Athletic Council Learns It Forgot to Notify Mayor To Prepare Municipal Stadium Playing Field; Re-hires Wische and Spotts as Assistants to Chapman

High school football, all set a few months ago to move from its traditional habitat on Clearman Field to the newer surroundings at the Municipal Stadium, will stay on the old stamping grounds this fall as a result of the high school athletic council's failure to make proper provision for the move. This was decided by the council Thursday night after it heard head football mentor Bill Chapman report that "the field at the Stadium is not fit to play on."

The council had voted unanimously March 29 to make the move and decided at the same time to send its "executive committee" into conference with Mayor Williams to map a plan of grading and preparation of the playing field.

STILL NO EPIDEMIC OF POLIOMYELITIS

Berry Reports One Definite, One Possible Case; Repeats Prevention Warnings

Although one definite case of poliomyelitis has been diagnosed here and another is under observation in the isolation hospital, Health Officer Eugene T. Berry said yesterday there is no indication of an epidemic in Belleville.

While there have been numerous cases reported throughout the state and nearby localities, he indicated, there is nothing abnormal about the disease's proportions so far this summer.

He warned again that children and adults alike should stay out of unperfected swimming waters and that crowds should be avoided as far as possible.

A three-year-old girl who lives on Union avenue is now awaiting admission to the Children's Country Home in Westfield for treatment after her illness was diagnosed last week as infantile paralysis.

Another, a 26-year-old woman from Tappan avenue, is under observation and polio is suspected.

Resistoflex Is Awarded Army-Navy E Pennant

Young War Industry Receives Coveted Reward For Efficiency and Excellence of Production; Many Dignitaries at Colorful Ceremony

The prized Army-Navy E for efficiency and excellence in the production of war materiel was presented Friday to the Belleville plant of Resistoflex corporation, manufacturers of compar, a group of vital synthetic plastics characterized by their unparalleled immunity to the new, hard-to-handle super-fuels so widely used in aerial and motorized warfare.

Gathered in the plant yard near a newly erected building which will increase plant capacity by 15,000 square feet, Army and Navy representatives presented to Resistoflex and its employees the coveted flag which will be flown over the plant and the company's employees is privileged to wear.

Lieut. Col. William L. Purcell of the Army air corps presented the flag which was acknowledged in a speech of acceptance by Edgar S. Peierls, president of the corporation.

Lieut. Comm. Charles R. Lea, USNR, awarded the pins, which were accepted by Lottie Ellsberg, the first person employed by the corporation when it was founded in 1937.

George W. Newgass, a member of the board of directors, acted as master of ceremonies, with the 671st A.A.F. Band providing music for the occasion.

Colorful Ceremony The avenue leading into the plant was decorated by a row of big flags of the United Nations and the ceremony itself was held in a easily striped and flag-bedecked tent outside the new plant.

Highlights from the brief addresses (the ritual took only a half hour) were:

PETTY THEFT WAVE BESTIRS POLICE

Investigate Five Robberies Including Ration Coupons, Liquor, Tires, Pennies

A minor wave of petty thefts kept police on the step over the weekend, investigating and questioning.

Soi Brisk reported that his gasoline station at Main and Rutgers street had been entered Thursday night and a quantity of gasoline ration coupons stolen.

The following night Barney Miller reported that, while he was getting a bottle of beer for a customer at his Washington Liquor store at 477 Washington avenue, the customer snatched a bottle of whiskey and one of rum and fled.

The same night burglars broke into the garage of Joseph Riccio of 16 Alva street and stole two wheels and their accompanying tires from his car. Police have recovered the wheels and tires and expect an arrest soon.

Saturday afternoon Arthur Sharrock, manager of Food Fair at 524 Washington avenue, reported that several parcels of food valued at $25 had been lifted from the store's sidewalk where they had been left by a truck driver.

Times Survey Lists 120 Belleville Casualties

Compilation from Newspaper Files Reveals 30 Killed in Action; Thirteen Missing; Request Data To Bring Town's Honor Roll up to Date

The town of Belleville has suffered a total of 120 casualties since the beginning of America's participation in the War of Liberation, according to a survey compiled this week by The Times. Of the casualties thirty have paid the supreme sacrifice and thirteen more are missing in action on the battlefields of the world. Twenty are prisoners in the hands of the enemy, eight died of natural causes while in service and 49 have been wounded, several more than once.

The list, compiled from file copies of The Times, represents the minimum figure of the town. It comprises only those about whom new articles were carried in the newspaper since Pearl Harbor.

An appeal is made to the families of Belleville's heroes to notify this newspaper of any corrections or omissions in the lists carried on page 6, second section of today's issue.

The survey was made as a result of a request from the town Commission for the information regarding those killed in action so that official resolutions of sympathy and gratitude might be passed by the board.

The Army has borne the brunt of the local casualties, listing 98 names on the roll of honor: 22 killed, five died in service, eight missing, nineteen prisoners and 44 wounded.

Five Navy men have laid down their lives in the cause of freedom, two have died in service, five are missing and another has been wounded.

The Marine Corps listing reveals one killed, another died in service, a third missing and four others wounded. The Merchant Marine accounted for two of those killed in the service of their country.

First Casualty Navy Coxswain Harry C. Fredericks Jr. of 33 Montgomery place was the first Bellevillite killed in action. He perished May 19, 1942, when his ship was torpedoed in the Gulf of Mexico.

Three men have been prisoners of Japan since the fall of the Philippines. They are Major Harry A. Julian of 33 Perry street; Cpl. John Perkowski of 40 Harrison street and Cpl. Michael Tortorelli of 88 Baldwin place.

It is planned to publish a revised list of casualties from time to time and it is hoped that eventually the complete and accurate roster of Belleville's war heroes will be attained.

PAPER SHORTAGE ROBS WARRIORS

Metropolitan Section Loses 5,000,000 Pounds in Week; Urge Cooperation

The tragic waste paper shortage which is closing down paper mills for long periods of time and slowing down certain aspects of the war effort was called to mind again yesterday by Defense Coordinator Brunner.

Brunner referred to facts and figures recently made public in a New York daily newspaper and at the same time released figures on Belleville's salvage performance for the first seven months of 1944.

The paper shortage in the metropolitan area robbed the military effort of 5,000,000 pounds of paper commodities in one week, claims the newspaper.

This amount of paper would have made 10,000,000 blood plasma antitoxins, 2,500,000 casings for 75 mm. shells, 32,500,000 K-ration containers or 73,500,000 boxes of emergency lifeboat rations.

Direct cause of the shortage is the failure of householders and businesses to contribute their waste paper to salvage collections.

Many people believe that newspapers are the only type of paper desired in the collection, but also wanted are used paper bags, old letters, containers, match covers, any scrap of paper no matter how small.

Merchants Disappointing "The merchants in Belleville are particularly disappointing," Brunner said. "They apparently make no attempt to fold the cartons and press them out for collection."

He said that merchants could not out their paper any Wednesday and that it would be collected together with the special zone scheduled for that day.

Paper collections this year to July 31 totalled 368,836 pounds, an average of 124,120 pounds per month. The high was hit in March (157,000) and levelled off to 121,000 in July.

In metals, iron and steel collections from industries have amounted to 3,935,950 pounds, non-ferrous metals 1,054,928 pounds and tin cans 88,210 pounds. The latter group fell in July, one-third below May's high.

Bellevillites have contributed 5,903 pounds of rubber, 25,278 pounds of fats, thirty batteries and 52,243 pounds of miscellaneous salvage including rags.

