50 TONS SCRAP METAL QUOTA FOR TOWN

Some Residents Are Already Depositing Contributions At Depots

Collection of 50 tons of scrap iron and other metals is the goal of the local salvage committee and Chairman Robert G. Sutherin is hopeful that it will go far above this mark set as the town's quota by state salvage officials.

Residents throughout town are reported to be getting ready to make the week of September 19 to 26 a banner one for salvage, gathering theier old pots and pans, electric irons, pieces of pipe, other odds and ends of metal for the town-wide scrap pile.

Head of his own food brokerage concern in New York, Stewart is a veteran of the first world war, having enlisted at the out-break in the U.S. navy and served on active duty at sea. He is 46 years old, married and has one daughter, Lois, who is a freshman in high school.

He is the second of Williams' best known critics. Last winter Major Edward Burns of Hill street was calld to active duty by the army. A veteran of the first world war, Burns, who was home on leave this week, is stationed at the Boston port of embarkation. For more than a year Burns, who at one time headed the Belleville Taxpayers' association, sharply criticized the town commission and Mayor Williams in particular.

SEEK MOVIE STAR FOR WAR RALLY

Craftsmen Hope To Have Headliner For Sept. 19 Stadium Program

The probability that at least one headline cinema or stage star will attend the war bond rally to be held at the municipal stadium on Saturday afternoon, September 19, seemed probable yesterday.

Officials of the Craftsmen's club, which is sponsoring the event to boost the sale of bonds and stamps, conferred with local representatives of the Warner Bros. theatres to see who could be obtained for the day. The motion picture industry, which is driving to sell one billion dollars worth of bonds this month, has turned locse leading Hollywood stars around the country this month to help boost bond and stamp sales.
Already scheduled as an attraction is a softball game between the Craftsmen and the American Legion. Those to be admitted to the stadium must purchase at least a 25-cent war stamp. However, Craftsmen are campaigning to have people make even greater purchases to help boost the sales

The club is the first organization in town to sponsor such an affair and it is their hope and that of the war bond committee, headed by Philip Dettelbach, that more organizations will conduct similar bond boosting events.

PUBLIC SLAMMED FOR CONDUCT IN AIR RAID ALERT

Jammed Telephone Exchange And Turned On Many House Lights

Two serious indictments were levelled against the public for their actions in Monday's early morning air raid alarm when this area was blacked out because of the report of an unidentified plane over the coast.

Curiosity was the cause of both the complaints. So many telephone calls were made by residents that the telephone exchange here was swamped and the operators were unable to handle the necessary calls to important civilian defense services. Instead of keeping their homes blacked out as required in an air raid, many people were reported to have awakened and turned on their louse lights.

"We were most disappointed in the public's actions," Defense Co-ordinator Harry J. Sullivan said. "It might be different if they had not been told repeatedly no to use the telephone and by all means not to turn on lights.'

The police department was unhandle the hundreds of calls which it received, and the telephone company reported that in many instances people merely wished to call their relatives or

It was impossible for the control center at town hall to get out some of its urgent calls to defense chieftains and posts throughout town because of the

"In sharp contrast to the public," Sullivan said, "the defense organization performed exceptionally, considering the fact that many people were out of town for the weekend and a great deal of confusion existed because of the whistles with those in some nearby towns sounding the 'all clear' signal when others were just starting to sound the alarm.'

The control room force was out in full strength while the per-centage of air raid wardens who reported for duty was exceptionally high. In Zone 2, it was said that 92 percent of the wardens turned out while in Zone 5, located in Silver Lake, there was an attendance of better than 75 percent. Many police reserves on duty in uniform were reported and a number of emergency ambulances were at their posts.

Sullivan said that it was fortunate that the town has direct lines to the factories where the air raid whistles are located or it would have been almost impossible to have reached them by telephone because of the jam at the local exchange. ## Hartley, Mayor Tangle Over Rubber, Gas Investigation

Williams Says Congress Committee Is 'Upstart' Group; Hartley Calls Him 'Blundering Bill,' Who Has Perfect Wrong Record

In his campaign to attempt to unseat Congressman Fred A Hartley, Jr. as this district's representative in Washington, Mayor Williams turned this week to the committee investigating the gasoline and rubber situation, which is headed by Congressman John Fitzgerald, Democrat, of Connecticut, and Hartley.

