Vol. VXXIII. No. 51

BELLEVILLE, NEW JERSEY, THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1943

PRICE FIVE CENTS

PLEASURE DRIVERS GET VARYING SENTENCES

Four Month A Book Suspensions
Severest Penalty; Golf Pros
Charged Without Grounds

Nineteen drivers, some frank violators of the OPA ban on pleasure driving, some with misconceptions of the rules and others openly mistified by proceedings were brought before the Belleville war price and ration board on Monday night when Board Chairman Herbert C. Schmutz reviewed their cases and pronounced "judgment."

Lined up, awaiting hearing, were three well-known golf pros all residents of Belleville, who were reported on June 23 for being at Essex County Golf course where they were paid to play in open competition for prize money. Maury O'Connell of Essex, Emory Thomas of Yonkers, and Charles Country club and now pro at Forest Hill Field club and Charles Gray of Upper Montclair Country club were interviewed and dismissed on groundless charges.

A case of mistaken identity was that of Gilbert Sniffen of 199 Linden avenue, Belleville, reported for being in an accident. Sniffen was mistified because he had sold his 1929 model in March for $7.50 to a Negro in Newark who claimed he would use it to saw wood. Sniffen related that he had taken the '42 plates off the car, and becoming suspicious when he received the summons, had checked at the Newark address. He found his former automobile jacked up on blocks and "sawing" wood. It was pointed out to him however, that it is a federal offense to retain gasoline ration books more than five days after an automobile has left an individual's possession. The charges were to be dismissed on Tuesday when he submitted the ration book to the board.

Four Month Suspensions

Severest penalties of four months suspension of A books went to Jean Helm of 9 Weston street, Warren O'Connell, 3 Terrace avenue and Herbert Schueler, 110 North road, all of Nutley. The first two were reported on June 13 on charges of driving around the Park Oval in Nutley, stopping at Donohue's and proceeding to the Franklin theatre in separate cars. Miss Helm explained that she was leaving her car in front of the theatre for a sailor home on leave and that O'Connell had, at her request, followed her so that he could take her home. Schueler was reported for driving to Union Beach on June 26 with his wife and son to bring his brother, who was to be inducted into service on July 2, back to town.

Can't Drive To Make Repairs

Fred Hemmelricher of 203 Little street, Belleville, was given an indefinite suspension of both his A and B books for non-appearance at the Monday night hearing to which he was summoned. Question of the right of a property owner to drive to his property to make repairs was brought up by Albert Hausman of 271 Jerusalem street, Belleville, who was stopped on May 31, returning from Bangor, Pa. The property, located in the critical Bethlehem defense area, is in farming country, Hausman said, without adequate train or bus transportation. Schmutz dismissed the case when Hausman claimed that he had received permission from the ration office by phone, but warned that other means of caring for the property must be found in the future.

Homer Wirth of 534 Prospect street, Nutley, appealing for his wife, denied charges that he had frequently driven to and from Green Pond. Demanding the right to know who had made the charges, the board replied that the complaint had come from the OPA in Newark and was unsigned. Wirth, upon testimony that he is participating in the share-car plan for transportation to work, and because of lack of convincing evidence, was dismissed.

Those receiving one month suspension of their A books were Charles Schmidt of 203 Valley street, Belleville, who on the strength of a doctor's certificate, took an ailing friend on June 20, to Budd Lake; John Kowiaka of 70 Harlan street, Belleville, who on May 23, was visiting a friend entering the service and Julius Caprio of 78 Carner avenue, Belleville, who used his automobile on June 13 to visit his child, critically ill at Baby's hospital in Newark.

Ray Cardinale of 53 Brookline avenue, Nutley, now in service was charged on June 14 with needless driving around Franklin avenue and Church street. His mother appeared for him and since it was determined that Cardinale was not home on furlough, but did the driving from a nearby post, he is requested to appear before the board, which is reserving decision and has requested the surrender of his A book in the meantime.

To Adorn Island Natives

NO MUSEUM of rare and costly jewels as the above arrangements would seem, it is part of the collection started by Mrs. A. A. Buckley of Tiona avenue to be used for barter by the armed forces with natives in the South Pacific area. Started by New York's Twelfth Night club and displayed in a department store there, Mrs. Buckley has gathered 25 pounds of a variety of "baubles" in the past two weeks. The assortment above which may be seen in The Times windows, will be gathered up next week by the Women's Volunteer Services of the Oranges and started on its long journey.

Glittering, Gaudy Paradise For Bartering Islanders

They Will Be Well Arrayed From Local Collection Started To Benefit Armed Forces

Intrigued with the idea of decking out South Pacific island natives with the discarded contents of their jewelry boxes, Belleville women have, during the past two weeks, heaped 25 pounds of assorted necklaces, bracelets, rings, mirrors and earrings into the "Baubles for Buddies to Barter" drive originated by New York's Twelfth Night Club, incorporated, on the recommendation of an army official.

Word has come back from those island bases, according to Lt. Gen. J. F. Harmon, that the islanders, far from enterprising, value these comparatively worthless trinkets more than money or other types of barter in return for their work. A Red Cross worker has also related the astonishing fact that six grass huts for supplies were built for her in "jig" time by a little dark skinned fellow to whom she had given a few pieces of jewelry she had in her luggage.

With this as an example and if the system remains unspoiled, the armed forces will have a comparatively easy time setting up "shop." The islanders will be in a glittering and gaudy paradise beyond their fondest dreams.

Inventive Sergeant Makes Africa More Like Home

Tech. Sgt. Louis Evangelista Has Produced Home-Made Washing
Machine, Shower-Bath There

Imagination and an inventive streak profusely displayed by Tech. Sgt. Louis Evangelista are turning the sparse facilities of a North African base at which he is stationed, into a place that is beginning to be comparable with the comforts of home.

