SAILOR'S DEATH IS REPORTED ERROR

Confusion In Lapinski Name Brings Bride Near Collapse; Solved By Red Cross

From the depths of despair t a new lease on life within 48 hours was the experience of Mrs. Ida McCoombs Lapinski of 340 Belleville avenue last weekend, a bride of four months.

Thursday she and her hus-band's mother, Mrs. Adella Lapinski of Bloomfield, received Navy Relief Society letters comforting them on the "death" of Machinist's Mate 1/c Frank Lapinski June 1 somewhere in the North Atlantic. The younger Mrs. Lapinski who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCoombs, was pros trated and under doctor's care The wedding of the sailor's brother, scheduled for Sunday, was cancelled.

aSturday morning another letter received here seemingly confirmed the previous information that he had died at "an advanced amphibious base." The Lapinskis had appealed to the Red Cross in the meantime since they had re ceived no Navy department official telegram.

Mrs. Louis A. Noll, head of the home service department of the local chapter, wired Washington for information.

Saturday afternoon the family th bureau of naval affairs of the Red Cross that records, to that time, showed no casualty for the Belleville and Bloomfield Lapinskis.

Invasion Spurs Purchases Here, Says Dettelbach, Organizations Urged To Sponsor Own Bond Rallies

Belleville has started the Fifth War Loan campaign in a manner which threatens to overshadow the 200-percent effort of the Fourth last February, according to chairman Philip Dettelbach. More than $10,000 rolled in from houseto-house solicitation alone on the first day.

Undoubtedly motivated by the knowledge of the seriousness of the second front which opened last week on the beaches of France, Bellevillites flocked to issuing agencies early this week and threw open the doors of their

At presstime, reports were still too meager to tabulate officially; but the off-therecord picture was one the brightest of all the drives so far, Dettelbach said.

The municipal thermomoter of progress has been set up in front of town hall and numerous industrial plants and other business houses have duplicated it to record their own advance toward their roals

Church, civic, fraternal and other organizations in Belleville were urged again yesterday to plan bond rallies within their groups: Necessary materials may be obtained from Defense Council headquarters in town hall. From many sources yesterday, information drifted in of the plans and acomplishments of many groups to participate in the drive.

Wekearny Allocation

Western Electric of Kearny announced that Belleville's share of credit for its employees' pur-chases is $1,687.50 under its community allocation system.

Boy Hit By Car Worries About Parents' Reaction To Ripped Pants

Hardhearted police disregard-ing his plea, told Charles O'-Brien's parents anyway that he had been struck by a car Saturday evening. They were also able to say that he was not seriously injured. James Watson, 59, of 139 Linden avenue, Kearny, brought the 11-year-old youth from 247 Belleville avenue to police headquarters. He explained that Charles had run from behind a bus in Belleville avenue and was hit by the Watson car. The boy suffered slight laceration of the hip and ripped trousers. Not exactly sure about which he wanted most to hide, he pleaded not to tell his mother.

Patrolman Dunn, however, took nim home and explained the situation to Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien.

In another accident later that ight, Joseph Migliari, 14, of 90 Magnolia street was treated at Columbus hospital, Newark, for face lacerations and a broken tooth. He was released after

street told police he was driving his car north on that street and that Migliari was riding his bicycle in the opposite direction but on the same side of the street.

The youth struck the fender of the car and was thrown to the pavement. Notre took him to the hospital.

Zink Appointment Would Benefit State

According to all prognostications, civil political, it appears that the new posiof state commissioner of taxation and ance will be offered by Governor Edge Comptroller Homer C. Zink. The Governor is expected to nominate the Belleville man tomorrow when the legislature meets in Trenton. The only name mentioned as competition for the job is that of Finance Commissioner Arthur Walsh but the Trenton grapevine has it that the Senate would demur at naming a Democrat, even an independent Democrat.

Totally aside from that consideration and with no disparagement intended toward Mr. Walsh, we feel that the appointment of Mr. Zink to the post would be in the best interests of the state. Mr. Zink has proved time and again that he is an able public administrator and that he is not swayed by personal or political prejudices. He has, with the aid of a couple of very able assistants, raised the comptroller's office to a high degree of efficiency and has shown a grasp of matters financial which surprised many during the several years he has been in office.

Mr. Zink is not what the boys would call a smart politician; he was never willing, during his terms as assemblyman and senator, to compromise his decisions by playing party politics to the detriment of the people's interests. His lone Republican vote for the confirmation of Frank Hague's son to the supreme court shocked the old guard; but time has proved him right in that instance. He saw no reason why the sins of the father should be visited on the son who, he was convinced, was entirely capable of carrying out the high purposes of the court. But his heresy then was not forgiven easily by the powers-that-be and they moved him upstairs to the ocmptroller's office. To their surprise, his prestige has increased tremendously ever since.

The appointment of a Belleville man to the high post would naturally please local residents; but in this matter decisions must be reached regardess of native pride. We feel that there are few men, nevertheless, who could so capably fill the exacting requirements of the position. Therefore, we trust that, should the post be offered him, Mr. Zink will consider his duties toward the citizens of the state in making his decision.

Sixty-Day Patriots Hinder War Effort

Considering the seriousness of the fight with $18.75, begrudging every penny of it. in which we are now engaged for the preservation of democratic ideals for ourselves and for our children, there is a remarkable number of Sixty-Day Patriots walking our streets. The Sixty-Day Patriots are the individuals who buy war bonds, hold them for the necessary two months and then run to the nearest agency to cash them in. One day they hold out to the boys at the front a small bit of money and say "This is my contribution to you to keep you alive and bring you some safely as quickly as possible." The next day they get internal jitters and are scared of their own burst of generosity. So they go back to the fighting man to say, "It was all a mistake. I have to get a new hat so give me my money back."

Most of these characters bought the bonds in the first place not through any sense of patriotism, but merely because they did not want to appear cheap in the eyes of the bond salesman, who was probably making his rounds at night after working all day. Inordinate pride forced them to part have nothing but contempt.

It would have been better for them never to have bought the bond in the first place, for they made a contract with the government which they did not intend to keep. They knew in their hearts when they passed over the money that they were just Sixty-Day Patriots.

At the present time the men at the local variety of subjects, but most in postoffice are spending nearly as much time happenings of the present war, cashing bonds as they are making out new and those books which have been ones. in his stout heart, this American fighter is hell-bent on destruction of our enemies. HE is not thinking of how little or how much he's doing to help win the war. For him, the chips are down; but his fighting spirit is as high as the heavens from which his plane is diving.

In cramped foxholes and disease-infested jungles, on sun-scorched beachheads-under and over the seven seas-other Americans are matching his courage. And their name is legion. They KNOW that war is a bloody business; that their lives, as well as yours, not-let them down.

Is it asking too much of you to back these men up by buying more, and still more, War Bonds? There can be but one answer. You'll find it in your own heart.

And remember, too, as you dig deeper than ever before into your pocketbook or cash surplus, that the Fifth War Loan MUST raise 16 billion dollars. It is the greatest financing drive the world has ever known . . . to back up the greatest invasion drive the world has ever known.

And Here Are 5 MORE Reasons for Buying EXTRA Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!

2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.

3. War Bonds help keep prices down.

4. War Bonds will help win the peace by increasing purchasing power after the war.
