

GAS SHORTAGE ENDS ACTUAL INCIDENT TESTS

Test In Zone 4 Last Thursday
Best Yet; Others Will Be
On Paper

An end to planned Incident tests for the remainder of the summer and for a town-wide test came Friday with the announcement from Everett B. Smith, defense council chairman that the tests would be discontinued in order to conserve gasoline. No more tests will be held until the current shortage is over, according to Smith, who said that "movement of trucks and other vehicles used in the tests wastes too much gasoline and forces us to discontinue the tests."

Although the tests are vital in the civilian defense program, Smith said that he did not think volunteers should be using gas when other essential carriers were forced to discontinue their runs. Replacing the incident tests will be a series of planned sessions with volunteers in which problems will be laid on the table and solved by designation of what and how many vehicles should be used and where and when they would be dispatched. Instead of having actual tests, the work will be done on paper.

Final Test in Zone 4

The announcement of discontinuance was made by Smith following the best test last Thursday night in zone 4 that the council had so far held. All the workers and defense personnel involved in this test did a thorough job and many of them were so swift that dispatches were made from the control center, carried through, and reported back to headquarters in a brief four-minute time.

"Bombing" of the new garden apartment in Carpenter street was of the highlights of the incident. Fifty families had to be evacuated from this apartment and there were numerous casualties. Main criticism of this incident by the council was the fact that fire and other equipment trying to get to the apartment was hampered due to parking permitted on the west side of Carpenter street.

It is expected that the council will recommend a change in the amendment to the traffic ordinance introduced by the town council.

Lt. Colonel

Lt. Col. Edward J. Burns

Promotion to the rank of lieutenant colonel was conferred Monday on Major Edward J. Burns of 81 Hill street at the Port of Embarkation, Boston, Mass. where he has been stationed for many months following his recall to military service in January 1942. He was first stationed in New York. Lt. Col. Burns is now awaiting assignment to duty overseas.

Born in Scranton, Pa., Burns enlisted in the regular army in 1913 when he was a private in the field artillery. He first saw action in Mexico in 1916 and 1917 when he was attached to the 7th cavalry opposing Pancho Villa's fighters. Then a sergeant, Burns entered officers' training school at the outbreak of the World war and became a 2nd lieutenant with the 15th regular field artillery in 1917. He saw action in France with the 4th, 15th and 21st field artillery as commander of a headquarters battery and was made a captain at the close of the battle of St. Mihiel.

Married in Germany

Burns then served nine months with the army of occupation in Luxembourg. He attended the army artillery school of the AEF from which he was graduated in 1919. Recommended for appointment to the regular army by his superior officers, Burns decided not to continue in service and was honorably discharged in Brest that year. In Luxembourg he was married and Mrs. Burns, a French woman, accompanied him to America on one of the troop ships which carried members of the army of occupation back to this country. The couple decided to remain in New York, until they came to Belleville, four years ago.

Capt. Burns sustained his interest in the army reserve by attending summer training at Pine Camp, N. Y. and Fort Bragg, N. C. during summer months. He became a major in the field artillery reserve in 1929 after studying special fire missions, tactics, combat orders and solution of problems.

When recalled last year Burns was chairman of the Adopted Daughter Lodge No. 3 of Jersey City of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. He was one of the organizers and officers of the Belleville Property Owners' association.

PUBLIC SERVICE MAKES CUTS

Temporary Suspension and Sharp Reductions Made In 38 Lines

In order to cooperate with the 20 percent reduction in mileage asked by the Office of Defense Transportation in the present gasoline emergency, the Public Service transportation companies are announcing changes in service which will become effective immediately.

Included in these changes are temporary suspension of service on 15 routes, sharp reduction of service on twenty-three other routes, and temporary suspension of service on the Newark-Asbury Park line, and Greenwood Lake-New York bus lines. Reduction in service on all other seashore lines will also be made.

In Essex county the changes include the suspension of the Newark-Asbury Park line, and a cut in the non rush hour and Saturday and Sunday service on the Mountain Route No. 84. The River Road No. 41 is being discontinued in all but rush service.

These changes and reductions do not affect service to war plants. There will be no reduction in service on lines where all-service vehicles operate. These vehicles are operated by electricity from overhead wires. Trolley service will in no way be affected by any of these changes.

DINNERS SUBJECT OF FOOD FITNESS AT THIRD SESSION

Final Lecture Will Be Devoted To Canning Methods, Ways,
And Means

The third in the series of Food Fitness programs which are being held in school no. 8 under the auspices of the Public Service drew a crowd of nearly 200 at its session on Tuesday. The Tuesday demonstration lecture was devoted to dinners and complete menus for a day.

Five of the items prepared and demonstrated at the session were later distributed to members of the audience. Two dinners, one an oven dinner won by Mrs. Amelia Cataldo of 60 High street and one a broiled dinner won by Mrs. John Charleton of 725 Bell street, were distributed. Mrs. Frank Welle of 300 Union avenue was the recipient of a deep dish apple pie, made for desert demonstration. Brownies went to Charles Nascimento of 232 Union street and a market basket was donated to Kathleen Flynn of 74 Clinton street.

Bond from National Grain Yeast The National Grain Yeast corporation donated the $25 War Bond for this lecture. Two other corporations have so far donated a bond for each session and the bond donated by National Grain Yeast in the interest of the Food Fitness program went to Miss Mena Piccioppo of 49 Cedar Hill avenue.

No charge has been made for any of these demonstrations designed to give the war workers and cooks for war workers helpful hints and actual demonstrations of how to prepare the most appetizing and most nutritious of how to prepare the food of four demonstrations will be staged at the usual time of 2 p.m. in the school 8 auditorium.

This final lecture will be devoted entirely to canning. All canning methods will be demonstrated with the easiest and most economical way of preserving fresh fruits and vegetables. Miss Cordery, Public Service Home Consultant, feels that everyone will be interested in this lecture since it has been designed for all those who want to have canned goods, on hand but are not able to keep themselves supplied due to rationing. The lecture will be invaluable to all victory gardeners also, since they will want to know what to do with their produce after they have raised it. Canning samples will be distributed throughout the demonstration. Another War Bond donated by an, as yet, unnamed corporation, will again be given to someone in the audience.

Get Complete Set

Throughout all these lectures pamphlets and booklets have been distributed to everyone present. These booklets are an invaluable aid and contain helpful hints on the preparation of common foods and varied menus for simple meals. A 16 page booklet was distributed at the Tuesday meeting. Anyone who has not obtained all the pamphlets or who missed getting a special one because of absence at one of the first meetings, can obtain one.

CAN COLLECTION FALLS TO 10 TONS

Town Trucks Will Convey Cans
To Detinning Plant Instead
Of Beverage Trucks

With a drop from last month's collection, the Salvage committee was able to scrape up only 10 tons of tin cans for this month, where town trucks made the collection last Thursday.

