

Comm. Clark's Death Marks End Of Long Career Of Service

State and municipal officials joined with town executives and hundreds of Belleville residents from all walks of life on Sunday night in paying tribute to Commissioner William D. Clark who died suddenly on Friday night.

The passing of the 67-year-old public safety director removed from the town's civic and political scene one of its best known figures who had played an important role in the modernization and improvement of the community.

Stricken at his New York office with a heart attack on Wednesday afternoon, Director Clark was taken to his home at 121 Floyd street. He died on Friday night shortly before 9 p.m.

Funeral services were held Sunday night at 8 p.m. at the Irving Funeral home in Washington avenue with Rev. Marshall J. Whitehead, pastor of Grace Baptist church, officiating. A service was also conducted by the officers of the local lodge of Masons of which Mr. Clark was a member. Burial took place on Monday morning in Ridgeway cemetery, Delaware.

The commissioner is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nellie Clark; two daughters, Mrs. Eugene J. Berry, wife of the town health officer, and Mrs. Charles Speed, wife of the school attendance officer; a son, W. Douglas Clark Jr., president of Clark & Hamner company of Academy street and local Boy Scout commissioner; two brothers, Thomas of Orange and James of Mt. Taber; a sister, Mrs. C. C. Ross of White Oak Ridge, and four grandchildren.

The public safety director was to have been honored at a testimonial dinner at the Robert Treat hotel, Newark, on Thursday, October 22. More than 500 tickets had been sold for the affair.

CLARK IS SECOND TO DIE IN OFFICE

Mayor Waters Died During Third Term On Board In 1923

Commissioner Clark is the second town commissioner to die while in office. In 1923, Mayor James Waters, brother of the present commissioner, died suddenly during his third term.

Mr. Waters was the town's first mayor, having first been elected in 1914 and again in 1918 and 1922. Philip Dettlrich, superintendent of L. Sonneborn & Sons, was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Mayor Waters' passing. Dettlrich served until 1926 but did not seek reelection to the board.

During the same administration from 1922 to 1926, Dr. George G. Yarrow resigned as a commissioner and moved to Florida. His place on the board was taken by Frank J. Carragher, who was subsequently elected a commissioner in 1926 and 1930.

The third time that an appointment was made to the board to fill a vacancy was in 1926 when Commissioner Waters was named to replace Mayor John DeGraw.

It was a few months after the town election when the voters had named DeGraw to the board and Waters, who was then a member of the board of education, had finished seventh in the race. Mayor DeGraw, following several disagreements with his fellow commissioners, resigned his post. The late Samuel S. Kenworthy was then named mayor.

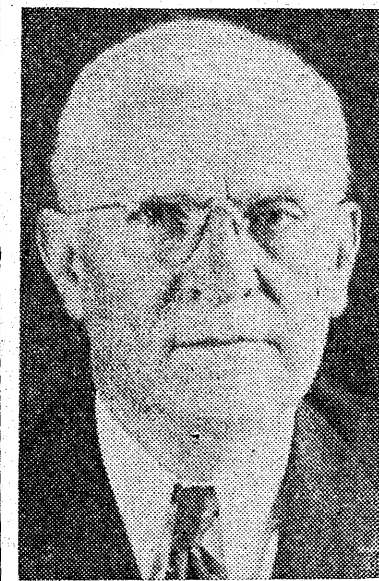

Hartley Makes Campaign Talk Before Local Group

Congressman Fred A. Hartley opened his local campaign for reelection Tuesday night at a meeting of the Hartley association in the Elks' club with a pledge that he would support the entire Republican ticket and that he expected to receive its full support.

Supervisor Ernest A. Reed assured the representative in a later address that the Clean Government candidates, who opposed him in the primary, would be with him in November.

Other speakers included Assemblyman Lester Mahr and Frehold-Elizabeth Harris, both up for

Obstructions On Walk Are Blackout Danger

Residents were urged this week by Defense Council Chairman Everett B. Smith to make sure that all obstructions such as children's bicycles, wagons, scooters and other playthings, large rocks, boards and tools are removed from sidewalks and driveways to prevent possible injury to members of the civilian defense forces during a blackout.

The chairman said that in a recent test a volunteer going to his post after the lights had been extinguished fell over a tricycle lying in the middle of the sidewalk and suffered painful lacerations.

"It is important that residents guard against causing such accidents," Smith said.

NEW AMBULANCE FOR MEMORIAL

Clark Dinner Committee Urges Money Be Used To Buy New Vehicle

A suggestion has been made that the money which had been received to sell tickets for the dinner which was to have been tendered to the late Commissioner Clark at the Robert Treat hotel in Newark on October 22 be turned into a fund to purchase a memorial ambulance in his honor.

Clark was a leader in the campaign for the purchase of the present ambulance which was bought in 1935. Funds were raised through public subscription. In 1938, Clark led another campaign for ambulance funds but the effort fell short of its goal. The $1,300 which was raised is said to be held in account at the First National bank.

Receipts collected from tickets sold for the dinner amounts to approximately $1,400 to date, it was said. The proposal to purchase the ambulance meets with the hearty approval of the commissioner's family, the committee which had charge of the dinner announced.

Any person desiring a refund of their ticket money should communicate with Frederick B. Handlon, court clerk, between now and November 15. If the money is not called for by that time, the committee will assume that the ticket purchaser is willing to turn the money over to the memorial ambulance fund.

STATE TO WATCH LOCAL DEFENSE

N. J. Representatives Here Wednesday For Incident Tests

Representatives of the state defense council will appear here next Wednesday night to inspect and observe the civilian defense organization in operation.

J. J. Spurr and William H. McEnroe will make the visit, according to word received this week by Harry J. Sullivan, defense coordinator. They will observe five incidents to be held between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m.

AAI volunteers are expected to be at their posts at 8:15 and remain there for one hour unless they are involved in an incident. The first aid stations will not be in operation, but those assigned to casualty stations should report there.

Five incident tests will be held, Sullivan explained. The functioning of the organization on three of them will be observed by the state men at the control center in the police department, while they will go out in the field for the remaining two.

All equipment in every unit must be on the line ready to move, Sullivan said.

SCRAP PILES WILL HEAD FOR MILLS BY MONTH'S END

Town Will Get $7.84 Per Ton From Resciniti Firm; Start Removal

The prediction was made last night that the town's scrap pile would be cleared away and on its way to the mills to be used for war material production purposes by the end of the month.

Salvage Chairman Robert G. Sutherland said that an agreement had been reached with J. Resciniti & Son, local dealer to remove the scrap at a price of $7.84 per gross ton of 2,240 pounds. This is a rate of 35 cents per 100 pounds on mixed materials as they run.

The contract was awarded to the Clinton street resident on the basis of its ability to begin immediate removal and to complete the job within a reasonable length of time. Sutherland said that the committee believed the Resciniti firm to be reliable in submitting carefully checked weights and its fair promise that all lots would be sold at the highest price.

The price of $7.84 per gross ton compares favorably with prices in surrounding communities, and is much higher than Newark's figure of $5 per ton.

A number of offers were received by the salvagers from dealers offering as high as $9 per ton, but were not accepted because of the frank admission by the concerns that they could not begin to pick up the scrap for another month or more. Not only are the demands being made on their facilities by municipalities hampering the work, but many dealers hold contracts with industrial plants.

According to Sutherland, dealers claim that while most of the junk on lots is valuable, some of its represents a loss to handle. He explained that this is because every pound of material must be picked up, trucked to a yard, then hand sorted, pressed or cut to size and loading on freight cars.

The hand sorting, because of the labor shortage, is expensive for tin must not be mixed with heavy melting steel, and cast iron and copper, brass, lead and other metals must all be carefully segregated or the batch at the mill's furnaces would be contaminated with a very inferior quality of metal.

Dealers estimates vary, Sutherland said, but the average opinion is that it costs from $3 to $4 per ton to cart the scrap away to a yard. At the yard, the cost runs from $2 to $3 per ton to segregate the material plus approximately the same amount per ton to press, bail, cut break and load the finished scrap, making an overall cost of from $7 to $9 per ton handling charge. Adding to this the price paid for the scrap, it leaves only a small margin of profit under the price ceiling regulation.

STATE WILL USE LOCALITE'S PLAY

War Council To Present "Living Democracy" By Mrs. Leonora Willette

Scheduled to make its appearance throughout the state shortly as part of the defense program produced under the auspices of the state war council is a patriotic play which was written by Mrs. Leonora B. Willette of 137 Stephens street.

Mrs. Willette is well-known throughout the state as a member of the New Jersey Federation of Colored Women's clubs and is a member of the Committee on Applied Religion. She has played an active part in important state social, educational and racial conferences. The Stephens street woman is a graduate of Wilberforce college in Ohio.

The play, titled "Living Democracy" consists of three units which may be presented separately or as a unit.

The play consists of three units which may be presented separately or as a three-act production, each unit having its own lesson in real democracy. Mrs. Willette points out that the play gives all the civic and fraternal organizations in a town, as well as defense units, an opportunity to take part. Each rehearses its own sequence and provides its own scenery and costumes preparatory to rehearsal by all groups together.

Unlike many pageants and plays designed to inspire the community to greater patriotic effort, says Mrs. Willette in her foreword, "this play stresses the inclusion of all racial groups within the community. Only by presenting a democratic cross-section of America can America be recognized as a real Democracy, since all other nations throughout the world know of its varied racial population."

"In this three-unit play parents and teachers are shown a new responsibility toward cementing racial training of their children, both in spirit and in practice."

"Youth also realizes that it has shirked its reasonable share of responsibility toward cementing national unity."

"Subversive elements cannot be eliminated by attempts to outshout them. Many Germans here in America are members of Runds because they are sincere patriots."

Urgent Need For Workers On Surgical Dressings

A need for workers on surgical dressings, especially in the recently established work room in St. Peter's Hall was voiced today in a report from the local chapter's executive secretary, Miss Esther P. Adams. Work on the dressings began September 1 and attendance at the recreation house workroom has been successful. Thirty-eight workers can be accommodated at St. Peter's which is open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week. There is a morning session, supervised by trained members of the production committee, from 9 to 12 and an afternoon session from 1 to 4.

29,857 dressings have been made by 100 workers since September 1. This practically completes the August quota; but a quota of 30,000 each for September and October remains to be done.

Women who can possibly make it convenient to work at St. Peter's Hall are asked to register with Miss Adams by calling Be. 2-2111. Uniforms are not required, but women are requested to wear clean wash dresses for this work. A veil may be purchased for a small fee and there are no other financial obligations.

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR NURSE AIDES

Red Cross Hopes To Enroll Them; Help Relieve Nurse Shortage

A campaign to enroll a number of women as nurses' aides to help eliminate the shortage of trained nurses has been started by the Red Cross chapter. It is part of a nationwide appeal by the organization for 100,000 women to enroll in the movement.

Chairman of the local committee is Mrs. Mel Bamford. She is anxious to enroll women who are at home during the day and able to take daytime courses. However, classes will be open to those who attend business, but preference will be given to those who will be able to serve during the daytime.

Those interested are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Bamford as soon as possible at Be. 2-2601 or Be. 2-3198-J. Women will be accepted who are between 18 and 50. They must have a high school education or its equivalent, must be citizens, must meet certain physical requirements and must be willing to serve 150 hours each year without pay.

