

LYNCH TO RESIGN FROM SCHOOL BODY NEXT MONTH

To Move To South Orange; Has Been Very Active In Civic Affairs

James M. Lynch of 175 Tappan avenue will resign next month from the board of education. The Times learned last night. Lynch confirmed the report when he announced that he will move July 1 or August 1 to South Orange.

James M. Lynch

Lynch said he had sold his home because it is too large for his family since all four children are now living away from home. He tried, he declared, to locate elsewhere in Belleville but failed.

First appointed to the board of education in 1933 by Mayor Williams, he was renamed last year. He moved here from Newark 26 years ago.

Mayor John H. Waters appointed Lynch to the first zoning board twenty years ago and he served for many years on that body. Very active in civic affairs, he was a member of the recreation commission for five years, of the ration board for 18 months and of the Elks and Knights of Columbus.

Three of the Lynches' children are teachers: Mrs. Eileen Corcoran of Clifton and Mrs. Regina Kennedy of 162 Malone avenue are in the Belleville system and James J. Lynch Jr. teaches in Morris township.

Another daughter, seaman 2/c Nancy Lynch, is taking a special course at Hunter college, N. Y.

ATTEND NEW YORK CONFERENCE

Local Clubwomen Present At Federation Conclave To Hear Speakers

In New York for the golden jubilee convention of the New Jersey Federation of Women's clubs is Mrs. J. Claude Powers, president of the Women's club, and Mrs. William P. Adams, president of the Remembrance club.

The latter is an organization within the federation which was instituted after the last war to lend aid to the families of ex-servicemen.

One of its projects is to supervise the donation of flowers from November till May for the chapel of Lyons hospital at Millington. Clubs of the seventh and eighth districts are included in this project.

The jubilee convention opened Tuesday at the Hotel New Yorker and will conclude tomorrow. John Duff Stadley, playwright who has been discharged from the Army because of wounds received in the South Pacific battle area, will be one of the principal convention speakers. He will discuss the question: "The Veteran Returns to What?"

Ruth Gruber, Alaskan authority in the United States department of interior will discuss "Women in a Changing World" this morning.

Other officers and department chairmen of the Belleville club who will attend convention sessions are Mrs. Frank P. Brohal, Mrs. William D. Cornish, Mrs. William Chapman, Mrs. Joseph D. Kilpatrick, Mrs. Frederick T. Dodd, Mrs. Dwight N. Streeter, Mrs. Charles S. Smith and Mrs. Edward Puckhaber.

Mrs. John Denike, Mrs. Fred Idenden, Mrs. Daniel T. O'Connor, Mrs. Morris Rochlin, Mrs. William V. Irvine and Mrs. William Allen Jr. will also attend.

Safety Patrol Dinner
The 148 boys of the elementary school junior safety patrols will be honored Wednesday night at a dinner given by the board of education in the high school cafeteria at 6:30. The dinner is given annually in recognition of the work the boys do at school crossings during the year.

Approve Schools' Calendar, Kick On Half-Holidays

Schmutz, Lynch Question Operation Costs; Schedule May Depend On Fuel Picture

The calendar for the 1944-45 school year proposed by School Superintendent Parmer was approved Monday by the board of education but only after protests were registered over the inclusion of five half-holidays.

In the final vote Commissioner Gebhardt registered the only dissenting vote. He had previously moved laying the schedule on the table for future discussion.

Schoolmen Schmutz and Lynch objected to the half-days on the grounds that the daily operating cost was the same as full sessions but the children would receive only a single session of schooling. Parmer explained, however, that a half-day represents a loss of only one hour of classwork and his version of the calendar was eventually accepted by a 4-1 vote.

In September the teachers will report for a general meeting on September 5 and the pupils a day later. The year will end June 15.

Half-holidays are slated for October 12, Columbus day; November 7, election day; November 22, the day before Thanksgiving; December 22 when the Christmas vacation begins; and February 22 Washington's birthday.

Thanksgiving holidays will run from November 23 to 26; Christmas from December 23 to January 1; Easter from March 30 to April 8. Other full holidays are Lincoln's birthday and Memorial day next year.

This schedule may be amended, Gebhardt pointed out, depending on the exigencies of the fuel situation.

Coal Supplies Cut

Business manager Ruel E. Daniels told the board Monday that the solid fuel administrator for the state had warned a conference in Trenton that schools can expect only 7/8 of their normal supply of coal next winter.

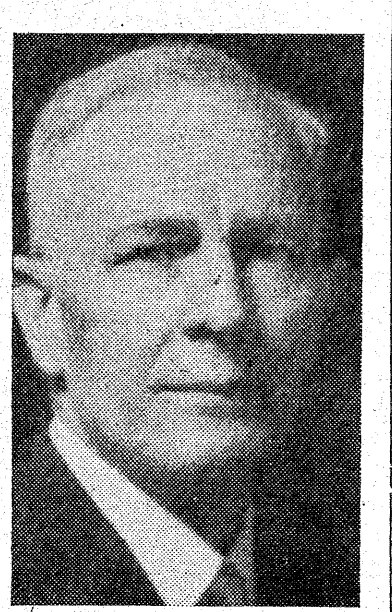

Daniels termed the outlook "serious" because of the inability of the schools to fill their bins with coal. This he laid to the manpower shortage.

"The situation will be just as hard as last year if not harder," he said, referring to the situation where some schools had as little as a two-day supply of coal left in their bins.

State Administrator Loiseau, Daniels told the board, advised the business managers to "buy coal as soon as possible and store it wherever possible."

The picture of huge coal piles in the school yards was painted by Daniels who blamed part of the trouble on the lack of "trimmers," men to move the coal from the

Alva A. Buckley

Alva A. Buckley, consistently affiliated with organizations for the improvement of Belleville during his 28 years of residence here, died Saturday at his home, 24 Tiona avenue.

He had been partially confined there this spring with illness which caused him to resign several public posts. Mr. Buckley was 64.

A native of High Falls, N. Y., and a Montclair resident for 10 years. Mr. Buckley became affiliated 43 years ago with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company of Newark where he was a member of the industrial sales department. He became chairman of the Belleville Zoning board in 1923 and held the post until his death.

Mr. Buckley was a member of the board of trustees of the Welfare federation and was actively engaged in preparations last summer and fall for the Community Chest and war fund drive.

He also served on the executive committee of the Robert Treat Roy Scout council and the Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis association.

Financial affiliations included the presidency of the Eureka Building and Loan association and a trusteeship in the North Belleville Savings and Loan association. (Continued on Page Three)

SALVATORE M. SENA KILLED IN ITALY, WIFE INFORMED

Heckel Street Man Dies Exactly One Year After Induction Into Army

The seventeenth gold star was added to Belleville's honor roll last week when Mrs. Pauline

Salvatore M. Sena

Shandra Sena received her telegram from the War department: "...regret to inform you that your husband, Private First Class Salvatore M. Sena, was killed in action in Italy 8 April 1944."

No further details have been received either by his widow or by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sena of 132 Heckel street. His last letter, dated April 2, told his wife:

"Do your best not to worry because some day I'll be home again."

It is not known whether he was engaged in the fighting at Cassino or at another point in the line.

Pfc. Sena lived all his life in Belleville, attended the high school and was employed with the Synthetic Button company of Newark before entering the Army April 8, 1943, exactly one year before he was killed.

He underwent basic training at Camp Croft and was also stationed at Fort George Meade before going overseas last September. He was stationed in North Africa, Sicily and Italy.

His wife is the daughter of Ross Shandra of Pittston, Pa., and the late Mrs. Shandra, who formerly resided at 103 Heckel street. Salvatore and Pauline Sena were married two and a half years ago.

He is also survived by five brothers, two of whom are in the Army, and three sisters. Pvt. Bartholomew Sena is with the air corps at Greensboro, N. C., and Pvt. Gerard Sena is at Fort George Meade in the infantry.

He leaves three other brothers, John of 282 North Eighth street, Newark, Nicholas of 30 Van Rensselaer street, Belleville, and Joseph at home; and his sisters, Miss Marie Sena at home, Mrs. Raymond Mercogliano of 383 North Tenth street, Belleville, and Mrs. Rose Conforti of 612 North Eighth street, Newark.

FATHER MENEGUS IS NAMED PASTOR

Had Been St. Anthony's Administrator Four Years; Native Of Clifton

Rev. Titian P. Menegus, administrator of St. Anthony's church, has been appointed pastor of the church by Archbishop Walsh. The appointment was effective Sunday with the reading of the archbishop's letter to the parishioners at all masses.

Father Menegus is a native of Passaic and attended Public School 12 in Clifton before matriculating at Seton Hall prep. He graduated from Seton Hall college in 1928.

He was ordained in 1932 after studying theology in the Immaculate Conception seminary at Darlington.

His first assignment was as curate at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, Newark. In 1937 he was transferred to Our Lady of Sorrows, Jersey City and three years later came to Belleville.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Menegus, now reside in St. Petersburg, Fla., with his sister, Miss Charlotte Menegus, a nurse at St. Anthony's hospital in that city.

He has two brothers in the Army: Capt. Wilfred Menegus in the Camp Kilmer finance department and S/Sgt. Silvius Menegus in the medical corps at the Army's headquarters in New York.

