

EXPECT DECISION ON CHILD CARE WITHIN MONTH

Two-Year Procrastination
Nears Showdown Stage
After Conference

The final decision in the need of a child care center in Belleville to provide facilities for the temporary care of war-working mothers may be expected within a month as a result of action taken Friday night at a joint meeting of the board of education and the child care committee of the civilian defense council.

The conference voted to set up a two-week registration period in which mothers who would make use of such a center would

Registration Next Week

Registration for working mothers who would avail themselves of a child nursery, should it be set up here, will take place in the office of civilian defense in town hall on the following dates:
March 16 and 17: 8:30 to 5, 7 to 9.
March 18: 8:30 to 5.

fer with members of the committee and indicate their intentions. Thus the climax was reached in the two-year controversy among the town's various agencies who have studied or who have been dragged into the question. The board of education Friday night, by a statement from board president Herbert C. Schmutz, promised that it would actively support the program should the need be convincingly shown.

Declaring that the fourth survey of the child care committee, maintained by Mrs. Morris Rochlin, made last September is now obsolete, the conferees determined to be guided entirely by the results of the forthcoming registration period.

The registrars will be headed by school superintendent Wayne R. Farmer and will also include Mrs. Julia O. Reiner of the Community Service Bureau and defense coordinator Ronald G. Brunner.

To Interview Mothers

The plan is to interview all mothers who would avail themselves of a children's nursery — designed primarily for children of pre-school age — and then set up the center if the demand is sufficiently great.

Opinions expressed at the meeting virtually settled on Cortlandt street school as the site for the nursery should it be opened. The Recreation House, favored by a state inspector some months ago, was ruled out when Brunner declared he had talked to Public Property Director Noll.

"Commissioner Noll said that the building is used so extensively at present that it cannot be varied without a great deal of difficulty." The registration period was suggested by Recorder Everett B. Smith, who is also chairman of the defense council.

A note of discouragement ran through the conference as one member after another mentioned the lack of success which similar projects have met in surrounding communities.

Using this point as a base, the conferees decided it would be unwise to make formal application for government funds or to make any expenditures of town funds until the real need for the center is established. The willingness of thirty mothers to send their children was considered the absolute minimum.

Industry Uncooperative

During the discussion, Schmutz declared that industry should play a large part in care of children. "There has been no cooperation by industry," he stated, "and that seems to indicate positively that they are not interested."

It's asked for caution in proceeding on the question because "there have been whole shifts of women laid off" and industry seems to have reached the saturation point in employment.

School board member James M. Lynch said his observations while on a recent cross-country business junket was that similar programs are failing everywhere. Private enterprises can get support where public nurseries can not, he declared.

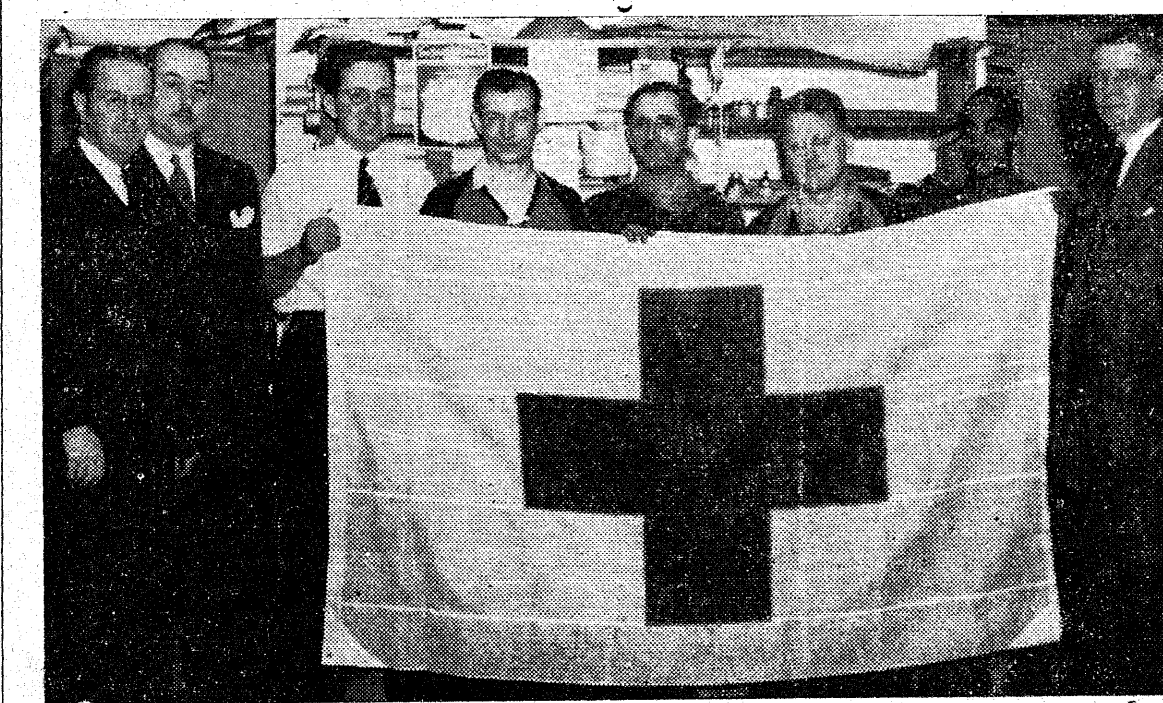

An immediate decision on the foundation of the nursery was urged by welfare director John W. Hewitt, who asked that the future of the project be allowed to take care of itself.

After asking the conference to decide then and there on the establishment of the center, he declared: "If it is conducted well, it will prosper; if not, it will shut up and die."

Attending the conference were also school trustee Walter Gilby, Mrs. John Demike of the Woman's club, Mrs. Mary E. Ridge-way of the municipal welfare department, Mrs. L. R. Reeves of the Parent-Teacher council, Dr. Edward P. Duffy Jr. and Mayor Williams.

BLACKOUT SMOOTH, SMITH REPORTS

All Defense Branches Alert,
Few Violations Observed
In Surprise Test

Belleville's entire civilian defense organization functioned smoothly Sunday night in the surprise test blackout, defense council head Everett B. Smith said Monday. Said Smith:

"Civilian defense personnel continues to be outstanding. The state, its members respond to the air raid sirens and are ready to function in the protection of Belleville's citizens and property, in spite of complacency and long intervals between tests."

"Sunday night's test found the control center, zone headquarters, casualty stations, fire headquarters, police reserves, decontamination, demolition, bomb reconnaissance and war emergency radio station, set up shortly within a few minutes after the sounding of the sirens."

"Air raid wardens had 671 posts covered by 541 wardens. Police reserves had 54 men available and ready to function. Fire reserves numbered 30; ambulance corps personnel 33, with 12 ambulances ready to function."

"There were three physicians at the casualty stations with one nurse and 24 first aiders and one canteen worker. Communications personnel were at their stations and demolition and repair groups were manned with trucks available."

"There were very few violations reported in the blackout which was a nice indication of the observance of regulations by the people of Belleville."

"The Defense Council wishes to express its appreciation for the continued cooperation of the defense personnel as well as the general public in the observance of this test."

Child Care Agitation Began More Than Two Years Ago

Agitation for the establishment of some kind of child care nursery in Belleville is more than two years old, beginning with a recommendation by Mrs. Julia O. Reiner in September, 1941.

In a quarterly report at that time, Mrs. Reiner, executive secretary of the Community Service Bureau, pointed out that defense work even before Pearl Harbor had called many women out of their homes. Since then and particularly since December 7, 1941, when the question became a burning one all over the United States, typical steps have been:

October 21, 1941 — Committee headed by Mrs. Robert Lunsford begins study of problem, plans survey.

December 2, 1941 — Committee starts survey of working mothers; numerous civic and private organizations pledge cooperation.

January 20, 1942 — Preliminary report shows 500 working mothers of 1,000 children in town.

February 18, 1942 — Mrs. Lunsford reports 200 mothers interviewed, hopes for federal funds to set up center.

April 21, 1942 — Mrs. Reiner reports 25 percent increase in women employment in town.

April 10, 1942 — Survey results reported to defense council, show 208 working mothers of 409 children.

July 10, 1942 — Mayor Williams' conference decides to open nursery in Cortlandt street school "some time after September 1," WPA to cooperate, to shut down its own nursery in Veterans' Hall and turn over its equipment and staff.

Approves School Use

July 20, 1942 — Board of education approves use of school, prohibits expenditure of own funds (defense council to meet costs).

September, 1942 — Mrs. Morris Rochlin succeeds Mrs. Lunsford as chairman of committee.

Belleville Doubles Bond Goal In Fourth War Loan

The Fourth War Loan finished last week with Belleville reporting sales amounting to 200 percent of its quota. With an initial goal of $2,100,000 the final report listed sales of $4,053,051.

The town was also far ahead on Series E bond sales, according to chairman Phillip Dettelbach. The goal of $650,000 was exceeded when the total of $862,169 was recorded.

School children in the months of January and February sold $109,321 worth of war bonds and stamps.

Infantile Paralysis Fund Drive Triples 1943 Total Collections

By more than tripling its 1943 collections, the Belleville infantile paralysis fund committee headed by Fred B. Handlon and Mrs. Mae Mead led the state in percentage on increase over last year.

The campaign netted $409 last year while more than $1,484 was contributed this winter. Handlon announced yesterday. This figure does not include the money collected in the motion picture industry drive nor the contributions mailed directly to President Roosevelt.

The local committee also showed a remarkably low expense budget, spending only $46.50 for postage, distribution of coin boxes and printing of "thank you" cards.

Brunner also commended the school children who are doing the bulk of the work in the collection of tin scrap. He urged families who have not made arrangements with a school pupil to cart the scrap to a school to do so or to call the principal of the school in the area.

