BUILDERS EXPLAIN GARDEN TYPE APARTMENTS

Circulars Will Go To Greylock Residents Explaining Proposed 108 Family Project

In order to allay suspicions of neighboring residents who have been convinced that a garden type apartment in the Greylock section would be detrimental to their own property, Greylock gardens incorporated, has printed bulletins as large as a newspaper sheet for the dissenting residents in the Greylock section. These sheets contain a full description of the proposed apartments showing where the building would be located and what their construction would be.

Two Story Buildings

According to the description all would be two story brick dwellings, with slate roofs, white trim, and of a colonial type architecture. The proposed garden apartment would be composed of six buildings of two stories each, surrounded on all sides by garden courts. The buildings would house 108 families, 44 of the units being family units and having three bedrooms, and 63 of the units being three room units with two bedrooms.

The proposed apartments will be erected on a tract of land which runs from the end of Floyd, Beech, Bremond, and Linden avenues on the south side to Bell street and north to the high tension lines of the Public Service and then out to within a 100 feet of Washington avenue. This is the only piece of land, bounded by these lines, it is claimed with which Greylock Gardens Inc., is concerned. No other land, near any other dwellings will be utilized, they said. Adjacent to or close by this tract are a small number of home owners. Petitions against the proposed erection have been signed by many who live blocks away.

Park At One End

Greylock Gardens incorporation, specify that on the west end of this project, 125 feet of land in width will be needed for a park, to be used by those who live in the apartments or near them. Twenty-five feet is also being left free on the north.

Since Greylock Gardens Inc., will separate each building of the two family structures by a brick wall, running from top to bottom, (Continued on Page Six)

ABROMSON APPEALS IN HOLLWEG CASE

Says Wants Reversal On Dismissal By Compensation Deputy Wegner

Edward J. Abromson, attorney for Charles Hollweg whose $3,000 claim for compensation against Joseph Reilly of Nutley was dismissed last Thursday by Deputy Commissioner John Wegner, has announced that he will appeal the case to the Common Pleas court of Essex County and may even carry the case to the supreme court if the decision is not reversed.

The suit has been brought by Hollweg for injuries sustained in a football game held at the Belleville Municipal Stadium on September 28, 1941. Hollweg alleged in his suit that Reilly was the owner of the Nutley Iron Dukes, the team for which he played at the time of his injuries.

In dismissing the case, Wegner ruled that the team was a cooperative venture and was run "for the mutual benefit and advantage of all its members. Reilly's interest in the team, according to the ruling, was "purely animated by his interest in sports and by his desire to promote athletic activities." Business arrangements for the team were made on behalf of the organization and not promoted by any personal interest on the part of Reilly, the ruling continued.

The most significant fact bearing on team ownership, according to the ruling, was that attendance at practice and games was purely optional for the individual players and Reilly had no power to enforce or compel attendance. Since such a state constituted a lack of a basic employer-employee relationship, the case against Reilly was dismissed, the ruling stated.

During the last hearing of the case, Mayor Williams took the stand to testify that negotiations for the stadium's rental had been accomplished with Reilly who had also, according to Mayor Williams' statement, made payments for the area's use. Reilly admitted on the stand that funds collected at the games by the team were deposited in a Belleville bank under his name. During the trial, Reilly was represented by William Davenport.

Walter Kidde Employees Assn. Sends Cigarettes To 1000 Men

At the last monthly meeting of the Walter Kidde Employees association, of which there are 1,800 members, a suggestion was made that those in the association send cigarettes to the former employees who are now in the armed forces. By the first of June, a cigarette drive had been started and each member of the association brought 15 cents a week for the cigarette fund.

By this week the association had sent out 1,000 cartons of cigarettes to men in service all over the world. There are a total of 1,100 employees of Walter Kidde in service. The Liggett and Meyers Tobacco corporation, sent out the cartons of cigarettes which had been purchased by the Walter Kidde Employees association. The entire list of men in service from Walter Kidde and Co., has been marked for mailing of a carton of cigarettes, and the association is now beginning all over again and will send a second carton to men on the list as funds are available.

WAR WORKERS ARE STILL NEEDED

Employment Office Warns Quota Is Short Of Goal For Local Industries

In an appeal for additional support of the Belleville drive to recruit essential war workers for war plants in Belleville, an official of the Office of War Information said last week, "There is a grave danger of the Newark Industrial Area, of which Belleville is a part, and including Essex, Union and Hudson counties, being declared critical. Should this come," he said, "it will mean no new war contracts can be given to industries in this area if facilities can be found elsewhere. Furthermore," he said, "it will mean a mandatory 48 hour week for practically every industry in the area."

Major Howard J. Lepper, Area Director, War Manpower Commission, said yesterday, "Everything is being done by the staff of the WMC in this area to prevent it becoming critical," and called upon all that can take a war job, thus doing a service both for the community and the country.

The response to this "Get an Essential Job" drive has been gratifying but the quota for Belleville has not been reached. To fill this quota it will be necessary for every man and woman in non-essential work or in the home to contribute their services to this worthwhile effort.

Mayor Williams has called upon his community to give this important drive all out support. He has said that the success of the campaign is vital to victory. "Our community must do its share and our citizens cannot let our war plants down."