Williams tagged it as "an upstart committee," , which is "an opportunistic device to provide publicity for its members in their campaigns for re-election."

mayor as "blundering Bill Williams," the representative stated perfect record for being wrong. Williams based his claim on the fact that the Hartley committee is interfering with the Baruch committee which was named by President Roosevelt.

"Why then," Williams said, "should an upstart house commit-tee suddenly decide to begin an investigation of rubber when an inquiry by three eminent Americans is already under way?" Contending that he had recommended the Presidential appointon synthetic rubber, Hartley commented of his opponent, "he says that we are interfering with the Baruch committee studying the synthetic rubber situation. Is

the Baruch committee?" Formed In July

The congressional investigating committee was formed early in July and immediately started conducting hearings not only on the synthetic rubber question but also concerning gasoline and fuel oil shortages along the eastern seaboard. Formation of the committee, drawing its membership of defense council chieftains from congressmen in seaboard through a series of "incidents" states, was recommended to which have been arranged by Defrom congressmen in seaboard House Majority Leader McCormack and Minority Leader Martin by Hartley. It resulted in the Everett B. Smith and Ronald appointment of the committee Brunner, deputy chief air raid leaded by Rep. Fitzgerald with

Hartley as vice-chairman. In his statement answering Williams attack, the congressman commented:

"Blundering Bill Williams is consistent in one thing. He establishes a perfect record for "14" sibeing wrong. The latest dud in system. his comedy of errors is his statement that our committee investigating synthetic rubber, gasoline and fue oil has no standing.

"He apparently has been so busy trying to get to congress that he doesn't know the committee's work resulted in the transfer of many thousands of tank cars for service in the east, and in the two and one-half cent per gallon reduction in the price of gasoline and a corresponding reduction in the cost of tuel oil. "Let the mayor ask any oil dealer or any gas station owner about the accomplishments of our committee.

The supposed attack took place on Heckel street between Jeraldo and Lawrence streets. A harmless but real-like cloud of gas had been devised by Zone Warden Michael Richardella. The decontamination squad headed by Sid Kaufer, wearing rubberized coats

The most important Congressional primary campaign that this district has had in 14 years and one on which attention is focused throughout the state comes to a close next Tuesday when the voters go to the polls to decide who should be the Republican nominee for congress-the incumbent, Fred A. Hartley, Jr., or his Clean Government opponent, Mayor William H. Williams.

Not since Hartley himself, as a 24-year-old independent candidate, challenged the Republican organization in 1928 and won the nomination has the district seen such a heated primary campaign. Using Hartley's pre-Pearl Harber voting record as a target, Mayor Williams has lashed out at the congressman from Kearny as one who has "outgrown his political usefulness" and should be returned to private life.

Not remaining silent, Hartey has rapped back at Williams' qualifications to represent the district in congress, has charged that his opponent has waged a "smear" campaign and has misquoted and misrepresented his voting record in congress to confuse the voters. With political meetings scarce, both candidates have depended on statements in the press to appeal to the public, Harther has supplemented this form of campaigning with weekly talks on

Stays In Washington

While Williams has been in the district and has spoken before Clean Government sponmeetings in Newark and in Hartley's home town, Kearny, the congressman has been spending most of his time in Washington. Hartley's continued absence from the district, even during the present week, has trou-bled some of his supporters and

In response to their pleas, he said vesterday in Washington that "he believed the people of his district would think more of him for being in Washington doing his duty rather than spending time at home waging a political campaiga.' Williams has concentrated his campaign almost exclusively on Hartley's voting record, labelling the congressman as an isolationist who by his voting record en-deavored to keep the United States unprepared for war. In answer, Hartley replied that most of the charges made against him by Williams are on measures which he voted for prior to the 1940 election when Williams supported him, and he denied that he had failed to vote for national defense measures, claiming that he had voted for every appropriation ever sought by the army, navy and air forces during his 14 years in congress. The Williams supporters believed that their chances were furthered yesterday when the Greater Newark Industrial council of the CIO announced that 500 members would canvass the district between now and election day urging the defeat of Hartle and urging the election of Wil-

The local mayor's chances of victory hinge primarily on the ability of the Clean Government organization to get out the vote. Against this, Hartley has a perconal organization which he has built up during the 14 years he has been in congress. While the two candidates have vaged a warm fight in the press, there has not been marked personal campaigning for either man in any of the towns in the district, which includes Harrison, East Newark, Kearny, Belleville, Nutley, Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, and a section of Newark.

