Just One Big Reversal At Camp Mohican

Staff Becomes Scouts And Scouts Take Over Duties But It's Only For A Day

Camper's day was observed Tuesday at Camp Mohican, home of Boy Scout summer activities at Blairtown. On that day all staff members become campers and campers take over the duties of their superiors. Belleville scouts chosen for this honor were Roy Wager of troop 388, camp director; George Stewart of troop 350, nature director; William Edwards of troop 388, canteen director; George Stewart of troop 350, nature director; William Edwards of troop 388, canteen director; Robert Stewart of troop 350, quartermaster; and James Charlton of troop 388, ranger.

On Monday the campers followed an amusing program whereby they did everything backwards from taps to reveille. They wore their clothes backwards, ate desserts first and soup last at meals and generally did a turn-about. Yesterday's program included a hike to Blairtown where the boys visited Blair academy. Thanksgiving Day will be observed today, an annual custom. An aquatic meet will be held this afternoon and friends of scouting from this locality, Irvington, Newark and Blairtown will be guests of the scouts at a banquet and minstrel this evening.

The emergency senior program will be demonstrated tomorrow when teams composed of six scouts each will simulate the delivery of an emergency message in a three mile run over the Appalachian trail. This event is known as the skyline run. An auction of canteen and craft materials will also be conducted in anticipation of the breaking of camp on Sunday. Inspection, closing campfire and presentation of awards will be conducted Saturday.

Special awards to Belleville scouts will be the eagle badge, highest scout award, to Jack Lawson, troop 301; senior life saving badge to Jack Lawson and Joseph Valesky of troop 100. These boys were also assistant handicraft directors.

It Means What It Says, Now

A new loitering ordinance trimmed down considerably from its original counterpart proposed a few weeks ago, was passed by the town commissioners at their meeting on Tuesday night. It is a far cry from the first one which had been resurrected from a buried attempt to pass legislation against street corner gangs, a couple of years ago.

In its resurrected form, the ordinance which among other things, forbid people from standing on the street and holding a conversation, brought loud complaints from law abiding citizens who were bent on preserving their "inalienable rights".

Anti-Noise Suggestion

Our anti-noise campaign has been going on for some time now, in an effort to help those defense workers who must sleep during the daytime hours. We've pointed out that women engrossed in running a home and caring for their children, women who of necessity, have no time to take an active part in civilian defense, could in this instance at least, cooperate.

It would be their contribution to national defense. By cutting down on general noise, they would be contributing their share to expediting war production. This because everyone knows that a defense worker who, day after day, is deprived of a sound eight hours sleep, is prone to make mistakes in vital war machinery.

For this reason, a letter received by The Times this week, seems to us to present at least one possible solution to the problem. It would eliminate the all too human failing in admitting that "it may be so, but it can't apply to me". The writer, who has even had to move to another neighborhood to get relief from noise, has suggested that cards saying "Night Worker Asleep" placed in the window would at least aid in identifying the areas that should have extra consideration. The letter in part, follows:

"I have just finished reading your editorial item about the night work-

The new one framed because of legitimate complaints, hits the source of the trouble at last. It will prevent, under penalty of fine or imprisonment, a person from "indulging in loud, offensive or indecent language in a public or quasi-public place or on private property not his own".

And, going one step farther, to make sure they will be well rid of the problem for all time, the town fathers have added a penalty of fine or imprisonment for activities of the same general nature on all forms of public conveyances while the conveyances are in town or passing through it. That should just about take care of all potentialities of the problem, at last.

ers' problem and I agree with every word of it.

"For the past 16 months my husband has been on a night shift, and since school let out my son also works nights. As we even had to move, because of inconsiderate neighbors, to a quieter neighborhood I know the misery quite well. We are still disturbed occasionally by garbage collectors, horn tooters, neighbors' barking dogs and wandering, noisy children.