A war department telegram received Saturday night informed his wife that 2d Lieut. Frederick

Lieut. Frederick H. Mason

He is the husband of Mrs. Mildred Seelye Mason of 12 Jerome avenue and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Mason, 25 Campbell avenue. He has a six-year-old son Robert.

Mason graduated from Belleville high school in 1933 and attended Newark university and the University of North Carolina. He was formerly employed with Public Service.

He has been in the Army a year and a half and was commissioned in January at Turner Field, Albany, Ga. His brother, Sgt. Harry Mason, is with a medical unit in the Mediterranean theater.

Cpl. Gerald Fuselle

Belleville high school for the second year is making plans to cooperate with both students and business by permitting some students to work on a cooperative basis, by attending school half a day and working the other half.

It should be made clear at this point however, that all students making such a request must meet the qualifications as set up by the school and at the same time the cooperating business or industry must be willing to cooperate for the best interest of the student.

All students, sixteen years of age and over, who find it necessary to do some work during the school day in order to be able to complete their high school training, should make arrangements at the high school office immediately to be assured of completing the necessary plans before the opening of school, otherwise there will be great delay.

Several buses leave Silver Lake at 8:40 a.m. and one leaves Soho at 8:40 a.m. to accommodate those pupils within the school district who are transported to high school. Promptness in being at the starting points is requested of those who are transported.

High School Important
A word of suggestion concerning the importance of a high school education should be taken seriously—very seriously. There is a great tendency for young people between the ages of fourteen and seventeen to leave high school.

Before the war emergency there was a steady increase in high school registration in the United States until they reached the high mark of about 7,500,000 in the school year of 1940-41.

The following year it dropped 300,000 and again 300,000 in 1941-42. In 1942-43 there was a drop of 400,000 in the enrollments—a drop of approximately 1,000,000 pupils in three years. Most of this decrease was due to the employment of boys and girls ages fourteen to sixteen.

The Childrens Bureau and the Federal Office of Education have declared that there is danger ahead for youth and for the country as a whole if this trend is today.

to be a prisoner of war in the hands of the Germans.

The information was conveyed last week in a telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cassidy of Jersey City. Before entering the Army the soldier resided three years with his brother, William Cassidy of 39 Ralph street.

A veteran of the North African and Sicilian invasions, Cassidy was transferred several months ago to England to instruct the Normandy invasion hosts in the ways and tricks of amphibious warfare.

He has two brothers in service: S/Sgt. James Cassidy with the Army air forces in England and Pvt. John Cassidy Jr. with the infantry in Kentucky.

and afterward during the peace.

Because compar is unique in its ability to withstand high-octane airplane fuels and the high-powered solvents used throughout industry, the Army and Navy and their subcontractors have placed large orders since the beginning of the war for these flexible rubber-like products.

They are used for gasoline, oil and instrument lines for warplanes, truck and naval engines, chemical warfare equipment, and protective gloves, aprons and garments to protect arsenal and plant workers using highly irritating petroleum solvents.

Although Resistoflex Corporation has been in existence only since 1937, the compar it produces has behind it a long and successful record which dates back to shortly after World War I.

Unknown in the United States at that time, automobile manufacturers in a number of European countries, notably France, considered the flexible plastic tubing unparalleled for fuel lines on automobiles.

Its wide use was brought about by its long life and its immunity to blended fuels which were used in those countries.

With this long record of outstanding achievement in the European automotive field, compar was introduced into this country by Peierls, Herman E. Krebs and C. E. Stretton, who founded Resistoflex corporation, of which they became president, vice-president and secretary respectively.

Flexibility Needed
Compar was placed on the American market at a time when floating power out-moded rigid fuel lines on automobiles. Flexible lines were needed to conform with new models with their engines suspended on rubber.

Compar was quickly recognized as the ideal tubing for numerous connections in automobile engines.

Acceptance by C. A. A. soon followed, and by the time the United States entered the war had gained its present position as the superior tubing for fuel oil assemblies as well as many industrial hose applications.

When rubber became scarce, the molding of compar into a wide variety of articles provided industry with substitutes which since that time have proved to outwear, out-perform rubber.

They have been permanently adopted because of their resistance to abrasion and the action of innumerable chemicals, gases, oils and solvents as well as their exceptional wearing ability.

Capable of being molded into many necessary industrial products, compar washers, gaskets, transmission rings, aligning rings, discs for paper folding machines and many other forms serve many industrial fields.

The excellence of compar tubing and molded products, in addition to the remarkable record the transparent solvent-proof protective garments have made in the protection of dermatitis and folliculitis among war workers, demonstrates the valuable characteristics inherent in this remarkable synthetic plastic.

able, I will take it up at budget time."

Chapman will again survey the entire field and stadium structure, make a list of recommendations and submit them to the mayor for inclusion in the 1945 municipal budget.

A second blow to 1944 football came when Supervising Principal Farmer announced that there will probably be no high school band this year. The defection was due mainly to lack of instruments and capable players.

Student tickets to the home games this year will be $1 for the season compared to $.55 last year. The rise was occasioned by increased number of home games (from four to six) and federal tax (ten to twenty percent).

Coaches Raised
Chapman was given a $100 raise (to $500) and Jitty Wisch and Frank Spotts (raised from $150 to $175) were approved as assistant coaches.

Nova Babb and Herman Knuppel will tutor freshman football and in addition will scout for the varsity and help with first aid respectively. They will receive $125.

Chairman Herbert C. Schmutz declared himself "flabbergasted" at Farmer's recommendation that fresh football be sponsored again in view of a recent state disapproval.

Farmer explained, however, that the state is opposed to fresh competition between schools whereas Belleville intends merely to teach yearlings the rudiments of the game.

not reduced. There is no doubt that these young people have made a contribution to the emergency needs.

About 5,000,000 of the teen-age have jobs this summer. It is reported that half of these are between the ages of fourteen and seventeen years. What of the future of these young people?

"Every American boy and girl needs the best education and training the nation can provide," according to a joint statement by Katherine F. Lenroot, Chief of the Childrens Bureau and John W. Studebaker, Commissioner of Education.

"Both for themselves and for the future of our country, more high school training than ever is needed. Education is the key to the future."

"Personal needs and local labor situations may require some boys and girls during the coming year. Some work experience may have significant education value for some young people."

"For the vast majority of them, however, school provides the greatest opportunity for development, and adults should help them to give school priority No. 1 now." Careful thinking should be done in this matter before it is too late.

Dental Work

We would like to be sure that parents have not neglected the dental work suggested in reports to them from the school last year as a result of the school diagnosis. Remedial work will mean much not only for the physical welfare of our children but also in their school progress.

Good health is essential to good or normal school work. Dental neglect is not only injurious to health but it is eventually very costly. Please give immediate attention to all dental reports during the ensuing school year.

Of course, every parent knows that all new entrants to our schools must be vaccinated before entering.

Much is required of all of us, parents and teachers alike, and it is in continued cooperation that the best of standards may be obtained. My sincere thanks for the splendid cooperation we have experienced through the years.

Pfc. Domenick Valeo

Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Coppola of 72 Eugene place received a letter Thursday from their nephew, Pfc. Domenick Valeo, informing them that he had received the purple heart for wounds suffered in Normandy.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Valeo of Borgia, Italy, he lived with the Coppolas five years before entering the Army two years ago. He went overseas in January and participated in the Normandy invasion.

His letter said that he had "killed a few Germans" and was glad to do something for this country and also for his people in Italy. His wounds are believed not to be serious.