Two other sisters are Mrs. Lucille Gustine of Eugene, Ore., and Mrs. Jennie Belli of Trenton.

Motor Corps Of Red Cross Celebrates Anniversary

Station Wagon Presented By Irwins Proved Worth In First Year

It was a year ago this month that Dr. and Mrs. James R. Irwin presented to the Red Cross Motor Corps the Ford station wagon that is seen daily on the streets of the town serving those who, through illness or disability, need transportation.

Two members of the Motor Corps, dressed in their trim uniforms, are on duty daily from 10 to 5.

Besides transporting personnel and materials for the production department which includes surgical dressings, 25 persons too ill to travel on a public conveyance and without private means of transportation have been taken to doctors' offices and returned home after treatment.

Forty have been taken to hospitals for treatment and 16 hospitalizations have been visited with patients, or to bring patients home. Besides providing transportation to 11 Essex county hospitals, a trip was made to Temple university hospital in Philadelphia to bring home the mother of a local soldier.

A soldier was taken to Halloran hospital on Staten Island; several trips were made to St. Mary's Passaic, Post Graduate hospital in New York and the Children's Country Home in Westfield. A total of 4,624 miles was driven.

Because the state law requires an annual examination of high school students for tuberculosis, the Motor Corps transported to the Essex Mountain Sanatorium for x-rays 37 children who had been absent at the time the tests at school were made.

For Blood Bank
The station wagon was used eight full days to carry personnel and equipment for blood donor work, carrying 811 donors.

Along with these services, the wagon was used to take musical instruments and entertainers to Halloran hospital for the amusement of men there who were ill. Singers were brought from New York to the Stage Door Canteen in Newark.

The women who drive the station wagon and the two other cars donated to the chapter range in age from 20 to 50, own cars which they drive themselves while on duty, and provide their own uniforms. There are a few more openings for women in town who can meet these requirements.

SALVAGE CAMPAIGN NETS 343 TONS

April Collections High But May Will Surpass Total, Brunner Says

More than 343 tons of war essential materials were salvaged in Belleville last month according to figures revealed this week by Defense Coordinator Ronald G. Brunner.

Direct, April contributions of householders were 127,243 pounds of waste paper and 8,790 pounds of tin cans.

313,348 pounds of scrap iron and steel, 231,634 pounds of non-ferrous metals, 122 pounds of cast aluminum and 94 pounds of pure gum rubber as well as 5,445 pounds of other materials such as rags were piled up by the industrial salvagers and local junk dealers.

Although the first two weeks of May have brought in wastepaper which almost equals the entire April collection and tin cans which excel the April figure, Coordinator Brunner urged householders to redouble their efforts and get together every scrap of waste paper for zone collections.

Even those wrappings and containers whose appearance indicates burning should be salvaged.

As an added incentive to individual salvagers Brunner pointed out that New Jersey and Ohio started a salvage competition May 1. New Jersey authorities have notified their opponents that New Jersey expects to maintain the lead throughout the contest.

Zone maps, a copy of which has been published in The Times, are in the possession of most householders who are reminded that their neighborhoods will be canvassed for wastepaper and other scrap on the Wednesday of the month which corresponds to the zone number.

The fourth zone collection will occur next Wednesday, the fourth Wednesday of May. Bellevillites who live above Union avenue between Joralemon street and the Newark boundary will be included.

Daniels Resigns From Rationing Board; Vacancy Not Filled

Ruel E. Daniels, board of education business manager, resigned last week from the Belleville-Nutley ration board after being connected with the program for over two years.

The reason given for the resignation was pressure of other business. Daniels was the secretary of the original Belleville board and was for a time chairman of the combined board of the two towns.

No appointment has yet been made by district OPA to fill the vacancy. It is not known whether or not another name has been recommended since Chairman Herbert C. Schmutz could not be reached yesterday.

William Brickell Awarded Oscar For Petrean Show Scenery

William Brickell, scenery designer for the recent production of "The American Hullabaloo," Tuesday night was awarded the Petrean club's "Oscar" for outstanding contribution to the club. Brickell, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Brickell of 133 Riverview avenue, North Arlington, received more than two-thirds of the votes of the more than 60 members present.

The presentation was made by James A. Leonard, president of the Petrean club. Besides designing the sets for the show, Brickell also played a major role in its construction.

The latter will replace Miss Lydia Wright, who was granted a "duration plus six" leave of absence in order to enlist in the W.A.C. Miss Eileen Lynch Corcoran's leave of absence was extended for the coming school year.

The appointment of Dr. Brosnan, who comes here from South Orange, will offset the loss of Miss Eleanor M. Ohlsen to that school district. Her resignation from Passaic avenue school was accepted Monday.

THOMAS BROSINAN NAMED GUIDANCE HEAD OF SCHOOLS

Holds Ph. D. From New York And Ed. M. From Boston; Four Teachers Resign

The appointment of Thomas J. Brosnan, B.A. Ed.M., Ph.D., to post of guidance director of the school system highlighted Monday's meeting of the board of education which saw two other appointments, four resignations and two leaves of absence.

Dr. Brosnan will fill the vacancy caused the resignation several months ago of Dr. Earl K. Seibert who took the post of psychologist and guidance director at Green Mountain junior college, Vt.

Brosnan's contract will be for the year 1944-45 only and will be at a salary of $3,000 annually. It is expected that he will make his headquarters in the high school but will direct guidance in the elementary schools as well.

Born in Bristol, Conn., 33 years ago, Brosnan attended high school there and graduated with a bachelor of arts degree from Fordham university in 1933.

He took a position teaching English, dramatics and guidance in the high school in his native city and remained there until 1939 when he taught for a year in Sharon (Mass.) high school.

For the past four years he has been guidance director and teacher of English and dramatics at Columbia high school, South Orange.

While teaching in Bristol, he took special courses at Yale and Columbia universities and Trinity and Hartford colleges. He received his master of education degree from Boston university in 1939 and his doctor of philosophy from New York university in 1943.

Two Hired

Contracts were also approved Monday whereby Miss Elizabeth Arlene Vessie of 104 Overlook avenue will become a permanent school teacher at $1,200 and Miss Harriet Kane of 89 Clifton avenue, Clifton, will move into the high school as physical education instructor.

The latter will replace Miss Lydia Wright, who was granted a "duration plus six" leave of absence in order to enlist in the W.A.C. Miss Eileen Lynch Corcoran's leave of absence was extended for the coming school year.

The vespers are an annual event held in connection with a birthday party which is sponsored by the Walther league, an international organization of Lutheran young people numbering 2500 societies. After the service a light supper will be served in the parish house at 100 Grafton avenue, where a candle-lighting ceremony will be held by the pastor, the Rev. Paul F. Arndt.

BELLBOYS DEFEAT SOUTH SIDE 12-2
Tripp Newarkers In First Win; Herman Libertazzi Twirls, Stars At Bat
A shot of antitoxin taken by the Bellboys Tuesday offset the defeat virus which has infected the high school baseballers since the opening of the season and they bobbed up with their first win in six games. Newark South Side was the victim by a 12-2 count. The game was played at the Municipal Stadium and saw the Blue and Gold step out to a 4-0 lead before the Streaks tallied in the second inning. The Bellboys added three more runs in the sixth, another in the seventh and climaxed their smashing attack with a double brace of markers in the ninth. Freshman Herman Libertazzi limited the Southsiders to seven bingles in his nine-inning stanza and laced out three safeties and scored four runs himself. He handed out only one base on balls and fanned ten. Johnny DeMunter was the biggest stickler for the Bellboys, hanging out a double and three singles. Bob Grecco had three blows and Jack Meier had a triple among his three hits.

Starlings Shut Out Hilltops
The Starlings softball team shut out the Hilltop A. C. 3-0 in a seven-inning game at Belleville Park last week. Wally Fredricks did the pitching for the winners while Jim Bini hurled for the losers. The blows of the game were hit by Jack Dempsey and Ed Nelson who banged out triples. The runs came in the first inning when Don Taylor walked, Nelson singled and McConnell hit a sharp double into left field, scoring on Carnivale's wild throw to DePhillips at the plate. Starlings H. Jim Mintz Wins Met Crown, Blum Second, Locals Trail
The Metropolitan Home Traiter Bicycle championship, sponsored by the Olympic Bicycle club and held in the hall of the Bay View Wheelmen last Saturday, provided the setting for another triumph for Jim Mintz. Mintz, who is 17, is a member of the Plainfield Wheelmen, the Belleville Bicycle club and the sponsoring Olympic combine. In the finals Mintz won in 1:09 over Ray Blum of Nutley. Local bikers in the race were Ed Littig who gained third place, Dave Burroughs fifth and Herb Henderson seventh. Many old-time bike riders were present and Frank Kraemer presented the prizes to the first eight places. Top honors received a war bond and a 14-inch trophy.