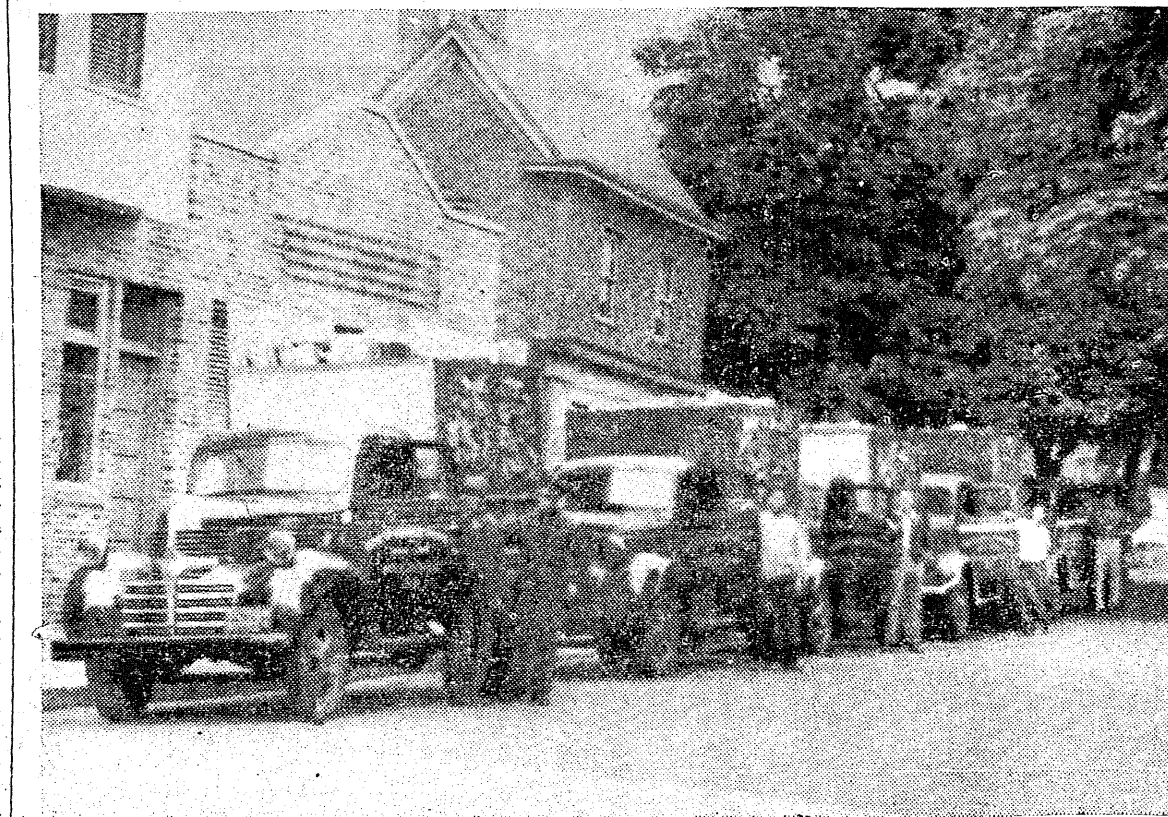

Cans were taken the detinning plant at Sewaren by five Public works department trucks instead of by Beverage company trucks which have done the job in the past. James Waters, road superintendent decided to use town trucks for the transporting of the cans since the beverage companies had previously informed the salvage committee that they were questioning the use of their trucks for the purpose. Robert G. Sutherland, salvage chairman, had been informed by Clinton White, state salvage director that the beverage companies had already asked OPA advice on the hauling of tin cans from municipalities to detinning plants.

In consequence, town trucks were used because the salvage committee wanted to be sure that the cans went to the detinning plant and were not allowed to remain in the salvage lot gathering rust, as they nearly had before, due to the fact that there had been a mix-up in the Beverage company hauling. The collection made on Thursday was the largest yet for Department of Public Works trucks.

It had been estimated that the collection of cans this month would top that of last month but it fell short. Last month's collection for the state also fell short. White stated that many of the housewives in some communities were not saving tin cans as they should. In some communities the percentage of housewives turning in cans was as low as 30 percent. A "can for can" plan has been introduced in several communities according to White and it is hoped that this will greatly increase tin banks.

The plan, is now being tried in Hudson and Passaic counties. If it works out there, a similar state wide plan may be put into action so that the tin cans now going to waste will be saved for their vital use.

New Convoy For Tin To Beat The Axis

READY FOR THE FIRST trip to the detinning plant in Sewaren, members of the Public Works department and their town truck loads of tin cans are shown above, after the monthly salvage collection. The trucks have been put into service for prompt disposal of the stuff that converted into pure metal, is so necessary for airplane production. Disappointed over the 10 ton haul, Salvage Chairman Robert Sutherland hopes that housewives will do better next time.

TOWN MUSICIANS PLAN TO PRESENT CONCERT JUNE 18

Event Sponsored By Belleville
Foundation Will Raise Funds
For Recreation Facilities

The newly-formed Belleville Foundation will make its initial bow to the townspeople with a concert on Friday evening, June 18, at the high school. Planned with the purpose of raising funds for providing recreation facilities for Belleville children as well as contributing towards the advancement of music, the program will be made up of musicians from virtually every group in town.

Representing the high school will be the orchestra under the direction of Alice Wagner, music supervisor, and Peter Koustas, Jr. trumpet player. Although Peter is of Greek parentage, he was born in Newark where he started the study of trumpet at the age of nine. He has been a member of the high school orchestra for three years, and played solos in the recent Festival held at that school.

The Kiddie Quartet, all members of the Kiddie Chorus which has been giving numerous concerts hereabouts recently, will be in-dubitably contributing to the program.

Spirituals will be sung by the Edwards Gospel Singers, who organized five years ago with Thomas Edwards as the director and Harold Salter as accompanist. Originally six in number, they have been reduced to four by calls to service. They have sung before the students at Belleville high school and at Grace Baptist Church besides fulfilling engagements in Brooklyn, New York City, New Rochelle and south Jersey.

Duo-Piano Selections A group of dances will be played by Adell Sutherland and Helen McNair, duo-pianists. Making their first appearance as a two-piano team at their graduation exercises from Belleville high school, Miss McNair went on to secure her B.S. and later her master's degree from Montclair State Teachers' College. At present she teaches music and mathematics at school number five.

Mrs. Sutherland is a private teacher of piano with studios in Belleville and Mountain Lakes. She is State Junior Counselor of the New Jersey Federation of Music Clubs. This season the duo-pianists have been presented by the Musicians' club of Belleville as well as appearing on the Nutley Symphony society's chamber music series.

Sharp solos will feature Alba Pasquale who is well known to Belleville audiences. Inspired with the desire to play the harp by hearing her mother play, Miss Pasquale studied for ten years with Nancy Morgan of New York. More recently, Miss Pasquale has been studying voice with Mary Hartley Wells of Verona, and still finds time to direct the three choirs of Silver Lake Baptist church of which her father is the minister.

Josephine Rossi, operatic soprano, graduate of the Institute of Musical Art of the Juilliard School of Music of New York City, will sing several songs. Miss Rossi has sung with the Newark Civic Opera company and this season with the State Opera association under William Spada. She directs both the voice and piano departments of the Leah Kride School of Music in Belleville.

