

ACTION ON CLARK VACANCY DELAYED FOR THIRTY DAYS

Majority Veto Noll Plea That Immediate Selection Be Made

No official action has been taken by the town commissioners on filling the vacancy created by the death on October 16 of Public Safety Director Clark.

It was indicated by the majority at Monday night's special meeting that there would be no official action until the meeting on November 10, although conferences on the question of the selection of a successor will probably be held in the interim.

Parks Director Noll, who declared for Raymond E. Mertz, sixth man in the commission election race last May, came out for immediate action on filling the vacancy as he had stated last week.

While he said that he had considered the respect which was owed to the memory of Commissioner Clark, Noll said he believed that such an important branch of the town government should not run at this time without a head. Mayor Williams countered that the department did have a head in that he, in his role as mayor and acting head of any department in event of a vacancy, had spent many hours in consultation with the chiefs of both departments on important matters.

Commissioner Waters reiterated his statement of last week that he did not intend to take any action on a successor for 30 days. Mayor Williams again concurred and Commissioner King declared that he was agreeable to that.

Didn't Take Walk

King was emphatic in his denial that he "had taken any walk" last week. His absence from town plus Noll's refusal to attend a meeting at which King was not present prevented a quorum and blocked the passage of bills authorizing payment of salaries to employees. Workers were not paid.

Hyde—Not Tully—Seventh

In last week's issue of The Times, it was stated in the story referring to Raymond E. Mertz's run in the May Commission election that James J. Tully was the seventh man. This is incorrect.

Elmer S. Hyde of Rossmore place was the seventh man with Tully finishing eighth place. The commission of Hyde's name was not intentional and is regretted.

until Tuesday. Some were tired over the weekend by Mayor Williams and Commissioners Waters and Noll, it was understood.

King said "I apologize to the employees. I didn't take a walk and I didn't know there was any issue to be faced." He explained that he had been called away to Washington on some important business and that he did not return until Thursday night.

Friends of Mertz continued to press their effort to have him named for the vacancy. There has been no open campaign but quietly through various sources they are attempting to win support among the other three board members since Noll has declared in favor of the Union avenue real estate broker.

Still prominent mentioned as a candidate is Harry J. Sullivan, defense coordinator. Asked yesterday if he was still a candidate for the position, Sullivan replied that he had never made himself one. King's name in the field was started by the newspapers or other parties. The third name frequently heard in some places is that of W. Douglas Clark Jr., son of the late commissioner, who is the head of Clark & Hammer, and has been active in a number of community and civic activities for a number of years.

Firm Expresses Bereavement On Death Of Clark

The board of commissioners received this week a letter from William Orchard, representing Wallace and Tiernan industries, expressing their condolence at the passing of Commissioner Clark.

Another letter, addressed to the town employees, was received from the commissioner's widow thanking them for their generous interest and kindness at the time of the director's sudden death.

Raise Flag Nov. 1 To Honor DeWitt Ave. Servicemen

The board of commissioners on Monday night granted a group of DeWitt avenue residents permission to erect a service flag in De Witt avenue, between Belleville and Van Houten avenues.

The request was made by Martin Malague to honor 27 young men from the neighborhood who are in service. He said that the flag would be dedicated at ceremony on Sunday afternoon, November 1, at 2 p. m. The flag will be erected about 50 feet north of Belleville avenue on DeWitt.

Local Girl Is Homesick For 'Home' In Hawaii

Mary Jo Evangelista, Home On Leave, Says She's Spent Happiest Years Of Life There; Claims People Are More War Conscious There

Meeting Mary Jo Evangelista of 435 Washington avenue in person, is by far the most exciting way of gaining first-hand information on the nappy and informal people who frequent Hawaii, the fabulous dream spot for so many.

Miss Evangelista has been a Hawaii resident for the past three years and is now home on a three-month leave. Slender, black-haired and brown skinned, she might almost be taken for a native Hawaiian.

Mary Jo went to Hawaii via New York. The Hawaiian music which was strummed at the Hotel Lexington one night several years ago was the incentive that started her mind harping about Hawaii. Finally, the urge became too strong and she threw up her position in New York and headed as fast as she could for the beautiful isle. She landed in Honolulu with exactly $25, but she was not stranded for she quickly got a position as chief clerk at the Hawaiian air station.

Miss Evangelista says that she has never spent happier years than those which were in Hawaii. She has been most impressed by the hospitality, light-heartedness and informality of the people. After knowing the people in Hawaii, she feels that she could never remain here and intends to return as soon as possible, which will be in about three weeks.

The Hawaiians are much more war conscious, she feels, than the people in the States. She says, "The necessity of having to live with and getting to know very well, those who never return, brings the war much closer to us."

The men in service, both the enlisted men and the officers, are extremely friendly and everyone who can open his house to them. Many of the matrons there have given their beach homes to men in the service, and the last Princess of Hawaii has turned over her beach house to the army. The army takes over many of these homes and converts them into barracks and forts.

