacture of commodities whose materials can be used for war equipment. Thus, last week, WPB ordered all new hand tools, like shovels, rakes, etc. simplified to conserve steel and iron. Sole leather of military weight and quality may now be used only in shoe or repair leather bought for Uncle Sam's armed forces. New restrictions in the use of rubber for many civilian items, such as rubber footwear and farming and industrial equipment were announced. And Miss Garden Stater, who might have looked for a bargain in used silk hosiery learned that a way had been found to make gun powder bags and other articles out of used silk hosiery. Hence dealers with such hosiery in stock were forbidden to sell them any longer.

Production—The Sineews Of War

Until those extra thousands of Garden State men and women are drawn into war plants building Uncle Sam's arsenal, the labor-management production drive committees are doing a magnificent job of pinch hitting for new highs in the output of guns, planes, ships and fighting gear. There are already about 90 such committees in New Jersey.

Production Through Conversion

Small business has its troubles these war days. However, the Seal-O-Strain corporation of Brooklyn are now engaged 100 per cent in subcontracting for war production, last week celebrated its success and ingenuity in changing over from peacetime manufacture of heating equipment to turning out plane parts for Uncle Sam. A brand new two-story plant, and an increase of personnel from 25 to 125 workers marks this success story in conversion for victory.

Transportation—Railways And Gasoline

Transportation channels—the arteries and veins that mean success or failure for our production heart—embrace everything on the home front from overloaded railway trains to gasoline rationing in New Jersey. Leon Henderson, OPA's chief, last week warned that the petroleum shortage along the eastern seaboard was so vital a war measure that violation of rationing will be dealt with accordingly. Important too, the OPA warned that persons living in urban localities served by public transportation would be denied supplemental gasoline rations even though they had formed a ride-sharing club.

as the production service department. The new name more accurately describes this section of the war production board. While continuing the functions of its predecessor, the production service department will have as its overall job, to assist the war and navy departments and manufacturers, large and small, in securing maximum production. It does not of itself, however, award contracts. There are field offices in Newark, Trenton and Camden.

Fine Display Of The Right Spirit

To one who has observed the war price and rationing office for this district in operation, there are three things which have impressed us most.

When consolidation was first proposed there were many comments to the effect that the two towns would never be able to get along, obviously built on some long-time, mysterious belief that Nutley and Belleville must always be at sword's point whenever they meet on any matter. Some in both communities argued that the board would constantly be in an uproar with Belleville fighting for the home folks and Nutley vice versa.

This myth has been quickly and completely shattered. Most tremendous task—and it is that—now facing the rationers is the issuance of gasoline rationing coupons. It is a job that the three-man gasoline panel, regardless of the hours that they were willing to sacrifice, could hope to accomplish within a short time. Volunteers, from both Nutley and Belleville, have offered to help and are daily working long hours handling hundreds of supplementary gasoline applications. They know no community boundaries in considering the problems and seeking to aid the residents of both towns.

Displaying an equal willingness to lend a cooperating hand are the officials of both towns. A counter was needed to serve as some sort of barrier between the office staff and the hundreds crowding the office with their applications. When asked to see if the town could do something about it, Mayor Williams quickly provided the funds for it. There were no chairs for customers to sit on while they were waiting to be taken care of by the ration staff. Commissioner Waters' department quickly provided them.

Important if those seeking supplementary gasoline were to be notified by mail of the board's decision and the type of coupon book they would be granted were cards to be sent to every applicant. To handle more than 7,500 supplementary applications, the OPA supply department in Newark issued Belleville 500 mailing cards and informed the board that that amount would have to do. This meant that it would be days, weeks, before motorists would be notified. Nutley's Mayor Sherwood came forward with the offer to provide the thousands of printed cards that were needed and this bottleneck was quickly ended.