A combined chorus made up of the choir members of all of the churches in town will be the climax of the program. Each group has been rehearsing the music under their respective directors for several weeks. They will sing in a body under the baton of William Haney with Arthur Ackerman as accompanist.

Memorial Day Parade

Several thousand citizens watched the Memorial day parade. The Police Reserves were highly commended for their appearance in the parade. An unusually large number of men turned out and their general appearance along with their marching ability was complementary. The air raid wardens were represented in the line by a group of deputy wardens.

The new plant under the direction of Floyd B. Avery, a resident of South Orange, will be used to house the radio transformer department, a new unit in the radio division of the organization. At peak capacity which is expected to be reached shortly, between 400 and 500 workers will be employed.

WACHENFELD WILL GIVE CERTIFICATE

All Defense Personnel Will Attend Presentation of Control
Room's Merit Award

Final plans for tonight's meeting of all Civilian Defense personnel in the High School at 8 P.M., found a change in the principal speaker.

William A. Wachenfeld, Prosecutor of the Pleas, and Area Administrator for the Newark Area, will present the certificate of merit for the Belleville Control Room. Mr. Wachenfeld, by a rearrangement of a busy schedule, notified the local council that he was able to be on hand tonight, instead of his deputy.

Chairman Everett B. Smith will accept the certificate and will respond for the defense volunteers whose efforts have won the recognition. Mayor Wm. H. Williams will deliver a short talk after the musical program which will open the occasion. Ronald Brunner will act as master of ceremonies and will be introduced by Mr. Philip Dettelbach, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee. Defense Coordinator, Harry J. Sullivan will also deliver a short talk. A film, "What to do in a Gas Attack," a very informative picture, will close the program. The affair has been arranged by Judge Smith, Messrs. Brunner, Dettelbach, Sullivan and Wayne B. Farmer, Superintendent of Schools and a large crowd is expected to attend.

CITIZENS' GROUP WANTS ACTION

Belleville Citizens' Committee
Wants Town Commissioner
Vacancy Filled

A meeting of the Belleville Citizens' committee, interested in filling a vacancy on the town commission, was held last night at the Recreation house to vote on the question of whether or not a special election should be held in the November general election to fill the vacancy.

This committee was formed at a meeting in the Recreation house last Thursday night when the committee voted against the naming of any candidate and agreed instead that the town commission submit a referendum to the public at the November elections. If a special election were held, it would be open to all candidates. Harry Brumbach of 100 Little street was nominated as committee chairman.

The committee originated as a result of a meeting held a week ago in the real estate office of Raymond E. Mertz, by a number of those who were active in his campaign for the commission a year ago when he finished sixth. Mertz has been supported for the vacancy by Commissioner Noll and King, but has been opposed by Waters and Williams who repeatedly support Michael J. Flynn.

American Legion Will Elect Officers At Monday Meeting

SCHOOL BOARD MAY AID IN CHILD CARE

Committee Asks For Quarters
In School No. 1 For Trial
Nursery

At a meeting in the board of education offices last Tuesday night between a representative committee of the Child Care division of the Defense Council and members of the board of education, it was decided that the child care committee would be allowed to use rooms on the first floor of school No. 1 for a child care nurse project, subject to the approval of the board.

Charles Gebhardt and Walt Gilby, representing the board of education, were in complete accord with the child care committee aims and agreed to survey the possibilities of school No. 1 in regard to a child care center. The board representatives agreed also to report back to the board their findings and will again meet with a subcommittee of the child care committee within the month. Judge Everett B. Smith, Defense Council chairman; John E. Witt, war services committee head; Mrs. Morris Rochlin, child care committee chairman; Mrs. J. O. Feiner, executive secretary; Wayne R. Farmer, Child Care committee representative, were present at the meeting.

Ask For School Rooms

Smith suggested that the board of education give approval to the project of using rooms in school No. 1 as a nursery since they have the facilities and personnel. It was suggested that the nurse be started on a small scale in order to determine the real need and the number of those who would patronize it. It was suggested that the basement of the school be used for cooking and other facilities.

The child care committee has almost given up hope of ever getting started with an actual nursery and it was felt that the failure lay not entirely with the committee but as much with the board of education, which could adequately help with and donate services to the nursery project.

According to Smith, the solution to the problem lies with the board as much as with the child care committee, and "they are the ones who should help in solving it," he said. Smith said that, though the expense of the experiment might be borne by the town.

Four Get Funds

An appeal to the board of education in an effort to get Landmarks funds which have just been granted to various Jersey municipalities by the Federal War Agency. In each of the four municipalities where funds were granted, the board of education was the body which received the funds, and for this reason the child care committee hopes to enlist the aid of its own board.

A total of $29,169 was granted to the four boards. Included in the grants were one for $8,267 for operations of two war nurse homes, the Hoboken board of education for 60 pre-school children, one for 40 school age children, grant of $9,784 to the Irvington board of education to assist in the construction of a new school.

NEREID HAS GOOD OPENING MEET

Club Wins Three Out of Five
Races In Regatta On Harlem
River Last Sunday

The Nereid Boat club made singular showing in the first regatta in which they have taken part this year, when they won three events held Sunday on the Harlem River. This was the annual decoration day regatta held by the New York Rowing association.

Out of the five events entered the club was victorious in three. Rowing in borrowed shells, the club made out exceptionally well and a spokesman for the club said that it was one of the best openings the club had had in several years.

Al Walker, presently of the Navy, took high honors by winning the senior singles event. Les Burnley and Howard Wilson were entered in the senior doubles lost to Fairmont by mere five lengths.

Win Doubles, Match 8 Hugh Kittle and Ward Whitcomb won the Junior Double event with Fairmont placing second and Nonpareils placing third.

In the Match 8, Nereid took first place by beating the Philly Mats 8 three fourths of a length. This was a half mile. The other two matches were all mile races.

The match 8 event was won by Burnley, Wilson, Whitehorse, Kittle, Dr. Brainerd Swain, Victor Cooke, Jack Weber, William Tice and Artie Hyde as coxswain.

Although the shells were borrowed, the club teams were allowed to choose which they preferred. The intermediate rowing in the club are being developed on more and more due to shortage of active Nereids and some of them are able to enter senior events and present a good showing.

The next regatta in which the club will take part will be the Fourth of July Regatta in Philadelphia.

VICTORY THEATRE OPENS TO RECRUIT WOMEN WORKERS

Exhibit In Newark Will Show
Off Declaration Of This Area
As Critical One

For the purpose of recruiting 27,435 women for war work in industries and war production training in Essex, Hudson and Union counties, a War Manpower commission exhibit was opened in the "Victory Theater" in Military Park, Newark, at noon on Monday. Mayor Vincent Murphy, City Commissioner Ralph A. Villani, John A. McCarthy, Assistant State Commissioner of Education, Major Howard J. Lepper, Area Director, War Manpower Commission, Edmund W. Wollmuth, Executive Secretary, Newark Chamber of Commerce, Captain J. J. DiMeane, representing the Army and Lt. Henry J. Rolfs, representing the Navy, spoke at the opening exercises.