On Furlough
Weekly summation of Belleville servicemen on leave will be carried in The Times to publicize the contents of our Furlough register which was instituted three weeks ago. Servicemen and their families are invited to bring or telephone information about leaves or furloughs to The Times at 328 Washington avenue (Be. 2-3200) or to fill in a card at the box office of The Capitol theatre. John Sherwood Dean Emeritus For Life At Grace Church
At the annual meeting of Grace Baptist church last week, the majority of the congregational officers were re-elected. Those elected to hold office for the first time include deacon Rev. M. A. Whitehead; deaconesses, Miss Helen Colehamer and Miss Marguerite Crippen; trustee, Glen Cole; head usher, Donald Richmond. A signal honor was given to Deacon John Sherwood who, in view of his many years of faithful service, was elected deacon emeritus for life. It was also voted to honor Pfc. Percy Karrer by officially continuing his office as treasurer of the church. John Stoddard, president of the board of trustees, will serve as acting treasurer until Karrer's return. A special event is announced for the church services next Sunday night at 8, when the talking motion picture "A Certain Nobleman" will be shown. This is one

Plan Season's Final Event
The Girl Scout Mother's club of Troop 2, which meets at the Recreation House, made plans Tuesday evening for the annual mother-daughter supper with which troop festivities for the season will be closed on May 27 at 6. Mrs. Morris Bennett and Mrs. Frank Chambers are troop leaders. The Mother's club was founded in February 1943 and has as president Mrs. James McTiernan of Ligham street. Girl scouts will assist in preparation and serve their mothers next Thursday evening.

GOP Regulars Far In Lead
To fulfill the expectations of political prognosticators, H. Alexander Smith and Fred A. Hartley Jr. carried off the Republican nominations in Tuesday's primary by whopping margins. Only slightly more than 1,000 of the town's 12,000 voters went to the polls and of these 810 were Republicans. The Democrats had no contests for places on their ballot. Smith won over Andrew Wittreich by a 758-13 margin and Hartley's plurality was almost as great over John J. Davis.

A Message To The "White Collar" Worker

Office workers, as a group, have not had the benefit of substantial increases in salary. Caught between the wage freeze and the cost of living - tax rise, your problem is a difficult one.

We realize that, in spite of good management, emergencies may arise to upset the most carefully planned budgets and we want you to know that, in such circumstances, we stand ready to help you.

We invite you to write or telephone any of our officers for information about a personal loan, or better still call at the bank to talk over your requirements. You are assured of a friendly welcome.

Blossom Huizer Sets May 27 For Wedding To Peekskill Man

Mr. and Mrs. John Huizer of 167 Linden avenue have announced that the marriage of their daughter, Miss Blossom Mary Huizer, to Frank McLellan Dain 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dain Jr. of Peekskill, New York, will take place next week. Mr. Dain is a student at Columbia university's medical school.

Principal attendants at their wedding, which will be held Saturday, May 27 in Fewsmith church, will be Mrs. James B. Smeaton of New York, matron of honor; and Pvt. Donald Doherty of the Naval Reserve medical corps, a resident of Peekskill, who will be Mr. Dain's best man.

The wedding party will also include Miss Grace Mary Dain, sister of the bridegroom-elect, and Edgar J. Huizer, Naval Air Cadet currently in training at Chapel Hill, N. C., Miss Huizer's brother.

Other bridesmaids will be Pvt. Frances M. Sheldon, Marine Corps Women's Reserve, of 221 Joralemon street, Ensign Nam E. Rogers of the WAVES and Miss Evelyn J. Hess, both of New York.

Ushers in addition to A/C Huizer will be Nelson Blackburn, Joseph Wilder and William Spencer, all of the Naval Reserve and all residents of New York.

Miss Alice Murphy Is Bride At Colorado Army Base

Miss Alice Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Murphy of 215 Little street, became the bride of Pfc. Thomas A. Field Thursday at East Chapel at Pueblo Army air base, Colo.

Mrs. Field wore a brown suit and brown accessories, and she was attended by Cpl. Margaret E. Stonebrige of the WAC Section at the base. Pfc. John L. Coyle served as best man, and Chaplain James J. Haggerty performed the ceremony.

Pfc. Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Field of 360 Clinton avenue, Newark, served from March 1940 to September 1943 at Pearl Harbor, in the Solomons, Caledonia, Honolulu and the New Hebrides. He was awarded the presidential citation with two oak leaf clusters.

The bride attended Belleville high school. Her brother, seaman 1/c James P. Murphy Jr., is stationed in England.

Mrs. LaVilla Powers Buckley survives her husband who also leaves a son, Capt. Howard P. Buckley, stationed with the Army in Weingarten, Mo., and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth L. Wise of Bethlehem, Pa. There are three grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday evening at the Home For Services, 56 Park street, Montclair, by Rev. Dr. O. Bell Close of Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian church. Private burial in East Ridgeland cemetery was held yesterday.

Capt. Buckley arrived here from Missouri in time to attend his father's funeral.

PRESIDENT HEADS JUNIOR WOMEN'S DELEGATION

Mrs. Irving Butler Leads Group To Convention; Plan Open House

Mrs. Irving Butler of 90 Rossmore place, installed last month as president of the Junior Women's club, will head a delegation of members to the convention of New Jersey Junior clubs at the Hotel New Yorker tomorrow and Saturday.

The Misses Patricia Hannan and Janet Moyer, vice-president and secretary; Miss Betty Meser, retiring president; Mrs. Willard Y. Strange, counselor and the Misses Virginia Waler and Patricia Aker will also attend.

Mrs. Butler, who is with the Prudential Insurance company, is the wife of Cpl. Irving Butler stationed with a unit of Army Engineers in Tacoma, Wash. The couple were married in February 1943.

A graduate of St. Peter's school, Mrs. Butler has been an active club member for ten years. She is the daughter of Mrs. John Comesky.

Miss Walker was named sunshine chairman in the April election and Mrs. Edward Puchhaber, Woman's club member, was appointed to the advisory board.

The junior club, in addition to assisting senior Woman's club projects, has a state federation program which has this year included a drive for the purchase of a field ambulance for the armed forces. The local young women have collected $400 in a campaign which will be closed June 1.

Open house, to which Belleville girls of 16 or over are invited, will be held in the Rossmore place clubhouse Tuesday evening when USO scrapbooks will be made.

Surgical dressing work for the Red Cross is conducted weekly.

Mohr Lauded In Opera Debut, Signed For Cavalleria Role

Charles Mohr, tenor of 206 Hornblower avenue, scored a signal success in the role of Sir Arthur Bucklew when he sang in the Paterson Musical Arts society presentation of Lucia di Lammermoor May 5.

Praised for his "stage ability and perfect Italian diction," Mohr has been signed for the leading tenor role in the society's 1945 production of Cavalleria Rusticana.

Performers are ordinarily required to sing more than one secondary role before being selected for a major part.

The singer, who is heard in weekend programs over WAAT, is with the Federal Telephone and Radio corporation. He is a pupil of Mme. Anna Tripputi of Newark. He and Mrs. Mohr have a son, Barry.

"ATTENTION," PAINT MANUFACTURER

I have a paste paint. Beats anything on the market. Has been tested and is GUARANTEED for 3 years for outside use. Sticks to anything. Tarpaper will be perfectly white with one coat. A rough board when painted will be smooth. Retailed to the trade. Paste in cans. Colors in bags. Also ready mixed for private use.

ATTENTION, MFG. OF WATERPROOF CANVAS

I make a better product. It costs less. It will stand up in any climate. I use a low thread count. Fill out the space between threads. This fill and the thread soaks up the waterproof compound. I use both cotton and burlap. Manufacturing time 72 hours. I have held jobs in factories as foreman and manager. Have technical chemical, mechanical, business and management experience. I will invest and take charge of production and take a royalty or start a corporation or sell outright one of these inventions. There is nothing on the market these two products will not beat both in price and quality. If sufficient Belleville people are interested small investors, even as low as $1.00 a share, will be accepted.

Vreeland Corps in Memorial Rites With Rev. Mr. Chapin Speaking

Rev. Oliver W. Chapin of Montgomery Presbyterian church will address members of the Henry Vreeland Woman's relief corps tonight in Montgomery church hall in a memorial service for the unknown war dead and deceased members of that body.

The corps, auxiliary of the Grand Army of the Republic, annually conducts such a service at its regular meeting immediately preceding Memorial day. Mrs. Bertha Foster, chaplain, will have charge of the ritual.

Mrs. Louis Long of 73 Wallace street is president of the group and Mrs. Violet Rochau, senior vice-president.

Launching of a small flower filled boat on the Passaic river at the Rutgers street bridge he the corps' tribute to those at sea in the town's Memorial observance on Tuesday, May 23.

The sixtieth encampment of department of New Jersey Women's Relief corps will be held in Newark in June when the Henry Vreeland association will join in the opening parade and a local member, Mrs. Florence Roselle of 46 Harrison street, will be nominated for state president. She will be the second woman named for this post. Mrs. Harry C. Fredericks of Montgomery place held the office in 1936.

Widows, Children

A survey by the Motor Vehicle department reveals that there are 149 widows and 173 dependent children among the survivors of 1943's state traffic death toll.

High School Graduation Speakers

Donald Rochlin

Catherine Anderson

Senior class salutatorian Donald Rochlin of the high school has headed two of the schools major accomplishments this year in addition to achieving the high scholastic rating which entitles him to make the salutatory address at June commencement exercises.

