

145 TOWN WORKERS TO RECEIVE 5% BONUS PAYMENT

$120 Minimum And $150
Maximum Proviso Oakyed
By Board

Although they may not get it before Christmas, 145 municipal employees received the good news yesterday that they have been granted a five per cent bonus by the board of commissioners.

The action taken by the board of commissioners provides that no employee shall receive less than $120 and a maximum of $150. The announcement of the board's action was made at the pre-meeting conference of the commission on Tuesday night following a brief get-together of the board in Mayor Williams' office.

The mayor, in announcing the plan, which will benefit all municipal workers, including police and firemen, said that all board members were agreeable to the bonus. In explaining the plan to newspapermen after the meeting, the mayor termed the increased compensation as "a cost of living bonus to help offset the rise in the standard of living."

Help Lower Paid

"A type of bonus has been established," the mayor said, "which will be most helpful to the lower paid employees." He pointed out that all of those who receive over $3,000 will be restricted to $150 while no employee, regardless of how low his annual wage may be, will receive less than $120.

The mayor said that he did not know if the bonus would be paid to the employees before Christmas, but said that they would receive it as quickly as is possible. Williams said that during the past month he has held conferences with representatives of the police and fire departments who sought money. The finance head said that he had explained to them that he believed some plan should be worked out whereby all town workers would receive greater compensation. He said that the police and firemen were agreeable to such a plan.

Last year the uniformed employees presented a petition for a referendum on a $300 wage increase. Williams strongly opposed the plan, and after conferences the police and firemen agreed to withdraw the referendum. Subsequently, they were granted a $100 wage increase.

The five per cent bonus does not become a mandatory increase to employees' salaries. It is within the power of the board not to grant it next year, give one of similar amount or increase it if the members so desire.

Adds $16,875 to Payroll
Williams said the bonus payment would swell the pay of the 145 town workers on an average of five and one-half per cent. It will add $16,875 to the present municipal payroll of $306,836.

The members of the town commission will not receive any part of the bonus.
On November 10, the board of education voted a five per cent cost of living bonus for all school employees. However, it did not provide any minimum or maximum stipulation. The question of the payment of the bonus, scheduled to go into effect on November 1, is now before the WLB for approval.

BUILDING EXITS ARE CHECKED

Fire Chief Reports Factories, Stores Okay Except In Rare Cases

Acting following the tragic Cocoanut Grove night club fire in Boston two weeks ago, Fire Chief Robert Reid and members of the fire department have been making surveys of all factories and stores.
Chief Reid reported, Mayor Williams told the commissioners Tuesday night, that all structures met fire regulations and had sufficient exits. There were violations in only a few cases, it was said.

Concerning the two local night clubs, Williams said that he understood that the other night spot, The Fountain had met with Chief Reid's approval. Commissioner Noll suggested that the check be made on some of the apartment dwellings, claiming that some of those with fire fronts have only one exit for the families above, creating a serious hazard in event of fire.

The mayor asked Noll to investigate to learn what could be done with the heavy doors at the public library which swing inward. He also suggested that a check of the town hall be made.

SYMONDS GETS FEDERAL POST

Buick Co. Head Engineer In Chief Army Engineer's
Office

G. R. B. Symonds of Nutley, president of the Belleville Nutley Buick company in Washington avenue, Nutley, for the past 20 years left for Washington on Monday to assume his duties as principal engineer civil in the office of the chief army engineer in the department of engineering supplies.

Although he applied for a post the day after Pearl Harbor, it wasn't until Saturday that he received his appointment. A captain of engineers in World War I and a member of the army reserves, Symonds spent nearly a year in active duty overseas in 1918-1919. He received his commission then, in the Philippines, where, as civil engineer under the Philippine government, he spent seven years on irrigation projects under the army command.

Born in Nutley, Symonds has resided there continuously for the past 22 years. He has two sons, George, who is married and lives in Baltimore, Md., Paul, an instructor at Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., and a daughter, Alice Ruth, a student at Middlebury college, Middlebury, Vt. Mrs. Symonds expects to remain in Nutley for the present.

He is a member of the Nutley draft board and served as a town commissioner there from 1924 to 1928. He is a past president of the local Rotary club and has been an active member up to the present time.

TIN CAN HAUL WAS FAR SHORT

Only One Out Of Five Houses Cooperate; Got
7 Tons Last Week

Only one out of every five households is cooperating with the war effort by saving tin cans for salvage, according to Robert G. Sutherland, salvage committee chairman. His estimate is based on returns in last week's collection and a survey of the town on the number of households who put cans out at the curb to be picked up by the trucks.

While no action will be taken at this time, Sutherland indicated that if better cooperation is not forthcoming during this month in reaching the quota of 26.5 tons per month which has been set for the town, it may be necessary to take some steps to more strongly enforce the tin can salvage.

In Kearny, the town council has made it an offense to throw away tin cans. Assessing any violator a $10 fine, Sutherland said he hoped that Belleville could get up to the quota without resorting to this method.

Last week's tin can pick-up represented the return from local lions are usually made on the last Thursday of the month, but because of Thanksgiving, the collection was delayed until November 30.

Trucks donated by beverage companies were used this Monday to haul the cans to the detinning plant at Seavaren. Sutherland said 15 truckloads were shipped out of Belleville. For the first time, the salvage committee will now get some financial return on the tin cans. The chairman said that under a new provision, the detinning firm is required to pay the state salvage committee $12.50 for each can which is turned in to the plant. The state group in turn pays the local committee $5 for each ton which it has sent.

It'll Be Points, Not Money, That'll Count With Grocer

OPA Unveils War Ration Book Two For Future Commodities To Be Rationed; It Beats Anything They've Thought Up As Yet

If you think that you have had your troubles filling out the forms to get enough fuel oil coupons to keep from freezing this winter or to get additional gasoline, in poor English parlance "you ain't seen nothing yet, huh?"

Leon Henderson's OPA brain trusters have whipped up the daddy of all rationing systems that the folks have yet seen. Call it a Christmas present from Uncle Sam if you wish, but you won't get it until Christmas, and it's just as well.

If you don't have an arithmetic or algebra book down on the holiday shopping list, be sure to get one so that you can brush up on all that you have forgotten since you were last in a classroom.

The OPA has wrapped up a neat little brain teaser which is cloaked in the office of War Ration Book Two. It will be distributed in January. As an advance tip to what's coming, it will be used in connection with commodities which will be rationed next year.

The OPA has created the "point" system and Book No. 2 is part of it. Under the new system, the most plentiful of commodities will be found on the grocer's shelves will be given a low point value and those which are the scarcest will have a high point value.

It's Points That Count

It is supposed to be quite simple and understandable, and it is if you happen to be some sort of mathematical wizard. Starting in January, you won't be worrying about how much money you owe the grocer. It will be a case of how many points. While you may have been a customer of long years' acquaintance and your financial standing with the grocer may be triple AAA, you can't go around charging points. If you've gone over the monthly limit, you just won't be able to take what is being rationed.

Book No. 2, which it can now be predicted will be more generally known as "The Housewives' Nightmare" or simply that "dreadful little stamp book," will consist of eight pages of coupons with four attractive colors in red and blue. There are 24 coupons on each page—six 8-point, six 5-point, six 2-point and six 1-point. Each coupon has both a letter and a number to designate it: A5, B8, C2, etc.