"I thought there must be a way to let these offenders know there are sleepers within so why not print cards similar to the air raid warden cards saying "Night Worker Asleep". They could be placed in windows of homes where they are needed so badly. When seen by others I am sure they would cut down on their noise.

"Your paper could let people know through your columns where they could be obtained. I'm sure you would have a flock of grateful women snap them up and be glad to pay for them. I have already looked for such signs in Newark but could not find any. Thank you for your persistent effort in trying to help."

How about it?

Keep The Furnaces Burning

While the junk rally sponsored by the salvage committee of the defense council is still a few weeks away, it not too early to begin piling up those items that have lost their usefulness to the household but which will be of inestimable help in the production of material for the fighting forces.

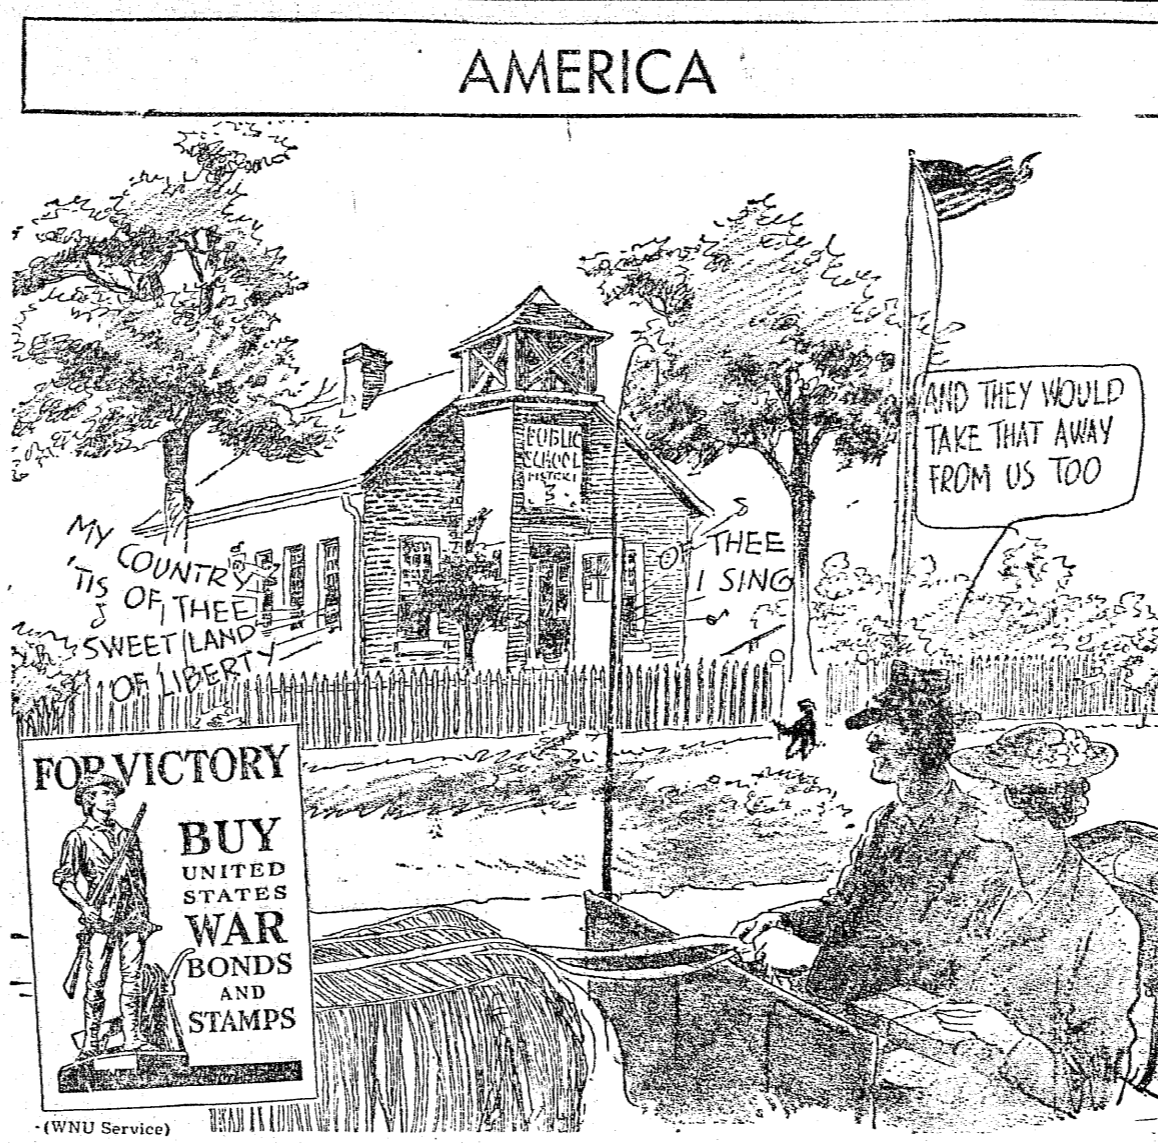

While the collection of rubber for reclamation is still as important as ever, a vast amount of metal is needed if the country's present program of ship building is not to be let down for want of that essential commodity.

It has been estimated by industrial representatives of the War Production board that 85 million tons of steel will be needed this year to keep up the program upon which the country has embarked. That staggering total of tonnage needed, it has been said, is more than the combined output of all foreign countries, including the Allies.

Scrap metal is important because some old metal must be added to every pound of new, and no less than 6 million tons of scrap must be collected throughout the country in the drive. Already, many furnaces are cold because there is not enough scrap to feed them.