Herbert A. Bergen, Manager of the Newark Office of the United States Employment Service has an experienced interviewer on duty 9 a.m. to 5:45 p.m.; Monday and Friday until 8 p.m.; and Saturday until 1 p.m.

"Belleville Today" Recalls Town of 40 Years Ago

Woman Who Lived Here Then Reviews Changes Through Reading Publication

"Belleville Today," which was designed mainly for service men, has made a dent in many civilian lives also. Mrs. Walter Dunn of Union avenue sent a copy of the publication to her son, Arthur, who is somewhere in the Navy, and while he had it, a friend, George Ross saw it and begged to have the copy to send to his mother who had formerly lived in Belleville.

His mother who resides in Owls Head, Me., then wrote Mrs. Dunn a series of letters explaining the changes she remembered from the Belleville of 40 years ago, when she lived here, to the present day town as pictured in "Belleville Today."

The first and current issue of "Belleville Today" pictured new buildings in the town and changes which had been made in different places since the start of the war. Mrs. Ross who wrote the letters to Mrs. Dunn recalled many things in the old Belleville of yesterday. In her first letter she said, "I read every word in the Bulletin, and I remember the streets and the avenues," but she queried "isn't there an Avondale anymore?" "Avondale" and Mrs. Ross, "was next to the Town of Belleville, and when I lived there, the train used to stop at Belleville, Essex, Avondale and then Nutley."

Decorated

Sgt. George Prezioso

Missing?

Sgt. Michael G. Froelich

Three Army Men Are Highlighted This Week

Service men are making the headlines again this week. From the four major events in a soldier's life, being lost, wounded, dead or decorated, we have found three who represent some of those events. Sgt. Prezioso is the first man, who represents a decoration, followed by Sgt. Michael Froelich who this week was reported missing, and tagged by Pvt. Edwin Manning who was yesterday reported seriously wounded.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Prezioso of 50 Naples avenue, that their son, Sgt. George Prezioso had been decorated with the Air Medal by Lt. Gen. Kenney, commanding officer of the Fifth Air Force and chief of the Allied Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific. The award was made in recognition of courageous service to Prezioso's organization, his fellow airmen and his country.

The letter which Prezioso's family received from the lieutenant general, stated that "Sgt. Prezioso was a gunner on a B-17 aircraft on a mission to attack enemy shipping. During the mission the letter said, 'an 8,000 ton enemy tanker was sighted and bombing runs were made from an extremely low altitude resulting in direct hits, which caused the tanker to burst into flames.' The letter then stated that the plane then went on to 'make a bombing attack on air dromes and installations on Wewak, New Guinea, despite intense anti-aircraft fire.'

The commanding officer also stated in the letter to Mrs. Prezioso that "I would like to tell you how genuinely proud I am to have men such as your son in my command, and how gratified I am to know that young Americans with such courage and resourcefulness are fighting our country's battle against aggressor nations."

Sgt. Prezioso was graduated from Belleville High school and enlisted in the Air Force three years ago. He was stationed at Mitchell Field, before going into the Pacific war area.

Union Club, Hoboken, in honor of his appointment in March as divisional chief of the Jersey City and Hoboken offices of the Internal Revenue department. Neary was appointed by John E. Manning, state collector of Internal Revenue.

Among the 75 persons who attended the dinner were Revenue Collector Manning, Chief Field Deputy Robert D. Smith of Jersey City, Edmund Massa of West New York, and Benjamin F. JEWELRY ROLLS IN, FOR BARTER WITH NATIVES

Baubles For Bartering Buddies Culminates In 10 Pound Heap; Still Need More

Most of us are familiar with pictures of the natives of tropical regions festooned with necklaces, elbow deep in bracelets and riddled with ornaments in their noses, ears and elaborate hair-dos. Now we have an opportunity to exchange some of the items, which are so dear to them, for the patient, skilled services they can perform for our troops in jungle combat areas.

Ten pounds of gleaming, highly colored bangles have been turned in so far to Mrs. Alva Buckley of Tiona avenue and to The Times offices since the publication last week of an article soliciting "Baubles For Buddies To Barter." Cooperating locally with the drive, which has its New York headquarters in Bloomingdale's department store, the Tiona avenue woman has contacted friends and neighbors. Since publication of the information, she has found some of them ready with boxes of bracelets, pins, clips earrings and necklaces of every description. Even several rings have been turned in. It is urgent that the collection be swelled as much as possible and that it be done quickly since these articles must be transported to the South Pacific where the services of

Here is a chance for all victory gardeners to prove for once and all how well their produce stacks up against that of competitors.

Mertz Announces His Candidacy As Fifth Man In Fall Election

Raymond E. Mertz

Citizens Committee Invites Public To Hearing

The Citizens committee organized to fill the fifth place on the board of commissioners which has been vacant for the past ten months because of a deadlock on the board, has written an open letter to the Town of Belleville. Submitted by Harry F. Brumbari, chairman it follows:

To the Editor of The Times: There has recently been organized in the Town of Belleville a Committee of Citizens whose desire it is to fill the vacancy presently existing on the Board of Commissioners. Inasmuch as the present Board has been unable to fill this vacancy in the past ten months, this committee feels that appropriate action should be taken to correct this condition.