The exhibit will be open weekdays from 9:30 to 6:30 except Wednesdays, when it will close at 8:30 p.m. A different war industry will display its method of operations each week. The Breeze Corporation, Inc., will exhibit this week, to be followed by the Pollack Manufacturing company, Radio Corporation of America, Titeflex Metal Hose company, and the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company. In addition, the vocational training of war production workers under the direction of the State department of Public Instruction, will be demonstrated together with the training of inexperienced workers on actual war industry operations. Free immediate placement and training service will be provided at the Victory Theater demonstration.

Radio Stations Cooperate

Radio stations WAAT and WPAT will also cooperate. On Tuesday morning the Breakfast Club program over WAAT from the Hotel Douglas, was devoted entirely to the "Get a War Job" demonstration, with Hal Tunis, WAAT announcer, acting as master of ceremonies.

WAAT will devote a ten minute period on Friday 12:05 p.m., June 4, 11, 18, 25 and July 2 to promoting recruitment. There will also be a quiz program for the participating exhibitors.

The purpose of the exhibit and demonstration is not only to recruit more war workers and women for training, but to avert, if possible, the declaration of Essex, Hudson and Union as a critical area. The Trenton and Somerville areas have been placed in the critical list. This usually means that no more war contracts can be let in the areas named if facilities can be found elsewhere. It also means a minimum 48-hour week for all industries in the areas. The critical designation usually results from over-concentration of contracts within an area, together with inadequate movement of local manpower into essential production.

Application of the mandatory 48-hour minimum work week, control of all hiring in certain specified activities through the local offices of the United States Employment service, intensive local recruiting and stimulation of transfers from less-essential to war production work, with controlled importation of outside workers, are some of the steps being contemplated to relieve critical shortages.

Full community cooperation with the area director of the War Manpower Commission, Major Lepper pointed out, can prevent an area from becoming critical as to labor, and in less frequent instances can remove the "critical" label from an area.

HE NEEDS A WOMAN'S HELP!!

Won't YOU help him — by working in a war plant?

He may be your husband—your son—your neighbor's boy. He's at the front in Africa—New Guinea—the South Pacific Islands. He's fighting for you. Won't you work for him—in a war plant?

Here's what he needs

See that telephone he's using? It symbolizes many kinds of military communications equipment made by Western Electric. Field telephones, wire, switchboards—radio for planes, tanks, ships. All these are fighting tools—just as truly as guns and ammunition.

Who is going to make them?

Thousands of Western Electric men are already in the armed forces—more are going each week. We must not only replace them but also get more and more workers.

The one great group of people who can, who must do this vital work is made up of women not now engaged in war work. Some of you have never worked in a factory—never gone to business—never worked anywhere outside your homes. Regardless of previous experience, you—your friends—and hundreds of women like you are needed now in war plants.

You'll learn quickly

Much of the work here has always been done by women. You can do it, too—and you'll be proud of your war job. For you—like thousands of Western Electric men and women—will be helping to win this war.

How to get started

If you are not now in a War Job, come to the Employment Office at the plant—or call Mitchell 2-7700 and ask for Miss Basse, on Extension 4014. You'll find her easy to talk with—ready to answer your questions. She'll gladly make an appointment for you—explain how to get here. Call her today—that man at the front needs your help!

Warren Emerson In Front Line Of Service As Chemical Engineer

Graduated yesterday from Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn with the degree of Chemical Engineer, Warren Emerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Emerson of 314 Greylock parkway. On a three day leave of absence from the Winthrop Chemical company of Rensselaer, N. Y., where he is a junior chemical engineer, Emerson yesterday terminated a scholastic career which began after his graduation from Belleville high school in 1936. He was employed by the accounting department of the Public Service corporation in Newark and studied chemical engineering at night in Newark Technical school and later in the Brooklyn institute. He has also completed evening courses in accounting at Public Service. In September 1941 he left that firm and gave entire attention to obtaining his degree at Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn where he completed his curriculum of studies in January. Several months were absorbed in preparing a thesis, requisite for his degree, and in March young Emerson went to the Winthrop company.

In view of the intense need for chemical engineers, easily recognizable in a recent survey which showed that only five out of a thousand engineers are chemical engineers, Emerson was urged by chemists at Winthrop and other companies and by military officials to accept his present position in lieu of military service. No more dramatic instance of the effectiveness of drugs at war can be found than the Winthrop Chemical company which began the production of Atrazine, a malaria controlling drug, a year before Pearl Harbor. Paul deKruif, noted scientist, has said that major military operations in most quarters of the globe would not be possible for American soldiers but for the ingenuity of American chemists who evolved this drug from a cleverly delineated formula sold us by the Germans. Dr. A. E. Sherndal of the Winthrop company supplied the missing components and mass production of the drug was evoked. Mr. deKruif says of him that he should have highest military honors. Since the same basic chemical used in the manufacture of TNT is used in Atrazine, the chemists and their staffs work under difficult and dangerous conditions.

Emerson, a junior member of the Chemical Engineering society and the Society of American Chemists, holds a Phi Lambda Upsilon key, honorary chemical society. He has been urged to do graduate work. He is a member of the Nereid Boat club.

The Cornelius DeJonges celebrated the third birthday of their daughter, Rena, Monday with a family party. Guests included the child's great-grandmother, Mrs. Allie Beck of Newark; her grandfather, Herman Schiewer of this town and Mrs. Schiewer; and Mrs. Donald Seely of East Orange. The couple have another daughter, Genie, aged seven.

Grinning, Rotund 'Pointless Pete' Aids and Abets Acme Shoppers

Little, puff-bellied "pointless Pete", reminiscent of a certain gentleman five by five with his tummy where his lap should be, gets homage daily from Acme market shoppers who have come to welcome his "pointless" grin as he perches beaproned atop a stool and the non-rationed articles on Acme shelves. For, in the welter of a growing list of rationed items under the point system he has befriended not only the ladies ransacking their minds for the ingredients of a "pointless" meal, but he has taken the burden of incessant queries on what is and isn't pointless off the shoulders of the Acme stores personnel. When the rationing program went into effect, Acme officials searched in vain for a simple way to indicate in advertising, store cards, window signs and interior displays, the best buys in rationed foods. They were searching for a way of getting over the thought that there are plenty of variety, vitamins and value in foods that are point free. But it wasn't until Herbert A. Herr, district advertising manager of the American Stores Company and Natalie Jenkins Bond, food editor of a Newark newspaper, got their heads together, that "Pointless Pete" became the answer to their needs. And as shoppers become aware of and make friends with the rotund little fellow, they find their Books 1 and 2 are doing well over the allotted page and are discovering that what is largely a matter of ing what's pointless.

