

Term Daylight Test 'Very Successful; Most Posts Manned

Yesterday afternoon's surprise 25-minute air raid test failed to catch the town off guard. Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan, checking up on the coverage of posts after the test, commented that it "was very successful."

Sullivan said that from reports which had come in to his office he was particularly pleased with the re-action of the public in most cases, which was much better than observed during the first daylight test held several months ago. People on the streets, he said, entered stores or made for shelter at the nearest home.

Most motorists were cooperative, he said, explaining that air raid wardens and police reserves experienced little trouble in getting cars, trucks and buses to pull over to the side of the road until the "all clear" had been sounded.

Deputy Chief Air Raid Warden Ronald Brunner echoed Sullivan's views. Brunner said he was "extremely pleased," reporting that in a survey of the town made during the test, he found many wardens were at their posts.

One criticism reported by many of the volunteers was the number of cars which continued to flow into town from other municipalities long after the alarm signal had been sounded. While drivers reported that they were unable to hear the alarm above the noise of the car, local observers were inclined to believe that it was also a sign that police reserves and air raid wardens were slow to get to their posts elsewhere or that posts were not covered at all.

The control center staff at police headquarters was manned under the direction of Mayor Williams in his role as defense commander. During the previous night tests, volunteers have had trouble getting to their posts by car because they have been stopped so many times, even though they had the emergency cards issued by the state defense council placed on their windshields. No such trouble was reported yesterday since those on duty were quickly and easily able to identify the car.

First notice of the impending test came at 1:56 when the blue "alert" signal was flashed over the teletype machine at police headquarters. The red signal which started the sirens screaming came at 2:10 with the white or "all clear" being sounded at 2:35.

NEARING $20,000 IN CHEST DRIVE Plant Workers Help To Swell Total During The Week

The Community Chest crept close to the $20,000 mark, according to returns received and tabulated last night. John M. Charlton, drive secretary, reported that the total had risen to $19,864.36, principally through contributions made by employees of local industrial firms and the companies.

Chest leaders are hoping to pass the $25,000 mark, although it will be far short of the original goal of $35,000 which was set. Based on the hope that industrial employees would each give $1 and that the company would match it, drive directors said the goal would have been reached. Although Wallace & Tiernan employees have given, a contribution is still to come from the company. Another large contributor still to give is the Walter Kidde company and its employees.

Scrap Drive Being Held By High School Students

Not to be outdone by their younger brothers and sisters, the high school students are staging a scrap drive this week. The idea was originated by two high school freshmen, Ted Massoth and Evelyn McAllister. The plan was announced to the students in assembly on Thursday. The student leaders think the Thanksgiving recess will be a good time to ransack the neighborhood for scrap that has not as yet been collected.

In Massoth's homeroom, No. 114, a tin can collection box has been placed. Other classrooms are copying the idea.

DEFENSE CORPS AWAITS VISIT OF STATE MEN

Volunteer Units to Be Put Through Paces Next
Tuesday Night

The civilian defense volunteer units will be busy this week making final checks of equipment and personnel for the most important of "incident" tests yet to be held next Tuesday night when representatives of the state defense council will inspect what has been accomplished in Belleville since Pearl Harbor.

Originally scheduled for early in November, the visit of the state men was postponed until next Monday because of bad weather. Expected to come here are J. J. Spurr and William J. H. McEnroe. Spurr represents the state council directly while McEnroe is the head of the Newark area office of the state council. All civilian volunteers should be at their posts by 8:15 p.m. Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan announced yesterday. The series of tests will take place between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. Sullivan emphasized that casualty stations would be manned but first aid stations would not.

Watch Control Room

It is understood that Spurr and McEnroe will first observe the operation of the control room, nerve center of the defense organization, at police headquarters. They will watch the staff as they go through their paces in three "incidents," dispatching orders to units operating in the field. They will then go out to observe the operation of emergency units at two more incidents.