Arrangements have been made by Mrs. Bamford for the enrollees to be sent to Newark hospitals for training which will start at the end of this month.

Course In Two Parts

The first half of the course, 35 hours of classroom work under a graduate nurse, will be given in Newark at a point to be announced later. The second half, or 45 hours of practical work under supervision, will be at St. Barnabas, St. James, St. Michaels, Beth Israel, Presbyterian or city hospital.

Upon graduation, the nurse's aide is expected to serve the first 150 hours on hospital wards. Later she may be assigned to clinics, children's hospitals, etc., always working under supervision.

Nurses' aides cannot replace the graduate nurse with her three years of training, but they can do a great deal to help. With important technical work done by the few graduate nurses, the rest of the patients must be bathed, fed, given alcohol rubs, beds must be made, pulse, respiration and temperature taken and non-sterile dressings prepared. This is all a part of hospital routine, important work which the volunteer nurse's aide is qualified to do.

Town Keeps Giant Bomber Grounded—Helping Axis

Hundreds Of Householders Won't Save Tin Cans Plane Needs; Next Drive Oct. 29; Local Quota Over 26 Tons; Far More Than Last Time

Because hundreds of Belleville housewives are not saving their tin cans for salvage, a giant B-19 bomber won't move — it will never get off the ground. The householders are holding up a bomber that may be the turning point in the battle against the Axis — or may save the life of some Belleville man on the war front.

A B-19 bomber, according to the salvage committee, weighs 164,000 pounds but of this tremendous weight only five pounds is tin, but it is vitally important. Most of it is used in the motors that help the sky giant rise and go into battle.

It requires 500 pounds of tin cans to produce this needed five pounds of tin. Belleville's quota of tin for this month is 26½ tons. Up until the present, householders have averaged about 3 tons per month. This means that five times as many tin cans must be put out to be collected on Thursday, October 29, as have been contributed at any time in the past.

Because of the confusion which existed in the last collection at the end of August when five barrels of cans were mistakenly thrown in with the regular refuse collection, Chairman Robert G. Sutherland of the salvage division said yesterday that definite steps had been taken to see that this does not happen again.

Charles Cuzzo, head of the trucking firm which collects the refuse and also the tin cans, has fully instructed his men. As a warning to the public, Cuzzo commented yesterday, "We never know when we start to collect tin cans how big a load we will get and if we can pick up all of the cans in one day. Therefore, the public is asked to be patient if it takes a day or so before the job is completed."

Housewives have a bit of work to do in preparing the tin cans for salvage, but the committee believes that it is worth the effort considering what the tin means to war production. All cans should be thoroughly washed, the labels removed, the tops and

$35,000 CAMPAIGN FOR WAR CHEST OPENS TOMORROW

High School Victory Corps Will Work With Campaigners In Raising Funds

More than 300 workers will open the Community-War Chest two-week campaign for $35,000 tomorrow. Working with this group will be more than 250 high school students, volunteer members of the new victory corps, working on their first project. The young people will help in canvassing the districts in which they reside, working with the parents, teachers and other volunteers. The students will wear special arm bands which will be issued to them as a part of the victory corps program, which is sponsored by the federal government as a part of the plan to train young people for war work.

The campaign workers received their final instructions at meetings held in the elementary schools last night. The school principals will act as the division heads in the house-to-house canvass which will be conducted under the direction of Harold Dufford.

Hugh D. Kittle, campaign chairman, also announced that the schools would be open each Wednesday night to receive reports from workers of the progress of the drive for funds.

Those contributing to the campaign will receive a USO button and either a war chest or USO sticker to paste in the window. If cash is paid for the contribution, a receipt will be given by the worker. If it is a pledge contribution, the donor needs only to sign the pledge card.

Street banners were put up on Washington avenue and other main thoroughfares this week while drive posters are being placed in a number of store windows.

The amount sought in the drive this year is more than twice that

No Red Cross Campaign This Year—Chambers

Frank Chambers, Red Cross chapter chairman, announced yesterday that the organization would not stage any campaign for the annual roll call or a drive for war funds this year.

The chairman said that plans are now being completed for a combined roll call and war fund campaign in 1943.

which was set as a quota and raised last year when Kittle was also campaign chairman. Addition of service aid organizations to the drive participants this time is responsible for the increase.

Getting the biggest slice will be the USO which is listed in the budget to receive $12,500 if the $35,000 is raised. Other quotas are Community Service Bureau, $10,000; Boy Scouts, $2,725; Girl Scouts, $1,350; Navy Relief Society, $1,000; Visiting Nurses' Association, $1,000; Silver Lake Community house, $700; and administrative and publicity expense, $1,350.

Among additional organizations which may receive funds if the entire amount is raised are the YMCA Prisoners of War, Queen Wilhelmina fund, Chinese, Greek and Russian relief funds and the YWCA war relief.

BWRS Gets Another $100 Through Woman's Knitting

Mrs. Blanche Holmes of the Guild Hall Gift shop, last week sent her second contribution of $100 to the British War Relief Society. This sum was realized, as previously, by the sale of miniature red, white and blue socks which are used for lapel ornaments.

Mrs. Holmes knitted the socks. Individual purchases by townspeople made up the bulk of the sales.

King And Noll Take Walk Lack 'Guts' Says Waters Noll Declares For Mertz

More Volunteer Workers Needed By Draft Board

The draft board issued another call for women volunteers to assist them in sorting and filing the avalanche of occupational questionnaires which have been returned to the office. More than 3,000 have been sent back by local registrants, Miss Sadie Slusser, board clerk, estimates.

No special experience is required. Women are wanted who will work full-time or a few hours each day. Speedy classification of draft registrants is one of the most important parts of the war effort and it is impossible for the board's small staff to handle all of the work with which it is burdened.

Those willing to serve are asked to report to Miss Slusser at the draft office on the second floor of the town hall.

Maybe?

Raymond E. Mertz

Parks Head Says People Expect Mertz To Get It

Commissioner Is First To State Position On Clark Successor; Mertz Was Sixth In May Election! Sullivan Strong Favorite

Commissioner Noll, who has blocked the holding of a commission meeting two night in a row by his failure to attend, early this morning became the first of the board members to break the ice with a statement on a successor to Public Safety Director Clark.

In a statement which he gave to The Times, Noll stated that he would propose the name of Raymond E. Mertz to fill the vacancy. A real estate broker and a member of the war price and rationing board, Mertz finished sixth in the May commission election, trailing Noll, who was in fifth place, by 307 votes.

"In proposing Mr. Mertz," Noll commented, "I feel that I am expressing the desire of the majority of the people of Belleville as indicated in the expression of confidence recently extended to him."

Fill Without Delay

Conflicting with the statement of Commissioner Waters that he did not intend to act on a successor to Clark for 30 days, and a concurring statement by Mayor Williams, Noll declared that he believes that in present times the office of director of public safety should be filled without delay.

The addition of Noll to those who would like to see Mertz fill the vacancy boosted the stock of the Van Ruyper place resident. His friends, who were active in his campaign, have been in circulation the past few days attempting to stir up support to urge the majority of the commissioners to select him as Clark's successor.

However, there are several other names being prominently mentioned, notably Harry J. Sullivan, deershoe coordinator and close ally of Commissioner Waters. Sullivan was Waters' campaign manager and was named to the $3,000 per year coordinator's post shortly after the May election. He is a resident of DeWitt avenue where he resides with his wife and family. Long prominent in St. Peter's church activities, Sullivan has been active in local affairs for a number of years.

Another name which is heard frequently as a possible candidate in places is that of W. Douglas Clark Jr., son of the late commissioner. The president of Clark & Hamner, venetian blind manufacturer with a plant in Academy street, Clark has been prominent in a number of local movements, notably the Welfare federation and the Boy Scouts of which he is district commissioner. Clark is also a member of the Manufacturers' association and has had charge of the industrial division of the local war bond and stamp savings committee. He was one of the leaders in his father's campaign for reelection last May.

His run in the campaign last May was Mertz's first venture into politics. He is 44 years old, a veteran of the first world war, member of the American Legion and a Mason. A resident of Belleville for the past 42 years, he resides in Van Ruyper place, with his wife and two sons. His father, the late Emil Mertz, was a member of the old town council.

Finishing in the May election with 4,310 votes, he was far ahead of the seventh place man James J. Tully with 3,656 votes. Tully is now in the marines, being stationed at Parris Island, S. C. as an instructor.

Smith Doesn't Want It

Police Judge Everett B. Smith denied emphatically last night that he was a candidate for the position.

Smith, who is a partner in the Newark law firm of Reed, Reynolds & Smith and also chairman of the defense council, has been prominently mentioned as a choice for the vacancy. He stated last night that he had not been approached for the job and that he

The sudden departure of Commissioner King from town and the decision of Commissioner Noll not to attend a meeting during his absence paved the way this week for an unexpected splash on the board of commissioners.

Following closely after the sudden death of Commissioner Clark, it lent itself to the strong possibility that Mayor Williams and Commissioner Waters would be aligned on one side with King on the other with the long-wolf of the board, Noll.

The action of Noll to attend either the scheduled meeting on night or the adjourned quorum for last night or quorum, meaning the action of three commissioners, to authorize the passage of bills or to consider the of ordinances.

Now entering their week without pay check of the municipal employees except those in the school Checks totaling $14,730 are tied up because of refusal to hold a meeting only Williams and Waters ent.

In a statement which Noll said that he was attending a meeting of the board was insistent that King be ent.

Might Fill Vacancy

Parliamentary procedure apparently prompted Noll. The attendance of members constitutes a quorum and permits them to conduct business. From his statement indicated that he feared Mayor and Waters might attempt to name a new commissioner to fill Commissioner Clark's vacancy and possibly re-appointments. With their two votes could override his one vote choice of a man was not to his liking.

Decidedly perturbed by Noll's action Tuesday night, Waters and Williams both stated at the conference table that there was no intent on their part to discuss anything but routine town business.

The news that neither King nor Noll would attend was broken to them by Town Clerk Florence J. Morey. She told them that Tuesday morning Commissioner King told her that he would not attend the meeting because he had to go to Washington. Later in the day she continued, when Commissioner Noll learned that King would not be present, he told her that he would not attend.

Wouldn't Trust Them?

"You mean," Waters commented, "he wouldn't trust the other two members."

"They (referring to Noll and King)" remarked the mayor, "knew we were going to discuss nothing but routine business."

"In respect to Commissioner Clark," Waters stated, "I don't intend to take any action on a successor for 30 days."

Williams concurred in that thought, said, "They were elected to transact the town's business first."

Waters, "I don't think they've got guts enough to handle their own affairs, and the press can quote me."

Referring to Noll, the mayor remarked, "I wonder if he ever read the saying 'A single man standing alone is still in the right'."

"I was told Sunday," Waters said, "that there wouldn't be a meeting tonight, but I thought it was off of the grapevine."

an afterthought he added, "I know what we are, Bill."

"Well," remarked Williams, "least we're attending to duties."

In addition to the payroll delayed by the refusal of Noll to attend, was action on the of bids for the $110,000 improvement of Main street and $58,000 wall in the Second ward. The National Grain company plant.

Change Police, Fire Bill

It was indicated that there would be changes made in amended ordinance to the police and fire department proposed by Commissioner Clark and scheduled for a hearing Tuesday. would have permitted the addition of new men and allowed provisions in both departments.