BOYS JOIN CAMPOREE

Ask Larger Registration Of Boys For Summer Camp "Mohican"

All but two troops of Belleville boy scouts were represented last weekend at the camporee conducted for scouts of Robert Treat council at South Mountain reservation. Troops 301, 306, 333, 350, 375, 388, 392, 389 and Sea Scout ship 303 accounted for the 151 Belleville scouts and scouters who were present. A blackout was conducted Saturday night. Principal feature during the two days of fun, New Jersey Civilian Defense director, whose topic was "Scouting in The War; 1917 and Today." Scouts and their leaders returned to Belleville late Sunday afternoon.

Slightly more than 100 scouts and cubs marched in the Memorial day parade Monday.

John S. Shartton, commission at scout camp Mohican, Blairstown this summer and that he hoped individual troops would strive for this quota. A concession in rates for the first two weeks of camping is made to members of a troop if 25 percent of the membership is represented in camp simultaneously. Another monetary concession is made for each boy if the scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster or a committee member accompanies the troop.

Good Preparation

Stress has been laid in the camp announcement bulletin this year on the qualifications gained in camp training which apply directly to preparedness for military life. Statements have been issued by the chiefs of our armed forces and by men now active in all branches of service giving recognition to the invaluable aid of scouting when men are called upon to train for war. It has been noted that many of the most competent American heroes of the present war were boy scouts in their youth.

Camp Mohican's program this year has as its slogan, "Toughen up; buckle down, carry on to victory." In addition to the healthful relaxation and fun some of special features will include long distance swims, real training on commando tactics, physical fitness tests, a specialized advancement program, three day mountain trips for experienced scouts and an opportunity, if the scout desires it, to serve his country by working on neighboring vegetable and dairy farms.

The scouting assets most favorably noted by men in military life today, the ability to swim well and far and the knack of protecting oneself under difficult camping conditions, will be carefully fostered at Camp Mohican.

Appoint Evacuation Heads

Dr. Morris Rochlin of 171 Cedar Hill avenue has been appointed by Smith as Evacuation officer and chief of Emergency Welfare under the Defense council, in accordance with a request by the State Director Dreyfuss that every municipality provide a man for such an office. Dr. Rochlin's duties will encompass those set forth under the Evacuation plan and he will work with Arthur Clark, secretary of the council and Harry Sullivan, co-ordinator. Plans for evacuation will be worked out soon in conjunction with other civilian defense groups.

The Red Cross has also appointed a new member of its executive board, to serve as chairman of the disaster preparedness committee. He is Harold Pumyea of 9 Forest street, and was named by Thomas Aiken, chairman of the executive board of the local chapter.

"SPANGLES" NEW RINGLING CIRCUS COMING SOON

Return To Gardens Heralded By "Continental" Type Of Show

Madison Square Garden will have a Ringling Brothers Circus for the summer after all. "Spangles", America's first Continental Circus, will be introduced to New York at each season on Wednesday night, June 16th.

When the 37 day stay of Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Circus ended in New York a few weeks ago, more than 70,000 persons had been turned away, unable to purchase tickets, and some $37,685.00 in mail orders had to be returned as the Big Show headed for its Boston engagement. All existing records had been shattered by the box-office and the final Garden performance was completely sold out.

There was much talk about the Big Show returning for a repeat engagement... but owing to arrangements made with the Office Of Defense Transportation and the carefully planned route for the 1943 season, this show headed for its Boston engagement. Yet New Yorkers had clearly demonstrated by their increasing demand for tickets that the Ringling management had just the right brand of entertainment.

The Ringlings had long wanted to introduce a continental circus to this country. There are millions of foreign born Americans, who, as boys and girls in the country of their birth had looked forward each year to the coming of the continental circus, just as the American boys and girls had learned to anticipate eagerly the American circus, made famous by the Ringling Brothers.

Then, too, it was to be expected that these same American boys and girls would find something of interest in something new. And so the Ringlings and the Madison Square Garden management decided upon "Spangles".

Continental circuses, unlike the American brand of thrill entertainment in many ways, usually have titles and so "Spangles", so long synonymous with the circus, was selected.

"Spangles" is announced as "Dazzlingly Different" and will surely find favor with those circus fans who have preferred a more intimate view of the proceedings than massed activity in three rings.

Girl Scouts Present Programs For Council Members & Mothers

Girl Scout Troop No. 2 held a mother-daughter supper at the Recreation House last Thursday evening. A program for the mothers including recitations and songs was presented by the scouts. Mrs. Elmer Hyde, girl scout commissioner, and Mrs. May T. Holden, director, addressed the gathering. Mrs. Frank Chambers a member of the Camp Committee spoke on camping plans for the summer. Mrs. Bennett, scout leader and Mrs. Robert Sutherland, assistant scout leader, also spoke.

Troop 13 under the leadership of Mrs. Arlie Price, spent the holiday weekend at the cabin in South Mountain Reservation. Troop 8 held a "skating supper" on Friday evening under the direction of Mrs. Vivian Card. All the guests carried box suppers and skated to Nutley, leaving in the park there. The clothing class will postpone its fashion show and parade since the leading lady of the show has measles. Troops 8 and 11 will have their double party this week as scheduled. Their leaders, Mrs. C. L. Cox of troop 8 and Mrs. Irma Synder of troop 11 have announced that all other plans will be the same. Members of the Girl Scout council have been invited to attend this party.

The senior Girl Scouts of Troop 19 honored their leader, Miss Edna Baun by presenting her with a corsage of red roses at the closing party given by the troop in honor of Miss Baun's fifteen years of service. The senior troop welcomed seven new members at the party from the Intermediate troop 9 of which Miss Baun is captain. The girls included, Dorothy Yasinchak, Ruth Curtin, Marjory Kelsey, Grace Smith, Lilian Tobia, Muriel Algen, and Betty Lewis. These girls have reached the age of fifteen and are now full fledged scouts.

Election of officers for troop 19 showed Irma Iannelli, and Marion Caskey as patrol leaders, Dorothy Yasinchak, and Grace Smith, corporals; Lilian Tobia, secretary; and Betty Lou Turner, treasurer.

Intermediate troop 9 will hold their closing party on June 15. The seven girls who were received in the senior troop will have charge of the intermediate group party. Troop 9 will also go on a hike to South Mountain Reservation on June 12.

DIM-OUT RULES FOR SUMMER

Open Windows, Doors and Porch Lights Sanctioned When Bulbs Are Shaded

The residents of New Jersey will be able to keep cool in their homes this summer and still comply with the Army's dim-out regulations. They will be permitted to have windows and doors open and the lights on in the rooms and porches if they will follow a few simple rules, Leonard Dreyfuss, State Civilian Defense Director, said yesterday.

Following a number of conferences with officials of the Second Service Command at Governor's Island, Dreyfuss and members of the State Technical Advisory Committee have received approval of recommendations to be followed by storekeepers and householders permitting them to have ventilation and not violate dim-out regulations.

Under the rules now in effect window shades must be drawn all the way down to the sill when lights are on. This posed a problem in the summer when it was necessary to have windows open for ventilation. In a technical advisory sent to Local Defense Councils in the dim-out area, Dreyfuss made it clear that along the Atlantic Coast lights are directly visible from the sea, no change in the present rules are permitted and lights visible seaward must be blacked out or put out as directed in Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum's proclamation.