To accomplish this purpose, and pursuant to competent legal advice, petitions will be presented at the board of commissioners next Town meeting on Tuesday evening. These provide that an election be held at the next general election in November. In order to comply with legal requirements the name of a particular candidate appears upon these petitions. However, the Citizens Committee wishes to make it emphatically clear that any qualified citizen of Belleville may present similar petitions on their own behalf.

We invite all citizens of Belleville to be present when these petitions are presented next Tuesday evening.

"A" CARDS GOOD FOR PLEASURE TRIP
Congressman Hartley, Chairman Of Eastern Bloc, Gets OPA Concession

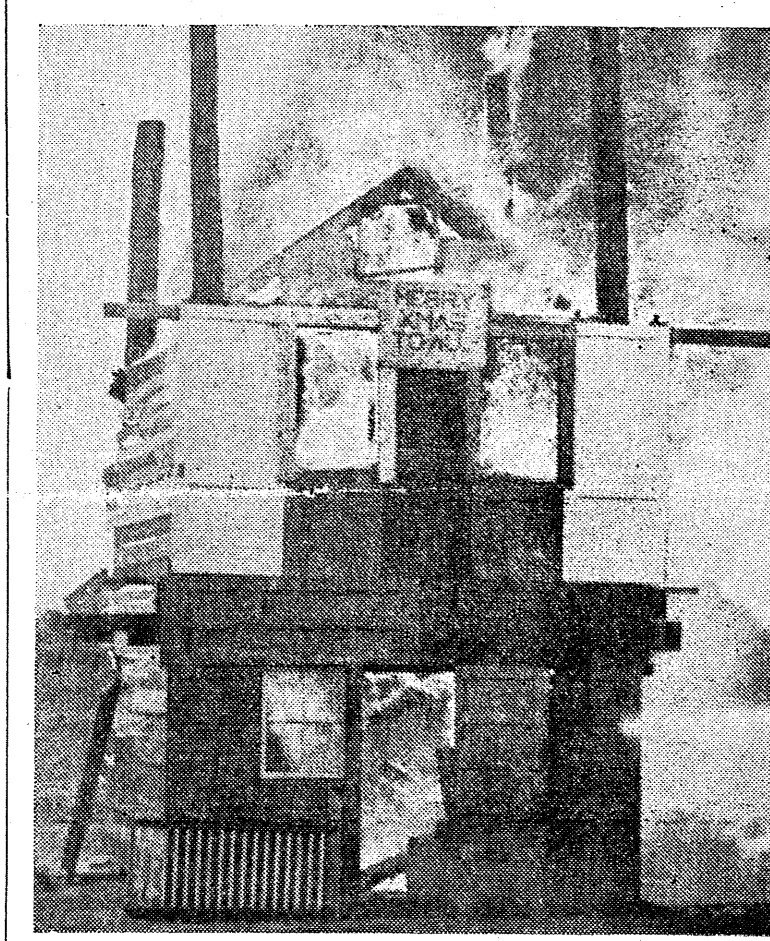

Congressman Fred A. Hartley, Republican representative from the 10th Congressional district of which Belleville is a part, announced on Tuesday as chairman of the Eastern bloc of 135 Congressmen and 24 Senators that this committee has won a concession on pleasure driving from the Office Administration.

Effective along the Eastern Seaboard, the concession allows holders of a gasoline ration card one round trip to a vacation spot. "This will apply," the Congressman stated in a release to this office, this week, "not only to a summer home owner but will also include those who rent summer homes or who will spend their vacations at a hotel, camp, rooming house, etc."

Hartley emphasized however, that this concession does not take effect until next Thursday, July 15. On or after that date, a card holder who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity may apply at the Belleville war price and ration board located at 444 Washington avenue, Belleville, for a permit. This will involve filling out a form in which the date of departure and return are stated.

The OPA concession will enable thousands who could not otherwise do so, to use their summer homes since it does not specify when the return trip must be made. "The trip may be for a weekend, a week or a month," Hartley stated.

FIRE GAZERS

CLOSE TO four thousand persons watched this tottering edifice set afire at the Fourth celebration in the Stadium. The blaze gave defense personnel a chance to work out their usual procedures. Returned heroes spoke to the crowd and the Civil Air Patrol put on a demonstration along with a vaudeville show staged for the interested onlookers.

Four Thousand Watch Fourth Of July Program

Four thousand men, women and children, spent an enjoyable Fourth of July in the Municipal stadium, when the Belleville Defense Council staged what many Belleville Citizens claimed to be one of the finest demonstrations ever presented in the history of the town.

The huge audience heard Lt. Joseph F. Kennedy of the U. S. N. R. make a plea for production increase and absentee decrease. Asserting that the recent victories on the part of our allies and ourselves had resulted in a feeling of complacency which resulted in a drop in production, Lt. Kennedy pointed out that the war was not yet won, and that there was still a possibility of our losing the war, if we relaxed our vigilance too soon. "Increased activity on the home front, will do much to bring about an early conclusion of the war," said Kennedy, "cutting down the death toll and returning the boys to their homes much sooner."