His latest badly needed product is, it is understood, a washing machine adroitly fashioned from old airplane parts and which is used with a gas driven motor. A local publication there has described it as a "first class job" and states that "everybody in the place uses it."

The son of Salvatore Evangelista of 141 Little street, the 24 year old has been in the habit of putting his improvements to use since he was a teen-age youngster. Employed as an electrician at the General Motors plant in Linden before entering the service, he is a member of the ground forces servicing a Fortress group in the North African theatre.

Probably most popular of his arrangements is the shower devised with hot running water. This was achieved, he relates in letters home, by digging a well in which is floated an electric pump. A blow torch is used with it in some way undescribed, to heat the water. "We push a button," the Sergeant relates, "and presto—shower wa-

On one of its trips to New York next week, the American Women's Voluntary service of the Oranges will pick up the collection at The Times office and at the home of Mrs. A. A. Buckley on Tiona avenue, for transportation to New York. Mrs. Buckley who started the collection here, discovered that a similar one is being conducted in the Oranges by the AWWV, although inspiration for the project was received from Bloomingdale's display.

The first 18 pounds of jewelry collected, which represents only part of the first consignment to New York, contained 39 gold necklaces, 91 head necklaces, 83 bracelets of composition or gold finish, 26 rings, 57 brooches, 74 clips, 21 mirrors and 68 pairs of earrings, Mrs. Buckley reported yesterday.

Beguiling Bangles

Hardly anyone, digging through bureau drawers and chests, can have failed to visualize a South Sea native dressed in his or her American finery for many of the necklaces are heavy gold with bejeweled "bangles" and some people sacrificed fascinating clips and pins of jeweled birds, flowers and animals.

Mirrors too were called for and

One arrangement not quite so popular but which has had effective results is his bed, wired for "contact." Placed in the cramped quarters of a tent, it is a

SWINGSTERS ARE ASKED TO DIG

All Hoarders Of Old Platters
In Fact, Can Give To Latest
Legion Drive

Deep-dyed advocates of swing, inveterate hoarders of jive discs by their favorite bands as well as those who are just plainly saving "oldies" are on the lists of local American Legion post for persuasion to contribute platters to its current drive.

Although last year's collection yielded 2,000 old, broken and forgotten records, the goal in this year's drive which opened on July 3 is set at 5,000. It will mean some extra snooping but its for a good cause—to provide discs—new ones, both hot and sweet for the armed forces. William Konrad, drive chairman, reports poor returns thus far and hopes that both the hep-cats and the classicists will soon raid their albums for oldies.

Three committee members who will respond to a call from anyone who cannot deliver records to headquarters are Frank Bangert at Be. 2-2051, Alonzao Hartley at Be. 2-2153 and Ernest Brown at Be. 2-1228-M. Others working with Konrad are William McKillop, Harry Scott, Harry Ziegler, August Bechtold, William Kenep, Otto Brunich, George Horvath, Andrew Cooper, Alfred T. Rhoads, Oscar Reid, Arthur S. Ackerman and Arthur S. MacCreedy.

Receiving Stations

Those who can deliver the discs will find stations in all Belleville firehouses, at the corner of Division and Washington avenues on William street and on Franklin street. A record box has also been placed at 514 Washington avenue in the office of the Empire Laundry.

As a result of last year's collection throughout the nation 370,300 new records were turned out by Records For Our Fighting Men, Inc. and distributed to American fighting men around the world. The collection of old discs was made then, as now, by the American Legion posts and their auxiliaries throughout the country. A library of 48 double-side records containing selections from symphony to swing is the unit shipped to military recreation centers.

Bob Hey heads the group of noted singers and actors who sponsor Records For Our Fighting Men, Inc. Selection for new records is made by the Joint Army and Navy Recreational committee. At Post 105's last meeting Harry Ziegler was made chairman of the committee which will arrange the installation ceremonies for the September induction into office of those men elected to head the Post in June. Robert P. Smith, William Maser, Richard Shannon, Harry Scott and William Laubaugh will serve on the committee.

King Cuts Relief Further, Puts Hewitt On Part-Time Basis

Another slash in the relief department was announced by Commissioner of Public Affairs King this week with the statement that John Hewitt, relief director will be employed on a part time basis for an indefinite period, beginning July 15.

This brings the personnel normally at 10 and 11 members, down to three, to take care of a case load of over 300, about one-third of which are active. These are composed of hospitalization cases, those unfit for work and other chronic cases which probably will never get on a self-sustaining basis.

Because an upswing in relief is anticipated after the war, it is expected that Hewitt who has been relief director for a number of years may then return on a full time basis. In the meantime, he will enter defense work, joining his father in the John Hewitt Foundry company in Harrison.

ARMY DRAFTEES GET 3 WEEKS

New Ruling Went Into Effect
July 1; Local Reservoir
Running Low

The July draft contingent which left for examinations in Newark on July 1 is now home on furlough, awaiting assignment to the various branches of the armed forces. Under a new ruling effective July 1, those slated for the army now have a three week furlough instead of the customary fortnight and will not leave for Fort Dix until July 22. These assigned to the Navy and Marines however, will probably leave sooner and are awaiting call.

This group is composed of 18 year olds, married men without children and those married men with children born after September 1, 1942. It is understood that the reservoir in these classifications is running low, and it is expected that the local Selective Service board will be depleted of material before the ruling taking married men with children goes into effect. However, the manning table which local industries are beginning to adopt, assures a small regular quota, as men are released for service and their positions filled in essential industries.

Those who have been accepted for service and the branches to which they are assigned are listed below.

MAP PROGRAM FOR OBTAINING CHILD CARE

Board Of Education And Defense
Council's Committees Divide
Work To Be Done

A step nearer to the solution of the child care question in Belleville was made last Thursday when the child care committee of the defense council headed by Mrs. Morris Rochet met in conference with members of the board of education.