These two incidents in the effort of those battling this war on the economic front to do their part and cooperate to the fullest are illustrations of the type of citizen unity and spirit that will win this war. They are in sharp contrast to the grumblers and the chiselers who not only insist that their problems be handled before those of everyone else but who will attempt to gain extra gallons of gasoline through every lawless and unpatriotic method that they possibly can.

Now Will You Believe It?

For several weeks, as have civilian defense leaders, we have been endeavoring to drive into the minds of the public that Belleville is in an exceedingly dangerous position should enemy raiding of any sort come to the eastern seaboard and the metropolitan region in particular. This is not an effort at sensationalism nor to promote unnecessary fright among the residents. It is to arouse them to face the fact that they have a job to perform and that it is time that some of them start to do their part instead of pooh-baahing civilian defense efforts as some sort of mirage that some of us are viewing through rose-colored glasses.

It will be recalled that several weeks ago, it was announced that Belleville would shortly receive from the office of civilian defense needed equipment which would be distributed to air raid wardens, fire reserves and to supplement the supplies now in the hands of various defense units. Few are the municipalities in this region to which the OCD has so readily granted this equipment.

Neighboring Nutley made a similar request and was flatly refused by the federal defense agency as not being considered "a possible military objective" or "as the location of industrial facilities or of military objectives which should be considered by us as in need of protection." While the OCD may be drawing the line pretty closely in this case, the fact still remains that while it is willing to lend thousands of dollars' worth of equipment to Belleville, it is unwilling to spend one cent in Nutley.

Of even further proof that we are "on the hot seat" in event of trouble is the fact that Belleville is regarded as an area to be evacuated in an air raid. Nutley is not. It is not an evacuation or receiving center for evacuees. It is simply neutral.

We point out these things to attempt to convince the public that there is something for everybody to do, and in fairness to themselves, to their own protection and that of their families and their friends, they should enlist immediately in some branch of civilian defense, which despite the progress it has made, is still much in need of volunteers and far below the number that are required.

Why wait until it is too late?

What About That 4,000,000 Gallons?

It is good to see that the congressional committee of which Representative Hartley is vice-chairman to investigate the fuel and rubber situation in the seaboard states is not solely confining its inquiry into trying to make life happier for the motorist who wants more gasoline.

While the thermometer may be doing a dance between 90 and 100 every day now, industries, apartments and thousands of home owners are equally worried about what will happen when winter comes and there is a scarcity of fuel oil for oil burners.

Alarming, to say the least, was the claim made before the investigating committee early this week by Wiley Butler, chairman of the Atlantic Coast Independent Fuel Oil Dealers, that 4,000,000 gallons of gasoline above the rationing quota are being daily transported to the Eastern states. He argued that the "delivery of unessential gasoline" should be halted and fuel oil should be transported instead. He was followed on the stand by an official from Petroleum Coordinator Ickes' office who admitted that the delivery of fuel oil to the East is 600,000 to 700,000 barrels below the daily demand.

If Mr. Butler's claims are true about the 4,000,000 gallons—why is that amount over the rationing needs being sent here and what is being done with it? If it's here why can't it be used? Of course, this does not solve the fuel oil operators' problems—one that certainly should be solved now and not when winter hits. These are just a few of the merry-go-round questions that have the public dizzy and which Washington certainly has not answered and has only attempted to cover up with more confusing reports.

Landlords Must Register With OPA

There is nothing voluntary about the obligation of landlords to secure rent registration forms and fill them out in detail immediately for the office of price administration. It is the law in the government's determined effort to maintain a ceiling on rental charges in defense areas.

