Christmas Club Hits New $220,000 High; Checks Out Tuesday

The town's two banks will send combined Thanksgiving and early Christmas gifts to 3,413 customers next Tuesday when the postmen will deliver Christmas Club checks totalling $222,000. It represents the largest amount ever contributed to the club plan in local banking history.

The total figure represents a seven percent gain over the $206,500 contributed in 1941, which was the last previous high and was a gain of nearly 25 percent over the amount paid out in 1940.

The First National bank will pay out $140,000 to 2,029 members, according to Cashier Frank J. McFadden. At the Peoples National, 1,384 checks for $82,000 will be mailed, Albert P. Luscombe, executive vice-president reported.

The checks will be put into the post office on Monday night so that local members should receive them in the first mail on Tuesday morning.

The 1943 club will open at the First National bank on Monday, November 30, while the Peoples National has announced that it will start to enroll members at the new club next Wednesday.

Officials of both banks announced that a one dollar fee would be charged on the accounts being opened for 1943. It was explained that increased costs in handling the club accounts plus the declining returns on investments made by the banks had prompted the action.

Average Check $65.04

While the total amount paid in was swelled, there were nine less members in the two banks' clubs than last year. The Peoples National bank reported 61 less members for 1942, while a gain of 52 was shown at the First National.

The average check at the Peoples National bank will amount to $52.24, while the First National average will be $68.98.

The Peoples has the edge over the First National this year in gain over money paid into the club above the 1941 figure. With $82,000 being paid out, the bank is $8,500 ahead of the total distributed last year. The First National shows an increase of $7,000.

The Christmas club plan has enjoyed its greatest success and popularity here with the boom in the economy and war industries. The $222,000 is $36,671 greater than the $185,329 sum paid out in the pre-depression boom year of 1929.

For 12 years, it stood as the high figure until topped by last year's $206,500.

Well Ahead Of Nation

The local train in the amount to be distributed is well ahead of the nation-wide increase of only two percent as reported by the National Christmas Club. Five thousand banking institutions are distributing more than $410,000,000 to eight million members, according to Herbert F. Rawl, founder and president of the Christmas club. The small increase in membership was credited by Rawl to Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941.

He explained that on December 7 millions of people throughout the country stopped doing many things until December 20. This period, he said, is the peak time for enlistment and many thousands of men who were Christmas club members in 1941 failed to join in 1942.

Based on reports of what Christmas Club members did with their money last year, it is generally estimated that 30 percent of the money distributed will be used for the purchase of holiday gifts. Permanent savings plans will be at an about 22 percent, taxes 13 percent and war bond purchases about 12 percent.

New Jersey ranks fourth among the states in the amounts which will be distributed. Banks in New Jersey are paying out $29,000,000. New York is first with $110,000,000; Pennsylvania, $43,000,000; and Massachusetts, $38,000,000.

Below is a comparative table showing how the popularity of the Christmas Club has grown since its inception in 1929.

DIMOUT ORDER BY ARMY NEWS TO TOWN OGD

Supposed To Be Effective Tomorrow Night; Know Only What's in Papers

Although the army has ordered new dimout regulations to go into effect tomorrow, local defense council and police officials have yet to receive official notification of the orders and it was indicated until last night that no action would be taken to curb violations.

It means that until an official interpretation of the regulations is received by the council from the state defense office or from the area office in Newark, compliance with the army's orders by residents, automobile drivers and business and industrial firms will be voluntary.

Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan said that he had not received any official word up until last night, and knew only what he had read in the newspapers. Sullivan said that he had called William J. H. McEnroe, supervisor of the Newark area office for the state defense council, and had been told that it had no word and that the local council should not act until something official is received.

No Order On Headlights

Police Chief George Spatz said that no instructions have been sent to the department for dealing with the painting out of the top half of headlights on all automobiles, buses and trucks or the shading of lights on buses.

The defense coordinator said that no action would be taken locally until an official order and explanation of the new regulations is received from McEnroe or the state council. The new provisions were discussed at Monday night's meeting of the defense council Sullivan explained to the members that his only knowledge of the plans has been obtained through a copy of the detailed regulations issued on Monday by Maj. Gen. T. A. Terry, commander of the headquarters second service command at Governors Island, N.Y., which he had obtained from a representative of The Times.

Copies of Terry's orders were received by newspapers on Saturday for release on Monday. Defense leaders pointed to one of the final clauses in Maj. Gen. Terry's orders which states: "state and local civil authorities within the states of New Jersey, New York and Delaware, with their consent, are designated as the principal agencies to assist in the enforcement of these regulations."

What About Window Shades?

No policy was adopted at Monday's meeting, Sullivan said. One of the confusing points raised was how the new regulations apply to residences. Sullivan said he personally interprets the ruling to mean that all shades in windows (Continued on Page 5)

Display advertising copy will be accepted up until Monday morning. The deadline for the acceptance of classified advertisements will be 4 p.m. on Monday.

The regular publication date will be resumed the following week.

NO NEW ACTION ON TOWN BOARD POST VACANCY

Deadlock Again Tuesday Is Predicted; Mertz Up Again?

The question of filling the vacancy on the town commission failed to cause any political explosions this week although it provoked plenty of gossip along the way. The four members of the town commission will meet again on Tuesday night.

It is expected that Commissioners King and Noll will again present the name of Raymond E. Mertz, sixth man in the May commission race. Last week Mayor Williams and Commissioner Watson were against the naming of Mertz after it was presented by the other pair.

This provoked one of the worst name-calling sessions that has been seen in the commission chambers in recent years. The result of the first poll did not dishearten Mertz supporters, but only provoked them to greater activity.

There were reports that emissaries from both sides were in circulation in an effort to pour oil on the troubled waters and attempt to persuade one of the commissioners who at the present indicates that he will not alter his position to topple over on the other side of the fence.

The predictions were pretty strong yesterday that a decision would not be reached next Tuesday and many were of the opinion that it would be a long time before the four board members would agree on a candidate. (Continued on Page 5)

10,000 LB. FAT QUOTA IS SET

Amount Sought For Dec. Is 10 Times Greater Than This Month's

Speeding up the demands which it is making on every household to go all-out for salvage to help win the war, the state salvage committee this week notified the local committee that its fat and grease quota for December would be 10,562 pounds.

The figure sent salvage leaders reeling for they estimate that only 1,000 pounds will be turned in to butcher shops by housewives this month. Under the direction of Mrs. Mae Holden, the fat committee reports that 660 pounds was received by stores in September and 891 pounds in October.

Determined to do as good as is possible, and to let householders know that the job of salvaging never ends, the committee will combine the campaign to collect more tin cans with the drive for more fats and greases.

Over the weekend, the Boy Scout service corps under the direction of Louis Zuckerman will distribute more than 7,000 pamphlets prepared by the war production board on coming waste fats.

Salvage Chairman Robert G. Sutherland pointed out that the government wants millions of pounds of fats monthly. Most of it will be used in the manufacture of glycerine which is one of the vital materials used in the manufacture of explosives. The supply of vegetable fats, which was formerly used in making glycerine, most of which came from the Far East has been cut off by the war.

What To Do

The salvage committee lists four things that every household should do:

1. Save all waste cooking fats. Save pan drippings from roast ham, beef, lamb and poultry. Save broiler drippings from steaks, chops, veal and bacon. Save deep fat, whether lard or vegetable shortening, from fried potatoes, fish, doughnuts etc.
2. Pour into clean wide-mouthed can. It is best to pour into a coffee or vegetable shortening can or something similar. Be sure the can is spotlessly clean.
3. Strain fats as you pour them.

TOWN IS SEVENTH IN STATE TIN CAN COLLECTION

12-Ton Return In October Ranks High; Store Depot Plan Working

Although still far from the monthly goal set by the salvage committee, Belleville ranks in seventh place among the state's municipalities in the collection of tin cans based on reports for October, according to Clinton M. White, New Jersey salvage director.

Figures given out by the Vulcan Dinning company of Sewen show that Belleville turned in 12 tons of tin cans from local households last month.

Newark sent the largest total, 68 tons, among New Jersey municipalities. Jersey City ranked next with 56 tons followed by Passaic with slightly more than 18 tons, Plainfield and Bayonne 15 tons, Paterson 14, and Trenton and Perth Amboy at 12 with Passaic.

More Than 100 Stores Used

Sidney A. Brown, tin section chairman, reported that those in the beverage industry are already pleased with the latest innovation attempted locally in the collection of tins. Used as an experimental community in the plan conceived by leading firms in the trade, more than 100 local stores handling bottled beverages are acting as depots for tin cans.

Householders may leave their cans at these stores where they will be picked up weekly by a truck from one of the companies. A receipt for a number of tin cans collected is given to the storekeeper by the driver. Brown said he had been informed by a representative of the beverage industry that it is hoped to have 200 or 300 more stops in town before the end of the month.

