

FAT SALVAGE MAINTAINED AT HIGHEST LEVEL

Food Shortage and Point Rationing Have No Influence On Town's Grease Collections

With only one market yet to report, Belleville maintained its high level in fat collection by totaling close to 2,000 pounds of household fats for the month of March.

The total, representing 19 markets, is 1,950 pounds. The Garden market and chain stores have not reported to date but the former averages 100 pounds. Top collection honors went to Adolph's market with a total of 350 pounds far ahead of all others.

With a few returns yet to come in, Belleville's fat quota remains the same even though there was a reduction in waste products available, during the last collection period for March. Belleville's housewives are on their toes to save that grease for the needed ammunition and explosives into which it is converted. The total for March was 1,950 pounds, from tabulations on nineteen markets with the Garden market and syndicated firms not reporting to date. The honors for collection went to Adolph's market with a total of 350 pounds, approached by no other rival.

It was expected that, due to point rationing and unobtainable fatty products, grease would fall to a new low. Collection of household grease for March reached a new high in the state, with 32,428 pounds, but that figure still fell far short of the 795,000 quota, although it is an increase over February's total.

New Jersey has been leading the country monthly in the collection of steel and according to Clinton M. White, General Salvage chairman, "it is most discouraging to find that the state is unable to reach even 50 percent of its monthly quota in the collection of household grease."

Housewives Do Job

Belleville has not let the slack down in its grease collections committee, under the direction, however, and the Fat Salvage Mrs. May Holden, expresses its thanks to the housewives who have helped to keep them. Through the efforts of the Boy Scouts, who started with one troop and increased to five, as well as the collections have been made regularly and intensively so that all the women who were saving grease would be able to send it to a depot. 150 Boy Scouts have helped in the collection. Anyone who cannot take grease directly to a collection depot is asked to call any Boy Scout.

Our armed forces are in dire need of household grease, so rich in glycerine content, and even one who has not previously saved grease is asked to do so now. Because many housewives are using it for their own purposes, it was expected that the figure would drop considerably. The government urges the collection of one tablespoon of fat per family per day.

Spring Metal Drive

Robert G. Sutherland, salvage committee chairman, has stated that the Spring salvage drive for metal will be conducted along with the Spring housecleaning drive. Refuse may be collected separately in order to render its collection easier.

Old stoves, and iron of any kind are urgently required. Having this drive which will take place around the middle of May. The salvage depot and the trucks which will collect the material will be decided upon at the next meeting of the committee on Monday night in the Girl Scout headquarters. Charles Nutt and Daniel Kelley are in charge of making arrangements for collection to and from salvage center.

The proportion of alloy steel produced in comparison to that of total steel has risen steadily in the past year and this means that production is slowed since alloy metal takes longer to make than does total steel. And total steel can only be made if there is enough heavy steel scrap salvaged.

"American Hallelaloo" Is Annual Petrean Offering

The Petrean club will present a musical show, "American Hallelaloo," in St. Peter's auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings, May 7 and 8. Inspired by letters from many of their 63 "members in service" who urged them to "be sure and run the show" and "don't let us down," the Petreans undertook plans for the musical in January. Edward Dowling of Nutley, stage and radio entertainer, was engaged as producer and coach.

The cast of nearly 60 members will culminate rehearsals Sunday afternoon when a dress rehearsal, which will also be a matinee for children, will be held in the auditorium.

Mrs. Grace McGuire is chairman of the committee in charge of the production. Working with her are the Misses Mary and Maryrose McEnery. Ticket sales are in charge of Miss Greta Kinnealy and Mrs. Grace Monahan; programs, Miss Mae Watson and publicity, Ed Lenox. Programs will be dedicated to Petrean servicemen who have watched the progress of rehearsals through the mails to points all over this country and in North Africa and other overseas stations.

WORKERS COMBAT ABSENTEE RISES

Banners, Competitive Drives, Adequate Medical Attention, Keep Figures Low

In an attempt to make Walter Kidde and company, the most outstanding defense plant in attendance in this area the labor management committee has arranged a program so that each department will endeavor to lower its absentee percentage each month until the plant as a whole remains at four percent or lower. The results of campaigning against the previous high absentee figures have been good. The percentage stood at seven percent for the month of January, six percent for February and has fallen to five percent for March. The various campaigns sponsored by the plant in an effort to force these figures down have done part of the job while warmer weather has also been a contributing factor.

Among various plans put into operation in an effort to lower these figures is that of awarding a banner to the department which shows the lowest figures for each month. It may go to various departments until one gains it permanently by winning it twice in succession.

Service Flags

A war worker's service flag suitable for hanging in the home or in a car, is also given to any employee who has had a three month perfect attendance record. Absence from any cause including illness, bars a worker from receiving it. The plant is not particularly interested in the cause, in its effort to reduce the absentee rate.

In order to further reduction and to give the workers an added incentive for being on the job, for the three months of May, June, and July, a War Bond award for the department with the best attendance records will take place. Three $25 bonds will be awarded. All other members of the department will receive a ticket which may be used any time during the next month for a Radio City show. For purposes of determining absentee percentages, smaller departments in each plant will be merged into groups of 50 to 100 employees.

Would Halve Figures

The February figures for absenteeism, with the elimination of those who would probably never return to the plant due to other employment or entry into the armed services, but who had been carried on the rolls because of insurance, was about six percent from all causes. This was judged to be much above standard for Northern New Jersey territory but similar to the national average.

It is expected that the improvement in weather will almost cut this figure in half. And a standard (Continued on Page Four)

Glee Clubs, Orchestra Take Part In Music Festival

Combined Glee Clubs Will Sing Operatic and Popular Airs For Festival

Included among the participants in the annual Music Festival to be held in the High school auditorium on May 13, will be the combined Belleville Glee clubs.

Featured by the glee clubs will be the scene and prayer from Cavalleria Rusticana, a difficult double chorus arrangement. Alice Green will sing the role of Santuzza and Irvia Tagliacatella will sing Lucia's part.

The glee clubs will also sing novel and new arrangements of current musical comedy selections. A girl's choir of 12 selected voices, all soloists at one time or another, will sing de Koven's "Sylvia" and a medley entitled "Till We Meet Again," along with several other patriotic melodies. The girls in this choir have managed to develop a light, gay, fluent style of their own with a good tone quality and a nice balance of voices.

A double male quartet will join in the glee club numbers and will feature Cohen's "You're a Grand Old Flag." They will

BY-PRODUCT WASTE IN BLACK MARKET

Its Characteristics Are Listed For The Consumer To Detect

Wanton waste of by-products is one of the worst phases of the black market in meats. Elements wasted in illegal slaughtering would help farmers meet the acute shortage of fertilizer and high-protein animal feeds needed to produce meats and crops. Strategic materials from which surgical sutures, adrenalin, and vital insulin are derived are also lost through the waste of illegal markets.

Black marketeers of meats, working secretly and in haste, slaughter the animals, often under unsanitary conditions, and keep for sale only the big primal cuts, throwing the rest away. In their haste to sell only the choicest cuts illegally and at skyrocketed prices, the black marketeers daily destroy tons of vital foods and by-products, every one of which is said to be as high in energy-producing protein as the regular meats cuts, and all of which would go a long way in stretching America's meat supply. Gelatin for military photographic film, hides for leather, rendering fats for soap, glycerine for munitions, fertilizers, bone meal—all these and other essential by-products are lost.

Fighting Black Markets

What are we doing about it? Four definite steps have been taken against the black market in meats: (1) livestock slaughter and dealer permits went into effect with meat rationing on March 31; (2) a set-aside order has gone into effect, requiring all meat dealers operating under Federal inspection to put away for war requirements designated percentages of their production; ceilings have been established; (3) wholesale and retail price consumer rationing has been set up as the fair way to assure every citizen of his share of meats.