But, the laxity, indifference, and complacency will prolong the struggle, increase the number of casualties, and keep the boys away much longer," he said.

Tell Experiences

Kennedy then presented Seamen Brooks and DeBaum who told of their experiences in the war. Brooks' ship was torpedoed in the Indian Ocean and he was trapped in the gun turret as the ship sunk and was drawn forty feet below the surface, when the boilers exploded and released him. He came to the surface and was picked up by a small boat and afterwards drifted for 28 days when the survivors in the boat subsided on sharks and turtles, which they hacked from the shell with a broken bottle. They drank turtle's blood since there was no water to be had. DeBaum who told of his experiences on three different ships which were torpedoed, said that he would report for duty the next day, and be on the sea again.

Major George A. Viehmann, wing commander of the New Jersey wing of the C. A. P., spoke of the job which the C. A. P. is doing today.

The Montclair and Paterson squadrons of the C. A. P. cadets along with the C. A. P. band presented a drill under Captain Frank Brick, head of the North Jersey Unit, Mayor Williams and Judge Everett B. Smith, also spoke at the ceremonies and greeted the audience.

A building, which looked as if it had had priority construction trouble, was set up inside the stadium grounds and as a group of wardens representing the various zones, patrolled in front of it, the air was rent by an explosion. A warden quickly detached himself and came to the public address system where the crowd heard him report the incident.

Firemen Rescue

Several rescues were made by the firemen, including jumps into the net and rescues by ladder. Meanwhile a spectacular blaze which was not visible to the crowd, raged within. The first aid teams worked over the victims and they were loaded on the stretchers and placed in the ambulance.

The first candidate to place his name before the public as a possible fifth commissioner is Raymond E. Mertz, real estate of Van Rye, place, who placed sixth in the commission election last year ago.

Mertz officially announced yesterday that he would place his name as a candidate in November general election. Mertz, who has had the backing of some town citizens since the death of Commissioner Clark last October, stated that "I have always had an opinion on the subject but since the citizens have showed that I want me, I am willing to place myself before the public as a candidate for the vacancy which now exists on the board."

At a meeting of the Belleville Citizens committee held in Recreation House Tuesday night, it was emphasized by the committee, which has been circulating petitions upon which Mertz's name appears that his name was used only in order to comply with the legal requirements, which state that a particular name must appear on the petitions. The Belleville Citizens committee was organized to fill the vacancy now existing on the board of commissioners and not particularly to endorse the name of one specific candidate. The committee made it clear that any other citizen of the town may present similar petitions on their own behalf to follow the same procedure having their names placed on ballot in November.

The Citizens committee has taken together in an effort to take appropriate action in electing a commissioner, since the board of commissioners themselves, have been unable to fill the vacancy for the past ten months owing to a deadlock which existed among them.

To Petition At Meeting
In order to get a fifth commissioner as soon as possible, the committee on legal advice counsel, Edward J. McGlynn found it was necessary to circulate a number of petitions and then have them presented at next town meeting. The number of petitions to be presented based on one half of one percent of voters in the last election which was 6,500 or 35 nominating petitions.

TWO LOCAL ROWERS IN PENN. REGATTA

Walker And Burnley Of Newark Boat Club Place Third In Own Events

The only two rowers from the Newark Boat Club to participate in the annual People's regatta on Schuylkill in Philadelphia, placed in the races they entered last week.

At Walker of Nereid finished third in the senior singles, and failed to show the form which he previously won him the New York title on Memorial day. Harold Egan, 33 year old star of the Newark boat club won the Pleistocene which was presented by the year old professional Fred Plante. The trophy was put in competition last year by the Schuylkill Navy. Finigan was ahead all way in the race followed by Jay Coughlin of the Fairmount Rowing Association.

Walker also competed in senior 145-pound singles and by three lengths over Bill May of the Penn. A.C.R.A. The second member of the Nereid Boat Club to place in an event was Burnley, who finished third in Junior singles, being outpaced by Bill Campbell of the Pennsylvania Barge who placed first and Terence Anderson of the Penn. A. R. C. who placed second.

Walker, who is now a senior in the U. S. Navy will also participate in the National Rowing Championship to be held on the same course on July 17 and 18. It is expected that Finigan will chalk up his second singles victory, may well win the national championship since the Pleistocene which he won was taken last year, the first time it was put to a vote. The trophy was later won the national title.

In the Regatta, Fairmount had four places, Penn. A. C. two, and the Pennsylvania Barge club one. Three special features of the regatta were a girls' race between four-oared crews of the Philadelphia Girls Rowing club, and mixed crew races between intercollegiate crews in fours and eights.

Members of the nominating committee, who have also prepared nominations for a board of directors, are Aitken, John Hewitt, Mrs. Harvey Thompson, Mrs. William H. Williams, Mrs. James L. Williams and Miss Vivian Kilpatrick. The board of directors, when established, will meet four times a year to approve the manner in which members of the local staff carry out the program assigned by national Red Cross headquarters.

The American Red Cross, last week, mailed the first copies of a new publication, "Prisoners of War Bulletin," to the next of kin of American military men, civilian internees and merchant seamen, reported officially as being prisoners of war.