Hawaii has a U.S.O. of its own for enlisted men and a group of girls called "The Flying Squadron," who go to dances given for service men. The men in service down there are frequently entertained at luaus, or Hawaiian feasts.

It is no longer possible to indulge in the free and unhampered bathing which used to take place on the beaches. Now all beaches are surrounded by barbed wire and almost all the residents of Hawaii are forced to have anti-tetanus shots to ward against the danger of infection from falling on the wire.

Do not, however, let the beautiful scenery of Hawaii influence you to go there if you have not the means, for, according to Miss Evangelista, the cost of living is extremely high, and milk is extremely scarce now. Rice provides the great bulk of one's diet. Hawaii, Miss Evangelista says, has been converted into a commercial island, full of industries and factories, so that only the rural parts of the island are still scenic and untampered.

With a blackout on the island at 7:30 every night, it is almost impossible to have night life except inside, where every room is furnished with blackout curtains. But, there are still many lovely girls on the islands, and all of them wear Holokus, the Hawaiian girls' native dress. These dresses are form fitting full length gowns and are made of every imaginable material, from lightweight summer cottons to winter velvets in light shades. On their feet the girls wear booties of a thin material, which are cut with room for the big toe like a mitten. All of the girls appear fascinating with leis of hibiscus, orchids and other wildflowers.

But don't worry about your men, girls; there is only one woman for every eight men on the island.

COMPANY HONORS MANY VETERANS

Sonneborn Firm Gives Awards To Those Employed For Long Period

Memories and reminiscences dating back almost 40 years were recalled on Monday night when 50 of the veteran employees of L. Sonneborn & Sons gathered at an informal dinner at which awards were made to those who have been with the organization for 25, 30 or 35 years and over. Held at the Vittorio Castle in Newark, the dinner was presided over by Dr. Ferdinand Sonneborn, company president, as chairman, and Dr. Rudolph Sonneborn, secretary and treasurer, who acted as the master of ceremonies.

More than 1,000 years of service were represented by those who were honored with the presentation of diamond studded gold pins and scrolls attesting to their long affiliation with the organization. Gold and silver pins were awarded to those who have worked for the firm 10 and 20 years.

Both Dr. Sonneborn and his brother in the principal addresses stressed the fact that because of the long service of its employees and their loyalty, the company is able to give the most efficient service and work to the war effort.

Entertainment was provided by the employees. Sam Biasi, Antonio Stabile and Emil Melillo sang Italian folk songs, a quintet made up of Dr. Frederick Brieth, technical director, Isadore Silverman, chief chemist, Perry Robinson, Hartwell Eubanks and David Jackson offered "Swanee River" and "Old Black Joe."

Awards were made to the following:

Nail Polish Is Banned For Dressing Workers

Glamour — as well as alot of other things — is being sacrificed in the war effort. Women who want to help in making surgical dressings for the Red Cross can't wear nail polish.

This tip was included in the announcement that the American home department of the Woman's club would sponsor a class for club members to be held on Wednesday night at the Rossmore place clubhouse, starting next week from 7:30 to 10 p. m.

In addition to the ban on nail polish, workers are asked to wear cotton or washable dresses. A Red Cross instructor will be present to get the group organized.

Mrs. Arthur E. Mayer is chairman of the home department.

WITHOUT FORMS TO REGISTER FUEL DEALERS

Registration Now Scheduled For Next Week; Dates Confuse Board

Although the war price and rationing board is expected to register for the fuel oil rationing program next Tuesday and Wednesday they have yet to receive a single one of the many forms which must be filled out and which must be provided to the oil companies for distribution to their customers.

Originally scheduled to be held this week, the registration was postponed by the OPA until next week. Ruel E. Daniels, board chairman, said last night that he had learned that none of the forms to be used are as yet in the hands of the Newark regional office of OPA.

Puzzled was the ration board by the announcement in the press yesterday that householders using fuel oil and others are expected to fill out forms and have them returned to the ration board for checking and distribution of coupon books by Saturday, November 7. This would be four days after the forms are given to the dealers for distribution to their customers.

Four Represent Chapter At Red Cross Session

Representing the local Red Cross chapter yesterday at a regional conference at the Essex house, Newark, were the executive secretary, Miss Esther P. Adams; Mrs. Louis Noll, B. Thomas Aiken and John Hewitt, J. Harrison Heckman, supervisor of the North Atlantic area of the Red Cross, was one of the speakers.

Also addressing the conference was Alfred S. Campbell, Red Cross field director with the Marine corps in the Pacific area. Mr. Campbell, recently returned to this country, was eyewitness to battles in the Solomon Islands. He outlined the activities of the Red Cross in that locality.

TEST FOR STATE MEN CANCELLED

No New Date Set Yet For Civilian Defense Corps Workout

The "Incident" test scheduled to be held last night so representatives of the state defense council could observe local civilian volunteers in action was postponed because of rain.

Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan said that no new date had been set for the various services to go through their paces for J. J. Spurr and William J. H. McEnroe, representing the state. The cancellation was announced at 3 p. m. yesterday afternoon following a conference between Sullivan and McEnroe.

It was planned to hold five incidents with the state men observing the functioning of the control center at town hall on the first three and go into the field to watch the last two.

Speakers' Table At Sonneborn Fete

NEXT THURSDAY COLLECTION DAY FOR TIN CANS

Hope To Get 26.5 Tons; Three Times Last Amount Received

Next Thursday is the day for householders to put more tin cans at the curb than they have on any previous town-wide collection day by the salvage committee. Sydney Browne, chairman of the tin can section of the group, suggests that cans be placed at the curb early in the morning to be picked up by a truck loaned for the campaign by the local scavenger, Charles Cuzzo.

Belleville, according to Robert G. Sutherin, salvage director, has been given a quota for this collection of 26.5 tons. This means that nearly three times as many cans must be taken in on Thursday as was during the collection late in August.

To prepare tin cans, householders must remove the labels, cut off the tops and bottoms, wash the cans and then press them flat, but leave a small clearance for the swishing of detinning chemicals in the reclaiming process.

Since last week's story in The Times in which the salvagers sought to drum up some patriotic enthusiasm among residents by suggesting that failure to give cans is keeping a big bomber from flying, there have been some complaints made to The Times concerning inability of residents to receive information on the collection of the cans.

Would Have Told Them. Protests were made that calls to the town hall for information resulted in nothing being learned. Chairman Sutherin said that he could not understand it because all connected with the drive knew collection days. Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan said that if calls had been directed to him the parties would have received the information.

MONTGOMERY'S 20TH ANNIVERSARY

Sunday Service To Commemorate Event; Also Marks Sunday School Start

Montgomery Presbyterian church in Mill street will observe its 20th anniversary at services which will be held on Sunday. The church, started originally as a Sunday school in 1826, was for a number of years affiliated with the Westminster church of Bloomfield and did not break away from it until October 25, 1922.

In addition to the principal sermon and address which will be made by Rev. Oliver W. Chapin, who has been the church's pastor for the past year, C. H. Demarest of Bloomfield, who is one of the church leaders, will read the history of Montgomery dating back to the Sunday school in 1826 and greetings will be given by Raymond Williams, representing the Westminster church.

Originally known as Soho Presbyterian Sunday school, when organized in April, 1826, before public schools were established by law, the three R's were taught as well as religious subjects.

This school continued more than 30 years, and for 27 of them Elias Osborne was superintendent. In 1860 it was discontinued, but about 1880 it was revived by some students of the theological seminary of Bloomfield. They ran the school for seven years in the Hendricks Brothers Copper works, which stood on the present site of the chapel.

Lacked Teachers

Again the school closed, not so much for lack of scholars but because teachers were not always available. In the fall of 1891, Margaret Ann Williamson, who had attended the school and later taught there, applied to the Westminster Presbyterian church of Bloomfield for aid in reopening it. On September 15, 1891, it opened once more in the old Montgomery schoolhouse with five teachers and 13 pupils. There was an immediate influx of students.

Long Time Between Handshakes

FAR APART ONCE AGAIN are Sgt. William Brady and Pvt. James Donachie, well-known members of the Petrean club and active in St. Peter's church. The picture was taken in Los Angeles when the two long-time buddies, who were inducted into the army at the same time last March, met in Los Angeles, Cal. after more than six months' separation.

Bill, then with the pilot fighter group of the army air forces at Murco field, Cal., is now on his way overseas from an Atlantic coast port, while Jimmie, with the air corps ground forces, is in the hospital at Camp Croft, S. C. recuperating from an operation.

Brady was the organizer and first president of the Petrean club, while Donachie was one of its most active members.

BELLEVILLE AVE. GIRL IN WAVES

Edith C. Petrie Town's First; Nulley Girl, Former Resident, Also Joins

Two young women, one a local resident and another who formerly resided here, whose father heads a local firm, are members of the WAVES, recently organized women's auxiliary unit of the navy. In training at the University of Wisconsin is Miss Edith C. Petrie, 24-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ellene Petrie of 242 Belleville avenue.

At the Oklahoma University of Agriculture is Miss Janet Forbes of Nutley, who formerly resided here. Both girls are Belleville high school graduates.

Miss Petrie has been in Wisconsin for the past two weeks where she has been in training as a radio operator. Before volunteering for the service she was employed as a private secretary by the British Purchasing commission in New York. From the first day that there was an indication that the government would take women into the service, she wanted to enlist, but was quite determined that she would not enter the WAVES, leaving the participation in the army as far as the Petrie family is concerned to her 26-year-old brother, William, who is in the army and is serving overseas in Ireland. A local high school graduate, he has been in the service for more than a year.