Light Vote Expected

It is not anticipated that there will be a heavy vote cast on Tuesday when the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Based on recent elections, because of the number of people working in war plants at odd hours, it is exexceed that the vote to be cast locally will be under 5,000. #### P. S. TO CONFER WITH RESIDENTS ON NO. 92 LINE

Noll Holds Out Little Hope For Remedy Of Condition In Section

A conference will be held Monday morning at the Recreation house in Joralemon street between nouse in Joralemon street between a representative of Public Service KIDDE-EASTWOOD Coordinated. Transcout Coordinated Transport and a group of residents of the West Belleville area with Commissioner Noll on the question of daytime service by the No. 92 bus line.

Noll, who has charge of transportation locally, announced yesterday that E. J. Hill, who is superintendent of transportation for the company, had agreed to represent the company at the conference and explain its position in the elimination of service on the line between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

The bus has not operated during those hours since early in June. Residents protested to the town commission, even submitting a petition containing several hundred names demanding that service be resumed on the No. 92 line. The bus which enters Belleville on Franklin avenue, goes east on Jor-alemon street to Washington avenue and south to the North New-

A delegation appeared before the town commission Tuesday night to renew its request. Commissioner Noll again explained that control of transportation is in the hands of the office of defense transportation and that it would not permit operation of the line when it was not carrying sufficient passengers.

The women complainants protested that the line was not given a fair test since gasoline rationing went into effect and that elimination of daytime service on the bus robbed them of the only means they have of setting to Washington avenue for shopping.

Noll said that the only alternative recommendation he could make to Public Service would be the re-routing of certain buses on the No. 23 line so that they would continue on Joralemon street east to Washington avenue and south North Newark station, then resuming their route on Summer avenue. He said, however, that he beined the re-routing of buses numerous Republican groups.

The No. 28 line runs from Nutley to Pennsylvania station, Newark, traveling in town on Joralemon street and Union avenue. Commissioner Waters charged that while the Public Service had eliminated service on the No. 92 line, which has been in operation for the past 14 years, it recently started service on two new lines, one running to Silver Lake and the other in the valley section. Both lines started before gasoline rationing and ODT regulations went into effect.

DATE FOR FILING MAXIMUM PRICES

61 Consumer Services List That Must Be Compiled For OPA

The thousands of businesses rendering services to New Jersey consumers are required to file lists of their maximum prices and descriptions of their pricing methods with the war price and rationing board by today. This was announced by the Office of Price Administration.

Price officials explained that the filing of maximum price lists by firms rendering consumer services is in accordance with the provisions of "Maximum Price Regulation No. 165" which sets the prices of consumer services at March 1942 levels.

The list of 61 categories of consumer services affected by the ruling includes repair and maintenance of automobiles, bicycles, boats, houses, clothing, farm equipment, household appliances, and many others. The price of many services such as laundry, cleaning, carpentry, tailoring, and landscaping are also affected by the law.

For the guidance of the many businesses which must compile and file maximum price lists, OPA headquarters outlined the following information and instructions: 1. Your statement of ceiling prices for your services should include the following points: (a) A list of all services you supplied during March 1942 for which you regularly quoted prices in that month, together with a complete

description of each. (b) The highest prices you charged for such services during March 1942. (c) The rate, or the price ing method and charges, if any, which you regularly used during March 1942. (The term "rate" means the charge per unit for supplying a service, such as 5 cents a pound for wet wash, or cents a square foot for washing a rug.)

(d) The customary allowances, discounts, and other price differentials which you gave during March 1942.

(e) You are required to keep this list up to date, by adding the above information concerning any new services you instituted after March

Must Keep On Hand
2. What to do with your list:
After September 1, 1942 you must keep this statement at hand, available for examination by any person during ordinary business hours. You must file a copy of this statement either in person or by mail on or before September 10, 1942 with your War Price and Rationing Board.