The chief purpose of the visit is to observe how well equipped and manned the town is to meet an emergency. Spurr and McEnroe will criticize, make recommendations if they believe they are necessary and give the town a general rating on the ability of its civilian defense organization.

One weak link in the organization which may be subjected to possible criticism, if the result of recent tests in Newark can be taken as a criterion, are the casualty stations, which are the primary emergency first aid centers in each of the five zones into which the town has been divided for civilian defense purposes.

In Newark, Spurr and McEnroe criticized the setup because the casualty stations were not fully equipped and permanently set up to be used at a moment's notice. Stations here are now located in Schools Nos. 3 and 10 and the Grace Baptist church. New ones are scheduled to be opened shortly in Schools Nos. 4 and 5.

Buy $2,800 Equipment

Last week, on the recommendation of Dr. James Irwin, newly appointed head of the emergency medical service division, the defense council voted to spend $2,800 to equip the five stations. Dr. Irwin requested the equipment and supplies after an inspection of present stations and those which have been proposed.

Included in the items to be purchased are 200 blankets, sheets, pillow cases, surgical instruments and supplies, operating tables, cots and mattresses and medical supplies. One gas mask and 12 sniff kits to be used by Sidney Kauffer of the decontamination unit in instructing the members of the ARP will also be bought.

Public Learning To Stay Away From Telephones

Perfect cooperation was the way in which the public responded during yesterday's air raid test to the repeated urging by the telephone company not to use the telephone after the raid alarm has been sounded.

William Vanstorty, manager of the Belleville-Nutley office of the company, said a check yesterday afternoon that the telephone calls which passed through the exchanges both here and in Nutley during the test dropped to almost nothing. He said that the load was less than five percent of normal.

Further indication that the public has learned was shown in Vanstorty's statement that the traffic did not return to normal until between five and 10 minutes after the "all clear" had been sounded. "In other words," he commented, "it shows that they did not jump for the telephone as soon as the last siren blew."

President Roosevelt's Proclamation Urges Prayer On Thanksgiving

The text of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's proclamation for Thanksgiving in which he proclaimed both Thanksgiving and New Year's Day as days of prayer is as follows:

"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord."

Across the uncertain ways of space and time our hearts echo those words, for the days are with us again when, at the gathering of the harvest, we solemnly express our dependence upon Almighty God.

The final months of this year, now almost spent, find our Republic and nations joined with it waging a battle on many fronts for the preservation of liberty.

In giving thanks for the greatest harvest in the history of our nation, we who plant and reap can well resolve that in the year to come we will do all in our power to pass that milestone; for by our labors in the fields we can share some part of the sacrifice with our brothers and sons who wear the uniform of the United States.

It is fitting that we recall now the reverent words of George Washington:

"Almighty God, we make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy holy protection," and that every American in his own way life his voice to heaven.

I recommend that all of us bear in mind this great psalm:

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anonest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Inspired by faith and courage by these words, let us turn again to the work that confronts us in this time of national emergency; in the armed services and the merchant marine; in factories and offices; on farms and in the mines; on highways, railways and airways; in other places of public service to the nation; and in our homes.

Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby invite the attention of the people to the joint resolution of Congress approved December 26, 1941, which designates the fourth Thursday in November of each year as Thanksgiving Day; and I request that both Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26, 1942, and New Year's Day, Jan. 1, 1943, be observed in prayer, publicly and privately.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this eleventh day of November in the year of our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Forty-two, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-seventh.

Franklin D. Roosevelt.
By the President:
Cordell Hull,
Secretary of State.

STEWART ENTERS TRANSPORT CORPS

1st Lieut. In Class To Graduate Newly Created School

First Lieut. George E. Stewart, Jr. was among the 86 officers who were graduated from the Atlantic coast transportation officers training school of the army at Fort Slocum, New York, held Friday afternoon.

Stewart, who resides at 125 Smallwood avenue with his wife and daughter, was a member of the first class of its kind ever to be organized and trained in army history. Transportation, formerly a function of the quartermaster corps, became a separate branch of the army because of the importance which it has taken in this war.