It is up to the average housewife to help stop the black market menace. She must realize that she endangers herself, her family, her friends, and the men in the armed forces when she is accompanied by the orchestra in this number. The glee clubs are attired in maroon gowns trimmed with white collars. The program will feature the orchestra along with the glee clubs.

BALL PLAYER SUES FOR OLD INJURY

Asks $3000 For Injury Sustained In Football Game

In a compensation suit due to be heard May 5 before Deputy Commissioner John Wegner, Edward Hollweg of 18 Hornblower avenue, a member of the Belleville Iron Dukes, professional football team, will bring suit for $3000 against Joseph A. Reilly of 102 Union avenue, Nutley, alleged owner of the team, for an injury to his knee, which he says was sustained in a North Jersey Professional League game on September 28, 1941, played at the Municipal stadium.

Edward J. Abramson is representing Hollweg while William Davenport is representing Reilly. The defense contends that the team was never under the exclusive ownership of Reilly but was operated as a cooperative venture with the profits shared among the players.

A contract between Reilly and the Town was drawn September 29, 1941, for use of Municipal Stadium. The contract stated that the town was not responsible for injury to players or others employed by the team, and that the club was protected under the Workmen's Compensation act.

Testimony from Edward Slavov, of the Navy, a member of the team in 1941, and a witness for Hollweg, was accepted for the records to be used May 5 since Slavov cannot be present. Hollweg contends that at the inception of his injury, he spent a week in St. Mary's hospital. Passing for treatment of a dislocated knee. Following that, he injured his knee, which he says became dead and he lost the use of his left leg. Reilly stated that the team was just a "friendly venture" and when Hollweg was injured he was given hospitalization and the team later bought a brace for his knee. Stating that if the suit went against him, "the sporting world would receive a black eye and we might see the end of this type professional football" Reilly said he only went into the venture for the sport of it and that he stood to make no profit on the games, under the circumstances.

Troops 350, 399 Participate In Inter-Troop Rally Monday

The Scoutmaster of Troop 350, was host to Bernard Holzman, Scoutmaster of Troop 389 on Monday night when both troops participated in a practice inter-troop rally held at the Fawcett church.

The Scouts participated in knot tying first aid, signalling, fire by friction and flint and steel. Troop 389 won the rally with a total score of 113 points. Troop 350 scored a total of 101 points. This was the fourth straight rally that Troop 389 has won. Committee members of both troops acted as judges.

Flynn and Mertz Up Again In Deadlock Over 5th Man

The name of Michael J. Flynn was again introduced at Tuesday's commission meeting in a resolution by Commissioner Waters and voted against by commissioners Noll and King. After the brief vote, King proposed Raymond E. Mertz, and was voted down by Waters and Williams, although supported by Noll. Flynn's name was first introduced by Waters at a meeting on March 9, while Mertz's name has been introduced by Noll and King at ten consecutive meetings.

Seven High School Students Join In Jr. College Discussion

Seven senior students at Belleville High school were guests of Fairleigh Dickinson Junior College, Rutherford last Wednesday afternoon. Accompanied by Mrs. Elsie Sanford of the High School faculty the girls discussed the various courses offered by the college and visited the classrooms, library and laboratories.

In the party were Barbara Sturges who is interested in the pre-nursing and journalism courses; Patricia Wilson, secretarial and journalism; Ross Salerno, accounting; Ida Melionico, laboratory technician; Muriel M. Allister and Elmyra Walters, pre-nursing; and Lorraine Willis, journalism.

Care of Youth Is Hindered By Lack of Sufficient Funds

At the last meeting of the Child Care committee yesterday, it was decided by committee members that no definite action would be taken in the effort to secure a pre-school day nursery until a report was made by Harry Specht, president of Eastwood-Nealley corporation, who is endeavoring to contact other manufacturers to get their reactions on the need of a day nursery in Belleville for their working mothers.

The subjects discussed at previous meetings were reviewed and plans for obtaining adequate funds to open a day nursery were discussed. Hampered by lack of funds, the committee which comes under the jurisdiction of the defense council, was forced to discontinue operation of a nursery, when WPA funds were taken away, a few months ago.

Several possibilities for obtaining funds were discussed but none was decided upon. Since it is impossible to secure federal funds under the Lanham act unless a committee has a concerted plan of action for before and after school supervision, for children of working mothers, the committee felt that some other method of action would have to be taken.

Must Have Approval

In order to secure federal funds at all, such a committee must have the approval of the board of education, which was not forthcoming two years ago, when that committee asked for space to conduct a nursery. It was suggested that the committee take every possible way of securing funds, before asking for part of the Community Chest funds, which stand at present as the only hope of salvation for obtaining a nursery or day school. The committee can ask the board of education for support, they can apply to the defense council for help, or they can apply to the Welfare Federation, and the most likely possibility is to do the latter.

BOARD SHELVES CHICKEN RULING ON PROTEST

Livestock Association Presents Reasons For Opposition To New Ordinance

At a meeting of the board of commissioners Tuesday night, the proposed amendment to the poultry ordinance adopted on first reading at a previous meeting, was unanimously shelved by the board owing to action on the part of the Belleville Livestock association which was opposed to the ordinance in every respect.

Paul de Hagara, council for the association, asked that the commission shelve the ordinance since 400 persons had signed their names to petitions opposing its adoption. de Hagara was backed in his action by nearly 75 people including many of the Livestock association's 50 members.

In discussing the action, Commissioner King said that owing to the high cost of chickens and eggs on the open market he was in favor of allowing the old ordinance to stand for the present. Mayor Williams stated that if the board of health is able to enforce the present rules, the ordinance would stand as it is and that when there are grounds for action in the Health Department will act. The point was stressed that anyone who raised chickens and doesn't conform to the regulations is liable to a $100 fine.

de Hagara in explaining the request for shelving on the part of the Livestock association, stressed the fact that the raising of chickens is an essential factor in alleviating the food situation. Of those present, the majority signified that they had raised chickens for a year or more and had had few if any complaints.

Howard J. Vertegwall of Hill street was one of the few present at the meeting who was for the amended ordinance. Stating that he was not asking for an over all restriction on the raising of poultry but only for certain sections, he said "The only thing I am asking for is that restrictions be imposed upon chicken raisers in A zones or in the residential districts." Vertegwall stated. He added that highly respected residential sections should be kept clean and he did not think they would be if chickens were allowed in such zones. Stating that he wanted his property and the value of his home to remain intact, Vertegwall brought into evidence a newspaper clipping stating that Justice Wendell of the Supreme court had ruled that a certain woman in a residential zone of Forest Hills should not be allowed to keep her chicken coop.

Ruled Against Coops
Vertegwall said he was interested in the fact that the Judge had ruled the woman's chickens as despoilers of the property and had therefore asked the coop be voted out of existence. Commissioner King stated that the judgment was handed down only because such a restriction was pre-

Sewerage Meters Will Be Installed On Main Street

An ordinance was passed on first reading Tuesday night providing for the purchase and installation of two sewerage measuring meters to be placed in chambers on Main street at a cost of $2,200. The meters will be on Main street north of Roosevelt avenue at the Public Service right of way.

The meters will be of the Builders-Providence type and are subject to the approval of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commissioners.

INCIDENT TEST IS PLANNED TONIGHT

Schedule Of Workers And Their Casualty Stations Announced By Council

Tonight at 7:30 p. m., the first of a series of incident tests will be staged by the Belleville Defense Council. These tests will be held each week throughout the summer.