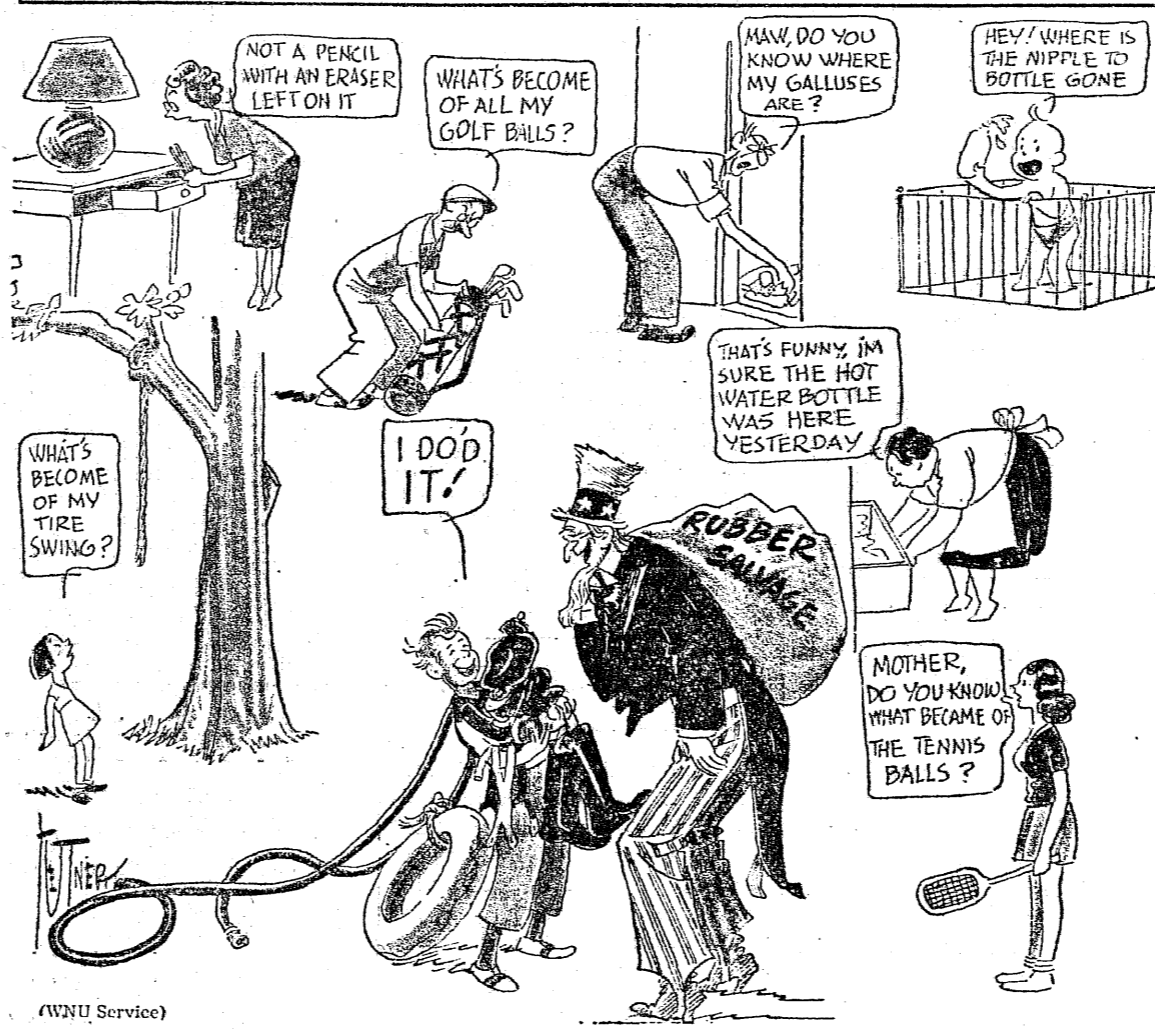

All landlords should obtain forms immediately at the high school where a representative of the OPA is on duty. Since forms must be returned between Monday and August 7, no time should be lost.

Standing ready to be of advisory assistance to any landlord is the local volunteers for rent committee which, while it holds no position of authority in the OPA rent setup, is being called upon to aid in the work.