Diplomas were awarded by Maj. Gen. Charles P. Gross, chief of transportation and Maj. Gen. Homer M. Groninger, commanding officer of the New York port of embarkation. The testimonial attesting to graduation from the school presented to each officer was signed by Maj. Gen. Gross and Col. Bernard Lentz, commanding officer of Fort Slocum and transportation school commandant.

Was Food Broker

Lieut. Stewart, who was in the navy in the first world war, was commissioned in the army late in the summer. Prior to entering the service, he was in the food brokerage business, operating a company known as the Stewart Brokerage company, which is continuing in business under the direction of his partner.

Among those in the barracks with Stewart during his training, and one of the graduates was James J. Bradlock, former heavy-weight champion of the world. Following a two-day leave over the weekend, Stewart reported for further duty to the New York port of embarkation.

He was a candidate for the town commission last May, being a sharp critic of Mayor Williams.

TAKE 120 PINTS FOR BLOOD BANK

Red Cross Ships Blood To Be Used To Help
Wounded Men

The Red Cross mobile unit took 120 pints of blood from patriotic residents on Friday afternoon and early evening who were willing to do their bit and help those who may be wounded on the fighting front.

Although 160 persons had volunteered for the blood letting, only 120 were taken during the session which was conducted at the high school from 1 to 7 p.m. The other appointments were cancelled or the volunteers were turned down for physical reasons.

The program was directed by John Charlton assisted by Daniel Spillane, Jr. and Robert Bartholomew. Members of the Red Cross chapter canteen served coffee and sandwiches. The motor corps unit transported to and from the high school and also carried supplies. Boy and Girl Scouts acted as messengers.

The mobile unit, with a staff and doctors and nurses, came from the New York headquarters of the organization. The blood, as soon as it was taken from the volunteers, was bottled and placed in refrigerated boxes. It was immediately shipped to New York where it was processed in a laboratory into a dry plasma. This will be shipped to hospitals and ships on the various battlefronts where it will be ready for use in an emergency.

WOMEN IN DRIVE TODAY TO SELL BONDS, STAMPS

More Than 30 Directed By Mrs. Wm. J. Irvine Will Visit Stores, Homes

With the keynote set by Mrs. Charles Edison, wife of the governor, calling upon "every woman in the kitchens from Cape May to Port Jervis" to be "the most powerful force on the home front" in mind, local clubwomen will stage a war stamp and bond selling campaign today.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. William J. Irvine, more than 30 women will visit stores, public places and residential sections asking residents to purchase stamps and offering to take orders for bonds.

It is a part of this state's observance of "Women at War" week on the sale of bonds and stamps. In Jersey, the program is under the direction of Mrs. Patrick Henry Adams of South Orange, chairman of the women's division of the New Jersey war savings staff.

It is estimated that 1,250,000 women in the state are participating in the campaign which is nationwide. The goal of the drive in New Jersey is $1,000,000.

In addition to those women who were named last week as volunteer salesmen, Mrs. Elmer S. Hyde, Mrs. Russell Sargeant, Mrs. LeRoy Long and Mrs. Clifton J. Smith have been added to the group.

The women will offer 10 and 25-cent stamps for sale and will offer to take orders for stamps over that denomination for bonds. Boutonnieres made up of stamps will sell for 25 and 50 cents and for $1. During the bazaar which will be held at the Woman's club next Wednesday and Thursday, December 2 and 3, the corsages will be offered for sale by the members of the garden department at their booth.

Mrs. Irvine and her group sold stamps at the president's day program held at the Woman's club yesterday afternoon.

Those who wish to help swell the women's effort to make a good showing in the local sale today may also file orders for the purchase of bonds by calling Mrs. Irvine at Be. 2-2187. She said yesterday that a number of people have already called with orders.