He strongly urged all restaurants to cooperate in the program and to call town hall whenever they have a supply ready for pickup.

Mrs. Frank Bangert Jr. of 143 Cedar Hill avenue has been appointed chairman of the fat salvage committee and she immediately requested all butchers to strive to increase collections and to keep an accurate record of these collections.

Struck by a car Thursday, ten-year-old Margaret Dennison was reported in good condition yesterday at St. Mary's hospital, Passaic, where she was treated for lacerations and a fractured arm. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dennison of 103 Belleville avenue, she was hit at Washington avenue and Rutgers street by a car operated, police say, by Mrs. Vera K. Wehrlein of Bloomfield.

PAPER SHORTAGE GROWING ACUTE

Brunner Pleads For Help
Of Town In Collections
Of Paper, Tin, Fats

A plea for even further cooperation with the paper salvage campaign was voiced yesterday by defense coordinator Ronald G. Brunner, who pointed to the manufacturing plant in Garfield which closed down because of a lack of waste paper.

"The salvage committee is making every effort to collect waste paper," he said, "as the shortage is becoming more acute every day with little or no improvement expected in the way of wood pulp becoming available before fall."

"Therefore, in order to manufacture paper it is absolutely essential that this shortage be made up by the collection of waste paper."

The committee requests the cooperation of every citizen in Belleville to save every piece of waste paper possible, to assist us in our drive in reaching our quota which is about 100 percent higher than our present collection."

Brunner also commended the school children who are doing the bulk of the work in the collection of tin scrap. He urged families who have not made arrangements with a school pupil to cart the scrap to a school to do so or to call the principal of the school in the area.

He strongly urged all restaurants to cooperate in the program and to call town hall whenever they have a supply ready for pickup.

Minasian Plans Honor Court For Boy Scouts March 22

Henry Minasian, chairman of the Boy Scout advancement committee, announced yesterday that a public court of honor for scouts, scouts, parents and friends of all the troops in Belleville will be held in the auditorium of Union avenue school March 22. An interesting program is being developed, he said.

The scoutmasters' training course got under way last week. Wayne R. Farmer, chairman of the training committee, introduced the course leader, Harry F. Brumbach, who in turn presented the members of the training staff.

Thirteen men were enrolled and more are expected next week. The training course will continue for six indoor sessions, all at the Montgomery Presbyterian church at 8 on Tuesday evenings. Scoutmasters eighteen years or over are invited to enroll.

GENERAL CANVASS WELL ORGANIZED FOR RED CROSS

Industrial Committee Reports
50 To 100 Percent Increase
In Early Contributions

The house-to-house and industrial sections of the 1944 Red Cross War Fund were reported last night by their chairmen to be in high gear and initial campaign reports showed substantial increases over last year's contributions.

Drive chairman Elmer S. Hyde indicated yesterday that more than 200 canvassers had gotten well into their general solicitation throughout the town.

He commended house-to-house chairman Robert P. Smith for the high degree of organization which Smith has effected in his division. He stated, however, that reports are still too scattered to publicize.

Gilbert Wright's industrial committee, which includes Raymond Yerg, W. Douglas Clark, O. B. Bart, Albert P. Luscombe, Clarence Lommerin, Edward Parr and Arthur Dent, also reports "heartening progress."

Two plants, Hanlon and Goodman company and Bart Laboratories, have already reached their goal of 100 percent employee participation at the suggested minimum pledge of $3 per employee. Both companies have been awarded Red Cross flags.

"It is the hope of the committee," said Wright, "that many more Belleville plants will earn the right to fly these Red Cross flags by attaining this quota." He indicated that industrial contributions to date are from 50 to 100 percent above last year.

Organizations throughout the town are swinging into the support of the campaign. The Woman's club netted $160 for the Red Cross as a result of a card party Monday afternoon and proceeds of Sunday's meeting of Evergreen's Bible class will be poured into the coffers.

Valued Overseas

The value of the Red Cross to servicemen overseas is shown in two letters released yesterday by Hyde. The first was received by Rev. Dr. and Mrs. O. Bell Close of 20 Tiona avenue from their son, recently wounded in Italy while on ambulance duty with the American Field Service.

"Right now I'm in a military hospital in Italy. The Red Cross has been darn good to me. A dozen X-rays, cigarettes, stationery, fountain pen, everything needed in a hospital and a Red Cross gal has gone now to select a present for my girl back home."

A letter to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferraro of 754 Washington avenue is from their son, Joseph Jr., a prisoner of war in a German camp.

"I am praying to our Lord that this war will end so I may return home again to you all. You can go to the Red Cross and find out what you can send me. I get a Red Cross box every week full of food."

PBA Ball Planned At Elks Club March 18; Paramount Music

Plans have been virtually completed, chairman Harry Winfield announced yesterday, for the third annual ball of the Belleville Patrons of the Benevolent association at the Elks club March 18.

He revealed that the dancing music will be furnished by the Paramount orchestra under the direction of George Milano and that entertainment will be provided by Fred Oliver.

Assisting Winfield on the committee in charge of arrangements are Anthony Gross, Jerry Lilore, John Monaghan and PBA president James Lee. The public is invited to attend.

War Fund-Chest Tabulations

The breakdown of the collections reported in the War Fund-Community Chest campaign shows more than $33,000 contributed by industrial firms and employees while the house-to-house solicitation netted $8,810. Noting a drop in two districts of the latter section, Coogan explained:

"In fairness to the efforts of the workers and the citizens of these districts it should be noted that the greater percentage of the folks in these districts gave their contributions at their places of employment and are included under the industrial employees' division."

"In all districts, because of the lateness of this drive, many people had contributed to War Fund campaigns of other municipalities, the places of their employment."

Summerville Presides

Sidney C. Summerville of 365 Little street presided Monday at the meeting of the Apropos club of Newark when Joseph H. Kenney of Plainfield, R. J. Hall of Wright Aeronautical corporation and other distinguished post-war problems, including depression, inflation, absorption of veterans into industry.

Convicted of drunken driving Monday morning, John W. Eckstedt of 225 New Jersey avenue, Union, immediately filed an appeal from Recorder Smith's decision and the fine of $200, costs of $25 and two-year revocation of his driver's license.

Eckstedt was convicted after Patrolman Lukowiak testified that he had stopped the Union man at Union and Belleville avenues February 8 after he had gone through a red light. Lukowiak said the defendant was drunk.

Dr. Anthony R. Caputo said that he and Dr. Martin M. McMan had reached the same conclusion in the formal examination even though Eckstedt had vehemently refused to cooperate on most of the tests.

He denied, under questioning by defense attorney Edward J. Abramson, that a drug, nembutal, would cause "staggering" and other imitations of intoxication. Abramson became so abusive with Caputo that Smith eventually made him apologize.

The apology came after Abramson charged, "No matter what I said you would say he was drunk."

Other testimony was offered by Dr. Louis M. Bull of Newark, Eckstedt's personal physician who said he had prescribed nembutal for the man, and Dr. Samuel Hirschburg, also of Newark. Questioned on the stand, Eckstedt himself "didn't remember" anything about the examination.

COMMUNITY CHEST REALIZES $48,000 IN CAMPAIGN

Coogan Credits His Workers
For Raising Largest Sum
In History Of Charity

Final figures on the War Fund-Community Chest campaign were listed yesterday at $48,510 in an announcement by general chairman John F. Coogan Jr. as he turned his job back to the executive committee. His statement follows:

"As general chairman of the campaign committee of Belleville's Community War Fund campaign, having made my report and turned over pledges and currency to President Paul De Hagara and the executive committee for their care and administration, I have asked to have published in this issue of The Times a district and divisional report of the amounts collected by the campaign committee for the information of all who were interested in the drive, the contributing public and officers and workers for the drive."

The amount collected, $48,510, I am advised, is the largest amount ever collected in Belleville on any previous charitable contribution solicitation.

Commends Workers

"With due credit to the officers and committee members, including myself, I wish to say that in my sincere judgment the major share of credit for the results achieved is due to the sub-chairmen, the captains and the co-workers who really did the work, the work of soliciting the funds. This credit is shared by the public who contributed the funds."

"A substantial share of the total contributions, as the report will indicate, is attributable to the contributions realized from industrial employees and industrial firms."

"I should like — but I am not going to attempt to mention all to whom credit is due; so may I thank all for their assistance in the War Fund effort, with my assurance that it was to me an honor to have been called upon to act as general chairman of the campaign committee and a genuine pleasure to have enjoyed the association and the cooperation of the members of the War Fund organization."

Legion Accepts Four Members, Plans For Party And Dance

Four new members were accepted into the Belleville Post 160 or the American Legion Monday night: Serge V. Esseyan of 221 Little street, Harold E. Glass of 57 Division avenue, William J. Gilchrist of 183 Rutgers street and William H. Hoffman of North Arlington.

Esseyan is the only veteran of World War II and brings the total from this war to 15 in the post.

The ladies' auxiliary will sponsor the post's twenty-fifth anniversary party March 20 and it is expected that several new members recently voted into the organization will be formally inducted.

The annual dance of the post will be held April 1 at Veterans' hall to the music of Corio's Serenaders. Ernest Brown is chairman of the committee on arrangements and a door prize has been donated by Commissioner Mertz.

Elsbree Recommends Salary Schedule For Belleville Teachers

Tells Conference Of Schoolmen
And Citizens Advantages
Of Financial Stability

The recommendation that a committee of teachers' personnel of the town be formed to draw up a salary schedule for presentation to the board of education was the highlight of the round-table discussion last night among members of the board, the teachers and interested citizens with Dr. Willard S. Elsbree of Columbia university's teachers' college.