So Many For Each

When the government decides to ration a group of similar commodities or related commodities, it will announce what those commodities are, the number of points allotted to each and what total points may be used each month by each person to purchase these commodities.

Here is how it works. If it should be announced that a group of five items will be rationed; OPA will announce point values and procedure as follows:

- Item 1—1 point per pound
- Item 2—2 points per pound
- Item 3—4 points per pound
- Item 4—8 points per pound
- Item 5—11 points per pound

Now, this shows that Item 5 is the scarcest and Item 1 the least scarce. So the point system will be a little clearer than mud, this is the way that it will work.

(a) 48 points a month may be used by each person to purchase these commodities.

(b) Blue stamps A, B, and C will be used during the first month. There are four each of the A, B, and C stamps, in denominations of 8, 5, 2, and 1 points under each stamp. Consequently, there are A stamps to the value of 16 points, and the same applies to the B and C stamps, making a total of 48 points.

(c) When you purchase a pound of Item 1, therefore, you surrender an A1, B1, or C1 coupon from your blue sheet.

For a pound of Item 2, you surrender two A2, B2, or C2 coupons; or one two-point and two one-point coupons—a combination of the A, B, and C coupons, as long as they total four points, in this case.

If you purchase five pounds of Item 1, you must surrender a five-

HAVE COLLECTED 90% OF TAXES

Mayor Reports Best Return
On Current Taxes In Town's History

Tax collections for the year to date are the best in the town's history, according to Mayor Williams. He released figures at Tuesday night's commission conference indicating that 90 percent of the current year's taxes have been collected.

The mayor told his fellow commissioners that ratables during the past year, based on figures recently released by the Essex County tax board, have increased $1,043,000. Reflected in tax collections, this represents approximately $46,000 in taxes, he explained.

Williams said that collections for the current year are 1.47 per cent ahead of the receipts from taxes for the corresponding period in 1941.

Taverns Asked To Close At 3 A. M. New Year's Eve

Local night clubs and taverns will be asked to voluntarily halt New Year's eve merrymaking at 3 a. m. on January 1. The request will be made of them in a letter by Mayor Williams, chairman of the excise board, with the unanimous consent of the other commissioners who are members.

The present town ordinance provides that taverns may stay open until 5 a. m. on New Year's eve. The law will not be amended, the commissioners choosing to make an appeal to the liquor dispensers for voluntary closing.

War-time conditions were given as the reason by all of the board members for approving the plan. Commissioner Waters commented that he believed this New Year's eve would be different than those in the past since virtually all war plants will be working on New Year's day.

"In these times," remarked Commissioner Noll, "people should go home at a reasonable hour."

Williams said that he would send a letter to each of the local license holders this week.

PAVE WAY TO BUY NEW AMBULANCE

Sargeant Named Trustee For Funds Secured in 1938
Fund Campaign

Action was taken by the board of commissioners Tuesday night to speed the day when a new ambulance will be purchased. The present ambulance, which was purchased through a private fund-raising campaign directed by the late Commissioner William D. Clark.

In 1938, Clark organized another drive for money for a new vehicle, but the campaign fell short and only $1,300 was raised. The money was placed in a fund in the First National bank.

A testimonial dinner was scheduled to have been held in Commissioner Clark's honor on October 29, but he died suddenly on October 9.

The committee which planned the banquet suggested to those who had purchased tickets for the dinner that they agree that the funds be placed toward the purchase of a new ambulance as a memorial to Commissioner Clark. They were given the opportunity to get back their money if they wished. Very few requests were made, it was said.

Ticket Sale $1,300

The ticket sale for the dinner amounted to $1,300. At the commission conference this week Mayor Williams told the board that the bank would release the $1,300 held since 1938 if the commission would pass a resolution authorizing some person to act as trustee for the money. Williams recommended Town Treasurer T. Russell Sargeant and at the meeting which followed a resolution naming him was adopted.

The mayor estimated that a new ambulance would cost approximately $3,500. With all of the funds in the hands of the town, he said that the additional amount would be made up out of municipal funds for the purchase of a new vehicle. He recommended that the present ambulance be kept by the town to be available for emergency use.

Miss Edith S. Atkinson

Miss Frances Demento

Those youths who have become 18 years old since the last selective service registration which took place in July will be registered at the draft board office in town hall during three sign-up periods to be held between now and December 31.

All who have become 18 years old since July 1 are required to register whether they are citizens or not. The draft office is located on the second floor of the town hall and is reached by using the center stairway directly in front of the main entrance to the building. Registrations will be accepted between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. on week days and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

The first registration period will start tomorrow. The schedule for the remainder of the month is as follows:

Acting on orders received from Washington, the draft board began yesterday the task of weeding out the men 38 and over from the lists of those eligible for military service.

The instructions to the local board were contained in a telegram from Col. E. N. Bloomer, state director of selective service, which was issued on the request of Maj. Gen. Hershey, national draft head. The telegram merely ordered the local board to place all men 38 and over, affected by the draft manpower switch announced over the weekend, in Class 4-H.

No additional information has been received by the board on how men will be called in the future. Inquiries have already been made at the office concerning how

Draftees Go Saturday, Not On Monday

The draft contingent, which was inducted into service last Saturday, will leave on Saturday morning and not on Monday as reported in last week's issue of The Times.

The men, who have been sworn into the service and have been on furlough since Saturday, should report at the high school at 10 a.m. Following the roll call, instructions will be given to them by John P. Dailey, draft board chairman.

The train which will take them to Fort Dix will leave the Pennsylvania station in Newark at 11:45 a.m.

men will be selected for service in the army, navy, marines or coast guard since all services will now draw from the draftees since enlistments have been halted. A board representative said it is useless for those interested to ask questions about what will happen since no one knows locally what will happen.

Public Knew First

It was pointed out that it was more than 48 hours after it had been publicly announced that the board was officially informed that men 38 and over would no longer be drafted. The older men are already asking if the fact that they will not be called for service means that those who are employed in non-essential businesses will be drafted for employment in war industries. While this may happen, the board does not have any official word.

There are reports that separate induction systems may be set up for certain groups.

18-19'S SCHOOLING IS AFFECTED

Must Be in Last Half
Of Academic Year to Be Deferred

A recent ruling made by national selective service headquarters affecting those 18 and 19 years old is not expected to affect many local youths who are in high school.

Those who are 18 and 19 and are attending a high school or similar institution will be inducted into the service immediately upon call by the draft board, unless they are in the last half of the academic year of study and make a request that their induction be postponed until the school year has been completed.

A check at the high school showed that the majority of youths will have completed their schooling and graduated before they have reached their 18th birthday, which is most of those who are 18 and 19. In the last half of the academic year of study and make a request that their induction be postponed until the school year has been completed.

At the draft office yesterday, it was stated that some 18 and 19 year-old youths in high school are included in the group which is scheduled to be inducted into the service on January 4. They were given the screening examination at the local office on Monday afternoon.

To Get Diplomas

Although they will be six months short of completing their schooling, the youths will be given their graduating diplomas and considered as graduates of the high school. If old Dufford, acting

Two Girls Hold Spotlight In Week's Service News

Frances Demento Enlists In WAACS As Auxiliary
While Edith Atkinson Awaits Call From Waves;
Navy Continues To Draw Many Local Youths

Two girls held the service news this week with Miss Frances Demento of 105 Baldwin place enlisting in the WAACS, and Miss Edith S. Atkinson, of 91 Brenond street joining the WAVES.