The description of each service must be exact and complete. It must be a complete listing of the specifications, process, and other characteristics of the service. or of the various grades of services.

(b) You must give your highest March price for every service you supplied, or the rate, or the pricing method or methods and charges, which you regularly used in March covering every service you supplied and for which you regularly quoted a price.
(c) In giving your rate, or your pricing method and charges, you should describe how you applied it in arriving at prices charged in March 1942. Show how you figured in direct cost of materials, direct cost of labor, and all indirect or overhead costs and profits. These may be shown in percentages, in dollars and cents or in any other way that makes clear the formula used.

Price discounts and differntials: List all your customary allowances, discounts, and other differentials. Lines of your statemight read, for example, "immediate payment in cash two per cent discount;" "discount to commercial customers. 15 per per cent:" "Discount for quantities of 50 pounds or over, 10 per cent. 5. Two copies of your statement should be prepared (one to file with the rationing hoard, and one to keep at your own establishment.) There is no official OPA form for this purpose: use your own stationery or plain white

Church Resignation According to a new ruling, churches which have in the past used sugar in preparing their own communion wine, may register with rationing boards as industrial users and receive allotments of sugar for this purpose.

A firehouse which maintains a common kitchen or commissary for the regular preparation and service of meals, may register as an institutional user and receive appropriate allotments of sugar. Recent reports from the Food Rationing Division of OPA in Washington indicate that imports

The continuing flow of applications from rationing board decisions on gasoline applications, it was explained, made necessary further clarification of the regula tions. Rationing officials estimated that more than 6,000 appeals have been received from persons, largely salesmen, dissatisfied with rationing board decisions. The majority of them, they said, mistakenly believe themselves eligible for

'C" ration books. OPA headquarters emphasized that the only salesmen entitled to "C" book are those "engaged in the sale of necessary productive equipment for farms, factories, oil wells, lumber camps, and similar productive or extractive establishments, or of medical supplies, if the marketing of such equipment or supplies by sales-men is essential to the war ef-

Four-Team League To Play Home-And-Home; Open Season Sept. 27

The war has taken its toll in the New Jersey pro football pic-ture and although the town's local eleven, the Iron Dukes, will be playing again in the North Jersey Football League, fans will find new faces in the loop lineup.

Drafting of players, inability of teams to get a field or transportation to out-of-town games has forced some of last year's clubs to drop out.

There will be three other teams in the circuit this year with the Dukes who were tied with the Camptowners for the title last year. In addition to the Campers, the other elevens are the Plain-field Saracens, strong Central Jer-sey outfit, and the Boonton Pan-thers.

The teams will play home and home games with each club in the circuit. The season will end with round-robin tourney to decide the championship.
With the municipal stadium as

tion. The following Sunday they will meet the Boonton Panthers here and October 11 will entertain the Camptowners. The next two Sundays they will be on the road playing at Boonton and Plainfield On November 1, the Campers will return for a second contest. The November 8 and 15 dates have been scheduled for the play-offs. Coach Joe Vollmer, who was the Dukes' mentor last year, will be back again. He is now coaching football at Upsala college in East Orange, having resigned as assistant coach at Nutley high although he is still on the teaching staff there. While a number of the stars of last year's Dukes team have entered the service, several of the shining lights will return. Back for more action will be Frankie Cardinale, former Nutley high allstater, and George Tietze, fast moving local youth, who was one of the main cogs in the locals'

The second workout for the Dukes squad is scheduled to be held at the municipal stadium on Sunday morning. Local youths interested in trying out for the team should get in touch with Ed Smith at the Fairview apartments, 580 Washington avenue.

In the district, there are local campaigns being waged only in Bloomfield and Kearny where there are councilmanic contests. biggest vote may be gotten out in Bloomfield where there are contests in each of the wards and also for the mayoralty. In Hartley's home town, there are contests in two wards for the republican nomination.