Board President Herbert Schmutz said this week it is agreed that the board will request estimates on the alterations necessary for housing the project in School No. 1. These would be rather extensive he said, and would include adapting the two playrooms now in use for School No. 1 pupils in addition to providing kitchen facilities which are nonexistent at present.

It is understood that the Child Care committee is awaiting a visit from a field representative of the state department of institutions and agencies who will outline the minimum requirements of personnel and facilities to be provided for when application is made for funds under the Latham act.

The understanding is that 60 children must be registered before the funds will be available, and it is also assumed that there may be other requirements such as the minimum of facilities, and the number of workers, volunteer and paid, necessary for proper supervision of a given number of children. A re-survey of the number of children requiring this care because of working mothers will also be made after the full procedure is outlined by the field representative.

Under the Latham act, 50 percent of the funds necessary for running the project will be provided by the state. Applied for by the board of education, the defense council will meet the rest of the expenses. When complete data has been compiled by the child care committee, including approximate initial costs and those of operation, it is understood that the committee will again meet with the board of education for a review and compilation of the total expenditures involved. Schmutz stated that the board of education will bear the operating expenses of the project, such as light, heat, janitorial service and upkeep, in addition to the cost of the necessary alterations.

Back From Mid-East, Priest Praises U. S. Aircraft

Found Another Bellville During
Year Of Civilian Service
For Plane Company

Joseph W. Priester

The superiority of American aircraft and their durability under combat are unquestioned in the mind of Joseph W. Priester of 26 Baldwin place who has returned from a year spent working on their maintenance and repair in the Mid-East, for the Douglas Aircraft corporation.

Home two months, he has already developed a decided yen to get an assignment to some other remote outpost where he can continue his work in planning. Now at the Johnsville, Pa., Brewster plant as a project planner on a new Navy fighter plane, he was employed as supervisor of material planning at Brewster's Newark plant before going abroad for Douglas last May.

Probably one of the experiences Priester will remember longest, is the time spent in South Africa when he discovered the town of Bellville, in the Cape Province. His pictures of the rolling farming country with sharply rising, craggy hills in the distance vie with those of the fashionable town of Durban which reminded him of nothing as much as a "seashore resort in off season," he related.

Bellville was a friendly village with about 300 population, and within two hours after his arrival, word had spread through the grapevine, that he was from a town of similar name, in the United States. He felt like a minor celebrity, he said, for he had in two visits to tea, twice within two hours, two invitations to dinner and one to a church festival that night. Durban was a paradise on the Red Sea with the best in modern buildings and a palm lined marina drive that rivals Miami Beach for beauty. Situated on the shore, it backs up to a table mountain which rises abruptly to a height of 3,500 feet. The view from that vantage point, reached by cable car, in something to behold, he stated.

Almost Like Home

Priester was in North Africa during the desert fight to oust Rommel and the expiration of his contract concurred with the climax of the chase at El Alamein. However, during his months there, he related this week, that 90 percent of the American and British planes enroute to China and India stopped at his base for check-ups. Stationed on a high plateau, 7,000 feet above sea level, one coincidence that made him feel a little nearer home was the discovery that a foreign version of an American patrol ship which visited the base, carried an outer wing panel made at Newark's Brewster plant, a job on which he had done some of the planning work.

Unable to reveal any more of the activity engaged in there, he stated however, that from his observation and experience with the planes in continuous active combat, he is confident of the increasingly decisive role American aircraft will have in the war—when the supply and delivery meet the demand. He contrasted the record of one young bomber pilot who made 18 short raids within 24 hours with the surprising attitude he discovered here, allowing for strikes, absenteeism and other slackness. "I've decided that it's impossible to make people realize what it's like," he stated. "I tried when I first came home, to give some a picture of the conditions and experiences that the men go through. But it's useless. People can't or won't comprehend how insignificant their small sacrifices are here, in comparison to the job that is being done by the boys in the battle zones."

Had Rationing Too

Rationing isn't confined to this country either, he revealed. Although they had good food at the main base as compared to the available at outlying posts, it was months before American meat arrived, he stated. In the meantime, they used the native substitute for beef which, because of lack of refrigeration had to be eaten fresh. "It was alright, and we were glad to get it," Priester

Frank McFadden Marks His 15th Year At First National

This month marks the fifteen year of Frank J. McFadden's association with the First National Bank of Belleville. As executive vice-president he is the active head of the local institution.

Other employees with long service records and the year of their joining the bank are: Charles Tedesco, vault custodian, 1920; Miss Katherine Hacker, secretary to Mr. McFadden, 1923; Miss Delinda Roller, head of bookkeeping department, 1924; Miss Angela DeLeuce, chief clerk, 1928; Miss Marie Spillane, secretary of Henry C. Rabb, Cashier, 1928. Miss Hacker and Victor Preston, note teler, are on vacation this week.

171 W & T WORKERS DONATE BLOOD

Gold Star Father Typifies Spirit
Of Employees In First
Blood Bank

Typical of the spirit that prompted 171 Wallace and Tiernan company employees to register for the first company blood bank last Friday is George F. Hewitt Jr., of Montclair who donated for the fourth time, just a month after receiving news of the death of one of his sons, a member of the air force stationed in the battle zones.

A worker in the spare parts division for over a year where he expedites shipment, he has another son serving in Persia and two sons-in-law in the Navy.

The first 210 names of W & T employees were selected from the long list and arrangements made with the board of education for the use of the high school gymnasium. Workers donated 171 pints of blood that will be converted into fighting plasma without sacrificing unnecessarily, precious time in production. Through the services of the Red Cross motor corps, 10 donors left the plant every 15 minutes, keeping a steady supply of applicants between the hours of 2 and 7 p. m.

Miss Blinda Mitchell of Lyndhurst took the record as far as is known, by being a fifth time donor.

Others who contributed for the fourth time are Dick DeWilde, Bloomfield; R. Gordon Murphy, Montclair; A. Vernon Turner Jr., Lyndhurst. These time donors were Edward Echer of Irvington; Wallace Tiernan of Caldwell son of the company president; Thomas Leonard, Belleville, Edward C. Marshall, Upper Montclair and Burt Robinson, Newark.