Because of this condition, the job of supplying this scrap falls on each individual household. Even "trivial" things such as coat hangers, old knives, though small and light in weight, will help swell the pile. Of course an old radiator or metal bedstead would up the poundage considerably. But we all haven't things of that bulk to give away. Most important feature of the drive is that every family contribute all the scrap it has, now and not six months from now. NOW is important in so many ways. Let's not be too late.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville Times.

by Meador Wright

Throughout the whole country there is spreading something very like a conviction that 1942 will be a Republican year in politics. Essex county and New Jersey are no exceptions. Belief here in victory—as it has elsewhere—is stimulating interest in the coming primary. Six weeks ago strategists of both parties were convinced that William W. Smathers would be re-elected. This belief was so fixed that it played a big part in the decisions of various potential candidates to run or not to run. I have always believed that Dr. Lester H. Clee made his final decision not to seek the Republican senatorial nomination at the very moment when hopes of defeating Smathers were lowest—and that fear of defeat in the general election prompted his decision. Now, with hopes of victory gaining momentum daily, Republicans are awaking to the realization that the man nominated two weeks hence will very likely be New Jersey's next senator. This tends to put some additional interest in what has been a very dull campaign.

What is responsible for this change in sentiment—or rather what the leaders believe is a change in sentiment? Basically, it seems to have arisen from our part in the war. More and more people are convinced that America is not playing the decisive role in the war that they hoped she would play or believe that she can play. This week's Kiplinger letter from Washington is one of the most sensational things ever printed in war time. Without pulling any punches the letter asserts that our war effort is failing, that military defeat is a possibility and that a drastic reorganization of our efforts—especially in Washington—is inevitable.