According to the new interpretation of the rules effective June 1 windows and doors may be kept open during the summer months if the following conditions are met:

1. Windows may be open from the bottom provided window shades or blinds are pulled down to cover the closed part of the window.

2. The source of light must not be visible from outside the windows and doors—the source of light being the actual electric bulbs or fluorescent tubes or glass globes which enclose same.

3. Portable lamps, such as bridge, table lamps, etc., must be moved to a point in the room where they cannot be seen from outside, otherwise they must be shielded so that the source of light will not be visible outdoors. Fixtures, such as wall brackets, ceiling lights or chandeliers must be shielded toward the outside by a lightproof material—in other words no light source must be seen from outside.

4. Porch lights will be permitted provided the source of light is not visible outside the porch. Portable lamps on porches must be shielded toward the outside with some lightproof material or shade that shields the electric bulb or tube. Fixtures on walls or ceilings must also be shielded by lightproof material toward the outside.

Store Rules Remain

The interpretation for stores drafted by Dreyfuss and the Technical Committee and approved by the Army provides that: Stores already know what to do to comply with window and door regulations. These rules still prevail. Stores, however, may leave their doors open during the summer, provided the shield the source of light on that side which faces toward the door or open window and provided that the existing rules controlling the amount of light are observed.

This rule must be strictly observed since there are many stores with concentrations of light that create sky glow when doors are left open and thus violate the regulations. "Storekeepers should realize," Dreyfuss said, "that there is no desire to blackout business places, but the Army's dim-out rules must be observed and they must shield the source of light if windows and doors are left open."

"We have purposely avoided a lot of technical language in covering this subject. What is needed in addition to these specific instructions is the use of common sense. The purpose of the dim-out is to prevent sky glow so that enemy ships and enemy pilots do not have a beacon in the sky to guide them."

"If each householder and storekeeper will use plain horse-sense the Army's directive can be carried out with a minimum of hardship for any person and with no necessity for technical discussions. Don't wait for your Air Raid Warden to tell you—do it yourself."

"Counter Attack" Next Feature In Mosque Play Series

"Counterattack," the Russian war play which is timely, purposeful and so much in tune with the actual events of the day, will be presented by Bobette and Russell Mack at the Mosque theatre, Newark, for a week's run beginning Tuesday, June 8. Matinees will be given Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

Morris Carnovsky, who played every kind of part from Shakespeare to the famous Greek land-lord in the marathon comedy, "My Sister Eileen," has the leading role of a Red Army corporal which he created on Broadway. Other featured players are Camille Staneska, Martin Wolfson and Sam Vanamaker, the latter two in their original characterizations. Others from the Broadway company are James Russo, Frank Overton, Bert Freed, Orin Jennings and Richard Basehart.

The play was written by two Russian writers, Ilya Vershinin and Mikhail Ruderman, and adapted for the American stage by Janet and Philip Stevenson. This Russian-American collaboration resulted in a recent engagement of three months on Broadway.

John P. Dailey, secretary of the North Belleville Building and Loan association will be a discussion leader at the annual meeting of the New Jersey Savings and Loan League to be held at the Pennsylvania Hotel today, tomorrow and Saturday.

Post War housing projects as they concern Savings and Loan associations will be one of the main topics under discussion. A report from the committee on revision and modernization of the statutes will be read at the meeting and delegates from all over the state will be called to act upon it.

A large optical company has turned over to the government its speedy machine method of grinding precision lenses. The machines eliminate the previous slow grinding of lenses by hand.

YOUR VICTORY GARDEN

Insects and Their Control

By Dr. Charles H. Connors, N. J. College of Agriculture

It pays to know something about the history and habits of insects if you want the kind of Victory Garden you hope for. With such knowledge you are intelligently prepared to strike when they are most vulnerable, because to control insects we must attack them at the weakest point in their life history.

The life history of insects falls into two general types. One is incomplete metamorphosis, in which the insect which hatches from the egg is like, or very similar to, the adult. An example is the grasshopper, the only difference between the nymph and the adult being size and absence of wings. The aphid or plant louse is another example, although the aphid may also give birth to young alive by a process known as budding, so that if one aphid is present today, there may be 20, 30 or 40 tomorrow.

The type known as complete metamorphosis may be represented by the cabbage worm. From the egg hatches a caterpillar, a totally different looking individual from the adult. This larva, or caterpillar, feeds awhile, then surrounds itself with a case called a chrysalis and then emerges as a butterfly. This type of metamorphosis is common to all moths and butterflies, many of which do not feed at all except perhaps to take in moisture. The mission in life of these adults is to lay eggs to produce more larvae which eat. Most of the hard-shelled beetles undergo complete metamorphosis, and sometimes, as in the Mexican bean beetle and the Japanese beetle, both the larva and the adult feed.

Insects fall into three classes according to their method of feeding and control measures are based very largely upon this fact. First there are those insects which bite off, chew and swallow a portion of plant tissue. They chew by a sideways motion of the jaws instead of the up and down motion humans use. Their presence is known when holes are seen in the leaves. To control these insects apply a spray or dust of some material that will poison them, as lead arsenate or calcium arsenate, and for some, rotenone, pyrethrum or derris, which are poisonous in the stomachs of some insects.

Aphis and leaf hoppers. The second class consists of the sucking insects. These, by means of lancet drills (like a mosquito), pierce the upper layer of a leaf, thrust in a tube and suck out the plant juice. The aphis, leaf hoppers and plant bugs are examples. No amount of stomach poison applied to the surface of the leaf will injure these insects, and application of the correct poison, called a contact insecticide, must be made WHEN the insect is present. An insect breathes through holes in the sides of its body. Nicotine sulphate, pyrethrum, derris or rotenone applied to the insects in such a way as to cover them, will enter the spiracles or breathing pores, and so be carried into the "blood," which fills the whole body cavity. The poisonous material first paralyzes, then kills the insects.

The third feeding type is represented by the thrips and spider mites. The mouth parts of these insects are very small. First they chafe off the upper layer of plant tissue. Sometimes they swallow this and certain of them may be killed by stomach poisons. They really get their food by sucking it from the exposed, ruptured plant cells. With these insects, a contact insecticide is usually more effective.

Insecticides are applied either in the form of a dust (dry) or in solution or suspension as a spray. The dry dust may be applied at any time of the day, and will usually be more effective in the small garden than a liquid spray. The liquid application or spray is most effective when it is broken up into a mist, and the small hand sprayers generally do not have enough pressure to do this. For effective control, the plant parts affected must be covered, and in the case of the sucking insects, the poison will be toxic only if the insects are coated.

Control of insects should start at their first appearance. The proper sort of poison must be selected, and it must be applied to the part of the plant where the insect is feeding.

HOW TO OBTAIN RATION BOOK 3

OPA Gives All The Answers Asks That Forms Be Mailed Promptly

The Newark OPA District Office today issued a series of questions and answers to guide the public when filling out application cards for War Ration Book Three.