Williams suggested that the tabled or abolished and Waters said it should be abolished. Williams said the board would act at a later date on the re-draft of the measure.

Following last night's so unsuccessful attempt to get to attend, the mayor announced that the adjourned meeting be called for 8 p.m. Monday.

Two Girls Are Members of Wilson Music Groups

Lois Goldschmitt Joins Freshman Chorus; Ann Kelsall In Chorus And Orchestra At Pennsylvania School; Many Went Visiting Over Holiday Weekend

Two Belleville girls have been chosen from among Wilson college freshmen for membership in two of Wilson's music groups for the coming year. Miss Lois Goldschmitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Goldschmitt, of Overlook avenue, has been accepted as a member of the freshmen chorus, and Miss Ann Kelsall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kelsall of Preston street has joined the freshmen chorus and orchestra.

The chorus at Wilson this year has a membership of 65, and includes not only music majors but those interested in singing as a hobby. The orchestra gives training to girls in group playing and each organization presents two full length programs a year.

Many people managed a holiday on Columbus day, while others made the entire weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond P. Weyer of 294 Cortlandt street went to Great Neck, L. I. for the weekend. Miss Doris Elder of 185 Greylock parkway who is a nurse, was at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Phillip Dettelbach of Hancock avenue, has returned from two weeks with Mrs. Adeline Haslett in Atlantic City.

Miss Marion Drake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Drake of 43 Adelaide street, spent the weekend in Massachusetts.

Miss Margaret Wertz, who has been ill a year and a half with a throat infection and rheumatic fever, has recovered enough to go back to work at the Prudential Insurance Company. In order to rest up before she began work Tuesday, she spent the weekend with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thompson, at Belmar. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus E. Wertz of 229 Overlook avenue.

Have A Son

A son, Allen, was born on Sunday, October 4, at the St. Barnabas hospital in Newark, to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Baureis, of 137 Linden avenue. Mrs. Baureis was the former Bernice Fox of East Orange.

A girl, Nancy, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ansley L. Kime of 19 Lloyd place, on October 8 at St. Barnabas. She is the former Ruth Caldwell of town.

Mrs. George A. Barnett of Baldwin place gave a birthday party last Tuesday for Mrs. Francis Scott of Greylock parkway. Mrs. Scott's sister, Miss Elizabeth Macan, of Cottonville, N. Y., and Miss Katherine Necker of Garden avenue, also attended.

Odd hobbies hold no surprises for the members of the Belleville Hobby club, who will see this week an exhibit of old umbrella handles at the Free Public Library, by one of their members, Mrs. John Pole. The club will meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Harold Ness in Nutley. Mrs. Brunich, Mrs. George Cameron, Mrs. John Pole, Mrs. Lester H. Hamilton and Mrs. A. K. Mitchell of New York will attend the meeting.

Based on the estimated figure that the town has over 100 tons of scrap, the proceeds from the drive will amount to about $800. The salvage committee plans to turn the funds over to the defense council for use in their work.

Parallels Family

In many respects the theme of the play parallels the author's own family typically faced with the every day problems of war. Mrs. Willette's husband, Lawrence, served in the last war and was commissioned as a first lieutenant. He was a member of the New Jersey state guard, but at the present time is on the inactive list.

The couple's 21-year old son, Leonard, has passed his examination for the army air corps. Negro youths are sent for their aviation training to Tuskegee institute in Alabama. Young Willette is awaiting his call now, but although he has passed the army air forces physical examination, Mrs. Willette is fearful that he will be called in the draft before he is summoned to Tuskegee.

"It is not that we don't want him to be drafted but since he has studied and tried so hard to get in the air corps, we would like to see him go there," she explained. Leonard has been notified by the local draft board that if he is not called to Tuskegee by November 6, he will be drafted. Entrance of students at Tuskegee is slowed down because of the limited living quarters.

Leonard was an honor student at the local high school, being an outstanding art student. After winning second prizes in state and national competition, he studied at the Art Students' league in New York. Later he attended New York University evening school.

Another son, Lawrence, 23, has studied at Stevens Institute and the Newark Institute of Technology. He hopes to get into the signal corps, but his mother does not believe he will make the grade.

"That's why he has been studying at Newark and at Stevens," Mrs. Willette explained. "If he doesn't make the grade in the army, he will have a part in the civilian war effort."

Two daughters, Carmen and Naida, are students at Bennett college in Greensboro, S. C. Eric is a freshman in high school, while Glenn is an eighth grade student at School No. 1.

No newcomer to the ranks of playwrights, Mrs. Willette has written plays for the women's division of the U. S. department of labor including "Who'll Be the Teacher." She dramatized the book "This Troubled World" by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and presented a bound copy of it to the president's wife at a Town Hall meeting in Newark in December, 1939. The book was illustrated by her son, Leonard. Recently, Mrs. Willette completed a play, "God Went South," which was inspired by the book "South of God" written by Cedric Belfrage. It tells the story of the life of Claude Williams, a noted liberal.

Representatives of the national defense council are reviewing a number of other skits which have been penned by the local woman. Her ambition to write plays goes back to her earliest childhood. Mrs. Willette explained yesterday. During her college days she wrote a number which were produced at Wilberforce. In her work since then, she has striven to explain social situations and conditions through the medium of the stage, believing that it can be done better and more understandably than in a book.

bottoms cut off or tucked under the sides and pressed flat, but leave a small clearance for the swishing of detinning chemicals.

In answer to a number of queries, the committee explains that the townspeople are required to prepare cans as given in the instructions above. Belleville does not come within the option New York City extends of either preparing the cans for detinning or leaving them unprepared for use at what is known as a shredding plant.

When the cans are shredded, the metal is used at certain low-grade copper ore mines for a special chemical recovery process of copper too poor in value to be mixed in any other way. Local tin cans which are salvaged are used for pure tin and steel scrap, going directly into war materials.

"If householders only realized that any usable tin can thrown away to rust and be destroyed is depriving the war effort of just that much tin that cannot be replaced, they would not regard the salvaging of tin cans so lightly. It is estimated that 10,000 tons of tin with its corresponding 1,000,000 tons of scrap steel is going to waste annually.

"When you know that 1943 tin requirements are placed at 40,000 tons, it is tragic indeed that one-fourth that amount is being lost by failure to reclaim all tin cans. In New Jersey only one ton of tin cans is reclaimed for every six tons sold."

SUGAR 'CHISELERS' FACE PROSECUTION

Got It For Canning, But
Use It For Other Purposes

The OPA regional office on the request of the local war price and rationing board is cracking down on sugar "chiselers." An investigation has been started by the Newark office into two reports of people having obtained additional sugar under the pretense that it would be used for canning purposes, but have put it to other uses.

Two cases have come to the board's attention. Ruel E. Daniels, chairman, said yesterday in which it was reported that women had openly boasted that they had obtained additional sugar with canning as the excuse but had no intention of consuming it for that.

A detailed report on both of the complaints which were registered with the board has been sent to Newark, Daniels said. In every instance in which a violation is found, the guilty ones will be prosecuted under federal law, the chairman said.

The sugar panel of the board has been swamped this week with requests from housewives for additional sugar, claiming that it would be used for canning. All of the applications are being carefully checked. One pound of sugar is allowed for each four quarts of fruit to be canned, while those asking for sugar to be used in making jelly are allowed one pound of sugar for each member in the family.

"The violations of the sugar rationing regulations which have been reported to us," Daniels said, "should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law if it is found that those who have been accused are guilty. It is unfair to the patriotic citizens who are making sacrifices in their home."

Eleven 25c Stamps will pay for one STEEL HELMET. For protection against shrapnel fragments, every soldier needs a steel helmet with its padded inner-liner.

Having Pretty Swell Time, Marines In Solomons Say

Cpl. Paul Bohrer, Pfc. William Liebau In Guadalcanal Invasion, Write: Beautiful Place, Says Two-Striper; Swimming, Sun Bathing Great, Says Liebau

Life for the U. S. Marines who swept the Japs out of the Solomon Islands is not so bad if you can believe the letters written home this week by two local youths among the Devil Dogs who did the mopping up in Guadalcanal.

"We've had a pretty swell time of it so far" is the way Cpl. Paul C. Bohrer expressed it in a V-Letter written to his widowed mother, Mrs. Fannie Bohrer of 160 Stephens street.

Pfc. William Liebau, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Liebau of DeWitt avenue, wrote the folks this week that he's enjoying life immensely. Cautioning his mother not to worry about him, the marine said he believed the war would be over very shortly.

Both apparently like Guadalcanal. Cpl. Bohrer writes that it is a beautiful place, while Liebau penned the information that life is just like a vacation there and he's been enjoying himself basking in the sun and swimming in the river.

Bohrer enlisted in the marine reserve corps five years ago and kept up his attendance at weekly drills while working for the J. C. Margott company of Newark. When the war broke out, he was called to active service and was sent to New River, N. C. for training. From there, he was shipped to the Pacific. The marine attended Belleville high school. In his letter he wrote:

"We have a chance to write again and I knew you'd want to hear from me so I'm not wasting time. I wrote you last week but I didn't think I'd get a chance again so soon. I hope you got the first one."

No Real Danger

"I'm on Guadalcanal now, that's all I can say. It's a beautiful place and we had a pretty swell time of it so far. We reached there about a week ago. We don't know how long we'll be here or where we're going next."

"How are the girls lately? Are the boys still coming around? If you get the chance write and tell me all the news you can dig up. I sure do miss your letters. The last one I got was from June 15."

"I'm getting near the end so I'd better make it short. Give my love to everyone. Lots of love and God bless you," he concluded.

Liebau is a graduate of St. Benedict's prep, Newark, and worked with the Royal Globe and Eagle Indemnity company of New York after he was graduated in 1938. He enlisted in the marines a year ago September. He was also a member of the Petrean club here.

Also inducted in May, was Andrew McFadzean, a brother, who is serving with infantry forces overseas. His parents received word of his safe arrival at a foreign base last week. He also attended Belleville high school and worked in the Federal shipyards at Kearny.

Thomas, the McFadzean's youngest son was inducted into the army a week ago. He was employed by the Isolantite corporation.

Home For Weekend

John M. Bohlender, husband of the former Mildred J. Rollin of 33 Ralph street, was at home for the weekend from Staten Island. He is a first class machinist's mate with the coast guard and has been in service a month.

He will be stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Lieut. Copeland was studying at the Julliard School of Music, New York where he was awarded a post-graduate scholarship last year when he enlisted in the army in January. He previously attended Belleville high school.

John Moyer, brother of Janet Moyer of Mertz avenue, has enlisted in the air corps. He is a mechanic in the ground school and is stationed at Atlantic City.

Pvt. George Suydam, who is stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga., is spending the week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Suydam of 84 Wilber street. The Suydams entertained Sunday in his honor. Guests included, Miss Ethel Dowling of Bloomfield, Mrs. George M. Valentine of St. Albans and Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Riepe Jr., and their daughters Edna Ann and Betty Florence.

Lyndhurst Should be Pushover For Bellboys On Saturday, But The Unexpected Can Happen
Essex School Bigshots Meet The Test This Week: Passaic Looks Like Cream Of Crop At Moment
Dukes' Clash With Camptowners Sunday Will Be Repeat Performance Of Last Year's Thrillers

By the run of the mill grid formula the Bellboys should win in a walk Saturday afternoon when they go on an excursion to Lyndhurst. The Bergen county air seems to be just the thing to put pep into the local lads for last week they went up to Teaneck, sniffed at the breeze blowing from the northwest, pounced on the Teaneck boys and pummeled them 20-0.