Locally, there has been no endorsement of either man's candidacy. The Republican organization which has made appearances at times under various names has not been openly active and the Hartley association, which is generally to the forefront in the congressman's campaigns, has been quiet and has not held any meetings or sponsored any rally

Both men have had successful political careers. Following a term as a member of the Kearny town council, Hartley was elected to congress in 1928 when he was 24 and was immediately called the "baby" congressman, still having the honor of having been the youngest man ever elected to house of representatives. In succeeding campaigns, he has been returned to office by good majorities. In 1940, he received a 20,000-vote majority in the gen-eeral election in November. He had his closest call in 1936 when he was opposed by Lindsay H. Rudd of Bloomfield, the Democratic candidate. However, in a year when all other Republicans, the Essex county ticket, down to defeat, Hartley

Williams first ventured into Belleville politics in 1926. He polled a small number of votes, but returned to the fray in 1930 when he was elected to the com-mission as the fifth man. He was re-elected in 1934 and was named mayor, a post he has held since. The voters returned him to of-fice in 1938 and last May.

For a number of years Hart-ley and Wiliams have been close friends with the mayor supportfriends with the mayor supporting the congressman in all of his campaigns except the present White House on Sunday.

RUBBER

Williams, in his statement, demanded to know who is paying the expenses of the committee to investigate the gasoline and rubber situation.

Claiming that the Hartley committee is unauthorized and has no official standing, Williams said the public is entitled to know who inspired the inquiry and the purpose behind it. Williams charged Hartley with "mis-use of congressional authority" in his direction of the investigation.

"This inquiry is one of two things," Williams commented. "It is an opportunistic device to provide publicity for its members in theier campaigns for re-election or it was organized at the behest of certain forces for wholly self-licity-grabbing maneuver, then let Mr. Hartley name the person or persons who inspired the fornation of this group outside of the regular procedure as set down in the rules of the house of representatives.

"His interference with Presidential board's effort to present a comprehensive report has been properly rebuked. It is but another example of Mr. Hartley's continuous obstructionist tactics which were evident in his votes against many important national

PRICE CONTROL NEED IS CITED

Kerney Says Housewives Have Much To Rejoice About

A comparison of uncontrolled food prices during the first world the state during the present war, issued this week by James Kerney, Jr., state director of the office of price administration, gives the New Jersey housewife and wage earner much to rejoice at.

Data compiled by the Newark branch of the bureau of labor statistics at Kerney's request indicate that prices of price-controlled foods in Newark declined frac-tionally between May 18 and July 14, and that prices of foods on which there are no ceilings increased an average of 7.4 percent.

According to the price report submitted by the statistics division retail food prices rose 30 percent between the invasion of Poland in 1939, and the establishment of price ceilings on May 18, 1942. Tuesday night when the Men's club was addressed at its first meeting by Ruel Daniels. Mr. After the OPA set ceilings on approximately 60 percent of the foods going into the average household budget the prices of these foods actually declined while uncontrolled foods continued to

> "While the data tabulated were taken from the city of Newark," Kerney said, "the same applies to every community in the state. The figures speak for themselves. This is a thorough vindication of the necessity for price ceilings in preventing inflation and impairment of the war effort. World war prices continued their upward spiral for six years until 1920 when they were 115 percent of what they had been in 1914. A glance at the figures compiled by the bureau of labor statistics for the first world war period shows what happens when prices are allowed to run wild. We cannot afford to let the same thing with its attendant economic dislocations happen again. The OPA price control program is one of our most powerful weapons for victory on the home front. We must all work together to keep it strong and ef-

> war, and how they have reacted during the period before price con-trols were instituted in this war. "During the first year after the outbreak of World War I", the report states, "the New Jersey housewife found little change in the cost of food, but by July, 1916 the forces of inflation were power-fully at work. We did not enter the war as a belligerent until April of 1917 by which time the upward swing in prices was proceeding at an alarming rate.' Prices of a list of essential foods were cited as examples of price behavior during the two war periods as follows: (The prices listed for 1942 are average prices each retailer, under the price regu lations, has his own individual ceiling based upon the highest price

Let's Make It 100 Tons

A new challenge has been made to Belleville-to collect 50 tons of scrap iron and other metals before winter sets in. We say, let's make 100 tons our goal and prove to the state and national salvage heads that it can be done.