S/Sgt. George Sbarra

S/Sgt. George Sbarra, 25, was slightly wounded in France August 10, according to a War department telegram received Monday morning by his wife, Mrs. Rose Papasidero Sbarra of 43 Hecker street.

The son of Mrs. Mary Sbarra of 913 North Sixth street, he attended Newark Central high school and has been in the Army since July 1940. He has been overseas with an infantry unit for four months.

Sbarra has been awarded the combat infantryman's badge and his outfit, the Eighth Infantry Regiment of the famous Fourth Division, has received the Presidential citation.

His brother, Pvt. Michael Sbarra, is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C. For another story on George Sbarra, see Bellevillites in Uniform elsewhere in this issue.

stuff," August Plenge Jr., another member, burst out. "We could have a beautiful layout there, no doubt about it. Why all this fooling around?"

The mayor arrived after most of the council discussion had been concluded and one of his first statements was: "Tonight is the first knowledge I have had about this."

He said that the holes in the field could "easily be filled in" but that the north end of the gridiron needs a great deal of fill and grading. "Even so, it is still superior to some high school football fields I've seen in Essex county."

Long-Range View
"We should take a long-range view of this," averred Chapman, "and fix it up for permanent use."

"There was never any attempt to fix up the north end beyond centerfield for baseball," Williams answered. "Time and funds ran out and there has been no reason to put the money in the budget."

He promised that, if he were assured that the Bellboys would move to the Stadium in 1945, and "if the funds are not now avail-

It takes
all kinds of people to win an "E" award

Last Friday, the Resistoflex Corporation was presented with an "E" pennant, by the Army and Navy, for Excellence in the production of vital war materials! Like other winners of the "E" in our community the Resistoflex Corporation is proud to have won such high recognition. However, without the high morale, hard work and constant loyalty of all the members of the Resistoflex organization, the flag could not have been ours.

But even the Resistoflex Corporation and its employees couldn't have done the job alone. Belleville - all of Belleville - played a tremendous part. The unstinting co-operation of our public officials, our civic organizations, and our townspeople - was an important factor in bringing another "E" award to Belleville.

And so, we are devoting this space to publicly express our sincere gratitude to all of Belleville as well as to all of the employees of the Resistoflex Corporation.

Playground Instructors Defeat Police-Fire Combination 12-4

A twilight baseball game in which the playground instructors defeated the Police-Fire nine by a 12-4 score, climaxed a day of activity on Clearman Field Friday marking the end of the playground season.

Jerry Bonavita turned in a four-hit performance to best Dan Dunn's eleven-hit stint. Frank Spotts and Bill Chapman each laced out three hits for the instructors. Jim Dunleavy's catching and Tom Dunn's one-hand stab in centerfield featured the losing effort.

Winners in the children's events were as follows:

Joe Arnot Wins Mile Sprint To Tie Arata for BBC Title

Joe Arnot climbed into a tie with Dave Arata for the Belleville Bicycle club's junior sprint championship Sunday when he won the one-mile event. Arata had previously copped the half-mile. Arata and Arnot each have eight points, each having taken a first and a second. They will battle for the title September 10 when the five-mile race is scheduled for Brookdale Park. Russ Wille and Wilbur Guerin have taken third and fourth respectively in each race. State junior champ Dave Burrington has not competed in either of the events thus far. Ray Bryan copped the 21-mile road race on the way back from Franklin Sunday morning. Guerin finished second and Herb Henderson, who suffered a flat tire, third. Henderson had won the two previous road races. This weekend the club will make a two-day trip to Lake Wallenpaupack, Pa., to celebrate Labor Day. They will begin their 194-mile round trip Sunday at 9.

Publinx Champ

Dom Morano

The golfing fraternity of New Jersey is still hailing Dom Morano of 102 Dow street today for the superb fight he put up Sunday to win the tenth annual state Publinx championship over Hendricks Field here.

Morano, who had previously trimmed four challengers on two successive Sundays, came up with a two-up victory over Jule LaManna in the semis Sunday morning and after lunch triumphed over Alex Antonio one-up in 25 holes to win the crown.

Morano who had won the medal with a 67 last month, survived competition from a record-breaking entry list of 447 public linksmen to win the No. 1 spot in New Jersey for 1944.

Neither Morano nor Antonio shot spectacular golf Sunday but the huge gallery of 1,000 following them did not help calm their nerves.

The former Belleville high school golfer, playing over his home course, took a two-up lead on the out nine by scoring threes on the first and sixth holes. All others were halved.

Antonio cut the margin on the tenth, Morano increased it on the twelfth and the Galloping Hillier evened things up by taking the fifteenth and sixteenth. Then began the first extra-hole final in the history of the publinx. The war of nerves got steadily worse on each succeeding tee as they halved everything up to the twenty-fourth.

On the twenty-fifth, Morano, worn by strain, tossed a bogey five at Antonio and the latter didn't have enough left to beat it. He turned in a six and the match was over.

Nationals Trip Vailsburg Jokers For Tenth Win in 13 Starts

The new Belleville Nationals traveled to Vailsburg last week, and defeated the Vailsburg Jokers, 5-2. Johnny Marshall kept the hits well scattered as Pete Roos paced the Nat attack with four safeties.

The win was the tenth in thirteen games for the Nats, who adopted their name from the former Nationals, who because of lack of players, have abandoned their own team for the duration. Ten of former players are now serving in the armed forces.

Fireaters Trim Caseys 10-9 In Softball Slugfest

Heavy hitting on both sides featured Tuesday's 0-9 win turned in by the Fire department over the Knights of Columbus on St. Peter's playground.

Harry White had a home run for the fireaters while Matty Grum led the Caseys with two doubles and a single. With two victories apiece, the teams are planning a rubber game in the near future.

Tonight the Knights play host to the ushers of Good Counsel church, Newark, on the local field. The game is called for 6:30.

Burnley, Peabody Race at Philly In Borrowed Shells

Les Burnley of Nutley and Seaman Bob Peabody of South Orange will represent Nereid Boat club in the Middle States rowing championships at Philadelphia Sunday afternoon but they will have to borrow boats to do it.

The boats they had gotten into shape for the races were destroyed last week in the devastating fire which seared the whole interior of the seventy-year-old club on the bank of the Passaic River. Burnley is scheduled to compete in the junior single shell class while Peabody has entered the junior single gig event.

Honor Roll Committee Signs With Patton for Memorial

The North Belleville honor roll committee Friday night signed a contract with William Patton of 32 DeWitt avenue for the erection of the memorial boards and laying out the park surrounding them.

Patten has designed a small landscaped park 45 by 57 feet on Union avenue north of Fawcett Memorial Presbyterian church.

Two walks will lead in to a canopy pavilion in which will be placed the scroll of those from the section who have laid down their lives in the cause of liberty.

Along each walk will be the boards containing the names of the servicemen from the North Belleville section.

Also beside the walks will be benches on which to tarry a while in contemplation.

The cost of the project has been placed at $2,010 and Court Clerk Fred B. Handlon is chairman of the finance committee which is handling contributions and soliciting advertising in the souvenir booklet.

The weekly meeting of the honor roll committee and other interested citizens will be held under the chairmanship of Joseph Stein tonight at 8:30 in the Recreation House.

School Board Renews Contract With Public Service, Raise Ante

At a price 33 1/3 percent higher or than the rate of two years ago, Public Service will again supply transportation this year for high school students who reside in Silver Lake and Soho sections.

The board of education Monday approved a renewal of the Public Service contract after learning that P.S. was the only bus company to bid for the work. The round-trip price this year will be $5 compared to $4.50 last year and $3.75 the year before.