Within the past six months he was named editor-in-chief of High-Lights, weekly publication which appears in The Times, and president of the Belleville Youth Center which Tuesday inaugurated semi-weekly year-round dances for all Belleville young people in the high school gymnasium. The project is entirely youth-operated.

The 17-year-old son of Dr. Morris P. Rochlin, Washington avenue dentist, and Mrs. Rochlin, grew up in Belleville and was first graduated from the Joralemon street school. The Rochlins live at 171 Cedar Hill avenue.

Rochlin was a member of the student senate during the sophomore and junior years, played javyee basketball and was manager of the basketball team as well as high school cheer leader.

In three years' affiliation with the dramatic club he appeared in eight productions including the recent "Junior Miss." He was a member of the senior war bond committee.

Ardent advocate of student initiative Rochlin editorialized on the theme, "why do we wait for other people to do things for us; why do we not do them ourselves?" He lent his efforts especially to the youth center and the school publication.

He will enter Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster, Pa., July 1 to begin pre-medical studies.

Catherine Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson of 187 Hornblower avenue, will deliver the valedictory address to members of the graduating class of the high school on June 14 at commencement exercises in Clearman field. Top scholastic honors in the class have won Miss Anderson this privilege.

Born and raised here, she is an alumna of the Joralemon street school, attends Wesley Methodist church where she has been a member of the choir and is a former girl scout.

Miss Anderson's extra-curricular interests in high school began with membership in the dramatic club and a seat on the student senate in her freshman year.

She continued in the senate during her sophomore year and has since been a member of the French club and senior chairman of the schools at war program and the Junior Red Cross.

The valedictorian had an active part in the sale of war stamps and bonds in the high school this year and took part in the senior spring production "Junior Miss."

JUNIOR WOMEN BUY MORE AMBULANCES

Ninety Clubs Cooperate, Raise Funds For Mercy Cars For Army

Five, and maybe six, field ambulances will be presented to Major Callen Tjader for the Army May 20 by the New Jersey State Federation of Women's clubs at their seventeenth annual convention in the Hotel New Yorker.

Mrs. Roy L. Reed, convention chairman, reports that these ambulances will be on display outside the New Yorker the afternoon of May 20.

The ambulance project has been the biggest project of the year in the ninety Junior Woman's clubs in New Jersey.

Eight individuals have already been purchased outright by eleven individual clubs and presented to the Army with appropriate ceremony.

The entire project was suggested by Mrs. Thomas Anthony Garrett of Jersey City, state chairman of Juniors, at last year's convention and has become a reality through the successful efforts of Mrs. William J. Souders Jr. of Vineland state war service chairman.

She was assisted by vice chairman Miss Betty Messer, president of the Belleville Junior Woman's club.

Johannesen Is Sensation With Nutley Symphony

Young Pianist Is Acclaimed After Rendition Of Concerto By Saint-Saens

by Adell Sutherland

Six curtain calls by a wildly enthusiastic audience were accorded Grant Johannesen, pianist, after he played the Saint-Saens' "Concerto No. 4" with the Nutley Symphony orchestra last Friday evening at the high school.

The phenomenal technique and masterful interpretation displayed by this brilliant soloist was instantly recognized by the listeners. Thunderous and prolonged applause signaled each of his appearances as he bowed and grinned boisterously at his audience.

When, on his fifth trip to the stage, he sat down at the piano, the applause crescendoed and a high school student in the balcony voiced the sentiments of all with one long joyous whistle.

The encore was well chosen—it was the amusing "Perpetual Motion" by the modern French composer, Poulenc.

The orchestra deserves praise, too, for it had some exacting passages, yet it held together nicely and gave good support to the soloist.

Due recognition was given Nicos Cambarakis, conductor and the orchestra by Mr. Johannesen. The many musical friends which Mr. Johannesen has made will be interested to know that his New Jersey recital has been postponed to early fall.

The second half of the program consisted of four short works and the "Causasian Sketches" of Inavov, which are divided into four sections.

In Moussorgsky's "Dawn" a pleasing sense of dramaticism was created as one by one instruments

312th Infantry Plans Reunion Saturday In Newark

A large number of Belleville veterans of the 312th infantry will attend the reunion which will be held at the 312th Home, 620 High street, Newark, Saturday.

President Charles Flynn has announced that the program arranged includes open house in the afternoon and a dinner in the evening.

The original 312th band and quartette have been re-organized for the occasion. They will play and sing all the old favorites of the doughboys of 1917-19.

Speakers will include the regimental chaplain, Rev. George N. Murphy, now rector of St. Stephen's Church, Arlington; Major Henry R. Mallory, Captain Edward Scheiberling and Lt. John McNamara.

All men who served in the 312th at any time have been invited to attend. Harry Brown of Company C is general chairman of the Belleville reservation committee.

were added to the score to establish the mood of the composition. Next came "Berceuse and Prælude" by Jarnefelt, a favorite of Nutley listeners. This gave John Cataldo, formerly of Belleville, concert master in place of Carl Schaiovitz, an opportunity for a solo which he dispatched with beauty of tone and expressiveness.

All through "Turkey in the Straw", Ronald Hiss was the center of attention for his excellent handling of the percussion department, and Carleton Speratti contributed a nice flute solo.

The music itself, however, seemed a little ragged and lacked the boisterous quality one connects with this composition. The "Causasian Sketches" were well done. William Sager, violinist, and August Fantilli, English horn player, joined in a duet that was truly beautiful. Both are exceptional performers.

Attendance at this concluding concert of the season skyrocketed. A large group of Belleville high school students, all members of the music department, almost filled one side of the balcony.

Flowerman Heads Communal Relations For Jewish Agencies

Appointment of Dr. Samuel H. Flowerman, former director of the Community Vocational service and now personnel director of the National Refugee service, as director of the newly created county-wide committee on Communal Relations of the Essex County Council of Jewish Agencies was announced today by Samuel I. Kessler, president of the Council.

Michael A. Stavitsky, committee chairman, revealed that the committee would consist of 34 men and women representing all viewpoints and communities in Essex County. The committee's funds will come from the annual campaign of the United Jewish Appeal of Essex County.

Stavitsky said that the purposes of the committee were threefold. First, it will seek to promote mutual understanding and co-operation in communal affairs among Jewish groups.

Second, it will foster harmonious relationships between Jewish and non-Jewish groups. Finally, it will combat, through education and other methods, anti-Semitic activities and tendencies wherever found in the country.

The work of the committee will be launched some time in June when Dr. Flowerman will return to Newark to take over his new duties. Organizational details are now being cleaned up, it was added, in anticipation of the official debut of the committee several weeks hence.

Theodore Boss of 59 Elm place, Nutley, has been appointed to the committee representing Belleville and Nutley.

Guidance Director For Belleville Schools

The Board of Education Monday night voted unanimously to appoint Dr. Thomas J. Brosnan as guidance director of the Belleville school system. Dr. Brosnan is scheduled to take up his duties with the reopening of school in September and then will fill the void left ever since Dr. Earl K. Seibert left to go to a Vermont junior college some months back. Belleville was sorry to see Dr. Seibert go; the impression which he left on five years of school students was quite great. His influence was also felt in civic circles, for he was keenly interested in many community problems and entered actively into them.

The school board by its action Monday recognized the great need for guidance in schools today and for that the town will be grateful. This mad world in which we live (and indeed the United States is not the sanest corner) is beyond the comprehension of many supposedly trained adult minds, most of whom have found themselves one day in a neat little niche and there have contented themselves for all time. What must be the problem then of youngsters (making due allowances for the wisdom of the teen-age) trying to steer a course between Scylla and Charybdis?

The school board and the supervising principal showed good judgment also in selecting a younger man who might be more closely attuned to the particular ways and problems of youth. Youngsters undoubtedly will feel close to him, free from the fear of paternalism. Dr. Brosnan is young, yet has managed to cram an unusual amount of schooling in his few years.

It is expected that Dr. Brosnan will not meet the backroom atmosphere which plagued the early days of Dr. Seibert's stay here. We have progressed slightly beyond the stage where we look with suspicion on these new-fangled ideas in school. Dr. Seibert started off in a dark corner and wound up using a partially-abandoned classroom. Even the latter was far from the surroundings in which guidance work should be carried on. His quarters should be equal to the work which he will be expected to do. He is starting at a previously unheard-of salary for Belleville and should merit the full cooperation of the school authorities in carrying out his program.

Thanks To The Living And The Dead Americans

Sunday has been officially proclaimed by Governor Edge as "I am an American" day at which time new citizens of the past year will be honored and all of us will pause to reflect on the blessings of being an American. Less than ten days later we will all stop to remember, on Memorial day, those of our fellow-Americans who have laid down their lives that we might live as a nation. Within a short period of time we will honor the living and the dead Americans who have and are striving to make this a great nation under God.