Through the salvage drive, this war and America's battle for all-out production reaches into every home, every commercial enterprise, every industrial concern in the nation. If we are to keep our steel mills and all war producing plants going full blast this winter, according to the WPB, tons and tons of scrap iron and metal must be Belleville, under the direction of its salvage committee, has established a fine record in the drives to date for waste paper, rubber and tin. The one that will start in another week will be greater than all of these. We must keep up the good work, we must do even better than we have done. They want 50 tons—give them 100 tons.

What can be done with 100 tons of scrap? It will make 20 three-inch anti-aircraft guns to protect our coasts or the ground forces on some fighting front, or it will make 400 2,000-pound bombs to be dropped on Berlin or Tokyo, and if that is not to your liking it will help to make 18 light tanks, each weighing about 15 tons.

The salvage committee has set a oneweek period for the drive, but accually the collection of scrap should go on just as long as this war lasts. It is not a one-week or a one-month program any more than this is a one-week war. Do your part now and keep

If you look in the cellar, attic or garage, you will find a lot of old things that you no longer have any use for. Here is what some of them can do to help whip the Axis:

That old flatiron will make two steel helmets or 30 hand grenades. Those broken skid chains will make 20 37-mm. anti-aircraft shells. Six three-inch shells can be made out of that old lawnmower. The golf clubs you don't use any more will make one .30 calibre machine, while an old radiator will make 17 .30 calibre rifles. Even leaky wash pails can do their part. One will make three bayonets. Even your burnt-out lamp bulbs will help. One thousand of them will make 40 compasses.

If you will just look around, you will find many things which can be turned in to the salvage depot near your home. You can't use them any more but the nation can to

Must Get Used To Inconveniences

It is difficult to make many people understand that they will have to get along today without that which they took as an evervday convenience a year ago. One of the things about which we might as well make up our collective minds, is that we will have to expect inconveniences in public transportation.

The announcement by Joseph B. Eastman, director of the federal office of transportation in Washington yesterday concerning the control to be assumed shortly over the operation of trucks, buses, taxis and other similar commercial vehicles pointed directly to this fact.

The primary purpose as stated by Eastman is to assure that "operations be confined to those necessary to the war effort or to the essential domestic economy."

It is hard for many to understand just what this means or what is likely to happen. But, there will not be new buses and the government intends to bear down on the use of gasoline, rubber and other needed materials by those now in operation. It means that there will be a shifting of lines, many sacrifices which we must be willing kind of "coordinated" defense sysan elimination of some in operation and to make as a part of winning the war.

We can sympathize with these people for the inconvenience which some of them must suffer, but today there are more important uses for gasoline, rubber, and even buses than to be used for them to get to the grocer's, church, the movies, or for a social visit. #### ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

by Meador Wright

The Hawkes-Wilson bout enters its final phase with the belief general that the outcome is very much in doubt. Actually the contest may turn out not to be very close. Gill Robb Wilson may have the commanding lead when the polls close Tuesday that most of his backers expected three weeks ago that he would have. On the other hand, Albert W. Hawkes may prove that the organization he is reported by his followers to have built up is a real organization. Nothing short of a careful Gallup poll would give any sure index of how the votes are going

What will be proved is not so much which candidate is the stronger as which is the weaker. Hawkes does not have a strong organization, reports from his headquarters notwithstanding. He hasn't had the time, the political skill or the capacity for evoking enthusiasm from followers to create such an organization as Dwight

W. Morrow, for example, had in &-1930. And, again despite reports, is strong too, in that he is the he hasn't spent the money to heir to the numerous groups and Hawkes is buying support will not be borne out by the facts, in my judgment. a fairly efficient campaign, but it is the type of campaign that W. Warren Barbour put on in 1938 rather than the kind Kean conducted in 1928. Hawkes does have many warm and wealthy friends who are spending money for him. But it is doubtful that the aggregate of all these funds is as great as that raised and spent for Morrow. It is not that Hawkes is spending so much but rather that Wilson is spending so little. If Hawkes' campaign is on somewhat the same scale as Barbour's, then Wilson's is about like Clee's when the latter ran governor in 1937. Clee was defeated that year primarily because he didn't have enough The hot fight over wages and money to run an efficient campaign. Wilson may fare the same way this year despite the strong organization support back of him. Or this organization support may be sufficient for him to win. There can be no adequate appraisal until the votes are cast. ly personal guess is that Hawkes win but I admit that it is little more than a guess.