Chairman Norman H. Davis of National Headquarters addressed the following to relatives of war prisoners: "Our purpose in issuing this bulletin is to give information, consistent with war conditions, about American prisoners of war and the methods for providing aid and comfort to them by the American Red Cross. We hope that anxious relatives of our men and women, held in prison or internment camps, may find in these pages the answers to many questions. It is important for them to have an understanding of international treaties governing treatment of prisoners of war.

"Limitations upon communications imposed by war, causing grief and anxiety, will be better understood after a perusal of these pages. We trust it will be possible to bring comfort to many through prisoners exchanging correspondence, thereby promoting wider knowledge of conditions in many prison camps.

A Primary Service

"One of the primary services of the international Red Cross is the protection of the lives and health of prisoners of war. The Red Cross will use every resource to deliver to American prisoners of war supplementary assistance such as food, clothing and comfort articles. Channels for relief of American prisoners of war in Europe are operating smoothly. The Red Cross and governmental agencies are continuing negotiations to operate relief channels to our prisoners in the Far East. The effort to reach every prisoner of ours will never be abandoned."

The bulletin will be issued periodically and mailed free, sharing with all concerned, the information gathered by the American Red Cross from many sources. The first issue carries articles on the "Rights of Prisoners of War," telling in simple terms the rights of prisoners under the Geneva Convention; Relief to Prisoners in the Far East; Food Packaging for Prisoners of War; Relief Supplies Shipped from the United States; Questions and Answers; Letters from Prisoners of War and Civilian Internees; Packages from Home, which describes how next of kin may send supplies and what types to send.

The bulletin contains shorter stories giving meaning of Geneva Convention of war camp names; descriptions of an enemy camp and regulations for mail. The bulletin's first mailing list is compiled from the names of next of kin in prisoners of war records of the Provost Marshal General.

Any information on Prisoners of War may be secured from the local Red Cross chapter at 258 Washington avenue.

New Child Is A Boy; Not A Girl, Says Streeter

Lt. William M. Streeter, naval aviator in the south Pacific area, has never seen the infant which was born to him and Mrs. Streeter six months ago, but he does know that the child is a boy, William Paul. Through a little error of the public relations department of the Marine Corps, of which Lt. Streeter is a member, the child was referred to as a girl. This information was published last week in this newspaper in an account of Streeter's recent promotion in rank and the commendation of his transport command for the remarkable work performed by them in maintaining the aerial flow of supplies to troops in the Pacific combat zone. Mrs. Streeter and her son live at 59 Parkside drive.

Mrs. Frank Witt of 118 Beech street was hostess last week to friends from Worcester, Mass., who stayed with her a week. The couple were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Bell.

LETTERS

LETTERS FOR AND AGAINST GARDEN APARTMENT

The proposed erection of a 108 family garden type apartment on Washington avenue near the roller rink by Greylack Gardens, Inc., a Hackensack concern, is developing controversy for and against this type of construction. Letters showing both sides and received by The Times this week, are below.

From John D. Price
272 Washington Avenue
To The Editor of The Times:

This open letter is addressed to the residents of Belleville, the local papers, and Mayor Williams who seems to be the leading exponent in the commission of "Garden Apartments for Belleville."

Conditions at this time do not warrant an apartment for the following specific reasons: Many local plants, Walter Kidde and Isolantite, to name two, have eliminated their third shifts. In addition, the government has halted the erection of new plants, so out-of-town workers must, of necessity, discontinue migrating to Belleville, thereby alleviating housing conditions.

The construction of the apartments would be inferior as quality cannot be obtained today. The apartment would be unfair competition to the owners of homes and apartments in Belleville after the war. There were always vacancies in the various apartments and homes in normal times and these would undoubtedly be seriously increased.

A majority of the local real estate brokers this week attended a meeting to discuss Robert C. Gruhin's letter in which he stated that Mayor Williams had assured the Board of Adjustment that the real estate brokers of the town were very much in favor of the development. The discussion disclosed that with one notable exception the brokers were decidedly against it. Apparently the Mayor had not even contacted them. Incidentally, the one broker favorably inclined was of the opinion that the Mayor had made this statement. The general opinion was that the town would receive for more revenue from private dwellings which unquestionably will be built after the war, and that the apartment would have the same detrimental effect on property values as the Carpenter Street apartment had.

In short, the only ones genuinely benefiting from the apartment would be the owners, and there is every reason to believe that their benefits would be temporary.

From Harvey B. Thompson
302 Washington Avenue
To The Editor of The Times:

As an interested property owner in the Greylack section of Belleville, I believe the proposed garden apartment on the property referred to as Hillside Park will be an improvement to the Greylack section. Builders have passed this acreage up repeatedly giving as their reasons the mechanical music from the roller skating hall, the unsightly appearance of electric towers and wires, and the heavy expense of grading.

Property values in the vicinity of the streets leading from Greylack Avenue into Hillside Park have been depreciated and it has been very difficult to obtain what I consider reasonable offers, due to the present conditions of land at the ends of Floyd, Beech, Bremond Streets and Linden Avenue, and objections to electric towers and roller skating rink.

Prospective home owners recognize that this large vacant tract, now in "B" zone, might be developed without any general plan and by several builders with different types of houses, thereby creating a property value hazard for property owners.