Most of us have always taken our citizenship for granted; we have clouded our horizon with petty internecine squabbles or with ambitious efforts to gain the advantage over our fellow-Americans. Those among us who are new to America, who have known the un-free life in other lands, cannot be bothered with the sordid side of America. To them it is still too good to be free of the shackles of centuries of traditionally down-trodden peoples. We rant and rail about bureaucracy, industrial overlords, burdensome taxation, petty and thieving politicians, racketeering labor leaders. But when we step out of the country and leave America behind we miss mostly the little yard with a fence around it, the hamburgers at the corner, the ice cream parlors, the miles of beautiful highways, the feeling of freedom that fills the American air.

Therefore we of the living must be thankful that we are Americans and we must give hearty welcome to those thousands who have joined our ranks: the foreign-born who have chosen this refuge of democracy.

Then, nine days later, we will remember those of our forefathers who have died that we might survive as a great nation on the face of the earth, those who have paid the supreme sacrifice from the first days when a tiny band of plain citizens stood brazenly before the wrath of a tyrant king and declared that their souls were free. They unshackled us from the wrath of despots, they set our first faltering footsteps on the path of liberty, they fought and died that we might be free.

Today in every corner of the world other Americans are dying once more, pouring out their good blood on the crags of Italian mountains and under the palm trees of Indonesia, that we may retain the freedom our fathers gained for us. More than 47,000 have already entered the valhalla of warriors and for each a mother's heart has been torn, for each a father's footstep has grown less sprightly. They are our fellow-Americans, they are our modern minutemen. We shall remember them for many years after they have gone and we shall remember now that we too are Americans, dedicated to the fight against tyranny, pledged to fight behind the lines for our men on the battlefronts. Should we fail, we are not worthy of the name American.

WAC Two Years Old And Still Growing

Corregidor had fallen, nine days earlier. Only a week had passed since the Battle of the Coral Sea. Submarines were prowling as far as the mouth of the Mississippi River. The Japs had just taken Lashio, and the Germans, stalled in front of Moscow, were spreading over the Kerch peninsula. The War Department, a few days earlier, had confirmed the previous month's bombing of Tokyo as a feat of United States Army aircraft.

Two years can be a long time.

Two years ago, America had made only a start on the long, hard road of war. In perspective, events of Spring 1942 are a part of the war's beginning. And one of these events was the creation of the Women's Army Corps, then an "Auxiliary", on May 15, 1942. The Corps, now observing its second anniversary, was in this war at the beginning.

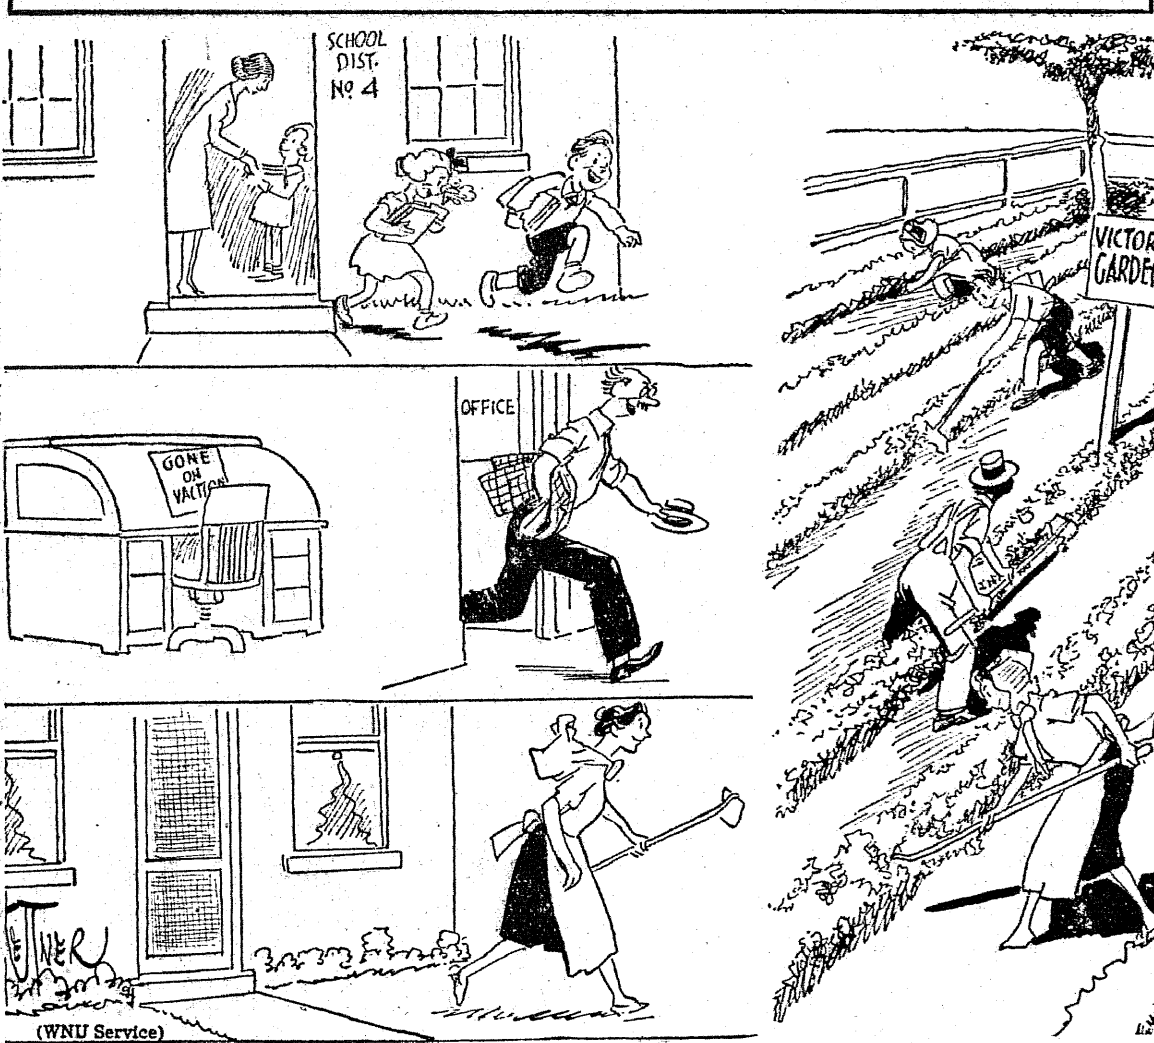

The WACs first demonstrated their merit in this country, and now are on non-combat duty in England, Italy, North Africa, Australia, India and Hawaii. Overseas contingents small at first, are growing. WACs are working with the Army Air, Ground and Service Forces, the AAF in particular using large numbers of Air WACs here and abroad.

Of all the recognition they have earned, one fact stands foremost to the credit of the WACs. They have established their ability to succeed in jobs of military skill — not just in the obvious feminine tasks carried over from civilian life, important though the latter are to Army operations. The list of skills is long — radio operators, airplane mechanics, instrument repairmen, weather observers, map plotters, electricians, photo interpreters, cryptographers, control tower operators — there are 239 Army jobs for women, and scores of them involve technical skills. WACs are not merely "filling" those jobs. They have learned them well and they are making good in them. They are on the Beam.

That is why, on its second anniversary, we salute the Women's Army Corps, not only for patriotic service but for military merit as well. And that is why we recommend to other American women an immediate visit to the Army recruiting station in Newark post office building. They will become members of a military corps which is accomplishing much toward the day of victory and the final return of our combat soldiers.

Where to Go This Summer

The Whys And Wherefores Of Municipal Planning

Two previous instalments of this condensation of "Planning with You," a booklet published by The Architectural Forum, discussed the growth of the modern city and its decay into what we know as living quarters today.—Editor.

Planning programs are not regimentation. They are coordination, which is quite different — for this means cooperation in a completely democratic manner to serve the best interests of all the citizens.

Planning provides a framework, not a set of immutable decrees. Democratic planning gives plenty of room to the individual. Planning is not expensive. Compare its cost with the cost of not planning.

Billions of dollars worth of real values have been destroyed by the process of decay which, as we have seen, occurs in all our cities, large and small.

The choice is clear. Without planning, any community is bound to lose out. With sound planning, any community can better itself.

Planning is far from visionary and impractical. Every successful businessman plans. When businesses expand to become great corporations, they have entire departments devoted to nothing but planning.

And planning even a small community is important business. All planning means, after all, is figuring out the best way to get the best results with the smallest expenditure of effort and money.

What Cities Need

A great many things our parents never dreamed of are necessities today. The modern city needs roads — not the tangle of traffic jams and stop lights it has now, but a network designed for free, fast-moving traffic.

It needs protected neighborhoods where people can buy and build with an assurance that their investments will not go sour. It needs neighborhoods which are more nearly self-contained, where the shops and other subcenters of the community can be grouped in a convenient and attractive manner.

The city needs a stable and convenient business center with plenty of parking space. It needs good schools full of light and air with adequate playgrounds around them.

The modern city must have breathing spaces just as the colonial village did. These are parks, playgrounds, open squares, plazas — again free from the hazards and noise of automobile traffic.

It needs light and air for every dwelling, every office building. It does not mean more space — it means using the space we have more intelligently.

Above all, it needs order and beauty — for this is something all people react to, and their lives and thinking are better for it.

Citizens Agree

These are some of the things the planners say the city needs. Most citizens would agree. Many say that these are fine objectives for any community but impossible of realization.

As it happens, they are being realized.