Maintenance of rents at the March 1 level is the sole purpose of the registration. Compliance with that regulation is a duty of not only the landlord but the tenant as well. While the protection provided in the law is for the most part beneficial to the tenant, he is not guarded by the OPA unless he heeds the restrictions. No tenant can legally agree to pay more for an apartment or dwelling than was charged on March 1 by the land owner. To do so would make the tenant just as guilty of a violation as the property owner.

There's a Rubber Shortage at Home, Too!

If War Should Come To You--?

(This is the third in a series of articles intended to better acquaint the public with the civilian defense council, its purpose and activities and its personnel. Subsequent articles will deal with every branch of the organization.—Ed. Note.)

The Man On Your Block—Is He Ready and Do You Know Him?

Largest unit—and regarded by many as the most important—in the civilian defense organization is the air raid warden patrol. More familiarly known as the ARP, its members are the strongest group that the defense council has at its disposal to put its educational and safety program across to the public. In a time of emergency, he is the one who herds the people in his district together and conducts them to safety, sends out the calls for first aid for the injured, summons the police and fire fighting forces and reports to headquarters on damage and casualties. The air raid warden has been rightfully termed the "Minute Man of civilian defense."

Listed on the records as members of the local ARP are 830 men and women scattered in all sections of town. For air raid patrol purposes, the town has been divided into five zones broken down into 44 sectors. Each sector is made up of 10 posts which should have at least two wardens and more wherever volunteers can be secured to serve.

Chief of the ARP is Edward Cantwell, commander of the American Legion, with Ronald Brunner now serving as his chief deputy and also as the director of Zone 2.

Are They Trained For Job?

Confronting defense heads at present is the question of how well trained their wardens are, if they are familiar with every building and its residents in their post area and if they have also instructed their charges in responsibility, proper conduct and how to help during air raids or other emergencies.

Admittedly, a number of the wardens have not completed their training although they are regarded as members of the ARP and are assigned to posts. A Red Cross official estimated that 325 to 350 persons have completed their minimum 10 hours of first aid training. The major portion of the remainder of the training which wardens have been given was through mass meetings at which motion pictures dealing with duties during air raids and in fires were shown. They also attended demonstrations given by Fire Lieut. William Gilchrist on handling incendiary bombs and a gas lecture and demonstration.

Some wardens broke away from the lectures after having received the air raid armbands on a supposed temporary basis early in the spring when the first blackout test for this region was planned and defense officials realized that some identification must be provided the wardens even though they had not completed their full training.

With the coming of a series of "incident" tests, which will be conducted both in zones and townwide, it is expected that the real flaws in the ARP will be ironed out and where the need for further education and training in duties is detected, it will be given.

Many Are Earnest About Job

While there are isolated instances in which as one defense head put it, people "feel too big for the job of air raid warden," there are many more Joe Doakes and John Smiths who spend most of their spare time trying to learn more about their work, become better acquainted with their neighbors whom they have the obligation to protect and help if there is trouble and live up to every obligation which they made when they accepted the official air raid warden armband.

The duties of the air raid warden may be summed up in the stating that he is the chief protector of the neighborhood and the principal means through which the headquarters has of learning that there is trouble there and that help—medical, fire, police, rescue or repair—is required. He must be sure that people are off of the streets, that all motorists properly park their cars and that places of safety are found for every person in his charge.

By this time, wardens should have visited every home in Belleville, made themselves known to every household, told them the safest place in the house in event of a raid and made suggestions on what emergency supplies they should have on hand to be used during a raid or state of emergency.

While the town has more than 800 air raid wardens, Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan admitted this week that based on his survey the town at large is protected by the ARP service for only 13 hours out of each 24. While there has been a good enrollment in the service in some sections, it has been light in others. Some posts are left unguarded for longer periods than that. Lack of wardens in some areas has resulted in wardens from out of the district being assigned there. This is bad for ARP members from other parts of town are not as well acquainted with the neighborhood or its residents, and in times of emergency it might be exceedingly hazardous for them to travel a long distance.