This was just getting in the whacks for the drubbing that Teaneck gave them last year when they visited here. The best part of the Saturday yarn is that the Zebras showed more goalward push than they displayed in their clashes with Bloomfield or Barringer.

The Unexpected Can Happen

Saying that the boys will win in a breeze Saturday is bad medicine. That's just the time that the unexpected happens. Look what happened to the Yankees? Illinois upset the applecart against Minnesota and Whirlaway would have been better off even if he had stayed in his stable, finishing behind some unknown oat-burner with the moniker of Obash.

On past performance Lyndhurst should finish about three touchdowns behind the Blue and Gold. They were bounced by Rutherford 14-0, recuperated the following week to down a weak St. Mary's Parochial eleven from Rutherford and were then clipped by Clifton, which has shown little, 25-12.

It's Belleville without working up a sweat, but don't be too cocky about it.

The scholastic crystal ballers really have a job for themselves this week in Essex county. With most of the clubs having played two or three games, things are starting to shape up. Somebody is bound to fall off of the undefeated pile. Montclair, last year's No. 1 club, takes on an unbeaten Nutley eleven and Columbia of South Orange tackles Orange.

In the opening game, Orange and Montclair battled to a scoreless deadlock, but since then the Mounties have really showed scoring power, snowing under Paterson East Side and humbling Kearny 31-0. It's a personal opinion that Montclair is not 31 points better than Kearny, but the records show different.

It looks like curtains for Nutley on Saturday. The Maroon, with an exceptionally small and light backfield, had to come from behind to beat Newark Central and West Side.

Columbia walloped Kearny 19-0 and has since taken over Morristown and Plainfield with ease. That's a customary opener for the Gems but they usually fold when the going gets tough. Don't be surprised if the Orangemen are their Waterloo.

Bengals Bounce Back

The Bloomfield Bengals, after their tie with Belleville, bounced back against Newark South Side to the tune of 33-7. The other unbeaten Essex eleven to watch is East Orange. Plainfield should be a Saturday pushover for them.

After watching them in practice, the best team in the state at the moment for our money is Passaic. For several years, gifted with big boys and a lot of them, Coach Ray Pickett has been hammering at the championship door, and this may be his year.

For the first time since they've been playing here, the Iron Dukes will be on the road Sunday. It won't be a long jaunt for they will go over to the Newark Schools stadium for the first clash of the season with their old rivals the Camptowners, who shared the North Jersey Pro League championship with them last season.

It promises to be equally as good as the two slam-bang affairs the clubs staged last season. The Dukes lost their first game to the Campers 7-0, but later in a league game, the two teams battled to a 6-6 deadlock.

Cardinale Makes Difference

While the opposition could have been better, the Dukes showed more offensive punch and teamwork Sunday than they did in their first game. Frank Cardinale makes all of the difference in the world in the locals' backfield and his line bucking is always a good ground gainer. Uncle Sam has decided he doesn't want Frank as yet so he'll finish the season with the Dukes.

With the Choborda brothers, led by Rudy, back again the Campers will be at full strength for the Sunday tussle. It should be a pip.

Zebras Eyeing Irvington

Lyndhurst Foe Saturday; But Next One's?

Unbeaten, Club Points For Camptown Battle Here On Oct. 24

Bitten by the scoring bug last week at Teaneck, the Blue and Gold gridders are pointing for another afternoon of touchdowns when they travel to Lyndhurst on Saturday. The high school pigskin toilers have a bill to settle with the Golden Bears for last year it was Lyndhurst that started the locals down the road to a bad season.

In the season's opener, the Bears nipped the Bellboys 6-0. This is unlikely to happen Saturday for the Lyndhurst club has not had an auspicious start.

They opened their schedule by being trampled 14-0 by Rutherford, managed to win 13-0 from a weak St. Mary's parochial eleven, and were routed 26-12 last Saturday by a fair Clifton team.

Aim of Coach Larry Gates' eleven is to return to their home field Saturday, October 24, for the annual tussle with Irvington still in possession of their unbeaten record. They've been tied twice, by Barringer 6-6 and Bloomfield 0-0, but they are still in the fold of the unbeaten.

The scoring punch which the Zebras uncorked Saturday at Teaneck was the most that they have showed since the 1939 season when they trampled Clifton 20-0. Their best victory margins since then were in 1940 when they shut out Kearny 13-0 and last season's victory, highlight when they upset the Kards 20-13. The breather against Teaneck gave the Bellboys a chance to recuperate from the tough tangles they had with Barringer and Bloomfield. Outweighed on the line and in the backfield in both games, they took plenty of punishment but good defensive work enabled them to hold both elevens in check.

The Blue and Gold's line play has been outstanding to date. Following the first two games in which Findlay, Hunkele and Wille were the individual backfield standouts, Melody, LaFalce, Wheeler and Pasquerello moved into the limelight against the Berengetes last week to show that the high schoolers have more than three good running and passing backs.

It is for Irvington and not Lyndhurst that the Gats' gridders are now pointing. Fans are not likely to see the Bellboys uncork any of the specialties in their bag of tricks for with Irvington scouts undoubtedly lurking on the sidelines, the Blue and Gold will be under wraps. A victory over the Camptown eleven would buoy up Belleville hopes of an unbeaten season.

Campers No Setup

While not the classiest club which Irvington has fielded, it is a strong one, last week posting a 19-6 victory over highly-touted Thomas Jefferson. Previously, the Campers had been nipped 15-7 by Garfield in a thriller which the rollerskaters won by taking to the air in the last few minutes. The road ahead would look much easier if Irvington were taken into game. Games follow with Hillside, Kearny, and Newark South Side. None of them are pushovers, but Hillside after a strong start against Perth Amboy folded against Kearny and last Saturday at Orange. A loss to Columbia of South Orange, the win over Hillside and a kalsomining at Montclair are in the record books for the Kardinals. Comparative scores of ten mean little, but Bloomfield had a field day Saturday when the Bengals romped over South Side 33-7.

Help The Home Front Battle Give To The War Chest Drive

George Will Meet Old Friends

ON THE OTHER SIDE of the fence when the Iron Dukes clash with the Camptowners at Newark City Stadium Sunday afternoon will be George Zoppa (above), 190-pound pivot man for the locals. For the last three years, the former local high school star, was the ace center for the Campers. This year, Zoppa, who was voted all-league center three years in a row, tossed his lot with the Ironmen.

Tony Zuzzio Will Play With Dukes On Sunday

Two new players will appear in the Iron Duke lineup, it was announced by the management last night. Signed from Bloomfield was Red Ayres, triple threat back of last year's Bloomfield White Horses. Local fans will be cheered by the announcement that Tony Zuzzio, former Belleville high star, will make his last grid appearance before entering the army with the Dukes on Sunday.

BELLBOYS ROMP OVER TEANECK

Third Period 78-Yard Drive Highlights 20-0 Win Over Berengetes

Playing before a crowd of 3,000, Belleville High ran roughshod over a weak Teaneck team by the score of 20-0, at Teaneck on Saturday.

After a dull first quarter, the Zebras carved their first slice of victory in the second period when Bill Hunkele whipped a pass to Neil Finn, from the Teaneck 30 for a touchdown. Jack LaFalce converted the extra point.

A thrilling 78-yard drive in the third period netted the Bellboys another score. Bill Melody, sprinting around the ends, and with the perfect combination of Vick Pasquerello and George Wheeler, Jack LaFalce finally crashed through center for the six points. The kick for the extra point was not good.

In the fourth quarter Teaneck tried to open up several different attacks, on land and in the air, led by De Mott but all failed. Belleville again regained control of the ball when Stanfield recovered a Teaneck fumble and the Zebras marched down the field again. The final score came when Pasquerello passed to Vince O'Connell, from the Teaneck 30 into the end zone.

Although the band could not be there because of the lack of transportation, the Belleville cheering section made quite a showing.

NEED CHURCH, SENIOR FIVES

'Rec' Dept. Must Have More Entries To Open Court Season

More basketball teams are needed for the senior and church leagues if the circuits are to operate this fall and winter. Only four quintets have entered the church loop while the senior division has three entries to date. Recreation Director Edward Lister and his assistant, Ted Close, have called another meeting for those interested in the two leagues to be held at the Recreation house in Joralemon street and Garden avenue Monday night at 8 p.m.

The youngsters wishing to enter court fives in the intermediate circuit should attend a meeting to be held tonight at 8 p.m. at the Recreation center.

Churches which have already entered teams in the league are St. Peter's, Wesley Methodist, Grace Baptist and Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian. The senior clubs lined up to date include the Eagles, Noll Five, and a team to be led by "Red" Vandermark.

The only division which is ready to start the schedule is the industrial circuit. Arrangements were completed at a meeting held Monday night attended by representatives of six local plants. The season will open at the high school gymnasium on Monday night, November 16, preceded by a practice session on November 9.

Returning clubs from last year include the Eastwood-Nealley championship quintet, Wallace & Tiernan and Rowe Manufacturing. New additions are clubs representing the Walter Kidde company and Isolantite.

Coast Guard Issues Orders For Duck Hunting Season

Duck hunters will be required to carry a coast guard identification card in all tidal waters under the jurisdiction of the coast guard to participate in New Jersey's waterfowl season fixed by the federal government this year from today to December 23, the state fish and game commission has announced.

The coast guard has also announced that hunters shall not leave docks before sunrise and shall be tied up at docks before sundown. Hunting is allowed by the 1942 federal migratory waterfowl regulations from sunrise to sunset. In keeping with army regulations, the use of, or carrying of, any camera, binoculars, field glass, or signalling device will not be permitted.

The commission announced all boats used for actual gunning purposes must be propelled by oars or paddles only. However, duck hunters may use outboard motor boats to reach gunning points.

The state fish and game commission emphasizes the fact there is no open season this year on snow geese, Ross' geese, swan, Wilson snipe or jacksnipe. The season is open for the taking of other geese, Brant, ducks, coot (crow duck). Regulations provide that it will be unlawful to use food of any kind for bait, or shoot over baited water or land; to use live decoys; to use any gun except shotgun not larger than ten gauge and holding not more than two shells.

The daily bag limit for ducks is ten in the aggregate of all kinds, but not more than one wood duck or more than three singly or in the aggregate of red-heads and buffle-heads.

Cardinale and Zuzzio Pacers In Duke Win

Bayonne Pirates Easy 28-0 Victims; Reilly Boots Field Goal

Moving on the ground and through the air, the Iron Dukes rolled to a 28-0 victory over the Bayonne Pirates at the municipal stadium Sunday afternoon. It was the second straight win for the North Jersey Pro League champs.

The stubborn first period defense put up by the Bayonne grid-ders quickly faded at the start of the second quarter and the local Ironmen, led by Frank Cardinale and Nick Zuzzio, won as they pleased.

Starting the initial drive from the Pirate 35, Larry Kennedy passed to Kippie Weston for a nine-yard gain. Ducky Peraco picked up 10 yards in two plays. After a five-yard penalty against the Pirates for offsides, Zuzzio hammered his way through tackle 11 yards for the first score and Johnny Reilly split the uprights with a perfect placement.