Elsbree, a school finances expert, appeared before the group to expound his philosophy on the question of a schedule which would serve as a guide in arranging pedagogues' salaries, fixing a minimum and a maximum as well as the scale on which they would progress.

He pointed out that such a committee would not be in the nature of a collective bargaining agent, but would attempt to arrive at a universally acceptable program, which "the board of education can throw out if it believes it not feasible."

Teachers, as other groups of wage-earners, have three main incentives toward better work, he declared: interest in their jobs, recognition of their achievements and financial reward and security. His purpose was to discuss the third.

He recommended the joint action on the question rather than an arbitrary action of the board or that of an expert because it is more democratic, gives the teachers an opportunity to become familiar with community problems, and the chances of universal acceptability will be higher.

If there is unhappiness and discontent among the teaching personnel, you can be sure you are not getting the most out of the money you are spending," he stated.

Morale Upswing

He pointed to the upswing in morale in Montclair, Bloomfield, South Orange and Maplewood as typical of the results of adoption of a schedule, which, he admitted in answer to a question, is difficult to adjust to compensate for business fluctuations.

In such times the schedule can be suspended or a new schedule can be drawn up, he said.

Board president Herbert C. Schmutz averred that such schedules usually are not absolutely binding on the school body but that the board assures (as in the case of South Orange) the teachers that it will follow the guide except in unusual cases or economic conditions.

School superintendent Wayne R. Farmer pointed that any new teacher coming into a system "wants to know what his future may be, what he can expect in the future."

Mayor Williams told Elsbree that he had cleared the air of many issues, that "frozen" salaries may be a serious problem and that a depression, that municipalities are slower to react to depression than is business and that a teacher who makes herself more valuable by extra study should be rewarded (as thought also propounded by George Newman).

Takes Time

Elsbree answered a question Miss Lena Dunlap by saying complete adjustment of an individual teacher's salary when schedule first goes into effect usually takes five or six years.

He recommended elimination of the differentiation in salaries between high school and elementary school teachers with the same qualifications.

Rev. Dr. O. Bell Close ended the conference with the observation that three elements must be taken into consideration in proposals: the pupils, the teachers and the citizens at large.

This plan must comprehend all three groups, it must be community-oriented," he said. "It will not be good if it disregards the interests of one or two of these groups. It must be able to be adjusted if any one group suffers."

In these days of rising prices, there are few bargains left, but a small sum will still buy a lot of checking account service.

The new tax bill recently passed by Congress provides for substantial increases in the cost of postal money orders beginning March 26. If you have been using this means of paying bills, you will find a checking account much more economical.

You do not have to keep a large balance to have a checking account in this bank. Moderate charges are based on the number of checks you issue. We invite you to call at the bank, write or telephone for information about the type of account that will best fit your needs.

Manning, who has shared the dramatic missions of the American eighth air force to secure his secure and graphic accounts first hand, is one of eight reporters who have been dubbed the "writing 6th". They were intensively trained before being permitted to accompany American bombers in raids over Germany.

Manning arrived here in January with the first motion picture lecture of the bombing of Germany, one of the films to be shown Friday night. Commenting on the blow to our fighting men's morale in over-sanguine predictions about the war's early end, Manning has said, "Our bombing of Germany, terrific as it has been will not win this war for us. Our military leaders doing expect it to."

"It's true that Berlin is terribly damaged, but people overlook the fact that Germany is as marvelously organized for rehabilitation as she is for war! She had time to prepare for bombings while England did not."

MAY GIVE COURSE IN MERCHANDIZING

Parmer Recommends Class For High Schools; Board Leery Of Federal Aid

One of Belleville's crying needs may be answered next fall if the recommendation, made by School Superintendent Parmer last week, is approved by the board of education at its next meeting.

Parmer proposed that the high school inaugurate a course in merchandizing and selling. The program itself is called distributive education and covers the broad field of consumer psychology and buying habits.

The board temporarily tabled the proposal Monday night, saying away from proffered federal aid in meeting the costs of the course. It was pointed out that fifty percent of the teacher's salary would be paid by the federal government and part of the operating expenses would come from the state.

The school board, a firm believer in municipal self-sufficiency, decided to lay the question over for further study and possible action at its next meeting, March 20.

There was general agreement on the need for such a course in the school system, a course which would teach students the rudiments of contact with the buying public and the art of diplomacy in dealing with customers.

Work And Study
Parmer pointed out that the academic training and practical experience, since students would spend part of their time in real jobs in which they could try their learning.

Parmer urged the adoption of the plan because it would prepare some children for the kind of work they are going to do anyway. Board President Schmutz agreed with the nature of the plan but objected to the government having a hand in the school system.

Immediate hiring of a full-time teacher was also recommended by Parmer who reported that the present teacher, Mrs. C. Van Sickle, is ill and is not expected to be able to return to teaching this year.

HIS pin-up GIRL!

Here is a letter from an Ensign in the Pacific to his daughter:

"Dear Little Nancy:

Now you are two. It must be nice to be two. I don't think I ever was two. At least, I don't remember. I started out being four. That is as far back as I can remember. When you are all grown up, you will think you started out being four, too. But my mother and daddy tell me I was two. So, I guess I was. They are very smart.

Just your mother will remember you. You had a party. I wanted to go to your party. I know you would have invited me, if I were around. But I am not around. That is why your mother, but not your daddy, will remember you when you were two. It doesn't seem fair, will it? I should know you. You should know me. Daddies should know their little girls when they are two. Little girls should know their daddies. But then, things could be worse. Lots of daddies don't even know their little girls at all. And the little girls don't know their daddies. Some little girls will never know their daddies. Their daddies will never come back. But we are luckier than that. I shall come to your next party, the one when you are three.

You should be proud of yourself. You are two. You did a lot in the last two years. Much more than your daddy - or your mother - or anybody - except maybe some other people who are two. You learned lots of things - all good things. Every body should have learned good things. Just like you did. Your daddy learned bad things. Millions of daddies learned bad things, how to stab, how to shoot, how to fight, how to kill. Soon the bad things will be over. People will learn good things again. Just like you. When the bad things are over, we shall be together. We shall have lots of fun.

I look at your picture all the time. I even have one where I work. That is because I love you.

Happy Birthday,
Daddy"

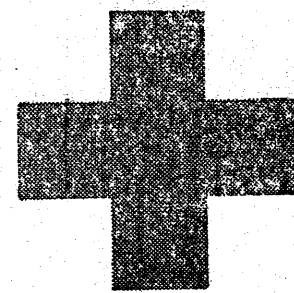

The Red Cross Drive is on.
Surely you will give liberally of your money to minister to the boys at the front; and, if physically able, of your blood.

Registration — Its Importance

The most important event in the school life of each student is registration. The future learning of the coming year depends on this registration, which will go on this week. Parents are strongly urged to cooperate with the principal and faculty in helping their children choose their subjects. Their interest and guidance will be most needed by their children.

Perhaps students don't realize just how many things are taken into account when they fill out their schedules for next year. They must choose subjects that they have ability and interest for. Students should have initiative to choose some harder subjects with will-power to carry them through. Aptitude and perseverance should also be taken into account.

The future of the student's life may well depend on registration day. If he goes to college, he must have the subjects that college will request. A secretary or stenographer learns in high school the basic work of an office. Remember, you will be earning money on what you know. Are you sure you have the right subjects for the work you want to do?

More important than anything else — you must choose correctly. The teachers are office will help you as much as possible. Select carefully your subjects, but before you do, give the matter your best attention. Then, and only then, your selection will be a good and permanent one.

ELEVEN STUDENTS WIN ART AWARDS

Gold Pin Prizes Won By Two Entrants, Mackey Shows Fine Works

Belleville High School was represented by the art work of eleven students in the New Jersey Scholastic Exhibition of High School Art sponsored by L. B. Berger and Co. of Newark and Scholastic Magazine. The exhibit, shown last week at the Newark store, represents the art work of all this New Jersey high schools.

Over 4,000 individual works were entered. Of these, an important jury chose about 1,000 to appear in the exhibit.

Bill Mackey led three Belleville contestants with five accepted pieces. Two of his works, one in water color and the other in ink, were given "Gold Pin" awards. A golden "Merit" award was given to John S. Gordon. Enrichment at the high school also won the same prize.

Other students whose works were accepted were Jack Goodford, George Rief, Bill North, Frank Cribb, Jack Weber, Pete Caruso, Gilbert Bates, Thomas Jackson and Betty Schmitt. As a result of the exhibit, two of the entrants have already been offered positions in the field of industrial art and design.

Belleville students under the faculty guidance of P. Webster, director of the high school Art Department, have been consistent winners in the competitions for a number of years.

The exhibition will be on display through Saturday, March 11.

A group of students of the Belleville High School music classes, under the faculty direction of Mrs. Alice Wagner, put on a musical show at the Belleville Rotary Club luncheon meeting on Wednesday at the Forest Hill Club in Bloomfield.

Frank Kovats sang an Irish song which amused and entertained his listeners, and Phyllis L. Sturco followed by playing a violin solo. Anna Santiglia and Mary Huberle contributed a song and a saxophone solo, and the Belleville High School girls trio consisting of Miss Santiglia, Sue Dorris and Laurel Milne, also sang.

Bertha Hermann and Ann Carline played the piano for the different students.

Students participating were unanimous in their praise of the friendliness of the Rotary, the good time enjoyed by all and the delicious luncheon.

Students Hear Nutley Band In Assembly Program

Your reporter had the pleasure of interviewing the band which entertained BHS students in the assembly program March 3. Nutley High School's Rhythmic Band really swung out with their arrangements of "Jam Session," "Tik's Parade," and "Amen."