Lack Of Women Wardens

Weak spot in the entire unit is the lack of women wardens who would do most of their duty during the daytime hours when most of the men are employed out of town. In one section only nine women are enrolled out of 100 wardens, while the best record is in Zone 2 where an average of seven out of every 30 wardens are women. This has not been due entirely to a lack of patriotism on the part of the women, but also to the fact that there was little or no encouragement for the enrollment of women in the ARP at the outset of forming the organization.

Nerve center of the ARP is the control headquarters which is presently located in the police headquarters. Cramped for space, it is viewed as not adequate to meet the service's needs in an emergency. Under present conditions, Belleville cannot do, as has been done in some surrounding communities, maintain a 24-hour headquarters force which would move into action at the first word of an emergency or even a surprise test ordered by the state defense council or the OCD in Washington.

Moreover, a control center staff can be quickly assembled for duty. Throughout the town wardens have at their disposal telephones which can be used to telephone in reports to the control center at which there has been installed four telephones to receive all incoming calls. Manned by the communications section, there are also five telephones for outgoing calls to sector headquarters and three supplementary outgoing lines which go directly to all fire stations.

Police Radio To Be Ready

Ready to step into the breach, and counted on for much duty during an emergency, is the police radio. Even if the telephone lines and the electric system should go out of service, communication could be maintained with all sections of town through the use of the police radio system.

Although the main transmitter at headquarters might be out of service because of an electric breakdown, the transmitters and receivers in the police cars, the ambulance and the fire chief's vehicles would still be in operation because they are battery operated.

The job of an air raid warden is a dangerous one. He does not go into hiding on the first sign of a raid. After making sure that the residents are in the best safety spot, he will patrol his area on the alert for fires or other damage. It's a dangerous job, but one of the most patriotic that can be performed on the home defense front.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville Times.

by Meador Wright

While more attention has been given to the Republican senatorial contest, the fight for control of the Democratic party machinery in Essex is of greater significance. The Democratic fight is being carried on with a grimness and determination seldom seen in Essex, and it has been conducted with such secrecy that the general public is only faintly aware of the stakes involved.

What press notices the undercover battle has received tend to picture it basically as a fight between Governor Edison and Frank Hague for control. Actually, it is much more complicated than that. Hague has never had complete control of the Essex Democratic party machinery, and today his tenure is more precarious than ever. Neither does Edison control the committee and so far has not sought to do so.

Who then does control it one could ask? The answer is no one. The Essex party organization is so uncertain in sentiment that it might follow one of several brands of leadership. Frank Hague has perhaps the biggest finger in the pie in that County Chairman James J. McMahon of Montclair is recognized as a Hague lieutenant. But McMahon's hold on the rank and file of the county committee is far from secure. His health is not good and, so far, he has been unable to get any patronage whatsoever from Trenton. Many of the county committeemen and women are in open revolt. They want McMahon to step aside when the new committee meets after the September primary. So far McMahon has turned a deaf ear to these proposals, and the belief is that he is acting on instructions from Jersey City. Hague is said to have remarked recently that he would be willing to agree to another chairman if a name were proposed that he could trust, but that until such a man appeared he would continue to back McMahon.

Edison For Doyle

Governor Edison, according to reports, favors William S. Doyle, South Orange Village Trustee, for chairman. But it is common knowledge that Edison personally controls but a handful of the 1152 Democratic county committeemen. True, the Governor's prestige is considerable, and the more so since presumably his candidate for chairman would be consulted in matters of patronage. Armed with Edison's blessing Doyle set out early this year to line up support among Democratic leaders and sub-leaders. So far, however, these efforts have had very meager success. Only two or three Newark ward leaders are said to be willing to back him and United States Senator William H. Smathers—another factor in the control equation—has not given him the green light. Doyle and Smathers have had several conferences but, so far, the South Orange man has been unable to convince Smathers that he could add rather than subtract votes in the general election should he be named chairman after the primaries. So complete is Doyle's failure that some might back him for the same reasons. Suburban Democrats generally would welcome such a compromise. The weak link in the chain would be getting Degnan to accept, and McMahon to step aside in his favor. But Freiday is reported to be still optimistic.