New Deal Slump

Now the Kiplinger letter does not have general circulation, but it does reach a surprisingly large number of people of importance. Also, when a pamphlet of this type is sensational it tends to be passed around among a great many people. Its very letter format makes this easy. But the Kiplinger letter would deserve no mention here if what it is printing were not symptomatic of what the masses are thinking. It looks as though the New Deal were in one of its periodic slumps of popularity. The victory of Jim Farley in New York played a big part in this belief, as did the triumphant nomination of Tom Dewey. Wendell L. Willkie and President Roosevelt were both decisively beaten in New York. That seems to indicate that the "war honeymoon" enjoyed by both men since Pearl Harbor is over. The Jap attack seemed to justify the common view of both men so completely that many thought that politics no less than isolationism was dead for the duration. It is now realized that political activity has not adjoined, and the public seems to be showing such a decided reluctance to punish pre-war isolationism that some suspect that the doctrine itself is far from dead. As was expected, this issue of whether isolationism should be punished is being fought out here in the 10th New Jersey district. Representative Fred A. Hartley is making no attempt to deny his former isolation views. His opponent, Mayor Williams of Belleville is parading those views whenever possible. The Newark Star-Ledger is fighting Hartley, but so far the other papers have taken no stand. I have heard several active Clean Government leaders predict that Hartley will win. In this column next week I shall present my analysis of the situation.

The campaign of Gill Robb Wilson is very slow getting started in Essex. For that reason it is hard to appraise the relative standing of candidates. Backers of Albert W. Hawkes were cheered last week by Carter's statement in the Sunday Call that the campaign was nip and tuck between Hawkes and Wilson with Bower a poor third. By another week it should be evident whether this appraisal was too favorable to Hawkes. The fight between Hawkes and Wilson will be influenced somewhat by the decision of Supreme Court Justice Collie regarding the second county ticket headed by David H. Jones of South Orange. That decision will probably have been given before this appears in print. Off-hand, I would say that Hawkes will fare better if the ticket is not placed on the ballot. With no opposition, Clean Government workers will make the effort to get voters to the polls that they will if they are fighting for local candidates. The total vote will be less and the expected Essex majority for Wilson will be likewise less.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

The obvious answer to the question "what is my particular contribution to the war effort going to be?" is unfortunately overlooked by many women who do not make any attempt to insure adequate rest for the defense toilers who live in their neighborhoods and whose varying shifts make it necessary for them to sleep at unusual hours. It's an inexhaustible subject; one which many readers may be convinced is being overdone. A personal interview with one of these harassed workers, however, would go a long way toward convincing anyone that the solution to the problem has not even been wholeheartedly attacked.

As in all major problems of this kind it is the apathy of the general public which is the greatest stumbling block to the solution. Everyone waits for action from the authorities; everyone waits for some individual to suggest and enforce a plan which will work universally. Actually it is one of those intimate affairs which can only be solved by individual attention being given to it in every home, and next door to every home, where defense workers are housed.

A pair of soft-soled slippers in which to trot across your linoleum and polished wood floors, a rubber mat or soft towel on the drainboard where you are placing china and silver to drain, keeping your portable radio close enough to you when you are using it so that it does not have to screech and bellow—these are the weapons with which to fight this battle.

And of course there is the major factor of quieting your children. Instead of succumbing to the old adage that "children will be children" or lulling your conscience with the argument that children should not be pressed to recognize the fact that we are at war when their precious youth is fleeing, it seems to the writer that there are many inspiring reasons why the children should be easier than ever to discipline at this time.

Cruising Fishermen On Shopping Tour Need Sugar Certificates

In case there are any fishing vessels pulling in to the Belleville shores of the Passaic these days to do their marketing, it has been announced by the state ration board that they may not purchase sugar for ship stores without surrendering certificates. This holds true for all fishing vessels not engaged in "foreign, coastwise or inter-coastal trade," according to the release. In order to secure sugar at all for ship stores, they must register with the war price and rationing board as institutional users.

Donors To Red Cross Blood Bank Receive Booklets

Enrollment books were mailed this week by Miss Esther Adams, Red Cross executive secretary, to those who donated blood on July 2. The little booklets which contain the donor's blood type and other necessary information are valuable to be carried on the person. In case of accident or the need for a transfusion the individual's blood requirements are easily ascertained by strangers. Space is also provided in the booklet for the owner to enter his name each time he makes a blood donation. A silver bar is awarded to those who have donated three times. Those who made their first donations on July 2 received bronze pins.