Interested In Dramatics. Miss Petrie, who is the first girl in town to join the WAVES, was a member of the dramatic society at St. Peter's church and also of the choir. Interested in dramatics from the days when she was in high school, she studied the subject in the evenings at a New York school.

Soldier Show Falls Short In Effort To Raise $500

The fashion show at Hearn's for the benefit of the soldiers of the Silver Lake sections, under the direction of Miss Marie Seritella did not make the $500 mark expected. Only $453.60 was realized, but it is hoped that the $500 will be reached by Saturday.

The show was given in order that all the men in service from this section might receive a Christmas gift. Several soldiers and sailors from the Penn Station U.S.O. were present at the show. The principal speaker and guest of honor was Miss Emilie Williams, supervisor and instructor of the Medical Center, who has recently returned from Greece where she spent 12 years as representative of the American Women's hospitals in Europe.

POLICE AND FIRE BILLS KILLED

Mayor Says He's Opposed To Any Promotions; Delay Wall Ordinance

Two ordinances sponsored by the late Commissioner Clark to increase the membership of the police and fire departments and to provide for promotions were killed by the unanimous action of the town board at its special meeting Monday night.

Clark's successor will study the situation after which the board will consider the drafting of new measures if it is felt that additional help is needed. Mayor Williams indicated that he would oppose any plan which would provide for promotions in the department, contending that particularly in the police ranks there is a sufficient number of superior officers. The late director's bill proposed an additional captain, lieutenant and another sergeant to take charge of the departments until the vacancy caused by the death of Clark is filled.

The board delayed action on the passage of an ordinance to provide funds for the construction of a wall along the Second river from the Bloomfield line east to the National Grain Vast corporation at a cost of $58,000.

It prompted a verbal tiff between Mayor Williams and Commissioner Noll after the latter had declared that he had had a delegation of Belwood Park residents call on him protesting the construction of the wall.

To Receive Paving Bids

Bids will be received by the town commission Friday night, October 30, at a special meeting for paving and laying storm and sanitary sewers in Brighton avenue from Newark avenue 400 feet north and in Carpenter terrace, north and south. It is planned to put six-inch concrete pavement in all three streets. The special meeting will be held at 8 p. m.

HOUSE DIVISION RETURNS CHEER CHEST LEADERS

In Five Days Raise More Than Half Of Total They Got In 1941

Community-War Chest leaders were hopeful last night that the early pace being set in the house-to-house drive would be indicative of the entire campaign. Based on reports of returns for the first five days, the canvassers working out of districts set by the nine elementary school zones have already raised half as much as was received in the entire drive by the house-to-house division last year.

At midnight last night, Hugh L. Kittle, campaign manager, reported that $3,358.44 had been pledged or received in cash. While this is approximately 10 percent of the $35,000 goal which it is hoped will be reached by October 31, Kittle pointed out that there are still many divisions which have given no reports and those which have, have only scratched the surface in their appeal for funds.

Of the total reported, $1,238.44 was turned in by the house-to-house campaign. The industrial section headed by Elwood Russell of Wallace & Tiernan has turned over $1,687. Others showing returns are special gifts, $50; out-of-town, $310; churches and organizations, $47; clubs and veterans' organizations, $70; and professional group, $1.

Get 33 Times More. Showing the spirit of the workers, which includes school teachers, high school students and many parents, Kittle pointed to the Silver Lake section where solicitors have already received 10 times as much money as was collected in the area last year.

School principals are in charge of each of the nine districts. The returns from each are as follows: School No. 1, $170.95; School No. 2, $11; School No. 3, $448.49; School No. 4, $118.40; School No. 5, $189.30; School No. 7, $103.84; School No. 8, $200.95; School No. 9, $24; and School No. 10, $121.60.

DEDICATE NEW ORGAN SUNDAY

Archbishop Walsh To Give Blessing; Thomas Haney Presents Recital

The giant new organ at St. Peter's church will be blessed and dedicated by His Excellency Most Rev. Archbishop Thomas J. Walsh, S.T.D., C.I., at special services on Sunday at 3 p. m. A three manual electric pneumatic organ, it is said to be one of the largest of its kind constructed in this country in recent years.

Built by the National Organ Supply corporation of Erie, Pa., the instrument was installed by John Markos of Bloomfield with Frederick Durst, president of the Organ Supply corporation, Prof. Nicoli A. Montani of Philadelphia and Thomas A. Haney, St. Peter's organist, as the craftsmen.

The feature of the program will be the playing of a dedicatory program by Haney assisted by the St. Peter choir, also directed by him. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Thomas J. Gilhooly of Seton Hall college, South Orange.

Following the blessing by Archbishop Walsh, the organist will present the first portion of his program which will include "Lift Up Your Heads", Handel-Guilment; "Nocturne F Sharp Major", Chopin; "To A Wild Rose", MacDowell; and "Ave Maria", Schubert. The latter three are piano compositions adapted for the organ by Haney.