The singing of the band's trio of songstresses was really "something out of this world." The harmonizing of "The Dreamer" with Helen Miles, Joan McDonald, and Muriel Bowman was excellent. Helen Miles, the feature vocalist of the band, drew volumes of applause with her renditions of "Heart Tells Me" and "Blue Rain."

The band's theme song was "The Dominant Mood." Their favorite song is "Boogie Woogie." During the program, the band presented "Stump It or Lump It" with "Step" Avidian as master of ceremonies. Avidian planned the questioning and consequences of Eleanor Bowden, Al Citarella, Joan Garvey and Frank Remis. The victims' consequences were to lead the band or play one of the instruments.

Members of the band are Avidian, Charlie Kinsley, Jack Sost, Bob Pierce, Reece Hammond, Walt Meink, Bruce Colwell, Marty Tanzer, Al Siegel, Wally Hanison, Roy Schaefer, Ned Hopper, and Davy Morback. The band members have played their instruments from two to six years each.

ARMY-NAVY TEST DATA ANNOUNCED

Superintendent Parmer Recommends Test To Boys From 17-21

Superintendent of Schools Wayne K. Parmer today recommended the Army-Navy College Qualifying Test on March 15 to young men eligible for the test.

The Army-Navy College Qualifying Test, described in the leaflet by that name available through high school principals and containing an application blank for the test, provides a basis for the selection of young men for the Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College program. Created as a result of a joint effort of the War and Navy departments and the U.S. Office of Education, it will be administered locally in high schools, preparatory schools and colleges throughout the nation at 1 o'clock, Wednesday morning, March 15.

The test is open to young men who will reach their 17th birthday by July 1, 1944, and who are in the final year of their senior year of high school, recent high school or prep school graduates, or college students without certificates of graduation from high school and not now enrolled in any service program. Those who failed to qualify on previous Army-Navy College Qualifying Tests are also eligible provided they are not in the armed forces.

Candidates are required to designate a choice when they take the test. Men who designate a reference for the Navy, which includes Marine Corps and Coast Guard, must be between 17 and 19 years inclusive by July 1, 1944.

Those selected for the Navy College program will attend colleges under contract to the Navy of a varying number of 16 weeks or more. They will be on active duty in uniform under military discipline and receive the pay of the lowest enlisted grade. The Navy pays all expenses and gives consideration to personal preference for colleges on the Navy list and courses to be pursued.

Seventeen year olds who designate Army preference and qualify on the test are offered military scholarships in the Army Specialized Training Reserve program. They receive training at a selected college on inactive duty until the end of the term in which they reach their 18th birthday. At that time they are placed on active duty and sent to an Army installation for basic military training, after which, if still qualified, they are placed in the A.S.T.P.

Those between 18 and 22 years on July 1, 1944 who qualify and designate Army preference are earmarked for special consideration for the A.S.T.P. after induction.

Junior Miss To Be Presented By Senior Class March 30-31

"Junior Miss," a three-act comedy which deals with the heartbreaks of growing girls, will be presented at the senior class in the high school auditorium on March 30 and 31st.

"Junior Miss" was written by Helen Miles and Miss Eleanor Bowden, authors of "My Sister Ellen," and is based on the book by Sally Benson. L. H. Howard Fox will serve as faculty chairman and Miss Eleanor Bowden and John S. Gordon as co-chairmen, with Betty Cook acting as student director.

Tryouts are still being held although most of the parts have been filled. In the plays it stands for Joseph Rue, Lillian McKenna, Catherine Anderson, Betty Rae Brown, Betty Strane, Donald Puchlin, Van Schneider, Walter Speyer, Albert Knight, Robert Peppel, and Paul Deckenbach.

HIGH-LIGHTS did not appear last week because of technical difficulties at the paper's printing plant.

Students Register For Next Year's Courses

Curriculum Changes Listed For Students Choosing Courses Offered

Registration for next year's courses will keep BHS students busy during this week. Poring over the lists of subjects trying to decide which ones to take, the students have need of a few hints of the following quotes from the course of study.

Colleges and universities require sixteen units for admission. One unit stands for one year of work in a prepared course which is in session five days a week. Five credit points equal one unit. A student preparing for college should have four prepared courses, or "solids," each year.

Many colleges require that the student must have five major fields: English, history, mathematics, science, and foreign language. Some colleges will allow two units in subjects such as art or woodworking. It takes two years of printing, music, art or other such subjects to make one unit.

College Requirements

Students who are preparing to enter a New Jersey Teachers' college should register for the College Preparatory Curriculum. It is strongly recommended that this curriculum be followed. The student may meet the language, biology and physics should be taken. Second year algebra may be omitted unless the student intends to major in Math.

All applicants are required to take entrance examinations, usually given at the respective colleges in May, in the following areas:

Written English; Reading; General information (mathematics, science, history, etc.)

"Holmes" On The Loose Named To Library Board

During the last two or three days a few B.H.S. students, representatives of the whole school, enlightened our weary wanderer "Hercules Holmes," with these startling answers to the question, "What is your peeve when it comes to dating?"

Al Citarella: "When the girl says 'No!'"

Marion Lanning: "When he notices other girls."

Joe Rue and Ed Speyer: "Girls with short hair."

Frank Leichter: "The street light in front of my house."

Ed Robbins: "Silent males."

Bob McEwan: "Uncooperative."

Billy Schmutz: "Fellows that all late."

Bob Meyers: "Girls that have to be home early."

"Lorrie" Reilly: "Peeves. I have none. Dates just thrill me."

Dick Gross: "When she talks about other fellows."

Tourney Game Saturday Night

Belleville's first game in the New Jersey Tournament will be played Saturday at the Bloomfield High school gym.

The Bellboys play the winner of the Central-East Orange struggle, which will be played tonight at the Seton Hall College court in South Orange.

We Have With Us Today—

Dorothy L. Shaner

The young woman who plans all of those delicious meals served in the cafeteria.

Miss Shaner came to BHS with a plan to organize a cafeteria which she finally accomplished in 1937. She has been in complete charge since the beginning of the organization. Her job is to plan the menus, purchase food and supplies, supervise the personnel and take care of the bookkeeping. Outside of school her duties consist of being chairman of the Red Cross Canteen unit.

The cafeteria serves eight hundred daily, but don't forget those busy days. Miss Shaner said that there has been an increase in the sales of hot food and personnel. She thinks this is wonderful. Also, records show that more students are using the cafeteria and this fact pleases our dietitian ever more.

The cafeteria now employs four full time workers and nine B.H.S. students. You can see it is a very busy unit.

Miss Shaner was graduated from Edinburgh High school and Pennsylvania State University where she majored in Institutional Home Economics. At college she was a member of Chi Omega Society.

Our dietitian also expressed her enthusiasm for outdoor sports and hiking.

Miss Shaner thinks that our high school news is a very good idea. However, she is writing the day when BHS will have complete power of its own which can be sold through this locality.

Students, whenever you eat one of those wholesome, nourishing meals in the cafeteria, just stop and think. It was Miss Dorothy Shaner's hard work that made it possible along with the work of her assistants.

HEUSER COMPANY TO CELEBRATE

Junior Achievement Group Plans "Victory" Party At Headquarters

Pleased with the fulfillment of its contracts, although the company has been in existence only since November, the Heuser Woodcraft company, a local Junior Achievement unit, has arranged a "victory party" tonight at 562 Washington avenue, the JA headquarters.

William L. Heuser Jr., president of the company which is composed of 12 Belleville high school students, said yesterday: "We are so pleased with our completion of contracts that it is only fitting to honor the workers."

The party will not be an elaborate one, Heuser pointed out, since "these are war times and we must conform with government ideas on saving food."

Invited are the workers, Governor Edge, Mayor Williams, state labor commissioner John Toohy Jr., Harry G. Specht, vice president of Eastwood-Nealley corporation, sponsor of the Woodcraft company, Richard G. Boyd, national program coordinator of J.A. Williams, Jr., former associate state JA director, Edgar S. Peierls, chairman of the Belleville central committee, school superintendent Warner and high school principal Johnson.

Students besides Heuser who comprise the JA company are secretary Anne Gerino, treasurer Marjorie Hansen, production manager Leonard Nesta, sales manager Joyce Shannon, publicity director Lois Barrington.

Other company members are Donald Havas, June Jimmerson, Vilma Del Priore, Leonard Hicken, Eleanor Denike and Charles Zinde Jr.

The company has completed four contracts for important war work for Newark and Belleville concerns. "We are proud of the fact that the machinery we use in our own company," Heuser said, "this machinery was purchased through stock subscription of which there are 81 stockholders."

Changes Of Courses

The student's choice of subjects must be approved by his advisor, guidance department, and his parent. Changes in the curriculum will be allowed only for important reasons. The parents should send in writing, the request for change, which must then be approved by the Principal or Guidance department.

Student Load

No student may take subjects requiring more than 25 points in addition to Physical Ed. without the permission of the Guidance department or the principal. Those taking band, orchestra or Jee Club may increase the maximum.

Health

Each student, unless excused by a physician, is required by state law to take physical education. All girls are required to take home Nursing. All students are required to take Health Ed and First Aid.

School Organizations

Membership in recognized organizations connected with the school work is encouraged, subject to regulations based on consideration for the health, scholarship and general welfare of the students.

Boys Attend Extra Class To Assist In Audio-Visual Work

A class which meets once a week after school is helping teachers and students here in the high school to use an interesting educational method more effectively than before. This is the Audio-Visual group which is composed of about 14 boys who gather after school hours under the faculty direction of Paul Brennan to learn how to operate movie and sound projectors.

Any teacher desiring to show an educational film applies for the film and proper machine to Brennan and John R. Charlton, faculty directors of the Audio-Visual program. The boys in the class use their knowledge by setting up and operating all the necessary equipment in the classroom itself.