Miss Adams has announced November 20 as the date for Belleville's second visit by the blood collecting unit of the Red Cross. Approximately 50 people, including those who will donate blood for the second time, have registered with her. It is hoped that those who could not register for the first donation will do so as promptly as possible so that the task of arranging for the event will not lag. Miss Adams may be reached at Red Cross headquarters by calling Belleville 2-2111. The army and navy E has been awarded to the national Red Cross for its response to the first blood bank quota which totaled 380,000 pints and was met before the July 1 deadline. This effort was commended as "the largest medical undertaking in history." The army and navy have named 250,000 pints as their combined requirements by June 30, 1943.

JUNK RALLY

September 21; zone 5, September 22; zone 3, September 23, and zone 4, September 24.

Dumping Lots
Robert G. Sutherland, salvage chairman, has announced that three dumping lots will be located adjacent to the Acme market on Washington avenue near Rossmore place; corner of Rutgers street and Washington avenue, and at the corner of Little and Cortlandt streets. Other locations will be announced later. Proceeds from the sale of the scrap will go to the defense council. Householders who may have very heavy objects are urged to call Belleville 2-2100 for a special truck which will be manned with extra men who will remove articles from basements or attics where they are stored.

The air raid wardens under Chief Warden Edward P. Cantwell and his deputies, James Lampan and Robert G. Bruner; the police reserves headed by Police Chief Spatz, and the Girl Scouts, directed by Mrs. Mae Holden, will all participate in publicizing the special drive for these urgently needed materials. All other civic and patriotic groups in the town that wish to participate, and their aid is needed, are asked to send representatives to the meeting of the salvage committee which will be held Monday at 8 p. m. in the Town Hall. Charles M. Nutt is special chairman of the junk rally.

BRIDGE

ton capacity of the new bridge will be.

Last week's downpours will cause the town to do some major repairing and an emergency appropriation of $1,350 for the purpose was voted at Tuesday night's commission meeting. It is expected that work will be started by the town's maintenance crew at once.

Greatest damage was done on Division avenue between DeWitt avenue and Oak street, where whole sections of pavement were gouged out, and wide cracks appeared on the street's surface. Estimated cost of patching this section is said to be between $500 and $600 according to Hugh Welsh of the Public Works department.

Also on the list is the Washington avenue firehouse where the copper gutters were ripped off in the last storm, and which will have to be replaced. Repairs to Grove street which also suffered cracks and gullies, will round out the work at an approximate cost of $150.

TELEPHONE FACILITIES in many New Jersey communities are being used at or near capacity and cannot be enlarged because the necessary materials now go to make weapons of war. There are also wartime restrictions on certain types of service and changes of equipment.

To avoid last-minute disappointment, we urge you to check with our Business Office on the telephone situation in the locality to which you plan to move, even if it is another section of the community where you now live.

We may or may not be able to duplicate your present service and equipment. In some areas no new service can be furnished; in others, party line service is all that is available. Your order for service must, of course, be subject to War Production Board restrictions which may be revised from time to time.

In any event, you may be sure that we will do our best to serve you, and if we should be unable to meet your telephone needs, we know you will understand why.

CHURCHES

Church of Christ, Scientist

605 Broad Street, Newark.

"Christ Jesus" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, in all Christian Science churches and societies.

The Golden Text is: "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ." Among the Lesson-Sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "The mission of Jesus confirmed prophecy, and explained the so-called miracles of olden times as natural demonstrations of the divine power, demonstrations which were not understood. Jesus' works established his claim to the Messiahship."

Defense Is Keynote of Girl Scouts' Program

Older Girls Learn How To Handle Group Of Toddlers In An Emergency

With emphasis on defense forming the keynote of the program for Belleville's 300 Girl Scouts and Brownies, latest activity is the child care class designed to teach the older girls how to care for a group of young children during an emergency.