The test tonight will be held in zone 2. Defense personnel are to be at their posts at 7:15 p. m. Included in the test will be all wardens of zone 2, the zone center staff, police reserves, fire reserves, demolition and repair crews, decontamination squad, the ambulance and first aid members of casualty station No. 2 located on posts three. The first aiders from the recreation house, eighth school and the high school, will also work out of the casualty station instead of their first aid stations. The control center will be manned and the motor messengers will walk from that point. In case of rain, the fire whistle will be sounded at 7 p. m. if it is deemed necessary to call off the test. The signal will be no. 14. If there are no postmen in zone one will be tested next Thursday night. All the wardens of zone one, will be expected to take their posts along with the other services listed above except that casualty station no. 1 in school one will function and the first aiders at that station will have the assistance of first aiders from St. Peter's school, the Ex-empt Fireman's Hall and school nine. The first aid stations will be closed and the workers will be transferred to the casualty station.

Blackout Goes Smoothly
From where this reporter sat Tuesday night during the blackout, which was among those who volunteered at the town hall council meeting, it seemed that the blackout went off according to schedule with few violations, and with no complaining about signals. Several wardens who were present at the meeting got up and went to their posts after the first signal the blackout was over, seemingly undisturbed and reporting that everyone had cooperated with them while the blackout was in force.

The signals seemed to give little confusion and the smoothness with which the test as a whole seemed to go, proved that those who had been confused during the last test, had caught up with the signals and were no longer concerned about what they were supposed to mean. The state report seemed to vary little from the local acceptance of the test and defense officials feel that continuous tests will help to prepare all the people for any eventuality.

Cherry Blossoms Again Make
The Grade For Easter Sunday

In the fourth year of flowering the cherry blossoms, now officially known as Korean blossoms, hit the mail on the head when they opened up for Easter Sunday so that all the lads and lassies could parade hand in hand beneath the nearly full open blossoms.

The Police department reported no traffic jams, as had been sighted in previous years, owing to a shortage of gas, those who wanted to rhapsodize over the blossoms, had to do so after they walked to the park and only those drivers going past the blossoms en route, stopped for a view.

Police were thankful for the lesser confusion and those who had made special pilgrimages from nearby states in other years, were this year forced to find some cherry blossoms nearer at hand or had to enjoy mundane dogwood.

Since there were fewer sightseers, the trees were well protected and one saw no signs of their having been mangled by any souvenir-seekers. The recreation department had announced that the blossoms would be out by Easter Sunday and they just about made it with the head start of warm weather over the weekend. The week brought them all the way out, and their light tinge odor, was scenting the air for anyone who wanted to make an annual stroll to the park.

Tripoli Park Club Banquet

$1,190,000 IS TOTAL IN BONDS FOR APRIL

High School Students Continue Purchase Of Bonds and Stamps Until Friday

The sale of all of Belleville as of April reached the astounding total of $1,190,000. This includes $100,000 in bonds purchased by the town and $75,000 sold to the schools for the month of April.

The local Safeway store has been authorized to buy bonds with every dollar spent in the store yesterday. With the money from the purchases, the store will buy a bond of the next thousand denomination to the money taken in.

The Essex County Insurance Agent's association has completed arrangements to invest 50 percent of its reserves in Series C. W. bonds. This type of bond was selected because funds can be made available to the association, needed, any time after the first 60 days. As with many other organizations, quick convertibility is a prime consideration due to the frequency with which heavy roads have to be made into such plus whether for technical education or for information to the public of new development such as occurred last year upon introduction of War Damage Insurance. Local members of the association are Davidson and King, Inc. at 44 Washington avenue, Miss Jane Donnelly, 10 Washington avenue, and Harvey B. Thompson of 280 Washington avenue.

$19,000 From High School

With a $19,000 sale in bonds at the High school it was expected that another thousand would have been bought yesterday when real jeep was demonstrated for the benefit of those who were buying bonds to buy a jeep. Soldiers from the Newark Armory came on a demonstration to the students in the area next to the High school after the jeep had visited every grammar school. Wayne R. Parry, who visited the tour of the jeep to the grammar schools. The program for the High school students, which an army officer explained the workings of the car to the assembled group of students, was arranged by Harold Dufford, acting principal of the High school and Howard Fox of the faculty.

Three High school students will participate in a round table discussion over station WAAT at 9:05 on Saturday morning, as representatives from a New Jersey High school which has made a outstanding contribution to the program of war activities inaugurated in the schools last Spring. Students appearing on the program will include Aran Bruhl, school chairman of the war bond and stamp drive, Miss Betty Cooke, and the president of the class who leads in sales at the close of the drive tomorrow. Present candidate for that position is Miss Jean Walker of the sophomore class. A delegate of students from the Nutley school will also share the grade.

The $75,000 figure by all the schools included in the purchase of bonds bought by the public at the school. The total shows that both the students and citizens who bought the bulk of the total, were all intent on filling the national quota of thirteen million.

Walter Kide Co. Sponsors
War Bond Poster Contest

A $100 War Bond contest is being sponsored by the Walter Kide Co. company for the best war poster submitted by any employee. The contest is open to anyone in the company who wishes to make an entry up until May 17. War Bonds of smaller denominations will go to those employees whose posters are judged in second and third place. Posters submitted must be finished drawings of 22 by 14 inches and will deal with ways of increasing war production, reducing spoilage, or with safety. All posters will be judged on their originality and artistic merit. Three judges including C. E. Gischel, advertising manager, will assist in the selection of the bond-winning posters. The best ideas submitted in rough form will also be recognized.

It is expected that many of those submitting posters will be members of the Walter Kide Co. club which meets Thursday nights to study sketching and drawing under the direction of club president, Ray Tartaglia. Tartaglia is helping with poster ideas now so that they may be submitted to the contest of which he is one of the sponsors.

Laying Out The Garden And Sowing Seeds

By Dr. Charles H. Connors,
N. J. College of Agriculture

After the soil has been prepared, begin laying out the garden. Stakes should be placed to indicate the rows. Some seeds can be sown at once, before the danger of frost is past. However, the novice gardener must not be in too much of a hurry. There are some seeds as beans, that require a higher temperature for germination. There are others that might germinate at relatively low temperatures or during a mild spell and then the young plants would be nipped by frost.

Consider too, the conservation of space that will result through companion cropping and intercropping. Companion cropping is sowing or planting several kinds of plants in the same row. For example, early cabbage plants are set out 30 inches between rows and 24 inches between the plants in the row. Between the cabbage plants may be placed onion sets for green onions, leaf lettuce or radishes. Some persons will set out the cabbage plants with a leaf lettuce plant midway between each cabbage plant and then fill the remaining spaces with radishes seed or onion sets. The last plant to come out would be the cabbage. When several rows of a late maturing crop are set, as cabbage and tomatoes, if the spacing is 30 to 36 inches between rows, an extra intervening row of some quick maturing crop, as spinach, onions from sets, and lettuce may be added so as to utilize the space until the late crop requires it.

Sow These Now
Crops of which seed may be sown as soon as the soil can be prepared are carrots, beets, onion seeds or sets, peas, radishes, Swiss chard, turnip, loose-leaf lettuce, spinach, mustard, collards, kale, endive and broccoli. Plants that may be set if properly hardened off so they can stand the cold, are cabbage, loose-leaf lettuce and broccoli.

Sow the seeds in straight rows, as it is much easier to keep them cultivated, and do not sow too thick. The percentage of germination of seeds is often given on the packages which, with the spacing table shown in the Victory Garden Manual for New Jersey, will help to determine density of seed sowing.

To make shallow furrows for sowing small seeds, put down the garden line and use the handle of the hoe or a stake to make the furrow. By walking backwards with one foot on the line, it can be easily kept in place. Some seeds, as carrots are placed one-half inch deep that is one-half inch below the natural surface; while seeds like beets are sown three-fourths of an inch deep. Keep as even a depth as possible to get uniformity of germination. After the furrow is made, the seeds may be sown by taking a few between the thumb and forefinger and distributing them in this manner. Another method is to open the seed packet and distribute them directly in the furrow by tapping the edge of the package. Try this first on a table top, as a little practice is necessary or too many seeds will come out at once.