It is by belief that a substantial builder with experience in large high grade construction offers the people of Greylack the best opportunity for improvement of this idle land.

The project as proposed calls for a minimum of expense by the Town. Property values should be helped instead of being injured. Several property owners have expressed themselves to me as believing this project as one offering real improvement. In my opinion, the apparent advantages far outweigh any indefinite objections.

From Arthur E. Mayer,
President, Board of Realtors of Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley
and Belleville

To The Editor of The Times:

Permit me, as president of the Board of Realtors of Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Belleville and contrary to letters and newspaper articles to deny that any member of our board made a statement for, or against the proposed erection of a garden type apartment house in Belleville.

At a special meeting held on Tuesday, by the members of the Board, the proposed erection of a garden type apartment house in Riviera Park was thoroughly discussed. After this meeting the consensus of opinion by the members present were against the changing of the zoning to allow this type of apartment.

VIRGINIA RANTER,
Secretary.

They have taken into consideration the refusal of the zoning board to act. The revenue of $12,000 which they would receive is insufficient for the amount of land to be utilized. The granting of the building to the Town of three acres of land for play ground purposes would necessitate the expense by the Town for the upkeep of this play ground.

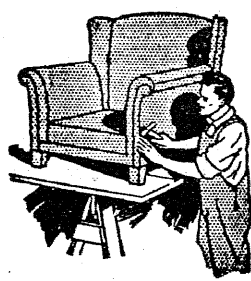

They further suggest that it would be far more beneficial to the tax payers of Belleville to wait until after the war to utilize this land for the erection of one family dwellings. The revenue received for homes of this character will be far greater than the amount received on the apartment house project.

From John Liddy
118 Beech street
To the Editor of The Times:

I would like to appreciate to the local police who were so helpful in caring for my daughter, Maureen Liddy, who fell last Thursday and hurt her knee. I was not able to reach any doctor and finally I called the police and they came in the police car and took her to Dr. Flynn and brought her back home again after she had been cared for. I want to thank them again for their promptness and care.

The Misses Blanche F. Mieski of Glass avenue and Helen Azierska of Washington avenue began a two week vacation Saturday.

MERTZ ANNOUNCES

(Continued from Page One) At the meeting Tuesday night the petitions circulated by the committee were brought forth duly notarized, and will be presented for reading at the town meeting next Tuesday evening in the Town Hall. These petitions will then be presented to Mrs. Florence May, town clerk, and if she accepts them, the name of Mertz as well as that of any other candidate will be written in on a referendum in the November general elections. Mrs. Mertz is given a few days to act on the petitions and if they are denied, the committee may go to court over the matter in an effort to obtain a writ of mandamus.

No Cost To Taxpayers

The committee makes it clear to all the taxpayers of the town that holding an election in November would cost them nothing since a general election for governor and various other offices is already scheduled for that time.

The board of commissioners have not been able to decide on a candidate themselves. Commissioners Noll and King have steadily proposed the name of Mertz as a possible fifth, but they were constantly opposed by Waters and Williams, who in March advocated the name of Michael J. Flynn, as the new commissioner. Noll and King opposed this nomination, and deadlocked the board.

The Belleville Citizens committee has announced that they will welcome anyone else who wishes to run for commissioner and are asking all citizens to be present at the next town meeting when the petition is read.

The Walsh act which provides for contingencies such as a vacancy on a board of commissioners states that if there is a vacancy on a board, another member should be elected within 30 days. But provisions as to what action should be taken if the vacancy is not filled within that time, have not yet been specified. The Citizens Committee, of which Harry Brumbach of 100 Little Street is chairman, is endeavoring to discover what the law provides in the act, in order to abide by the law.

JEWELRY ROLLS

Naturally, these people are intrigued with their appearance in the American finery and mirrors too are being sought for them. Those from discarded handbags or powder compacts are admirably suited to the purpose. Only one has been turned in so far.

Here is one thing you can put in the hands of our soldiers which will answer the same purpose as though you were providing them with money and food; for they must barter for the services of natives in some very urgent need. And yet nothing more is required than a search through your bureau drawers or costume jewelry boxes to discard those items which are no longer suited to your costumes. Do it today or over the weekend and turn them in Monday. Mrs. Buckley will make a trip to Bloomingdale, with them Tuesday.

Mrs. Buckley lives at 24 Tiona avenue and will welcome your contributions there; or they may be left at The Time office, 323 Washington Avenue. Due to transportation difficulties it is almost impossible to institute a collection service; but if you have a substantial collection and cannot get it to either address, telephone Be. 2-3200 and perhaps arrangements can be made to take it from you.

4000 WATCH

(Continued from Page One) trucks which served as ambulances. It was suddenly discovered that the house was owned by Adolph Schickelgruber, and the fire reserve threw another log on the fire, creating a real blaze which was promptly subdued. The fine showing of all the defense units represented, drew applause from the crowd.

Civil Air Patrol units were the guests at a luncheon prepared by the canteen group and served in Fewsmith church under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Vogel of Little Street.