Now Freiday is reported trying a new tack—Bernard H. Degnan, mayor of the Republican town of West Orange. In Degnan he hopes to find a kind of local Cordell Hull—a man who by his very sincerity can persuade groups as antagonistic as those behind Hague and Edison to work together to elect a Democratic congress. Degnan has long been a personal friend of Charles Edison, but at the same time he has been a good organization Democrat. The turbulent Newark ward leaders know him by reputation and, while generally they want a Newark man for chairman, they might be persuaded to go along with him on the basis of party patriotism. Edison might back him for the same reasons. Suburban Democrats generally would welcome such a compromise. The weak link in the chain would be getting Degnan to accept, and McMahon to step aside in his favor. But Freiday is reported to be still optimistic.

O.K. TOJO—
you asked for it!

YOU dished it out, with a head start by treachery—now we're going to see how you can take it!

We're ganging up on you, Tojo, in a way you and your Nazi friends don't understand.

Spreading like wildfire from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico is our Payroll Savings Plan—get that, Tojo? Not confiscation—savings.

By the tens of millions, workers and employees of plants in every state of our country are cooperating with their unions and with management.

Of their own free will they're agreeing to put ten percent—a dime from every dollar—of their earnings in United States WAR BONDS.

Every payday the plant management sets aside this ten percent, then, each time it adds up to $18.75, the worker gets his Bond.

See, Tojo? Hundreds of millions of good U. S. dollars are going into the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships to blast you right out of your sandals!

And we're paying for it... the workers and employers... the farmers, doctors, lawyers... all of us of our own free will.

And—because this is the American way of doing things—we're building our own financial security, too, against the day when the war will be over—when we've shown you what decent, clean, free people can do.

Every year those War Bonds of ours increase in value, Tojo, until, after ten years, Uncle Sam hands us back TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS for every $18.75 we invested in beating you.

Get it, Tojo? It isn't the Jap way, the Nazi way, nor the Fascist way.

It's the free American way!

So, when you see those clouds of planes over your troops, your ships and your factories—when the tanks come at you

5 Reasons Why

① By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.

② You prove that you are a patriotic American.

③ You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.

④ You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.

⑤ You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

spitting lead—and our good American boys get you on the run—remember, we're paying for it—Smith, and Harrigan, and Cohen, and Godowsky, and Leblanc, and Havlek, Americans all, in a free country.

Homemakers To Have Plenty
For Canning, State
'Ag' Head Says

With close to a million-and-a-quarter bushels of sweet, golden-yellow Jersey peaches coming into the market this year, Jersey homemakers will have a bountiful supply not only for table use throughout the remainder of the summer but for filling all the jars they can garner for their canning shelves too.

And, fortunately for the lady-of-the-house, there is no one peach that is the "only" peach for canning; any of the succession of varieties available from now until after Labor day can be done up successfully, according to Prof. A. J. Farley, extension service horticulturist at the New Jersey College of Agriculture, Rutgers university. Since peaches are now a victory food special, consumers who make a generous use of them are strengthening the good health of their families and at the same time lending a helping hand to the nation's food for freedom program, he adds.

Peach breeding conducted at the New Jersey agriculture experiment station has been largely responsible for the development of the honey-colored, juicy, freestone varieties now grown extensively in Jersey orchards, Prof. Farley points out. This work, conducted under the direction of Prof. M. A. Blake, has not only resulted in fruit of a superior quality and flavor, but in a succession of excellent varieties that have lengthened the season for the Jersey crop.

Consumers will find early varieties on the market in abundance from now until August 10. The peach crop will reach another high point about August 25, when the later varieties come in.