To make deeper furrows, as for beans and peas, the blade of the hoe may be used. Again walk backwards with one foot on the line to hold it in place. Draw the hoe toward you with quick rather short strokes, so that the soil will be drawn out all along the furrow and not mainly at the end.

After the seeds are sown, cover the furrow with soil. One good method is to use a rake. After covering, tamp the soil gently with the back of the rake along the row. The soil must be firmed over and about the seeds in order that moisture will be drawn to them to encourage germination. It is usually not necessary to apply water on seeds sown early.

To rake the space between the rows where you have walked to loosen the soil. It is also a good plan to rake lightly over the unplanted area to prevent the formation of a crust and to kill such weeds as may have started. The best time to kill weeds is just as the seeds are germinating. In cultivating, a rotary motion with the rake is more effective than a straight back and forth stroke. (Those desiring additional information or help with their garden problems should consult with their local Victory Garden leader or supervisor. Problems that cannot be solved locally will be referred by him to your County Agricultural Agent.

Next week: Setting out plants.

from the wide open spaces

When Pegler hits the trail, fur flies!

After hibernating in Arizona, Peg is off knight erranting through the wide open spaces to write the wrongs of the nation. Trail-blazer of truth and zealot for accuracy, his lone voice crying in the wilderness has won thousands to his column "Fair Enough".

Peg is a prince of paradox, who rules with blistering wit, searing sarcasm and smoking invective. He has "Peglerized" more evil doers in high places than any other reporter of his generation. And his one-man crusade against chiselers, racketeers and lugs, who victimized certain unions, earned him the Pulitzer Prize in 1941. Earlier, for his stories on income tax evasion by public officials, he was honored by the National Headliner's Club. George Scalise and Willie Bioff, big-time labor gangsters, are behind bars—due to Peg's tireless investigation.

From debunking organized sport—to convicting the "Untouchables" of organized labor... from sports writer to one of the most quoted columnists in America, creator of the satirical "George Spelvin"... such has been the rise of Westbrook Pegler, who writes in praise of practically nothing.

BOARD SHELVES

sent in the woman's deed, and stated that nearly everyone in a residential zone had such a restriction in his deed, King said that he thought the present ordinance should be allowed to stand. Maintaining that he also had signed petitions totaling 250 names, Vertegwall contended that he merely wanted protection from the town for his property and that he was not asking a complete regulation of chickens but only that all poultry raisers be non-commercial raisers.

Mayor Williams stated that those in A zones who hadn't started to raise chickens were not likely to begin now, that those who had started would promptly give up doing so as soon as chickens became available on the open market, and that the health department would have control of any situations or complaints arising.

Commissioner Waters stated that he was in favor of retaining the old ordinance in view of the scarcity of meat and that he thought the old ordinance should remain in effect for the duration, allowing anyone who wanted to, to raise chickens for their own purposes. Stating that if 250 people had signed a petition against chicken raising, he thought Vertegwall would have nothing to fear in his own section. Waters recommended that Vertegwall allow matters to stand until a drastic situation arose.

Dispersing Information

de Hagara, Association council, announced that another meeting of the association would be held on May 10. The association had been incorporated according to de Hagara and would continue to function for the purpose of dispersing necessary information and helpful procedures to those who are raising or intend to raise chickens. Experts on poultry raising may lecture to the group at some future date according to de Hagara and if it is possible to work out a plan cooperative use of necessary equipment may be made among those who were actively participating.

William Bolderman, Frank Daley, Thomas Petzel, Harry Mueller, and Ray Williamson were elected trustees of the Association at its last meeting Monday night at the Recreation House.

Legion Meets Monday Night

CHILD CARE

This resurvey of working mothers was decided upon by the Child Care Committee of the Belleville Defense Council in conference with Harry Specht when a previous survey was found inadequate. Through Specht's co-operation questionnaires were circulated to members of the Manufacturers' association at a meeting held on March 10. Industries not represented at this meeting were mailed the explanatory letter and questionnaires on March 11. On March 22 follow-up letters were sent to those who had not replied and on March 26 they were followed still further by telephone calls.

Forty-Seven Included

Forty-seven firms were included in this survey. Seven replied that they employed no women and eight companies have furnished no information either stating they had no problem, employed single girls only or not many Belleville women. (This includes the Napier Hat company now out of business.)

Of the remaining 32 local industries we have to date heard from 22 and the results of their replies are herewith summarized: Twenty of these firms are doing defense work. The twenty-two firms replying employ 3,867 women of whom 1,298 reside in Belleville. Since only a few firms returned the form two (individual questionnaires for married women with children) we are unable to state how many of these 1,298 women are married and have children.

In reply to question three, which asked whether companies expected an increase in the number of women workers 14 said yes, six said no, two did not answer. It is evident that there will be a large increase in the number of women employed, estimates ranging from a minimum of 1,597 to 2,265.

Five companies reported that they had encountered situations indicating that mothers could not accept jobs because of inability to secure proper care for their children. Fourteen noted no problem, three did not answer this question.

Our next question had to do with the possibility of employers giving working mothers preference on the day shift. Seven companies said they could give such preference, three could not, three employ women in the day time only and seven did not answer.

Comments Slight

There were very few comments which we invited at the end of the questionnaire. One company stated that most of the women they would employ would be on the night shift and they felt that night care would be necessary for them. Two companies employing large numbers of women felt that their women employees living outside of Belleville had equally difficult problems in regard to planning for the care of their children and one company noted that if day care facilities could be opened to out of town mothers as well there would be a much larger demand.

Of the 22 companies replying eight had form two appended. The total of form two were 37 returned, which included 19 pre-school children and 35 children of school age. Of those mothers having pre-school children they all answered affirmatively that they would be interested in day care facilities under good auspices and would be willing to pay a fee. This is the group that we are particularly interested in. The majority of these mothers with very young children live within fairly easy distance of Washington avenue or Main street although there are some living in scattered parts of the town.

It was interesting to note that many women with children of school age indicated that they would also be interested in supervision for their children and one mother particularly noted that she would welcome summer plans during the vacation period.

Eleven Do Not Answer

Eleven firms which have not answered include American Precision Products, Carson Newton Co., First National Bank, National Grain Yeast Corp., Peoples National Bank, Rowe Products, Inc., Viking Tool, Berdiss Bearing Company, P. W. Woolworth Co., Legion Laundry and Belleville Laundry. The reports from Hanlon & Goodman Co., and Walter Kidde are incomplete.

We feel that this neglect is unfortunate as our picture is incomplete and we have previous knowledge that a number of these firms employ women who have been experiencing difficulty in planning for their children.

WORKERS COMBAT

ing figure of three percent is the company's aim. That is judged to be the lowest possible figure which can be maintained for absenteeism.

Good Medical Attention

One of the most frequent causes of absences was found to be due to colds. Arrangements have been made with the medical department of the company, so those with colds or minor ailments may be examined and treated. In most cases such treatment allows the worker to finish his work for the day. In cases where the nurse finds an employee not fit for work, suitable treatment is given and the worker is sent home with instructions on how to get well in the shortest possible time. All employees are urged to take advantage of this medical service which costs them nothing.

Many reasons are tied up with absentee records but it has been found that by stressing the high absentee figures regardless of reasons for it, tends to keep many workers on the job when they would otherwise be delaying vital and necessary production.

P.T.A. Sends Easter Greetings

Cards, carrying greetings for the Easter season, were sent out by the Parent Teacher association of School No. 9 Belleville, to the boys of this district in service.

Eighteen cards, mailed March 15, went over-seas, and 40, mailed April 15, went to boys in the United States. Several letters of appreciation have been received. Mrs. Maude Pittman was chairman of the committee in charge.

Mrs. Gertrude Dillon of 13 Howard place returned to her home early last week from American Legion hospital where she was convalescing for a month. Mrs. Dillon was the recipient of following a serious operation, more than a hundred greetings from friends and neighbors here during her illness.