Instructed by Miss Naomi Waters, eighth grade teacher in School No. 10, 15 girls between the ages of 12 and 14 have been meeting for two hours on Monday mornings for the past seven weeks. They have brought children between the ages of three and six, who have been their "subjects" in this class which has been designed primarily in the art of keeping toddlers occupied and happy.

The class will close next week, and has been a sequel to the yearly class given by the school nurse, in the care and handling of infants up to the age of five. Progress, according to Mrs. Mae Holden, Girl Scout director, has been splendid. Observing the girls in action at last Monday's session, Mrs. Holden reported that each of them succeeded in holding the attention of a group of eight toddlers, by her own individual methods.

Plans for the fall include a class in signaling, with instruction in Morse and semaphore. Another course will be given by a veterinarian on the care of pets whether they are sick or well, during an emergency, and the usual first aid course, lasting from 10 to 12 weeks, will also be available for girls from 12 years of age and up.

Teach Home Canning

How to can peaches was demonstrated in Fewsmith church last Wednesday by Mrs. Thomas Jackrell of Campbell avenue. The girls brought their own sugar and peaches and "put them up" during the session. Other scouts interested in learning the process are asked to sign up with Mrs. Holden, who will arrange for another canning session, as part of the home canning program in defense.

The girls have also been manning the war stamp booth located in Woolworth's each afternoon on weekdays, on Friday evening, when the store is open, and all day Saturday.

Biggest program so far, however, has been the Girl Scout part in the tin salvage appeal. Not only have they called for tin cans saved by householders, but in the first weeks of the appeal, they had booths located in three stores, to demonstrate the correct method of preparing tin cans for salvage. In addition, they had seven window displays, showing the steps in the preparation of the cans, including the right and wrong methods. One window display still continues, at 360 Washington avenue.

Charles Schleckser Enrolls At Bucknell University

Charles E. Schleckser Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Schleckser, 33 Baldwin place, has been admitted to Bucknell university, Lewisburg, Pa., as a member of the freshman class.

Schleckser, who was graduated in June from Seton Hall Preparatory school, plans to enroll in the electrical engineering course. While in preparatory school he participated in several activities, including the school annual, baseball, basketball, and football.

Essex County Vocational School Changes Curriculum

The fall term of the Essex County Vocational and Technical high school will start on Wednesday, September 9. The school will be open on Tuesday, September 8 for registration. After September 1 the office will be open daily for parents who wish to consult with the principal.

During the past year entrance requirements have been changed and basic courses have been established so that boys 14 years of age who have completed the eighth grade may enter. It will be necessary for a person who has completed only the eighth grammar grade to spend one year in the basic course in which he wishes to enroll.

Technical Courses Offered

Besides the basic courses technical high school courses are offered in various departments and post high courses are also given for those young men who have graduated from high school and wish to take a short intensified course in some particular subject.

Courses are given in aeronautics, automotive repair and servicing, machine shop, carpentry, electrical maintenance and repair, technical industrial electricity, manufacturing, manufacturing techniques, mechanical drafting and elements of machine design, radio and principles of television.

SAFeway Homemakers' Guide

★ How to fool the fuss-budget early in the week, too ★ A list of foods that save you money ★ Prices effective Thurs., Fri. and Sat.

Have you a fuss-budget on food in your house?

Here's how to fool him!

In which the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau presents three sensible tips and two delectable recipes

1. Give the fussy eater more foods rich in B vitamins, because these vitamins promote healthy appetite, good digestion, and general well-being.

2. Disguise foods that are disliked. For example, serve milk in custards, milk shakes, cream soups, and other milk-rich dishes, or instead serve cheese.

3. Combine disliked foods with others that are well-liked. For example, mash turnips with potatoes, season with milk or cream and butter, and the turnips can hardly be tasted.