Expediting the company's carefully planned schedule to have donors on hand in the high school at all times Red Cross motor corps captain, Mrs. Madeline Cort, used the chapter station wagon and six private cars. The women made trips at intervals of fifteen minutes without a break and actually transported 193 people.

RATIONERS GIVE PERMITS TONIGHT

Open Office For Expected
Throng Of Vacation-
Minded Residents

Anticipating a throng of vacation-minded folks ready and anxious to use their A gasoline coupons for their one pleasure trip recently conceded by OPA, Herbert Schmutz, chairman of the Belleville war price and ration board has announced that the board office will be open this evening between 7:30 and 9:30 to supply permits.

The concession was wangled last week by Congressman Fred A. Hartley's Eastern bloc of congressmen and senators, and provides for one round trip to a vacation spot, on "A" coupons only. Since Hartley's announcement however, the OPA has inserted the proviso that "no adequate train or bus transportation" be available. In applying for a permit, ration board form in duplicate giving their destination and the number of miles, the reading of their speedometers at the time of application and must have "A" books and registration with them.

Since there is no stipulation in the OPA concession, that only No. six coupons be used which incidentally, are not valid until a week from today, those who have been "hoarding" their No. Five coupons have a total of 16 coupons or 48 gallons available. Schmutz warned however, that long trips will receive the closest scrutiny. He observed too, that "A" card holders without supplemental rations have had so little opportunity to use their cars that the board is disposed to be lenient except in cases where there can be no dispute on the adequacy of train or bus transportation.

For the first time in years there was "standing room only" in the council chambers at town hall on Tuesday night when residents of the Greylock section through their counsel, petitions, and almost unanimous protests brought a three to one vote from the board of commissioners against the garden type apartment proposed at Washington avenue by Greylock Gardens, incorporated.

After their lawyer and building concern representative offered arguments for and against the amendment to the zoning ordinance changing the land from residence B to C, individuals who lived in the section up to 40 years voiced their reasons against the project with loud applause and cries of approval.

The revised plan submitted the board Tuesday night provided for a through street to be from Washington to Union avenue, south of Greylock parkway. Instead of applying for the tract along Greylock to be changed to C zone, the builders in the revised map included only that portion beginning half-way between Beech and Linden streets and lying to Washington avenue on east and to the high tension line on the south. That section along the parkway west of the half mark between Beech and Linden was to remain in B zone for future erection of one or two family dwellings, with the exception of 150 feet east of the west line which would be converted into a park. At the protestations residents on Floyd and Brem streets that they purchased property there because the streets were dead ends, the builders suggested that the proposed east and west street stop short of those dead ends.

Ask Reconsideration

After the vote of the commissioners in which Mayor Williams has sponsored the project it was first proposed, gave a sign, a representative of Greylock Gardens incorporated asked for reconsideration and an opportunity to iron out differences with residents in an effort to come to a satisfactory arrangement. Commissioner Waters maintained however, that the board had voted stated that the builders should first convince the residents by asking the board for a reconsideration.

Robert C. Grubin of 126 Beech street, an attorney representing the residents, opened proceedings by reviewing the case and claim that the amendment to the ordinance which was up for iron reading on Tuesday night "not in harmony with the tenor of the ordinance." He contended that the board under existing statutes has the power only change districts in a zone. He claimed that the tract in question cannot be considered a district itself.

He presented petitions against the project signed by 172 residents and further stated their objection by saying their property would be adversely affected, that "health, safety and normal" of residents would not be adequately protected, that the municipal utilities could not cope with the flux of people the project would attract.

Town Clerk Seeks Ruling On Petitions To Fill Vacancy

One hundred and twenty-two petitions to have the name Raymond E. Mertz placed on ballot in the November election said to be properly signed and notarized were submitted to Florence Morey, town clerk at board of commissioners' meeting on Tuesday night, by Edward McGlynn, attorney, on behalf of the Citizens' committee. Morey accepted them and said would seek the advice of and concur in the procedure.

In presenting the petitions McGlynn said that it might be he is another "Columbus" in believing that he has discovered a proviso in the law which will fill the vacancy on board through placing the name of a candidate on the ballot of the November general election. The vacancy created by death of Commissioner W. P. Cl over 10 months ago, has been caused of a deadlock on the part of Commissioners B and Noll to nominate Mertz the seat as well as the attention of Mayor Williams and Commissioner Waters to name Mertz J. Flynn to fill the vacancy, has been repeated frequently and was again repeated Tuesday night.

The Citizens' committee chairman, has been formed in effort to find a solution to the stalemate. It was said on Tuesday night that the situation paralleled in the history of New Jersey, should be interesting the attempts which will now be made, to find a legal solution.

CATHOLIC AGENCY JOINS WAR FUND

Effort To Include All Drives Is Being Made By War Fund Committee

Chief consideration at the special meeting Tuesday night of the Belleville Community Chest and Council board of trustees, of which Paul DeHagura is president, was the proposed budget for Belleville of the Associated Catholic Charities of the Newark diocese.

This inclusion, it will be remembered, in War Fund drives in the various municipalities has been decided as a national plan to cut the cost and the enormous work entailed in gathering yearly community chest funds and the now numerous war fund appeals. War funds this year, under the State plan, will encompass the usual agencies in each town plus an allotment for 16 war agencies and the Catholic and other existing charities.

The amalgamation with the Catholic group has been accomplished in Newark and arrangements have been made to include it in the Elizabeth chest after January, 1943. The Newark diocese covers these areas as well as Belleville and other communities.

Such a combine has been urged for some time in Newark and Elizabeth. The Newark budget, submitted by Msgr. Ralph J. Glover who heads the association, was $300,000. The amount submitted by him to the Belleville council is $22,469.08.