In using the questions and answers, rationing officials stressed the importance of applicants mailing in the completed application cards immediately.

William H. McKenna, Chief Rationing Officer said: "Do not wait until June 1 to mail in your application card. To assure prompt distribution of Ration Book Three to every man, woman and child in New Jersey, we must have in our hands by May 28 or 29 at least a half million of the completed application forms."

Q. Will the mailman deliver an application card for every member of the family? A. No. He will deliver one card to a family. The family can apply as a unit on one application card, the head of the family listing the names of all members of the family eligible for a ration book.

Q. Who is eligible for a War Ration Book Three? A. Every man, woman, and child, except members of the Armed Forces (Army, Marines, Navy, Coast Guard, Women's Auxiliaries) and persons in institutions of involuntary confinement.

Q. Is a member of the armed forces who does not eat at an organized mess entitled to apply for Ration Book Three? A. No. Special provision for such persons will be announced later.

Mail promptly

Q. When should the application card be mailed to the OPA? A. Immediately. In New Jersey the OPA is prepared to begin mailing the ration books by June 2. Consequently it is important that completed application cards be mailed quickly.

Q. How should the application cards be addressed when they are mailed? A. It is not necessary for the applicant to address the card; it is already addressed. Simply fill in the required information, put a stamp on the card (2 cents in Newark, 3 cents elsewhere) and drop it into a mail box.

Q. Must the entire card be returned, or is there some part that is retained by the applicant? A. The applicant detaches the narrow identification stub at the top of the card and keeps it. He mails the rest flat, without folding.

Q. I didn't get an application card from the mailman. How can I get one? A. If you do not receive one by June 7, go to your local post office for one.

Q. I have been boarding with the same family for years; must I fill out a separate application, or can I be included in the family application? A. You must fill out a separate application card.

Q. I am a boarding house keeper, and I now have the War Ration Books One and Two of my boarders. Should I apply for the new ration book for my boarders? A. No. Each individual boarder must apply for his own ration book.

Q. When can I start using War Ration Book Three? A. This book will be used to replace War Ration Books One and Two. The government will announce when you may begin using ration book three.

Pupils Of Margaret Akers In Piano Recital

The annual June recital of the students of Margaret A. Akers will take place at the studio, 441 Washington avenue tomorrow morning. All the students taking part will play piano solos. There will also be groups of two selections and piano and solo duets. Alice Green, local soprano, will be the guest artist, and be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Akers. William Akers, who has just arrived home from Oberlin college, Ohio, where he is music major, will also take part in the program.

Hear More About It

have been able to unearth few concrete facts concerning the newly-formed Belleville Foundation, probably because its members wish to have well-established plans before revealing them to the public.

However, we understand from bits of gossip gleaned here and there, that the foundation goal is to mold a better town along definitely defined lines—in preparation for the home-coming of all the men and women who are now serving their country. This is certainly a laudable effort which will undoubtedly have wholehearted support from the plans are finally revealed.

Although it would be interesting to know the full program, even in the formative stage, two indications of the Foundation's plans have already appeared. One is the publication, "Belleville Today," which is being compiled by volunteers and distributed not only to service men and women but to the people as well.

The other indication of the Foundation's activities is the concert which is planned for presentation on June 13 and which will be composed entirely of local artists who are volunteering their services. It is understood that this is a fund-raising venture for better recreational facilities for Belleville children—a crying need that has long been apparent. Aside from that, it is the first time within our memory that a like undertaking by solely local people has been proposed.

The community effort which will be a part of this concert is the kind of thing we would like to see more of, in Belleville. It should give those participating a pride in accomplishment and should be a revelation to the audience of the potentialities for a more aggressive community spirit and interest in town accomplishments.

If this is the kind of thing for which the Belleville Foundation stands, we are heartily in accord with its plans. However, we, speaking for the public, would like to hear more about the rest of the program. Since it is for the good of the community, Bellevillites would, we are sure, appreciate being "in" on the plans, instead of receiving them ready made, like a doctor's prescription.

The Memorial Parade

Fashions change in Memorial Day parades—they reflect in barometrical fashion, the country's internal status and its standing in world affairs.

The peace-time years during the last decade, like those sandwiched between the country's periodic wars, saw smaller parades with less public demonstration. Not because the country was unaware of the sacrifice, already made, but because war and all its implications is something that we as a people always optimistically hope can't happen here, again.

Our second Memorial Day parade since our entrance into World War II, held last Monday, saw the swing of the pendulum back to acute public awareness of its meaning. Young veterans from new battlefronts in the South Pacific, the Dark Continent and other points around the world, appeared with the still-young survivors of the now historic battles of the Marne and St. Michele.

Augmented now with the backbone of the home front supporters of those inactive service, we can look to still larger participation in the years ahead, as the honor rolls increase and the accumulation of gold stars grows. The accompanying grimness that makes these patriotic and colorful tributes necessary will be wiped we all hope, and vainly, this time from the earth.

Unionizing The Red Cross

A New York newspaper recently brought to light a very startling presumption — that the ambitious Mr. Segal of the communistic C.I.O. Social Service Employees union to design to unionize paid Red Cross workers—under the guise of patriotism.

"You plus Red Cross plus the union equal Victory," he says. No qualms has he, in spending time and a half or double out of his own pocket for these people who are organized to cope with catastrophes and natural disasters. Working side by side with volunteers during nights and days in a flood-ravaged valley, they should receive extra compensation, he infers. It doesn't matter where the money comes from, or for what purposes it was earmarked—as long as the union gets its split in dues and homage from its members.

Of all the organizations in the country, this non-profit institution which has 3,000,000 volunteer workers to its 12,000 paid employees is the most startling choice for unionization especially with left-wing leanings. Organized wholly on humanitarian principles, it is unlikely that many of its workers will be coaxed into joining under the transparent and extraordinary excuse of patriotism.

Fortunately the majority associated with the Red Cross feel with their national chairman, Norman Davis, that "The duties peculiar to the Red Cross must be discharged faithfully, without regard for set rules relating to hours, wages and working conditions."

Twenty-six year old Harry Fredericks Jr., a coxswain in the Navy's armed guard service, became the town's first service fatality of World War II. His parents were notified of his death by the Navy Department.

Boy Scout troop 333 led 19 other troops to win in a first aid demonstration. No other Belleville troop entered the demonstration which was open to all Robert Treat council troops.

Members of the police reserve corps were to receive uniforms although the names of the donors were not revealed. The Reserves wanted uniforms, since surrounding communities had them and it would make their duties easier while they were patrolling in Nutley, Verona and Montclair.

Belleville won praise from the Vulcan Detinning corporation of Seewaren for the excellent way in which they had prepared the first batch of tin cans to be collected in the town.

Miss Arlene Roloss Cadiz, daughter of Mrs. C. Cadiz of Cortland street and Raymond P. Weyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Weyer were married in Elkton, Md.

The death of Volmer C. Hanson, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Volmer C. Hanson, as a result of an auto accident, was so upsetting to the Music study clubs which had planned a program in which he was to take part, that they postponed it for a week and attended his funeral instead.