BY-PRODUCT WASTE

patronizes an illegal market. Every pound of meat stolen from the normal civilian supply is stolen from some man or woman who is helping to win the war.

Here's How to Tell

You may not realize that you are trading at a black market. Here are some suggestions on how they may be detected; although the existence of any of these circumstances is not conclusive proof that the operations are illegal.

1. If prices are higher than the maximums fixed by the Office of Price Administration. Ceiling prices must be posted in every store and market.
2. If the operator refuses to divulge ceiling prices.
3. If a price "premium" above the ceiling for a particular grade of meat is required for any cut.
4. If meat can be bought without ration stamps.
5. If meat can be bought without paying the full number of ration stamps per pound.
6. If meat is declared to be "likely to spoil," and therefore offered for sale at reduced point values, is not reduced in monetary price.
7. If the meat operator, upon request of the purchaser, refuses to show the slaughterer's stamp upon wholesale cuts of meat.

John Taylors Celebrate 17th Anniversary With Open House

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Taylor of 56 Little street celebrated their 17th wedding anniversary last Saturday evening, April 17 when they held open house in their recently acquired home. They moved here from Paterson four years ago. Some of the guests who attended their wedding were among those present Saturday night. Mrs. Lorraine Steigers sang as did William Taylor, the couple's 15 year old son who gave the selections Because and I Love You Truly. A junior in high school, Bill hopes to enter the Naval aviation corps when he is graduated. Mr. Taylor has been with the signal department of the Erie railroad for 17 years. Mrs. Taylor is an inspector for Isolantite, Inc.

The K. A. G. Curbstone Girls went en masse to New York Easter Sunday where they joined the Easter parade by attending St. Patrick's cathedral, having dinner at the Chinese Palace and seeing a show. The girls of the club who joined in the spree were Jeanne Holly, Gerry McKenna, Mary Murphy, Ceil Hanely, and Eileen O'Grady.

Relative Of Belleville Residents Dies In East Orange Hospital

Mrs. Frances Edmonston Martine of Newark died Monday in East Orange General hospital following an illness of eight days. She was the mother of Mrs. Samuel E. Easter Sunday Chosen by Miss Florence Cafone

Miss Florence Cafone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cafone of 9 Lafayette place, Nutley was married Easter Sunday at 3 p.m. in St. Mary's church to Pfc. Paul Mulder, son of Wetumka, Ala. Rev. James M. Glazbach officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Florence Pagnall of town, as maid of honor. Sgt. Dennis McDermott, U. S. Marine Corps, acted as best man. Miss Dorothy Giarusio of Nutley sang for the ceremony, "Lead Thou O Me" and Schubert's "Ave Marie".

The bride wore a Scarlet O'Hara mouseline de soie gown with a full length tulle skirt and veil. She carried a prayer book with orchids and white streamers.

The maid of honor wore a similar gown of blue mouseline de soie and carried a bouquet of daffodils and snapdragons. Friends and relatives and friends were held at the bride's home. After a week's honeymoon, Mrs. Mulder will return home and her husband will be stationed with the U. S. Marine Corps.

Miss Muller Chooses Saturday To Wed Yeoman Donohue

The marriage of Miss Regina Dorothea Muller, daughter of Pfc. and Mrs. Edward J. Muller of 2 Hornblower avenue to Yeoman Morton Peter Donohue, son of Mrs. John Donohue of Union, formerly of town, will take place Saturday at 5 p.m. in St. Peter's church with the Rev. Joseph Keefe officiating. In the absence of the bride's father who is stationed in Africa, Miss Muller will be given in marriage by her uncle, William F. Whitlock of East Orange.

The bride will wear a gown of white Duchess satin trimmed in lace applique and her tulle finger tip veil will fall from a seed pearl tiara. She will carry a white prayer book with orchids. She will be attended by Miss Patricia Field of town as maid of honor who will wear baby blue chiffon.

The bridesmaids will be Miss June Brown of Brook and Miss Elsie Tanulows of Newark, who will wear similar gowns of peach chiffon. Junior bridesmaid will be Miss Joan Donohue, niece of the groom. She will wear baby blue silk organza. All the attendants will carry nosegays of spring flowers.

John J. Donohue will be his brother's best man. Ushers will include Chadbourne Wiltshire and Jack Ramsey both of the U. S. Navy.

The bride is a graduate of Belleville High school and Delahanty Secretarial school, Newark. She is employed by Isolantite Incorporated. The bridegroom is also a graduate of Belleville High school and was formerly employed by the Wright Aeronautical corporation of Paterson before enlisting in the Navy last year.

After a short wedding trip the bride will reside with her mother at the Hornblower avenue address while the bridegroom will return to Norfolk, Va., where he is stationed.

Lend-Lease was extended for another year in overwhelming Congressional voting. In the House 407 Representatives voted for the extension and 6 voted against it. In the Senate the extension vote was unanimous.

The Federal Reserve Board reports the volume of industrial production showed another marked gain in January reaching a level of 200 per cent of the 1935-1936 average.

NEW ARRIVALS

A daughter was born Thursday in St. Mary's hospital, Passaic to Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Little of North Arlington. She has been named Barbara Carol. Mrs. Little is the former Miss Irma Enders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Enders of Cedar Hill avenue.

A son was born Easter Sunday morning in Presbyterian hospital, Newark to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ziemann of 189 Joramelon street. The baby will be named for his father who is training in the Navy at Bainbridge, Md. Ziemann enlisted in February and came home on short leave Saturday. He was formerly with the Federal Shipyard in Kearny. The baby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ziemann, reside at the Joramelon street address.

A second son was born last week in Crown Heights hospital, Brooklyn to Rabbi and Mrs. Rubin R. Dobin of 56 Overlook avenue. Their other son, David, is three. Rabbi Dobin, on leave of absence from Congregation A. A. A., is civilian chaplain of the Jewish Welfare board of Staten Island.

A son, Richard, was born last Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gould of Newark in Essex County Isolation hospital here. The baby's mother is the former Miss June Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson of Stephens street. Mrs. Gould, who has been with her parents for the past month, contracted the measles last week and was admitted to the Isolation hospital where very few babies have been born.

GIRL SCOUT HEADS AT CONFERENCE

Attend Regional Event in New York; Council Is Entertained

A delegation of Belleville's Girl Scout leaders and council members will attend the spring regional conference today and tomorrow at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York. Mrs. Elmer Hyde, commissioner; Mrs. May T. Holden, director; Mrs. Leroy Long, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Sutherland, troop No. 2; Mrs. Arthur Price, troop No. 13; Mrs. W. A. Pirk, troop No. 26; Mrs. Maebelle

Cox, troop No. 8 and Mrs. John Staudt of troop No. 24 will form the delegation.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Hyde was hostess to the council and the leader's association at her home on Rossmore place. Mr. Hartshorn, regional advisor, spoke to the group on Girl Scouting in the war effort, camp life and new phases of the girl scout program. Present were Mrs. William P. Adams, Mrs. George Gerard, Mrs. Burton Whidden, Mrs. Lawrence Gates, Mrs. Everett Smith, Mrs. A. M. Boyd, Mrs. Edward Puckhaber, Mrs. Vivian Card, Mrs. Cole, Miss Edna Baun, Mr. Morris Bennett, Mrs. Sutherland, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Staudt and Mrs. Holden. Mrs. Frank Chambers and Mrs. Long presided at the buffet supper which followed the program.

Belleville girl scouts prepared more than 600 Easter cards for distribution in the Isolation hospital and the Hospital for Crippled Children. Many were also mailed to shut-ins. Lacking many of the novelty materials formerly available the girls improvised cards in the form of Easter eggs on which rabbits, chicks, ducklings and birds were superimposed. They were hand painted.