Miss Demento, who has enrolled as an auxiliary in the women's corps is now on call awaiting assignment. She attended local schools and was formerly employed by the Newark Model laundry. She hopes to become a spot clerk in the service since that is the type of work which she has done previously.

She is following in the footsteps of her brother, Philip, who has been promoted to corporal technician. He attended Belleville schools and was formerly employed by the Union News company. He has been in service since July 30 and is stationed at Fort Meade, Md. They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale H. Demento.

Miss Atkinson, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Atkinson of Brenond street has been enrolled in the WAVES as a member of the enlisted reserve.

She is due to be called sometime after the first of January and will go either to Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Rapids or to Oklahoma A&M college at Stillwater, Okla. Edith was graduated from Belleville high school and attended the Berkeley school in East Orange for a year. She was formerly employed by the Century Insurance company of Newark.

Four more new bluejackets from town reported for training this week at the Great Lakes naval training station in Illinois. They are Frederick Plenge, 29, of Rutan place; Robert J. Malcolm, 23, son of Mrs. Mary L. Malcolm of 28 Wilson place; Joseph P. Remick, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Remick of 35 Ralph street, and Irving Levine, 20, son of Mrs. Ida Levine of 64 Church street.

Following their "boot" training during which they will be given aptitude tests to determine which branch of the navy they will be best suited, the youths will be given a nine-day leave before being assigned to a permanent post.

John A. Oldham, 20, son of Mrs. Viola Oldham of William street has enlisted in the navy and is now stationed at the naval training station in Newport, R. I. John was the guest of honor at a farewell party given by his mother and his grandmother, Mrs. Fanny Rhodes, on November 22.

He was graduated from Belleville high school and was formerly employed by the Eastwood-Nealey corporation. John is the son of the late John A. Oldham, a veteran of the world war and a member of the P. F. George F. Youngman V. F. W. Post. He also has an uncle, former Fireman Joseph Oldham, who is with the air forces in Tennessee.

Awaits Assignment

William V. Natale of 156 Jorammon street has completed his basic training at the Newport naval training school but has not yet been assigned to another post. He was home on furlough for 12 days spent with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Natale.

FAT COLLECTION UP LAST MONTH

1265 Pounds Turned In;
Far Short Of Dec. Goal;
A. & P. Was High

Although the November collection was far above the amount which had been collected in the previous month, housewives will have to do a lot more saving of fats and greases if they hope to reach the quota of 10,000 pounds set by the state salvage committee for Belleville during the current month.

A tabulation of fats and greases which had been turned in to local stores by families, according to Mrs. May Holden, chairman of the salvage group's fats and greases division, shows that 1,266 pounds was received in November. This is far better than the 810 pounds for October. The Atlantic & Pacific market at 169 Washington avenue was high with a reported collection of 198 pounds. S. & S. market at 94 Washington avenue, 131 pounds; Acme market at 225 Washington avenue, 126 pounds; Belleville food market, 243 Wilson street, 125 pounds; and Ostrowski's, 540 Union avenue, 121 pounds.

NAME LOCAL MAN SCOUT EXECUTIVE

Frank O. Parachini Now In Training For Council
Field Post

Frank O. Parachini of 254 Joralemon street, former neighborhood commissioner for the local Boy Scouts, is now at the Schiff scout reservation taking a course in professional scouting. When he has completed his training, he will be assigned to a field executive post in the Robert Treat council.

It was announced this week that Arnold Sorenson, chief scout executive of the Robert Treat council, will leave his post in this district on January 1 to take a position with the Valley Forge council of Philadelphia. A successor has not been named.

On Tuesday night Raymond Gresham of Troop 333 was reviewed by Henry Minasian, chairman of the local advancement committee, for a first class rating. The examination was held in conjunction with a round table and board of review held at the town hall.

At the round table discussion, Field Executive Robert E. Smith said that the roll call of local scouts was nearly completed and that it shows that there are about 300 Boy Scouts and 90 Cubs enrolled in the various troops.

Named School Director.

Miss Josephine Rossi of 416 Belleville avenue has been appointed director of the Leah Kridel music school. Her appointment was announced by Mrs. Arthur Nathan, chairman of the music school committee of the Fuld Neighborhood house. The school is located in High street, Newark. Miss Rossi will teach voice, piano, harmony, music theory and group singing. She studied at the Juillard School of Music in New York.

POLICE DEPT. WILL GET 4 NEW CARS

Report By Williams Shows That Repair Cost On
Autos Is Prohibitive

The police department is badly in need of new automotive equipment, according to the report made Tuesday night by Mayor Williams, acting public safety director, at Tuesday night's conference of the town commissioners.

Four cars, all of which have been in the department service for the past three years, should be replaced, the mayor said. The white coupe, which has been used by the traffic principally to check fast drivers on Washington avenue, has travelled 120,000 miles. A first check indicated that it could be overhauled, the mayor said, but a re-check showed that the expense would be prohibitive and he recommended that it be replaced. Other cars which he recommended for replacement were two sedans which have been driven 153,000 and 130,000 miles respectively. Williams said that the one car has already used two motors. The fourth car has been driven 118,000 miles and might be repaired, but as in the case of the traffic coupe the mayor said that he believed in the long run it would be more economical to replace it.

He reported that the two automobiles most recently added to the department are in good condition.

Rebuild Or a New One

An attempt will be made to have the Segraves company, fire equipment manufacturers, overhaul the 500-gallon pumper located at the Silver Lake firehouse or replace it. The mayor told the commissioners that since the machine was purchased in 1930 it had had two engines and five new pumps installed to make it operate properly. It does not meet present fire department needs, he said. If it cannot be technically repaired, he suggested that a new pumper be purchased.

Plans for further improvement of the fire department were made with the passage of a resolution to appropriate $5,000 for the construction of a brick addition in the rear of fire headquarters at Washington and Division avenues. The building which would be 48 feet by 30 feet would be primarily used to house the hook and ladder which was removed from headquarters when the new aerial hook and ladder truck was delivered. At the present time, it is costing the town $20 per month for rent to house the apparatus. In addition, Williams said, the additional room would give firemen the opportunity to perform mechanical work on the trucks which is now impossible in the cramped space in which they are operating. Based upon the savings that would be made in mechanical bills and rentals, the mayor said that he estimated that the addition to the building would pay for itself within six or seven years.

up for the army and navy. The drafting of men has never been done by the navy before. In the past men who have sought to enlist in the navy, who have been turned down for physical reasons, have subsequently had no difficulty meeting the army physical standards. It may be possible in the future that men who will not meet navy requirements may later be drafted by the army.

One thing remained certain as far as the draft group which is scheduled to leave on Saturday morning is concerned. The men in it who are 38 and over will be sent to Dix.

It was explained by Miss Sadie Slusser, chief draft clerk, that it is not in the power of the local board to withdraw those men from the group. There are only four of the contingent who come in the age classification which is affected by the new age regulation. She explained that those men were sworn into service on Saturday before the presidential order was issued. Ordinarily, they would have reported to camp by this time, but have taken advantage of the one-week furlough. They must report for service on Saturday.

Must Show Usefulness

It is understood that these men can apply immediately for army release the same day as those men 38 and over who are already in the service. However, the applicant must be able to show that he can be more useful in a war industry, than he is to the army.