PLENCE STAND CLOSES DEC 1

Labor Shortage Prompts Decision To Shut Housewife's Shopping Favorite

The Plence Farm stand, one of the shopping landmarks for this section for the past five years, located at Franklin avenue and the Joralemon street, will close down on December 1 until further notice, it was learned yesterday.

Favored by housewives because of its fresh vegetables and fruits, it has been operated by August Plence, Jr. in connection with the large truck farm which is run in that vicinity by the Plence family.

It is understood that the labor shortage was the primary factor which influenced the closing of the big white stand which is situated on the southwest corner of the Franklin and Joralemon intersection.

Pplan Protection Against Shattering Of Glass

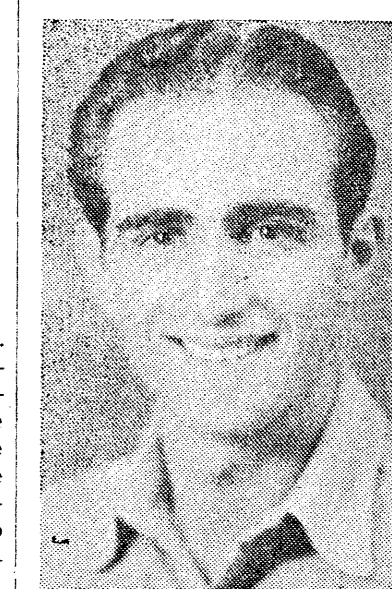

The buildings and grounds committee of the board of education is securing estimates on the probable cost of securing material to be placed on windows in the school building which would prevent the shattering of glass during air raids.

The plan was brought up at Friday's meeting of the school board when the defense council requested that windows in rooms which they propose to use as casualty stations be protected against the shattering of glass.

In addition to Schools No. 3 and 10 now in use permission has been granted by the school board for rooms in Schools No. 1, 4 and 5 to be used as casualty stations.

Sgt. Danny Cuomo

SGT.'S BRAVERY IS REVEALED

Commendation Tells Story Of Futile Mission To Get Supplies To Bataan

which failed is contained in a commendation which has been awarded to Sgt. Daniel Cuomo, 24, of 146 Franklin street who is now stationed in Hawaii.

It is a tale of desperate effort made last spring to get supplies through to the beleaguered American troops in the Philippines on the Bataan peninsula and the island of Corregidor. Sgt. Cuomo volunteered to serve as one of the men which participated in making the ship that attempted to run the enemy to get through the supplies.

The commendation, presented to the Silver Lake youth at the command of Lt. Gen. Emmons, was signed by Brig. Gen. Leonard R. Boyd, chief of staff. It was presented to Sgt. Cuomo by Col. James G. Cooper, Jr., commanding officer of the unit to which he is attached.

"Your heroic action on the occasion cited," Col. Cooper wrote, "your utter disregard of personal safety, your generous offer to participate in this mission is characteristic of the highest type of American soldier and is a source of gratification and genuine pride to all members of the regiment. Accept my congratulations."

Tried To Deliver Supplies

The duty for which the youth volunteered involved the manning of a ship which set sail from Hawaii with medical supplies, food, arms and ammunition at the time when the plight of those on Bataan and at Corregidor was at its worst.

That the mission was not successful in its endeavor is indicated by Brig. Gen. Boyd in a part of the text of his commendation: "While it is true that the fortunes of war rendered futile any further effort to carry out the mission," Gen. Boyd commented, "nevertheless it is noted with gratification and pride that you were actuated by a high patriotic spirit and a willingness to undergo the hardships incidental to a very dangerous mission, which many people might have considered doomed to failure from the outset. That spirit is commendable and by your action you have set a splendid example for others to emulate."

Sgt. Cuomo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cuomo of 146 Franklin street. He was drafted into the service in March, 1940. Before that, he was stationed in South Carolina for a year. He was born in Belleville and attended the local high school after which he was employed in the butcher business before going into the service. He has a younger brother, John, who expects to enter the army next month.