KEEP ON Backing the Attack WITH WAR BONDS

Any teacher desiring to show an educational film applies for the film and proper machine to Brennan and John R. Charlton, faculty directors of the Audio-Visual program. The boys in the class use their knowledge by setting up and operating all the necessary equipment in the classroom itself.

It is of the utmost importance that the curriculum best suited to its ability and needs be selected for the student. The parent should consult teachers, Guidance Director and other experienced persons in his attempt to make a wise choice for his child.

Many cases of failures in high school are due to the selection of curriculum for which the student has no aptitude, or to the selection of too many hours of work.

Students who have no intention of going to college or to scientific school should elect either of the college-preparatory curricula unless the student has shown high scholastic aptitude. The curriculum should be selected only after lengthy study and consultation with parents and school officials.

While the Belleville High School is not primarily a college-preparatory institution, it offers the opportunity, through courses and expert, experienced instruction, for any student with the health, ability and determination requisite for pursuing a college course, to meet all requirements of any college.

The college-preparatory curriculum is difficult. They may be completed in four years with entire success by capable students who have good health and attend faithfully to their duties. Any scholarship grade below "B" is questionable for college preparation.

A cordial invitation to visit the school at any time is extended to parents and others interested in the work. At that time, there would be opportunity for parents to talk with the principal and teachers concerning the work of their children. Appointments with teachers, Guidance Director and Principal may be made by telephone.

Senior Writers Oratory Contest

Alan Rosenberg, B. H. S. senior and member of the Journalism staff, has been entered in the annual oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion. Rosenberg will compete at the Nutley town hall against representatives of Saint Benedict and Seton Hall preparatory schools and Good Counsel and Nutley High Schools.

The winner will go on to sectional contests, and eventually the competition will become national, with a $4,000 college scholarship to be awarded to the ultimate winner.

STUDY HALL CHATTER

A group of Belleville High school girls enjoyed themselves immensely at a recent party held in honor of the 25th Anniversary of New Jersey College for Women. The "Monad" has gone to press!

Those are quite dazzling bracelets that Jean Walker and Irene DeVan are sporting! Couldn't be from certain gobs, could they? Jean and Irene? Is the "Paper Doll" still carrying the torch?

Home on furlough was Paul Noble. On a 48 hour pass was Neal Finn. Say! who is Lou Vooring. Congratulations are due our splendid basketball team on the victory over Weequahic in the Infantile Paralysis Fun game. A little late, but nice going boys.

Happy birthday to Marie O'Brien and Miss Alice MacKenzie, school nurse. Quite a bit of applause is due Father Dougherty of St. Mary's Church of Nutley, an excellent tall in last week's assembly.

Was Mr. Tschubull's face red the handle from one of the desk drawers in 303!

BHS Grad On College Honor List

Madeline Jean Williams, a 1941 graduate of BHS has been placed in the Dean's list of Honor Students at Mary Washington College, where she is a student.

The Dean's list consists of those students who have attained an average of at least B in their courses with no grade below C.

While at BHS, Miss Williams was prominent in school activities, and was a member of the Senate and senior play cast.

BHS's boy's bowling team, paced by Ernie Ritchie and Bill Ewald won both its matches with the Bloomfield High keggers, taking the first match at the Broad and Bay alleys in Bloomfield, February 26, and the second at the North Newark alleys, Saturday.

Winning the first match by 74 pins, the Bellboys amassed a total of 2507 pins against the loser's 2233. Ewald bowled high game of 197 and high series of 529. Irving was high for Bloomfield with a 491 series.

In the second contest the bowlers made a clean sweep, taking all three games by close scores. Ritchie rolled a high 216 game, while Ewald again rolled high series with 516. Irving again led Bloomfield with 0 507 three-game total.

Winning the first game by 15 pins the victors went on to take the second by 11 and squeezed through a low scoring third game to come out on top by a one point margin. Belleville totaled 2315 pins against Bloomfield's 2238.

Girls Bow

The Belleville girls did not fare so well, losing their two contests with the Bengal girls by 420 and 261 pins. In the first meeting Laura Obal of Bloomfield won high scoring honors with a 407 three-game total and a 156 single. Mary Jakes led the losing team with a 324 series. The second match showed Evelyn Lorenz of Bloomfield bowling the high series of 438, and Dot Greulich of Belleville rolling a high 161 single game.

Engaged

Miss Mabel G. Harris

The engagement of Miss Mabel G. Harris to Harry Franklin Brumbach Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Brumbach of 100 Little street, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Harris of 114 Floyd street.

Both are graduates of the high school and Miss Harris is currently a student at the Washington school for secretaries in Newark. She is also a Red Cross nurse's aid at Presbyterian hospital, Newark.

Her fiancé, who has finished his V-12 Navy pre-medical course at Bucknell university, is about to enter medical school. He is president of his chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. The couple expects to be married in June.

He's Commissioned, They're Married

Ensign and Mrs. Walter J. Botto

The graduation of Ensign Walter J. Botto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Botto of 217 Stephens street, from the Merchant Marine Academy at Kingspoint, L. I., where he received his commission in the Maritime service and the Naval Reserve last week, was followed by his marriage Saturday to Miss Judith Rebello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rebello of Newark.

The couple were married in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Newark, by Rev. Dr. Samuel Rizzo, pastor.

Two sisters, Miss Lucille Rebello and Arlita Rebello, attended the bride as maid of honor and flower girl. Bridesmaids were Miss Isolina Montero and Miss Cecilia Hernandez of Newark. Lt. Carmen Pasquariello served as Ensign Botto's best man and ushers were Cpl. Louis Steffanelli of 731 Washington avenue, Ensign Marvin Ribner of Brooklyn and Pvt. John Gerken of North Arlington.

Miss Rebello's heavy satin gown of off-white was embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones and matched by the crown which held her three-quarter length veil. The dress was finished with a formal train. She carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias. Attendants, including the tiny flower girl, wore pale blue net costumes with Dutch caps of the same material and carried cascade bouquets of dark red roses.

Young Mrs. Botto was graduated from Darcy high school in East Orange. Ensign Botto was employed in the laboratories of National Grain yeast company and attended Newark Technical school after being graduated from Belleville high school in 1938. He entered the Maritime service 18 months ago and will be assigned to duty after a two weeks' leave.

A brother, Raymond Botto, cadet midshipman of the maritime service, was prevented from serving as Ensign Botto's best man because he is on sea duty. Graduated from the local high school in 1942, he entered service in July.

Mr. and Mrs. John Deighan of 427 Centre street, Nutley recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Julia Deighan, to Arnold Muha, seaman 1/c, son of Mrs. Anna Muha of Ann Arbor, Mich. The Deighans moved to Nutley a year ago from 165 Garden avenue.

Konrad Urges Local Help For Legion Omnibus Bill

American Legion Commander Outlines Group's Proposal For War Veterans

Enactment of the American Legion's omnibus bill now pending in Congress will affect vitally an estimated 6,500 residents of Belleville, declared Commander William Konrad of the Belleville Post 105 yesterday in commenting on the legislation as the "GI Bill of Rights."

Konrad pointed out that 2,600 men and women from Belleville are serving in the armed forces today whose future welfare will be materially shaped by this measure.

"Multiply this figure by the number of their dependents using the conservative family ration of 2 1/2 per individual and you have the total number of Bellevillites to whom this legislation will be of inestimable aid," he said.

The American Legion measure sets up a master plan for dealing with the "whole veteran's problem of the war. It would unify all government functions for veterans under the Veterans Administration, simplify procedure by eliminating red tape and assure fairness for both the veterans and the taxpayers," the Legion head stated.

"At present more than a dozen government agencies are competing with each other for the honor of serving the returning veterans. The result is a lot of confusion, overlapping services, red tape, divided responsibility and too often outright neglect of the veteran who needs prompt and adequate care quickly."

Features Of Bill

Outstanding provisions of the

Legion's omnibus bill include:

1. Opportunity for education or vocation training for veterans, with subsistence allowances while going to school of $50 a month for the single, $75 married.

2. Muster-out pay for all honorably discharged veterans with $500 as the maximum.

3. Federal-state cooperation for aid in purchase of homes or farms, with loans up to $7,500 for the former, $12,500 for a farm.

4. Extension of unemployment allowances up to 52 weeks on a basis similar to that to which they would have been entitled had they remained civilians and contributed to the social security tax.

5. No release from active service of any diseased, wounded or handicapped veteran until provision had been made for his rehabilitation and care.

6. To be included.

War Agency

7. U.S. Veterans Administration to be designated as a war agency with priorities in personnel, equipment, supplies and materials.

8. Construction of additional hospital beds for war veterans; establishment of regional offices of Veterans Administration.

9. Mutual use and interchange of Army and Navy hospitals and placing of V.A. officials at hospitals to eliminate red tape.

10. Consolidation of certain bureau and services.

11. No serviceman suffering from disease or injury shall be required to sign a statement of any nature relating to the disease or injury, or any other statement against his interest.

Konrad urged all residents of Belleville to make known their support of the bill to their congressman and senators.

That is an American boy... behind that wire!

THAT is an American there condemned by the chance of war to eat alien bread in some far-off prison camp.

He is hungry for news... hungry for the sight of his native land... for the sound of a voice like yours... for the touch of a woman's hand.

But he won't be forgotten! For the Red Cross, to the utmost of its power, will get your letters in to him... will pass his letters out to you.

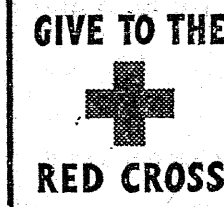

And every week, right from your heart, he will get, if humanly possible, a nourishing Red Cross food carton... eleven full pounds of the sort of food you'd give him if you still had him safe at home. Meat, cheese, sugar, prunes, chocolate bars and real American cigarettes and tobacco!