Police Headquarters Expanding

Extensive alterations are under way on the basement floor of town hall to permit expansion of police headquarters.

In the apartment formerly occupied by the town hall caretakers, John Sullivan and Mrs. Mary Welsh, space is being made for a patrol room, photo laboratory, record bureau and women's detention room.

Sauerkraut for Health

Like chicken-and-biscuits or ice cream-and-cake, sauerkraut-and-sauerkraut go hand in hand when we think of things good to eat. To know that besides being good to eat, sauerkraut is really good for us, makes the situation perfect. How comforting to discover that our old favorite sauerkraut is chock full of vitamin C and minerals!

Let's put away a crock or some jars of it, then, for next winter. Did you plant Bugner Yellow Resistant or Pennsylvania State Dan- ish Ball Head varieties of cabbage in your garden? They are two excellent kinds for making sauer- kraut.

At any rate, use fall cabbage with firm heads, and remove all outer leaves that are bruised or discolored.

Making Sauerkraut
Quarter the heads, removing the cores, and shred the cabbage finely on a shredder or with a sharp knife on a board. Weigh out five pounds of shredded cab- bage (or five pints), and two ounces (3-1/2 tablespoons) of bag or coarse salt.

In a clean three- or five-gallon crock, place a layer of the cut cabbage four or five inches deep. Cover with a light sprinkling of salt.

Tamp with a mallet or wooden block attached to a handle until the juice begins to show.

Repeat this process until the crock is filled to within five inches of the top, tamping after each layer of cabbage and salt until liquid shows on the surface.

Cover the top of the crock with clean cheesecloth, a large plate, and a heavy weight — a clean stone is fine. Tie heavy paper or a towel over the crock to keep out the dust.

The crock is then ready to be stored at a temperature of from 75 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit for ten days or two weeks.

It is during this period that fermentation takes place. After a few days a scum will rise to the top of the crock. To remove this scum, hold it in the cloth and rinse carefully before replacing the cloth over the kraut. Re- move the scum every few days.

When bubbles cease to rise and the fermentation process is com- plete, tie a cloth over the top of the crock and cover it with heavy paper. Then put the crock in the cellar or in a cool place where a temperature of from 50 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit can be maintained.

If storage space is limited, sauerkraut may be made in two- quart jars. Mix shredded cabbage and salt (in the same proportions as given above) in an enamel pan. Pack tightly into glass jars up- to the shoulders of the jars. Cover with glass lids and fasten only the top wire of the bale clamp.

Place the jars in an enamel pan to catch the juice which will ooze out, and keep them at a tempera- ture of 75 to 80 degrees F. Re- move the lid daily and tamp down the kraut, pouring back the juice that has oozed out.

About ten days will be needed for complete fermentation, after which the lids may be tightened. Store in a cool dark place.

Remember that it is the fer- mentation process that changes cab- bage into sauerkraut, and that a warm temperature is needed to cause fermentation.

Don't repeat the experience of one man who bought fifty pounds of cabbage early last season and chopped it up for sauerkraut. But instead of measuring the cor- rect proportions of cabbage and salt, he used his own judgment as to amounts of each.

And instead of putting the mix- ture in a warm place to ferment, he put it at once in a cold place. No fermentation took place, of course, and to this day all he has to show for his work is plain salt- ed cabbage . . . and much too salty to eat!

Mundys Still Seeking Home To Replace Fire Damage

Sympathy Pours in for Widow, Eleven Children But Warm-Hearted Landlords Still Absent; Welfare Department Previously Sought Ruling

With a strong hope not yet extinguished, Mrs. James M. Mundy of 48 Belleville avenue is still searching today throughout Northern Jersey for a home for herself and her eleven children. Meantime, she is preparing to bring her young brood home from their little vacation with relatives on Long Island and is making plans for fixing up her fire-gutted house as quarters for the brood of youngsters who will return to school in a week.

Several leads to possible residences for the Mundy family have come to the attention of The Times. Each has been followed to its source but up to a late hour yesterday nothing definite had developed.

The Times two weeks ago learned of the plight of the Mundys: Mr. Mundy died in March leaving his widow and eleven children; the following month the Mundy house was gutted by fire.

Since that time the family has tramped the streets of many North Jersey communities trying to find a place to which to move, but the answer everywhere has been: "Sorry, no children!"

The house in which the Mundys are living is on the verge of condemnation but town health officials, not wanting to turn the family out on the streets, has withheld action until another home is found.

Now Mrs. Mundy is fearful mostly of the coming winter months. Many of the windows of the house were broken during the fire and there are holes in many of the walls.

Winty Blasts

The problem of keeping out the winty blasts will be a difficult one, particularly in view of one little girl, three years old, who is a cripple and spends most of her time in bed.

Two offers of children's clothing, generously offered by Belleville women, have been accepted with thanks by Mrs. Mundy in view of the fact that most of the family's clothes were destroyed in the fire.

Mrs. Mundy pointed out yesterday, however, that she is not seeking charity but rather merely a roof over the heads of her children.

She is determined to keep her family together somehow, although the prospect of having to surrender them to a social agency is not out of the question.

This is not the first time the question of families unable to find lodging because of their children has disturbed the surface of Belleville. The Welfare department investigated it in February.

At the suggestion of Rev. Joseph M. Kelly of the Local Assistance Board, Overseer John Hewitt wrote to the Municipal Aid Administration in Trenton February 19:

"The question was raised as to whether or not a landlord was within his legal rights to refuse to rent his property to any renter who had the necessary means to pay his rent, just because of the number of children."

In reply, A. R. Post, deputy to Municipal Aid director Charles R. Erdman, quoted a section (RS 2:144-2 of the revised statutes which declared that:

Misdemeanor

"Any person or corporation . . . who shall refuse to rent or lease any house or apartment to another person because the family . . . includes children under fourteen years of age . . . shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

"I am of the impression that landlords have certain rights and privileges which may be exercised in determining who they shall allow tenants of their property," Post added.

Town Attorney Keenan, in a reply to a letter asking him for clarification about local laws, answered that "there is no direct

FURLONG IS FINED IN TIPSY DRIVING

Gebhardt Imposes Maximum On Nutley Man; Newarker Put on Probation

Harry Furlong, 24, of 299 Franklin avenue, Nutley, was fined $200 plus two costs and lost his license for two years by acting Recorder Gebhardt after pleading guilty last fortnight to a charge of drunken driving.

Furlong was arrested several weeks ago after driving a station wagon belonging to a local war plant onto the Erie railroad tracks at Roosevelt avenue. There were five other men in the vehicle.

Four policemen spotted the car racing through the streets at 3 a.m. and during the ensuing chase several shots were fired after it.

Americo Bove, 21, of 18 East Sylvan avenue, Newark, drew a thirty day suspended sentence and was placed on probation for a year after pleading of disorderly conduct involving lewdness.

Gebhardt reserved decision on a suit for non-support brought by Mrs. Silverio Nobile against her husband, who lives at 70 Nolton street.

Ordered To Leave
Mrs. Nobile charged that her husband ordered her to leave his home after she had refused to have sex with him, who had been sick, to the house.

Nobile, through his attorney, Samuel Figuerelli, contended that his wife had deserted him and, therefore, was not eligible for further support.

An unlicensed driver was fined on two counts and the owner of the car which he drove was also fined by acting Recorder Gebhardt in police court Friday morning.

John Herbert, 30, of 32 Academy street pleaded guilty to speeding and to driving without a license. He paid a total of $20 fine and $8 costs.

