

URGES REDOUBLED COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE EFFORTS

Paul de Hagara Asks Public And Workers for Cooperation In Campaign Home Stretch

Declaring the Belleville War Chest campaign for $67,000 "cannot lag because right now there is great need for the money," Paul de Hagara, president of the Belleville War Fund and Belleville Community Chest and Council, today called upon the volunteer workers to redouble their efforts as the campaign nears the home stretch.

De Hagara called upon the workers "to increase the speed and the amount of solicitations so that the campaign can cross the finish line on time."

Part of the money raised is to be used for welfare work in the Philippines. These relief shipments are to follow General MacArthur's forces as they make their hard fought progress. Supplies to Jap prison camps have been barred; but now just as fast as the Americans take them over, these men will receive food, medicine and clothing.

De Hagara emphasized again

Paul de Hagara

"the great work of USO camp shows as they afforded some measure of relaxation to the battle shocked soldiers coming out of the front lines."

"In German and Jap prison camps the American soldiers will give up hope or risk death to escape unless they are convinced that we remember them through the distribution of books, games and food. This welfare work is handled by the War Prisoners Aid which is a War Fund agency."

"We must concentrate," de Hagara said, "our entire energy towards ending this campaign on time and reaching our goal of $67,000."

Chinese Grateful

He said, "the name, National War Fund, may not mean anything to the Chinese civilian victims, but they know that somewhere in the United States there are sympathetic and powerful interests at work to send money, medical aid, surgical supplies."

"Through the United China Relief the civilian victims of the Japs are provided direct relief, moved to safer areas in the interior and self-help projects initiated."

Calling upon the people of Belleville to give generously to the War Chest campaign, de Hagara said, "the heart-rending scenes of the exodus of Chinese civilians in Kwangsi province, which have appeared recently in our daily newspapers and a leading picture magazine, should convince us all that our help is needed urgently. A sadder evacuation of civilian victims of the Japs has rarely occurred."

De Hagara pointed out that the credit for National War Fund activities goes to a large number of Americans who contribute to this humanitarian work.

He said, "When you give a check or sign a pledge card to the Belleville War Chest, you are joining with millions of good-hearted Americans in the greatest welfare program ever attempted."

"You are helping not only the victims of our enemies, but also our own boys in service as well as the local agencies that do their fine work so close to home."

Slightly Hurt in Auto Crash

Miss Rosalie Barbone, 19, of 112 Heckel street was treated Sunday night in Columbus hospital, Newark, for contusions of the hand suffered in an automobile accident at Heckel and Jeraldo streets.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Meloni Jr., 28, of 87 West Third street, New York City. The driver of the other car is said to have been Domenick Federici, 45, of 47 Third street, Newark. Meloni's car was overturned.

Silver Lake Baptists Mark Thirtieth Anniversary

Week-Long Program of Social, Religious Events To Mark Jubilee Observance; Only Pastor Has Been Rev. Benedetto Pascale

The First Italian Baptist church at 166 Franklin street next week will observe its thirtieth anniversary with a week-long series of events. The program will also honor Rev. Benedetto Pascale who has been the church's only pastor and who has raised his parish from a meeting place in a house to a plant which includes the church, parsonage, and the Friendly House and playground, leading community recreation center of the Silver Lake section of Belleville.

Work on a new chapel had just started in 1914 when Mr. Pascale, then a student at Colgate university, came to Belleville and held his first services in a nearby home. The church was dedicated November 22 and 23, 1914 and Mr. Pascale was ordained two years later. He had come from Italy in 1909 and joined the radical Industrial Workers of the World (IWW).

He helped lead the 1911 textile strike in Lawrence, Mass., but was converted to God's work after marching behind a banner on which was written, "No God and No Master."

Seven years after it was built the church reached its present form. In 1929 it became the first Italian Baptist church to be self-supporting and that same year the Friendly Playground was purchased and put in operation.

The following year ground was broken for the famed Friendly House which was erected by voluntary labor and the aid of many friends.

The celebration will begin Sunday morning with a homecoming and will reach its climax December 3 with an all-day program of choir music, inspection of buildings, reception of new members and a fellowship supper and program in the evening.

Cubbing Booms as Bethany, Passaic School Packs Form

French Explains Operation of Program for Boys Aged 9-11; Lay Final Plans for Court Of Honor in School Eight Tuesday

The fastest growing part of the Boy Scout program in Belleville at present is Cubbing, the program for boys 9, 10 and 11 years of age. Cubbing is a year-round home centered program of boy-action, boy-achievement, boy-health and boy-helpfulness, developed through much scientific research and testing by the Boy Scouts of America, according to Harry T. French, scout executive for Belleville.

It is a part of the general scout program and has been developed for parents of 9, 10, 11 year old boys to use for and with their sons. Cub packs are organized under the sponsorship of religious bodies, civic organizations, parent-teacher associations, veterans groups and similar organizations.

Meetings of the dens, a small neighborhood group of boys who naturally play together is held weekly in the afternoon after school, at the home of the den mother, one of the mothers of one of the cubs in the den.

Once a month, the pack (a group of dens) meets, with parents taking part, in a sort of rally or get-together at the sponsoring institution.