Cardinale put the Bayonne club in a hole on their own 10 with a 40-yard boot from midfield. Kicking back, Cardinale started a goalward drive from the 50, picking up 22 yards on a charge through center. He plugged away for five more yards and then Johnny Walker tossed a pass to Kippie Weston on the goal line to make the score 13-0.

Halt One Score

The Dukes were on their way to another score shortly before the halftime whistle when Lee Visone of the visitors intercepted one of Kennedy's tosses on the goal line.

Willie Peraco started another Duke drive early in the third period picking up 10 yards to the Pirate 41. Cardinale leaped through right tackle for five yards and on the next center gallop good for five yards lost his jersey when the Pirates' big end grabbed him.

Peraco sailed through right tackle to the 20, Cardinale came back to pound away at right guard for eight yards and then through center 14 yards for the third touchdown.

A poor boot by Visone gave the Dukes the ball on the Pirate 18 a few minutes later. Zuzzio walked right through center and over to make the score 25-0. Midway in the final period, the Ironmen tired of carrying the ball goalward so Reilly stepped back and booted a field goal from the 15-yard stripe to make the final count 28-0.

Cullari Adds Comedy

Joe Cullari added some comedy to the final period by playing in backfield. It was the first time that the chunky guard had ever played any backfield position. In two plays, Cullari waddled 20 yards and then heaved a perfect pass to Willie Furlong on the one-yard line. Cullari tried to take the ball over on the next play but the final whistle sounded before he was able to score.

The Dukes' defensive wall held the visitors completely in check. The Pirates made only one first down, getting it early in the third quarter. They did not get out of their own territory all afternoon.

Ironmen Optimistic About League Clash At Newark Stadium

Gunning to break the Camptowners' record of 2 games without a loss, the Iron Dukes will invade Newark City Stadium on Sunday afternoon to meet the eleven with which they shared the North Jersey Pro League championship last season.

Strengthened in the backfield with the return of Frank Cardinale and the smooth running of George Tietze, Nick Zuzzio, Willie Peraco and Johnny Walker, the Dukes are oozing with optimism over the chances of sinking the Campers. The outcome of the struggle may have an important bearing on the final standings in the four-team North Jersey pro loop.

Last year, the Campers and the Dukes mowed down all other league opposition, but battled to a 7-7 deadlock when they met in the mud at municipal stadium. In the opening game for the Dukes in the 1941 season, the Camptowners trimmed them 7-0, but it was a non-league clash.

While the Dukes were having an easy time last Sunday routing the Bayonne Pirates 28-0, the Campers had to go all out to beat the Woodbridge Golden Bears 7-0. The previous week it took a 25-yard field goal to beat the Plainfield Saracens 10-7 in a league starter.

Coach Joe Vollmer, who put the Dukes through a heavy drill at the stadium Tuesday night, and has another scheduled for tonight, feels confident that the speedier backfield which the Ironmen have this season will be more than a match for the Camp-towners.

Line Play Smother

The "bugs" which showed up in line play the first week against the Boonton Panthers were smoothed out considerably last Sunday against the Bayonne eleven, which gained nothing through the locals' forward wall.

With Joe Cullari and Ray Tenny scheduled to go into the army after Sunday's game, Vollmer has been working on replacements for both. Looking the best last Sunday were Don Jackson and Herky Heimrich. Jackson is a broad-shouldered, 220-pounder who starred several years ago at East Rutherford high, while Heimrich is a local favorite, having been one of the line mainstays for the high school eleven for two seasons.

Worried about his ends at the start of the season, Vollmer is pleased with the way in which Kippie Weston and Ken Cosgrove have worked out as starters. Cosgrove is a varsity veteran from Middlebury college while Weston, a good pass catcher, played last season with the Bloomfield White Horses.

Cardinal played only a part of Sunday's game but showed that he still has his line-bucking ability and can make plenty of yardage on end run gallop. Showing up well as a passer was Larry Kennedy, also of the Bloomfield White Horses. Willie Peraco uncorked more polish as an end runner than he did as a passer. Tietze has been slow to hit his stride of last season but is coming along well.

Zuzzio Runs Well Most pleasing to Vollmer was the running on Sunday of Zuzzio, a former Panzer grider. He did more ground gaining than any other Duke back and chalked up two of the touchdowns. Walker uncovered talent as a passer, heaving to Weston for one of the touchdowns.

The strong defensive men of the line are John Reilly and Joe Collins at tackles with George Zoppa at center. The latter should prove most valuable to the Dukes in Sunday's tilt for he is well acquainted with the Camper style of play having played with them for three seasons. Reilly has not as yet rounded into the form which he displayed last year as a place kicker, converting one out of four tries on Sunday.

Coaching the Camptowners again this season is Joe Choborda of the famous quartet of grid brothers from Irvington. One again the backfield standout is his brother, Rudy. The flashy additions to the club's backfield are Ben Minowitz and Bob Foster. Minowitz, a former Panzer player, is now coaching assistant to Art Lustig at Newark West.

Quabic Porfar, a passing and running star at Kearny high, few years back, played against the Dukes last year as a member of the Newark Woodside. Filling out the starting backfield is Bernie Franks, a Camper veteran.

New starters this season are guard for the Campers are Marty Friedman, a 200-pound guard who is also an assistant coach at Weequahic high, and Harold Arnold, former Irvington and Upsal college players.

Others in the Camptown cast are Greg and Frank Payera, Marty Stavisky, Larney Barker, Frank Scudieri, Pete Mayo, Bob Goldblatt, Carl Sulzman, Ed Finl Jack DoDnohue, Al Dedshok, Ardy Masullo, Bab McHale and Angelo Izzolino.

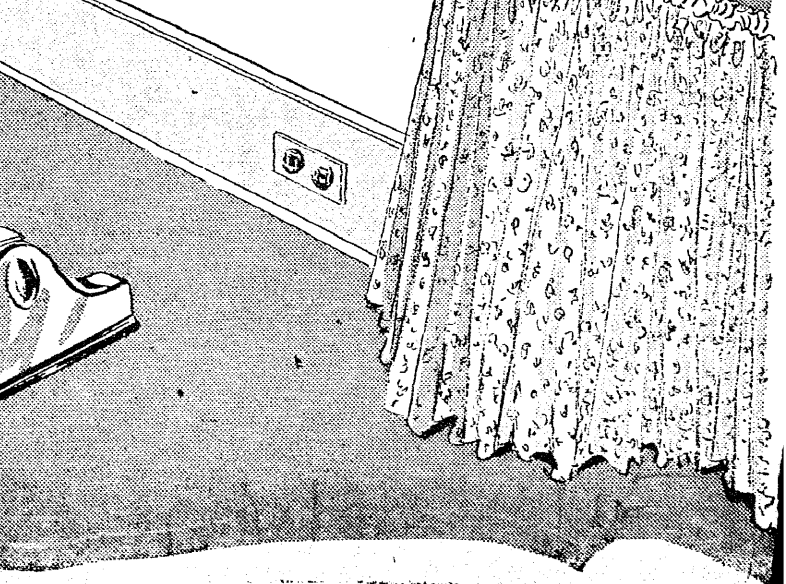

Sunday's game will start at 2:30 p.m. The Newark stadium is in Bloomfield and Roseville avenue. The Camptowners will return the Dukes visit on November 1 when the clubs will clash at the local stadium.

Park Lane Cleaners

547 Washington Ave. Belleville
(Near Overlook)

The untimely passing of Commissioner Clark — almost on the eve of the planned testimonial in his honor — has deprived the Commissioner of honors he so richly deserved. Years of constant devotion and sacrifice in the interests of his fellowmen; his untiring efforts for public good, have created a lasting memory for those who knew him best.

Only too often, are we averse to launching out to a man's praise until he is laid at rest. This affair was to be the exception to this seemingly hard and fast rule of human understanding.

We, of the Committee, sponsoring this well earned and merited testimonial, desirous of preserving the beauty of the Commissioner's thoughts and actions, have had this noble thought suggested to us which we believe will perpetuate his memory for years to come.

Above every act by the Commissioner in his years of public service, he inwardly derived more pleasure and personal satisfaction in witnessing the ambulance going on its errand of mercy to aid the less fortunate and the afflicted, knowing he sponsored the original drive whereby the present ambulance was obtained in 1935. A similar drive in 1938 failed of its purpose and there is at present about $1,300 on deposit at the First National Bank.

It has been suggested, we make this appeal to those of you having purchased reservations for the dinner in the Commissioner's honor; that we obtain your consent to apply the funds derived from the sale of the tickets to those now on hand at the bank toward the purchase of a new ambulance, so badly needed at this time.

The Commissioner's widow and family heartily concur in this suggestion and have told us nothing would please the Commissioner more, if he were here to observe this proposal.

To those of you desiring a refund on the tickets, please feel free to write me at the Police Department and the treasurer will be instructed to remit to you promptly. Unless this is done on or before November 15th next, we will assume you too want to play a part in perpetuating the memory of our beloved Commissioner and in so doing continue to assist our less fortunate brothers.

May I, speaking for the committee, extend to each and every one of you having purchased reservations and to those having contemplated doing so, our most profound thanks for the interest you have displayed. A greater power than we have deprived us of a night of pleasures — and we know the Commissioner would agree — Thy will be done.

FRED B. HANDLON

TAVERN CLOSED FOR TEN DAYS

Driscoll Sentences John Pico On Refill Violation; Can Open October 23

ABC Commissioner Alfred Driscoll this week ordered that the tavern owned by John Pico at 91 Heckel street be closed for 10 days. The place was padlocked on Monday and will not reopen again until next Thursday.

Pico pleaded non vult to a charge that he had refilled a liquor bottle with a whiskey other than that which was marked on the label.

The violation charged by the ABC is nearly a year old, being claimed that it took place on November 27, 1941. Pico denied that he had refilled the bottle and declared that he had no knowledge how the violation had occurred.

"Besides a wide discrepancy in acid and solid content," Driscoll's opinion stated, "it appears that the beverage in the bottle in question contained only natural coloring, whereas an authentic sample of the whiskey involved herein contains mostly artificial coloring matter."

Straight, Not A Bend

The state chemist who testified at the trial said that his analysis indicated that the liquor in the seized bottle was a straight whiskey rather than a blended whiskey as called for by the label. Despite the absence of any personal participation in the violation or lack of knowledge of it, Driscoll said that the licensee must be held accountable for any refills found in his stock.

300 Servicemen To Benefit From Saturday Fashion Show

The boys in service from Soho and Silver Lake will thank the residents there when they receive Christmas gifts which will be sent to them from the proceeds of the fashion show to be held on Saturday at 3, at Hearn's, Newark.

Final arrangements were made Friday evening at a meeting held at the home of Miss Marie Serritella, chairman of the affair.

The committee made a house-to-house canvass to obtain all the names and addresses of the boys in service which total 300. If anyone was missed, Miss Serritella would like their names and addresses brought to her at the fashion show on Saturday. Arrangements with the First National bank of Belleville have been made for applications to sell war bonds at a booth installed on the seventh floor at the fashion show. Miss Lydia Viola will be in charge of the booth.

Guest of honor and speaker at the show will be Miss Emilie Willms, supervisor and instructor of the medical division of Jersey City Medical center. She returned in September from Greece after 12 years overseas, where she originally went as representative of the American Women's hospitals in Europe.