Salesmen representing the companies are explaining the plan to store owners and furnishing the literature and displays which are a part of the program. Taverns, as well as other stores handling beverages are being used as collection points. (Continued on Page 5)

RED CROSS TAKES BLOOD SATURDAY

Takes Place In H. S. Gym From 1 to 7 P. M.; 160 Volunteer

For the second time since this country has been at war, local residents performing a patriotic duty on the home front will bare their arms to give blood which may save the life of some American soldier, sailor or marine.

Under the sponsorship of the local chapter, the mobile unit of the American Red Cross from the New York headquarters will visit here on Saturday afternoon to take a pint of blood from each of an estimated 150 volunteers.

Packed in refrigerated boxes, the blood is rushed to a New York laboratory where it is processed into a dry plasma. The powder-like substance is then shipped to military outposts and to warships on far-flung battlefronts where it will be ready for use in an emergency.

Mixed With Distilled Water

One of the outstanding discoveries which modern science has developed in this war to save lives, it is equally as good, if not better, than a regular blood transfusion. The plasma is mixed with distilled water, and one of the advantages is that it can be mixed with any type of blood.

The blood letting will take place in the new high school gymnasium from 1 to 7 p.m. John Charlton is in general charge of arrangements assisted by Daniel Spillane Jr. and Robert Bartholomew. A total of 160 have volunteered to give a pint of blood. They have already been notified by card as to the time it should come to the school. It is estimated that 18 to 20 persons per hour can be handled by the doctors and nurses of the mobile staff. Although 45 minutes is allowed for each person to go through the entire process, the actual blood letting takes between five and 10 minutes.

The canteen unit of the Red Cross, directed by John Hewitt, will be on duty to serve coffee and sandwiches to those who have given blood. Also assisting will be the members of the motor corps who will transport supplies which will be needed and will also bring and take home donors who have no cars. Boy and Girl Scouts will serve as messengers.

The first visit of the mobile unit took place on July 1. It has been donated to the Red Cross by the National Association of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It consists of an ambulance with 10 folding cots and mattresses, 10 folding tables, linens, towels, gowns, medical equipment, receiving bottles and refrigerating boxes kept cold with dry ice into which the bottles of blood are packed for shipment to New York.

Draft Board Fights Calling Married Men Before Xmas; 18-19 Boys Go In January

Girl Scouts Offer Help In Addressing Cards

Girl Scouts are ready to do all kinds of things to help busy fathers and mothers and others who find war activities, in town and at work, making it hard for them to do all of the things which they are supposed to do.

The girls are ready to address Christmas cards, wrap and tie holiday packages or watch children while mothers go shopping.

Any person who wishes such a service should call Mrs. Mae Holden at Belleville 2-4236.

Resigns

Kenneth D. Hamilton

Announcement of the resignation of Kenneth D. Hamilton as vice-president and general manager of Isolantile incorporated, insulation material manufacturer of Boston and New York, a concern specializing in engineering and management.

It was stated that the severance was made under friendly circumstances. George W. Hawkins of Ridgeview has been named to fill the vacancy and began his new duties this week. He was formerly associated with Anderson, Nichols Associates of Boston and New York, a concern specializing in engineering and management.

The draft board is strongly opposed to calling married men with wives but no children for army service before Christmas, it was learned yesterday. This stand was taken despite the apparent fact that to fill the December 5 quota, the board would be required to dig into the list of men who were married before the imminence of induction or before Pearl Harbor.

While the board members realize that married men will be called with monthly regularity shortly, even though 18 and 19-year-old youths will be rushed into the army, they would prefer to fall short of filling their quota for December with its holiday season and make it up in January and February.

If it is found necessary to win its point, it is understood that the board is prepared to take the case to Trenton. The delay in the passage of the amendment to the selective service law permitting the drafting of the 18 and 19-year-olds has created the situation which may result in the calling of married men before Christmas, it was explained.

Get Only One Week

The group of men who were examined and sworn into service on November 6 at the Newark armory will leave town tomorrow morning. They are the last group to be granted a two-week furlough following induction. The December 5 men who take the furlough will be given one week at home to straighten out personal affairs and make the final rounds for farewells.

Many married men, particularly those who do not have children, might as well accept the fact that they will shortly be called to service, it was stated at draft headquarters yesterday. In recent weeks the office has been flooded with inquiries from men in this class, many of whom have immediately said that they would appeal the board's decision. It was explained that the board is powerless and that the appeals in almost all cases would not be granted since the federal selective service authorities have decided to call married men in an effort to meet the needs of the army.

The calling of the 18 and 19-year-old youths will be only a temporary "breather" for those who are married, it was said. When the younger boys were registered, there were about 600 of them. Miss Sadie Slusser, chief clerk of the draft board, estimated that half of this number have already volunteered for some branch of the service and are joining the army. Of the possible 300 who may be subject to call, it is a fair estimate that those who would be accepted would not all more than two quotas.

The first of the questionnaires to be sent to these youths will go out during the next week, it is expected, and the first will be drafted for the army in January.

Babies Who Aren't Dependents

New-born babies and those yet to be born present a continuous problem to the board in re-classifying married men. Attempting to formulate a definite policy on dealing with such cases, the board wrote the national selective services headquarters for an opinion. The reply from Washington was that all babies born before September 8, 1942, are considered dependents, while those who have been born since that date or who will be born in ensuing months are not dependents.

It was explained that selective service will not recognize dependency which has been acquired since December 7, 1941, more popularly referred to as Pearl Harbor. In the case of babies, the position is taken that conception must have taken place prior to the December 7 date.

If It's Coffee You Need, Try The St. Mary's Fair

Booth With Scarce Commodity Main Feature Of Nutley Church Bazaar Opening Tonight For Three Days; To Have Cafeteria

If of coffee your cupboard is bare, head tonight for St. Mary's fair. For, according to reports in the air, there's plenty of it to be had there.

This little ditty is being sung by those who are hoping to make a three-day success of the annual bazaar at St. Mary's church, Nutley, which will open tonight and continues through Saturday. Whether they have been far-sighted or on exceptionally close terms with a coffee importer remains a military secret, but they claim that the grocery booth, one of the fair's main attractions, will be loaded for all of those who are interested with plenty of the stuff which most of us haven't got.

That they are more than amateurish in their peering into the crystal ball of future events is further indicated by the fact that they will beat by a few hours the OPA deadline on the "freezing" of retail sales of coffee. Anyway they are ready to take on all comers who have grown weary of the past month attempting to sniff a pound of coffee in the air hidden away behind the counter at the corner grocery.

Serve Supper Saturday

The bazaar, which has been a yearly event at St. Mary's for a number of years, is being conducted under the general direction of Rev. James J. Owens, pastor, assisted by a large committee of parishioners. One of the features will be a cafeteria which will be open each right to serve coffee, sandwiches and other refreshments. Supper from 6 P. M. on Saturday night.

Returning as a crowd pleaser will be the fishing booth which will again be conducted by William Baird, nationally known casting expert. The interior of the lower church hall where the affair will be held has been decorated in red, white and blue for the occasion.

Hornblower Avenue Youth Near Getting His Wings

Frank E. Brown, Jr., 21, of 262 Hornblower avenue, is nearing successful completion of his basic flight training at Goddard Field, San Angelo, Tex. and soon will move on to advanced school for the last step in his quest of wings.

Upon earning the coveted insignia of Uncle Sam's army air forces war pilots, the young flyer, with classmates of 43-B, will be ready for realization of a long-sought goal—an aerial crack at the axis.

Aviation Cadet Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Brown. In high school, he won letters in basketball and track. Later was an audit clerk in the Prudential Insurance office. He enlisted in the army air forces served at Fort Dix, Sheppard Field, Tex. and Barksdale Field, La. before he was admitted to flight training at primary school, Ballhurst, Tex.

'GO-TO-CHURCH' WEEK SPURRED

Campaign Sponsored By Legion Opens Next Week; Breunlich Is Chairman

The American Legion post is cooperating with the county organization in the sponsorship next week of "Go-to-Church" week, which starts on Monday and will continue through Saturday.

The program is under the general direction of County Commander Nicholas Heyman with all posts in Essex conducting a program urging that all members, those in the women's auxiliary and their families and acquaintances attend a church of their faith during the week. Maj. George K. Weston has direct charge of the campaign.

Directing the local committee is Otto Breunlich, assisted by William Maser, Fred Scheffelt, William Gibbs and Arthur A. MacCready. The committee is urging that Legion members and their friends attend church at least once during the week.

William Konrad, membership chairman, is anxious to contact veterans of the first world war, hoping to interest them in becoming affiliated with the post. Those interested should call him at 514 Washington avenue until 7 p.m. on Saturday night.

A group of Legionnaires will also attend the morning service at the Fewsmithe Presbyterian church on Sunday, November 29 in support of the go-to-church movement.

The post has also been asked to attend the service on Sunday at the Fewsmithe church to honor those now in the armed forces. It will be held at 3:30 P. M.