While Cubbing is a part of the Boy Scouts, the method of operation is entirely different than that of a Boy Scout troop, even though practically all of the Cubs graduate into troop Scouting.

Burt P. Johnson, chairman of the Belleville organization & executive committee, will advise the heads of any institutions interested in this program, but urges that since it requires special training for cubmasters, den mothers and others involved, that no steps should be taken without the assistance of the committee and the professional staff of the Robert Treat Council.

Thorough organization is the watchword of scouting in Belleville in order that all Cub or Scout units organized will be under thorough trained leadership, to the end that such units will give service.

LYNDHURST MAY BE BELL BOYS' TURKEY

Locals Favored to Triumph Over Golden Bears Eleven Thanksgiving Day

Lyndhurst will be the battlefield on which Belleville High's footballers will attempt to outflank the Golden Bears' grid warriors Thanksgiving Day.

In last year's turkey day tussle with the Golden Bears, the locals bombarded the Bergen County team 19-0.

The Bellboys, fresh from a 13-0 decision over Kearny, will be in quest of their fifth win of the waning season. They have been set back on three occasions. On the other hand, Lyndhurst's record shows four wins, three losses and one tie. In their last outing, Saturday, the Golden Bears routed Bogota, 33-0.

It must be considered, however, that the Bellboys have faced some of the state's keenest competition in Bloomfield, Irvington, and Hillside and Thursday's game will be a warm-up for their big December 2 game against twice beaten Nutley.

With the exception of tackle Jack Byrne, the Belleville starting lineup will be intact again and there is a possibility that even the injured line veteran may be thrown into the fray.

Grid Beginners

Looking over the personnel of the Lyndhurst outfit, it can be said that most of the team are first year men. The offensive has been built mostly around the running and passing ability of halfback Willie Bernadino.

The rest of the backfield includes quarterback and captain Tim Lembo, Jim Grady and Lou Pallo. The main cog on the Bear line is "Mans" De Vano, holdover

Stork Beats Bus, Woman Bears Baby on Street Corner

The stork which was hovering around Mrs. Arthur Halbert, 36, of 410 Franklin avenue refused to wait for the bus Friday night and Mrs. Halbert's eighth child was born on the street corner at Liberty and Franklin avenues.

A telephone call to Lieut. Emerson Bush at police headquarters resulted in the dispatching of Patrolmen Thomas Dunn and Michael Dacey to the scene but they found that Mrs. Halbert had already delivered the baby girl unassisted.

Her physician, Dr. Paul Dravon of Nutley, took the mother and child to St. Mary's hospital, Passaic, where the baby was placed in an incubator. Both are reported "doing fine."

Invasion of Leyte Described By Navy Dental Officer

Lieut. Brainerd F. Swain Recounts Operations Which Began Reconquest of Philippines; Was Well-Known Nereid Oarsman

The first description of the invasion of Leyte, the first step in the reconquest of the Philippines, was received this week in a letter from Navy Lieut. Brainerd F. Swain to his wife, the former Judith Hyde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Hyde of 43 Rossmore place. Swain, a well-known oarsman in peacetime, is a dental officer in the Navy. Before the war he enjoyed considerable reputation as an oarsman with Nereid Boat Club. His letter follows:

"I'll try to tell you something of the battle of Leyte both from an overall point of view, which at times was hard to focus on, and from a local personal experience point of view which at those aforementioned times was very easy to concentrate on."

I asked several of the censors whether there has been a tendency to "write-up" the story and make it more than it was. Most of them agree that there was very little of that, although Morotai was really "built up" by quite a few.

One chap said of Leyte, "We went through Hell until those P38's came to protect us, etc"; which as to cause and effect and accuracy is away off base.

Quiet A-Day

Things were quiet on the way up and A-day itself saw only minor opposition ashore and this continued for several days.

At night we watched from a distance the multiple streaks of red tracer shells and followed the course of the invisible enemy planes by the cessation of firing on one side or the other side took it up.

Some of the ship have tremendous firepower and the volume of red streaks approached the "sheet of flame" appellation—almost rivalling the creations of some of the calendar artists at home. As a rule these were of short duration and did little damage.

During the daytime it was possible to see the Navy planes supporting the advance of the troops ashore, dive-bombing and strafing objectives there.

Occasionally it was possible to follow the flight of the bomb from plane-to-Jap as they were released by the diving plane—and they really do dive at very sharp angles, well beyond 45 degrees (all this of course with a good pair of binoculars).

Once in a while the sound of the machine guns would carry out to us on the ships and on a prominent objective the bomb bursts were clearly visible.

In daylight hours there isn't much flame on color but you do see what resembles a heat wave, such as is visible rising from somebody's automobile top on a hot summer's day.

They are ring shaped, though not clearly defined, and seem to mushroom out with lightning-like speed and then disappear. Any foliage in the vicinity flattens or waves out sharply from the blast, of course.

Operation Smooth

Generally things went smoothly. The military governor of Leyte, who was the guerrilla commander previously, was suitably installed in a ceremony attended by President Osmena and General MacArthur and Admiral Kincaid.

I didn't see this; but did get the governor's signature on a two peso Philippine bill which I've added to my short-snorter collection. Later Admiral Kincaid signed it and someday I'll proposition the general—rather nice souvenir.