The organization was formed in this country by women physicians during the last war because of government refusal for recognition and subsidization. They established hospitals in Europe for the care of wounded and Miss Willms went there to do post-war work. She first served in the nursing division in Greece and in 1935 went into the employ of the Greek government. She was appointed in 1940 by the Greek ministry of war to head the seventh military hospital and to supervise the care of the wounded as they were brought down from the Albanian mountains during the present Greek struggle.

She has been in this country since September but will shortly return to Greece. She was director of the Silver Lake Welfare association for 7 1/2 years before going overseas and will speak to the women on her experience in Greece.

A Full Auto Graveyard Is O. K.

Whenever you see a Garden State auto graveyard filled with junked cars, don't clamor that it's scrap a-wasting and look around for an FBI agent. On the contrary, the state's auto graveyards along with those in other states, have done a first class job in quickly moving the salvaged metal. In terms of business efficiency, which today means war material efficiency, an empty yard is a national salvage liability. Reason is such a yard can no longer be maintained profitably, with workers available to move war scrap. Incidentally, the New Jersey auto wreckers yards lead the nation in time that it takes to move a jalopy through the yard to the steel mill furnaces—21 days.

ROTARY LEADER HERE WEDNESDAY

Dr. Frank Glenn Lankard, District Governor, Speaks Before Local Club

Dr. Frank Glenn Lankard, governor of the 182nd district of Rotary International, embracing the 43 clubs in Northern Jersey, will speak at the meeting of the Rotary club at Forest Hill Field club next Wednesday at 12:15 p. m.

Dr. Lankard is dean of Brothers college of Drew university at Madison and is a member of the Rotary club there. He was nominated as governor at the district conference last May and was elected at the convention of Rotary International in Toronto, Can. last June.

Dr. Lankard will discuss with the Rotary officers headed by Wayne R. Parmer, superintendent of schools, and committee members matters pertaining to club administration and service activities.

2 SERVICE FLAGS TO BE RAISED

Ceremonies In Soho And On Florence Ave. Sunday Afternoon

Two neighborhood service flags will be dedicated on Sunday afternoon. In the Soho section, an honor roll sign and flag will be unveiled in ceremonies to be held at 2 p. m. at Mill and Harrison streets.

The tribute to the servicemen has been sponsored by the Soho Civic association headed by Mrs. Ruth Fredericks. She is the town's first Gold Star mother, her son Harry C. Fredericks, Jr., coxswain in the navy, having been lost at sea last spring when a Nazi U-boat torpedoed the merchant ship on which he was serving as a member of the gun crew.

The honor roll sign will be a small plot trimmed with evergreens which have been planted in a V-shape.

Mayor Williams will be the principal speaker. Rev. O. W. Chapin, pastor of the Montgomery

Presbyterian church, will deliver the invocation and Rev. Thomas Gillick, curate of St. Anthony's church, the benediction. Music will be furnished by the American Legion drum and bugle corps of Bloomfield.

Other officers of the association are Mrs. Millie D'Amodia, treasurer, and Mrs. John Lanza, secretary.

In Florence avenue, flag will also be raised in honor of the men of the neighborhood who are now in the fighting forces. Mrs. Frances Marra headed the committee of mothers, wives and sisters of the men who raised the funds for the flag's purchase.

Handicapped Get Chance In Local War Concern

Lloyd Engineering Placed Deaf Mutes On Trial; Find They Make Good Workers; Urge Other Firms To Follow Their Example

As the battle for production has speeded up, industry's demand for skilled labor has increased in leaps and bounds. Those who have trained and worked with the physically handicapped offered these people to manufacturers as a help to their ever-present labor shortage problem. But, many an industrial leader was wary, and in the majority of cases they turned their backs on those who have been championing the cause of the handicapped with the claim that they can be taught to perform many of the jobs which normal workers are doing.

At last one local firm took the stand ready to testify that handicapped persons can be trained to become good workers. Working at top speed on war orders is the plant of the Lloyd Engineering company in Stephens street with E. Morris Lloyd as its president and A. H. Lloyd, secretary and treasurer.

Several months ago a young man applied to the company for a job. He was deaf and dumb and the interview with him had to be carried on in writing, although the Lloyd brothers have since learned that he is able to read lips.

Actuated By Two Motives

"In discussing the matter with him," E. Morris Lloyd stated, "we were actuated by two motives. One was partly from the humanitarian standpoint, as we figured that it was up to someone to help this fellow to be financially independent. However, as we do not pretend to be a welfare institution, we had to find some berth where he could really be a paying proposition. The other idea in our minds was that by employing him it would automatically release some other man for more important war work where higher qualifications might be required."

The young mute was put on trial and broken in on some simple but important welding work in connection with an important defense order.

Hire Another One

A few days ago a second deaf and dumb man turned up at the plant. Guided by their first experience, the Lloyd brothers hired him and already he is working out satisfactorily.

"We pass this story of our experience along," Lloyd said, "because it may prove beneficial to many manufacturing plants which are experiencing difficulty in securing good help. There must be many applicants with partial disabilities who can be given good honest work if a little ingenuity and foresight is exercised. "There's nothing charitable about this at all," Lloyd emphasized. "It's just good common sense mixed with some patience. Give them a chance and they will prove their worth."

REGISTER FUEL MEN TUES., WED.

All Retailers Must Register; OPA Gives Instructions For Registration

The fuel rationing program moves into action next Tuesday and Wednesday when dealer registration under the program will take place at the war price and rationing office. The board has been informed on general registration procedure and the plan to be followed in the subsequent distribution of forms to consumers.

The board again re-emphasized the fact that there is no point in consumers, such as those householders using fuel oil, to make inquiries at the board for they can not be furnished with certificates or given any information until the preliminary step of registering all dealers has taken place.

Fuel rationing will be in charge of the gasoline panel which is headed by Herbert G. Schmutz, president of the board of education, with George McLaren and Charles Scanlan of Nutley as the other members.

The ration office at 460 Washington avenue will be open on Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. to accept registrations.

Kittle Eats Student-Prepared Dinner At Junior College

At a meeting of the Fairleigh Dickinson Junior college board of educational directors last Wednesday night, Hugh D. Kittle, high school principal, sampled the Spanish dinner prepared by the dietetics class as a practical project of their program.

Mrs. Christine Thomas, dietetics head, planned the meal. Members heard the report of Dr. Peter Sammartino, president of Fairleigh Dickinson, on the college's progress to date. Dr. Sammartino reported the enrollment to be 152 day and evening students. The school's program of self-administration has already begun, Dr. Sammartino stated.

NEW EXECUTIVE FOR BOY SCOUTS

Robert D. Smith Successor To Joe O'Farrell Headed For Army

Robert D. Smith of Newark has been named field executive for the Boy Scouts of America. He succeeds Joseph O'Farrell, who expects to enter the army shortly. The appointment of Smith was announced yesterday by A. C. Sorenson, scout executive of the Robert Treat council of which Belleville is a part.

Actuated with the Boy Scout movement for the past 13 years, Smith has been field executive in the Lincoln and Ironbound sections of Newark for the past two years. Starting as a tenderfoot in Troops 39 and later 7 in Newark, the new local leader rose to the rank of life scout. He later became a mate and then skipper of Newark Sea Scout Ship 307.

At one time he was assistant scoutmaster of Troop 7. His professional connection with scouting started with the Narragansett council in Providence, R. I., where he served as field commissioner for senior scouting. He was later employed in a similar position in Hartford, Conn.

Strong For Cubbing

Smith has been a strong advocate for the expansion of the Cubbing program in scouting for boys from 9 to 12 and has directed the activity in the Robert Treat council. For two years he served as assistant director to O'Farrell at Camp Mohican and last year as the director. The new executive plans to reside in town as soon as he finds a place to reside.

He is a graduate of Emporia college, the American Institute of Banking, Montclair State Teachers college and Rutgers university extension school. He is a member of M. A. college fraternity and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Smith is married and has a young son, Robert, Jr.

The scouting membership in town is higher than it has ever been with a total of 400 scouts and cubs. In addition, there are 100 scouters, serving as scoutmasters, skippers, cumasters, members of troop committees and merit badge counselors. It is estimated that one out of every three boys in town are now reached by the BSA movement.

Raymond Drew To Direct Camera Club Council Contest

Announcement of a new photographic print contest, designed to provide recognition each month by the "club-of-the-month" and the "print-of-the-month," has been announced by the Metropolitan Camera Club council.

Raymond L. Drew, of the Belleville Camera club, recording secretary of the council's board of directors, has been appointed director of the contest.

Competition, which starts today, and ordinarily will open the first and close the final day of each month, will be limited to camera clubs affiliated with the council. Each club will be privileged to enter four prints, representing the work of four different members. The prints will be judged and written criticism prepared by an unidentified salaried judge appointed by the board of directors of the council.

The club adjudged to have the best four prints will be recognized for one month as council "club-of-the-month." The print deemed the best of the month, regardless whether it is part of the winning group, will be recognized as council "print-of-the-month." All prints will be returned promptly with the exception of the five winners, which will be exhibited at council headquarters for two weeks. All written criticism will be constructive and will indicate to club members how their work may be improved.

SAFeway Homemakers' Guide

Cook for a crowd with the greatest of ease

For economy in entertaining, saving in transportation and genuine victory friendliness, neighborhood block parties or family get-togethers are really atune with the times. Pots of steaming coffee, bowls of crisp salad, and something solid for a main dish appeal to the whole gang.

ORGANIZATION—It's another thing, of course, if large quantity cooking is new to you; but don't despair. Get some organization into the affair. Let everyone know what she is to do. A good idea is to divide the responsibilities into cooking, serving, and clean-up duties and schedule everyone's work.

EQUIPMENT—If it's going to take large kettles which none of you have, borrow some. Preserving kettles are ideal for cooking large quantities of food, and cookie sheets make fine covers. Wide shallow pans are usually better than deep ones, because foods cook more quickly in shallow containers and aren't crushed by their own weight.

SERVICE—Buffet service is probably easiest for serving the crowd, particularly if the party is in the small quarters of someone's home. The Homemakers' Bureau has planned this supper menu which is well adapted for buffet style or tray service, although it could be served otherwise.

Service Bureau Is Ready To Offer Families' Help

(One of the principal organizations on the home front which will benefit from the Community-War Chest campaign which will be conducted from October 16 to 30 is the Community Service Bureau. Below is a description of the bureau and its work as prepared by a member of its staff to show the public the need for the continuance of its activities. Ed. Note)

The Community Service bureau is a family and children's agency serving the town. It maintains an office at 338 Washington avenue and has a staff composed of an executive secretary, two case workers and an office secretary and a board of 24 trustees.

Its purpose is to bring skilled and kindly aid to the assistance of families and individuals in their personal problems and to help out in all kinds of trouble. Its object is to strengthen family life and to protect the integrity of the home.

Families seek help from the bureau for a variety of reasons: a man because he is discouraged and beaten in the effort to meet rising costs of living and the needs of a growing family; a woman because she has given up hope of keeping her home together; a young boy because he is eager to strike out for himself; a young girl because she is unable to make friends; a couple because they cannot manage on their budget and whose love for each other is being worn thin by constant quarrelling; children because they are difficult to control; young parents because they need direction.