Relatives have already been inquiring at the board on the steps which must be taken for men 38 and over to gain release from the service. The board has no information on the procedure. It is believed that the men will eventually be fully informed of the steps which they must take by the commanding officers of the camps in which they are now stationed.

Meanwhile, the board went ahead with plans for calling its January group which is scheduled to be inducted on January 4. The first of the 18 and 19 year old youths will leave with this contingent. Most of them were given their screening examination on Monday.

In the group which will leave on Saturday are two men, both of whom are over 45, who have no intention of applying for discharge from the service. Because of their age, they were not drafted but voluntarily entered the service. Both of them are aliens. They are Edmund Graham of Parview avenue and Herman Wolzanski, better known as Harry Herman Wahl. The latter, who is a widower, has a 14-year old daughter.

Miss Slusser explained that men 38 and over who wish may still voluntarily enter the service despite the passage of the law which does not require calling men in this age group.

Below is the list of those who will report to Fort Dix on Saturday: Frederick Kerr of 260 Hornblower avenue and David T. MacGregor of 34 Maple avenue went to Dix immediately after their induction last Saturday. Clifford G. Koelsch of 29 Beers street and George H. Tietze of 24 Tremont avenue will not report to Dix until Monday.

Number Turned Down

The group is one of the smallest to be sent in recent months, a large number of those who reported to the Newark armory for induction last week having been rejected for physical reasons. The board will have to make up the failure to meet its quota in succeeding months. In the Saturday contingent are:

T. B. SEAL SALE LEADS LAST YEAR

Report $1,155.50 Up Until Yesterday; More Stamps
Are Available

Nearly $1,200 in Christmas seals have been purchased by local residents through the Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis association. The total reported yesterday of $1,155.50 is ahead of the corresponding period for last year.

Health Officer Eugene T. Berry, chairman of the seal sale here, reported that on December 10 a year ago $1,054 had been received, while it was not until December 12 then that $1,154 was reported. Berry expects that the week is out, the seal sale will be well past the halfway mark in its drive toward a $2,500 quota. Nutley has a similar quota.

Receipts from the sale of Christmas seals are used to carry on the work of the association in two towns. The principal item is the salary of the nurse who visits patients in both Nutley and Belleville and makes periodic checks on possible tubercular cases. Regular clinics are also held at which patients are treated.

The new nurse, Mrs. Ernest Whynall of Nutley, named last week, started her duties on Monday. Those who wish additional seals may purchase them at the health department office. They may be ordered by telephone and arrangements will be made to deliver or mail them if residents

Camp Kilmer-Bound Cars Asked To Carry Gifts

The Junior Red Cross, directed by Mrs. William H. Williams, has been packing Christmas boxes to be sent to the soldiers at Camp Kilmer, near New Brunswick. They will be ready for shipment on December 20.

Since it is known that a number of local residents commute to the camp regularly by car, it is hoped that some of them will volunteer to take the packages to Kilmer. Those who are willing should get in touch with Miss Esther Adams at the Red Cross office in the Woman's club in Rossmore place.

HARTLEY ASSAILS WLB INTERFERENCE

Part In Newark Dispute 'Death
Blow At Local Government'
He Tells Congress

Speaking before congress on Monday Representative Fred A. Hartley, Jr. charged that the interference of the war labor board in the Newark city employees' strike opened the door to "a most dangerous and un-American precedent." The tenth district representative assailed the WLB's entrance into the dispute as "a most flagrant violation of states rights, and a death blow at the very heart of local self-government."

The WLB opened its hearing in Washington yesterday in the strike which was called in October by Local 277 State, County and Municipal Workers, CIO, which resulted in the walkout of refuse collection employees in Commissioner Joseph Byrnes' department.

"I cannot stress too forcefully," Hartley told the House, "the imminent possibility of loss of autonomy, breakdown of civil service, and the encouragement of a sympathetic reception in Washington if they decide to strike or force adjustment of working conditions."

The congressman said the interference of the WLB in the invitation to every policeman, fireman, teacher and every other public employee in the U. S. to run roughshod over the heads of their duly elected and appointed supervisors, to bring to Washington problems that are the proper concern of local government.

"Is Packed Jury"
He urged that congress attempt to curb "this wanton abuse of authority" by the WLB. He termed the board "the most biased judge and packed jury ever to be inflicted upon the American people."

Hartley concluded with the remark: "The liquidation of local self government would be the forerunner of the liquidation of the congress."

She Does A Man-Sized Job On The Home Front

Typical of the firm, feminine hand which today is at the controls of many of America's activities is Mrs. William Wood of Coloma, Michigan. While her husband works at a war plant, Mrs. Wood manages a 120-acre farm, thereby taking her place in the ranks of the great army of women who have emerged as such a dominant factor in the victory drive on the home front. Mrs. Wood does not limit herself to driving a tractor, helping in the harvest and tending a victory garden as her contribution to the war effort; she also is a regular purchaser of War Savings Bonds.

Hanrahan has been assigned to the procurement department in New York and will be married Saturday to Marguerite McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. McCoy of Monroe, La. The marriage will take place at 3 p. m. in St. Peter's church with the Rev. Kelly officiating.

The bride will wear a blue wool suit trimmed with beaver. Mrs. Regina McNeil, sister of the bridegroom, will be matron of honor. She will wear beige trimmed with brown. Raymond Hanrahan, brother of the bridegroom, will be best man.

Lieut. Hanrahan is a graduate of Belleville High school and traffic college in New York. He was formerly employed by the Southern Pacific railroad. Miss McCoy is a graduate of the North East Center of Louisiana State university. She was formerly employed at the army air forces pre-flight school for bombardiers and navigators at Monroe, La. NUTRITION SERIES HELPS WOMEN

Practical Sessions At Fewsmith Kitchen Help Them To Stretch Foods

The Belleville nutrition class which is a part of the Agricultural extension service which is training leaders to bring nutrition to every municipality in this region is busy at present with yeast doughs and meat extenders. The aim of this group is to bring good health to citizens through nutrition. Since the courses in Belleville are practical in which the work is done rather than talked about, the women take part in two classes which meet in the Fewsmith church kitchen. There are now 20 women participating in the work. The classes so far have made plain bread, cake and rolls.

Mrs. Tom Jackrell and Mrs. John Charlton, two members of the group, were in Montreal to assist with a group of 15 women who are doing the same sort of work. This gave the Belleville women a perspective view of what other towns are doing and will help them to be among the first to take part in this service. The defense council is prepared to send block leaders to explain the meat situation to the women and to give lessons on meat extension, showing the ways of getting the most value from certain dishes while using less meat. Anyone who is interested in such a plan and would like to learn the various practices which this group is putting into action may get in touch with Mrs. Jackrell, Mrs. Victor Hart or Mrs. Charlton.

WE'RE CUTTING DOWN ON This

The pressing need to conserve gasoline and rubber makes it imperative that the use of company delivery trucks be cut to the bone!

Won't you help us? We no longer wish to make use of these trucks to deliver a little thing like a fuse to the homes of our electric customers when replacements are needed. It is a simple matter for you to keep a small supply of fuses on hand to have them ready when needed. If a fuse blows out it is as easy to replace it as changing an electric light bulb.

So we ask your cooperation—to help us conserve gasoline, rubber and manpower. Please replace your own fuses! If you are uncertain as to the location of your fuse panels and how fuses are replaced—or if fuses blow out frequently—call your local electrician.

Keep extra fuses, and a flashlight, handy at all times.