Gebhardt levied the minimum $50 fine and $8 costs against Willie Yoemans, 39, of 46 Ernest street, Nutley, who entered a guilty plea to permitting Herbert to drive his car.

Five Rotarians Perfect

Five members of Rotary have maintained 100 percent attendance at the weekly Rotary meetings in Belleville for a period of ten years or longer, according to the annual report of secretary Siegfried G. Bart.

They are Philip Dettelbach, 178 meetings in 22 years; Harvey B. Thompson, 1,031 meetings in twenty years; Willard Sawyer, 763 meetings in fourteen years; Dr. George Kadea, 756 meetings in fourteen years and Lawrence E. Keenan, 593 meetings in eleven years.

ITALIAN PRISONERS ENTERTAINED

St. Anthony's Parish Party For Camp Kilmer ISUs Crowded by 5,000

In a move which might set future policy for the handling of Italian war prisoners, now members of Service Units, St. Anthony's Catholic church Sunday entertained 126 ISUs for an entire day to show them "democracy at work."

The prisoners, who now work in Camp Kilmer to relieve Americans for duty elsewhere, were escorted here by an Army chaplain and four American military police.

After attending mass at the church, they spent the day in the church hall enjoying dinner, refreshments, dancing, entertainment and visits with the more than 5,000 parishioners and curiosity-seekers who jammed the area all day.

Up to two days before the visit, all publicity regarding it was kept out of the newspapers at the express request of Kilmer authorities, who feared more "bad publicity" over "coddling" of prisoners.

"This is democracy at work," declared Rev. T. J. P. Menegus, pastor of the church. "We are showing these boys the difference between the fascism of Europe and the democracy of our land."

Special squads of police and auxiliaries were dispatched to the church by Chief Sznitz to hold the unexpected crowds somewhat in check. There were no disputes nor arguments throughout the day.

National Recreation Assn. Report Proposes Long Range Recreation Picture

Belleville Recognizes Municipal Responsibilities
For Recreation, Fails to Put Them in Effect;
Other Agencies Not Excluded from Field
Tenth Installment

The long range plan for recreational properties in Belleville which will now be proposed is based upon the findings in the previous sections of this report. It is therefore unnecessary to review those findings. However, a few special observations should be made to indicate some of the basic local considerations affecting the plan and to interpret its fundamental viewpoint. Most of the areas, buildings, and facilities referred to in this plan will be proposed as a municipal responsibility.

The reason for this is simple — the provision of such properties and the services associated with them is now widely regarded as a public function on the same basis that education, health service, and library service are principally public functions to be supported by taxes.

The responsibility of the municipality for recreation has long been recognized in Belleville although the conception of adequate property and services has been far from adequately put into effect.

This idea of a strong municipal department as the principal resource for the community's recreation does not exclude other agencies from the recreation field.

The churches, membership agencies, and clubs rightly have an important although supplementary role in respect to the community recreation program.

Schools Basic Element

A basic element in the Belleville recreation plan is the public school system. Its recreational importance was emphasized in an earlier section of this report.

It will be seen in the proposals to follow that school and municipal properties are regarded as integral and complementary elements in the whole plan.

It is assumed that new school buildings will be planned skillfully with an eye to community recreation use just as parks, playgrounds, and playfields will be functionally planned for such use.

Another important element in the plan is the Essex County Park system with its various units within the boundaries of Belleville. It is a striking fact that a large percentage of the total land area of the town is owned by Essex County.

Naturally in applying standards for park and recreation space and in making proposals for playgrounds and playfields the facilities of the county system have been fully recognized.

With respect to playground service for children the fact of the traffic hazards on Belleville avenue and Main street has been taken into account.

The usefulness of the Passaic River Parkway and of the Belleville Park is somewhat impaired as far as children are concerned by the safety hazards on the adjacent thoroughfares.

Diversified Use

A study of the long range plan for Belleville will show that the proposals assume a broad and diversified use at the centers, outdoor or indoor.

Buildings are designed to accommodate and unify physical recreations, drama, crafts, music, social activities, and other interests.

Playgrounds and playfields are designed to make possible a wide diversity of activities associated with the outdoors.

Thus, while there is a place in the plan for properties with specialized functions, in general, in the interest of unified management and economy, facilities for an inclusive program are provided.

Essential in these proposals is the assumption of a well-trained and highly qualified staff, which will be more than simply adequate to operate the physical plant.

Such a staff should be competent to organize the community for recreation and to give service to the agencies that supplement the municipal recreation program.

The interests of the community require capital expenditures for recreation as well as for schools and other functions.

If, in the name of economy, recreational services are starved, the town will progressively become less attractive from a residential viewpoint. This will help to destroy the outlook for maintaining or increasing rates.

Recreation Attracts

Recreation is an important factor in attracting substantial types of citizens and taxpayers. In bidding for such residents, Belleville must compete with other New Jersey towns.

After the war, distance from work will be no special handicap to the automobile owner, who, even though he may work in Belleville, will have no special reason to live in an increasingly industrialized community, unless it has other attractions for himself and his family.

It is a sound financial policy not to depend solely on industries to finance the town's budget. A balanced policy should be followed of improving the town residentially as well as industrially.

Immediate steps should be taken to stabilize the residential neighborhoods including Silver Lake by sound planning for the use of the land concerned and the development of recreational properties and services.

Finally, it is appropriate to refer to an idea which has already emerged in the community and which will enlarge toward the conclusion of the war.

This idea is the question of a suitable memorial to the men and women serving in the war. What memorial could be more suitable than a carrying out of a long range plan for recreation in the town of Belleville?

The playfields, playgrounds, and facilities proposed in this plan constitute the kind of living memorial which would very fittingly honor men and women in the service because for decades to come they would provide both highly practical use as well as beauty.

Incorporated in this plan is the music center which the Belleville Foundation plans to create in the abandoned Christ Episcopal church on Main street.

Seaman 1/c William R. Paxton and Storekeeper 1/c William Henderson recently met in Hawaii and spent several days together, according to letters to their mothers, Mrs. Catherine Paxton of 7 Van Rensselaer street and Mrs. Mary E. Henderson of 136 Rutgers street.

Another local youth, Seaman 1/c Michael Pescatore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pescatore of 161 Birchwood drive, is assigned with Paxton to the same LCI in the Pacific.

They have been in that theater since early January and have seen action in the Marshalls, Saipan and Tinian. At Saipan the LCI was banged up but the boys reported no casualties.

Henderson is stationed at a Navy base in Hawaii and has been there for several months.

All three are 1943 alumni of the high school and went through boot training and school together at Newport before being sent to the Pacific.

"I would like the enclosed article put in your newspaper," says a letter to The Times from a Pvt. Mickey D'Zurinda with the Eighth Regiment of the famous Fourth Infantry Division in France.

"It concerns two Belleville boys meeting here in France, both of whom are with the 8th Infantry regiment which recently was awarded the Presidential citation and which is making history in France.

"The boys are Sgt. Joseph J. Filaci, who made the landing on D-day H-hour, and S/Sgt. George Sbarra, who joined the Eighth on D-plus-17, on which day the two boys, who were pals in Belleville, were surprised at meeting each other on the front.

"Filaci, who is a graduate of Belleville high and attended Essex Junior college, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Filaci of 61 Florence avenue. He is married to the former Elizabeth Brooks of Mill-edgeville, Ga., who resides with Sgt. Filaci's parents. The Filacis are expecting an addition to the family soon.

"Sbarra is the son of Mrs. Maria Sbarra of Newark. He is married to the former Miss Rose Paspadero of Belleville and resides at 43 Heckel street. His brother Michael is in the Army and is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.