After the playing of Sonata No. 3, Guincent, the choir will be heard in "O Praise the Name of the Lord", Tschaiakowsky; "Ave Maria", Vittoria-Montani; "Emitted Spiritum Tuum", F. Joseph Schuetky.

The organist will then offer "Teccata ans Fugue in D Minor", Bach; "Improvisation" on an original theme in F Minor, his own composition. The choir will then sing "Angeli", Palestrina; "Tantum Ergo", Perosi; and will conclude with the singing of the national anthem with the congregation. The recessional will be Rheinberger's "Agitato" from Sonata No. 11.

The general public is invited to attend the dedication and recital.

Capitol Theatre To Aid Pupils' Salvage Drive

The Capitol theatre will help to spur on the drive by the elementary school youngsters to collect worn, soiled metal between November 3 and 7. The first 1,200 youngsters who bring at least 10 pounds of metal, rags or old rubber to school will receive a badge which will admit them to a special Saturday morning matinee at the theatre on November 7.

The matinee has been arranged by Robert Clark, Capitol manager, as the theatre's contribution to the salvage drive.

At Feldman's Dept. Store, 115 Washington Ave., Belleville, If the holder of Sales Certificate No. 012, dated October 12, or call—they will receive information.

CANTEENERS FEED WOMAN'S CLUB

Corn Beef, Scalloped Potatoes Feature Meal; Start New Class Soon

One of the three canteen groups under the sponsorship of the Red Cross, served luncheon Monday to members of the Woman's club at the Rossmore place clubhouse. It demonstrated the kind of work canteen members can and would do should it become necessary.

Canteen leaders feel that preparation and serving of food is as necessary in an emergency as first aid. The work is important because it is food which helps people to withstand hardships after they have been through an ordeal. Most important factors of canteen work are quantity and quality.

Members of the canteen must be able to serve stimulating and healthful food in quantities. To do this, certain menus are stressed which fill the bill. Stews, soups, and sandwiches are foods most easy to prepare in bulk. During the floods which swept some Southern states recently relief workers there stressed the amount of soup that had been used in helping the sufferers. Mixture of canned soups are acceptable during an emergency to provide the necessary vitamin content which might not otherwise be possible.

Whoops!—They Had Coffee

The menu for the Monday luncheon was one that had been chosen from several submitted to the group for their approval by other members. It consisted of raw vegetable salad, bread and butter sandwiches on cracked wheat and white bread, fruit cup, scalloped potatoes and corned beef, cookies and tea or coffee. The charge for the luncheon was 40 cents which just covered the cost of food, since the canteen does not work for profit.

Cleanliness, one of the most important factors in canteen work, was stressed at the luncheon, which was carried out in canteen style. The tables were set with napkins since it would not be possible to have table clothes in an emergency. The women served themselves from a long table covered with white oilcloth.

In case of emergency, the canteen groups are aided by the motor corps for transportation facilities. The canteen women are equipped to set up stations wherever an emergency occurs.

The uniforms of blue and white with tri-cornered hats signify women who are ready to help. A new class in nutrition will begin shortly under the leadership of Miss Margaret Carter, who will carry out a program along lines suggested by the Red Cross. The group in Belleville is seeking new members so that any women who would like to belong to the canteen unit may take the nutrition course under Miss Carter, to qualify.

and the teaching staff had to be enlarged until it was comprised of 21 teachers, five from Belleville and the immediate neighborhood, and the other 16 from Bloomfield.

By this time the need for a chapel had become apparent. Westminster church pledged its financial support. Money was raised locally, and the old school house was eventually torn down. The chapel erected in its stead was dedicated March 15, 1896. In a few years, 1903, the original gymnasium and a pair of bowling alleys had been constructed through the generosity of a member of Westminster.

The gymnasium and part of the building including the organ was destroyed by fire, but with the insurance, arrangements were made to rebuild damage done.

Wilson S. Phraner, who had become the school's sole superintendent, conducted services most frequently. In April, 1896, he was officially licensed by the Presbytery as a lay preacher. It was not until December 8, 1915, however, that he was regularly ordained at Westminster church.

Still, Montgomery remained merely an adjunct to Westminster church. In the fall of 1922, however, 108 members of the congregation petitioned the Presbytery to grant them independence. The request was granted and the church, adopting the name of Montgomery Presbyterian church of Belleville, was formally organized on October 25, 1922, and extended a call to Rev. Phraner, who accepted and was installed as the first pastor on December 14, 1922.

NEED HOUSEWIVES AS NURSES' AIDES

Plenty Of Volunteers, But Most Are Business Women; Day Class Wednesday

A good response to the call for nurses' aides was reported at Monday evening meeting of the local Red Cross chapter by Mrs. Kel Bamford, chairman of that part of the emergency program. Many of the volunteers were business women, or those otherwise occupied during the day, and while a definite time has not been set for evening classes for these women, a daytime class will start Wednesday. Mrs. Bamford hopes that more volunteers will be immediately forthcoming from the ranks of housewives and women who can arrange to take classroom and hospital instruction in the daytime.