DISCUSSES WHAT YOUTH CAN DO

Sidney C. Summerfield Summarizes Problems At Appropos Club Dinner

Speaking on "The Making of Tomorrow—Youth Faces the Future," Sidney C. Summerfield of Little street spoke on Tuesday night at the dinner meeting of the Appropos club in the Newark Athletic club.

A leader in work among people, being actively affiliated with the Montclair Y.M.C.A., Summerfield's address was an analysis the social forces and trends in war time and post-war planning. He discussed problems which face Negro and white youths, those who reside in urban and rural areas, their education, employment, recreation and health, the part they will play in the war effort and in the home.

Leading up to a summarization of what you can do, Summerfield declared that he believed that young people could study the issues leading to a just peace, be more intelligent on world affairs, learn to understand human nature, study foreign languages and develop a righteous faith.

The local resident, who is an official of the New Jersey Bell Telephone company, was an active participant in the State Older Boys' conference held last Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Montclair Y.M.C.A.

FUEL OIL COUPON
USE CLARIFIED
BY OPA HEAD
Three Types Are Explained By Kerney; Class One Most Common

To clarify confusion existing among certain consumers regarding the use of fuel oil and kerosene ration coupons, the office of James Kerney, Jr., state director of OPA, has issued a bulletin of information and instructions, as follows:

1. There are three types of fuel ration coupons, each sheet marked with its class designation:

a. Class one. These are used by householders to purchase fuel oil or kerosene for heating purposes.

b. Class two. These are used by multiple unit dwellings, such as apartment houses for fuel for heating purposes.

c. Class three. This type of coupon is used by householders for fuel oil or kerosene for purposes other than heating, such as for cooking, lighting, cleaning, and insecticides; by institutions for domestic purposes other than heating; for use in farm vehicles and implements.

2. How to use fuel oil and kerosene coupons:

a. A sheet of class one coupons (for heating homes) consists of two types of coupons. At one end of the sheet are coupons of a definite gallonage value; they are marked "one gallon" and "five gallons." They may be used at any time during the year to purchase fuel oil or kerosene to the amount marked on the coupon.

At the other end of the sheet are one-unit coupons marked "Period One," "Period Two," and so on, up to "Period Five." At the present time these coupons are good for the purchase of 10 gallons of fuel oil or kerosene. However, they can be used only within the following time limits:

Period one coupons — up to December 16.

Period two coupons: From December 3 to January 19, 1943.

Period three coupons: From January 7 to February 22. Period four coupons: From February 9 to March 31. Period five coupons: From March 18 to September 30.

b. When you wish to purchase fuel oil or kerosene, you must present the sheet of coupons to your dealer and he will tear off sufficient coupons to cover your purchase. For example: If, on December 17, you purchase 110 gallons of fuel oil, your dealer will remove 11 Period two coupons, each of which is worth ten gallons. You cannot order more fuel oil or kerosene in any period than you have coupons for. If you are purchasing kerosene for heating and wish to buy only five gallons, the dealer will remove one of the five gallon stamps from your sheet. After all the five-gallon and one-gallon coupons are gone, you will have to buy in ten-gallon lots in order to get your full value out of your Period stamps.

Don't Tear Off Stamps

Do not tear off the coupons yourself; your dealer must detach the stamps. Loose stamps are not valid.

3. Class three coupons (for agricultural, domestic, and institutional uses other than heating), are issued only for a three-month period, and are valid only for the period shown on your coupon sheet. All of these stamps are marked with a definite gallonage value: "One gallon," "five gallons," etc. They may be used for the purchase of the indicated gallonage at any time during the valid three-month period.

At the end of the three months apply to your rationing board for another three-month ration.

The OPA bulletin did not discuss class three coupons at length because, it was pointed out, there is no confusion as to their use.

Belleville Youth
At College

Bernard W. Dechan son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Dechan of Belmont street was promoted to the rank of cadet captain in the R.O.T.C. of Lehigh university. Bernard is a senior at Lehigh and graduated from Kearny High school and Staunton Military Academy. The university reserve corps includes over 800 men and is equally divided between infantry and ordnance. The promotions were announced by Col. Fay Brabson, head of Lehigh military department.

Miss Helen DeNoia, a senior at Upsala college, East Orange was one of three students selected to attend a three day conference last week at Princeton university of the Middle Atlantic states International Relations clubs. She returned to Belleville Saturday. Miss DeNoia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel DeNoia of 9 Elena place.

An F. & M. Paper Staff

George M. Baurhenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Baurhenn of 301 Union ave., has recently been elected to the position of advertising manager for the Student Weekly, the campus publication for Franklin and Marshall college, at Lancaster, Pa.

Baurhenn has passed the examinations and has been enlisted by the army as listed reserve corps.

mation, having sifted down 4500 war time rumors since Pearl Harbor, praised the American people for their ability to spot war time falsehoods almost as soon as they were uttered. Yet 4500 enemy stories add up to a lot of confusion and prejudice. Most important for us to remember is that rumor mongering is the Axis' best weapon to weaken, demoralize and divide us at home, while Eisenhower, MacArthur and Halsey smash the enemy on the firing lines. So, don't repeat rumors.

Transportation

The war time movement of men, food and materials up and down the country remains one of the toughest problems we must solve. Yet it must be realized that the heaviest responsibility for continued success of our armies and allies rests on transportation, both abroad and at home. Those General Grant tanks which smashed up Rommel, the General Sherman's rolling along in Eisenhower's western task force, for example, had to be carried atop railway cars from their midwestern birthplace to Atlantic ports of embarkation.

That's why we must sensibly consider and meet the transportation problems created by many sporting events which Uncle Sam permits during war time. For example the office of defense transportation has urged that sale of tickets to section bowl football games be restricted to immediate areas where contests will be played. School buses for sports events will not be authorized this winter, thereby giving Hitler and Tojo cold comfort, but furnishing essential war time transportation with extra gasoline and rubber. Professional baseball, so good even the Japs swiped it, will undergo war time streamlining when it comes to transportation next year.

A special system for farmers to correct any injustices or errors in certificates of war necessity has been set up by the O.P.T. Purpose of the certificate is to allow all truck and bus operators sufficient parts for their essential needs. No farmer is to be put out of business as a result of this plan. Any dissatisfied farm holder of a certificate should appeal to his Farm Transportation committee which will review his case and send a recommendation to the ODT district office.

Manufacturers who feel they are being asked to fill out War Production questionnaires and forms unsuited to their business have no necessity to write or travel to Washington for relief. The Regional WPB office has appointed A. Louis Gresman as regional representative to investigate all complaints on questionnaires and forms. Any case that cannot be settled in the region will be passed on to Washington for an answer.

Uncle Sam means business and "not-as-usual." Last week the WPB once more emphasized that our armed forces were not going without weapons and supplies so that precious critical raw materials could be misused by priority violating firms. WPB cracked down with a suspension order against the Deal Electric Company of Brooklyn, N. Y. which delivered 410,291 feet of copper wire to customers without preference ratings. The offending firm was deprived of all priority ratings for four months. A Newark firm, Sterling Products, Inc. kept on manufacturing steel beds despite the fact that a WPB prohibition order had been issued to conserve iron and steel for war production. Having made its bed so unpatriotically Sterling Products will be without priority controlled materials for the next six months.