Mrs. Mildred Hoffman has been made chairman of the sunshine committee of the Ladies Auxiliary of the local Lodge of Elks.

AAC TELLS OF LIFE IN ARMY

Charley Horse And "Dish-Pan" Ends Just Incidentals That Don't Matter

An enthusiastic member of the AAC is Aux. Dorothy Duffy, 103 Overlook avenue, who arrived in the Daytona Beach, Fla. training center at the end of March. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Duffy, she has addressed the following letter to them:

"My feet burn from drilling, -2-3-4. The dish-pan hands and the charleyhorse I have in my back are from K. P.; but I'm not kicking—I love the army. I'm very proud of us and very happy. I get such a strong feeling when I hear our marching feet, I feel as if we could almost take Berlin.

"I shall never forget my first day in the army; and for the first few nights we slept in tents and we brought cold northern weather with us to the supposedly sunny south. Those tents flapped and blew at night. I was so cold and to add to the almost unbearable frigidity I woke up in the middle of one night and felt as though I were dead—I was so frozen. I reached from my flashlight and, as I suspected, all my covers had slipped to the floor. I had an upper bunk—the highest one you ever saw I wondered what to do and thought, 'Gee, I can't climb down there!' But I didn't doubt my climbing ability very long.

"The first night over—the next night I loved it. Sleeping in the clean, cold air was wonderful and I hated leaving the tent to move into barracks. All of us WAACS kick about this 'n that; but it's always good humorously.

Retreat is so impressive to me. We march on to the field, heads high, swinging arms to the sound of marching music. We come to attention and salute in unison while the flag is being lowered and the bugler sounds 'retreat'; then hold our salute until 'order arms' is given.

"All the soldiers-girls are friendly and helpful to one another. We really have a lot of fun and at the same time are getting ready to do our very best for our country. Every little thing I do that I thought I couldn't do makes me say to myself, 'I'm a good soldier.' I've never been happier and prouder in all my life."

Mrs. Doyle Hostess To Jr. Music Club

Members of the Junior Music club met Saturday afternoon at the studio of Mrs. Jack Doyle of Wilbur street. A biography of the Hungarian composer and pianist, Franz Liszt, was read and discussed. The club made plans for a Victory program which will be presented to parents and friends later in the spring.

Present Saturday were Suzanne and Alice Seiler, Dolores Bjorkner, Christine Wilkinson, Phyllis and Robert White, Allan Rosenberg, Walter Shope and Jack Doyle.

Where Will Money Come From?

People ask: "Where will the money come from?" Is it to reach the thirteen-billion dollar objective of the Second War Loan. The answer is simple. When we produce munitions or peacetime goods, or anything else, we likewise produce income. For every dollar of production, there is a dollar of income.

The problem of war finance boils down to this—if individuals and businesses receive more income after taxes than there are things produced for them to buy, then excess funds arise. The government deficit is matched by the combined surplus of everybody else. This surplus should be put into Government securities to wipe out that deficit.

They give their lives... You lend your money.

Miss Fritsch is a graduate of Belleville High school and is employed by the Crane company, of Newark.

Michael Flynn Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary Tonight

Former Police Chief and Mrs. Michael J. Flynn will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at a family dinner tonight at their home, 24 Van Rensselaer street. Plans for a larger celebration had to be cancelled when Mrs. Flynn entered St. Mary's hospital in Passaic recently. She has sufficiently recovered, however, to be at home now.

Flynn retired six years ago after 30 years as head of the police department of which he was one of the original members. He and four other men constituted the first force and he was placed in command when the position of chief was created in 1907. An ardent baseball player in his youth, Chief Flynn was a member of the Woodstock team of Belleville.

He was born here and Mrs. Flynn, the former Mary Conroy, was a resident of Waterford, Ireland. The couple were married in St. Peter's Church here and have always lived in Belleville. They have spent 22 years in their present home.

Of their eight children four are living: Police Sgt. John J. Flynn, Joseph T. Flynn, Mrs. Everett Sooy and Miss Margaret Flynn of this town. They also have five grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Flynn lost their son, Michael, during the last world war. He was a member of the 5th machine gun Battalion, 2nd division.

Senator Claude Pepper, New Deal Democrat of Florida, calling for enactment of his Office of War Mobilization Bill, said that "People are tired of frustration and I am tired with them, and as a faithful Democratic New Dealer, I am going to try to cure the deficiency of this administration."

MARCUS WERTZ, JR. WED SATURDAY

Marriage To East Orange Girl Took Place In Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Georgianna Cecile Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell of 85 Washington street, East Orange, and Lt. Marcus Wertz, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Marcus E. Wertz of 229 Overlook avenue, took place Saturday afternoon in Wesley Methodist Church where the ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Edgar M. Compton. Mrs. Helen Schwab was vocalist and Gordon W. Crisp was at the organ. A reception was held at the Belleville Woman's club on Rossmore place. Easter decorations were used throughout.

Mr. Campbell gave his daughter in marriage and Mrs. Allen H. Crisp of this town was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Margaret L. Wertz, sister of the bridegroom, and Betty Schwab, also of Belleville. Marcus Wertz, Jr. was his son's best man and James Campbell of Syracuse, N. Y., brother of the bride, and Charles Weber of Packanack Lake were ushers.

Seed pearls were used to trim the sweetheart neckline of the bride's Chantilly lace gown and the Juliet cap from which her tulle veil was draped. Her gown was finished with a long train. The bridal bouquet was of gardenias and orchids. The aquamarine gowns of the bride's attendants were similarly made. Mrs. Crisp's bridesmaids wore silk jerseys and bouffant skirts and those of the bridegroom wore Chantilly lace bodices and net skirts. All carried and wore headpieces of spring flowers. Mrs. Campbell was gown in green silk crepe and Mrs. Wertz, Sr. in a sheer printed dress. Both wore orchid corsages.

The bride and bridegroom were both graduated from Belleville high school. Lt. Wertz was also graduated from Lehigh university in 1939. He enlisted in the Navy in 1940, was commissioned six months later and went to the south Pacific area after the outbreak of the war. He is a PT boat commander and arrived in Belleville on leave early this month.

Wesley Parishioners Will Hear Missionary From Borneo

On Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m. in Wesley Methodist church, Robert Williams, a young missionary who has just returned from Borneo, will speak on his experiences there under the auspices of the Wesley Men's club. Mr. Williams, a preacher from Arizona, along with his wife, left the states to work with the Dyaks in West Borneo. The Williams' spent a year and a half with this tribe of headhunters in the heart of the jungle, and at the end of that time they were attacked and bombed by the Japs. After many terrifying experiences, they were able to leave the islands of the South Pacific and return to the United States. Everyone is invited to attend the service on Sunday morning, to hear William's story.

Mr. Wesley Schnegas is chairman of the church Activities committee and will have charge of the service. Robert Conklin will introduce the speaker whom he has met several times.

Time for Spring Salads

Soak gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water. Combine 1 1/2 cups water and vinegar and heat to boiling point. Pour over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add chili sauce, lemon juice and seasonings; chill. When mixture is slightly thickened fold in vegetables. Pour into square pan and chill until firm. Cut in squares. Serve on crisp greens.

Vegetable Health Salad
1 1/2 tbsps. minced onion
2 cups cooked lima beans or left-over vegetable
4 flowers cauliflower, sliced (raw or cooked)
1/2 cup celery, diced
1 cup carrots, shredded
1 cup left-over meat, diced
Mix and toss lightly with French Dressing. Serve on lettuce or romaine.

Fruit Cottage Salad
2 cups cottage cheese
5 lettuce leaves
Salt and pepper
French dressing
Season cottage cheese to taste with salt and pepper; add cream until of desired consistency. Make large cup with lettuce leaves and fill with cheese. Garnish with paprika. Place in center of salad plate. Arrange halves of pears and peaches, sections of oranges, and slices of pineapple around cottage cheese in star shape. Serve with French Dressing. If desired chopped ginger or grated orange rind may be added to cheese.