If he is sick or wounded, he will get a

Red Cross invalid package containing food for a special diet, doubly enriched to bring him quickly back to health. No, he won't be forgotten... not while your Red Cross is on the job.

You have given your sons...

you have done the extra work... donated your blood and bought your bonds.

Yes, and you have helped the Red Cross before with a generous and willing heart.

Giving to the Red Cross has always been a great proud habit of thirty million American families... proud that they could give... proud of the Red Cross that made the giving worthwhile.

But this year, when the need is greater than ever before—this year you will want to give more... to give freely to your own Red Cross... to your own sons in the service.

This year dig deep and be glad. For wherever he is

The RED CROSS is at his side and the Red Cross is YOU!

Odd Fellows Mark Centenary

ONE HUNDRED YEARS old, Harmony Lodge of the Odd Fellows has decided to postpone celebration of the event until after the war. The original charter of the organization, which meets in the Masonic temple, was dated February 1, 1844, and the lodge has been meeting continuously ever since. Named to the committee in charge of arrangements for the observance are (left to right) John Whitfield, Howard A. Holmes, Reginald Cuttriss, Alfred Brickell, Edward Braun, Chester Chinnock and Halley F. Hickok.

Postpone Centennial Party Until After War, Put Money Into Bonds

One of the oldest fraternal organizations in New Jersey last month observed the hundredth anniversary of its foundation when Harmony Lodge 25, Independent Order of Odd Fellows reached the century mark.

The lodge has been functioning continuously and holding twice-monthly meetings here since February 1, 1844, when the original charter was granted. Most of the founding fathers of Belleville were members of the organization for many years.

Starting in a modest way, the lodge grew to be a powerful influence in civic affairs throughout the nineteenth century only to fall into a decline about fifty years ago. When the membership had dropped to a low point of 3, the "Odd Guard" took hold of the reins and raised the number to better than 250. At the present time an active membership of 75 meets regularly in the Masonic temple at 126 Joramelon street.

The lodge, which is actively participating in the county Odd Fellows' program of fitting out the rest room at the new Weequahic Park Army hospital, will postpone celebration of its centenary until after the war, meantime putting the money into war bonds.

Harmony's degree team was among the best in the state and at the request of the grand master traveled to many district degree demonstrations. Their degree work is dramatized and many hundreds of dollars have been spent for regalia in order that the work may be more impressive and inculcate into the minds of its members the obligations which they have undertaken.

Maintain Homes

Many Odd Fellow homes are maintained for orphans, widows and aged members all over the country. New Jersey's home is located at Trenton.

In the subordinate lodge, four degrees are required: the initiatory degree and three exemplifying the virtues of friendship, love and truth.

The work is founded on the teachings of the Bible and, while it is non-sectarian and non-political, the members have a high regard for the church and state.

The invested funds of the lodges in New Jersey amount to more than $1,700,000.

The oldest active members, all with more than 25 years' service, are John Whitfield, Howard A. Holmes, Reginald Cuttriss, Alfred Brickell, Edward Braun, Chester Chinnock, Halley F. Hickok, Richard Van Eselstine, Edward Ackerman, Edward Stout, Verner Foggie, Harry Cooper, Charles Riggs, William Mingle, George McCarthy, Sylvester Frazer and Richard Jacobson.

Bickel Promoted, Awarded Air Medal And Cluster

Leads Mustang Squadron In Deep Penetrations Of Nazi Germany

Lieutenant Colonel George R. Bickel, of 94 Van Houten place, commanding officer of a crack squadron of long-range P-51-B Mustang pilots, received his promotion from the rank of major along with decoration with the air medal and oak leaf cluster in recognition of achievement in combat flights over Germany. He is stationed in England.

Col. Bickel has led his squadron on 23 missions over enemy territory including long-range bomber escort missions to Brunswick, Frankfurt, Halberstadt - Oeschelaben and other points in Germany in which the fiercest aerial battles of the war have been fought with the Luftwaffe. He has been deputized to lead his entire Mustang group on missions to Kiel, Munster and deep into occupied France.

On one mission to Kiel, Col. Bickel, flying the wing position to his group commander, dived to attack two JU-88s heading for a box of flying fortresses. Bickel picked out one closing in and firing until the Jerry's wing disintegrated.

On another escort mission to Kiel, he got on the tail of a German 10-217 closing in until he saw strikes on the wings of the enemy plane, all the while the tail-gunner of the enemy plane was firing tracers into his face.

He gave the Jerry another burst and the 10-217 went into a vertical dive in the clouds. When he returned to his base he found the Jerry's rear gunner had shot holes in the propeller of his plane.

Lt. Col. George R. Bickel

This week, School Red Cross week in town, will be nothing new to Belleville kids who have maintained a high rate of production as members of the Junior Red Cross in which all the schools boast of a 100 percent enrollment.

In her report for the first half of the school year, Mrs. William A. Williams, chairman, states that $463.45 was collected from the elementary schools, St. Peter's and the High school in the annual roll call. Each school has made an assortment of articles including a ping pong table, book wagon and lap boards for the station hospital in Chicopee Falls, Mass. Two first aid classes were also held.

Teachers in charge of Junior Red Cross activities in their school are Miss Lillian D. Eicker, School No. 1; Miss Maude Miller, No. 2; Mrs. Vera W. Eskholm, No. 3; Miss Evelyn Pozzo, No. 4; Miss Mary J. Burde, No. 5; Miss Phyllis Cupparo, No. 7; Miss Stacy Yaskell, No. 8; Miss Louise Bergman, No. 9; Miss Margaret Patton, No. 10; Miss Gregoria Condon, High school and Rev. Joseph Kelly, St. Peter's.

JUNIOR SCOUTERS SEEK RECRUITS

Name Five To Committee To Aid Scoutmasters; Plan Rallies

Junior scout leaders, midway in a program to recruit new members for Belleville's scout troops and to increase the rank advancement within troops, met recently at Camp Belbosco when they appointed a committee whose members will visit any Belleville troop to aid the scoutmaster in conducting meetings. Selected were Edward Pudney, Harold Ford, Robert Cassin, John McTiernan and Ramon Zuckerman.

A third Greenbar meeting will be held in April under the co-chairmanship of Edward Munch and Robert Pudney.

The junior leaders chose Samuel Amosato permanent secretary at the February meeting. Discussion produced the opinion, according to Amosato's report, that public rallies and invitations to non-scouters to attend hikes and other activities as well as encouragement of cubbing will increase scout troop enrollments.

Others attending were William Gilliland, David Vesey, William Cartwright and George Edwards of troop 388; Stanley Adamiak of troop 392; Harold Ford, Robert Meyer, Herman DeJonge and Henry Clark of troop 306; and Paul Malague, Joseph Brunner and Frank Carragher of troop 375. Adult leaders Robert Meyer, Robert Bartholmew and Charles Mougell attended.

Youngsters' Room Popular In Free Public Library

The juvenile room is one of the most popular departments at the library, according to Mrs. Elizabeth A. Shattuck, librarian.

Each month sees a steady increase in the number of books circulated and of reference questions answered. The reference questions range from problems in science to questions of history depending on the subject being studied in school.

New members join the Library every day, until at present over a hundred children come in each day for their books. Many mothers also come to the juvenile department to select books to read to their pre-school children.

This department is open from 1 to 5:30 weekdays and from 9 to 12 noon Saturdays; closed Sundays and holidays.

Adelphi Players Will Present Plays On March 18

Mrs. Clark will appear on the program of the St. Barnabas hospital alumnae association at the hospital tomorrow when she will give a solo play.

PROGRESS CLUB SHOW NETS $700

All-Male Cast Capers In Original Production For Memorial To Servicemen

Approximately $700 was realized by the Progress club of the Congregation A. A. A. last week by the second annual presentation of it Varieties show. The proceeds will be used for a plaque commemorating those in the armed forces.

The production complete with his own musical score was staged and directed by Murray Canter of 287 Holmes street, aided by Henry Zadikoff who did the orchestrations; Lew Chaiken in charge of "trimmings and decorations"; Margaret Sheehan in charge of the dances; Sam Lindenbaum, chairman of arrangements and George Cherin, treasurer.

The all-male cast is now noted for its chorines although of questionable pulchritude and girth nevertheless the chorus showed an affinity for the footlights that charmed the audience into a forgetfulness of the fact that they were only a remote facsimile of the feminine standards to which they aspired.

The variety show was followed by an auction of merchandise presented by friends and members of the club, with Al Schiffman officiating as auctioneer. Zadikoff, Progress club president, also announced that $50,000 in war bonds had been sold by members during the Fourth War Loan drive.

Cleans a Million Things

Gets Messerschmitt

On the Eremen mission, Bickel had just driven an ME-110 off from attack on a straggling B-17, when another ME-110 closed to attack on the Fortress. Col. Bickel and his wingman, Lt. Baglish, of Rome, New York, pressed their attack on the Messerschmitt to within 50 yards, firing until the plane was mass of smoke and flame, then pulling away to avoid the flying debris. They shared the victory.

Col. Bickel was at Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, when the Japs attacked and was assigned to fighter patrol. Soon afterward he was sent to Midway Island on the aircraft carrier Lexington. There he was assigned to patrol duty at sea, flying P-40s off the carrier Saratoga. Later he was ordered to the United States and placed in command of a fighter squadron.

He trained his pilots in Airacobra P-39s on the west coast and had one of the best training records for fighter pilots. "Piggy-back" rides for instructing pilots in the P-39 fighter plane.