Days For Enjoying Peaches

WHAT COULD BE BETTER than a dog and a nice, juicy Jersey peach for a little girl as shown in the top photo? While eating peaches out of the hand hits the spot, state home demonstration agents claim that the Jersey type of fruit is even better when canned.

In the bottom photo, Mrs. Sally Serbell (left, assistant home demonstration agent for this county, offers some helpful suggestions to two Caldwell women at a canning demonstration.

William Cassel's Mother Dies In Elizabeth

Mrs. Jennie A. Cassel, 68, of 948 Townley avenue, Union, died Friday at Elizabeth General hospital, after an illness of two months. Mrs. Cassel is the mother of William Cassel of this town. She was buried in Hollywood Memorial park on Tuesday. Mrs. Cassel was born in Germany and came to the United States 50 years ago. She lived in Union for the last 14 years. Besides her son William, she leaves her husband, John, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Norkus of Union, four brothers, Alfred, Arthur, and Charles Lillenthal of Union, and Walter Lillenthal of Newark, and two sisters, Miss Antoinette Lillenthal of Union and Miss Pauline Lillenthal of Newark.

18 Drivers Lose Licenses

Cooperating with the Federal tire conservation program, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Magee announced today that 18 drivers, twice convicted of speeding since the motor vehicle department-state rationing administrator's joint warning of April 8, have been deprived of their operating privileges.

The action was in line with President Roosevelt's recent declaration that speeds in excess of 40 miles per hour cause wasteful tire wear and his appeal for a general reduction in driving speeds.

"Tires are one of the scarcest commodities on the market today and they must be conserved," said Commissioner Magee. "Drivers who refuse to cooperate with the President's appeal are both unsafe and unpatriotic and there is no room for them on the streets and highways among the great majority of operators who have reduced their driving speeds and are thus contributing to the war effort."

Mrs. Harry Kintzing of Tiona avenue entertained Friday afternoon at dessert bridge for Mrs. William Cross, Mrs. Earl Smallidge and Mrs. Arthur Bross.

Miss Agnes Wharton of Stephens street had as supper and bridge guests Monday Mrs. Ben Adams and Miss Helen Reichard of Newark, Mrs. Albert Brown of East Orange and Mrs. Willard Wharton of Montclair.

ZINK SAYS STATE IS SOLVENT

Controller Spikes Reports
Of Poor Financial Condition

In reply to recent statements, State Controller Homer C. Zink declared this week that the state is not insolvent, that new taxes are not needed and that none should be necessary in the future if "we are careful about our spending."

"The state still has a pair of pants to wear, though now without cuffs, to be sure," Zink said in reviewing his declaration that analysis shows that no new taxes are required to aid the present Jersey financial situation. "Some of our better known critics," the controller continued, "have lately hinted that the state is insolvent and will continue to be so, unless we have new taxes. The fact is that the state is not insolvent, that we do not need new taxes and that we shall not need new taxes if we are careful about our spending."

Cash Balance offsets It

"It is true," he declared, "that the state's share of the railroad taxes was overstated by nearly $5,000,000. The appropriations committee, fortunately provided a cash balance of $5,000,000, thus offsetting this item with something to spare. "It is not true, as charged that the general state fund is short another $4,700,000 in railroad taxes, or any part thereof." Taking a rap at the national administration, Zink predicted that "with a nice sense of timing," Washington "will see that gasoline is made available as election day and cold weather approach." This would help to hold the state's gasoline receipts up pretty well, Zink said.

Baseball Films To Feature Craftsmen Father-Son Night

A father and son night will be held by the Belleville Craftsmen's club next Wednesday night at the Masonic temple in Joralemon street. The feature will be the showing of two motion pictures produced by the American League, "The Ninth Inning," and "Saga of American Baseball," the story of the life of Lou Gehrig. Refreshments will follow.

Harry Winfield, the president, is in charge of arrangements.