To Collect Tin Cans Next Monday Morning

Residents are asked to remember that tin cans for the salvage drive will be picked up in a house-to-house collection next Monday, instead of Thursday the usual collection day.

Cans should be washed clean, flattened and the tops and bottoms removed. They should be placed at the curb early in the morning.

Four town trucks under the direction of James Waters will do the collecting. The aim of the salvage committee is to top last month's 12-ton haul.

Salvage Chairman Robert G. Sutherland has announced that Arthur Bloemke has been named tin committee chairman to replace Sydney A. Browne who resigned because of the pressure of business.

A war-time Thanksgiving will lose little of the traditional customs and spirit that it has marked in the past for Belleville residents. There will be vacant places at the table of those who have gone to war during the past year and there will be many more who will spend the day working in war plants, but it will still be Thanksgiving.

In compliance with President Roosevelt's proclamation that Thanksgiving be observed as a day of prayer, all Protestant churches and the Jewish synagogue have placed special emphasis on the union service to be held Thursday morning at 10 a.m. in the Wesley Methodist church.

Expected to lend further support to a good attendance at the service is the campaign being conducted by the American Legion this week in observing "Go-to-Church" week. The Legionnaires, their families and friends are making a special effort to attend the church of their faith at least once during the week.

For those for whom football is just as much a part of Thanksgiving as the carving of the turkey, there will be a game in the morning between Belleville high and Newark South Side at Clearman field. The kickoff will be at 11 a.m. It will be the final game of the season for the high school. Even Thanksgiving will not be permitted to stop the flow of production in hundreds of war plants. Locally, most of the big plants will be working as usual with several others still undecided in a check made last yesterday afternoon. Among those who will be going full blast will be Walter Kidde, Wallace & Tiernan, Westinghouse, and Air Associates. While at Wallace & Tiernan the office staff will work, it will not be at the Kidde plant.

Eastwood, Neale, Eastern Tool, L. Sonnerborn & Sons and the Federal Leather plants will be closed, it was announced.

Service At 10 A.M.

The union services, which will start at 10 a.m., will be completed in time for worshippers who wish to attend the Belleville-South Side game. All Protestant clergymen are scheduled to participate with Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin of the Congregation A.A.A. as the sermon speaker. Other ministers will offer the invocation and benediction, the prayer or be heard in the reading of The Bible.

The senior choir of Wesley church, of which Rev. Edgar M. Compton is pastor, will sing. Members of other church choirs are invited to join them. Soloists will be sung by Mrs. Daphne Dame Carman, Wesley soloist and wife of the church organist, who will accompany her.

'MUMS STILL WORD FOR THANKSGIVING

Florists Report Brisk Trade
On Eve; Service Boys
Wiring Orders

There's no rationing of chrysanthemums, the big flowers that have become synonymous with Thanksgiving, as table centerpieces and corsages. The three leading local florists report sale equal and even better than last year and no apparent shortage in the number of "mums" which they are able to secure.

Even though their absence from home is hitting some businesses, the servicemen are still the friends of the florist. There has been a considerable increase in sending flowers by wire this season, florists say, because of the number of men in the armed forces who are ordering flowers to be sent to wives, sweethearts and families.

Hawthorn at 368 Washington avenue claim a 24 per cent increase in sales with orders by telegraph accounting for a big percentage of the sales jump. The firm also pointed out that since more people are employed, they seemed to be adding flowers as one of the little extras which can be enjoyed for Thanksgiving.

At Cox's on Union avenue the thought was expressed the people still want to buy flowers. They cheer them despite the wiring on doing the business as a company has purchased a quota of chrysanthemums.

Business is better from the Belleville Washington avenue may not be buying more will be made was said.

The Blue and Gold grid-ders have three jobs to perform in their season grid-windup Thanksgiving morning when they tackle Newark South Side at Clearman field. The kick-off is scheduled for 11 a.m.

The first will be to register a win over the tough Sunnysiders whom they have not beaten in the six-year series between the two schools. Next, they will be bent on victory so that they can sign their names in the high school's history book as the best bunch of pigskin-toters that have played for Belleville since 1935. If they can turn the tables against South Side, the Zebras will have a record five wins, two ties and two losses.