I also obtained some guerrilla money which they used among themselves instead of Jap currency. It is very interesting also; printed on every kind of paper and cardboard, some of it made by wood cuts and some typewritten, some of it neatly printed on presses which escape the Nips.

The Japs had their difficulties here as they do in China and some of these bills are countersigned by the loyal Philippine officials (mayors, etc.) of nearby towns which I haven't seen much of the little brown men.

Someone will write an interesting book about the guerrillas. From the obvious pursuit of fighting with fists and arms as they were acquired, they branched out into the counter-propaganda to keep the weaker elements loyal.

They kept their own physician and dentists with them, raided the Jap's supplies and camps, carried on extensive communications, rescued American aviators and did a number of things which make interesting but, unfortunately, censorable stories.

Went Barefoot

One of them told me that until recently most of them were barefoot unless they were able to get a pair of Jap shoes. Often, he pointed out, this entailed running into a field of fire during a skirmish with the enemy, hacking off the legs of a fallen Nip (two blows only) and running back still under fire into the shelter of the jungle forest.

If, after "discarding" of the legs, the shoes didn't fit he still had a very valuable trading item for the Japs.

someone they would fit; and, apropos of that, Jap military shoes seem to run in sizes five and a half to ten with six and seven the most popular. They number them 107 to 117 and use our Arabic numbers.

To coincide with the fleet action they threw a lot of planes at us and the Army ashore. We had frequent general quarters calls, a rather respectable total of raids in which Jap planes appeared in our vicinity and when all was said and done little material damage and few casualties to ourselves; and a hell of a lot of Jap blouses scattered around the hills of Leyte or at the bottom of the nearby bodies of water.

I was told several stories about the decadence of the Jap military machine and later saw evidence of it in action; but it will have to wait, I'm afraid.

So things went for several days until one night, just before retiring, I heard some scuffle but about the Jap fleet being out and sure enough, very early in the next morning hours the harassing insistent general quarters bugle and battle stations bell roused us.

The fellow across the passage-way from Robbie and I, after a brief telephone conversation, said, "Well, get on the ball; part of the Jap fleet is entering Leyte gulf!"

And, while I'm not passing that as fact or fancy, it was rather a butterflies-in-the-stomach (as Randy Zink used to say) bit of news for that hour, or for any hour; but particularly when you're awakened in the middle of the night out of a sound sleep.

New Station

For this operation I adopted a new general quarters station and, despite six ladders and considerable exposure when it rains, it has the advantage of good visibility.

For a while, there in the darkness, nothing happened; but after a while intense, though distant flashes, told us that another major action of the war and one of the few major ones in which battle-ships in numbers have shot it out with other battleships, had begun.

Many good Americans lost their lives manning the guns of surface ships around Guadalcanal; but none of their actions had the scope of the battle of Leyte gulf. The Japs threw Sunday punch (on a weekday) and I admittedly admit that on short notice they assembled a tremendous armada when you total the various forces involved.

At any rate, American gunnery plus superior technical equipment achieved one of the most one-sided victories of the war in less than one hour in this opening battle of Serrigno Strait.

What was left of the Jap battle line turned and fled, later to be hunted down and finished off so that it is estimated less than ten percent escaped.

Though we didn't realize the magnitude of this night victory, reports of Jap ships damaged and sunk began to filter in and we breathed more easily; but not for one.

Shortly after breakfast word came that some of our carrier were under surface attack by Jap battleships (plus a lot of other stuff) in a direction that made it clear that an entirely new force was heading down on Leyte from the north.

Immediately a counter-measure were instituted; but for several hours disaster was about as close as it has been to any American fleet unit since the desperate days early in the war.

Some (many would be a better statement) very gallant acts on the part of men and ships and planes succeeded in staving off tremendous losses; but many of them won it with their lives.

Japs Turn Back After several of the tenses' hours I spent worrying about a lot of Americans I never met, and most of whom I never will

LT. GEORGE SKEEN, PVT. JOSEPH ZECCA MISSING IN ACTION

Lieut. Bernard Deehan Injured In Tank Battle in Germany; Pic. Louis Caprio Hurt

Mr. and Mrs. Louis N. Skeen of 75 Van Houten place were informed by the War department

Lieut. George C. Skeen

Thursday that their son, 2d Lieut. George C. Skeen, 22, has been missing since he went on a raid over Germany October 17.

Skeen, whose wife is the former Betty Ann Speight of Peoria, Ill., recently received the air medal for his work as a B-17 Flying Fortress navigator in combat since July.

He was graduated from Irvington High school and attended Rutgers University, New York University, University of Newark and the American Banking Institute. He moved to Belleville five years ago and was employed with Walter Kidde & company.

He entered the Army January 29, 1943 and was commissioned last 22 at Selman Field, Monroe, La.

Missing in Italy

Although the last letter they received from him was dated October 29, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zecca of 197 Fairway avenue were notified by the War department last week that the air son, Pvt. Joseph Zecca was reported missing in action that day. He was with the 133rd Infantry in Italy.

Pvt. Zecca, who went overseas last March and was first stationed in North Africa, arrived in Italy in June and, with the reception of a rest period in early October had seen action ever since.