Kenny Resigns As Secretary Of War Ration Board

Lloyd M. Kenny of Nutley has resigned as executive secretary of the war price and rationing board. He left the position on Saturday for a job in private industry.

Kenny had been associated with the office since the Nutley and Belleville boards were consolidated.

Herbert C. Schmutz, ration chairman, said that he had named Mrs. Alice Huntington of Maplewood to fill the vacancy as acting secretary. She was employed as a clerk by the Belleville board before the consolidation.

Institutional Coffee Users Must Register Next Week

Includes Restaurants, Luncheonettes, Dining Cars, Boarding Houses; Community Sticks Frozen Next Week; Should Use Stamp No. 27

The war price and ration board is prepared to register institutional users of coffee next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Herbert C. Schmutz, chairman, announced yesterday.

Included in the group are restaurants, luncheonettes, dining cars and boarding houses. Schmutz emphasized that this is the only class of users which must register. Consumers, wholesalers and retailers will not be required to do so. Consumers will use stamp No. 27 in their sugar ration books to purchase a pound of coffee between November 29 and January 3, 1943. Only consumers who are 15 years of age or over will be entitled to coffee.

Starting on Sunday, the sales of coffee to consumers will be frozen.

Institutional users will give the following information when they register November 22-25:

1. Amount of coffee used during September and October, 1942.
2. Amount of coffee on hand as of midnight November 21.
3. The names and addresses of all persons from whom they bought roasted coffee during September and October, 1942, and the quantity purchased from each.

Consumers who have no sugar ration book, because of excess inventory or other reasons, may apply for war ration book No. 1 to rationing boards. The board will detach stamps 1 through 19 when issuing the book. Through 19 applicants become eligible for sugar, they may return to the board and exchange the tailored book for one which contains stamps valid for both sugar and coffee.

Identification Tags Given Children At School No. 10

Parent-Teacher Group Sponsors Plan; First School In Town To Adopt Plan; Pre-School Children Also Tagged; Must Wear Around Necks At All Times

Identification tags have been issued to 349 school and pre-school children at School No. 10. Sponsored by the parent-teacher organization, it is the first school in town to adopt the plan as a means of identification of youngsters in an emergency.

The use of the tag is voluntary. Parents may purchase the tags, which are made of a non-metallic composition material, for their children at a cost of seven cents each.

On each tag is the name of the child, address and telephone number if there is one located at home. Children have been educated to wear the tags around their necks at all times, according to Mrs. John Tupper, who is head of the block mothers' organization which has been formed in the school district.

Oblong-shaped, the tags are unbreakable and will not be damaged by water. It is expected that 60 more will be distributed before the program has been completed.

All Fingerprinted

As an additional means of identification, all children who attend the school have been fingerprinted under the town-wide program conducted by the police department in conjunction with the defense council.

The parent-teacher association first attempted to have pre-school children fingerprinted. Fingerprinting experts of the FBI and the police departments in major cities informed local authorities that the attempts would be a waste of time and materials since the lines on the fingers of small children are not sufficiently developed to get prints which are individually and accurately identifiable.

Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan said yesterday that the defense council has not considered the town-wide adoption of the tag plans as tried at School No. 10. He said that inquiry elsewhere showed that some cities have given it up after experiments. Checks show that children lose the tags or even exchange them with other youngsters. However, he admitted that the plan was probably the best solution, especially in cases where children are too young to be fingerprinted.

RELIEF EXPENSE DOWN NEAR 40%

77 Cases Here in September Cost $2,160 State Report Shows

According to a report of the state municipal aid administration for September, released through its director, Charles R. Erdman Jr., Belleville spent $2,160 to handle 77 cases involving 188 persons.

Local relief costs, according to the report, are down 39.4 percent. Commitments for the period from January to September were 28,441 compared to $46,974 for the corresponding period a year ago.

Reporting for the state, Erdman said that relief was extended during the month to 15,168 cases representing 28,991 persons at a cost of $362,008. Employable cases were 7.1 percent during the month, and there was also a decrease of 2.7 percent in cases classified as unemployable. This type of case now accounts for approximately 69 percent of the total relief load, Erdman said.

Government War Films Now Available For Use

The motion picture bureau of the office of war information announces that local schools, community groups and other organizations may obtain government war films.

The local distributor is the Audio-Film Laboratories of 656 Bloomfield avenue, Newark. A service charge of 50 cents may be made for the first subject and not more than 25 cents for each additional subject included in a single shipment. Transportation costs would be paid by the user.

Information on the films may be obtained from the distributor or from the OWI in Washington.

STILL REGISTER TIRES SATURDAY

High School Open 10 to 4 For Late-Comers; Went Smoothly Last Week

Saturday will be the final day for passenger car owners to register their tires under the rationing program. The high school will be open for late motorists from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with a staff of teachers, directed by Superintendent of Schools Parmer, on duty to handle the registrants.

The registration on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, with the bulk being handled on the third day, ran smoothly, it was reported. A total of 4,302 motorists registered at the high school and 639 at School No. 4 in the Silver Lake section. Superintendent Parmer said the registration would be conducted in the school cafeteria. Practically all of those who registered for gasoline rationing in July again signed up, although a few cases were reported in which motorists have jacked up their cars.

Still Register Fleets
Owners of passenger car and motorcycle fleets may continue to register at the ration board office, 476 Washington avenue, this week. OPA has defined a fleet as "one of three or more passenger cars or motorcycles owned or leased by, and operated by the same person or organization principally in connection with the same or related occupations." Since "S" coupons which have been issued to commercial vehicles will be invalid after December 1, the ration board is getting prepared to issue the new "T" stamps to these gasoline users. Only commercial vehicle operators who have obtained certificates of war necessity from the office of defense transportation in Newark will be eligible for the "T" stamps. The ODT has set December 1 as the deadline for the issuance of war necessity certificates.

GLAD OLD CAR HAS ENLISTED

Frank H. Bridge, Jr., in Navy, Writes Father That Auto Could Do Plenty

Recently, Frank H. Bridge, head of the Essex Lumber and Coal company in Joralemon street, who resides at 223 Malone avenue, turned over an old car which belonged to his son, Frank, Jr., who is now in the navy and in training at the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Replying to a letter which his father had written to him about the flivver's fate young Frank was inclined to the thought that the car would be able to do the best at almost any use to which the war producing plants should put it.

"Glad to hear about the old flivver," he wrote. "She sure will put those Japs to rout. If she is made into bullets, they'll go fast because she went fast for me even with the clutch slipping. That will give you some needed room in the garage. We sure can use some."

"She ought to make a good anti-aircraft gun. She sure took off when she hit 40. Better still, she'll make a good airplane. That buggy had power to burn, and that's all she ever did, was burn it. It never powered when you wanted it to. Still and all, she is still a good buggy to send a few Japs back to the happy hunting grounds."

Football Player Almost Chokes To Death
After Swallowing Chewing Gum
Belleville Idle, But Will Be Watching
South Side Against Nutley High

One of the oddest accidents which we have ever seen or heard of in football took place on Sunday afternoon at the Iron Duke-Plainfield Saracens game unbeknownst to most, if not all, of the spectators. Playing in the Saracens backfield was one of the finest backs whom we've even seen, Hocky Minard, former Bound Brook high player.

If you will remember, Minard took himself out of the game without a substitute coming onto the field at one time during the game. It happened immediately after he had pulled down a Duke runner on a vicious tackle. The reason—he had swallowed his chewing gum and it had gone down his wind pipe instead of down his esophagus. Literally, he nearly choked to death. First efforts to get out the gum, which was clogged in his wind pipe were futile, and in a moment's time the footballer turned a reddish blue as he fought to get his breath. Finally, turned upside down and with the help of a few well applied whacks by the team physician, the gum was pried loose and Minard was immediately relieved. We've heard of some strange accidents in football, but we never heard of one such as was personally observed in which a player nearly died because a piece of chewing gum became stuck in his wind pipe.

Ayres Takes

Missing from the Duke backfield Sunday was Red Ayres, who has been one of the sparkplugs of the Belleville attack during recent weeks. Although the Ironmen's management expected that he would play, the army had different thoughts. Some months ago Red applied for entrance in the air corps. He passed all of the examinations, but did not get any word from the government. Finally, on Thursday, he was notified that he should report to Kelly field, Tex., on Saturday. hat left little time for farewells and explains why he was among the missing on Sunday. During the season the Dukes have lost a number of players to the service. At the rate they are going, and the probable increase in the number during the next years, we wouldn't be surprised if the club is making its last stand until after the end of the war.

If the Campers get by the Saracens and the Dukes take the measure of the Boonton Panthers on Sunday, the two clubs will be tied for the league championship. If such is the case, in all probability they will clash the following week at Newark City stadium. The winner of that game—and hold onto your hats for this one—will tangle with the Paterson Panthers for the New Jersey pro championship.

We're not letting any cat out of the bag in telling that the Panthers have been after he Dukes all season for a game.