The third, but by far not the least important accomplishment on the program, will be to work up a terrific appetite for the turkey carving by doing a little carving of their own on the Newark

Origin Of The American Thanksgiving

The origin of American Thanksgiving as a day of prayer to God Almighty for His beneficence and for feasting in celebration of the greatness of the harvest is incorrectly conceived in the minds of many people. Thanksgiving did not begin with the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock in 1620 nor did it follow a year later when they harvested their first crops on American soil.

Although both events are frequently linked with Thanksgiving neither had the real characteristic of the day, prayer of thanks to God Almighty as is asked by President Roosevelt in his proclamation this year. The first Thanksgiving observance, as we know it, was set by a governor in 1623 when Governor Bradford, leader of the Pilgrims proclaimed that they should pray to God for His greatness and to celebrate the coming of a good harvest with feasting.

The winter of 1622-23 had been a hard and cruel one for the Pilgrims. Their numbers had been increased by more who came across the ocean to seek new homes but who brought little in supplies with them. The harvest had been poor in 1622, but with renewed determination to carry on they planted their crops once again in the spring of 1623. Late in May a drought set in. By mid-July it appeared that their crops were hopelessly ruined. Their meagre supplies were rapidly disappearing and a serious food shortage confronted the Pilgrims.

Governor Bradford urged them to turn to prayer, and throughout the little colony groups knelt in pleas to God for relief and help. Their prayers were answered for the rain poured down and the crops were saved. Governor Bradford proclaimed July 30, 1623, as the first American Thanksgiving in which prayers were said and there was general feasting to celebrate the harvest.

From these early ancestors, who had known only hardship and suffering for years, a valuable lesson can be learned by present-day Americans. We may at times be in what appears to be a hopeless turmoil of reverses and troubles with not one sign of brightness peering through the darkness, but if we will reflect for a moment, it will be remembered that the problems of today are no worse than those of the fight for survival that they might enjoy liberty waged by the Pilgrims. They had prayer and an undying faith that they could surmount what seemed impossible. Such spirit will never lose.

'Pig' Banks Go On The Shelf

The "pig" banks and other similar gadgets which have been used for years to encourage thrift among youngsters through the saving of pennies are destined to gather cobwebs for the rest of the war. It is not patriotic to same pennies any more.

To conserve vital war metal, the United States Mint has curtailed the production of one-cent pieces by an estimated 50 percent in recent months. Seriously hampering this conservation effort is the continued demand for the coins arising from the high level of business.

To help offset the condition, the government is urging that pennies come out of children's banks and other hiding places so that they can be returned to circulation. It is estimated by experts that if each of an estimated 33 million families should discover and return to use 10 one-cent pieces, and these should stay in circulation, the nation's supply would be increased by an amount equal to one-third of the record 1941 production of the coins. More than 1,000 tons of precious copper might thus be saved for war manufacturing, it is claimed.

Of all things, it was never dreamed that there would be a shortage of pennies, but the government is really serious about it. In recent months, the production of pennies at the mint has been cut by nearly 50 percent and through various educational mediums the government is now attempting to convince children and adults alike that "saving your pennies" is only an expression and not a fact.

PROPOSE MERTZ AGAIN TONIGHT

King, Noll Reported Ready To Make Second Move To Name Him

The name of Raymond E. Mertz as candidate for the vacancy on the town commission will be proposed for the second time at tonight's meeting of the board, it was learned last night.

Commissioners King and Noll who first proposed Mertz's name two weeks ago will again place it before the board. The move to name Mertz was then blocked by the negative votes of Mayor Williams and Commissioner Waters. While claiming that they had nothing against Mertz, Williams and Waters insisted that they were not voting for the King-Noll choice because they had an agreement with King not to consider the question of a successor to the late Commissioner William D. Clark, who died in October, for 30 days.