The Newark chapter has offered to provide classroom instruction without cost to Belleville women at their headquarters, 710 High street, Newark. After 35 hours of such work, which is accomplished by semi-weekly classes for six weeks, the nurses' aides will be assigned to various Newark hospitals for the remaining 45 hours of instruction.

All applicants will receive a physical examination without charge. Those who can register for daytime classes are urged to telephone Mrs. Bamford at once, at least before tomorrow evening. She may be reached at Be. 2-2601 or Be. 2-3198-J.

Keep Fit To Do Your Job

OFFICE WORKER, you list yourself, thinking it pretty unglamorous these days. But even if unconnected with a war industry, your work is important to the men behind the men behind the guns. A day's absence, a week's lassitude, can set a schedule off keel. It's your business to keep as healthy as possible, so get the rest you need, take the exercise you require and eat the right foods. You may think you do that now, but do you really know what are the right kind of meals for you?

If you wish, our Home Economics Department will help you work out menus, give you recipes and suggest meals that are both nourishing and easy to prepare.

These Are The Vitamins That Build Health and Energy

Vitamin A is the anti-infective and growth-promoting vitamin. Its lack results in susceptibility to colds and other ailments. . . its insufficiency in children results in scrawny and stunted growth. Principal source, halibut liver oil.

Vitamin B is "the spark plug of the human system" . . . it tones the nervous and digestive systems, promoting growth, appetite and energy. It also helps to remove lactic acid from the blood stream, thus eliminating the feeling of fatigue. Principal sources, yeast and wheat-germ.

Vitamin C protects and feeds the capillaries under the skin; it helps to heal wounds, and prevents scurvy. Modern diet is usually lacking in this vitamin because it is easily destroyed by cooking. Principal sources, tomatoes and oranges when freshly picked.

Vitamin D is the "sunshine" vitamin. Tests show that it remedies the disorders caused by the deficiency of ultra violet in this climate's sunshine. Without it, normal formation of blood and bone ceases, resulting in rickets, sagging muscles and decay of the teeth. Principal source, cod liver oil.

Vitamin E is the "anti-sterility" vitamin. It has additional important uses in that it promotes mental vigor and tones the muscles. Principal source, wheat-germ.

Vitamin G is the riboflavin factor of the B vitamin that improves stomach tone, remedies skin eruptions and loss of red blood corpuscles. Principles sources yeast and liver.

Halibut Liver Oil and Viosterol Capsules—Each capsule equals 4½ teaspoons of cod liver oil in Vitamin A, plus 3 teaspoons in Vitamin D. Box of 25 for 59c. Box of 100 for 1.69.

A-B-D-G Vitamin Capsules—The original "all-vitamin" capsule, each one as good as 4½ teaspoons of cod liver oil in Vitamin A, 3 teaspoons in Vitamin D, 2 cakes of yeast in Vitamin B, and a half-cake in Vitamin G. Take two a day for a healthy winter. Box of 25, 63c. Box of 100, 1.84.

Speed Up Surgical Dressing Work, Need More Women

Red Cross Volunteers Complete August Quota; Start September, October Work; More Blood Donors Wanted For Nov. 20 Event

Mrs. Harvey Thompson announced the completion of the August quota of surgical dressings at the Monday evening meeting of the local Red Cross chapter. September and October dressings will be started at once in the Recreation house and St. Peter's hall workrooms where volunteers meet three days weekly.

The workroom at St. Peter's has been changed, through the kindness of Rev. Joseph M. Kelly, to the hall in the new building where better heating facilities are available. More workers are needed and may register by calling Red Cross headquarters at Be. 2-2111.

The second visit of the mobile unit for the collection of blood plasma in Belleville will be made on November 20. Donors will go to the new gymnasium of the high school on that day between 2 and 7 p.m. Since 150 donors are needed and only 125 registrations have been secured so far, volunteers are asked to telephone headquarters without delay and sign up.

Juniors Ship Gift Boxes

300 gift boxes were shipped last week by the Junior Red Cross under the direction of Miss William H. Williams, to refugees children in Europe and school children in the British Isles.

Miss Margaret Carver, home economics instructor at the high school, has received her certification from the Red Cross to conduct nutrition and canteen classes for Belleville women. John Hewitt, nutrition chairman of the chapter, will announce the formation of these classes in the near future.

An increasing number of inquiries and messages are being handled by the chapter between members of the armed forces or the residents of unoccupied countries and their Belleville relatives. These messages, which clear through the International Red Cross at Geneva and are forwarded by the national organization to Belleville, are delivered by members of the Motor been met with favorably by the public.