Will Be

If you're looking for any of he Bellboy gridders or members of the coaching staff on Saturday afternoon it's a two-to-one bet that you'll find them on the sidelines watching Nutley and South Side tangle. Although he Blue and Gold has a Saturday "breather" before they meet the Newark school on Thanksgiving, the Sunnysiders have carded Nutley for a Saturday foe.

While not at the strength which they have shown the past two or three years, Nutley is still a better than average ball club and may do a lot to soften up the tough South Siders for the Turkey day festival.

Speaking of Nutley, there's been some agitation in certain quarters for a post-season game with Belleville, using the needs of wa rservice agencies as the principal reason for the resumption of relations. While we personally feel that there is not a stadium in these parts which would hold the crowd that the game would draw. However, from what we have learned, there isn't a possibility of the two clubs getting together. There are still a number of old wounds to be healed.

Belleville Bikers Meet LIWA On Rollers Tonight

The Belleville Bicycle club is holding its most important inter-club match since its organization tonight. The Long Island Wheelmen's association of New York is bringing a team of four riders to ride against the local boys. On the local team are Ed Little, veteran campaigner; Bud Wille, former national roller champion; Al Frankowski and Frank Miserling. The race will be held at the Co-Operative hall, 853 Summer avenue, Newark.

Local Post Office Will Be Open Thanksgiving

It was announced yesterday that the post office here would be open a half day on Thanksgiving and that there would be one mail delivery.

The Thursday was made by Postmaster John F. Sinnott of Newark. The local office is a branch of the Newark post office. The decision to remain open on Thanksgiving was left up to the local postmasters by Washington. While office heads in other suburban communities voted to close down on Thursday, Sinnott ruled that Newark and the branch offices in Belleville, Nutley and Irvington would remain open.

Brazilian pronunciation of Portuguese is stressed in the class for which a previous knowledge of Spanish is required. Miss Abel is a Spanish major and lived in the Spanish house last year.

DUKES TRAVEL SUNDAY TO PLAY BOONTON

The Belleville Iron Dukes will be on the road Sunday afternoon when they will travel to Dover to play the Boonton Panthers, cellar dwelling club in the North Jersey Pro league. The Dukes must win Sunday to retain at least a tie with the Campowners for the league crown. However, should the Campers lose to the strong Plainfield Saracens, the locals will be undisputed champions.

The Panthers have yet to win a game in league play. Last week they were easy 27-0 victims for the Campers while the Dukes were having a tough time trimming the Saracens 10-6. The Newark club will probably have its hands full beating back the Saracens, who bowed to them 10-7 earlier in the season at Plainfield.

Coach Joe Vollmer will probably start Frank Cardinale, Johnny Walker, Johnny Harrison and Charlie Burgi in the locals' backfield. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m.

Bob Bangert Ends Career As Stilt-Walker Saturday

Syracuse University's "Bill Orange" In Final Appearance Saturday At Rutgers Game; Has Had Job For Past Three Years

Walking your way through college on stilts is something of an innovation, but that's just what Bob Bangert of Cedar Hill avenue did at Syracuse university during the last three years in his mythical role of Bill Orange.

Syracuse students, alumni and the general public will have their last glimpse of Bangert as Bill Orange in his stilt walking stunt on Saturday afternoon when the Syracuse university eleven invades New Brunswick to tangle with Rutgers university.

Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bangert of 143 Cedar Hill avenue. He is a captain in the R.O.T.C. at Syracuse and will be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the army reserve on his graduation from the university next May.

In his role of Bill Orange, Bangert has cavorted at Syracuse university football games between halves for the past three years. Up on his stilts, he reaches 12 feet into the air. Before he went to college, Bangert had never been on a pair of stilts.

Million Have Seen Him

The youth figures that since he started the job in his sophomore year, he has performed before more than a million football fans. His biggest thrill was experienced in Yankee stadium during the N. Y. U-Syracuse game. Young Bangert admits that his stilt-walking act is tough work. His legs feel numb when he gets off and it frequently takes more than an hour for the blood to get back in circulation.

The stilts are made of wooden two-by-four sections. He struggles into his walking paraphernalia by sitting in the concrete stands and leaning his wooden legs against the wall while he tightens about his hips and legs. Bangert even has a valet to help him adjust his long trousers after he has propped himself up on his wooden "legs." When Bob first started his act, he suffered considerably. He spent two days practicing the technique of controlling the wooden limbs before he made his first appearance. In the process, he sustained two sprained wrists and assorted cuts and bruises from a fall on the cinder track. It is said that he has never fallen since.

Bangert is a senior in the college of forestry and is a member of the Theta Chi, social fraternity, and the Outing Zoological clubs. At the forestry school he is majoring in silver culture. Before attending Syracuse, he studied in local schools and was graduated from the high school.

How To Get The Best One Cup Per Day

With the rationing of coffee at the rate of one cup per day for everybody 15 years of age and over to begin shortly, the OPA this week issued a few suggested tips to help keep the coffee stay as fresh as possible and to get the most out of every tablespoonful. Here's the tips from the government:

1. Use fresh coffee. Buy less time, and more frequently.
2. Keep your coffee in a tightly covered container.
3. Keep it in the refrigerator or some other cool place. It deteriorates less rapidly when cool.
4. Keep your coffee pot immaculately clean.
5. Have your coffee ground as fine as possible for the pot you intend to use. Finely ground coffee goes further than coarsely ground coffee.
6. Use accurate measurements instead of "heaping tablespoons."
7. Don't boil coffee. It drives off the very elements you want.
8. Serve the coffee as soon as it's made.
9. Make only the exact amount you want to use. Left-over coffee is wasted coffee, though it can be stored in the refrigerator for use as flavoring—or for a cup of warmed-over coffee, if you like it that way.

Community Chest Still Lags At $17,000 Mark

Community Chest leaders reported last night that slightly more than $17,000 had been raised in their campaign, which is now dragging far behind its $35,000 goal.

The industrial section, including the town's leading manufacturers, which is being directed by Elwood Russell, has still not submitted its major report.

Chest leaders pointed out that in making their calculations at the time they drew up their budget, they had estimated that each person employed in industry would contribute $1 and that that amount would be matched by the firm. To date, this contemplated plan has not worked out.

School Board Meets Tomorrow

Harrison Run Earns Victory For Ironmen

Walker, Cardinale Runs, Reilly's Field Goal Help Beat Saracens

Putting on a lightning finish for the second time in two weeks, the Iron Dukes pulled themselves out of the well of defeat on Sunday afternoon at the municipal stadium and smote down the Plainfield Saracens 10-6.

One of the smallest crowds of the season saw dusky Johnny Harrison cross the goal line with the winning tally on a 13-yard jaunt through tackle with less than five minutes to play. Tackle John Reilly sewed it up with a perfect placement.

The victory enabled the locals to hold their first place tie in the North Jersey circuit with the Campowners who had an easy time Sunday rolling over the Boonton Panthers 27-0.

Reilly gave the Ironmen their first tally midway in the first period when he booted a 20-yard field goal after the first drive by the locals had been halted by the tough Saracens on their own 20.

What appeared likely to be a Duke touchdown was quickly turned into a touchdown for the Saracens when Bernie Livingston, leading scorer in the league, picked up John Harrison's fumble on the Saracen 20 and rumped 80 yards to score. His try for the extra point was low.

Lady Luck was on the Dukes' side although their hopes of pulling the game out of the fire were pretty shallow. After the locals failed to make any headway following the kick-off, the Saracens took the ball on their own 30. Three plays moved the ball up five yards. With the Dukes playing 10 men on the line, gambling for a possible blocked kick, Center Joe Culebnick became jittery and made a bad pass to Hocky Minard who was knocked to the ground with the ball before he could get off a kick.

Walker Throws Pass

Swiftly moving into action, Johnny Walker passed to George Tietze on the 20 and he moved down to the 10 before being pulled down.

The Saracens stonewalled and pushed the Dukes back three yards in two plays. On a perfectly executed reverse, Johnny Harrison took the ball from Frank Cardinale, shot around to the left and then ripped through left tackle and over the goal.

Cardinale and Walker, both of whom ran well all afternoon started the Dukes on the march to Saracen payoff territory in the first quarter. Cardinale ripped off right end for 11 yards to the Saracen 32. Walker galloped around left end for eight yards and Cardinale moved through right tackle to the 20. There the drive was halted and Reilly booted his field goal with Cardinale nailing.

Early in the fourth quarter, Reilly recovered Minard's fumble on the Saracen 36. Walker cut around right end for five yards and Al Zuzzio made it a first down on the 25 in two plays. Harrison then legged it around left end for five yards, but the next play fumbled by Livingston charged through, picking up the ball and going 80 yards to score. Fleet-footed Walker nearly nabbed him at the Duke but Livingston had too much of a head start.

Saw One Of Best

In Minard, local grid followers saw one of the best backs in the league. A former Bound Brook high back, he is a fast runner who is hard to pull down. He does the kicking, some of the passing and is a good man on the defense.