Should the budget be approved and adopted it is understood that two members of the parent group, Associated Catholic Charities, and two members of each of their participating agencies would work directly with the local council; and, deHagura estimates, would add 10 or 12 workers to the group being established here for the combined drive in the fall.

A finance committee was named by deHagura Tuesday night to consider budgets submitted by all the local agencies and the Catholic charities. The later will probably be the first task of the committee which, under the chairmanship of Andrew G. Salkeld, will arrange a meeting with Msgr. Glover to secure a breakdown of the budget, and those of the agencies which operate under the association. Luther Van Pelt, Martin P. Cosgrove, Mrs. Craven and Miss Teresa Salmon were named by deHagura to assist Salkeld.

Immediately following this meeting deHagura reported to trustees of the Belleville War fund that documents of the incorporation of that body had been properly filed and that a State

Woodland Rod And Gun Club Loses Permit Through ABC Ruling

The Woodland Rod and Gun club of 215 North Belmont avenue, has been ordered closed by the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control and Police Chief Spatz was directed yesterday by State Beverage Commissioner Driscoll to pick up the license.

This outgrowth of charges preferred by Driscoll on May 27 was made known yesterday by Mayor Williams as Chairman of the local excise board. The action was taken, it is understood, because of written evidence by Lawrence Burke that he is the sole owner and sole operator of the liquor license and received the profits from the establishment.

The ABC had previously reversed the decision of the board of commissioners sitting as an excise board on April 13, in which they revoked the license on charges that a brawl had taken place on the premises. It was alleged at that time that a stabbing had occurred on January 30, but the ABC ruled that the evidence presented failed to support the brawl charges. The ABC however, later charged that Burke in replying to questioning on whether any other person had a direct or indirect interest in the club, falsified his statement. It was on this evidence that the license has been revoked.

Mrs. Julia Alexander, Active In Town Affairs, Succumbs

Funeral services were held last night at 8 in the Irvine Funeral home for Mrs. Julia K. Alexander of 63 Prospect street who died Tuesday in Beth Israel hospital, Newark. Mrs. Alexander had been in the hospital only one day but had been ailing for the past year.

Mrs. Alexander, the widow of James K. Alexander, served as president of the Belleville Women's Republic club last year, the first of a three year term. She is a charter member of that organization which is 10 years old. In addition Mrs. Alexander was vice-chairman of the Republican county committee and has been generally active in these circles for many years. She was also a member of the Belleville Woman's club.

Mrs. Alexander is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Clare Lucas and Mrs. Nellie Butts of this town. Interment will be made today in Woodlawn cemetery, N. Y., at the convenience of the family. Rev. Edgar M. Conyon of Wesley Methodist Church officiated at burial services.

READY TO HOLD CANNING BEES

Expert Supervision Will Be Given By Leaders At Municipal Stadium

In addition to holding a public canning demonstration in Fawcett church on Thursday, July 29, Mrs. Thomas Jackrell, chairman of the canning group under the nutrition committee of the defense council, has announced that canning bees will be held for housewives who would like supervision.

John Hewitt, nutrition and canteen committee chairman, has had two gas stoves installed at the stadium by Public Service, for the canning bee project and has also received permission from the ration board to purchase three pressure cookers which, when obtainable, will be available for public use.

Those who wish to insure a minimum of spoilage from their canning activities may register with Hewitt at relief headquarters in the stadium. Canning bees will begin as soon as enough women register, and will be held as often as necessary. All that is required is that the women interested bring their fruits and vegetables, implements and mason jars to the stadium, where all preparations may be made in addition to the actual canning process. Mrs. Jackrell, Mrs. Victor Hart Jr., and the 30 canning leaders who took the course in May, will be available to provide supervision.

The demonstration of methods to be given at 1:30 p.m. in Fawcett on July 29 will be done by Mrs. Ro'e Murphy, assistant Essex County home extension agent, and will be the only public demonstration held here during the summer. Mrs. Fay Kemp, Union and Essex county canning supervisor may also be present.

What's Cooking With New Jersey Homemakers?

THEY'RE going to can the yields of their victory gardens. They'll have their shelves lined with jars of home-canned vegetables. This is the way they'll meet the wartime food shortage. We knew how wholeheartedly New Jersey homemakers would respond to the government's request that home canning be done, so we had a booklet on canning prepared. It gives complete directions. Be sure to ask for a copy at any of our Conservation and Nutrition Centers. It is given away free.

Dr. W. T. Sullivan Is Promoted To Lieutenant Commander

It was learned this week that Dr. William T. Sullivan formerly of 35 DeWitt avenue, one of the first from town to enter the service in the Navy, has been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Commander. Now stationed at M. I. T. in Cambridge, Mass., he is a staff doctor in charge of the clinic there.

The Navy-V-12 program has 936 recruits on the campus and it is claimed the doctor recently made a sort of "record" by vaccinating all 936 in the space of four and a half hours. He has spent some time at sea as ship doctor on the U. S. S. Cincinnati.

Canning Bees Proposed

Victory gardeners and others, with an eye on the Washington bungling of the food administration, shortage of farm labor and other related factors, aren't going to trust the upset laws of supply and demand. They're going to can and store as great a quantity of vegetables and fruits as they can manage, this summer.

Many housewives will be going through the canning process for the first time. Others will try preserving food stuffs they haven't attempted before. Correct methods and care in handling the food that will undoubtedly be welcome next winter, have this year, an increased importance.

It seems to us that a few good old-fashioned canning bees would provide the kind of supervision that is needed for so many women anxious to preserve as much as possible but who are hesitant to run the risk of spoilage because of their inexperience. The canning committee under Mrs. Thomas Jackrel is ready either to hold demonstrations or to supervise canning at the Municipal stadium where John Hewitt has had two gas stoves installed for the purpose, by Public Service.