King denied that he had made such a commitment. Noll was the first to declare for Mertz, who was sixth man in the commission last May. King's endorsement of the Union avenue real estate broker and home developer followed two weeks later. The last meeting was marked by contradictory statements and allegations which flew back and forth, principally between Commissioners Waters and King, over what took place in the organization of the board in 1934. King denied Waters' allegation that the former attempted to gain control of the board so he could become mayor and oust Waters as head of the department of public works, a post he has held since becoming a commissioner in 1926.

AWAITING CONFAB ON DIMOUT LAW

Meeting Scheduled To Tell Defense Councils What Law's About

While a general explanation of the new army dimout regulations has been received by the defense council from the state, Defense Coordinator Harry J. Sullivan said that there would be little local council from the state, Defense Conference scheduled for December 1. He said that he had been informed by State Defense Director Leonard Dreyfuss a lighting engineer would explain the regulations and interpret the meaning. One of the points being debated is whether or not householders should draw the shades on lighted windows. In press reports, Dreyfuss is quoted as saying that shades should be drawn or the individual lights sufficiently shaded.

Although there were a number of violations of the auto headlight dimout rule the first two nights, police warned many of them and a general compliance was reported as the week went on.

Postmen Work Half-Day On Thanksgiving

The post office will be open for a half day on Thanksgiving and there will be one mail delivery. Although other post offices in suburban Essex, on the decision of the postmasters will be closed Thursday, Postmaster John F. Sinnott ruled that the Newark office should remain open for a half-day. Belleville is a branch of the main office.

ed. The new shelter building not only functions as a service necessary for the section, but its porch affords a fine view of the river.

A spray pool and said boxes have been built for the children. A pipe-rail fence has been erected on top of the recently completed wall extending along the riverfront for a distance of a half mile.

Mild weather has permitted the commission to continue its planting and transplanting program longer than usual. Several large hemlocks have been moved from the nursery in the South Mountain reservation to the Hendricks field golf course, while the planting of 1,000 shrubs on the western side of the No. 2 fairway at the golf course will be between that portion of the golf course and the newly constructed Franklin avenue extension. The golf course will be further beautified next spring with the addition of evergreens and flowering trees.

In the winter sports directory, Belleville park and Branch Brook extensions are listed as coasting areas and as places which may be used for ski beginners.

ROTARIANS JOIN NUTLEY PARTY

Help Club They Sponsored Celebrate Its 20th Anniversary

Members of the Belleville Rotary club joined with the Nutley Rotarians on Thursday night in celebrating the Nutley group's 20th anniversary at a dinner held in the Yountakah Country club. The local organization sponsored the Nutley club when it was formed.

The principal speakers were Walter Head of the Montclair club, past president of Rotary International, who spoke about "The Future of Rotary." The theme of talk was based on the fact that there must be a better way of living and understanding among the peoples of the world than there is today. Stressing the spirit of Rotary and the neighborliness which it engenders among men was Dr. Frank Lankard, president of Drew University at Madison, who is the Rotary district governor.

Superintendent of Schools John A. Spargo of Nutley, president of the club there presided. Dr. Horace Tatum of Nutley, a long-time Rotarian, was toastmaster. Other speakers included Philip Dettelbach, superintendent of L. Sonneborn & Sons and veteran member of the local Rotary, who spoke for the Belleville club, and Arthur Marsters, who spoke on behalf of the Bloomfield Rotarians. The invocation was delivered by Rev. L. Harold Hinrichs, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Nutley.

Honor Veteran Members

Honored were Dr. Albert F. Jackson and Chester H. Ryan, charter members of the Nutley club, who have attended every meeting for the past 20 years, and Dettelbach, who boasts of a similar record of attendance with the local Rotary.

Tomorrow noon the Rotarians will meet for their weekly luncheon at Forest Hill Field club and will hear a Thanksgiving talk by one of their members, Rev. Peter Deekenbach, rector of Christ Episcopal church.