Joe Collins at guard for the Dukes, played his last game for the locals before entering the service. Red Ayres, who has been an ace in the backfield for the past three games, was unexpectedly removed from the

Bellboys Easing Up After Regaining Win Stride Against Scott

The Blue and Gold high school gridders will have a day off Saturday after playing on eight consecutive weekends in which they have won five games, lost two and tied one. They are awaiting their annual Thanksgiving day clash at Clearman field with the Newark South Side eleven. If they win the game, it will be the climax to one of the most successful seasons in recent years.

While Belleville will be idle, South Side will be at Nutley, meeting an old rival, and it is expected that a number of the Bellboys will be on hand to get a pre-game glimpse at their Turkey day foe.

During the week, the high school team has run through light drills following its 7-0 setback of the previously unbeaten Clifford Scott high team of East Orange. Underdogs in pre-game opinion because of their two previous poor showings in which they had bowed to Hillside and Kearny, the cold weather apparently snapped the Bellboys out of their unexpected losing streak. More than 2,000 football fans watched as the Bellboys pushed over a touchdown in the second period after twice being stopped in goalward marches.

The Blue and Gold threatened early in the first period. Jim Findlay and George Wheeler picked up 25 yards in two plays to put the ball on the visitors' 46. Cracking through tackle, Findlay fumbled on the 30 and Bill Nooney recovered for Scott.

Pass Intercepted

Once again, Belleville began a drive with Findlay, Wheeler and Vic Pasquariello doing the ball hugging. Touchdown hopes faded when Bill Farrell intercepted one of Findlay's passes intended for George Ferro.

Early in the second period, after failing to gain through the East Orange school's line, Findlay passed to Ferro on the Scott 12. Findlay bowled through center for three more yards. An attempted pass failed and then Findlay wormed his way through center and over the goal to score. Jack LaFalce kicked the extra point. The only real Scott threat came in the final period when they filled the air with passes as Jack Armstrong tossed the ball hither and yon. One drive, with Bill Johnson taking a long leave from the Belleville 45. Hard-charging Belleville linesmen ended the threat by wading through the opposing line to throw Armstrong for two straight 10-yard losses.

Armstrong's kicking kept Scott constantly out of danger, and Gene Melody, who was suffering from an injured leg, had a hard job keeping up with the boy from Scott.

The Belleville line was strengthened in the second half with the return of Russ Flynn to the line, replacing Dan O'Connell who was injured in the second period. Flynn had quit the team two weeks ago. The other players voted to re-instate him during the halftime period.

Sportsmen Urged To Salvage Bird Feathers For War

New Jersey sportsmen were called upon today by the state fish and game commission to participate in the feather salvage program of the Izaak Walton League of America in order to conserve the body feathers of ducks and geese, both wild killed and domestic, for use in providing down linings for aviators' suits and other cold weather garments needed by the armed forces.

The commission urged sportsmen to dry pick the birds and turn the feathers in to the local chapter of the Izaak Walton league. In localities where there is no league chapter it is suggested that local feather salvage committees be formed by sportsmen's clubs to collect the feathers and either sell them into local commercial channels or donate and ship them either parcel post or express prepaid to "Izaak Walton League—Feathers, 3227 South Shields avenue, Chicago, Ill." No wing or tail feathers are wanted.

TIN CANS

agencies for the collection of tin cans.

In October, the two detinning plants operating in Middlesex county, received more than 557 gross tons, according to State Chairman White. He reported that in the past eight months, municipalities, army forts, camps, state and county institutions and business firms have turned in 2,346 gross tons.

While there was a favorable reaction among some salvage leaders to the Kearny introduction of an ordinance compelling householders to save tin cans at the threat of being subjected to a fine, Browne said that he did not believe that such drastic action would be necessary here, believing that Belleville residents would become cooperative as they became educated to the real need of their old tin cans in the war effort.

In addition to the store depot plan, the salvage committee will continue to make monthly house-to-house collections.

Because the normal collection day, the last Thursday of the month, will be Thanksgiving next week, the tin can pick-up will be on Monday, November 30. Four road department trucks supervised by James L. Waters will do the collecting instead of the town scavenger, Charles Cuzzo, who has performed the work in the past.

The salvage committee urges that residents leave tin cans at the curb in front of their homes early in the morning.

Improperly prepared tin cans will not be accepted. If the cans have not been cleaned, the tops and bottoms removed and the sides flattened, they will not be picked up. The detinning plant may reject the entire load. Chairman Robert G. Sumner said it is spoiled by a number of improperly prepared tin cans.

All regular tin cans, including the so-called lithographed tin cans such as are used for coffee, should be saved, but paint or oil should not be saved since paint and oil can never be completely removed and it spoils the detinning batch.

The committee warns that no other material should be mixed with the cans. Collections must be free of any iron, aluminum, brass, rags or any other salvage of any type for tin cans are hauled to the detinning plant where only tin cans are processed.

These Are The Vitamins That Build Health and Energy

Vitamin A is the anti-infective and growth-promoting vitamin. Its lack results in susceptibility to colds and other ailments... its insufficiency in children results in scrawny and stunted growth. Principal source, halibut liver oil.

Vitamin B is "the spark plug of the human system"... it tones the nervous and digestive systems, promoting growth, appetite and energy. It also helps to remove lactic acid from the blood stream, thus eliminating the feeling of fatigue. Principal sources, yeast and wheat-germ.

Vitamin C protects and feeds the capillaries under the skin; it helps to heal wounds, and prevents scurvy. Modern diet is usually lacking in this vitamin because it is easily destroyed by cooking. Principal sources, tomatoes and oranges when freshly picked.

Vitamin D is the "sunshine" vitamin. Tests show that it remedies the disorders caused by the deficiency of ultra violet in this climate's sunshine. Without it, normal formation of blood and bone ceases, resulting in rickets, sagging muscles and decay of the teeth. Principal source, cod liver oil.

Vitamin E is the "anti-sterility" vitamin. It has additional important uses in that it promotes mental vigor and tones the muscles. Principal source, wheat-germ.

Vitamin G is the riboflavin factor. It improves stomach tone, ridies skin eruptions and loss of red blood corpuscles. Principles sources yeast

Cop Gets Extra Time Off For Nabbing Drunk Driver

Mayor Orders Patrolman Don Smith Be Given Two Days' Reward For Pinch Of Washington Avenue Speeder Who Tried To Ram His Motorcycle

Motorcycle Patrolman Don Smith has been granted two extra days off by Mayor Williams, acting public safety director, for exceptionally good work performed recently in nabbing a speeding drunken driver.

Williams, stating that he believed that good work should be commended and acknowledged equally as well as punishment when men are condemned for their acts, said that the time when the patrolman would take off would be left to Chief Spatz and Smith.

Smith was patrolling Washington avenue late at night for speeders when a motorist later identified as Raymond Neff of 80 Ames avenue, Rutherford, passed him traveling at a fast speed.

The patrolman gave chase and clocked Neff's car at 52 miles per hour between Washington and Overlook avenues and the Westinghouse plant opposite Carner avenue.

Driving alongside of the car, Smith ordered the motorist to pull to the curb, but Neff stepped on the gas and attempted to get away. Twice more the same thing happened, and each time, according to the patrolman, Neff attempted to ram the motorcycle with his car.

Fired a Shot

Smith then drew his revolver and fired a shot at one of the rear tires. Neff pulled over to the curb in Washington avenue, Nutley, near Park avenue, where Smith arrested him and returned him to headquarters.

Examined by Drs. A. R. Caputo and Martin Meehan, Neff was pronounced unfit to operate a motor vehicle. He was later fined $300 by Recorder Everett B. Smith and had his driver's license revoked for two years.

An 18-year-old Joralemon street youth, Joseph Rachkowski, was arrested and held in $100 bail last Thursday after leaving the scene of an accident last Wednesday night. He was also charged with operating a car without a New Jersey operator's license.

Rachkowski's car, according to the police report, collided with one operated by Edgar Schmidt of 124 Hague street, Jersey City, at Tarry and Ralph streets.

Rachkowski's car continued in Ralph street, careened and climbed the curb, coming to a halt when it rammed a tree, according to police. When Schmidt reached the car, Rachkowski had disappeared. The youth was picked up on Thursday by Patrolmen Scott and Lukowiak.

Two passengers in Schmidt's car were treated at the Jersey City Medical Center for minor cuts.

DIMOUT

with lighted rooms must be drawn at one half hour after sunset.

Broadening of the dimout's purpose to include passive protection against attack by hostile aircraft, as well as to afford protection to coastal shipping, was announced by Gen. Terry, to be one of the most important aspects of the new regulations. The more stringent rules are being put into effect based on surveys and studies made by army officials during industrial establishments shall not exceed two foot candles as measured by a light meter held at any point three feet from a window, door or other opening. For example, show windows may have any amount of light in them provided the escape of light is reduced to the amount permitted by properly adjusted screening material.