Every time you get ready to turn up that thermostat Mr. and Mrs. New Jersey, ask yourself how much fuel oil it takes to heat a battered roofless house in the heroic ruins of Stalingrad. Remember the less you burn at home this winter, the more fuel available for heating war plants, driving transport vessels, rolling a 28 ton General Sherman battle tank.

The Home
Front

Most of us have one human characteristic in common. We don't worry too much about hanging on to New Year resolutions. But as we start our second year this week, New Jersey patriots will keep one resolution right up to war's end; no rumor mongering. Americans and the other peoples of the united nations are pretty hard to fool on Axis "facts." That's why Dr. Goebbels relies so heavily on gossip, sly reports, whispered rumors. Last week the office of war infor-

What Can I Do Department

Last week some good citizens in this area made pleasant news. In Syracuse, N. Y. Mrs. Oscar F. Soule decided there was no sense in rationing her husband's company. She's just been appointed registrant of the Onondaga county price and rationing board to carry on full time what she has been doing for months. Mr. Soule... Oh yes, he's county chairman.

Alfred Dalrymple, 20 year old farmer in upper New York state, won the national leadership contest of the famed 4-H club at its congress in Chicago. High man among the group's 700,000 members, Alfred has been managing his family's 125 acre farm, growing 350 bushels of corn on less than two acres of land, and

EXCERPT OF COMMENTS

Condition of Finances and Debt Data

The Current or general operating group of accounts, at December 31, 1941, showed an excess of cash over cash requirements in amount $408,885.21, after provision in full for school funds in amount $200,000.00, payable in installments to June 30, 1942. See Exhibit "A-7". The sum of $75,593.55 was appropriated from this source as revenue in the budget for 1942, and $99,900 has been invested in U. S. Defense Bonds, Series "F"; $49,950 in 1941 and the same amount in 1942. A cash surplus resulted from 1941 operations in the sum of $223,117.96, including non-recurring Franchise and Gross Receipts Tax revenues in the sum of $109,180.85.

Collections of current taxes equalled 84.55% of the amount levied, compared with 84.95% in 1940. Delinquent taxes collected in 1941 equalled 71.18% of the total outstanding at the beginning of the year, compared with 71.53% in 1940. Redemptions of tax title liens, which are not anticipated as revenue in the budget, yielded $42,922.65 in 1941, compared with $27,248.93 in 1940. Comparative ratios of the balances on January 1 of each year were 13.13% and 6.98%.

Foreclosure of properties under tax liens and liquidation of foreclosed properties continued. 43 parcels having lien values totalling $91,442.33 were acquired and 119 parcels having lien values totalling $154,626.01 were sold for $66,065.18.

The cash surpluses in accounts other than Current and the amounts thereof appropriated to the 1942 Budget are detailed below:

| Balance December 31, 1941 | Trust Account | Capital Account | Water Operating Account | Water Capital Account | Total |
|-----------------------------|---------------|-----------------|-------------------------|-----------------------|--------------|
| Appropriated to 1942 Budget | $56,949.78 | $26,745.35 | $34,613.72 | $5,332.36 | $123,641.21 |
| | 55,000.00 | 35,000.00 | 30,000.00 | | 120,000.00 |

The total indebtedness of the Town, outstanding at December 31, 1941, was $3,819,116.00. The Net Debt was $3,030,699.46, or 10.89% of the average assessed valuation of real estate for three years. Water Debt was fully deductible by reason of a surplus from operations. Gross Debt, including School Debt, was $4,500,207.60, or 15.1025% of the total assessed valuation for 1941.

2-2 VOTE AGAIN ON FIFTH MAN

Unable To Break Tie On Mertz For Third Time; None Comment

For the third time the town commission on Tuesday night deadlocked on the question of a successor to the late Commissioner William D. Clark. Commissioners King and Noll again proposed and voted for Raymond Mertz and Mayor Williams and Commissioner Waters voted against the man who was sixth in last May's commission election.

As was the case last time, neither Williams nor Waters gave any reason for their vote and Noll and King made no comment. It is now more than two months since Clark died. Since his death, Williams has been supervising the police and fire departments as acting director of public safety.

Holiday Meals for 1942

This mock plum pudding tastes like a real one.

WITH wartime restrictions on foods, the outlook for traditional holiday meals may not seem so bright. However, food experts have been working on the substitute problem for many months and have created dishes many of which have a better flavor than customary foods made by old recipes.

There will be no trouble in getting a big turkey; fowl is not considered a meat and will not be included in meat rationing regulations. Cook the bird by the low-temperature method to reduce shrinkage and emphasize the flavor. Make fruit cakes with your old recipe but replace hard-to-get fruits with candied orange and lemon peel that you make at home.

Here is a Mock Plum Pudding that will please the most fastidious.

Roast Turkey
Singe, dress, wipe turkey with damp cloth. Slip back skin from neck and cut neck off close to body. Pack cavities with dressing. Sew ends. Tie wings and legs close to body. Place on back in uncovered pan using no water. Roast 10-15 lb. turkey at 300 degrees F. 20 minutes per lb.; 15-20 lb. turkey at 300 degrees F. 18 minutes per lb.

Sausage Stuffing
Use 1 1/2 loaves stale bread. Dip bread in hot water and squeeze to remove all excess moisture. Crumble well. Sauté 1 lb. sausage 5-8 minutes. Drain; add to bread with 2 onions chopped and 1 green pepper minced. Season to taste. (This will stuff a 12-16 lb. bird.)

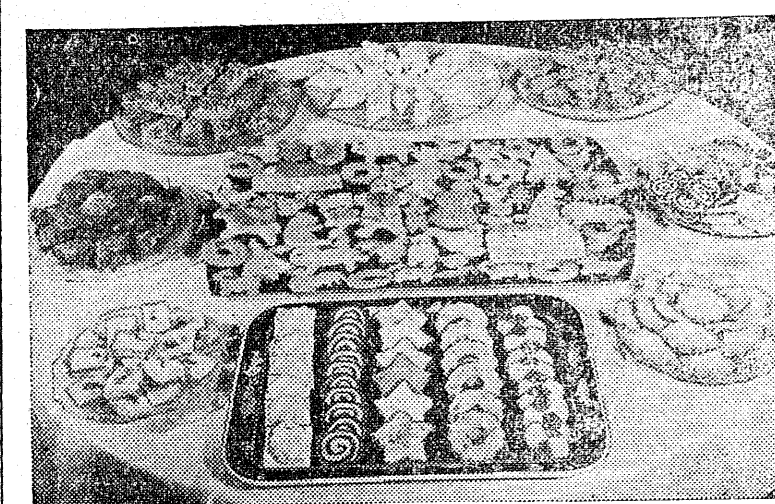

Mock Plum Pudding
1/2 cup soda 1/4 tsp. chopped citron
1 cup grated raw potato 1/4 tsp. chopped orange peel
1 cup carrot 2 tsp. melted shortening
1 cup sugar 1 tsp. salt
1 cup flour 1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup chopped nuts 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 cup raisins 1/2 tsp. cloves

Add soda to potato and mix well. Add carrot, sugar, flour, nuts, raisins, citron, orange peel, shortening, salt and spices. Mix thoroughly. Fill greased mold 3/4 full. Cover tightly and steam for 2 1/2 hours. Serve with Orange, Grape or Cider Sauce.