Many cities already have the beginnings of a network of express highways. Separation of pedestrian and automobile traffic is something that has been used in parts of many American cities.

There are restricted neighborhoods where the types of houses and sizes of lots protect the inhabitants. There are good schools, beautifully designed, amply provided with the necessary ground space around them.

There are splendid parks and recreation areas in the towns from one end of the country to the other.

Certain sections of certain towns are handsome to look at and agreeable to live in. There are cities with fine community centers, superb municipal swimming pools, golf courses, tennis courts and other facilities for the health, instruction or relaxation of adults as well as children.

But they are never all in one city. If one American city had all of these elements, it would look to any of us like a dream of the world in the future. But it would not be a dream, for it is already here piecemeal.

Slums

The slum is the breeding place of crime, disease and death. It has no more place in an American community than a ghetto or a vice district.

Blight is malignant and, unless stopped, moves on to make slums of once good neighborhoods. Slums are not limited to our large cities. Slums are everywhere. Their removal and replacement with proper housing must be the No. 1 move in any plan to rehabilitate our cities and towns.

Traffic

We must set up brand new traffic standards in completely up-to-date terms. For example, the standard might be that in a town of 50,000, no part of the town should be more than five minutes from any other part by automobile.

Think what this would mean to factory workers and business people. Of course, this means non-stop roads through the town.

We know how to build non-stop roads. The initial cost on such a network might be fairly high, but it does not have to be built all at once. If a plan exists, the work can proceed gradually, but according to an orderly plan.

Shopping

Downtown merchants are complaining because their patrons are leaving them for the new neighborhood centers.

Some shrewd storekeepers have capitalized on the virtual impossibility of downtown parking by building modern stores on the outskirts with ample parking space for all patrons.

Unless the downtown stores co-operate on a plan for convenient shopping, they are certain to see their business decline.

Sparking

Sooner or later, it should be required that any individual putting up a building to which people come in cars must provide the space for parking these cars — off the street.

Loading by trucks must be off the street. In large buildings such as department stores, theaters, hotels, etc., patrons should arrive and get out of their cars — off the streets.

This is done at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York, which was built on some of the most expensive land in the world. In the Starrett-Lehigh warehouse in New York trucks and even trains are brought inside the building for loading and unloading.

Next week discussion will center around recreation, appearance and health of a city. Read Cities for Civilized Americans in The Times next week.

PRESERVE RIGHTS OF CHILDREN

State Child Care Chairman Advocates More Nurseries; Warns Of "Terrible Toll"

Dr. Ellen C. Potter, state chairman of child care, urged the Mother's club of Wesley church last week to "preserve the rights of children" by discussion and advocating nursery schools and other supervised programs for children outside the home.

She contrasted the creative opportunities of the old fashioned home where children participated in making clothes, preparing food and otherwise providing for the family with the immense amount of leisure time now enjoyed by children.

She stressed the act that society "will pay a terrible toll if we fail to use leisure time wisely." Speaking of children in this respect she stated that 81 percent of 55,000 children in New Jersey have been found to lack of school supervision.

This was one of the provisions of the recently turned down child care project here. Dr. Potter expressed herself familiar with Belleville's situation and assured her audience that Lanham funds are available for such a project here.

She commented on the splendid leadership shown by the committee and the surveys supplied by the Community Service bureau in an effort to establish the need for a nursery and after school supervised care.

The board of education, asked to sponsor the nursery, recently produced a final survey which it claimed did not constitute sufficient need.

Anonymous Notes

Two anonymous letters, each with a seemingly legitimate complaint, were received in The Belleville Times office this week but are unusable because the writers forgot to sign their names.

Unsigned letters will not be accepted for publication regardless of their worth. On the other hand, a simple request that the author's name be withheld from publication is sufficient to lock the source in our hearts, not to be divulged under any circumstances.

The courage of one's convictions daily becomes one of the world's rarer virtues.—Editor.

YOUR VICTORY GARDEN

By Dr. Charles H. Connors
College of Agriculture Rutgers University
Training Tomatoes To Behave

Tomatoes should be planted in every garden because they are one of our most nutritious crops, and nearly everyone is able to eat them with pleasure.

In small gardens especially, some method of training the plants is advisable. This saves space and yet the yields for a given area will be greater than where the plants are allowed to run on the ground. This greater yield is because more plants can be grown in the given area. In addition, the fruits will be of more uniform color, will ripen gradually over a longer period, and will be clean and free from soil stains.

Training Methods

There are various methods of supporting tomatoes. The plants may be grown against a fence or trellis, set two feet apart and trained as if to a stake.

Or they may be set three feet apart and the central stem and two side branches may be allowed to develop and then tied to the fence or trellis.

Each of these parts should be trained as suggested later in this article for staked plants.

shown, but the tie is made above the leaf in order to prevent confusion in the drawings. Make your ties below the leaves.

On the average, ties should be made every foot or so. They should hold the stem fairly close to the support, but not so tightly as to bind the stem.

Well Pruned

Tying should begin when the plant is about a foot high. If you are training the plants fan shape on a fence or trellis, let three or four main stems develop, but as soon as these are formed and tying to the support has begun, do not let any more side branches start. In training on a stake, allow only the main stem to develop. Watch the axil of the leaf. This is the place where the leaf joins the stem.

Soon a new little shoot will appear there. As soon as this is large enough to handle, pick it out, either with the fingers or with the point of a knife.

Lay the blade flat on the petiole or leaf stem with the edge of the blade toward the main stem. The point of the knife can then prick out the shoot without harm to the stem.

None should be allowed to develop to the size of those shown on the left plant illustrated. It was drawn in this way to show more clearly what to take out.

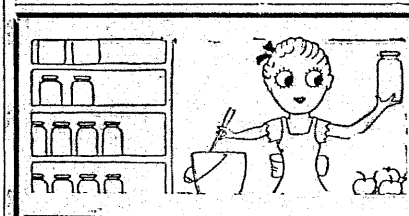

The little shoots starting at the leaves just below and just above the tie shown in the picture are in about the right stage for disbranching.

Flower Clusters

In disbranching, watch out for the flower clusters. Those in the pictures are purposely made larger than they will normally appear.

Note that these do not originate at the base of the leaf. They come out of the side of the stem between the leaves.

Keep on disbranching or removing the little shoots as soon as they appear at the angle between the leaf and the stem, until four or five clusters of fruit have been formed. They will usually be sometime in August.

Can Your Rhubarb Early

Rhubarb canning, like Christmas shopping, should be done early. If you have had your first spring tonic — a juicy, tangy rhubarb pie — then it's time to start bringing in from the garden all those young, pink stalks for canning or freezing. Next winter your system will need a tonic, too!

And why the rush? Because early rhubarb is juicy and tender. As the weather gets hot, the stalks become woody.

Whether you can rhubarb in a cooked form, freeze it, or can it by the cold water method, you begin by giving it a thorough washing either under running water or in a large pan of water. Lay the clean unpeeled stalks on a board and cut them into one-inch pieces with a heavy, sharp knife.

Baked Rhubarb

Place the clean, cut rhubarb in a baking dish, add 1/2 cup sugar to each 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of rhubarb, cover, and bake until tender. This amount of fresh rhubarb will yield a pint of baked rhubarb when finished.

Sterilize jars for 15 minutes. Most caps may be boiled with the jars, but the metal disc is just dipped in boiling water. Fill the jars with the baked rhubarb, adjust closure, and seal according to the directions for the type of jar you are using.

Place the jars in your water bath container, having the water an inch over the tops of the jars, and process for five minutes.

Remember to start timing as soon as the water in the bath reaches a good rolling boil.

Remove the jars from the water bath and follow sealing instructions for the type of jar closure you are using.

You will find that canned baked rhubarb retains a better color and consistency than rhubarb pre-cooked on top of the stove, unless steamed in the top of a double boiler.

Freezing

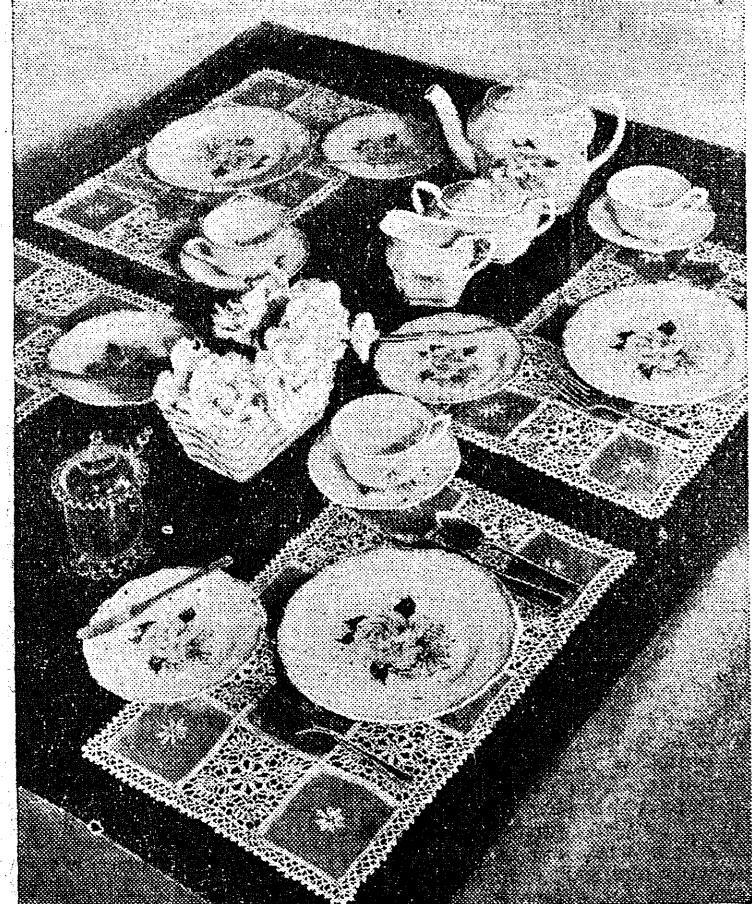

If you are fortunate enough to have a freezing unit or a freezing compartment at a locker plant, you may prepare rhubarb for freezing in either of two ways.