Seven acts of Vaudeville closed the day and the audience revelled in the antics of comedy knockabouts, balancing and tumbling acts, and at the ponies, dogs, and bears which performed. The acts were presented by Howard Oliver

BUILDERS EXPLAIN

(Continued from Page One) they are still convinced as before in the two family class a permit not have to obtain a permit of the town council. The commission, as they would find it very considered four family or multiple dwellings.

Letters to The Editor regarding the proposed ordinance known as the Greylock Car apartments, appear on another page of this issue and give various opinions on the project, by those who live in the section and by those in the real estate business.

The ordinance changing the proposed site from a B to a C residence zone was passed at first reading by the board of Commissioners two weeks ago. This is the first and necessary step to be taken in the erection of such type apartments. The ordinance will come up for reading on a second hearing next Tuesday night in the town hall. All those in favor or opposed to the proposed commission are asked attend the meeting.

China Will Need More Aid During Seventh Year Of War

Yesterday, China observed her sixth anniversary of the invasion of Chinese soil by Japan, and began the burden of her seventh year of war. Many countries in the orbit of war have known destruction and death but in tribute to China, it must be remembered that although she has been fighting the longest she has also been suffering the longest.

The past year was the worst China had known in her long, almost single-handed fight against Japan. Blocked on the East and on the South, she had fewer weapons with which to fight an enemy stronger in resources than ever before.

China was able to conclude her sixth year with a military victory, achieved partly with American Air assistance. Without this help, China, already weakened, might have lost her vast food producing areas, and further disaster, unpleasant to contemplate, might have resulted.

China fights on, but her situation is still critical. These and many other facts as well known to the many who have worked over a period of time for China Relief. The Rev. Peter R. Deekenbach of Christ Episcopal church is local chairman for China Relief and through his efforts, China has received aid from many in the town who realize her situation. China Relief has been discussed at Ministerial Association meetings and this year in an effort to give China an infinitesimal amount of the aid she needs, the Belleville War Fund Inc., will solicit funds in her behalf along with funds for other such agencies.

China's seventh year of resistance will be a crucial one and she must be given more help than ever before. The way to help China and other allied Relief funds is to contribute to the Belleville War Fund when it makes its drive in the fall.

Are you fighting mad about this war? Does it mean anything to you personally? Then dig down and buy more and more War Bonds.

From Garden To Shelf

PRESERVING CORN

By Mrs. Margaret C. Shepard
Essex County Home Demonstration Agent

The most satisfactory corn to put up comes from your own corn patch, where you know that it is freshly picked. Only if you can receive the same assurance of freshness from a farmer or dealer should you consider buying corn for this purpose.

Since the sweetness of corn changes rapidly to starchiness as it lies about after picking, assemble the whole family to assist you so that you will be able to can, freeze, or dry your corn within two to four hours after it is picked.

Canning Corn

Prepare the corn by removing husks and silk from the ears. If you plan to can the corn whole kernel style, one bushel weighing 72 pounds will fill 16 to 18 pint jars. Do plan to can corn only in pint jars, so that the heat penetration will be thorough. Cut the corn off close to the cob for whole kernel style, and do not use the scrapings. For cream style corn, on the other hand, cut off only the tips and then scrape the cobs.

For every quart measure of corn, add one teaspoon of salt and half the corn's weight in water. Bring to a boil. Fill the pint jars with this mixture up to within one inch of the top. Prepare the jars of processing by sealing them according to the manufacturer's directions.

Whole kernel corn should be processed in a pressure cooker at 10 pounds pressure for 60 minutes. Cream style corn must be processed at 10 pounds pressure for 75 minutes. This prolonged heating is apt to result in caramelization of the sugar within the corn so that a brownish color is evident. This color change is unattractive, but does not interfere with the flavor.

The processing may be done in a boiling water bath. Pints of whole kernel corn are boiled 160 minutes while those containing cream style corn must be boiled 180 minutes. All non-acid vegetables (such as corn) which have been processed in a boiling water bath should be boiled 10 minutes before they are served.

Corn-on-the-cob is seldom canned because it is not economical of jar space. Jars of it must be processed for 180 minutes in a boiling water bath or for 70 minutes at 10 pounds in a pressure cooker.

Frozen Corn

Corn to be frozen is prepared either whole kernel style or left on the cob. Whipple's Early White and Golden Cross are two varieties particularly well suited to freezing. It is very essential to pick the corn when it is in the milk stage—before any starchiness develops.

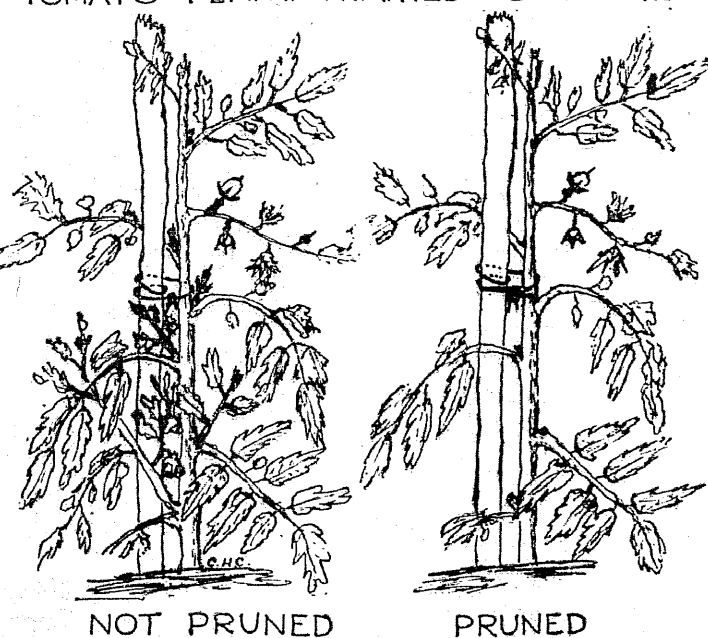

Sort over the ears and cull out the immature and older ones. Carefully remove the silk and wash the ears before blanching. Live steam is considered slightly superior to boiling water for