Pretty Soon They'll Be Able To Vote

It is earnestly to be hoped that swift decisive action on the part of all agencies concerned will bring the matter of child care to an immediate head and that a decision will be reached without any more "Here we go 'round the mulberry bush." We agree with defense chairman Smith that this is no time for further recriminatory actions and attempts to place on somebody else's shoulders the blame for the shamefully dilatory action which has dragged this simple matter out over a period of more than two years. It did not take that long to draw up and sign the whole Versailles treaty and in scarcely little more time than that the whole NRA program of a few years ago was conceived, grew to adulthood and died a violent death. Yet for more than two years we have been treated to the ludicrous spectacle of some of the town's best brains completely stymied by the comparatively simple problem.

Who is to blame for the situation is no longer of moment except to provide ammunition for those who like such bullets. What caused the delay is of interest only to sociologists who like to study the workings of the adult American mind. If there was a purposeful attempt to sidetrack the question, that will undoubtedly come out some day. But this is not the day. This is the time, as Judge Smith pointed out, to forget what has gone before and to step out afresh.

A Little Talk For Parents And Their Children

Military exploits have cast into the shadow the commonplaces of civilian life — and for youth the shadow is becoming dangerous. Numerous evidences of youth trying to wiggle out from under it should serve as a warning to parents, teachers and social leaders. Your young people are trying to attract your attention to a form of distress from which you seem to be aware that they are suffering and it is simply this: still under age for military service and in many cases not submerged in defense work, they find their inadequacies hard to bear.

It would have been, for instance, quite unnecessary a few years ago for local football heroes to take quite so much trouble to attract attention to themselves as they evidently find it today. A group of them, appropriating a section of the town's only theater on consecutive Friday and Sunday evenings, finally were dismissed from the theater this week in accordance with the policy stated on tickets issued there. It is practically impossible for many of our young men to subordinate themselves gracefully to the natural regard in which we all hold these men, scarcely older than high school age, whose have performed amazing military exploits in our behalf. It might be more possible if we as parents, educators and custodians of public facilities bent every effort to point out to them what we not only cherish them as dearly as our armed youth forces; but are still as interested in their normal pursuits and as thrilled at their conquests as we were before the war.

You football players must realize that, by

The picture which the investigators will find today will be altogether different from what it was two years ago. Very few of the mothers who wanted the service then are still interested in it; their need has passed for they have solved it themselves unaided by their community and their fellow-Americans. Those who now require the services of a nursery are those who have recently been attracted to work and those whose husbands have been called for military service. The committees need not expect any vociferous reaction nor be disappointed in a comparatively poor showing. Mothers who need some place for their children usually need it right away and cannot be expected to hang around in the waiting room for a couple of years.

On the other hand, mothers must realize that this will probably be their last chance to sign up for care for their children. During the prospective registration period they should not fail to make known their intentions and desire. For the responsibility has been deftly shifted onto their shoulders. If they do not sign up in sufficient numbers, the board of education will not be convinced that the nursery is needed; and if it is not convinced, the matter will be deadlier than last summer's roses. However, they can gain consolation from the fact that their public officials are now definitely on record and that, if the interest is there, no further procrastination can be expected or tolerated.

your actions Sunday night, you reflected dishonor on your school even though you were acting as plain Johnny Doe and not as a star for the high school. There are two ways to look at the absence of your older brothers and friends: you can either pitch in and do your own job better (which is the most urgent request our fighting men make of you) or, by clowning in schools and theaters and on the streets, you can dwindle your stature until those men will be thoroughly ashamed of you and yourselves, when you take your places in the military and civilian life, will have an ugly black cloud of misbehavior hanging over you.

There's a lot being said about post-war planning and an entirely new way of life; but if you watch the letters from the men on fighting fronts you will see an unwritten yearning for the real American style to which we are all accustomed. They want to know that their old school has football, basketball and baseball teams in full play, squads made up of fellows who are so upstanding that they do not have to resort to catcalls and sarcastic comments about the screen to attract attention to themselves.

You have a new responsibility: many of you have entered the adult sphere of industry, some of you have joined junior achievement. Remember, they call for a new set of manners — adult manners. Some of you are simply leading normal academic lives in the high school and tending to your sports and recreations on the outside. And the whole world will be as proud of you — if you do a good, clean, well-mannered job — as it will of the military heroes.

Come On In, The Treasury's Fine

The wolves are beginning to howl again in Washington and nobody will listen to them — until it is too late. Another raid on the federal treasury is proposed, a raid which may well make the water-free spending of the past decade look like strictly amateur stuff. When men start talking about handing out $3,500 to $4,500 (top) to each and every veteran, they are talking in figures with which we find it hard to cope. For in a trice they would tack on another $15,000,000,000 or more to the national debt. And when men start talking in figures like that we always start looking around for a reason for them being so lavish with other people's money. The five veterans' organizations which sponsored that bit of largesse will undoubtedly attract many grateful recruits because of it. And the politicians who vote for it or publicly endorse it will undoubtedly gain themselves a few votes. Until the bills start coming in and we have to pay up.

The "GI Bill of Rights" sponsored by the American Legion seems much more sensible and level-headed. The Legion has evidently worked on the theory that men being discharged need a modest sum to tide them over until they get reestablished, that they do not expect a sum to keep them body and soul for a couple of years. This is the time when we must exercise some restraint and not let our patriotic fervor run away with us. In wartime it is treason to oppose any measure which seems at first glance to be for the benefit of veterans. If someone suggests giving every servicemen $50,000 he will be much more patriotic than the man who suggests a piddling $25,000. Our hearts should not be allowed to run away with our minds. Our veterans ask and expect that we at home will do what is right by them and no more. There is no need to stumble all over one another and get giddy in the head. A calm analysis of the needs and the ways to meet them will be just as much appreciated by those who are not counting their service in dollars and cents

Support Bill For Increased Relief Aid From County

Overseer Makes Annual Report Showing Drop In Case Load, Permanent Percentage

Public Affairs Director Mertz introduced a resolution passed by the board of commissioners at their meeting last week petitioning the state legislature to adopt Assembly Bill 53 providing for a revision of the statutory formula granting state aid for relief to the municipalities by raising the minimum state grant from 20 percent to 40 percent. If passed it would be retroactive to 1943.

The pending legislation was introduced by Assemblyman Robert G. Howell of Cumberland county and has the approval and support of Charles R. Erdman Jr., state relief director.

It is hoped that by the revised formula a dangerous financial situation in many municipalities in the past war period may be avoided. Relief is no longer classed as "unemployment relief" but a public assistance grant to persons temporarily or permanently unemployed because of physical or mental disability or because of some circumstance making it temporarily impossible for them to work.

Overseer of the Poor John J. Hewitt has submitted his annual report to the Commissioner and the Local Assistance board, showing a net decrease in relief cases for 1943 of $12,056.34 or 32 percent. The monthly case load averaged in 1943, 52 cases involving 115 persons as compared with 92 cases involving 243 persons in 1942.

Investigate Claims

The report says in part: "In keeping with the policies of the Municipal Aid Administration, our cases are still listed as either long term dependencies or limited dependencies. Much of the time consumed in the welfare department is in investigations for collateral agencies; to supply information to the draft boards; to alleviate those problems arising from strained domestic relations and in the attempted rehabilitation of men who are rejected for military service because of physical disabilities.

"The relief rolls were further reduced, effective July 1, 1943 when the care of mothers, dependencies of the State Board of Children's Guardians, were taken into that category, thus relieving the local relief rolls. A further reduction will be effective in 1944 when aliens and others who have been unable to prove citizenship become eligible for old age assistance. The removal of the $40 per month restriction on old age assistance cases and assumption of this responsibility by that agency also cut the local rolls.

No Employable On Rolls

"Work relief is a thing of the past as no employables are on the rolls and those long term dependencies are the result of some chronic illness. All these reductions pointed to lessened activity in the welfare department and the latter half of 1943 witnessed the operation of the department under the supervision of the director who served on a part time basis. State aid in 1943 amounted to approximately 25 percent of the approved expenditures and the approximate reimbursement will be slightly over $5,000.

"The continued income of war employment had its effect on our hospitalization budget and as a result the expenditures made for the so-called borderline cases were kept to a minimum. Federal Commodities distributed by the Agriculture Marketing administration were again available in limited quantities, and handled by the department.

"The municipal welfare department in compliance with the law functions under the direction of the local Assistance board. The department considers itself most fortunate to have the continued aid and counsel of a sympathetic board."

Appreciates Work Of Police

From Mr. and Mrs. Jack Faust 293 Greylock Parkway To the Editor of The Times:

We want to thank Sgt. Charles Maginness of the Belleville police force for the speedy and ingenious way in which he recovered jewelry stolen from us on Tuesday night, February 29.

It took him only one hour from the time the theft had been reported to the local police department to nab the thief, obtain a confession and recover the stolen jewelry.

Sgt. Maginness certainly deserves a lot of credit for this splendid accomplishment and we are more than ever glad that we signed the petition for salary increase for the Belleville police. They certainly do a splendid job.

Endorses Smith For Senate

From Rep. Fred A. Hartley Jr. Tenth N. J. Congressional District To the Editor of The Times:

I am particularly gratified to learn that the leadership of our party in New Jersey has been successful in ironing out all differences on the senatorial candidate and have united behind the candidacy of N. Alexander Smith.

It is of vital consideration that there should be unity and no contest within the Republican party which would in any way threaten our success in the 1944 campaign. Furthermore, it is an outstanding example of the fine leadership our party has during these crucial times, under the guidance of Governor Edge, State Chairman

Marsh and all those who participated in this harmony move.

Helped Community Chest

From John S. Charlton Executive Secretary Community War Fund To the Editor of The Times: On behalf of the Board of Trustees of the Belleville Community War Fund, we wish to express the appreciation of the Board and the officials of the National War Fund for your publicity and editorial support. All of us realize that this has been most helpful in our campaign.

