

LEIGHTON CLEARED IN BRIBERY CHARGE BY GRAND JURY

Exonerate Deputy Police Chief; Mariano Reported Cleared; Scavone Nabs Borriello

Deputy Police Chief Leighton was completely cleared Tuesday by the grand jury of any implication in the charges made by Ralph Borriello that he had accepted $300 to facilitate the latter's escape from police headquarters Oct. 13. Prosecutor Wachenfeld said yesterday that the jury returned "no indictment" in the case but he refused to comment on reports that the jury had also failed to take action after completing its investigation of the false swearing charge against Detective Mariano.

of the Borriello brothers Sunday morning and probably shattered attempts to pin on Deputy Police Chief Leighton a charge of having accepted a bribe to facilitate the escape.

Angelo Scavone of 162 Franklin street, who had known the Borriellos for many years, trapped James (Red) Borriello of 43 Florence avenue and captured him at pistol point. Borriello and his brother Ralph escaped from a detention room at police headquarters October 13 while awaiting questioning in connection with an alleged stolen car.

Ralph, who is twenty, was captured by Detective Sgt. McGinnis and Detectives Mariano and Holly two weeks after the escape. The captive, who was under indictment for alleged whiskey thefts, immediately charged that he had given Leighton $300 in return for a screw driver with which he and his brother loosened a screen and escaped.

James, when questioned Sunday, is reported to have denied any knowledge of the alleged bribe, a charge which Leighton has termed "damnable lie."

Scavone, who has been a special officer for fourteen months and a police reservist for two years, received a tip from Patrolman Vagiarolo Sunday that James had been seen in Frederick street.

Watches House. He went home, telephoned police headquarters, put on his uniform and gun and went in his car to a point on Magnolia street where he could watch the rear of the house where Borriello was said to be.

Chief Spatz, McGinnis, Sgt. Scott, Officers Hilton and Finn reached to a stop in front of the house and flushed Borriello out the back door. Finn fired a shot but Red failed to stop.

The hunted man began to run through an alley and Scavone gave chase. Borriello ducked into the back door of a house on Magnolia street and Scavone followed him, firing another shot.

Inside the door a stairway led to the second floor. As Borriello turned to leap on his pursuer, the latter ordered him to surrender or "I'll plug you." Borriello gave up.

He was turned over to Spatz who took him first to police headquarters and then to the prosecutor's office in Newark where he was grilled on the details of the escape. It is understood that other municipalities have filed detainers against him.

Scavone has lived in Belleville all his life and is a tool and die maker at Hoyer Products company. He is married and has two children.

The Marine, who had been cited for his demolition expertise, was a veteran of fighting at Guadalcanal, Cape Gloucester, New Britain and Bougainville during his 28 months overseas.

He was a graduate of Newark West Side High school and Alabama University. He resigned from his position as mining engineer with Tennessee Coal & Iron company of Birmingham to enlist in the Marines the day after Pearl Harbor.

Sgt. Mears was scheduled to return to the States to begin studies in an officer candidate school and was said to be on his last mission overseas.

The 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor of 15 Bremond street had been reported missing since the crash August 20. His death was confirmed by the Navy department this week.

Born in Belleville, the radioman attended the high school here and was an assistant CCC leader for a year before entering the employ of Western Electric corporation of Kearny.

He began his Navy career in May 1942 and had served in Ecuador and Panama before being transferred to Bermuda a month before the crash.

squad at the high school when he left school to enlist September 10, 1940.

The following year while serving on a heavy cruiser he volunteered for submarine duty. After serving underseas for nearly a year he returned to the States for a short training course at New London and was reassigned to the Pacific area last February.

GRUHIN QUESTIONS STRIPPING OF KING, RAPS "HYPOCRISY"

Ripper Government, Attorney Says of Police Acquisition By Mayor Williams

Accusing the town Commission of "ripper government" and "sheer, rank hypocrisy," Robert C. Gruhin of 352 Washington avenue Tuesday night told the governing body that he questioned the legality of the board's action in stripping Public Safety Director King of jurisdiction over the police department.

He charged that Mayor Williams had instigated the stripping because "Commissioner King was no longer on your side of the political fence." Gruhin is an attorney and has criticized the mayor and commissioners at other times.