Now nineteen, he left in his senior year at Belleville High school to enter the Army in August 1943. He was trained at Fort McClellan, Ala.

The Zeccas, who have lived here four years and previously in Newark, are parents of Cpl. Alfonso Zecca, head pharmacist at Spence Field, Ga., who has been with the Air forces for three years, and WAC Cpl. Elvira Oliver, serologist at Tilton general hospital, Fort Dix.

Lieut. Bernard W. Deehan

First Lieut. Bernard W. Deehan, 35, leader of a platoon of tanks, was wounded September 14 in Germany's Siegfried Line and is now recovering in an English hospital.

"There is just one more hole to sew up in my arm," he wrote recently to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Deehan of 19 Belmont street. He has regained partial use of the arm, he said.

His wife is the former Margaret Christiansen of 2 Ridge road, Nutley. They have a month-old daughter, Jill Maureen.

A graduate of Kearny High school and Staunton Military academy, he was football captain at Lehigh from which he graduated in 1943.

He entered the Army in May 1943 and was commissioned in the armored force four months later at Camp Hood, Tex. He has been overseas since April. How he was wounded is not yet known but it may have been in action similar to

PUPIL YULE WORK RELUCTANTLY OK'D BY SCHOOL BOARD

Protests Federal Meddling In Schools; Alice Wagner Resigns from Music Post

The high school's Christmas distributive education program received approval of the Board of Education last night but with ill grace. The board did not hide its real disapproval of the move.

The program will authorize controlled working permits for eligible high school students who will be able to attend class for four hours and work the rest of the day in retail stores.

Purpose of the program is to help out the stores during the Christmas rush and to give the students a knowledge of merchandising methods and problems.

Principal objection raised by the board was to the partial payment of expenses by the federal government which, the board felt, has no place in our public school systems.

Board's commitments have already been made to students and to stores, the program was approved but all expenses will be paid by the local board which instructed the clerk not to make application for federal funds.

School Superintendent Parme pointed out that the program will largely eliminate the customary truancy which always occurs at Yuletide when students walk out of classrooms in droves to go to work.

The board postponed action on the resignation of Mrs. Alice Wagner who has been director of high school music activities for fifteen years.

Still Hopeful Mrs. Wagner's decision to retire to devote more time to her family and the board decided to let the matter over pending further talk with her.

School Commissioner Arnold declared the replacement of Mrs. Wagner would require "serious

POSTOFFICE URGES NOVEMBER MAIL

Will Not Guarantee Delivery By Christmas Otherwise; Cites War Conditions

There can be no assurance, in view of the unavoidable hand caps of war, that gifts and cards mailed in the weeks immediately preceding Christmas, will be delivered on time, Postmaster Price said yesterday.

Such matter must not impede the movement of war material and personnel and military mail. Transportation facilities are heavily burdened. The number of railway cars and airplanes available for handling Christmas mail is far below that of former years.

Facilities are not available to transport and deliver, in the last three weeks before Christmas, the tremendous quantities of mail heretofore moved in that period. More than 50,000 postal employees have gone into the armed service. They have been largely replaced with less experienced personnel.

The only way in which deliveries of Christmas mails can be made on time is by speeding the mailings over a longer so that available transportation and postal facilities can be used during more of the year.

The war has displaced Christmas mailing season year November is the mailing gifts and cards should be marked "Do not mail Christmas."

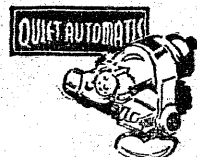

Parcels should be packed. Your return should be marked "Do not mail Christmas."

Address of the addressee should be complete as well as your return address by indicating zone number in your return address and that of the addressee in the address. The zone number should be placed directly following the name of the post office, Belleville 7, N. J., or Belleville, N. J.

began in the middle of the last century when an inter-denominational chapel was erected. The "Americans" who were conducting the work were eventually replaced by Italian immigrants who now people the larger part of that section of Belleville, Bloomfield and Newark.
In 1880 the First Baptist church of Bloomfield began services here but discontinued the work after the chapel burned down in 1910 and the Italian Protestants shifted their loyalties to the Methodist church in nearby Newark.
Louis Stoiber in 1914 started the movement for a new chapel and the work was greatly aided by Rev. Dr. H. S. Potter of the Bloomfield church, by David Garabrandt and several other prominent persons. Mr. Pascale was called here two months before the new chapel was completed.
Through all the years Mr. and Mrs. Pascale have used the parsonage for an additional social center primarily for the young people of the area. Mrs. Pascale is the musical mistress of the church. They have two children: Elmo B.

War Casualties

that related in the following dispatch to The Times this week:

With the Second Armored Division in France—Lieut. Bernard W. Deehan had just deployed the tanks of his platoon around a small field in France and the men were settling down to cook their first hot meal in days.

There was a roar and a crash at one end of the field, as some sort of armored vehicle struggled to break through the heavy underbrush.

"Hey! This bivouac's already taken; stay out!" yelled the lieutenant. Then: "My God! It's a German Tiger!"

All but two of the American tanks were so placed that they could not fire to beat on the Tiger. Deehan and Sgt. John D. Smith of Allentown, Pa. dismounted from their own tank and ran to another where they helped direct fire from their better positions on the ground.