5. All fixed lights visible from the sea must be entirely obscured or extinguished. "Visible from the sea" is closely defined in the regulations.

6. All exterior lights (excepting street or traffic lights), both essential and non-essential, shall be permanently shielded so that the source of light will not be visible at an angle less than 45 degrees below the horizontal.

Dimout regulations will be in force from one-half hour after sundown until one-half hour before sunrise between October 1 and April 30, inclusive, and from one-half hour after sundown until one-half hour before sunrise between May 1 and September 30.

8. The dimout zone now includes four additional New Jersey communities: Fort Lee, Teaneck, Englewood and Englewood Cliffs.

Among the new regulations is one requiring that all lights visible from out-of-doors which cannot be extinguished, completely obscured or reduced in accordance with standard war department blackout specifications within five minutes of the sounding of a blackout signal, shall be permanently extinguished. Also new is the regulation concerning the shielding of lights on trains, street cars, buses, ferries and subways when running above ground. Among the old regulations which have been modified is that which prohibits auto drivers from using high beam headlights and requires that the upper half of headlight lens be obscured.

Public Service To Inspect

It is understood that the Public Service will inspect and issue the certificates to establishments whose windows, doors and other openings, whether screened or otherwise adjusted, do not violate the regulations controlling the escape of light. Two types of window display certificates will be issued: (1) for shop windows, doors and other openings equipped with dimout screening material and (2) for shop windows, doors and other openings not so screened but nevertheless conforming to the army regulations.

Proprietors are reminded by the army officials that under the new regulations shop windows may have any amount of light in them provided the escape of light is reduced to the permitted two foot candles by some type of screening material properly adjusted.

Lighting in store windows and interior lights which are visible from outside of the building will be measured by P. S. lighting experts by a photonic cell held at any point three feet from any window, door or other opening of the building or establishment.

The escape of light from the building shall not be in excess of two foot candles.

In a statement accompanying the new regulations, General Terry emphasized that the rules governing the control of artificial lighting in the seacoast zone of the second service command not only are here to stay for the war's duration but also that both navy and army authorities are attaching increasing importance to their enforcement.

Are Here To Stay

"The residents, businessmen, and industrialists in the affected area," continued General Terry, "must realize that the regulations governing the control of artificial lighting in the coastal dimout sections of New York, New Jersey, and Delaware are here to stay for the duration of the war."

"Dimout regulations are inconvenient. However, they are essential to the preservation of human lives, the protection of vital war cargoes and coastal shipping. Therefore, they are going to be enforced, and I feel confident that every sensible and patriotic individual in the seacoast areas will continue to cooperate."

General Terry also pointed out that for months both navy and army officials have been consulting regularly with officials of plants engaged in war industries in order to work out the difficult problems of shielding necessary lighting in those factories. Considerable headway, he said, had been made in this field.

"The changes contained in the new dimout regulations," concluded General Terry, "are based on the results of our experience of the past six months, on the studies made by civilian lighting engineers, experts of public utilities staffs and Army officials, all of whom have been working together splendidly on this problem."

"Although, while drawing up these regulations, the army constantly kept in mind the inconvenience which dimout imposes on the public, it has based its final decisions on the requirements of public and military security—requirements which in time of war must receive first consideration."

Singled out by Army officials as having complied most effectively thus far with dimout regulations, were owners of stores who conduct their business on street levels. This was attributed to the fact that these individuals could be readily instructed by the Army's inspectors and by businessmen whose duty it is to see that the dimout regulations are obeyed.

Should Draw Shades

On the other hand, it was stated that windows in the upper stories of office and residential structures frequently do not have shades drawn at night when lights are on. Building superintendents and army managers were appealed to for more effective screening of windows in upper stories and Army authorities made it plain that if the shades don't come down, enforcement agencies will be instructed to take prompt steps against violators of the regulations.

★ Information that will help you buy a better-tasting turkey
★ Lists of money-saving values ★ Little Miss Pry finds out why

Let's talk Turkey

Thanksgiving time is turkey time—and the turkey has to be one of tempting goodness. It has to be the right type of bird... in adequate quantity for the feast... properly dressed... and definitely good. So to help you when you go buying this important holiday bird, let's talk turkey for awhile, as you will probably wonder...

How much turkey you should buy
An easy rule to remember is gauging quantity is to provide  $\frac{3}{4}$  to a pound of turkey (dressed but not drawn) for each person to be served. Naturally, the larger the turkey, the more meat you'll have in proportion to bone. And it's really good economy to buy a turkey a few pounds heavier than you will actually need for the feast.

What size turkey is best for roasting
Twelve pounds is the maximum weight for a tender roasting hen. If you need a larger bird than this, buy a tom, for a tom weighs heavier for its age than does a hen.

Is there any homework to be done on a turkey drawn at the market
It's your turkey from now until table time and it's wise to roast a turkey within 24 hours after it has been drawn. To get the turkey ready for stuffing, remove any pinfeathers, using a paring knife, a strawberry huller, or old sterilized tweezers. Remove the coarse feathers from the wing tips—pliers work fine—or cut off the wing tips. If any hairs remain, singe them off, using a gas flame or tightly twisted paper torch. Then scrub the outer skin of the turkey with a brush and warm water. Cut out the oil sac on top of the tail-piece and remove odds and ends of lungs and windpipe. Cut off the neck inside the skin down close to the bird's shoulders. Rinse inside and out with cold water; pat dry with paper towel or clean cloth. Sprinkle lightly inside with salt. Mr. Turk is ready to be stuffed!

Why you should buy a guaranteed turkey
In buying a turkey guaranteed by the market in which you buy it, you can be sure of getting exceptional value for your money—of getting a top quality bird.

Your meat cutter wants to keep you a satisfied customer, so he sells only guaranteed products that he knows will satisfy your demand for quality.

TIME FOR THANKSGIVING

The Woman's Desk
by PEGGY PATTERSON

Ideas for compulsory drafting of women for industry seem to be flying about thick and fast these days, and every time the writer hears the phrase she has small shudders. Women realize that if the war lasts long enough, such drafting would be inevitable but while we have need for women only in certain sections it seems that women should be allowed to go on their own way.

We know lots of women for whom we think that such drafting would be the best thing in the world, but would it? And if we come right down to it, neither you nor I who are not in war industry at present would like to throw our manner of living to the winds and take on another.

There are still some measures left to try before drafting is resorted to and we hope that action, such as radical reduction of production for civilian consumption, will be taken first.

In drafting of any sort one must be prepared to exempt certain persons but who the exempted would be is one of the problems which frightens the woman who sees a hand reaching out to take her away from her present routine and transplant her skills to help in war production. If we knew for certain, as many women seem to think, that every available woman would be used for war industry, what would become of our colleges, homes, and creative arts. College students would feel that they were useless, mothers would feel that their job of holding a home together was worthless and creative artists would feel that their incentive had been taken away. All these people might help with production but what would become of the essentials of living which hold society together?

Should Proceed Slowly

Because there are so many women holding places in the above groups, it is sane and wise to proceed slowly with such an idea and thus rightly, statements to date, consider first of all women with previous industrial experience and lastly women with young children. The talk about drafting women is therefore not as frightening as it seems, for most of us who are now engaged in other pursuits have had no previous industrial experience and can consider ourselves forgotten for the moment.

No matter how much money one has to spend this year, Christmas giving should be limited to simple, useful, and inexpensive gifts. With all the shortages, coffee, sugar and stockings are suggestions for anyone.

Is Also Wasteful

Spending enormous sums for lavish gifts is not only unpractical but it is also wasteful and will not be as appreciated as something made by hand or as a delicacy which is hard to procure nowadays because of priorities. Christmas cards should be sent whenever possible instead of gifts or if one is giving gifts the cards in those cases may be omitted, thereby saving the mails, for more important packages. In fact, the government would be extremely pleased if we would spend less on Christmas gifts and more on bonds. If we put our own surplus into bonds either for gifts or for ourselves, they would be the most happily received gifts and are the simplest to procure.

We happened to hear some young mothers talking the other night about the demoralizing value of parties for small children. Most of them were highly indignant about mothers who send party invitations to their young fry. It seems that aside from ruining mother's nerves while she tries to dress her youngest in a suitable party dress of smocked voile which it has taken her three days to make, she also has to coach the tots into minding their manners so that they will sit meekly by and accept only one helping of food and will act like small adults by not running around and shouting, and will thank the hostess properly for the lovely time they had.

Mother must remember too, to give her smallest a clean hankie and hope he will use it.

But other than sending mother into alternate fits of hopefulness and despair, these mothers seemed to feel that parties for youngsters were very bad for the children themselves. They all complained of the fact, that Johnny or Molly came back from a party and was so wrought up that not only would he disobey mother in a petulant manner but he would also end up by being very sick because he had overateen or because the excitement was too much for him.