Although pressure cookers are not yet available, the hot water bath method may be used for the present. In fact, it is the only method which may be satisfactorily employed for fruits and tomatoes. Interested women are asked to telephone Hewitt at relief headquarters in the stadium, and classes will be formed from the list of registrants. It is understood that women would supply their own fruits, vegetables, jars and perhaps kettles, and would do all of the work in a group under expert supervision.

Plans for a similar project were abandoned last year but with the increased emphasis on individual food conservation for the winter, this is an opportunity of which the majority of housewives should avail themselves. It would, in any event, be a popular, companionable way of stocking the family larder which done alone, is a tedious process at best.

Another Appeal For Nurses

Those who have recently visited any of the hospitals in this area cannot help being aware of the acute nurse shortage they are experiencing, due to the departure of such a large percentage for service in the armed forces.

Aware that it is equally important to provide adequate care for civilian health as it is to provide facilities for the treatment of the wounded on the battlefronts, the hospitals are doing best by substituting nurses aides and enlisting the services of graduates who can help out even on a part time basis.

Because the situation is critical, it is asked that every graduate nurse even though she has not practiced for many years, offer her service to some nearby hospital, if only for a few hours a week.

Value Of Boy Scout Camping

Recent reports indicate that only one Boy Scout troop has reached this year's goal of 50 percent attendance at the Robert Treat council's Camp Merican at Blairstown.

The goal has been set to stimulate interest in scouting among the troops, for, in spite of the large local enrollment in the scouts, the ambition for individual advancement in rank seems to be peculiarly lacking. It would be impossible to find a comparable organization for growing boys which could offer them so much as the scout program. Instruction is given through the year by volunteer leaders and the expense of being a scout is small.

Scout leaders tell us that the reason for their emphasis on the participation in the camping experience is that one week spent at camp is equivalent in experience to a year and a half of meetings. The camping season will extend through July and August and it is hoped that by the time school opens again, the majority of the troops will have come close to the 50 percent attendance goal.

INVENTIVE SGT.

quarters of his electrical shop, Louis reports untold difficulty in keeping it neat because of the number of his callers who find it a comfortable resting spot. "I took some wire, tacked it around the bed and hooked it to a high tension coil I got from one of the planes," he said. "With a switch under my desk, I'm ready to keep my callers in line." The switch controlled by his foot doesn't seem to have any regard for rank, he says, for captains, lieutenants, and non-coms jump and yelp with the same alacrity. He reports that since the wiring job has been installed he has ceased having trouble in keeping his bunk tidy.

Louis, who is a graduate of Belleville high school, attended Boy's Vocational school in Bloomfield. He entered the service in January of 1942 and was stationed at Presque Island Me., before leaving for England last August. He spent a few months there before being shipped to North Africa. Two other members of the family are in the service. A brother, Fred, who is 23, is a member of a battalion barrage division stationed at Santa Monica, Calif. while a sister, Florence, an army nurse with the rank of second lieutenant, is stationed at an army base hospital in New Orleans, La. In service nearly a year, she formerly worked at Mountsides hospital in Montclair. Remainder of the family are Ann, who is employed at the Westinghouse Bloomfield plant and Mrs. Helen McAllister, another sister, of the same address who hopes that Louis will get back home one of these days to catch up on the growing list of small "inventions" that she could use around the house.

GARDEN APTS.

bring, that small homes would bring more in taxes than the apartment and that the tract could well be left for post-war development.

Builders Stated Case

John M. Christie attorney for Greylee Gardens incorporated, explained that plans were in accord with the requirements of the zoning ordinance in that the concern planned for less than 23 families per acre, that it was using only 52 percent of the area instead of 75 percent; that the buildings would have a 35 foot set back and be two and a half stories high.

He pointed out that the property bordering on Washington avenue is now zoned for business, that it is unlikely to be used for small homes, being opposite industries and near the roller rink. Christie further pointed out that the property is now used for a dump and grazing field for goats, that rates would be increased $10,000, and concluded that a garden apartment is the best solution to the utilization of the property since it is not suited to a small home development.

A member of the Volkeng family also spoke for consideration of the project by saying, that if it were voted down, he would endeavor to interest another developer since the "tax load is tremendous." He stated that the land now owned by Westinghouse Lamp division, Walter Kidde and the Goldfarb tract had all been part of the estate. Demonstrating that he had an interest in the welfare of the town through sales to these concerns, Volkeng declared, "I don't know when anything of comparable merit will present itself again."

When a vote was called, Commissioners King and Noll voted against the amendment to the zoning ordinance which would permit erection of the building. Waters recalled that many of the residents had lived there a long time and said that because "95 percent of the people here are opposed to it, I'm voting no."

Williams Unsupported

Before casting his unsupported vote in favor of the project, the Mayor said, "Your mayor has never ducked a vote on any question." Stating that he is the only public official who puts in full business hours every day, he declared that "if nothing else is accomplished tonight, I want you people to go home with a few right viewpoints free of prejudice and inaccuracies." He stated that he had the same interest in this development that prompted him to bring Jorgensen and Kidde plants to town and observed that if the last three million dollars in rates had not been obtained "almost solely" through his efforts, the tax rate would now be $5.50.

"I have seen boards make decisions based on inaccuracies in people's minds, passed from one neighbor to the other," he stated. Williams assured that there would be no difficulty in supplying the additional fire and police protection and said the reference to morales was "an inferential insult to every decent family living in an apartment in town."

He had previously contradicted Grubin who had sent out a letter to the realtors in which he quoted the Mayor as saying that they were in favor of the apartments. The Mayor contended that he had not made that statement and Grubin in a verbal tilt admitted he had inferred it instead.

Williams was later contradicted by Waters however, in his statement that the town had previously paid for improvements. Suggesting that the residents "sit down and line-up the advantages on each side" in addition to consulting the architect and the builders, Williams stated they could take the best out of it, for the good of the town.

The Mayor stated that the commissioners and the people didn't know what they were voting on because of the revised plan submitted which had not been explained. Waters declared that he knew what he was voting for, that he would listen to the taxpayers first and that the revised plan had nothing to do with voting on the amendment.