The Tiger tank opened fire simultaneously as the gunner let go five shots. All were direct hits on the Tiger. It started to smoke and the Jerry crew bailed out of the hatch and ran. Deehan ordered the Tiger destroyed.

Caprio Wounded

Pfc. Louis N. Caprio, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Caprio of 27 Lake street, was wounded September 2 in France, according to a War department casualty list this week. He is hospitalized in England.

Caprio attended Belleville High and Bloomfield Vocational schools and was formerly employed with Lionel corporation of Newark.

Cummings Recovering

This is the house that War Bonds will build in 1954

It belongs to Mr. and Mrs. George Jones who are working and saving in 1944.

Today, the Joneses are buying all the bonds they can afford. Today, they are adding a modest sum to the family bank account to have ready cash for emergencies. They hardly realize it now but they are not only helping their country by working and saving—they're building a home of their own, bond by bond.

Mrs. Jones says, "When we started buying bonds, we called them Defense Bonds, then War Bonds. Now we call them Home Bonds. We know about how much our new house will cost and we worked out in black and white a plan of saving which will provide the money at the right time."

The architect's plans are yet to be drawn, but their plan of saving is well under way. And any home owner will tell you that a blueprint is just so much paper without money to make the hammers sing.

Help the nation's efforts to keep your living costs DOWN, the buying power of your dollar UP.

Wonder what houses will be like in 1954? Air conditioned, of course. Deep-freeze facilities. Heating by means of pipes in the floor or walls, perhaps. Dish washing and waste disposal units, refrigerators and ovens with glass doors. It may be too early to plan your home, but it is not too early to plan saving for it. Buy all the War Bonds you can afford, put them in your safe deposit vault, and let them work for you. Put something in your bank account regularly so that you will have ready cash for emergencies. And sit back and watch your house being built, bond by bond... dollar by dollar.

Proud of the Boy*IN SERVICE!

You are proud of your boy and have a right to be, but you are missing him sorely on a family day like Thanksgiving. He, too, is probably having turkey and he is certainly wishing he were home.

Remember, how only three years ago you served him three big helpings of turkey? You wish you could fill and refill that plate today! But have you thought that you can still provide for his needs, not as the boy with an insatiable appetite, but as the grown-up hero of the family?

The Sixth War Loan Drive has just started. Buy an extra War Bond for his sooner return.

Suggestion: if you make the Bond in his name, you will be helping him now, and again in ten years.

Told by Swain

meet at that, the Jap's other fleet turned back and headed into the islands toward their bases.

Reports of still another group of ships engaged by Admiral Halsey's fleet lead us to feel sure that this was their maximum effort and that they threw just about everything that would float into the test.

I don't believe this violates any military or naval secrets as I'm sure the commentators at home have tallied up the reports of ships sunk, damaged and those which escaped to have drawn the same conclusions.

As to ourselves and the battle of Leyte, we had a physically and mentally tiring ordeal of a little action and a lot of watchful waiting which toward the end made us all understandably bushed.

The Navy had a lot of iron in the fire for a while there — lots of bread and only so much butter; but when they could, they went out and met the fighters and bombers as they approached and the reports "scratch one Lulu" kept filtering in throughout the day — and days.

I may say here that Jap planes are all identified by names (there is no Lulu, it is just a pseudonym) and the Army and Navy, as well as our Allies, all use the nomenclature so that it really helps for quick identification.

Sit and Wait

Sometimes especially in the case of the bombers we almost wished we didn't know their planes as the efficient Navy airmen and communication services gave ample warning in most cases of what to expect; after which you just sit and wait to see how many get through to put in an appearance overhead.

We had them over in most all categories: low-level, high-level, dive-bombing, strafing, in one's and two's and multiple groups.

There was lots of excitement though our ship put up a very creditable show of identification and firing and we have one positive to our credit (and a painted Jap flag on the ship's side in the traditional shot to indicate it) as well as others which the gunners feel pretty sure about, but which were frowned down in official quarters.

War Chest Committee at Westinghouse

AT A RALLY-DINNER employees of the Belleville plant of Westinghouse corporation put the finishing touches on the plant drive for the War Chest. The corporation added $700 to the $1,573 contributed by employees who averaged $9.08 per employee. Standing are Allison W. Simms, industrial relations supervisor; James E. Woodall, plant superintendent; and Roy Jenkins, union vice president. Seated are the Misses Rose Montalto, Anita Cappabianca, Ralph E. Brunham, Julia Stracaci, Mrs. Evelyn De Bonis and Miss Madeline Zelkus.

One of the wierdest experiences was that of standing on the deck in pitch black darkness and seeing the bombs landing on an objective ashore which they particularly aimed at and with the AA guns there flashing; all without the accompaniment of any sound.

To explain — sometimes they came over at rather high altitudes and though the night was very quiet their motors were not audible. How they ever located the objective I don't know; but they'd let go and when the bombs hit there'd be tremendous flashes.

In the meantime the AA guns would be flashing away and then after an appreciable interval the sound would reach us aboard ship. We weren't so damn far off; but perhaps because of the intensity of mental reaction to the first phases of the action the sound seemed to follow at quite a distance and seemed almost disconnected from the pantomime ashore.