"Filaci and Sbarra are expert infantry soldiers, being awarded the combat rifle badge. Any other information you wish on these two boys, who are damn good soldiers and deserve a good write-up, may be gotten from Mrs. Filaci."

Information received this week revealed that Sbarra has since been wounded (see page 1).

Joseph S. Nowakowski of 155 Union avenue has won a marksmanship medal at the Army air base at Kearny, Neb., and has been promoted to staff sergeant.

His bride of six months, the former Miss Roberta Dillingham of Newark, returned with him to Nebraska when he completed a furlough in July. He has been in service since November 1940 (a premier selectee) and his brother Henry is with the Navy in Rhode Island.

Seaman 2/c Patricia Jeanne Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Owens of 283 Little street, has completed her basic training at Hunter college and has reported for further instruction at Miami university, Oxford, O.

T/Sgt. William J. Brady jr, of 242 Washington avenue, a member of the "Thunder Dragons" group, has been authorized to wear four bronze stars on his European-African-Middle east campaign bar, according to a dispatch from headquarters of the Fourteenth Air Force in China.

Brady, a veteran of 21 months foreign service, saw action in French Morocco, Tunisia, Sicily and Italy before joining Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's forces in China. He also wears the good conduct and Pacific theater ribbons.

He graduated from St. Peter's commercial school in 1927 and was formerly employed with the Driver-Harris company of Harrison. He has been in the Army since March 1942 when he enlisted after having been rejected in the draft.

He is a charter member of the Petrean club, its first president, and wrote the book for the first two Petrean shows, including the famous "Gay Nineties Revue" of 1940.

Word of new Navy ratings for the twenty-year-old Cordasco twins of Bloomfield, formerly of 428 Union avenue, came this week to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cordasco.

Aviation Machinist's Mate 2/c Ralph Cordasco has been stationed at a Naval Training base in Klamath Falls, Oregon for the past six months. Seaman 1/c Gerard Cordasco is at a South Pacific base.

The twins separated a year ago when Gerard went overseas. They enlisted in March 1943 and had previously attended Belleville high school for two years.

At a Twelfth AAF B-25 Base, Italy—Sgt. Rocco F. Milano son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Milano of 97 Passaic avenue, Belleville, has been promoted to the rank of technical sergeant, according to an announcement at 12th Air Force headquarters in Italy.

An aviation crew chief with a veteran B-25 Mitchell bomber squadron operating in the Mediterranean area, the New Jersey soldier has served in the engineering section of his unit throughout the Tunisian, Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

His squadron has supported five amphibious landings and is currently engaged in precision bombing of lines of communication being used by the retreating German armies in northern Italy.

Milano has been overseas since February, 1943.

Second Lieut. William W. Konrad, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Konrad of 36 Garden avenue, has reported to Randolph Field, Tex., as one of the expert pilots selected for training in AAF Central Instructors school.

Upon completion of a month's specialized training here he will go to another field of the AAF training command to be an instructor of aviation cadets.

Headquarters, Thirteenth AAF, Southwest Pacific—A Belleville soldier, is providing technical skills that help keep in action the heavy bombers of the 13th Army Air Force.

Sgt. Richard A. Bruegman of 277 Stephen street, a radio maintenance mechanic, has completed sixteen months of service with his Liberator squadron.

Striking from advanced Southwest Pacific bases, Bruegman's squadron is now engaged in the campaign to smash the last enemy outposts guarding the Philippines. B-24 bombers in Sergeant Bruegman's group have fought from Guadalcanal to the Southwest Pacific in three major campaigns, blasting Jap airpower at the important bases of Truk, Yap and Rabaul.

Bruegman entered the army February 13, 1942, prior to which he was employed by the Prudential Insurance company, and was graduated from the Belleville high school with the class of 1930.

He left the United States for service with the 13th AAF in December 1943, and has been decorated with the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with three battle stars and the good conduct medal. He is a member of the 13th's famous "Long Ranger" bomber group. His wife, the former Helen Pappas and daughter Judith, make their home at 277 Stephen street; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Bruegman, live at 101 Malone avenue.

Explosive fumes from gasoline tanks, ignited by tracers, could easily blow up, send plane crashing in flames. So our pilots flood area around tanks with carbon dioxide gas from Kidde cylinders. The fire-smothering carbon dioxide replaces dangerous vapors, robs enemy tracers of incendiary effect.

tion of real estate for three years. The statutory limit is 7%. However, the Local Bond Law contains exceptions to this limitation under which debt could be authorized if the need arose.

Water debt was fully deductible by reason of a surplus from operations. Gross Debt, including School Debt was $4,419,460.00, or 12.389% of the total assessed valuation for 1943.

Failure of Public Agencies to Cooperate

Last March 29 the high school athletic council decided to take the Bellboy football team to the Municipal Stadium for its games this fall, a move which was hailed in all quarters as a step in the right direction, a step designed to put the half-million dollar plant to some use after all instead of allowing it to stand like a great white elephant and a monument to WPA gullibility. It was expected that, following the normal line of human reasoning, the council would take immediate steps to see that the playing field would be in condition for the grid opener in September.

Last Thursday in council headquarters was the disheartening picture of a group of men cast into the gloom of disappointment when they learned that the gridiron at the Municipal Stadium is in no fit condition to permit the Bellboys to play there this year. There was sympathy for the council until it developed that the council had not taken one single commonsense step to insure the success of the program it set for itself. The council had failed to notify the mayor, under whose supervision the Stadium has been for several years, of the proposed move and had failed to request him to prepare the field for the autumn sport!

Another thing which is not generally known is that the record of the March 29 meeting was missing from the minute book when the council met last Thursday. Thus there was no way to fasten exact responsibility for the dereliction of duty. The morning after the meeting, however, The Times reported that it had been decided that the executive committee of the council would request an immediate conference with the mayor to lay the plans for the fall.

Confusin' — But Not Amusin'

Many eyebrows were raised last week when it was realized that, after the proposed paving of a single street in North Belleville, the street will bear two names; it will be Greylock parkway from Washington avenue to Passaic avenue but west of that point it will be Chestnut street. This particular point of confusion, however, will be eliminated when the department of Public Works follows through on a promise made this week to The Times and introduces an ordinance making it Greylock parkway through its full length.

The naming of streets is not much of an extraordinary science but it has been so muddled in many instances in Belleville that the results have oftentimes proved quite confusing, not only to visitors to the town but even to longtime residents. One point of confusion arises from a street which bears two names at different points along its route. Examples of these are DeWitt-Clinton, Cleveland-Schuyler, Barnett-Hill, Charles-Melrose, Center-Ligham, Bellavista-Overlook, Rhode-Fairway, Salter-Brighton, Naples-Cuozzo.

Again, there are many instances of a street which enters an intersection, turns right or left for a couple of hundred yards and then continues in its original direction. In this case it appears to be two separate streets — yet they bear the same name. Witness DeWitt at Joralemon, Passaic where it jumps around the Turf Bog, Wilber street where it "crosses" Joralemon, Belmont at Franklin, Bridge at William.

A third point which muddles many heads is the great profusion of streets bearing similar names. Take for example Greylock avenue, Greylock parkway and Greylock place; Newark avenue and Newark place; Washington avenue and Washington street; Bell street and Belle avenue; Bellevue avenue and Bellevue street; Stephens street and Stevens road; Union avenue and Union terrace; Arthur street and Arthur avenue; Mt. Prospect avenue, Prospect place and Prospect street.