GLITTERING

the first donation was a carefully packed box of 17 in many sizes from powder compacts and handbags by a Belleville woman who thought "they'd come in handy some day." They undoubtedly will for anything could increase a native's appreciation for glittering jewelry it would certainly be the result of seeing himself so decorated.

A clipping from this newspaper was posted last week by a Belleville employee of the Federal Radio and Telephone corporation in Newark on the bulletin board in donated boxes of earrings, clips, rings and necklaces which the local woman promptly turned in. Some of the women had knowledge that this project was under way but had not previously known where to leave their donations. It is also reported that Wallace and Pierran are conducting a collection of their own.

This week's display at The Times office, and one in Mrs. Buckley's home at 24 Tiona avenue, were voluntarily and deftly arranged by Gus Trenkler of 121 Cedar Hill avenue, grandson of Charles Morawetz, one time Belleville jeweler. Trenkler used display containers formerly used in his grandfather's store.

Chief headquarters for the collection here, which will continue indefinitely, will be The Times office at 328 Washington avenue through contributions will continue to be welcomed by Mrs. Buckley.

"Have you looked in your Telephone Directory for that number?"

Starting this week, when an Information operator is called for a local or nearby telephone number, she will ask:

"Have you looked in your directory for that number?"

Information service today is heavily burdened handling calls, thousands of which are unnecessary because the numbers asked for are already available in the telephone directory.

If these unnecessary calls are not made, your wartime telephone service will be helped in two important ways:

... Information can give more effective service on calls for numbers changed or added since your directory was printed, and for numbers in areas not covered by your directory;

... Telephone lines and switchboards now operating at capacity much of the time will be freed of a large unnecessary load and be better able to handle the rising volume of essential wartime calls.

"Never happier in my Life..."

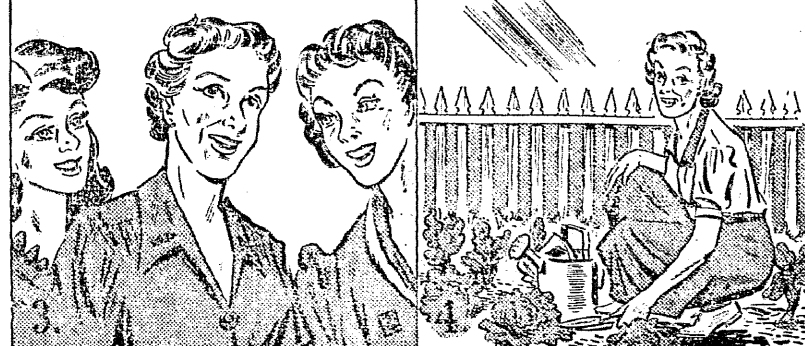

SAYS THE GIRL WHO WORKS AT WESTON'S

Mrs. Jane Zick, Newark, N. J.

"SIT ON THE SIDELINES just because John's in the Navy? Not me! The very day John left for sea duty I went down to Weston's and asked for a job. I got it, too!"

"I'M WORKING for a lot of reasons. First, of course, to give John the backing he's got to have, by producing more war goods. And second, to put aside some money in War Bonds, to help him complete his college when the War is over."

"SINGLE GIRLS haven't anything on me! The Work's so light and interesting that I can keep up with the best of 'em, and do it without even trying. And they're all grand girls, too, the kind I hope John will marry when he comes home again."

"I'VE STILL GOT TIME, to play a little, to take care of the house, and to take care of my garden. I've never been happier in my life, and I'm sorry about only one thing—that I didn't start at Weston's sooner."

"It's fun to work at Weston's!"

Yes, there's a job for you at Weston's—a big job in terms of what it will accomplish in helping to win this war—but an easy job in actual working terms. Our plant is light, clean and airy. There's an up-to-date cafeteria to serve you wholesome, nourishing meals at low cost. Hours are reasonable—one of our many shifts should certainly prove convenient. Transportation is convenient—all No. 11, 12, 62 and 24 buses stop at our door. In addition, there are established transportation groups which may meet your needs completely. If you are not now in war work, call at our employment office. You'll get a hearty welcome.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BELLEVILLE
BE. 2-3300

Ends Term

Luther Van Pelt

Luther Van Pelt, cashier of the People's National Bank and Trust company, completed his term as president of Belleville Lions club early this month. The continuity of meetings was not broken during his term and attendance remained at 90 percent although many service clubs have been forced to disband on account of wartime conditions. He has been succeeded in office by Henry DePhillips. The club meets Thursday noons at Forest Hill Field club.

Van Pelt, who has lived at 100 Malone avenue for 22 years, became a Lions club member in 1939. He served as chairman of the program committee for the 1941-42 season and was a member of the board of directors and at one time first vice-president. He is married and has three children.

Van Pelt's banking affiliations started in 1915 when he was employed at the National State bank in Newark. After two years, he came to the First National bank here and in 1924 was made cashier of that institution. He left that position in 1928 and was subsequently with the Post Newark
National bank and the North Park and Dood Trust company in Newark. He was treasurer and receiver of the latter firm and terminated his work in 1935. In that year, he became assistant cashier of the People's bank. Since 1937, he has been cashier.

A record attendance for this month of 99 percent has so far been established. Guests of the club have been Rud Daniels and A. S. Beams of Hoyer Products company. It was announced at Thursday's meeting that the monthly war stamp awards had gone to George Mead and W.
Brandt Smith. The Lions club also completed arrangements then to present future inductees with up to the minute identification tag holders. The holders are made of rust-proof, tarnish-proof material.

The Golden Text is: "Understanding is a well spring of life unto him that hath it."
Among the Lesson-Sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "And th's is life eternal that they might know thee the only true God and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "This is life eternal," says Jesus,—is, I shall be; and then he defines everlasting life as a present knowledge of his Father and of himself,—the knowledge of Love, Truth, and Life."