TOMATO PLANT TRAINED TO STAKE

Pruning Staked Tomatoes

By Dr. Charles H. Connors,
N. J. College of Agriculture

In going the rounds of Victory Gardens, it becomes apparent that many people do not understand how to prune or disbranch tomatoes that are grown to stakes. Some home gardeners have pruned off all the leaves on the lower part of the main stem while others are allowing all the suckers to develop.

The recommended method is to allow a single main stem to develop, this to be tied loosely to the stake at intervals. The tie should be loose to make allowance for an increase in the size of the stem as the plant develops. In tying, use strips of cotton cloth or soft twine. If the stakes are smooth, it is a good plan to make a double wrap around the stake but only once around the stem of the plant, as a double wrap may girdle the stem and choke it. If the tie is made directly above the place where the leaf joins the stem, the tie cannot slip down. The number of ties on each plant will depend on the rapidity of growth of the plant. It is wise to make the ties about 15 to 18 inches apart, but, at any rate, at the leaf joint above and below a flower or fruit cluster.

Prune Suckers From Leaf Axil

Tomato plants for staking should be about two feet apart in the row. The pruning practice is to remove from the axil, or the place where the leaf petiole joins the stem, the shoots or suckers as fast as they develop. Some people make a practice of taking these out with their fingers as soon as they are large enough to handle, because they grow too long, a check in the growth of the plant may result when they are removed.

Another method is to use the point of a knife, with the blade flat against the petiole and the edge toward the stem, to cut off or pry out these suckers when they are very small. If the shoots are removed when very small, the wounds heal quickly.

Watch out for the flower clusters when disbranching. These clusters arise directly from the stem in the space between two leaves. Continue the removal of the suckers until three or four clusters of fruit have developed, depending upon the height of the stake. When the selected number of fruit clusters have formed, allow the suckers above to grow, as these will form a canopy to shade the fruits somewhat and to prevent sun scald.

When No Pruning Has Been Done

Now there is the problem to consider of those who have not done any pruning. The maximum number of stems that should be allowed to grow is two to a stake when the plants are two feet apart, and this increase over the single main stem recommendation above, should only be permitted if the soil is in a very high state of fertility.

One course that can be followed, when no pruning has been done, is to remove plants so that those that are left stand from four to five feet apart both ways, and allow them to sprawl as in field culture.

The other method, if you want to continue to use stakes, is to remove the young suckers as they develop in the upper part of the plant, and gradually remove the stronger ones at the bottom. It would be a severe check to the plant to remove these all at once. Take them out one a week. If the large stem leaf has died at the point where one of these suckers arises, cut the sucker back so that one or two leaves are left, at the same time, removing the little shoots from the axils of these leaves. By following this method, you will have a well balanced plant that will produce a succession of evenly ripened fruits of high quality.

Petreaus Stage Amateur

Petreaus Stage Amateur

An amateur night program was staged Tuesday evening for members of the Petreaus club after their regular meeting in the clubrooms in St. Peter's hall. Jackie McManus and company entertained with magicians' tricks. Entertainment was also supplied by club members.

With 73 members in service the Petreaus club membership is now limited largely to women. However, the Petreaus softball team played a Knight's of Columbus team last Thursday night and the girls helped out. Players adjourned at the school hall later for dancing and refreshments.

A variety of sports and social activities have been arranged by the club's executive committee for its summer program. An old fashioned hay ride will be one feature. Clubrooms are opened every evening for members and their friends and visitors. As part of its patriotic program the Petreaus club has conducted a Letter-a-week plan to members in service for 18 months. Each correspondent writes to the serviceman whose name he draws weekly.

Extension Service Moves To New Headquarters

Removal of the offices of the Essex County Agricultural Extension service from the Park Theatre Building, Caldwell, to the Tobin Building, 244 Bloomfield avenue, Caldwell, was announced last week by R. E. Harman, county agricultural agent. Because of the number of people visiting the office indicated by a traffic of 611 people in May, it was necessary to move into ground floor quarters.

Articles on Victory gardens regularly appearing in this newspaper are furnished through this office in cooperation with the New Jersey state college of agriculture at Rutgers University. Agricultural questions not answered in these writeups or matters pertaining to farms and livestock may be addressed to Harman who addressed the Belleville Livestock association here last month.

Committees on farm machinery rationing, farm transportation and labor for Essex county also conduct their work at this headquarters. Telephone numbers are Caldwell 6-1050 and 1051.