The first way is without sugar. Prepare the rhubarb as for canning, pack the cut pieces into lined containers, and seal. Quick-freeze at 10 degrees Fahrenheit.

The second method requires sugar. To keep the flavor of rhubarb over a longer period of time, make a syrup by boiling 2/3 cup of sugar and 1 cup of water.

When cool, pour this syrup over

Dainty Summer Luncheon Set

WE ALL CHERISH delicate remnants of our very best tablecloths, extra fine linen towels or bureau scarves. Squares from any of these or squares of sheer organdy will combine beautifully with this week's crochet pattern, to make dainty summer table mats. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Belleville Times office for crocheting directions.

After this, let some of the side branches develop at the top. The purpose of these branches is to form a sort of umbrella over the plant. This will prevent scalding of the fruits by the sun.

Many gardeners put a cross piece of wood on each stake and others use long strips of wood nailed to the tops of the stakes in a row. The side branches that are allowed to develop at the top are dropped over these cross pieces to prevent damage in time of high wind and rain.

The staked method is used commercially where there is a market for fruits of highest quality.

Many Uses For Sliced Ham

Now that the season for cold platters of meat and salads has arrived it will not be difficult for the moderate sized family to dispose of a half ham. Too, since points are removed and ham is plentiful, it will be patriotic to find as many ways as possible to use ham in our menus.

For the Creamed Ham in Corn Bread Ring, shown left above, simply add cubed ham to a white sauce flavored with green pepper and pimiento. Bake corn bread crusty brown in ring mold and fill center with the creamed mixture. The other platter contains:

Ham Souffle

2 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
3 eggs
1 cup dry bread crumbs
2 cups ground cooked ham
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Salt and pepper to taste

Prepare a sauce of the butter, flour and milk. Separate egg yolks and white and beat each well. Mix bread crumbs, egg yolks and ham with the sauce, add parsley, salt and pepper.

Fold in beaten egg whites, turn into greased baking dish and bake in very moderate oven (300 degrees) about an hour or until set in the center. Test with a silver knife like custard. Serve immediately.

the pieces packed in the containers. Quick-freeze in your own freezing cabinet, or at the locker plant, at 10 degrees Fahrenheit.

Cold Water Method

For this method the cleaning process is the same as for the cooked method. Pack the cold, cut-up pieces of rhubarb into clean fruit jars.

Set the jars, one at a time, directly under the cold water faucet. Artesian well water is most satisfactory for this method.

Let the water run into the jar until bubbles cease to rise to the top. Seal according to the directions for the type of closure; no metal disc may be used, however.

Sugar is never used. Store the jars in a cool, dark place until they are to be opened.

So whether you call it rhubarb or pieplant, it's Mother Nature's tonic and the time has come to use and enjoy it again. Choose your method, and put some rhubarb away for next winter.

NEXT WEEK: First Lessons in Freezing.

United China Relief Remits $18,000,000 in Three Years

Rev. Peter R. Deekenbach, local chairman of United China Relief, announced today that funds sent to China since its organization in 1941 have reached a total of $18,666,717.

This is exclusive of administrative expenses incurred in this country, which have been reduced to less than three and one-half per cent, Mr. Deekenbach said.

These funds are spent in China by participating agencies for a variety of projects including medical aid, orphan care, child welfare, hospitals, education, refugee relief, industrial cooperatives, transportation of drugs and medical supplies, and training of medical workers.

Nine Ways To Keep Rabbits From Injuring Victory Plants

The New Jersey Fish and Game commission today listed ways and means of keeping rabbits from injuring plants on garden plots for the benefit of victory gardeners.

After experimenting with repellents, the commission announced the following nine practices have been used with success:

1. Dust plants liberally with powdered lime when the plants are damp.
2. Dust the plants liberally with dusting sulphur.
3. Sprinkle the plants with red pepper.
4. Spray the plants with a solution consisting of three ounces of epsom salts and one gallon of water.
5. Spray the plants with a solution consisting of one teaspoonful of lysol to one gallon of water.
6. Spray the plants with a solution consisting of two teaspoonfuls of Black Leaf Forty to one gallon of soapy water.
7. Spray the plants with a solution of soapy water. Use the common brown laundry soap in preparing the solution.
8. Spray the plants with a solution consisting of one ounce tartar emetic and three ounces of sugar added to one gallon of water.
9. Sprinkle naphthalene flakes between rows of plants.

The best solution or the problem, the commission contends, is the installation of a two-foot chicken wire of one and one-half inch mesh around the garden, close to the ground.

Under the law and upon request, however, the commission will issue a permit to persons to trap or shoot rabbits that are doing damage on their own property, providing such a permit does not conflict with local ordinance or laws of boroughs or municipalities prohibiting shooting.

BHS Student Wins Honors In "Scholastic" Art Contest

Scholastic Magazine has been in the habit of awarding prizes to outstanding high schools and outstanding high school students in the field of art. This year we have been doubly distinctive by having two honors come our way.

Bill Mackey, a member of the senior class, has won honors in the 1944 annual Scholastic Art Contest. Also, Belleville High school itself has been placed in a position of esteem by receiving honors for its art department.

Over 75,000 students contested for prizes ranging from War Bonds or cash, to scholarships. It is a great privilege to receive such worthy notice from an organization of such high standing, and we may all be proud of Bill and of our high school for the exploit of such achievement.

Awards such as these have been developed by Scholastic Magazine for the past twenty years, during which time the high school students of America have developed a strong amount of creative ability. This is a noteworthy fact and deserves much encouragement.

"Bishop's Candlesticks" Given

The assembly program last Friday, "The Bishop's Candlesticks", was dedicated to the Free French. The story was taken from "Les Misérables" by Victor Hugo. It is one of three plays given to boost the sale of war bonds in BHS.

The purpose of the play was to show the audience that criminals are simply men who have not had the right chance and through one mistake have paid for it the rest of their lives.

The Bishop was played by Allen Van Demark and the convict by Bill Gross. The supporting players were Personae played by Arnette Stienhauer, the French girl by Delia McDonald and the policeman by Alan Rosenberg.

Twirlers Lose To Pin-Boys; Drop Match With Fathers

Monday afternoon the Belleville bowlers went down to defeat at the hands of the pin boys of the North Newark alleys. In the midst of a bad slump the Bel-levilles could win only one out of three games while scoring 19 total pins than their adversaries. High man for the losers was Edwald with a 42 single for 177, while Mac Macdonald was pacing the victors with a 457 series.

Five members of the bowling club lost to their fathers Friday night. The victors were led by acting father Erwin Tschubull who was high man for the night. The youngsters were led by Edwald whose father rolled the only "200" game of the match.

"School - Door Canteen" - The B-Hive

We Belleville students have been longing for a high-school night spot; and our wish has finally come true. May 16 will see the official opening of our canteen—the B-Hive.

Students will be able to dance, play games and really enjoy themselves every Tuesday and Friday night in the boy's gym. And it won't cost them more than the price of a movie.

Half-year membership cards are being sold now for only 50 cents. You can purchase one from any one of the committee workers. This committee, under the fine leadership of Donald Rochlin, has been working strenuously on this project. They have given all their time and interest in making the B-Hive a place of enjoyment.

Music will be furnished by our own Bandettes and records. Tuesday night's opening found the Bandettes "raring to go."

So, come on students, buy those tickets now. Show the town how appreciative we are; and how happy we are to have our own hot-spot. It's up to you to make the B-Hive a success.

Rush!

What's the rush for now? Well the Junior Prom of course! Teachers rushing to meetings, committees taking care of tickets, publicity and decorations, and last but far from least—those slow boys finally rushing to ask the girls of their choice to "attend" with them. Oh yes, and as usual the yearly rush for tickets. You know the date is the 26th of May don't you? Music will be supplied by Larry Tobia and his "Roseville Club Orchestra". It's getting late all right, but not too late for you to get your tickets and join us for a really great time.

BHS Students Attend Concert Of Nutley Symphony

On Friday evening, May 12, a group of Music students from Belleville high attended a symphony concert in the Nutley school auditorium. The orchestra is composed of members of the Nutley Symphony society and affords an interest to the townspeople in and around Nutley.