People have grown up and lived in families for centuries, and families have always had troubles. They have always struggled to find a solution. Some do find a way out, some are overwhelmed at times and need help along the way. Today war-time strains are piling up on top of the age-old problems of human needs. The bureau has traditionally helped folks through crises, the only difference now is that this a greater crisis.

They Know Answer
In its 13 years of service to the families of Belleville the Community Service bureau has learned a lot about what happens to people in their homes. They know that broken homes are not likely to turn out good citizens. They know that sound family life makes for mature, useful men and women.

No one can fully tell what is happening to family life these days. But the bureau, in its constant effort to help people meet and solve their difficulties, is seeing at first hand some of the effects these times are already having upon people in this community. Changes are taking place in the life of everyone. For some these changes are bringing new home, new jobs, new zest for living, for others, only added burdens.

When trouble comes, and it comes in any time, in any family, regardless of jobs or opportunities, there is a place in the community to which to turn. Each year the Community Service bureau serves hundreds of families through its staff of experienced case workers, trained to help people when they can not find their way alone. In normal times and in times of stress in peace and in war, the Community Service bureau offers its counselling

Catholic College Club Will Hear Talk On Authors

A speech by Mrs. Peter L. Hughes of Union on "Our Catholic Authors—How Well Do We Know Them?" will be the highlight of the Catholic Women's club at its meeting tonight in the Helen MacHugh studio at 37 Washington street, Newark.

Mrs. Hughes is competent to speak on such a subject because not only is she a graduate of Georgetown College and a member of the Catholic Literary institute, but she has been working with Rev. Matthew Hoch O. S. B., librarian of St. Benedict's Preparatory school, on his book of Catholic authors. Mrs. Hughes will also show her exhibit of over 100 posters, giving pictures, brief biographical sketches and book jackets of Catholic authors. This exhibit has been on display at the Elizabeth Free Public Library.

Mrs. Elizabeth N. Kennedy who presides at this meeting, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Thomas E. Kinney as chairman of the annual bridge for the benefit of the scholarship fund, on November 14.

Miss Phyllis Callicchio of Joliet will give a financial report and the two hostesses will be Mrs. Leo Brophy and Mrs. Justin W. Seymour.

Twelve 25c Stamps will pay for one COMPASS. The compass war stamps buy may keep a scouting party from wandering by mistake into the enemy lines.

Public Safety Head Lived In Greylock Forty Years

Clark Long Champion For Improvements In Section; Served Longer Than Any Other On Town Board; Made Notable Changes In Police, Fire Depts.

commissioner was the head of the department of parks and public property.

Born in West Orange, Director Clark was educated in East Orange schools. A recognized expert in the burglary and fire insurance field, Mr. Clark had spent more than 50 years in the business. For many years he was superintendent of the burglary insurance department of the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York, serving as an executive of the firm at the time of his death.

When much of the Greylock park section was still woods and fields, and paved streets were a thing of the future, Mr. Clark settled there, moving to town in October, 1902.

From his earliest associations with the town, he gave evidence that he was to become one of its leaders. In the early 1900's, the Greylock section was regarded as some far-flung corner of the town which was more often neglected than not when it came to improvements. Appearances of the residents before the town council were frequent with Mr. Clark as one of the main spokesmen. Organization, they soon learned, was better than individual effort and under the commissioner's direction the Greylock Improvement association was formed to become the first local organization of its kind.

Organized Fire Company

Years before he became the director of the town's fire department, Mr. Clark led the movement which resulted in the formation of the Greylock Hose company to provide that section of town with better fire protection.

During the first world war, the public safety director was an active figure in local Liberty Loan and Red Cross drives.

His activities during his early association with Belleville were not confined merely to bettering conditions for those who resided in the Greylock section. Mr. Clark helped to organize the North Belleville Savings & Loan association 28 years ago and has served continuously as its president.

Under his direction it became one of the outstanding financial institutions of its kind in New Jersey. When all banks and building and loan associations were closed by presidential order during the bank holiday in 1933, the North Belleville association was one of the first in the state permitted to open its doors and continue business. It was also one of the first in New Jersey to become eligible for government insurance. Last April, Commissioner Clark was elected to his 28th term as the institution's president.

The commissioner was one of the organizer's and served as a vice-president of the town's now defunct board of trade.

First Ran In 1918

Mr. Clark made his debut in town politics in 1918 when he was a candidate for commissioner. Belleville was not ready to buy the director finishing twelfth in the field with 512 votes.

He did not return for another venture in the political arena until the 1926 election, one of the hottest in the town's history. Campaigning on a platform of keeping the schools out of politics and for better trolley and bus service, Mr. Clark finished in fifth place among a field of 17 candidates with 2,056 votes. He was named to the department of public safety which then also included direction of the refuse collection, the health department and street lighting.

Mr. Clark might have been named mayor after the 1930 election when he was high man with 5,072 votes. However, he announced immediately after the election that he was in favor of returning Samuel S. Kenworthy to the mayoralty post which he had held from 1926 to 1930. The commissioner was again assigned to the department of public safety.

In 1934, when he was fourth in the race, Commissioner Clark was placed in charge of the department of parks and public property. He returned to the public safety directorship in 1938 when he was fifth in the field.

Last winter when talk began to turn toward the May commission election, there were reports that Clark would not seek re-election, but he did. The veteran official surprised many who felt that he had lost considerably of his voting strength by finishing a strong third with 4,811 votes. His colleagues once again placed him in charge of the department of public safety.

First Term Outstanding

During the 16-year period that he had served Belleville as a public official, Commissioner Clark's first term from 1926 to 1930 was an outstanding one during which he made changes and improvements which contributed much to the community's advancement.

One of his first official acts was to abolish the board of health and create a department of health under the direction of one man. He named Eugene T. Berry, his son-in-law, to the post of health officer. Improvements under the commissioner's direction were immediate.

He inaugurated the Schick test and diphtheria immunization inoculations for pre-school and school children which resulted in a big drop in diphtheria cases and a noticeable decrease in the infant mortality rate.

The scope of the work of the public health nurses was increased with greater emphasis being placed on the importance of child hygiene work. A pre-natal clinic was opened in Silver Lake for expectant mothers and a program for the periodic inspection of food stores.

Improvements in the police and fire departments were numerous. In the long years that Mr. Clark had been associated with the burglary and fire insurance business, he had come in contact with leading public safety officials throughout the country and put many of the lessons which he had learned from them to practice in the local departments.

One of his first steps in the police department was to establish a standard uniform for the members of the force. Previously the men had been outfitted in uniforms of a varied number of patterns and cuts. To provide greater safety and more adequate protection in emergencies, the public safety director perfected a recall system which permitted patrolmen to be summoned from far corners of town. The number of police telephone call boxes was increased and a system of flashing lights was installed under the plan.

New Traffic Light System

The commissioner also directed the installation of the progressive traffic signal light system in Washington avenue, making Belleville one of the first in the state to use this plan. A special feature of the system was the changing of all lights to red on the avenue during a fire so that fire equipment could move quickly without fear of an accident.

A traffic bureau was also organized under Mr. Clark's direction. In the fire department, a new fire alarm signal system was installed and numerous other improvements were made in equipment and the addition of personnel which eventually resulted in a reduction of local fire insurance rates.

During the 1930-34 term, the public safety director sponsored a move for the purchase of the town's first ambulance. Previously the sick and injured had been transported to and from hospitals in the patrol wagon. Mr. Clark organized a group which raised the funds for the purchase of the ambulance through public subscription. During the years it has been in service, the vehicle has traveled more than 40,000 miles and has carried 3,500 persons. Several years ago the commissioner started a second drive for a second ambulance. This project remains unfinished. One deposit in the First National bank is $1,350 raised for the purchase of a new vehicle.

Recent Major Improvements

During the past year, the public safety director had made two major improvements in the police and fire departments. Last spring an ultra-high frequency three-way police radio was installed. In August, 1941, Mr. Clark sponsored legislation to raise $20,000 for the purchase of a 65-foot aerial ladder truck and a new pump for the fire department. Acceptance of the ladder truck several weeks ago was one of the commissioner's last official acts.

At the last meeting of the town board, held on September 29, Mr. Clark introduced a bill which would permit an increase in the membership in the police and fire departments and also provided for the addition of several superiors. It was to have been voted on at Tuesday's commission meeting but action was postponed.

The commissioner was well-known in public safety circles throughout the state, being a member of the Essex County Safety council, an organization composed of the public safety department heads of a number of municipalities, which meets periodically to exchange views on traffic conditions and other police and fire problems. Mr. Clark was also a member of the craftsmen's club, the Belleville Lodge of Masons, and the Belleville Rod and Gun club.

MRS. J. J. O'CONNOR FIRST IN WAACS

Malone Ave. Woman Enters As Private; Wants To Be A Driver

The first local woman to be accepted as a member of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps is Mrs. John J. O'Connor of 10 Malone avenue. She will enter the WAACS as a private to do clerical work but hopes that she will eventually be able to transfer to her first love, the motor corps.

Mrs. O'Connor's desire to be in the service dates back to the days of World War I when she wanted to be an ambulance driver, but was unable to manage it at that time. The Malone avenue woman has been active in a number of local activities, including the Community Service bureau. She has taken several of the first aid courses which have been offered here.

Will Help Win War

The WAACS, Mrs. O'Connor thinks, will be just the thing for women who are defense-minded but have no ability or the inclination to do factory work. It is a good outlet for those who want to help win the war but who can not afford to do voluntary service, she says.

She is now awaiting word to report to Des Moines, Ia. for eight weeks of basic training. Last week she was given a surprise party at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. James O'Connor of West Orange. Having given up her home here, Mrs. O'Connor is staying in West Orange until she receives orders to report for duty.

"Take 8 Bags Of Flour"

Teaspoon and half-teaspoon measures of a recipe for Yorkshire pudding, carefully written by a girl in a western USO clubhouse, were given to the mess sergeant's assistant. He noted carefully the precise quantities, but said: "I guess the maintenance department will have to figure it out for me. You see, I'm cooking for 3,000 men."

A Notable Municipal Career Closes

Belleville has lost a public figure who leaves behind him a record of service which is unsurpassed in the annals of the community. William D. Clark entered upon a long career as a member of the board of commissioners at a time when Belleville had reached the turning point in its history—the change-over from a virtual annex to Newark to a rapidly growing town that was embarking on a period of progress that would firmly establish its individual existence.

From 1926, until the time of his death, he had served continuously as a town commissioner and possessed a record that was unsullied and free from the taint of bad politics which has marked many men in public life.

Most notable among the successes which he was able to effect during his long administration were a vast number of improvements that resulted in the modernization of the police and fire departments so that today they stand among the best in the state in equipment and manpower.

The men who served under him will find no one who will have greater respect for their efforts or more concern for their well-being than did Commissioner Clark. They lost a loyal friend who continuously sought to secure for them equipment and machines which would enable them to perform the best possible job, and who persistently attempted to assure that they would receive the best financial reward possible for their services.

A leading citizen in the town for 40 years, Mr. Clark's passing is a distinct loss, one who will not be readily forgotten and one who will be difficult to replace. For those leaders who survive him and for those who will follow, probably the best rule for them to be guided by was the one which he took as a pattern in his 1926 campaign for office, and which he successfully carried out in succeeding years.