The noises, when they do reach you, are characteristic enough and though the frequently seen "cr-u-m-mp" description of a heavy calibre bomb's blast is a poor one, it is still probably one of the best approaches within the limitations of the written word. AA fire too has varying sounds depending on the gun and variable according to the atmosphere and wind.

Choo-Choo Sound

You've heard the Bofors 40 mm guns at Great Lakes under conditions which are the most common but I've heard a destroyer at sea and some distance from us firing with a sound that had no sharp detonation or "crack" at all but was rather like the "choo-choo" in slow, measured rhythm of a heavy-laden freight going up a pretty good grade.

Naturally shipboard life was adjusted (or an attempt made) to the military situation. Men ate at all hours, sometimes at battle stations, or else gobbled up something when relieved for a few minutes. "Clean sweep-down" was

Helps Operate

On three occasions I gave sodium pentothal when Dr. Mitchell, senior medical officer, operated and once, when the guns were all going and the planes were rather close, I had a fleeting thought that, if anything happened there was no other place I'd rather have been or any other duty I'd rather have been performing.

I guess it's fundamentally a sop to man's ego that his acts be of some importance, especially when those of so many others around him are.

done at odd moments by whatever group had a chance to police its section.

I got five and a half hours sleep in a 72 hour period and, though I could have had more, the sense of living through a tremendous high point in my life kept me up and going when normally I'd have been pooped.

I made it my business to assist the gunnery control oficers and though there wasn't much I could do as they all had great responsibility I did manage to keep out a bit.

Ken Sands, the junior medical officer, gave me a quantity of benzadine and I doled that out to keep the boys awake, dispensed boric acid ointment for sunburn, patched a few accidental scratches and a potential boil on Gunnery Officer Murphy's neck (he did a swell job), rustled some coffee once in a while when some of the men were pooped out and frequently made trips below to find out how the battle was going elsewhere and thus to keep them up to date and thereby take their minds off the immediate surroundings a bit.

I plotted out the paper work reports during and after the raids and one occasion ate a whole meal throughout a series of raids and note taking; much to my surprise, digested it as well as though it were one of our leisurely steak roasts down by the river.

As a consequence of these trips below, I missed several spectacular individual actions but did see one night episode that I'd often read about and now will probably never forget.

One evening just at dusk a lone Jap plane came over on a course which would have taken him to my left (for example only). Several ships opened up and one of them set him on fire.

We ourselves didn't actually see him until he flamed but at any rate he certainly was visible after that.

Though the time was brief, it is easy to recollect almost step by step his change of course so that he was headed toward us and then a further change toward the ship we think hit him first.

Then he headed down in a long moderately steep glide, straight as you can estimate the path of a flaming comet to be, right into that ship.

The resulting flare and explosion were spectacular and a fire was started but miraculously damage and casualties were very light considering the potentialities.

Throughout all this the Navy's planes flew splendidly and, when finally the Army got some of theirs in, we certainly had developed a warm affection for the airborne Navy that gave us so much protection.

Army Spectacular
I must say a word about the Army planes that finally arrived and made the aforementioned kid feel relieved. They are the most spectacular things to watch I've seen in the air.

They climb just about straight up; when they bank for a turn they stand right up on wingtip at about 75 and (in a tight turn) ninety degrees.

They are fast as hell and most of the pilots must have been trained in jeeps as they seemed constitutionally unable to fly them in a very sedate manner.

I watched about a half-dozen one night at sunset, apparently searching for Japs in some medium altitude cloud formations fairly nearby.

They went in one side and out the other for all the world like a hunting dog trying to pick up a scent in some bush land. Frequent changes of course, in again out again all the time at high speed.

To get back — the Japs finally had to let up after literally hundreds of his planes and pilots and dozens of his ships and thousands of his men were thrown down a rathole trying to retake Leyte.

And don't think there were any of us who felt that it was any too soon — none of the honest people hereabouts anyway.

CLUB SEEKS GIFTS FOR THERAPY USE AT DIX HOSPITAL

Woman's Organization Wants Odds And Ends; Also Pushes Soldier Christmas Gifts

An appeal was voiced last Monday afternoon at the general business session of the Belleville Woman's club by Mrs. James M. Lynch, civics department chairman, for articles to be put in use at the therapy department of Tilton General hospital, at Port Dix.

This is not to be confused with the request of the club the previous week for Christmas gifts to be sent to an Atlantic City serviceman's hospital, Mrs. Lynch pointed out.

The Port Dix hospital, where Capt. Josephine Springer is in charge of therapy, is calling for materials which do not necessarily have to be new. They include colored threads, buttons, beads, zippers, ribbons, scrap of yarn, wool, felt, carpet warp, rayon, burlap and leather.

Metal or plastic belt buckles, rulers, wire and wire coat hangers, electric cords, and sockets are also needed as are handwork implements like crochet hooks, knitting needles, straight pins and used single-edge razor blades.

Also sought are unfinished pieces of needlework, woodwork, tools and machines and ceramics equipment.

Mrs. Lynch, now a resident of South Orange and wife of former school commissioner, Lynch, announced that these materials will be accepted at the clubhouse, 51 Rossmore place, at any time. A receptacle for them, clearly marked, will be there even though a custodian may not be present.