The program consisted of seven selections, and were presented in the following order: "The Symphony in D Major" by Mozart, the "Concerto in C Minor" by Saint-Saens, "Prelude from Khovanchina" by Moussorgsky, "Berceuse" by Jarnetel, "Prallodium", "Turkey in the Straw" by Guion and "Caucasian Sketches" by Popylov-Ivanov.

A 22-year-old guest soloist was featured in the concerto. He is Grant Johannesen and he has concentrated on both coasts to accentuate a colorful career. After the concerto, the artist played a brilliant solo which charmed all who attended.

Tickets for this concert were presented to the music department free of charge. When the tickets were being distributed before an orchestra period, the question being discussed most was "why can't Belleville have a symphony of its own?" Mrs. Wagner agreed, and said that "a Belleville Symphony orchestra would be a fine organization for Belleville, and the students could look forward to a definite goal in music". At present, some members of the high school orchestra are playing with the Nutley symphony.

Pupils, Teachers Attend Confab In Montclair; Rosenberg Speaks

On Saturday, May 13, a group of students and faculty members attended a post-war planning conference at Montclair State teachers college. It was the eighth semi-annual conference of the New Jersey International Relations Forum. The conference lasted from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. and proved to be a source of interest to all concerned.

The students who made the visit to Montclair were for the most part, pupils of the two PAD classes. They were Clementine Nucci, Frank Larkin, Dorothy Grulich, Alan Rosenberg, Mary James, May Alward, Grace Goggin, Ann Hanon, George Reif, Louise Grulich, Ruth Hodes, Elizabeth Forgnone, and Mrs. Connor, Miss Israeloff and Miss Nelson of the faculty. The conference began with a Town hall meeting on the topic: "What Guidance is Best for African Natives?" Students from four different high schools presented speeches on the subject. The speakers then answered questions posed by the audience. All such speeches took place in an outdoor amphitheatre large enough to hold hundreds of people.

After this, individual study and discussion groups were held in classrooms of a few of the college buildings. These groups included forums on labor and capital, color discrimination, peace plans, anti-semitism etc. Each group had two speakers and then the topic was open for the whole group to discuss. One of our students, Alan Rosenberg, spoke in a forum on peace.

A luncheon of corned beef and cabbage was served on the lawn, along with ice cream, rolls and bottles of milk. In the afternoon a play "Let-ters to Lucerne" was presented by a group of students from the college in the amphitheatre. Then summaries of the various discussion groups were given.

In closing, an address by Dr. Charles Hodges on "Wartime Peace Making" was presented. Dr. Wittmer of the college bade us farewell and said he hoped next year's group would be even larger.

We Have With Us Today

Allen McAllister

A small boy with a lively personality, a will to help whenever called upon, and in general an all round fellow—thus Allen McAllister.

He was born in Belleville, and attended School Number One. Among other things, McAllister is president of the Freshman class and admits that this job is one which keeps him busy.

He also partakes actively in the "B-Hive", and wonders why a Youth Center hasn't been organized before. We think that Belleville high students have needed one for some time.

One of his main interests at this point is belonging to the Traffic Committee. As you no doubt can guess, this organization has been built for the purpose of bettering the conditions in the hall when the students are passing. It is headed by Mr. Spotts, and McAllister says his hopes are high for its success. He also suggests that the co-operation of every student will be most important.

This likable boy has airplane designing in mind as his life's work. That would seem to be the reason why mechanical drawing gets his vote as a favorite subject. His secret ambition follows along the same line. He would someday love to be a flier.

Pet Peeves? They are few, but definite. Food and homework of any kind go in that direction. His main hobby coincides with his ambition, as he likes to make model airplanes. His favorite sports are many: basketball, baseball and football, to name the outstanding ones.

"My favorite band is Harry James, and his recording of 'Cherry' is swell," says Allen. Tommy Dorsey and Glenn Miller do right by Allen, too. He likes Bing Crosby in the crooning department and admires his taste in sport clothes.

A boy with big plans for the future—and we know they will materialize.

UNION, SILVER LAKE GREYLOCK WIN

Capture Opening Contests In School Ball Openers; La Falce In No-Hitter

Union avenue, Silver Lake and Greylock schools took the lead last week in the opening games of the Recreation grammar school baseball league.

La Falce of Union turned in a no-hitter as his teammates pounded out a 23-6 triumph over Joramelon. Austin and Tibado led the Union attack with three hits and four runs apiece.

Greylock's Loretta limited Montgomery-Franklin to a pair of hits, both nabbed by Stickle, in the 8-3 win. Cuomo of Silver Lake led his team with two hits in a 6-4 trimming of Passaic.

PLAN NEW CLASS IN JOURNALISM

Howard Fox To Instruct Group Of 28 Students In Newspaper Work

Next year a new course will be added to the Belleville high curriculum. It is to be a journalism class, composed of 28 selected members and instructed by Howard Fox of the faculty.

The course is an outgrowth of our present "High-Lights", and one which will prove most helpful to the staff of next year's paper. Belleville high school students have long felt the need for an outlet, a means to express themselves. This need was fulfilled in part this year by our newspaper, but the enterprise was strictly a trial, and while several students and a few faculty members took acute interest in the project, no one had any previous background or real training. Next year's staff and editors will, therefore, be that much ahead.

The 28 students who are taking the journalism course have already been chosen, and it must be pointed out that several students who expressed the desire to participate in its course of study had to be turned down.

The class will meet the last period of each day, so as to be able to continue without interruption immediately after school. It will be situated in a room with typewriters, so as to enable its members to work more adequately. The course itself will be a combination of a classroom and a laboratory; half the time spent learning facts from a modern text on journalism, and the other half spent in applying the facts and theories learned. It will be classed as a major subject and accord five points of credit. Several field trips are to be included in the course of study.

The journalism class will work in direct coordination with a journalism club. However it is not necessary to be in the class in order to work on the paper, or participate in other functions of the club.

Of course the ultimate goal of all this deliberate effort is to formulate a completely self-supporting newspaper for BHS. Plans are already underway for such an achievement, but they will have to be carried out still further. When it finally comes into effect, the paper will not be subsidized by anyone, but will support itself by circulation and advertising.

The addition of a journalism course in the school is a great step toward more student participation in school functions. Perhaps it will set the style for future developments in the same line. At any rate, students who are able to take this course may consider themselves very lucky indeed.

Crusaders came back in the third to tie the game at 2-2. In the sixth the winners went ahead with another tally, and scored what proved to be the decisive run in the ninth. The Nats rallied in the ninth for a run on a squeeze bunt, but the rally fell short by one run.

This Sunday the Nationals will attempt to get back to winning ways when they play host to the Silver Lake Bluejays at Municipal Stadium. The game is slated to start at 2:30.

Jerry Ilaria Holds Imperial Nine As Blue Jays Romp, 19-2

Behind the spectacular one-hit pitching of Jerry Ilaria, the newly-formed Blue Jays swamped the Imperials 19-2 in their baseball game Saturday at the Municipal Stadium.

Pitching perfect ball for 6 2/3 innings, Ilaria issued two walks, two stolen bases and a fluke hit by Lanno to give the Imps their two runs. Ilaria faced only 80 batters, struck out 15.

Tony Marchone and Sal Giambrone each garnered a trio of base walks for the victors.

THREE GRADUATED AT RUTGERS RITES

Harry Schnieber Is Awarded Master's Degree; Women Get B. S. in Education

Three Bellevillites were graduated Saturday morning in the eighteenth annual commencement of the School of Education of Rutgers university. Exercises were held in Kirkpatrick chapel on the New Brunswick campus.

The localites are Mrs. Leonora R. Flynn of 436 Belleville avenue, Mrs. Edith Current Hirdes of 215 DeWitt avenue (both B.S. in education) and Harry Schnieber of 10 Preston street (master of education).

Mrs. Flynn is a graduate of Barringer high school and Panzer college physical education school.

CAMP MOHICAN OPENS JULY 1

French Says Reservations From Belleville Far Ahead Of Last Year

Belleville applications for vacations at Camp Mohican are running far ahead of last year, according to Boy Scout Executive Harry T. French. He has been making many personal speaking appearances here on behalf of the camp.

Last year 46 Belleville boys stayed at the camp for a week or longer. French said yesterday he expects two troops alone to exceed that number.

Only 161 applications will be accepted this year due to the inability to obtain priorities for building, French said.

Belleville boys gained the nod for illustrated folders and application blanks were mailed here several weeks before the rest of Robert Treat Council, which also includes Newark and Irvington.

Camp Mohican, operated by the Robert Treat Council of the Boy Scouts, is near Blairstown, 65 miles northwest of Belleville. It comprises a 1,760-acre wooded tract, 1,120 feet above sea level in the Kittatinny mountains.

A clear lake, 65 acres in area, nestled between two mountain ridges, provides a picturesque setting for boating, swimming and canoeing. A fleet of rowboats and canoes, a raft, diving boards provide for the safe enjoyment of aquatics.

Rifle and archery ranges, volleyball and badminton courts and a baseball diamond are of interest to many scouts. There are eight lodges on the grounds and scouts live in Adirondack shelters, cabins or tents.