The cause of this confusion is simply that, all through the years, the development of Belleville has been entirely in the hands of whatever builder came along and was not guided by any municipal or community agency. It is to be hoped that the town planning board (if the Commission ever steels itself to discuss and form one) will undertake a review of the naming of streets and the numbering of the houses thereon.

misguided souls who should be mothered and babied so that kindness might turn their minds from error.

There is a third group which is somewhere in between the two extremes. This group realizes that these prisoners actively fought against the United States and that some of them killed American boys. For that reason their life while prisoners of war should not be a bed of roses. On the other hand there are definite points in favor of occasional gestures of friendship and even leniency.

Chief among these is the propaganda value. When the hundreds of thousands of enemy nationals return to their native lands they will be able to tell their friends of the consideration with which they were treated and the resultant good will will help much in the postwar world. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" is still a pretty good rule.

Civilization Is Not an Eye for an Eye

There was a howl in some quarters over the group of Italian war prisoners which was permitted to visit Belleville Sunday, attend mass in St. Anthony's Catholic church and spend the day in social activities here. The objectors were few in number and seemed motivated largely by the same puzzling symptoms which are evident in most agitators who seldom know the whys and wherefores behind various moves. Generally the people of Silver Lake were pleasantly surprised by the behavior of the prisoners and the majority had no objection to their visit.

The question of our treatment of war prisoners usually resolves itself among three theories. There are those who believe in strict eye-for-an-eye treatment; would let enemy nationals who fall into hands be given concentration camp treatment. There is another group which on the captive totalitarians as poor misguided souls who should be mothered and babied so that kindness might turn their minds from error.

Chief among these is the propaganda value. When the hundreds of thousands of enemy nationals return to their native lands they will be able to tell their friends of the consideration with which they were treated and the resultant good will will help much in the postwar world. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" is still a pretty good rule.

DOLL SHOW MARKS END OF SEASON

Three Girls Awarded Prizes
In Summer's Final Event
At Cortlandt Playground

The recent closing party at the Cortlandt street playground was highlighted with a doll contest although prizes were also awarded for all major events of the ten-week season.

Sixteen of the 47 guests at the party, which was directed by Mrs. Olive Muir, were parents of the participants.

Mothers who donated refreshments were Mrs. George T. Lidlow, Mrs. Marietta Ecton, Mrs. Robert Davies, Mrs. Theodore Krause, Mrs. Robert Van, Mrs. William Goettert, Mrs. Alton Parker, Mrs. Frederick Ayres, Mrs. Thomas Lukowiak.

A colored doll exhibited by Thomasina Hamilton was judged most beautiful; Joan Krause's mannequin doll was first in the category of character dolls; Jacqueline Lidlow's doll, made on a whitekroom base, was most original. These girls were awarded crayons.

Other exhibitors were Carol Adinholdt, Myra Hatcher, Lilian Baldwin, Patricia and Margaret Murphy, Doris Lidlow, Claudette and Joan Davies, Dorothy and Joan Parker, Jean Grolimond, Margaret Brown and Jane Rummel.

Jacks Finalists

Jacks finalists, who were awarded plastic bracelets and pints of ice cream, were Lois Anderson and Joan McHugh in the older group and Joan Krause and Joan Parker of the morning class.

Joan Parker also received an award of a pencil case for coloring and four-year-old Frederick Ayres, a periscope. Mrs. Muir expressed the opinion that a morning coloring session induced larger attendance among the preschool children this summer.

Prizes of automatic pencils, pencil cases and construction toys went to girls and boys who participated in the mid-July costume parade at the playground. They were Eleanor Estelle, Joan Parker, Doris Lukowiak, Roberta Van, Jack Shaw and William Roberts.

Playground leaders accompanied Mrs. Muir to Crestwood Lake Monday for a picnic. Eight younger children, accompanied by their mothers, also attended.

Found 1844 Constitution Easy to Get Around

This is the third of a series of educational and informational articles on the proposed revised state constitution prepared and released by the New Jersey Committee for Constitutional Revision.

Pity the poor New Jersey legislator!

For a hundred years he's had to campaign hard for election to the state Senate or the General Assembly—and then, taking the testimony of hundreds of legislators—the salary hasn't even paid his expenses.

Under New Jersey's old-fashioned 1844 Constitution, members of the state legislature have been paid $500 annually. The president of the Senate and the speaker of the Assembly received one-third more because of their added duties and responsibility.

But throughout the decades, New Jersey legislators have agreed that the salary didn't pay the cost of election and expenses while working at the state capital. So some of them increased their income from other state sources.

More than one "fortunate" and, mayhap, foresighted legislator has found that he could "earn" more than $500 because of his legislative connections. In that fact was a "joker" which the 1844 Constitution provided. Perhaps it was done without forethought by the original writers of the Constitution.

On more than one occasion during past years, New Jersey citizens have suddenly learned that one of their legislators was acting as "special counsel"—or whatnot—for some state department or another.

In the not-too-far-distant past one Senator was the butt of court action because of the fact that he was counsel for a state department—and drawing pay for it—after having cast vote creating the job and setting the amount of pay.

Faced with a vote on the appropriations bill or no a special appropriation, the "Senator-special counsel" was placed in the position of voting an "O.K." to his own bill.

Against Hoyle

New Jersey citizens—and more than one less "fortunate" legislator—agreed that this practice of picking up a few extra dollars while serving in the Legislature at a $500 salary, wasn't just according to Hoyle. The courts decided much the same thing, but found that under the 1844 Constitution they couldn't do much about it.

New Jersey's proposed revised Constitution, on which the citizens will vote in the General Election next November 7, will change this situation, it is pointed out by the New Jersey Committee for Constitutional Revision.

True, the revised Constitution will give Senators and Assemblymen a "decent salary." From $500, Mr. Legislator's salary will be increased to $2,000 per year. The senate president and house speaker will receive one-half more.

But a favorite money-earning stint of many legislators of the past will, at the same time, be eliminated under the new Constitution. In effect, the 1944 Revision tells Mr. Legislator that he can have his "decent salary," $2,000 per year—but that's all, that he'll have to keep off the state payroll from other sources where he's going to create an office or approve its pay by his action in the Legislature.

The higher legislative salary will, it is believed by proponents of the Revision, attract citizens who in the past have declined to be candidates for the Legislature, because they couldn't afford it.

No Extra Work

But the "no-extra-work" ruling, which is remedied by appropriate wording in the new Constitution will save money for the taxpayers of the State. The "Commission on State Reorganization" has found that approximately one million dollars has been spent in the last 10 years for such fees.

Article III of the Revision, which also increases the terms of Senators from three to four years and of Assemblymen from one to two, doesn't forbid the legislators from serving on commissions, committees or other bodies whose "main purpose is to aid or assist in the performance of quasi-legislative functions or to aid or assist the Legislature in performing its functions," provided, however, "that no compensation shall be paid to any member of the Legislature because of such membership."

Article III, which as has been pointed out, hands the legislator of the future a benefit at the same time depriving him of a favorite lucrative past-time, provides another boon to the legislator by lobbyists.

This article provides that "lobbying in the legislative chambers of either house shall be prohibited. The Legislature shall impose suitable penalties for violations of this provision."

The "suitable penalties" clause puts enough teeth into this provision to allow legislators to clamp-down on the lobbyists—who have been a fly in the legislative ointment for so many years.

Another important new clause in the 1944 Revision provides that the statutory law shall be revised by enactment, from time to time."

... and the Legislature shall designate by law a permanent law revision agency ... to the end that all statutory law shall be completely revised where needed ... at least once every 20 years."