Orange Sauce
1 cup sugar 1 medium orange
2 1/2 tsp. cornstarch 1 tsp. grated rind
1/2 tsp. salt 1 tsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup boiling water
3 tsp. butter

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together. Add water gradually, stirring constantly. Boil 3 minutes, remove from heat, add butter, fruit juice and rind.

Cut Cookies in 'Cute' Shapes

Cookies may be made in many interesting forms and decorated with colored sugars, nuts, dried fruits and icing.

OF COURSE, you will be making cookies for the children this holiday season. Make them in the form of stars, wheels, Santa Claus, Christmas trees and wreaths and any shape that pleases your fancy.

Cookie cutters may be difficult to buy but you can cut the cookies with a sharp knife and a pattern. Get appropriate illustrations from magazines or newspapers and make cardboard patterns. Place pattern on dough and cut around the edges. Here are several recipes for cookies.

Spiced Carrot Cookies
1 cup butter 5 cups flour
1 1/2 cups sugar 1 g. salt
3 eggs 1 tsp. cream of tartar
1 cup raw grated carrots 1/2 tsp. soda
1 1/2 tsp. coriander 1 tsp. lemon extract

Cream butter and sugar; add eggs and beat well. Add carrot and coriander seed. Beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients. Add lemon extract. Mix. Roll dough thin and cut in fancy shapes. Bake at 375°F. for 15 minutes.

Gingerbread Cookies
1 1/2 cup butter 3 tsp. baking powder
1 1/2 cup brown sugar 1 tsp. ginger
1 egg, well beaten 1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup sifted flour 1/2 cup molasses
Cream shortening and sugar. Add

Molasses Cookies
1 1/2 cups Cookie Mix 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup butter 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. soda 1 egg, beaten
1 tsp. ginger 1/2 cup molasses

Thoroughly mix Cookie Mix with dry ingredients. Add beaten egg and molasses and mix. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Flatten dough with glass. Bake at 350°F. for 12-15 minutes. Approximate yield: 5 dozen.

Cook vegetables in a small amount of water and save their vitamin content.

May Close Chain Food Stores Saturday After Christmas

A movement is afoot to have the chain food stores closed on the Saturday after Christmas. Since Christmas falls on a Friday this year, it would mean that the stores would be closed for business from Thursday night until Monday morning, the longest shutdown of the places that can be recalled.

None of the leading chains have as yet officially indicated that the plan will be approved, but there has been considerable agitation for it here and elsewhere.

Mrs. Anna M. Foss, 68

Burial was held yesterday in Holy Cross cemetery, North Arlington, for Mrs. Anna McClenahan Foss, 68, of 134 Floyd street who died suddenly at her home on Saturday night. Mrs. Foss was born in Baltimore, and had lived in Belleville for 35 years. Besides her husband Olaf G. Foss, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Harry Mueller of town; three sons, Olaf Jr. of Newark, James of New York, and Thorwald Foss of Los Angeles, Calif.; one grandchild, Joan Foss, and a sister, Miss Katherine McClenahan of Baltimore, Md.

The funeral was from the Kiernan Funeral home and a high mass was offered in St. Mary's church, Nutley, yesterday morning.

30 TONS OF SCRAP IN KIDS' HAUL

Still An Estimated 10 Tons On Lot; Schools To Get $214

Preliminary figures show that the elementary school youngsters in their scrap drive early last month collected nearly 30 tons of junk, 59,565 pounds to be exact. There is still an estimated 10 tons from the campaign to be picked up at the lot in Cortlandt and Little streets. When it has been weighed, final figures will be released.

Andrew Salkeld, salvage committee chairman, reported that a check for $214 had been received from the scrap collector, Frank Resciniti, which would be apportioned to the schools on the basis of the amount of junk which they collected.

The amount of scrap which each school contributed and the money which they will be paid based on preliminary returns is as follows:

School No. 1, 10,010 pounds, $35.04; School No. 2, 3,000 pounds, $10; School No. 3, 6,170 pounds, $21.60; School No. 4, 4,040 pounds, $14.14; School No. 5, 15,540 pounds, $54.39; School No. 7, 5,510 pounds, $19.28; School No. 8, 6,995 pounds, $24.48; School No. 9, 5,900 pounds, $18.55; School No. 10, 8,000 pounds, $10.50.

OUTDOOR LIGHTS FOR XMAS BANNED

Defense Council Notified By State That They Are Prohibited

Outdoor Christmas decorations are out for the duration of the war. Originally, Maj. Gen. Tarry, commanding officer of the second corps area, had stated that modified Christmas decorations would be permitted, but this week the defense council was notified by State Defense Director Leonard Dreyfuss that the order had been amended since the adoption of the recent new dimout regulations.

Not only does it eliminate outdoor decoration of Christmas

Remember That Kid Across The Street

From now until December 25, the public will be on its annual holiday buying spree. Many will have pockets bulging with more money than they had ever dreamed of earning. They are itching to spend it. Mary wants to buy that $20 two-piece ensemble that she never dreamed she could have, or the $250 fur coat that she always wanted. And what about Harry? He's figuring on busting loose with a couple of flashy $65 suits, and probably a combination radio-victrola for his room.

Is that young fellow who used to live across the street, but is now shouldering a gun somewhere in French North Africa going to have any of these luxuries? You know he isn't. He'll be lucky if he has time on Christmas for a meal. Maybe, it'll be a can of army rations.

That kid from across the street is sacrificing a lot for you. He's willing to make it, even pay with his life if he must. But he must have a gun. He must have plenty of ammunition. The fellows who are with him must have tanks, guns, planes and other weapons, too, if they are to win.

The Christmas coming should be one of sacrifices by all so that the day may come quickly when we can return to the Yule time that all have enjoyed.

Don't let personal desires for luxuries get the best of you. Remember that kid from across the street. Buy war bonds to help him and help yourself. For the most worthwhile gift which you can give to members of the family, relatives, friends and employees—give war bonds that pay big dividends in two ways.

What Will Happen To Education?

The educational scene throughout the country is changing rapidly, and even greater alterations in the program to which we have become accustomed will be seen during the next year. This is particularly true of the public secondary schools.

This is a young man's war as was further indicated this week by the decision of the government not to call into service any more men who are 38 and over.

Military leaders have been steadily demanding that changes be made in public school curriculum to prepare youths for their entry into the service. Industry wants both skilled men and women so that vocational subjects once looked upon with disdain by many school systems will now take a prominent place.

Subjects long favored in schools will now be missing entirely or certainly curtailed for educators now know that "business as usual," as far as the curriculum is concerned, is out for the duration. Time is essential in this war, and the earlier and quicker that young men and women can be prepared for their place on the battle line—at home or abroad—the better will be the position of this nation.

This change in the educational program brings up several interesting questions. What will happen to the colleges throughout the country? With 18 and 19-year old youths being called into service, the number who will be left to attend universities should be comparatively small. With the elimination of some subjects from the list of subjects offered by high schools, it would be impossible for students to meet the requirements for entrance to some colleges unless the institutions would let down the barriers which have been long established.

The elimination of some subjects and the substitution of war-time instruction means that many young people will miss being taught some things which have long been accepted as essential to a well-rounded education. The question is brought up whether they will ever pick up what they have lost after the war or whether because of the lack of it will be able to go on to college.

It appears that education is due for many changes, and that some of its long accepted standards may be lost forever.

Buying A Package Of Ham And Eggs

The idea that you can take some water and pour it over what looks like a dish of corn flakes and come up instead with golden-colored carrots, or that by pouring water on some white flour-like stuff, you can have a quart of milk, seems pretty far-fetched.