Court Clerk Fred B. Handlon, spokesman for the group, said last night that there had been only a few isolated instances in which requests had been made for the return of funds. The committee proposes to add the money which was paid for banquet tickets to the $1,350 which has already been collected and is already on deposit in the First National bank for the purchase of an ambulance to replace the four-year old vehicle now in service which has traveled more than 40,000 miles and has carried more than 4,000 sick and injured.

The committee will honor all requests for the return of money up until November 15. After that date, all money which has been paid for tickets to the dinner, which was to have been held for the late commissioner tonight, will be placed in the ambulance fund.

ROTARY SPIRIT STILL PREVAILS

District Governor Lankard Says World-Wide Group Will Survive War

Dr. Frank Glenn Lankard, dean of Brothers college of Drew university at Madison, met with the officers and directors of the Belleville Rotary club yesterday morning at Forest Hill Field club in his capacity as governor of the 182nd district of Rotary International for a discussion of the organization's work. Speaking later before the entire club at luncheon Dr. Lankard illustrated how the principles of Rotary may be applied in the present international emergency.

Although the organization has been completely cut off in some nations, Dr. Lankard assured his hearers, that the spirit of Rotary survives and will be promptly re-established when the pressure of war is removed. The motivating principles of friendship and service before self are ideally suited to the needs which the post-war period will bring.

IN THE STILL OF THE NIGHT...

a man can do a lot of thinking

—a lot of wondering about the folks back home!

Don't let a fighting man lie awake nights worrying about his loved ones when you've got what it takes to relieve his anxiety. Yes, money—that's what it takes—those dollars we were so accustomed to wasting, in other ways, on trivialities and small luxuries . . . dollars that now have a new mission in life; to make the home front strong, to preserve the American way of life, the institutions for which men gladly fight and sometimes die.

Since December 7th our united organizations have been mobilized to do their full share toward winning the war . . . Our job begins at home—where victory begins . . . to keep alive our interest in the boys in training and in serving them; to help our scouts prepare for the future; to keep our community and visiting nurse services functioning. We must do such a wonderful job at home that not a single boy abroad will lose determination or fighting spirit through lack of confidence in his neighbors to do right by those he left behind.

What price victory if our home front is permitted to collapse—our American way of life to be destroyed? We cannot fail . . . we will not fail . . . for this is the only price America cannot afford to pay for victory.

Your contribution to victory is needed. In just ten more days, Belleville's campaign will end. Will you give more than you thought you could by then?

Belleville Community and War Chest Drive

Ends Saturday, October 31st.

KEEP THE HOME FRONT STRONG WHERE VICTORY BEGINS

Teachers Working At Night

In his remarks to the members of the public schools' teaching staff at the opening of the school term in September, Superintendent of Schools Parmer said in part, referring to teacher relationship to the war: "There probably never was a time when tolerance was so threatened or when straight thinking was so much at a premium. Our teachers must lead the way, not only in the preservation of these values, but also in the conscious development of them."

The schools have been given the tremendous task of preparing men for the fighting front, men and women for the production front and to serve as leaders and help the remaining pupils and parents to play their part on the home front. We have not heard of any teachers receiving medals, and when this war has ended, it is doubtful if any will then be pinned upon their breasts. They do need and deserve full recognition for their work and the important service which they are rendering. They are entitled to a full understanding of their problems and the cooperation of all.

The schools have been given a challenge — the ever-pressing need of which grows each week as this country speeds up its pace in the battle of the democracies. Teachers must be the basic trainers for millions more who will take their place in years to come.

We were surprised to learn this week that the majority of the male members of the high school faculty have taken part-time, night jobs in defense plants or other commercial enterprises. Not because they possess a superabundance of patriotism, for they have the opportunity to give all that they possess in their contacts with the pupils, but because they have found that under the continual rise in the cost of living they are unable to make ends meet financially on the salaries which are being paid to them to teach school.

The question which we put forth — is it possible for these teachers to be physically and mentally alert to give their best in the classroom after they have worked a number of hours the previous night? At a time when the demand is made for teachers to give their utmost in knowledge, guidance and ability to instruct our boys and girls it is wise, and practical that these people should be employed in additional occupations which cannot help but take their toll on their abilities?

It appears they are not to be blamed. The majority of them are married, most have families. They must eat and they must have a place to live. Neither is gained cheaply today it must be admitted.

If these employees work five, six or seven hours extra after each school day when do they have the time properly to prepare their classroom programs, especially in the present day of swiftly changing events which demands consultation and guidance which some students do need?

The desire has been frequently expressed for teachers to take a greater part in community activities. They can't work in two jobs and do that, too. At present, the majority of them are playing a leading part in the Community-War Chest drive. During the past year they have responded readily when called upon to assist in the registrations for the draft and those required by the OPA for the rental of houses and for gasoline and sugar rationing. It seems evident that there has been a great willingness on their part to do all that has been asked of them.