Following a summer recess, the Nutley Symphony orchestra has resumed preparation for its fall concert, Nicos Cambourakis, conductor, said this week. The organization is again planning a series of three concerts to be given in Nutley during the season.

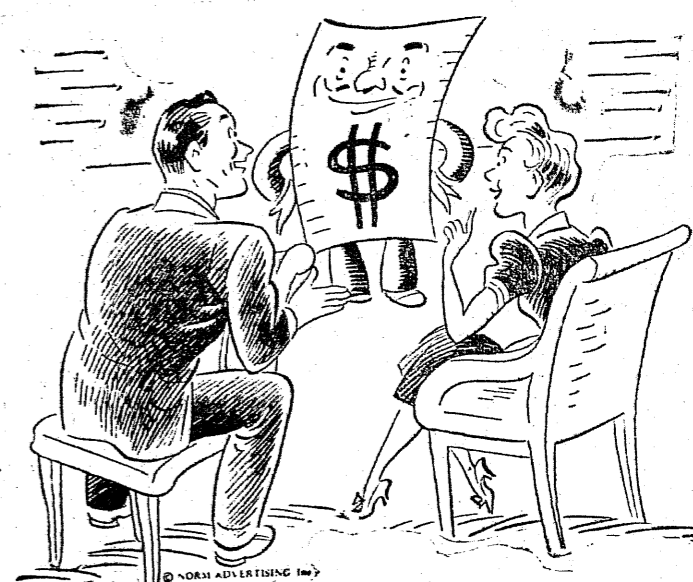

The orchestra, which has had many personnel affiliations with Belleville, welcomes Belleville members.

"V" - DAY

At any hour - on any day - Hitler will be defeated - Germany will collapse. We are fast moving toward victory - toward V-Day.

On that day, we no doubt will stop work and celebrate. Many will repair to their church to give thanks for victory and deliverance from war. Are we prepared now for V-Day and ITS EVENTS?

Are we ready to accept the responsibilities of the days and years of work that will follow V-Day to rebuild a better America?

They will be years of conversion - of rumors - of fast-moving events, of rabble rousers - of political speeches - of confusion and above all, of hard work.

Let us all stand firm and apply ourselves to the task that lies ahead. Only with patience, intellectual honesty and application of effort can we succeed.

Let us prepare to celebrate the Victory - Let us plan a BETTER AMERICA.

the cultural and recreational life of the community.
In addition to the music and dramatic activities possible in such a facility this center can be used for the purpose of training personnel in municipal and semi-public recreational agencies.
The general environment, which is increasingly industrial, is not as suitable for the intended purpose as a stabilized residential neighborhood would be.
However, the specialized character of the center and its location with respect to transportation facilities will make it sufficiently available to those within the town who wish to participate in its specialized program.

Corlandt Playground
Only approximately one-half acre of land is available at School No. One for playground purposes. This area, however, should be developed for a modified playground. It should be pointed out that the general trend in the valley is toward industrial development and that before long there will be little or no residential use of the area east of the railroad.
At the present time approximately 300 children are enrolled in No. One school and a playground is required to meet their needs.
The careful development of this area for intensive use is justified but it is not felt that additional property should be acquired even though the playground is far below standard in size.

River Parkway
The playfield facilities in the Passaic River Parkway, which include one baseball and one softball diamond, football field, two basketball courts, two horseshoe courts, six tennis courts, a field for community dancing, and a field house, can supplement the playfield facilities proposed at the stadium and Edison Field.
These facilities are easily accessible to a large number of people, especially those living within the Valley. They would, however, be more widely used if provision were made for night lighting.

Stephens Street
At the present time school No. city owns property of approximately .4 acre of playground space.
Adjacent to the playground the city owns property of approximately one acre, extending from the school property through to Cortlandt street.
It is proposed that this city property be set aside for playground purposes and that the entire area be developed as a continuous playground.
Adjacent to the school on Ralph street an enclosed area is set aside for pre-school children provided with pieces of junior apparatus, such as a set of swings, a slide, a jungle gym, and a set of seesaws.
The area should also be provided with a sand box and benches for mothers, and an open space for informal games.
Adjacent to this tot's area a wading pool, rectangular in shape, serves not only for wading in the summertime but as game courts when not filled with water.
A special area has been set aside for apparatus for older children. This also is completely enclosed. West of the tot's area a shaded section is available for outdoor crafts and quiet games.
There is sufficient space in the area for a children's softball diamond with a 45 foot baseline. A cage backstop and a 14-inch ball be used so that the batting range can be reduced to 150 feet.
A hard surfaced multiple-use area provides game courts for volleyball, paddle tennis, badminton, shuffleboard, and basketball.
By using portable net standards the area can be cleared for roller skating, social dancing, and other types of activities. Provision is made for a double handball court.
In making the proposal for the development of this playground it is assumed that the playlot at Stephens street will be eliminated.

Riviera Park
In order to provide swimming facilities to serve the entire town and a neighborhood playground to meet the needs of District No. Five and a portion of District No. Three, it is proposed that the town acquire approximately 8 1/2 acres of land now vacant in the Riviera Park section.
The property is located at the north end of Linden avenue which constitutes the main entrance. The swimming pool is in the southeast corner of the area. This is composed of a series of units as follows:
A modern bathhouse with provision for basket checking, dressing rooms, shower and toilet facilities for both men and women, a room for first aid, an administrative office, and a room for life guards.
A swimming pool 60 feet wide and 99 feet (30 meters) long. A diving pool for shallow as well as high diving.
A sand area for sun bathing and sand games. Space for game activities for bathers such as shuffleboard, volleyball, paddle tennis, or badminton.
The entire area is enclosed by chain-link fence so that it can be controlled from a central point. The entrance to the area is through the bathhouse. Emergency exits are provided at different points.
Adjacent to the swimming pool to the north, and using the swimming pool enclosure as a backstop on one end, are two regulation tennis courts.
There is also a large multiple-use area for various types of games, for roller skating, and social dancing. The games suggested are shuffleboard, badminton, paddle tennis, deck tennis, basketball, and volleyball.
This ell-shaped area can be entirely cleared by using portable net standards and if constructed with a low curb can be flooded in the wintertime for ice skating. Provision is made for bocce, horseshoes, and handball.
There are two regular softball diamonds and space for field games such as soccer, football, field hockey, lacrosse, etc., when the area is not used for softball.

Other Facilities
Directly opposite the swimming unit the area to the southwest has been set aside as a children's playground.
A shelter building is suggested provided with toilet facilities, for boys and girls, a room for the director, space for storage of supplies and equipment, and a small room for indoor activities.
There is a multiple-use wading pool directly in the rear of the shelter building, an enclosed area set aside for preschool children, an apparatus area for older children, a small natural outdoor theater for music, drama, storytelling, etc.
An open space for low organized games and a softball diamond for children with a 45-foot baseline is provided. There is also sufficient space for children's soccer, touch football, etc.
The children's playground is adjacent to the multiple-use area so that children can use the courts provided for tennis, volleyball, basketball, shuffleboard, paddle tennis, etc.
The entire area is enclosed by chain-link fence and suggestions are made for the planting of trees and shrubs, not only to create a parklike treatment of the area but to provide the necessary shade.

St. Peter's School
The lack of vacant property in the south section of No. Eight school district makes it impractical to consider the acquisition of property for playground purposes.
The present playground at St. Peter's school is inadequate in size yet it is available and poses a little way in meeting the needs of this section. The continued playground use of this area is recommended.