Consider Entire Problem

Though these mothers were not the sort who would insist on bringing up Johnny by the latest dictum of the noted child psychologist, Doctor Q, nevertheless, they felt that if he said it was unwise to send children under five to parties, they would certainly have to agree with him. If I were Johnny, I would feel terribly misunderstood, when mother forbade me to go to a party; but if I were a mother giving a party, I would first consider the effect that it was going to have not only on my own child but on the other guests and on their mothers, and ten to one, I would refrain from giving the party at all until my offspring had reached the stable age of five.

Remember, They Are Human, Too

There is no other group of men who have more undeserved abuse heaped upon them than do the members of the draft board. Yet, they are contributing a great patriotic service, greater than that of many who are festooned with gold and silver braid and bars as commissioned officers.

Despite the great responsibility which they have and the long hours weekly which they must devote to their work outside of the positions in which they earn their livelihood, they receive no remuneration.

As has been said before, commendation is seldom given them, but condemnation is meted out freely, mostly by those who have little understanding of the job which confronts the board and even less of the selective service rules and regulations by which it is governed.

All of these men have been long-time, respected residents of this community. Their acquaintances probably range wider than those of most people. It has undoubtedly been a painful duty for them on many occasions to send into the service the son of a long-time friend, but it is a duty which they have sworn to perform. Too often, families have taken the calling of their relatives or members of the immediate family circle to service as a personal affront in which the draft board deliberately singled them out.

The members of the board are not cold, heartless, mechanical machines. They are human, and we doubt if they have sent any boy off to service without carefully considering each individual case. It should be remembered that they have a tremendous task to perform, one which seems endless. They deal not with a few problems, but with thousands of them.

We think that one of the best evidences of the humane and considerate attitude which the board has attempted to take is in its stand this week that married men with wives, but no children, should not be drafted into service until after the Christmas holidays.

The draft board members know that there will be hard, heart-breaking months ahead in which they will be forced to break up homes and families, and that it will be the board, and not the army which is making the demand for men, at which an accusing finger will be pointed.

Many married men, particularly those who have no dependents outside of their wives, should accept the inevitable decision that if they are physically fit they will be called for military duty in the months to come. We have a war to win, and as regrettable as it may be that wives will have to be left behind and many homes disrupted, this nation and its allies cannot triumph with men sitting at the fireside.

Unfair, malicious criticism of the draft board and its activities is a display of a lack of patriotism of the worst kind. Stories about the handling of cases should not be re-told because the facts are probably not known. Anonymous criticisms should not be sent to the board. If a person does not have faith that the board will not reveal his or her name, then they can't have faith that the board is capable of making an honest and fair decision.

Cash Hoarding Leads Bond Sales

The revelation by the Securities and Exchange commission that we are in the midst of one of the greatest cash hoarding eras in history has spurred on those who have been urging the adoption of a program for compulsory buying of war bonds and stamps.

Despite the tremendous publicity and advertising campaign, employing all of the well-known forms of propaganda, the program promoting the sale of war bonds trails far behind the totals which are being banked by individuals, according to the SEC.

The hoarding of cash by individuals during July, August and September totalled $4,200,000,000 as revealed by currency, checking and savings accounts in banks throughout the nation. Based on the figure for the third quarter of the year, it is feared that the hoarding will reach a yearly total of about $16,000,000,000.

SEC views this surprising financial situation as one of the greatest single threats to attempt to check the inflation of currency. The four billion figure reportedly lying idle in banking institutions was one and one-half times the amount of money which the people of the nation invested in all kinds of government securities, including war bonds. Financial experts are not as much concerned with the amount of money which is being held in banks as revealed by the third quarter report, but at the rate in which the hoarding is increasing, point out that the total saved in all forms of securities during the second quarter was $2,400,000,000.

The failure to invest savings in war bonds may have a number of possible answers, the foremost of which is that the public just does not care. It is evident that many have not learned from the valuable lesson of the last post-war period. Money flowed as free as water, wages and prices boomed but nobody cared—and then came the dawn as the country nosedived into its worst depression. Economists and financial experts warn that it can happen again, only it will be worse the next time. The crying and complaining will be too late if inflation comes, and based on the SEC report we have a good start down the road in that direction.

A third factor entering the picture is that many people fear a continual rise in cost-of-living needs despite the efforts of the government to place ceilings on all necessary commodities.

Overcoming this condition, which financiers believe is an important start in the wrong economic direction, can only be accomplished by continuous education couched in simple language that will be understandable and comprehended by all wage earners.

Shop Early Becomes A "Must"

The "Shop Early" Christmas slogan never had greater meaning than it has today. It might well be changed to "You Must Shop Early." Manpower and transportation shortages have hit the stores and they will be unable to handle the volume of business if shoppers wait until the final week before Christmas to do their buying, expect to receive the best in service and attention and to have their purchases delivered promptly. It simply can't be done.

Annually, the stores have been able to add many employees to assist in handling the big volume of business at Christmas time. As everybody should know, many businesses are already facing a shortage of labor because of the loss of employees to the armed forces and to wartime industries. The stores are no better off. Conservation of gasoline and rubber, the shortage of replacement parts for automotive equipment and even in men to drive their trucks has necessitated a cutting down in deliveries in many cases and will be an even more pressing problem as the yuletide season draws near.

The wise shopper will visit the stores and do the buying early. If it is possible packages should be carried home.

Don't say that you weren't warned if your stocking is drooping with emptiness by the fireside on Christmas morning.

Just Some More Confusion

The apparent confusion that has arisen over the new dimout orders which have been issued by the army could have been avoided. While ample publicity and detailed information has been furnished the newspapers, and indirectly the general public, about the new regulations, the defense councils which are locally charged with the enforcement responsibility know nothing.

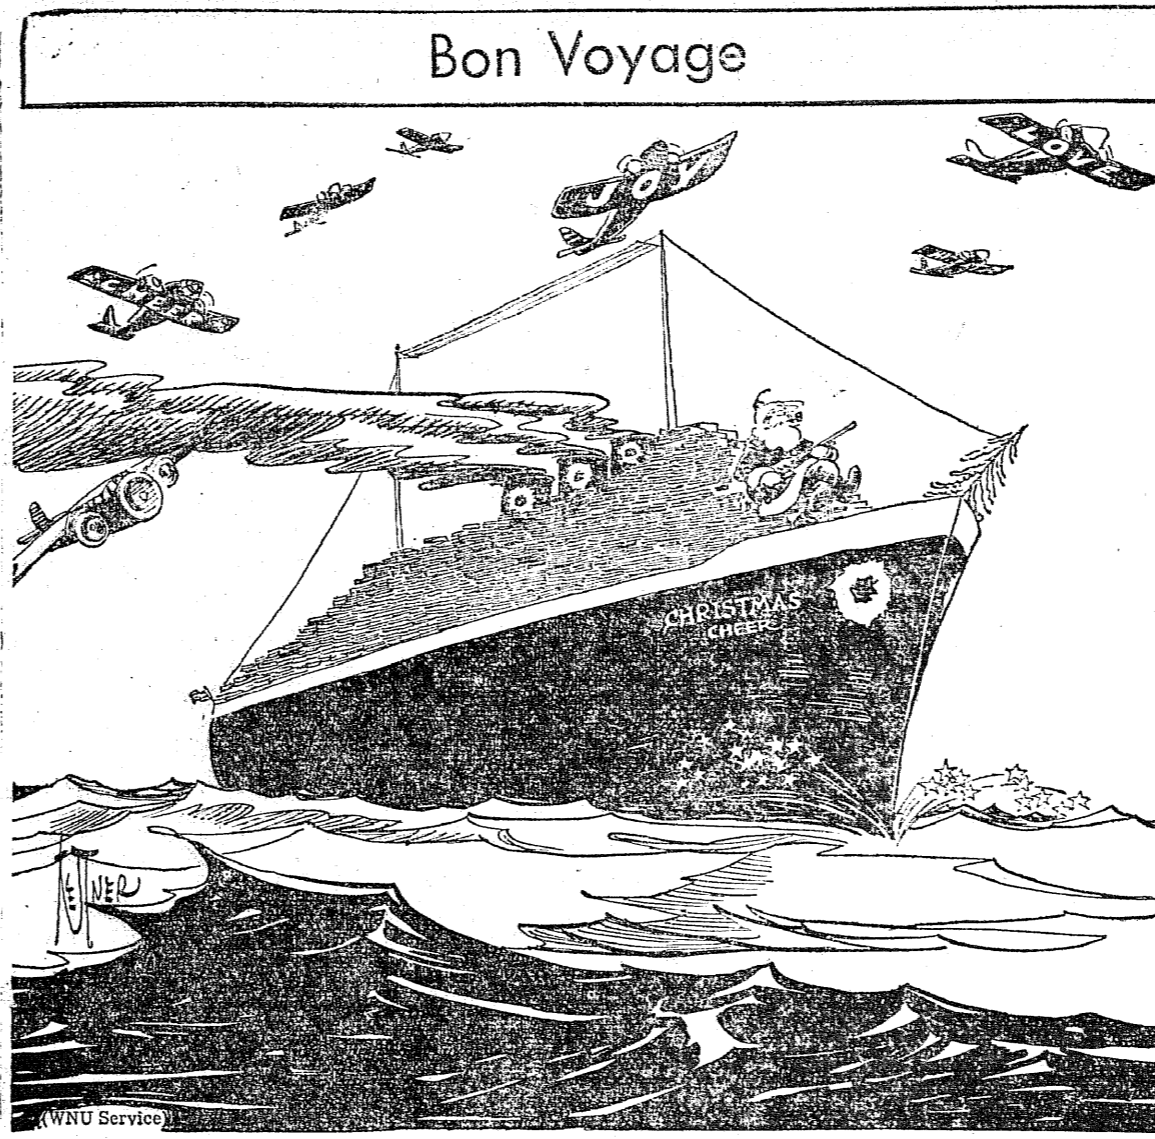

This is another example of the misunderstanding and bewilderment frequently created by government agencies because of a lack of cooperation. Naturally, if civilian defense officials are in the dark on the situation it cannot be expected that the result sought by the army will be immediately and effectively achieved.