Mr. Clark stated that he was not a politician—could not be one and did not intend to try—but in his dealings as a representative of the people handling their money, he would follow the same practices and be gauged by the rules that he had established for his own business. They must have been good rules for he was a success in his private business for more than 50 years.

The Rest Is Up To You Folks

The Community-War Chest drive opens tomorrow. The goal of the leaders this year is $35,000. This is twice the amount which was sought and received last year. It is an ambitious undertaking but we have confidence that the people of Belleville, realizing the need that exists among the organizations at home and the service groups which seek to help those on the fighting front, will respond wholeheartedly to the appeal.

We have spoken our piece about the importance of the success of the chest drive. There is little more that can be said except that we trust that you will open your doors wide—and your pocketbooks, too—to the workers who will be calling upon you during the next two weeks.

Make this a campaign of the people of Belleville. A typical American response to the challenge that has been made—to raise $35,000. We don't want the success of this drive to depend on any special group, it should be a 100 percent response from every corner, from every family in town, giving as much as they can, but being sure to give.

Votes And Money Still Count

From reading the newspapers, it appears that we're still only at the talking stage in the synthetic rubber production program. Various plans for tire conservation are a dime a dozen, and while they may help to cope with the shortage, it is a drop in the bucket compared to the essential needs of the nation over a long period.

A country which has lived on wheels for the best part of a quarter of a century, which has built its cities and its mills at scattered places because of the popular use of the automobile can't be suddenly brought to a halt even if all non-essential driving is eliminated.

The trouble in Washington with getting the program for synthetic rubber production started is that there are still many interests which want to be sure that they will not lose out financially. The best evidence given of it was the cry raised by the cotton bloc of Southern Senators this week over the army's decision to substitute cotton as a base for its heavy duty rubber tires.

Just Who Is He Talking About?

In his speech Monday night, President Roosevelt discussed many important matters including taking the 18 and 19 year old youths for the army, the drafting of labor for war production, elimination of non-essential businesses, his reaction to his recent tour of the country and that the nation is getting ahead in its battle against the Axis.

These were all subjects which a nation was waiting to hear, but Mr. Roosevelt was unable to content himself with simply dwelling on these matters. He had to indulge in a favorite FDR pastime—taking a few potshots at the press. Caustically, he chided typewriter strategists, and then using a remark of Gen. Robert E. Lee to the effect that the best generals were working on newspapers instead of in the army in the Civil war, the president added that it seemed to him that this was true in all wars.

While the president may not have intended to convey such a thought, he indicted the entire press in the minds of many people. Mr. Roosevelt's statements are often accepted at face value without much real thought about the truth of the matter.

One of the greatest achievements in its long history is being accomplished by the American press in this war. By a vast majority, the newspapers of the nation, hampered by many censorship restrictions that are too finely drawn, are attempting to keep the public reliably and accurately informed on the story of this war.

Throughout the land, performing a duty the equal of that of the big daily publications, are several thousand weekly newspapers which are devoting many columns to the patriotic promotion of the war, and stamps, endeavoring to get the public to enrolling in civilian defense organizations and offering to defense leaders the only outlet which they have for repeatedly getting important stories and information to the public. The nation-wide salvage drive for scrap metal is nearing an end, and from coast to coast it has been the newspapers which have been in the forefront of the campaign to encourage the public to cooperate.

The involved and detailed rationing and price regulation has placed demands on the press to give columns of space to involved and detailed explanations so that a bewildered public would know what was happening and what they had to do to meet the requirements for the right to rationed articles. The army, navy and marine public relations departments daily flood the newspaper offices with stories designed to encourage more men to join the fighting forces, to build morale on the home front and to put at ease worried families and friends of men in the service.

This is not a self-given slap on the back. The newspapers aren't looking for that for they have repeatedly given evidence that they are prepared to do more than their share in winning the war.

Twice since he has returned from his junket about the country, the president has publicly belabored the press, but he has not paid any tribute to the effort which is being made by many of the newspapers. By his words, he has sprinkled criticism over all, when we want to believe that he meant only a few. If Mr. Roosevelt has any personal gripes against any specific newspaper, columnist or commentator, let him use some names. He has not pulled any punches on being pointed out other matters and if he has time in his job of winning the war to talk about the "typewriter strategists" then let him tell all of the story, and not as he has done, indict all newspapers.

Either For Or Against Hartley Seems The Issue

Frederic Bigelow, Democratic Choice, Remains In Background; Bloomfield Leaders Resent Charges Of Bigotry In Defeat Of Williams

The tempo of fight in this district for the congressional post between Republican Congressman Fred A. Hartley Jr. and Frederic Bigelow, his Democratic opponent, rises this week with Election day less than three weeks away.

Hartley is the sole issue in the campaign. His non-interventionist voting record prior to Pearl Harbor, the favorite target of Mayor Williams in the Republican primary battle, continues to plague the representative. It is a case of either being for Hartley or against him.

Bigelow remains quietly in the background, his campaign leaders optimistically hopeful that all those who are opposed to Hartley, including the voters who favored Williams, will string along with their man on November 3. Although he is a well-known architect and has been Newark building inspector for a number of years, Bigelow is a virtual unknown in politics.

Charges Of Bigotry

Since the primary campaign, the charge of religious bigotry has been hurled at the Hartley workers, claiming that they used it in bringing about Mayor Williams' defeat. The mayor himself gave credence to the report this week by stating that he planned court action against those who had conducted a whispering campaign against him.

Charges have been made that elements of the Ku Klux Klan and the German-American Bund joined hands to bring about Williams' defeat. Named as one of the leaders in the movement was Arthur H. Bell of Bloomfield, who was reported to have been affiliated with the Klan.

Ever since the bigotry reports first came out, Hartley has indignantly denied that he had any part in it and declared that it was the first that he had heard of it or that it had ever been brought up as an issue against him in any campaign.

Quick to come to the congressmen's aid this week were the leading Republican officials in Bloomfield, headed by Mayor Harry E. Newell. In a statement signed by every elected town official and every Republican ward chairman there, they said:

"We reject the implications contained in a report published this week that religious bigotry was a factor in the recent Republican primary campaign in Bloomfield.

"Wide circulation was given through the press to a claim of one Arthur H. Bell, a repudiated officer of a secret society, that he had sponsored a whispered campaign of bigotry against Mayor William H. Williams of Belleville. The story circulated throughout Essex county carried the clear implication that this alleged movement was of sufficient size and proportions as to become a factor in the defeat of Mayor Williams for the Republican congressional nomination in the 10th district.

"Such a claim is false and preposterous. Because it had been given credence in the press, we made diligent inquiry among Republican party workers and voters and received convincing assurances that the so-called 'whispering' was totally non-existent. Except that he, of course, has the right of franchise.

Has No Standing There

"Bell is without any standing whatsoever in Republican party councils in the town. Published accounts describe him as participating in the First Ward Republican club's endorsements, but the fact is that he holds no membership in that club and is unknown to its president, Joseph Russett. Similarly, none of the undersigned has the honor of Bell's acquaintance.

"We feel justified in repudiating as false the allegation that bigotry reared its ugly head in the recent primary because we conducted Representative Fred A. Hartley's campaign for renomination in Bloomfield and resent misrepresentation of the actual conditions. Our wholehearted, unanimous support of Representative Hartley was based on our full faith and confidence in his integrity and probity as an American, a public official and a friend, a trust born of many years of intimate knowledge of his Bigelow has been Newark building superintendent for the past 20 years.

The Bigelow family's association with New Jersey politics dates back to the Revolutionary days when members of the family represented the state in the 23rd and 24th congresses, and later by Dr. Samuel Fowler, great-grandfather of the candidate, who was in congress when Andrew Jackson was president.

Bigelow's uncle, another Samuel Fowler, was a member of congress during Grover Cleveland's administration.

A bachelor, Bigelow, who is 60 years old and a veteran of the last war, resides in a Forest Hill section home with his sister. At one time police commissioner in Newark, an honorary post, he ran for city commissioner in 1921 and was defeated. This is the first time that he has sought public office since then.

Umbrella Handle Collection On Display At Library

An unusual collection of umbrella and parasol handles is currently on display in the show cases at the public library.

The handles are carved out of wood, ivory and pewter. Among them are copies of shoes, pieces of wood, heads of dogs and other animals. All handles are over 100 years old. They are owned by Mrs. John Pole of 20 Mertz avenue, who collects them as a hobby.

Miss Jacqueline Snedeker, '44, daughter of Mrs. Anna A. Snedeker of 572 Washington avenue, was a member of the catering committee for the traditional campus night celebration held Saturday at New Jersey College for Women at New Brunswick. The occasion marks the end of the freshman hazing period and serves as a reunion for N. J. C. alumnae.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville Times.

by Meador Wright

The New Jersey GOP is having money troubles, and plenty of them. Joseph A. Bower of Montclair resigned early this year as chairman of the finance committee to make his ill-fated race for the United States Senate. When he resigned he took C. Clinton Campbell, executive secretary of the committee, with him as his campaign manager. These departures left the state committee without a functioning organization and nothing was done toward raising money for the fall campaign until after the primaries.

Thus, Albert W. Hawkes awoke to the fact that although he had the nomination he likewise had an empty state Republican campaign chest. Only five weeks remained and something had to be done immediately. Almost in desperation, Hawkes turned to his best man Friday, George E. Stringfellow of West Orange. Stringfellow agreed to serve as finance chairman, but only until after election.

First reports had Clean Government leaders in Essex incensed at the Stringfellow appointment, but upon second thought most of them decided that it was a good thing. No Clean Government man wanted the job in the first place and in the second place Clean Government felt that it could not be blamed if there should be a financial shortage.

Actually, there will be a shortage to the extent that the Republicans haven't much hope of matching Democratic funds. Reports have it that the Democrats have already put $10,000 into the Newark wards and plan another $15,000. Since Newark has almost exactly 10 per cent of the State's population, this would indicate a state fund of around a quarter of a million dollars for this type of expense alone. Hawkes can't do this well no matter how hard he tries.

But Stringfellow is determined to see Hawkes elected and no effort is being spared to get contributions. There is almost certain to be considerable Republican money on election day, too. If there isn't, it will probably mean Hawkes' defeat.

I have heard Clean Government leaders predict an Essex plurality of 30,000 for Hawkes, but some strategists figure this won't be enough. Much will depend upon the Hudson returns. Some 35,000 Hudson men are in the service. Hague must find voters to replace these if his old majorities of 150,000 are to hold up.

Clean Government as a whole seems to be sincere in its pledge to support Hawkes to the limit. Arthur T. Vanderbilt and others are said to be afraid that Hawkes' defeat would seriously interfere with Republican chances of electing a governor next year. Vanderbilt is tremendously interested in the governorship race and will let no policy interfere with Republican chances next year. He likewise is said to be taking a conciliatory course toward Dr. Clee, and is not even adverse to Clee being a candidate next year if he can line up enough support to make his nomination worth while.

Instead of being ready for a fight, Vanderbilt is said to be hoping that one can be avoided in Essex. He is waiting to see what Hawkes will do as well as Clee. If either shows a conciliatory attitude, Vanderbilt will be inclined to forget that he and they were on opposite sides of the political fence during the recent primaries. More than most leaders, Vanderbilt realizes the seriousness of the present war. He doesn't want to expend any more energy in politics than is absolutely necessary. He will only fight when there is no alternative. The recent primary showed him that any political contest in wartime is dangerous to the party in power.