GIRL SCOUTS BUSY AT THEIR CABIN

First Batch Of Seven Is Putting Finishing Touches On Recent Improvements

The Belleville Girl Scout cabin in South Mountain reservation was a busy place last week as the first assignment of campers, seven girls, fell to and put finishing touches on recent improvements there. Although porches had been built and scened and plumbing facilities installed, painters had hardly completed their work and the girls assumed the task of touching up and washing windows and staining furniture.

It was, of course, in addition to their regular schedule of scout activity and hand craft under the direction of Miss Virginia Charlton and the Misses Jean and Betty Goode, her assistants. The girls rotated the duties of cooking, cleaning and dishwashing. Some rainy weather gave them opportunity to work on the beanies and jirs which they are taught to make from scrap leather. They also made washable slippers of the moccasin type out of quilted baby pads.

On Tuesday afternoon the girls were defeated in a softball game by girls in the Millbarn cabin. That evening they sang carols, new songs which they had learned, at the neighboring cabins and shared campfire activities with them. Campfires are held indoors in order to observe black-out regulations.

Thursday, the Belleville girls hiked to Tulip Springs, an all day affair. They accompanied the Nutley Brownie troop. Before leaving camp each girl was instructed in bookbinding and made a solid cover for scrapbook or autograph book use. Christine Wilkinson, Marion Giannetti, Patricia McGinnis, Joan Schneegas, Lois Ann Bennett, Shirley Viven-ti, Lois Ann Jepson, Dorothy Kosh, Barbara Benz, Marie Lamp-man, Joan Koehler, Evelyn Den-ner, Marion McTiernan, Patricia Papera, Barbara Klaunig and Patricia Fox of Nutley. Three girls who spent the opening week at the Belleville cabin have remained this week. They are Mabel Herzog, Joan VanDusen and Jean Griffin.

This week the girls were transported to the reservation in a bus which will be the method used for the remainder of the camping period. The bus will leave Girl Scout headquarters at 400 Washington Avenue each Monday morning at 10:30. Girls returning from the previous week's camping will arrive on its return trip at about 12:30.

Mrs. M. W. Bennett, leader of Troop No. 2 of which many of this week's campers are members, will spend Friday at the cabin to relieve from duty one of the directors.

Girl scouts and non-scouts are reminded that they may register daily from 9:30 to 12 at Washington Avenue headquarters. Fee for the seven day period of camping is $8. A reasonable quantity of ration stamps is required of each girl and details about equipment will be given her at the headquarters. Out of town girls may register at a fee of $9.

Interesting work, which will be a part of each girl's accomplishment during her week in camp, is on display at 400 Washington Avenue.

declared, "but I'd like to see some of the folks here at home try to get away with it."

All civilians at this base, they were organized into an American Volunteer guard, and had their ration cards for cigarettes, candy, ice cream, fruit juices and beer. A sergeant in the guard organized for enemy invasion, he wore a uniform with an emblem on his shoulder and the stripes placed up-side-down. As Volunteer guards they would be accorded the respect of prisoners of war should they be captured by the enemy, whereas if as civilians, they attempted to defend themselves, they could be shot as guerrillas or snipers.

Occasional week-end leaves were used for gazelle hunting. Priester recalled, a good sport he deer and are just as fast. After driving all night, the hunt would usually begin at dawn when the animals begin stirring in search of water. Taking a distant object as their goal, the men would fan out, probably a quarter of a mile apart, and make for their objective. In the course of the mile or two hike, there would usually be a chance at some quarry.

Born in Belleville, Priester attended St. Peter's school, Immaculate Conception Preparatory school in Montclair and Essex County Junior college. He also attended Newark College of Engineering and took a special course at Princeton before going abroad. He has many souvenirs from his trip and some of the most highly prized are those he acquired on his trip across. Commended by the ship commander for "services beyond the normal call of his duties," he volunteered for a four hours daily stint on the flying bridge while enroute East, through "hazardous waters." Also initiated into the Ancient and Honorable Order of Neptunia, after crossing the equator, he possesses an impressive parchment scroll as reminder of the honorary and legendary ritual of promoting him from a "slimy polywog" to the status of "shellback."

A message for you...from 1953

(Today, John Jones is just an average American, wrestling with all the doubts and worries and problems that beset every one of us right now. But let's skip ahead 10 years. Let's look at John Jones then—and listen to him...)

"SOMETIMES I feel so good it almost scares me.

"This house—I wouldn't swap a shingle off its roof for any other house on earth. This little valley, with the pond down in the hollow at the back, is the spot I like best in all the world.

"And they're mine. I own 'em.

Nobody can take 'em away from me.

"I've got a little money coming in, regularly. Not much—but enough. And I tell you, when you can go to bed every night with nothing on your mind except the fun you're going to have tomorrow—that's as near Heaven as a man gets on this earth!

"It wasn't always so.

"Back in '43—that was our second year of war, when we were really getting into it—I needed cash. Taxes were tough, and then Ellen got sick. Like most everybody else, I was buying War Bonds through the Payroll Plan—and I figured on cashing some of them in. But sick as she was, it was Ellen who talked me out of it.

"Don't do it, John!" she said. "Please don't! For the first time in our lives, we're really saving money. It's wonderful to know that every single payday we have more money put aside! John, if we can only keep up this saving, think what it can mean! Maybe someday you won't have to work. Maybe we can own a home. And oh, how good it would feel to know that we need never worry about money when we're old!"

"Well, even after she got better, I stayed away from the weekly poker game—quit dropping a little cash at the hot spots now and then—gave up some of the things a man feels he has a right to. We made clothes do—cut out fancy foods. We didn't have as much fun for awhile but we paid our taxes and the doctor and—we didn't touch the War Bonds.

"We didn't touch the War Bonds then, or any other time. And I know this: The world wouldn't be such a swell place today if we had!"