Items should be marked after wrapping so that they may be distributed without investigation. All pins, for instance, should be placed in one identified package, bundles of woodscraps and other items also tied up separately and the whole made into one bundle.

Christmas Gifts

Servicemen's necessities for Christmas gifts, of which a complete list was published in The Times November 9, are to be delivered to the home of club president, Mrs. J. Claude Powers, 78 Division avenue.

Club members had an opportunity Monday afternoon at 2 to attend a meeting of the Garden department in the clubhouse when Mrs. Charles S. Smith of Nutley, a former president, discussed bulb planting. Mrs. William T. Bryan is garden chairman.

Hostesses were department members, Mrs. James G. Shawger, secretary; Mrs. William P. Adams, Mrs. Samuel H. Bootes, Mrs. Norman H. Cooper, Mrs. William Chapman, Mrs. Bryon S. Klotz, Miss Bertha Denison, Mrs. Fredric E. Dodd and Mrs. Arthur E. Mayer.

Others were Mrs. Louis A. Noll, Mrs. Daniel T. O'Connor, Mrs. Morris Rochlin, Mrs. John W. Rudin, Mrs. Herbert C. Schmutz, Mrs. Victor L. Hart, Mrs. John J. Hewitt, Mrs. Fred Idenden, Mrs. William H. Jacobson, Mrs. Joseph King, Mrs. Horace B. Knox and Mrs. Clarence R. Lommerin. Also receiving were Mrs. F. Kenneth Mase, Mrs. Porter F. Sheldon, Mrs. Willard Y. Strange, Mrs. Dwight N. Streeter, Mrs. John M. Stoddard, Mrs. Harvey B. Thompson, Mrs. Paul Troder sr. Mrs. Alfred Treche and Mrs. W. Ernest Wadman.

Study Oaks Plan

Among other reports at last Monday's meeting, Mrs. John F. O'Brien jr, club chairman of international relations, told members that the World Peace committee, which was founded by federated clubs and to which she was appointed last year to represent the Belleville club, is now studying the Dumbarton Oaks plan.

This international relations committee of federated clubs is headed in New Jersey by Mrs. Robert Van Iderstine. Mrs. O'Brien was one of ten women chosen to promote passage by the New Jersey legislature of the federation's declaration for world peace which was accomplished in May, 1942.

Eight other states ratified the declaration on which progress was halted by the war. The committee has turned its attention to an investigation of the Dumbarton

An open discussion, designed to bring out the fullest interpretation of parent-teacher relationship, consumed the greatest part of Thursday afternoon's meeting as planned by the program committee and Mrs. Harry Snyder, association president.

Principal Henry Minasian and a panel of six teachers presented behavior problems met in class and parents were encouraged to cite similar observations of child conduct in the home. Suggestions for correction came from both sides, Minasian presided.

Previous to the forum the association heard Harry T. French, Belleville assistant scout executive, point out the desirability of cub packs here. French spoke at 3:30. Following it custom the group held a social hour in the gymnasium at Last Monday afternoon Mrs. Leona Reed, eighth grade instructor, presided at the second meeting of the PTA music club of which she is chairman. Organized the previous week, the projected glee club encompasses fifteen members. Such clubs are an integral part of the PTA program as outlined by state and national organizers.

The Franklin Avenue school singers are anxious to expand and will welcome women who are not PTA members. Their first major program is already designed around the Christmas story and will be presented at the December 14 evening program.

The group also expects to arrange a spring concert which will feature professional artists. Miss Margaret A. Bunce, supervisor of music in Belleville schools, will also assist in training the singers.

Joralemon Street School

Mrs. Matthew Sheehan, membership drive chairman, will be present to register applicants this afternoon when the association meets at 2. Efforts which have been made to arouse interest among bona fide members of PTA include the distribution of a folder authorized by the National Congress.

Students also took to their parents yesterday a reminder pamphlet printed at the school, stressing the importance of being a registered member. Those who merely attend PTA meetings cannot vote or propose action.

The PTA congress highlights, in its pamphlets, PTA's desire to guard basic home and school standards in time of war, help produce a sturdy generation for post-war living, conquer juvenile delinquency, share latest methods of child training and set youth an example of adults working out these problems in harmony together.

Joralemon PTA will make a cash award to the class next month whose parents are enrolled to the greatest extent in PTA.

Monday the reading group will meet at 2 at the home of Mrs. Maurice J. McEligot of 272 Hornblower Avenue. In line with its policy of reading current books and analyzing them from the family point of view, reports will be made on Green Dolphin Street and Razor's Edge.

Coming Home to Roost

The results of the summer's procrastination are beginning to come home to roost for many householders who failed to bestir themselves then to think of the problems of winter heating. During the summer the coal dealers pleaded with consumers to make their applications and to accept shipments of coal to the limit of their ability.

The majority of homeowners refused to plan in advance and are now beginning to realize that they have jeopardized their comfort and possibly their health in the late winter months. Ordinarily the worst procrastinators are the ones who cry loudest when they are unable to get the quantity and type of coal they want.