The same condition has arisen in a number of situations involving the draft and ration boards. From Washington a story may be flashed out over the radio and via the daily newspapers that all men between the ages of 33 and 41, who have brown hair, would not be called for service. Immediately, the draft board is swamped with inquiries. The board knows nothing about the order and has not received any official word. People can't understand it, and they think that the draft board must be a dumb collection of citizens. A week or two later, official notice of a change in classification orders will come from Washington.

Frequently, stories are released to the newspapers by the OPA. Inquiries are made at the ration board to learn if it is prepared to handle the rationing of such-and-such a commodity. They haven't even heard about it, have not received any forms and consequently are unable to say anything. Meanwhile they are stampeded by the public who want information and action.

These few things illustrate another job which could be added to the many duties of the OWI to help bring about better coordination among government agencies and to eliminate confusion in the public mind.

Charges Cheap Theatricals At Last Town Meeting

From J. Alden De Ronde
195 Holmes street
To the Editor of The Times:

The citizens of Belleville are called upon periodically to elect five commissioners.

If one of them unfortunately passes away during his term of office the remaining four are morally, if not legally obligated to replace him promptly, in accordance with the already expressed desire of the voters for a governing body of five.

No right, inferred or explicit, is conferred upon the remaining four to make agreements openly or covertly, aimed at deferring, or preventing, such a replacement.

Commissioner King was for this reason entirely within his rights when he announced that he favored Mr. Mertz, regardless of whether such an announcement was tasteful to others, but he should have gone farther and insisted that Mr. Mertz be chosen for the position in order to meet the plainly expressed wishes of the citizens of Belleville when they made him the sixth man of their choice last May.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville Times.

by Meador Wright

Political interest in Essex continues to center around the problems facing the Democratic party here. Except for voters of Jewish extraction who are Democrats primarily because President Roosevelt is one, and who rallied around the candidacy of former Judge Joseph Siegler, the Democratic party would have lost Newark by some 5,000 votes on November 3rd. By this same calculation they would have lost the county by more than 60,000 votes.

To Democratic strategists this is a serious situation. Bergen county of late years has been turning in majorities of around 50,000 for Republican candidates. Should Essex move toward the Republicans in the same ratio, Hudson county would be more completely neutralized. New Jersey then would revert to its former custom of electing an ineffective minority as they are in some New England states. This would be a painful eclipse for the party that has elected six of the past eight governors. The situation is considered so desperate by Democratic leaders that many of them view a formula for success next year as the most pressing of all problems. These leaders have different ideas and ambitions but all agree on one basic factor: a Democratic candidate acceptable both to Hague and Edison must be found.

A few months ago, Democratic stalwarts, particularly in Hudson county, were of the opinion that what they described as the "Edison curse" would disappear as his gubernatorial term neared its end. But after scanning the results of the recent election they are at the point of revising their judgment. The returns of that election showed the Democratic party far weaker in most sections of the state than had been realized. Instead of merely a rest cure, it is now figured that the Democratic donkey must have the best medical attention possible, and not unlikely a major surgical operation. This operation being the removal of Hague's leadership.

Moore, Logical Man
The logical man to take over the Hague mantle in New Jersey according to many is former Governor Moore. For Moore to function properly as state leader, Hague would have to absent himself completely. Any fake retirement would merely leave Moore holding the bag as would be the case should he consent to run for governor for a fourth term. With the leadership in Hudson settled, these strategists believe it would be possible to strengthen the Democratic party in Essex by two expedients: (1) get a new county chairman to replace James J. McMahon; (2) agree on an Essex candidate for governor next year. Few names have been mentioned as a successor to McMahon, but the name of Prosecutor William A. Wachenfeld is talked about most often as a candidate for governor. The poor showing of the labor vote has removed Mayor Murphy of Newark completely as a gubernatorial contender. It has likewise weakened Spencer Miller Jr. as a possible fusion candidate with Edison backing. Unless the war should bring forward some military hero, these strategists say Wachenfeld is the only other Essex Democrat who would merit consideration. It is recognized, of course, that Wachenfeld would have to get the support of both Edison and Hague. And in the case of Hague it would have to be support with no strings attached, and possibly carry with it Hague's complete abdication as state leader. With the conviction that a drastic reorganization of the Democratic party is necessary, these Democratic strategists are not too much disturbed at rumors that Republicans plan a complete investigation and possibly a recount of votes cast in Hudson county at the recent election. They figure that such an investigation and what it would probably disclose might be the only thing that would force Hague to abdicate as party leader. Committed to the proposition that things may have to get worse before they can get better, these Essex leaders would not be too much disturbed if the Republicans should move into Jersey City with adding machines and stone enumerators.

GIRL SCOUTS HELP NATIONAL GROUP Buy War Stamps To Aid Emergency Fund; To Plan Christmas Affairs

The Girl Scout council met last Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Elmer Hyde of Rossmore place to discuss the activities of all the troops and their welfare and the need for new leaders since some troops are now inactive due to the loss of leadership. A report on the activities of each committee was given.

At present all Girl Scouts are working on a plan for the purchase of war savings bonds and stamps. Each girl will purchase a twenty-five cent stamp and all of the stamps from all over the country will be sent to the Nutley Low fund in New York. With the stamps the national committee receives, war bonds will be purchased and in time of emergency the national committee will convert the bonds to cash for use of distressed children and Girl Scouts in America or other countries.

The next council meeting will be on December 10 when Christmas plans will be discussed. The Leaders association met last night with the Rev. Peter R. Deckerbach as speaker. Mrs. John Staudt is president of the group with Mrs. Arthur Price as secretary and treasurer.

Girl Scout Troop 2 will give a mothers' tea on December 3, at the Recreation House. This troop has formed a glee club which will make its initial appearance during the Christmas holidays.

Planning Minstrel Troop 3, which meets with Mrs. C. L. Cox at the Methodist church, is planning a minstrel to be presented soon.

Troop 5 which meets at the Silver Lake Community house, is planning to give a tableau for the mothers at a future meeting. The tableau which will show what girl scouts are doing in war time, was written by the girls themselves.

Troop 8 at the Baptist church held a tea for the mothers at the meeting on Thursday. They presented a play depicting the Girl Scout activities during the salvage drive with Uncle Sam as the main character. The troop will hold a doll show soon, charging admission, the proceeds of which will go to a Girl Scout drum and bugle corps. A group of girls from this troop will go camping Friday, Saturday, and Sunday of Thanksgiving week at the Girl Scout cabin in South Orange reservation. Some of the girls with their leader, Mrs. Theodore Card, went to Newark last week to inspect the Thanksgiving table settings.

Troop 13, which meets with Mrs. Arthur Price at the Bethany Lutheran church, is now engaged in making linoleum blocks from which they will print their own stationery. They are doing badgework and making scrap books for hospitals.

Schools Hit High Mark In War Stamp Buying The schools are doing a good stamp buying job as their part in the help-win-war campaign. During October, according to the figures given out this week by Philip Dettelbach, local war savings chairman, school youngsters purchased $9,607.20, which is the highest school sale reached thus far and amounts to an average of $1.93 per pupil.

Total sales during the month for the town were $185,957.

The women's auxiliary of the American Legion which has conducted the stamp and bond booth in the lobby of the Capitol Theatre had a high month during October. Selling a total of $1563.50 in bonds and stamps, the women listed the bond sales at $900.

Salvage Rag Collection

Led By Harold Peterson

Harold Peterson of 260 New street has been named chairman of the rag collecting section of the town's ever-growing salvage committee. Chairman Robert G. Sutherland announced this week. A plan will be announced shortly for the regular collection of rags, Sutherland said. Meanwhile, residents are urged to save all rags and burlap and keep in a separate container. Sutherland suggests that common shopping bags be used to hold the rags so that when trucks are sent to pick up on collection days it can be done speedily.