Macaroni Salad
5 cups chilled macaroni
1 cup diced celery
1 tbsps. minced onion
2 tbsps. minced green pepper
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup carrots, cooked or raw
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. lemon juice
Combine all ingredients, mix with dressing. Serve in salad bowl lined with salad greens. Serves 6.

SPRING brings fresh, succulent greens and vegetables to the market. Plan to serve garden salads not only for the main course accompaniment but as the principal dish for lunch or supper.

Crispness is a "must" in the preparation of salad ingredients. Wash and clean vegetables and greens and place in the vegetable bin of the refrigerator for an hour or two before using. If this is impossible, place in a dish of water containing ice cubes and chill for a short time.

Vegetables absorb water through cut stems or cones and this helps to keep them fresh and crisp.

Main dish salads may be made from most vegetables, meat, fish, poultry, cheese and fruit. Here are salad recipes that may utilize unrationed foods.

Jellied Vegetable Salad
1 tbsps. gelatin
1 1/2 cups cold water
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup chili sauce
1 tbsps. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup shredded carrot
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 tbsps. minced onion

The Hot Springs Edict

The freedom of the press has come in for a good share of discussion with the controversy over the exclusion of newspaper representatives from the proposed United Nations food conference at Hot Springs, next month. Voluntary censorship is one thing and censorship imposed by the government is quite another. Voluntary censorship, those self-imposed rules of newspapers throughout the country, is easy to understand. It was designed only to keep from the enemy, facts which might be helpful to him and which might injure our own war effort. The Office of Censorship in Washington has briefed the rules which not only newspapers, but editors of all forms of printed matter are complying, as a war measure. Its Code of War-time Practices outlines rules by which facts or developments which might aid the enemy can be easily deleted.

Among the more familiar violations which can be detrimental had been the publishing of military units of men serving outside the country and linking of naval personnel with their ships. Voluntary compliance in these and other instances has been such however, that little over one-half of one percent of the 26½ million dollars appropriated this year for censorship administration goes for internal press and broadcasting censorship. The rest is spent on censorship of international communications.

Since the press has indicated its willing cooperation where censorship is necessary and justifiable, it is hard for newspaper men to understand the arbitrariness of the government ruling on the Hot Springs conference. The great importance of the occasion in its possibilities of drafting a world food plan, will develop information that the United Nations will eventually have.

If it is felt that there will be some information which should not be headlined, in the interest of an early victory, officials know, from past experience, that newsmen can be relied upon to treat it as "off the record." The edict must seem a queer action to the United Nations who look to us the outstanding exponents of freedom.

Reciprocal Trade Our Responsibility

Congress, in its consideration of the renewal of Cordell Hull's Reciprocal Trade Agreements act, is burdened with the responsibility of deciding the future role of the United States among nations. It also has the larger responsibility of either providing the basis for a lasting peace or sowing the seeds for still another economic war. For the attention of other nations is now focused on us. Our action in relation to this act will determine for them whether we choose to become the leader in world economic cooperation or to revert to the old isolationist theory that we are sufficient unto ourselves.

The action of the House this week in tossing out Congress's right to veto agreements shows a realization of their responsibility, although it is surmised that there may be a battle on the floor over the stipulation. Since our adoption of Hull's policy the volume of our exports and imports has leaped tremendously, allowing for expansion of industry not only in our own country but also in other nations which trade with us. Under the Reciprocal Trade Agreement any concession granted to one nation is granted to all others which do not discriminate against our commerce. This policy has been instrumental in breaking down barriers against our products, since those countries which would not sell certain commodities to us were put on our

"black list". This meant we refused all trade with the black listed country, until it ceased discrimination, thus impairing its market here, and elsewhere, in other commodities.

High-tariff proponents argue against reciprocal trade by saying we are self-sufficient. This would mean that we would import and export little, seriously throwing our internal economic structure out of balance and limiting us to natural resources that will be greatly depleted after the war. Another argument against the agreement is made by special interests, bent on preserving their own industries. Figures show however, that the increase in the number of people employed in making goods for export increased greatly from 1934 to 1938, and in all but two lines, the increase in production for reciprocal nations was greater than that in production of goods for non-reciprocal nations.

Far-seeing Americans are now convinced that a reversal to high tariffs such as those we employed against Canada around 1930 can be nothing short of a suicidal step in relation to post-war economy. The United States will have been greatly expanded industrially, after the war, over peace time production. We will need a market for our products, and in turn, other nations will have a demand for them, in the great rehabilitation program that will come.

Community Service Bureau Gives Example Of Its Work

The Case of Paula and Henri

(The second article of the Community Service Bureau presents a type of problem with which a large number of people seek the help of the Bureau. Of a total of 65 cases in a recent month 35 per cent centered around personality difficulties of some member of the family which threatened to disrupt the home. By keeping the Paulas and Henri together the agency helps both the family and community.)

He learned to make mayonnaise in the merchant marine; mayonnaise and pot roast and angel cake. The merchant marine made a steward out of him. Other stewards taught him how to pad a requisition and pocket a little extra money. The first time was easy. The second was easier.

The third time, they caught him, and out of the merchant marine he went, blacklisted and broke. The port steward warned him not to ask for references. References don't cut much ice on a hash joint job. You can either toss an omelet together in a hurry or you can't. Henri Preppier could, so the next six years or so showed him the other side of the counter in diners all over the country.

The Community Service Bureau met Henri at a critical point in his jumbled up life. He was married, and he had a fat little baby girl. But he also had some mighty severe problems.

Henri had never learned to solve problems. You meet the girl in Skowhegan in June. You get sick of her in September, and in October you are slinging beef stew in a St. Petersburg juke joint, with no girl, no headache, and no problem. Six weeks later you are in Trenton and some "frill" in Miami is wondering where you went. But marrying's different. You don't like something your wife does, and your old heel begins to itch to take you away from it, and there's the baby. And, for that matter, there's Paula, who's a darned swell gal if she'd only stop being so suspicious and nagging.

Asked For Money

All Henri and Paula asked the interviewing social worker for was money. Henri had run through all the easy-to-get and easy-to-throw-up jobs in the vicinity. He'd been around the circuit, and there was no way back. They didn't want him. So the rent was due, and the coal box was empty, and so on. There were a dozen problems, as the Premiers discussed them with the agency, and they all had price tags.

But the worker wasn't too sure that the real trouble was unemployment. She agreed to help them meet the present emergency, but she made an appointment to see them at their home to talk over the problem of finding a job.

Only Paula and the baby were home. Henri, it appeared, had something very important to attend to that had just come up. Paula's mouth was twisted wryly when she delivered Henri's apologies, and the social worker thought she knew why.

"Do important matters often come up like that?" she asked. "Every time he's got something to face," said Paula. "He's like that. If we have to argue the landlord out of getting the rent right away, Henri has something important to do at the last minute and I do the talking."

Once started, Paula kept going. She soon swung around to her self and her own problems. She was scared to death that Henri was going out with other women. "Not another woman," Paula made it clear, "other women. He isn't in love with anyone else, only me. I'm sure of that. But I'm losing him. When he used to come in late, and I'd pester him a little about it, he'd say something funny and let it go at that. But last week, when he came in late, I said, kind of sharp, 'Blond or brunette?' And he said, 'Blond. Not stuff, too. Just like that. And you should have heard me lay into him.'

Knew Background

Paula, you see, knew about his vagabond background.

To explain exactly what the agency did for the couple would require a whole string of text books. It takes years to teach a social worker how to use the findings at the social scientists; how to show persons like Henri and Paula what they are doing to themselves, and why they are doing it; and how to stop it, if they really want to.