After the disastrous coal shortage of last winter it was believed that practically everyone had learned his lesson. The coal dealers have since realized that such was not the case. Now that cold winter has set in, many consumers are calling the coal yards and exacting five-minute service, which the dealers have neither the men nor equipment nor coal to supply.

Through the summer months the warnings to order early have been frequent and urgent. There is no one who can blame the dealers for the delay in deliveries at this late date. Further inconvenience may be avoided, however, by ordering at least ten days before delivery is necessary in order to permit the dealer to arrange his schedules to ease the burden all around.

Christmas Seals that Fight

Yesterday Christmas seals were mailed to 12,600 families in Belleville and Nutley by the association which is trying in this small corner of the world to do what it can to fight the dread disease of tuberculosis.

These seals are just little things which have become powerful weapons in the hands of the humanitarians who are attempting to stamp out the ravages of tuberculosis. For with the money which is realized by their sale, treatment and prevention of the disease is possible. We who are fortunate enough to have been spared thus far should consider it a privilege to assist the campaign.

The Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis association has been fighting for many years to curb the disease here and has been fighting quietly and almost without notice. The citizens of the two towns, together with the entire nation, can give thanks for its efforts. The nation-wide group of people who have sponsored this work have succeeded in relegating tuberculosis to a relatively minor position among the American ills. Every recipient of an appeal should offer complete support by purchasing the seals.

Split Deemed Inadvisable

The advisability of splitting the department of Public Safety in two is still being questioned in many quarters of the town. It is possible that certain elements in the police department needed closer supervision and some restriction but the impression that has been conveyed throughout Belleville is that the police department was rotten to the core, which is an unjust accusation.

Mayor Williams' zeal for proper and upright municipal government is commendable, for the welfare of the community and its 30,000 component parts is the first duty and obligation of every public official and employee. The mayor has done many good things for the municipality during his life at town hall.

It is questionable, however, that it is wise to split a department in half and put each under a different boss. Under the commission form of government, police and fire were definitely considered Public Safety attributes. Belleville is now without a Public Safety department which is capable of operating as an efficient whole.

Even more baffling is the division of the two-man recorder's court where the Recorder is answerable to Commissioner King and the court clerk is bossed by Mayor Williams. A fine legal point might be raised as to whether Mr. Williams or Mr. King is responsible for the court records. Could the shipping department of an industrial concern function smoothly if half were under the charge of one man and half under another?

The common method of dealing with a public official who is deemed incompetent or inefficient or is guilty of mishandling his duties is to impeach him altogether. It is not customary to half-strip a man and let him continue to operate. That is what has happened to Commissioner King whose incompetence has not been proved despite the oblique criticism of the police department offered by the grand jury which also verbally chastised all five commissioners.

Retaining Mr. King as a half-director of Public Safety has one advantage, however. It eliminated the necessity for a recurrence of the two-sided fight which followed Mr. Clark's death in 1942. At that time Commissioners Noll and King teamed up to battle Mayor Williams and Commissioner Waters in an eventually successful effort to name Mr. Mertz to the board. Commissioners Noll and Mertz both voted to strip Mr. King fifteen months later.

In the interests of efficiency and organization, Public Safety should be under one head, be that Mayor Williams or Commissioner King or one of the other Commissioners. Continued division of the responsibilities of this important department may bring eventual strife and difficulties.

If you think Japan is a pushover—you're fooling yourself, mister. Millions of fanatical Japanese are prepared to die for their country. Every American soldier, marine and sailor in the Pacific knows that he has a tough fight on his hands. You can't tell them their war is over! Even as you read these words, American men are dying in the fight against Japan.

Look into your heart and ask yourself honestly: "Have I stopped fighting? Have I stopped buying War Bonds because I think the war is about over?" You're not a quitter; your answer is "No!"

It costs billions of dollars a month to fight Japan

The fight in the Pacific calls for a highly specialized type of equipment. B-29 bombers that cost $600,000 in war bonds; M-4 tanks with bulldozer blades that cost $67,417; "alligators" that cost $30,000; millions of gallons of gas. We need more and costlier equipment than any war has ever called for. And that's the reason for the 6th War Loan Drive. Just as long as a single Japanese aims a gun at our men—we must continue to buy War Bonds.

Once again you are asked to buy at least one extra $100 War Bond. Buy more if you possibly can. Not only is it for the final Victory—it's for your future. Sign up for extra War Bonds on the Payroll Plan. Welcome the Victory Volunteer when he or she calls at your home. Don't Let the Size Fool You!

The Jap is a little man.

But remember, brother . . .

Little men put the torch to Pearl Harbor.

Little men starved us out in Corregidor.

Little men butchered our fliers.

And little men . . . millions of them . . . are waiting grimly for us to come and dig them out.

They're cruel, cunning, treacherous . . . those Japs. A tough enemy to lick.

What would you give to hasten the day? Anything? Everything?

Look, brother, let's talk sense. In this 6th War Loan, go out and buy one $100 War Bond in addition to the Bonds you're buying now. Get your neighbor to do the same. And his neighbor. And his neighbor's neighbor.

That'll help hurry things along. That and the sweating, and the fighting, and the bleeding and the dying our soldiers are doing right now for you.

Is that asking too much?

Buy at least one extra $100 War Bond Today!