Wilson is making some headway as the campaign nears its If he had two weeks more time he might clinch the nomination. Those who listen to his speeches come away much impressed. the Hawkes - Wilson contest, that between Mayor Williams of Belleville and Fred A Hartley is attracting the most attention. In the 10th district, in in the latter. Here it is two fairly strong organizations battling each other. During the 14 years he has been in Congress Hartley has built up a strong personal following. He has done favors for numerous people, is known personally to thousands. Williams

ley defeated. Also he has the Clean Government organization squarely behind squarely in fact than Wilson has. But it is doubtful if all these factors are sufficient to defeat Hartley. My guess is that they are not. Hartley has been made something of a martyr. He is fighting back hard. Much will de pend upon the willingness of the American people to punish preis a national question and must have a national answer, which will not be forthcoming until No-10th district will supply a tial answer. #### Differ In Origin

The high holydays or the "Yomim Noraim" days of awe, as they are termed differ from all other holidays and festivals, in that they are neither agricultural or historic in origin. They con-cern the individual and are universal in character. The observance of the high holydays is characterized by a feeling of solemnity.
With the arrival of this period of the year, every Jew becomes spiritually moved. Under the inspiring influence of Rosh Haall Jews begin to take an accounting of themselves and of their lives during the past year. New resolves are made and better lives are planned. The philosophy of Rosh Hashonah is supposed to stimulate a desire for the greater and more meaningful life.

This year, special emphasis is being placed on the responsibility of the individual Jew to his people. The unfortunate plight of his pecple and all peoples in all-parts of the world are being brought to his immediate attention. The important note to be sounded this Rosh Hashonah stimulates a definite spirit of courage and firmness. The Jewish people

America Needs Experience RE-ELECT Fred A. Hartley, Jr.

The Record

During his 14 years in Congress he has voted for every appropriation ever asked by the Army, Navy and Air Force—a total of $150,000,000,000.

He sponsored free mailing privileges for the boys in the armed forces, and fought a year-long successful campaign for Congressional approval.

He pioneered with Gen. Billy Mitchell for years to enlarge our air forces.

He backed J. Edgar Hoover's drive on Fifth Columnists.

In 1936 he demanded Presidential action to stop shipments of scrap iron and aviation gasoline to the Japs and Nazis.

In 1934 he fought for months on the floor of Congress for action to compel the Army to adopt the high-speed Christie tank and tread, now used in all of the armies of the world.

In 1933 he personally pleaded with President Roosevelt to establish military training in CCC

He has done and is doing more to help you get fuel oil and gasoline, and synthetic rubber, than any other Congressman in the United States.

His exposure of political intimidation and coercion of WPA in 1938 aroused national indignation and led to the enactment of corrective Federal laws ending such abuses.

In the words of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, "Congressman Fred A. Hartley has by his votes and general attitude proven himself to be an outstanding friend of labor." His 14-year labor record is unsurpassed by any other Republican Congressman.

Notwithstanding his friendship for labor he fearlessly voted last December to prohibit strikes, or excess profits, in defense industries.

Throughout his years in Congress he has championed the cause of American war veterans, and has obtained satisfactory adjustments of more than 6,000 individual veterans' claims, for which he has been accorded national recognition by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled Veterans' Association and similar organizations.

He has a nation-wide reputation as an expert on tax problems, having lectured before America's leading colleges and universities on the subject.

Perhaps no other man in public life today has so completely maintained the "Open Door" policy with respect to giving personal service to citizens requiring assistance or guidance, widows, heads of families, home owners, business men, professional men, manufacturers. His files contain tens of thousands of acknowledgments of such services by Congressman Hartley.

There Is No Substitute For Experience

ONE MAN IN A MILLION

Nineteen months before Pearl Harbor Hartley warned the nation that in case of war we would face:-The fall of Bataan

An invasion of the Aleutian Islands Critical shortage of fighting planes Imperative need for 6,000 aviation instructors

Total lack of anti-aircraft defenses Woefully inadequate coastal defenses Tragically under-equipped army training with broomsticks and stovepipes Serious shortage of rubber, tin, manganese and other vital war materials

On May 15, 1940, Hartley sought by Congressional action to remedy the above defects but his warnings went unheeded.