There can be no weak spot in the battle line of the democracies. Free education — the teaching of the right of man to think, write, act and say what he pleases without fear — is the cornerstone of the fortress which is being built against the continued progress of the Axis nations in their graving to rule the world.

Here in Belleville we are determined that there shall be no weak spots. If a condition exists which may be gradually undermining a strong educational front, then it should be remedied. If teachers find it necessary to work in defense plants after school hours, there's something wrong.

This is merely one illustration which has been given by the government as a demonstration of the vital importance of tin. Every one of us has some relative or friend in the armed service. We want to be sure that each of them is receiving the best possible equipment so that they will be able to fight and to defend themselves in the best way which is possible. We don't want them to be shortchanged and we can help to assure that they won't if we will be sure to save every one of our tin cans. It is not only for next Thursday, but for a lot of Thursdays which are still to come.

There may have been flaws in the collection plan which is now in operation. Mistakes may have been made. They must be expected. But, essentially the thought of the town and certainly of the salvage committee is to collect all of the tin cans that is possible.

More than 100 patriotic Belleville residents have already contributed a pint of their blood in the first blood-taking session which was held here early in July. The local Red Cross chapter has now scheduled another visit of the mobile unit from New York for November 20. They hope that at least 150 volunteers will appear. According to the latest reports, they are still short of this goal. It is hoped that within the next week a number of volunteers will appear who are willing and able to give a pint of blood which may save the life of some man in a distant corner of the globe — a man whom they may even know.

paredness. This has been the fault of numerous of the defense leaders as well as the women themselves. The women playing important roles in civilian defense can be counted on one hand — not more than two, certainly.

We do not say that the women of Belleville are unpatriotic. They have neglected to respond, wholeheartedly because no one has asked them, because they had not thought about it or because we have some of the opposite sex who still think that the woman's place is in the home and that women can't do anything anyway.

There is an immense job for the women of Belleville to perform. They are needed and they should respond, taking an equal place with the men, few of whom are any more capable than the womenfolk of carrying on most of the tasks.

Bridge is a nice game — we like it — so's pinocle, gin rummy and parchese. Getting the latest advice on interior decorating, hearing the lowdown on the girl on the next block who ran away with the sailor to get married, dunking cookies in tea are pleasant, peace-time activities, but this is war — and it's time that some of us — yes, a whole lot of us — wised up and did something useful, constructive and patriotic.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville Times.

Women hold the answer to the outcome of the Congressional election on November 3rd. What the women will do is as usual an enigma. In 1920 when they voted for the first time the Republicans received a majority greater on a percentage basis than even President Roosevelt got in 1936. That doesn't mean they will vote Republican this year, but it does indicate they don't do things by half measure.

My own belief is that the women in New Jersey this year will tend to vote Republican. I base this belief more on the feeling against Frank Hague than any dissatisfaction with Senator Smathers — or President Roosevelt whom he claims to represent so faithfully. Hague in the public mind is about three parts villain and one part hero. But I would guess that the villainous percentage is somewhat higher than women voters. Women are less cynical than men and tend to get their opinions more from press, radio and public speakers. All of these groups have lambasted Hague so savagely for so many years that public opinion has almost surely been substantially affected.

Scientific judgment of this election is nearly impossible. All the analyst can do is to guess. We know that the vote will be less because some 20 percent of all male voters are in the army. This means that the election will be decided by 100 percent of the usual female vote and only 80 percent of the male electorate. There is no precedent to guide in this because women didn't vote in 1918 when a similar percentage of male voters were away.

Hawkes To Carry Essex

So the following predictions should be taken with proper reservations. They are guesses and put out as such. First, I predict that Albert W. Hawkes will carry Essex by more than 40,000 votes. Second, that the Hudson majority for Smathers will probably fall below 110,000 votes. Third, that Hawkes will carry New Jersey by more than 100,000 votes.

A final check may cause some revision of these figures next week. But such revisions will probably be slight. In New Jersey this looks like a Republican year, and it may look even more so a week from today.

Help clear the lines

for the rising tide of War Calls

War use of the telephone is tremendous—and growing. But the present telephone system cannot be further enlarged—copper and other materials must go for munitions rather than for more telephone wires and switchboards.

What we now have must serve throughout the war emergency. Your help is needed to keep the rising volume of war messages moving promptly.

LONG DISTANCE . . . Make only necessary calls and avoid rush hours. If possible call before 10 a. m., between noon and 2 p. m., between 5 and 7 p. m. or after 9 p. m. Plan your call to make it brief and effective. Call by number when you can; it usually means a quicker connection.

LOCAL CALLS . . . Make it a family rule to avoid unnecessary calls and keep all conversations brief. Be sure you have the correct number. Consult your Telephone Directory before calling "Information". Answer promptly, and give persons you call time enough to get to the telephone. If you share a party line, be considerate of your neighbors on the line.