This recipe for Southern Spoon Bread makes it easy to include milk, eggs, and cereals in his diet and still make him beam with contentment.

SOUTHERN SPOON BREAD

3/4 cups milk 1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup corn meal 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 egg 1/2 cup sugar

Heat milk in double boiler. Add corn meal and salt gradually, stirring constantly. Cover and cook 15 to 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool slightly.

Beat egg yolks; add with melted butter to corn meal mixture. Beat egg whites until foamy; then add baking powder and beat until stiff. Fold into corn meal mixture. Pour into deep well-greased 2-qt. casserole or baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 45 minutes, or until set. Serve from baking dish with melted butter. Serves 6.

This recipe for Vegetable Custard Ring makes it easy to include more milk, eggs, and vegetables in his diet.

VEGETABLE CUSTARD RING

2 eggs 1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups evaporated milk 1/2 tsp. pepper
1 cup milk 1 tsp. minced onion
2 1/2 cups coarsely chopped vegetables 1 tsp. melted butter

Beat eggs slightly; add milk, vegetables, seasonings, and butter. Line bottom of well-greased 1 1/2-qt. ring mold with waxed paper. Carefully pour in custard mixture. Bake in pan of hot water in moderate oven (350° F.) about 45 minutes, or until silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Unmold to serve; fill center with creamed fish, meat, or vegetables. Serves 8. (NOTE: Vegetables may be grated raw carrots, diced plain or mixed vegetables like peas, asparagus, etc.)

HARTLEY

bill. In his confusion, the mayor simply doesn't know what he is talking about. What he meant was that I voted for the Smith amendment to prohibit strikes, or excessive profits, in defense industries, a vote which I will defend anywhere. Our boys fighting in the jungles of the Solomon Islands and on the many other battlefields of the war have a right to expect industry and labor to provide them with the tools of war. I would prefer to see differences between labor and management settled by voluntary cooperation, but if it is necessary to compel uninterrupted production by legislation, then I say that Congress should have the courage to do the job.

"Continuing his misrepresentation of my voting record, the mayor said I voted against the extension of the Dies Committee investigating subversive activities. On the contrary, I voted for its creation and for every subsequent measure for its continuation. He also declared that I voted against WPA, NYA and Public Works. The fact is that I voted against many such measures that were wrong while, but I did vote against boondoggling and the wasting of our national resources. The mayor was cute enough to refrain from saying that I voted against the tragically nonsensical AAA program, the Agricultural Adjustment Act, but as the people of the Tenth District pay higher prices for every ounce of food they buy, and face in the months to come the rationing of meat essential to their health, I trust they will remember that I voted against the plowing under of wheat and corn and cotton, and the useless slaughter of hogs and cattle.

"To quote Mayor Williams again, he said, 'Fortunately, there were not enough Hartleys in Congress to defeat those measures designed to prepare us against war.' The matters referred to were not measures for national defense. Their own sponsors said they would preserve the peace. We non-interventionists believed the measures would tend to involve us in war. The fact is we are involved in war. Before Pearl Harbor I had honest convictions about becoming enmeshed in the war; today I have honest convictions about winning that war. I have voted for every measure and for every appropriation for national defense and the prosecution of the war."

Hartley "Smeared Himself"

The Belleville mayor's statement further said: "No one has to smear my opponent, because he has done a pretty good job of that himself. But I do want to point out that the voluble Mr.

Hartley is talking about everything under the sun but his record in Congress. He is grasping at anything and everything to create a phoney issue that might divert public attention from his acts in Congress.

"It took a world war — the greatest in history — to catch up with him, but now he stands exposed for all to see of his record."

"Why is it that patriotic organizations, veterans groups, and civic associations that have always rallied to his standard, have now turned against him?"

"Why is it that labor, which has always supported him in previous campaigns, now is solidly united against him?"