Professor E. K. Smiley, assistant director of Admissions at Lehigh University was to make the main address at the High school graduation at Clearman Field.

David E. Lamb, supervisor of Terry Field, announced that plans had been made for the final meet and block dance to be held July 9 at the field. The age limit for the field meet was set at 20.

The condition of Dr. D'Angelo who had been in an auto accident and was presently in St. Barnabas' hospital was reported improved. D'Angelo had received a possible skull fracture and head injuries in the accident.

Three Belleville girls received diplomas from the New Jersey College for Women. They were Miss Evelyn Hollberg of 141 Floyd street, Miss Felicita Jannarone of 225 Passaic avenue and Miss Freda Yudin of 114 Washington avenue.

Funeral services were held at her parent's home for three year old Barbara Reynolds of 17 Belleville avenue who died of a fractured skull in Mountsinai hospital after she was struck by an auto while playing at Belleville avenue and Wallace street.

The Garden department of the woman's club was to hold a Rose exhibit at the clubhouse comprised of four classes; three roses in any container, arrangement of Rambler or climbing roses in any container, artistic arrangement of any garden flowers in any container, and roses arranged in a transparent container. Awards were to be given by popular vote.

Among the Lesson-Sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth."
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite Mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the highest ideas are the sons and daughters of God."

THE UNITED STATES SECRET SERVICE

cautions you to

Millions of Government checks are being sent by the Army and Navy to dependents of soldiers and sailors. The Government also sends Social Security and other checks to more millions. When any of these checks are stolen, the people entitled to them may go without food, or fuel, or may suffer other hardships. The U. S. Secret Service wants your help in fighting the check thief and forger. Here's how you can lend a hand:

IF YOU ARE ASKED TO CASH A GOVERNMENT CHECK

1. INSIST that a person presenting a Government check properly identify himself as the person entitled to that check.

2. BEFORE accepting the check ask yourself this question: IF THIS CHECK IS RETURNED BECAUSE OF A FORGED ENDORSEMENT, CAN I LOCATE THE FORGER AND RECOVER MY LOSS?

3. INSIST that all checks be endorsed in your presence. If a check is already endorsed, ask that it be endorsed again, then compare the writing.

4. REQUIRE all checks to be initialed by the employees who pay out money for them, or who approve such payment.

IF YOU RECEIVE CHECKS FROM THE GOVERNMENT

1. BE SURE some member of the family is at home when checks are due to be delivered.

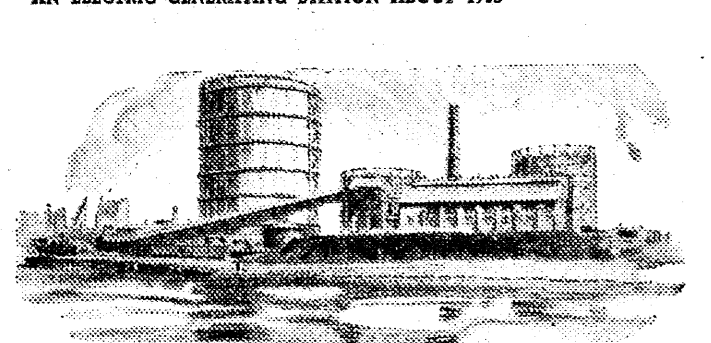

2. PRINT your name clearly on your mail box. EQUIP your mail box with a lock if you have not done so.

3. CASH your checks in the same place each month. This will make identification easier.

WE'RE 40 YEARS OLD THIS MONTH

When Public Service Corporation of New Jersey was organized and began business forty years ago (June 1, 1903) no person could have predicted that today the United States and most of the great countries of the world would be engaged in the bitterest war in history. Certainly no one of the Corporation's founders could possibly have foreseen such a world catastrophe.

But the little group of far-seeing business men who conceived the Public Service enterprise realized that this State of New Jersey would become a great industrial commonwealth and they knew also that, in order to progress, the State would need sound public utilities—such as could produce an unending amount of gas and electricity and adequate transportation facilities. These men further knew that the success of these utilities would be dependent upon the growth and prosperity of the State.

So, after forty years of expansion and conservative management, during which period millions of dollars of new capital have been invested in the business, Public Service operating utilities today are supplying electricity, gas and transportation not only to a vast residential and commercial area but to hundreds of thousands of workers in New Jersey's war production industries.

New Jersey, although comparatively small in area, today stands second among all the states in the value of its ship building and fifth in the value of its total war work, with contracts totalling $7,733,277,000 as of February 1943. The very life blood of these war industries is an ample supply of electric, gas, and transportation services to keep their wheels moving.

Why butter won't melt in Africa

EVERY HOUSEWIFE knows that you can't keep butter on a hot summer day without some sort of refrigeration. It melts . . . and it grows rancid.

But American soldiers, now fighting in North Africa, carry with them a non-melting butter, especially prepared for desert warfare. This butter will not melt, or grow rancid, until the temperature reaches 120 degrees Fahrenheit.

What's the secret of this new desert-type butter? Simply this . . . it is fortified with a fat which has a high melting point. The butter can be packed in a can, like beans or beef, and will keep indefinitely.

Why bother with butter?

You might think that soldiers engaged in desert warfare could get along without butter. They could! But why should they?

Unlike Europeans, most Americans are used to having something to spread on their bread. When they can't get butter, they use jam or marmalade. But this makes the men thirsty, and there you have another desert problem. For in North Africa, water is as scarce as butter, and often dangerous to drink.

So, thanks to Yankee ingenuity, our soldiers solve the whole problem by carrying along butter that will not melt . . . even in African deserts!

THE ABOVE STORY illustrates something that you already know . . . that American soldiers are the best-fed, the best-cared-for fighting men in the history of the world. That fact brings a glow of satisfaction to every American, for we all agree that the very best of everything is none too good for our boys!

But giving our boys the things they need costs a lot of money—which is why the Government asks us to buy more War Bonds.

And that's not so much to ask. Many of us are making more money than we have made for years. The things we'd like to buy with that money have either disappeared or are as "scarce as hen's teeth!" So, why not put that money into War Bonds at good interest—$4 for every $3 when the Bonds mature? Money to help pay for the war—keep prices down—provide peacetime jobs and peacetime goods and a generally decent world for all of us when the war is won.

Chances are, you're already in the Payroll Savings Plan—buying War Bonds—doing your bit. But don't stop there. Raise your sights! Do your best!

How millions of Americans have done their bit—and how they can do better:

Of the 34 million Americans on plant payrolls, nearly 30 million of them have joined the Payroll Savings Plan. (If you aren't in yet—sign up tomorrow!)

Those Americans who have joined the Plan are investing, on the average, 10% of their earnings in War Bonds. (If you haven't reached 10% yet—keep trying!)

BUT . . .

America's income this year will be the highest in history: about 125 BILLION dollars! In spite of all taxes and price rises, the average worker will have more money than last year—more than ever before!

That is why Uncle Sam has a right to ask us, individually, to invest more money in War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. He asks us to invest not 10% or 15% or 20%, but all we can!