Paula was unable to digest all of the things Henri had confessed to her about his vagabond days. She loved him and she was frightened of losing him. When he was late, her imagination sold her the notion that the thing she feared had come upon her.

Half an hour late, and she could almost see the woman. An hour late, and she practically knew her name. And when Henri walked in, as likely as not worn out and depressed from his futile job-hunting, she'd greet him with some fear-inspired sarcasm about his "girl friend." She'd paint, in other words, an imaginary picture of her husband, and then she'd talk to the picture, instead of to him.

Henri was an escapist. He could not face his obstacles. He'd found it too easy, for years, to hitch hike away from them. Only now he was slipping away from them in his mind, finding something important to do when anything disagreeable was on the calendar. He probably believed in the important mission himself. You can kid yourself like that, you know.

Have Patience

You can help an escapist face his obstacles, if you're patient enough and know how, much as you teach a baby to pat a puppy. Gently you bring its hand to the puppy. "See? Soft. Nice puppy. Nice baby. No, he won't bite. He likes you. Pat the puppy." Something like that. You lead your escapist up to his problem and show him that it isn't a hanging matter after all. It doesn't bite. It's just difficult, that's all. But exciting to lick, if you'll try. Try it.

Let your escapist get the thrill of licking a couple of consecutive problems and you can't hold him down. That's how the Premier problem unraveled. Henri first. He got a job by gently reaching out and patting a hotel manager. The manager didn't bite. So Henri told him about his merchant marine record—the good and the bad. The manager was impressed. He reasoned, Henri that if a man is strong enough to tell something like that, he's strong enough not to be so dumb again. With Henri's job, his self-confidence returned, and his good humor, and his interest in his wife. He brought home six roses he couldn't afford with his first pay check.

After all Paul didn't want to be suspicious.

"The situations in the story are real but Paula and Henri are fictitious characters who bear no intentional resemblance to actual persons."

Washington Snapshots

By James Preston

For the next few months business men will find developments here of great interest and significance in the conduct of their operations. In addition to the heavy schedule of legislation before the 78th Congress, there are many executive moves afoot that have a very direct bearing on industrial problems.

Some of the bills before Congress stem from the determination of lawmakers to halt the encroachment of the bureaucrats upon the constitutional prerogatives of the legislative branch. Some involve fundamental human liberties. Some have to do with labor's lapse in sense of responsibility, and a great many are concerned with economic stabilization and inflation.

Still under fire is the compulsory work draft measure known as the Austin-Wadsworth Bill (S. 666—H.R. 1782). The National Association of Manufacturers has expressed vigorous opposition to such a measure. Labor is fighting it. Manpower officials in the government say it is not necessary now. Members of the Senate and House Military Affairs Committees, before whom hearings on this bill are still in progress, have been deeply impressed by this opposition.

The Maloney Bill (S. 885), the purpose of which is to create an independent Civilian Supply Agency, is now under consideration by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. NAM has advised this body that while the Association favors a strong voice for the civilian economy it does not approve the plan to create an autonomous organization outside the War Production Board. There has been some indication that this bill may be altered somewhat to meet the objections advanced by WPB Chairman Donald Nelson and other opponents of the measure.

One of the revisions under discussion involves the elevation of the WPB's Office of Civilian Supply Director to membership on the War Production Board. Chairman Nelson took cognizance of growing demands for greater protection of the civilian economy by appointing a full Vice-Chairman of WPB in charge of civilian requirements.

A bill which would create an office of Scientific and Technical Mobilization, sponsored by Senator Harley M. Kilgore, is now before the Senate Military Affairs Committee. This measure, in the opinion of some of its Congressional opponents, would create in the person of the Administrator the most powerful bureaucrat in Washington and would have the effect of sanctioning the compulsory licensing of patents.

These foes of the measure point out that it could be used to bring about a compulsory pooling of industrial "know-how," manufacturing techniques and give the government broad control over private property which would fall under the bill's definition of "scientific and technical facilities."

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

This Announcement will make some people blush!

Could this be you?... "What a breakfast! Eggs without bacon. Coffee—just one cup of it—with-out heavy cream. Just a skimpy little pat of butter for my toast. Don't talk to me about sacrifice. I'm making plenty. And what about the 10% of my pay that goes into War Bonds every week?"

When THIS is your fellow American!

"We've been under fire night and day for 12 days. Advancing through heavy mud. Wet and tired. The nights are freezing cold. No hot food. Only our iron rations to keep us going. Casualties have been heavy. Yesterday, my buddy, 'Spike' Anderson, got hit. But today it's worthwhile. Today we stormed and took the Nazi position."

FROM every front comes a story of the heroism of our troops—of the unbelievable hardships and privations they are suffering. And now from our far flung battle lines comes an urgent cry for help: "Send us more planes, more guns, more ammunition." For today the fighting fronts blaze into new fury. In a last desperate effort to annihilate us, the Axis powers are throwing everything into the struggle. The next few weeks or months may decide the outcome of the war. And that's why your Government is calling on you to lend it more money. Thirteen billion dollars are needed—needed urgently and right now. This is a showdown fight and we've got to top the Nazis and the Japs with our efforts if we are going to win.

The Big Offensive Is On

We're not playing at war. This is the real thing. Our boys are dying in defense of our country—casualty lists are mounting. The least we can do is to back up our men with every single dollar we can scrape together. Remember they do not stop to ask the cost—they pay with their lives. In the face of their sacrifice can any of us back here at home say that we are doing enough?

Millions of patriotic Americans are already putting 10% of their earnings into War Bonds every payday. We can be proud of this record—but 10% is not enough. Today we are confronted by a great and critical emergency. Thirteen billion extra dollars are needed and needed at once. That is a big sum of money, but not too big for America.

What does this mean to you? It means that it is your patriotic duty to put more money into Government securities regardless of what self-sacrifice it may entail. Give up some of your comforts, do without things you need—this is a vital matter.

And remember when you dig up this money that you are not giving a cent. You are merely investing it in the safest securities in the world. You will get it back with interest when the war is over. It will supply you with cash for the things you want when we are free to return to the ways of peace. It will mean security for you and yours.

What To Do

Thousands of men and women, volunteer workers, are calling on everybody possible, explaining the 2nd War Loan Drive and the different types of Government securities offered to meet every individual's needs. Welcome one of these representatives if he calls on you, for he is giving his time and effort freely to this patriotic cause. But don't wait for his call. Go to your bank, Post Office or War Bond booth. Lay down your money—more than you think you can spare—for extra bonds. Know in your heart that when your country called, you answered "YES"!

There are 7 different types of U. S. Government securities—choose the ones best suited for you:

United States War Savings Bonds—Series E: The perfect investment for individual and family savings. Gives you back $4 for every $3 when the Bond matures. Designed especially for the smaller investor. Dated 1st day of month in which payment is received. Interest: 2.9% a year if held to maturity. Denominations: $25; $50, $100, $500, $1000. Redemption: any time 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969: Readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral, these Bonds are ideal investments for trust funds, estates and individuals. A special feature provides that they may be redeemed at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated April 15, 1943; due June 15, 1969. Denominations: $500; $1000; $5000; $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Redemption: Not callable till June 15, 1964; thereafter at par and accrued interest on any interest date at 4 months' notice. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other Securities: Series "C" Tax Notes; ½% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1950-1952; United States Savings Bonds Series "F"; United States Savings Bonds Series "G."

Church of Christ, Scientist

605 Broad Street, Newark.

"Everlasting punishment" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, in all Christian Science Churches and Societies.

The Golden Text is: "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Among the Lesson-Sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "Though hand join in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished; but the seed of the righteous shall be delivered." The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "We cannot escape the penalty due for sin. To cause suffering as the result of sin, is the means of destroying sin. Every supposed pleasure in sin will furnish more than its equivalent of pain, until belief in material life and sin are destroyed."