"The answer can be found in the pages of the Congressional Record, where is preserved the record of Congressman Hartley's votes to keep America unarmed and defenseless, to make our nation the easy target of any power-crazed dictator bent on world conquest."

"Mr. Hartley was wrong before Pearl Harbor. He showed poor judgment and lack of vision. He was indifferent to blunt warnings. He followed the leadership of individuals who sought by word and deed to weaken us. Can he now, after Pearl Harbor, be trusted to give sincere support to the war effort?"

"I am sure that the voters of the 10th Congressional district want to do their part in the election of a man who will represent them as best they can. They can best contribute to that purpose by repudiating Mr. Hartley and the principles he espoused."

BLACKOUT

Dunleavy, who assigned fire equipment for each call; Police Chief George Spatz, who dispatched police reserves on call at headquarters or cruising in radio cars; Dr. George Kaden, emergency medical service chief, who directed the movements of first aid workers and the ambulance corps; Hugh Welsh, who issued orders for dispatching the demolition, rescue and repair units; and Clifford Faust of the engineering staff who plotted the movements of all men and equipment on the huge master map and Arthur W. Clark, who served as the controller. Mayor Williams has appointed Frank Chambers, president of the local Red Cross chapter, as a member of the defense council.

Nominally, Mayor Williams in his role as defense commander, would have over-all direction of the emergency units, but the mayor was not present, being in Newark attending a Clean Government rally at which he spoke as a candidate for progress.

Smith and Sullivan were particularly pleased at the smoothness and the speed with which the control center staff worked. There were no hitches and "incident" reports were received and orders were quickly dispatched to the various emergency stations.

"This is where everything starts from," Smith remarked, "and if things did not run smoothly here, the whole plan would be a failure. I think the staff worked exceptionally well."

To Start Zone Tests

With the first town-wide test over, the chairman announced that a series of zone tests would now be held. These will start immediately, he said, and after all zones have had practice sessions, another town-wide rehearsal of volunteers and equipment will be held.

"By conducting zone tests," the chairman said, "more people in each section will have an opportunity to do something."

The first of Thursday night's incidents was the "bombing" of the Passaic river bridge at Rutgers and Main streets at 7:30 p.m. The pumper from fire headquarters, a rescue truck and crew and police reserves were dispatched to the scene. Other incidents took place at the Capitol theatre, Tappan avenue, Greylock parkway, Cedar Hill avenue, Watsessing avenue and the last one at the Wallace & Tiernan plant which was supposed to be on fire.

MAGINNESS-BALL NUPTIALS HELD

Saturday Afternoon Church Ceremony Took Place In Nutley

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Louise Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Ball of Nutley, and George P. Maginness, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Maginness of Perry street, took place Saturday afternoon at St. Paul's Congregational church, Nutley. The Balls were residents of this town until six years ago. Rev. Robert C. Falconer performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Ball home.

Miss Ball was attended by her sister, Miss Roberta Ball, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lucille Vogel of Nutley, a cousin, and Mrs. Emil Kammerer of Newark. Oscar Bonner of Bloomfield, cousin of Mr. Maginness, acted as best man and ushers were Harold Fisher of Nutley and Mr. Kammerer.

The bride's gown of white chiffon was lace trimmed and her fingertip illusion veil was held by a starched lace Dutch cap. An arm bouquet of white roses and bouvardia completed her costume. Giel blue chiffon was chosen for Miss Roberta Ball's gown and pink chiffon for the other attendants. All wore matching fresh flower headresses and carried arm bouquets of countless roses and delphinium.

The couple were graduated from Belleville high school and the bride also attended Drake Business school. Mr. Maginness was graduated from Lehigh university and attended Georgetown University Law school.

Fratella-Segarto Troth

The engagement has been announced of Miss Ann Marie Segarto of West Orange and Pvt. Fiore Fratella, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fratella of Beech street. Miss Segarto is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Segarto. She was graduated from West Orange high school. Pvt. Fratella is stationed at Miami Beach.