American housewives know little about dehydrated foods, but in this nation's effort to feed most of the world, much of it is being done through dehydration of foods and the prospects are that many of the lessons which are being learned today by the country's food producers and scientists will be used in peace-time.

The war has resulted in a phenomenal growth of the dehydration industry in the past two years, and it apparently will continue to rise with the help of financial aid from the government. There were about a dozen plants in operation in 1940. Today, there are more than 125. Nearly 100 have been established in the past six months.

In a recent article, Claude R. Wickard stated that he believed that dehydration is leading to a new era in the history of food. The amount of water which many foods contain is tremendous. Dehydration takes out almost all of this water. Every bit of food that can be crammed into the holds of ships must be sent to the allied nations fighting with us to win the war. And, as Secretary Wickard stated, there is no room for water.

Dehydration has completely eliminated the spoilage problem which even in the early days of this war plagued experts. It is now possible to send foods to distant foreign lands which could not be previously shipped because of spoilage and because the space which they occupied in a ship was prohibitive.

It may be thought that dehydration is simply a war-time emergency means of dealing with the problem of feeding millions scattered all over the world among the civilian population and the men who are doing the fighting. Many food experts, among whom Secretary Wickard is a leader, believe that this is not true. This nation's job to keep most of Europe and other parts of the world from going hungry will not end with the stoppage of the war. A long reconstruction period will follow in which ships will be taxed to their capacities to supply the materials to help rebuild countries which have been torn asunder by the ravages of war.

At home, the problem of getting certain seasonal products to the markets where they could be offered to the public, has been a constant one. Food has spoiled because sufficient transportation facilities to ship it to markets have not been available. Bumper crops have lowered prices to the point that the grower made little or no profit. Dehydration of foods would prevent both of these conditions.

It sounds kind of strange, but just think of going to the store for a couple of boxes of ham and eggs.

There's Manpower To Burn

Industry and businesses are being called upon to make extreme sacrifices to assure that manpower will be expended to the greatest possible usefulness—either in the armed forces or in war production. From the smallest storekeeper to the country's biggest industrialist, the situation has become an almost continuous headache.

Washington has been shouting for greater cooperation, a shifting of labor wherever possible, and made what will eventually develop into sweeping changes this week with the manpower re-organization which made Paul V. McNutt its virtual dictator.

Yet, in Washington itself, even admitted by some leading federal officials, exists the greatest example of war-time inefficiency and waste of manpower that is conceivable. While the entire country is being exhorted to stretch every worker as far as he will possibly go—and then a little more—the Capitol ex-eters roll merrily along creating new jobs and bureaus.

Recent figures released show that Uncle Sam has 2,571,500 men and women on his payroll—about 280 percent more than in the past world war. People working in state and local government have increased 100 percent since 1918, or a total of 3,017,-

632. By combining the two figures, it is found that there are about a half-million more eating out of the public trough than are in the armed forces today—which is only 25 percent greater in size than the number of men in service in the last war.

The statistics just don't jibe. It would appear that Washington could do some re-checking in its own backyard. Senator Harry Byrd, who has persistently assailed the continual rise in the number of federal employees, has called for the dismissal of one-third of them, terming the present condition a "criminal" manpower waste.

That bureaucracy is expanding on an almost unbelievable scale is clearly revealed in the figures. It should be something for congress to think about—since the money of the people who elected them is being spent to maintain this tremendous army of federal workers. Today, the navy department has five times as many civilian employees as it did in 1918. Four times as many are on the agricultural department payroll. The interior department has about three times as many, but the commerce department is a mere piker having slightly less than 25,000 as compared to 10,632 on July 1, 1919.

Yudin Commends Mayor

From Wilfred Yudin 114 Washington Avenue To the Editor of The Times:

I was very much pleased over the fact that Mayor Williams saw fit to make a personal survey of the Washington avenue block between Belleville avenue and William street in order to ascertain whether or not parking meters are needed for the convenience of the citizens of our community who wish to park their cars during shopping hours.

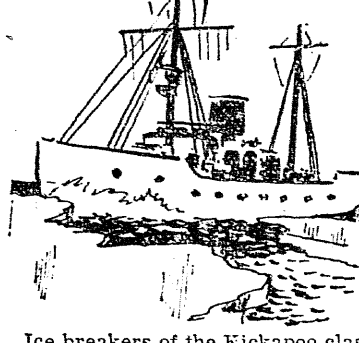

His action indicates a level headed and fair minded approach to that problem and has personally convinced me that we can expect an intelligent and able supervision of the police and fire departments during the period preceding the appointment of a new commissioner.

I sincerely hope that the new commissioner, who ever he may be, will be one who will take as much an interest in the department as the mayor is showing.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It is imperative that the ship lanes be kept free of ice. With American troops occupying Iceland and the Navy using the northern route for transportation of supplies to Russia, ice breakers are essential to Naval operations. The ice breaker is a specially constructed ship with heavily armored bows and powerful engines that crush the ice floes rather than ram through them.

Ice breakers of the Kickapoo class operating in the North Atlantic cost approximately $10,000,000. You can help our Navy build these ships by investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday. Enroll in the payroll savings plan or apply at the nearest bank or postoffice. U. ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville Times.

by Meador Wright

Final election figures give Fred A. Hartley 37,189 votes to 31,504 for his opponent, Frederic Bigelow, or a majority of 5,680. Considering the size of the Republican majority this at first glance does not seem very impressive. But on closer study it indicates substantial Hartley strength.

In the first place, 5,680 represents near the average Republican majority in the 14 New Jersey districts. Or to put it another way, had Albert W. Hawkes lost to William H. Smathers by 100 votes, Hartley would still have had a mathematical chance to win. This means he won his own victory and was not carried in by Hawkes.

Furthermore, every large force in his district that could well be marshalled against him was so aligned. The three major newspapers, the News, Call and Ledger editorially urged his defeat. Various groups outside his district worked actively against him. The issue of isolationism was played to its full capacity. Hartley's close squeak in the primary was played up strongly.

New Jersey Institution Yet he won an impressive victory despite these handicaps. If this means anything it would seem to mean that Hartley cannot be defeated in the general election two years hence or in subsequent elections. This in turn means that he is fast becoming an institution in New Jersey politics with a career in congress that has had few parallels in the state. When his present term is up he will have served 16 years in the lower house at an age where most men are only ready to begin a career. The longer this term of service continues, the more reluctant will be his constituents to throw him out.

Election of Senators Stanger and Eastwood as president and majority leader of the New Jersey Senate was a pointed notice of defiance to North Jersey and Governor Edison. The South Jersey counties containing less than 20 percent of the voters of the state mean to run the New Jersey senate. Eastwood's victory over Asa M. Stackhouse in the primary was one of the greatest setbacks good government in New Jersey has had for years. Stackhouse is a level-headed legislator who would have refused absolutely to aid this senate racket of obstruction, log-rolling and job hunting. But the voters of Burlington chose to support a racket rather than an honorable man, and there is no indication that they will do differently three years hence.

There is no dependable cure for this condition except a new constitution that will either equalize Senate representation or drastically curtail Senatorial powers. Such a constitution is the first order of business for the Republican party in New Jersey. The recent election seemed to show that Frank Hague is on the run. But the Republicans senate racket is not on the run and New Jersey will not have decent government until it is.