LIEUT. GILCHRIST AT BOMB SCHOOL

Army Ordnance Dept. Teaches
Men How To Handle
Unexpected Duds

Fire Lieut. William Gilchrist attended the two-day school for bomb reconnaissance agents held in Newark, Tuesday and yesterday under the auspices of the army ordnance department.

Principal duty of bomb reconnaissance agents will be to inspect the sites of all unexploded bombs when reported during or after air raids, and to examine bombed areas to make sure no unexploded duds remain. State police will be notified when such bombs are found and the army bomb disposal service will then take over.

Since the outset of the town's civilian defense preparation efforts, Gilchrist has been the leading authority on the handling of incendiaries, having attended schools and demonstrations. He has lectured to all civilian defense units on handling fire bombs.

Local Residents' Mother Dies In Bloomfield

Mrs. Anna Sineski of 75 La-France avenue, Bloomfield, died Saturday night at Mountainside hospital after a short illness. Mrs. Sineski was the mother of Chester Sineski of 500 Franklin avenue. She was born in Poland and had lived in Bloomfield 34 years. She was a member of the Rosary society of St. Valentine's church and the Polish Women's circle.

Mrs. Sineski was the widow of the late Frank Sineski. Besides Chester, she leaves a son, Adolph of Bloomfield; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Podgorski and Mrs. Bernice Cierpial, both of Bloomfield; a brother, Joseph Krok of Bloomfield, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Welsch of Irvington.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from Gorny & Gorny Funeral home in Bloomfield. There was a solemn high requiem mass in St. Valentine's church, with the burial at Mt. Olive cemetery.

tire lugs on the rack and insisted on tightening the remaining one despite Della Terza's remark that he let it go as he wanted to leave the tire at a service station for repair.

Serious injury was also escaped by Weitzel who was putting tools which he had loaned Della Terza in the rear compartment of his car when Bloom struck his car. Weitzel was thrown clear by the impact. Bloom, after treatment for chest injuries, was released from Orange Memorial hospital.

SAME RULE HOLDS ON FIRE BOMBS

OCD Order To Use Full
Jet of Water, Out,
Gilchrist Says

Fire Lieut. William Gilchrist, regarded as the local authority on handling incendiary bombs, this week urged fire reserves and other defense volunteers to ignore the recommendation from the OCD this week that a full jet of water instead of a spray be used to extinguish fire bombs.

Gilchrist said that he believed the new method recommending for handling incendiaries applied to large industrial plants or other buildings on which a number of bombs might be dropped.

If a full jet of water were turned at heavy pressure on a single incendiary in a bomb, Gilchrist explained, the hot molten particles from the bomb would spread the fire and do further damage to the house and to the individual attempting to extinguish it.

According to statistics, Gilchrist said, more than 600 persons have been permanently blinded in England because they turned full jets of water on incendiaries.

MAN IS KILLED CHANGING TIRE

Louis Carbone Is Crushed
Between Two Cars In East Orange

Funeral services were held Monday morning from St. Anthony's church for Louis Carbone of 42 Jeraldo street who was killed early Friday morning in North Grove street, near Hoffman boulevard, East Orange, when he was crushed between two cars while changing a tire.

An employee of the Lionel corporation in Hillside, Carbone was being driven to work by Benjamin Della Terza of 67 Heckel street, an employee of the American Type Founders in Elizabeth. Following in a second car were Richard Weitzel of 45 Franklin street, a co-worker of Della Terza's, and Theodore Weitzel, his father.

Near Hoffman boulevard, Della Terza's right rear tire punctured and he pulled to the curb to change it with Weitzel drawing up behind him. Carbone was fastening the flat tire onto the rack in the rear of the car when a car driven by Louis Bloom of 527 H a with a r n e avenue, Newark, crashed into the rear of Weitzel's car, pushing it into Della Terza's and crushing Carbone between the two cars, killing him instantly.

Fate played a part in Carbone's death for if he had heeded the suggestion of Della Terza he would have escaped death. The dead man had put two of the