Victory Garden Problems Solved

The Belleville Times today begins a series of weekly columns of information provided by the State Victory Garden committee and the county agricultural agent, to encourage your participation in the vital 1944 Victory Garden program in New Jersey.

This program calls for 440,000 home gardens, 25 percent more food from New Jersey garden plots ten percent more than in 1943, and the production of this year. In 1943, New Jersey home gardens produced $16,000,000 worth of fresh vegetables.

These articles will present all the information necessary for the management of a family-size vegetable plot from the planning stage to harvest time. The facts will be presented in a non-technical, how-to-do-it manner so as to be helpful to anyone interested in having a Victory Garden, no matter how little or how much experience he may have had.

We suggest that you save these weekly Victory Garden Columns and paste them in a scrapbook to provide yourself with a complete book on home gardening.

By Dr. Charles H. Connors
College of Agriculture Rutgers University

Why Have A Victory Garden?

Lulled to a sense of security because point values have been removed or reduced on canned vegetables, many people have already said they were not going to bother with a vegetable garden this year. Perhaps these people didn't realize that certain canned food have been reduced in point value or removed from the ration list because of the fine work done by Victory Gardeners and home canners last year.

Those who think the backaches of digging and the headaches of weeding a garden are not necessary any more because they see the war progressing in our favor, may find themselves hungry a year from now. The condition which has brought about this apparent abundance of food is a temporary one. A War Food Administration official has already stated that civilians are in for a 19 percent cut in canned vegetables in 1944.

The WFA order request canners to set aside for military and lend-lease uses their 1944 production about 50 percent of their vegetables.

Less Food Available

Thus those who know the food situation say there will be less canned food available for public consumption than in the United States in 1944 than there was in 1943.

The reason for this situation is that as the number of men we send overseas increases, the need for more food increases as the food reserves for military uses are tripled after the men leave the United States.

Add to this the increased demand for food for civilians in liberated areas after the invasion takes place and it becomes plain why more food will be required.

The past growing season was a good one for commercial vegetable production. If there should be bad weather during the coming growing season, commercial production will decrease. Acute labor and machinery problems will further adversely affect the American farmers.

Victory Gardens in 1943 made it possible for people to eat well last summer and this winter. And many ate better, for they had never before tasted garden-fresh vegetables.

In 1944, the federal government has asked for an increase of 10 percent in the number of home gardens and a 25 percent increase in the amount of food from these gardens.

In New Jersey alone, this is a request for 40,000 more gardens as the Garden State had 400,000 Victory Gardens last year. This means that each home gardener must use his land to better advantage so that he can produce this additional amount or that a larger garden should be cultivated.

We probably will need to have more vacant lot and community gardens. These often mean some inconvenience but this we should be willing to undergo in order to play a greater part in this important war effort.

Better Planning Needed

Better planning should be the rule in 1944. Last year, in many gardens, space was wasted on too much lettuce, beans and tomatoes, for example, for the production of these vegetables was seasonally greater than the family could utilize. It should be possible in most gardens to increase the yield by 15 to 25 percent by reducing the quantity planted at one time and by the use of companion and intercrops.

For instance, nearly all the radishes, lettuce, endive and green onions from sets that any family will need can be grown in rows that other plants will occupy later on, this is, between cabbage or tomato plants.

Then, if the standard row width is 2 1/2 feet, and extra row of quick maturing crops such as those just mentioned can be placed between the rows of plants requiring a long period of maturity before they will need to occupy that space.

Proper use of seed also calls for careful planning. We shall have to conserve seed this year to have sufficient for this increased planting. While there will be enough to go around, we should not plant more than is necessary.

If you have seed left over from your 1943 sowing, it probably will be satisfactory to plant this year but it might be advisable to test it. How such tests can be made will be explained in a subsequent article.

Plants cannot grow and produce food unless they are supplied with the raw materials and conditions made suitable for their growth. This means fertilizer, lime, manure or other compost, careful prepara-these things call for careful planning as well as labor.

Yes, you should have a Victory Garden in 1944, a larger one if possible, and certainly a more productive one if you had a home garden last year. The increase in production requested is a challenge to every Victory Gardener to plan better and to use the best methods of culture. This weekly Victory Garden column will tell you how to do these things.

Food Materials For Your Plants

Plants manufacture food for us. In order that they may do it efficiently, we must prepare the soil well and supply them with a part, at least, of the raw materials they need.

They take carbon dioxide into the leaves from the air and combine it with water drawn in by the roots to start making the sugars and starches, the proteins, and the cellulose for the framework. We cannot do anything about the carbon dioxide, but we can prepare the soil so that it will hold moisture and, when necessary, add more.

Organic Matter Important

Organic matter is very important in the soil. It helps improve the physical condition, making it easier to work, and tends to increase its water holding capacity.

It helps to keep the surface from crusting and baking. It aids in making fertilizers more effective. Most garden soils are deficient in the valuable material we call organic matter.

Well decayed stable manure is one of the best forms of this material to use to increase the organic content of soil. This should be used at the rate of 50 to 100 pounds to 100 square feet.

Composts, leaf mold and peat moss may also be used. If the leaf mold is from rotted oak leaves, increase the amount of lime to be used by half.

If you use peat moss, loosen it up first and then it is a good plan to mix thoroughly with it one-half pound of pulverized limestone to each cubic foot of lightly compacted peat, before applying it. Leaf mold or peat moss should

Lime Needed Annually

New Jersey soils are nearly all acid in nature, and Prof. L. G. Schermhorst, head of the department of vegetable gardening at Rutgers University, recommends, in vegetable gardens, an annual application of lime.

This material not only makes the soil less acid, thus favoring the release of nutrients to the plant, but also supplies calcium and magnesium for the plant to use. In heavy soils, it aids in improving the drainage.

The recommendation for all but the sandiest soils is five pounds of pulverized limestone or three pounds of hydrated lime to each 100 square feet of garden area.

Pulverized limestone is sold in bags of 80 pounds and hydrated lime in bags of 50 pounds. In very sandy soils, reduce these amounts by about one-third.

Knowing the area of your garden (number of square feet obtained by multiplying the length in feet by the width in feet), you can calculate the number of bags you will need.

Soil Needs Fertilizer

In olden days, farmers used to produce their crops through the use of animal manures alone; but this was when every farm had a lot of livestock and large quantities of manure were produced.

In these days, however, manure is hard to obtain so we must look upon it mainly from the standpoint of soil improvement and disregard the fertilizing value unless it can be applied in adequate amounts.

To grow vegetables successfully, it is necessary to supply the required amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash in some other form, if sufficient manure is not available.

This we can do by applying a complete chemical fertilizer to the soil. The fertilizer has all three of the essential elements, together with other materials that make the mixture easy to handle.

The Victory Garden fertilizer for 1944 has a little higher nitrogen content than that manufactured in 1943. This year's mixture is 5-10-5 which means it contains five percent nitrogen, ten percent phosphoric acid and five percent potash.

There are also present in the mixture, either as impurities or additives, some of the minor elements that help in plant growth.

Some Victory gardeners last year tried to get along without fertilizer and they did not have good yields. The amount needed varies with the kind of soil.

If you are making a new garden on sod land, the requirement will be four pounds to 100 square feet. The need for the average garden is three pounds to 100 square feet. If your garden has been well fertilized and manured for several years, two pounds to 100 square feet may be sufficient.

Consult your needs of all the materials and place your order for them at once so as to avoid delay due to shortages of materials or congested delivery.

Other Soil Aids

Coal ashes have no fertilizing value, but will help to loosen up a heavy soil so that it is better aerated. Hardwood ashes contain lime and some potash and may be used as a supplement to the lime and fertilizer applied to the garden.

Sewage sludge is a good source of organic matter, but it should not be used for root crops or for any crops whose edible parts form near the soil surface, unless it has been composted for at least two years. Under a crop like corn, sewage sludge will be all right in crude form, but should not be used for most other garden crops.

T. B. Association Reports On Work; Finds 12 Active Cases

The report of the Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis association for January showed that at the Free X-Ray project given by the association in Belleville in December, 241 persons were X-rayed and of these, 12 showed some pathology.

All 12 were personally visited by the Field Nurse and their X-rays were either sent to their family physicians or they began attending the clinic.

Final results indicate one reportable case; two healed childhood type; five to be kept under observation; three discharged and one Newark resident's case reported to the Newark authorities and followed up by them.

Two regular clinics were again held in January with 15 patients attending each clinic.

Wherever he may be, his country has provided him with the best guns, the best uniforms, the best food that skill and money can produce. But there are some things that cannot be handed out by Government Issue. And these are the things he misses most . . . his Dad's friendly counsel, his mother's homey touch. These are the things he needs . . . the things he gets through the Red Cross, your Red Cross . . . his home away from home. They seem like little things in print . . . coffee and doughnuts after a long march . . . a bed with real sheets when he is on furlough . . . real American cigarettes and chocolate bars . . . and men and women stationed everywhere, at every tiny outpost . . . to bring him comforts, service and companionship. Little things?—Perhaps. But these are the "little" things that count—the things that help your boy to do his man-sized job. These are the things that prove to him—when the going is toughest—that his people haven't forgotten him. For Red Cross is at his side. * * * You have given your sons . . .

You have done the extra work . . . donated your blood and bought your bonds. Yes, and you have helped the Red Cross before. Giving to the Red Cross has always been a great proud habit of thirty million American families . . . proud that they could give . . . proud of Red Cross that made giving worthwhile. But this year, when the need is greater than ever, when we serve more than eleven million American boys all over the whole world—this year you will want to give more . . . to give freely to your own Red Cross . . . to your own sons in the service. This year dig deep and be glad. For wherever he is

The RED CROSS is at his side and the Red Cross is YOU!