Gruhin began by citing the recent resolution and the Mayor's letter which accompanied it in which the commissioners pledged themselves to follow the spirit of the Walsh act by assuming corporate responsibility for all departments of the town government.

He agreed with the contents and the spirit of the documents, he said, but called them "political double talk."

He questioned the timing of the resolution which was passed five days after King was stripped of his police powers. Gruhin called the resolution "covering up" after the deed was accomplished.

This, he said, was "sheer and rank hypocrisy."

Five Departments

Gruhin declared that his study of the statutes indicated that the government was intended to rest in five separate departments.

Where there are only three commissioners, Public Affairs and Public Safety are combined, Public Works and Public Property are consolidated, but Revenue & Finance "stands alone."

"It is considered so important that the person in charge of that department should not be burdened with the care of other departments," he said.

He admitted that legislation permits the commissioners to shift departments as the public welfare demands but "the action of the special meeting was an abuse of the discretion which the legislature gives to this board."

"If it has found necessary to transfer Public Safety, why the haste?" he asked, referring to the special meeting of the board which was called October 19, two days after the grand jury presentation which cleared the mayor of gambling implications and five days before the next regular board meeting.

"If Commissioner King was incompetent, then you gentlemen are evading the issue," he declared, adding that on that condition King should have been entirely removed from Public Safety.

Referring again to the "Spirit of the Walsh Act" resolution, he told the mayor, "Your political actions in the past prove that you did not always believe in those high ideals."

"Desires Power"

Williams' nine months as acting Public Safety director following Commissioner Clark's death "left you with a desire to continue in power," he averred.

"You may be good but you are not entitled to take care of all departments." He then called on the mayor to "affirm or deny" that he wrote editorials and articles in a local publication.

Referring to 33 charges which Williams had made against the police department, Gruhin declared that the mayor was partially responsible for them since "you have been mayor for a considerable period of time" and as such "it has always been within your power to supervise the activities of all departments."

He also disputed the mayor's "moral right" to sit in judgment in any intradepartmental case which might be brought before him because "a person who has been personally involved in such recriminatory action cannot be prosecutor, judge and jury."

Neither the mayor nor any of the commissioners had any comment to make after Gruhin finished his attack.

Commissioners Waters and King were given authority Tuesday night to seek permission to purchase new equipment for the Public Works and Public Safety (fire fighting division) departments respectively.

Waters will request priority from the ODT for four medium dump trucks to replace four five-ton vehicles which are getting rickety.

King wants to purchase a 500-gallon pumper (estimated cost $7,500) to replace a seventeen-year-old fire truck which recently blew a piston head and which was blamed for some of the delay in reaching the disastrous Quality Products company fire in Silver Lake last week.

The old truck will be temporarily patched up with parts salvaged from a similar vehicle purchased this week by Chief Reid from Tarrytown for $500.

RESIDENTS CHARGE FIRE NEGLIGENCE IN SILVER LAKE

Declare Engine Battery Dead At Quality Fire; Petition Asks Police, Garbage Service

Long stifled discontent at their treatment at the hands of the town Commission was brought into the open by a party of Silver Lake residents Tuesday night when they reproached that body with neglect and petitioned for better police, fire and garbage service.

The immediate cause of the invasion of town hall was the terror which spread through a portion of Silver Lake last week when a large area was threatened by flames which destroyed the Quality Products company at 143 Heckel street.

Spokesmen for the forty-odd residents of the section declared that the failure of fire fighting apparatus from the Silver Lake house to reach the scene in time was responsible for the utter destruction of the building which followed.

The petition, which bore 108 signatures, asked for "better fire and police protection; also for some consideration as to garbage disposal."

"The engine at the Silver Lake firehouse," the document declared, "is of no use at all. . . Why not have an inspection once in a while against fire hazards?"

Chief disturbance of the delegation was a report that the owners of the property intend to rebuild and lease again to the same company which allegedly was using inflammable chemicals in the processing of rags for war plants.

Keenan to Investigate

The Commission attempted to soothe the Lakers with an order to Town Attorney Keenan to make a complete investigation of the operation of the firm, the causes of the fire and the proposals for the future.

Keenan will make his inquiry with Fire Chief Reid and will render a full report to the Commission which will take the matter under advisement before issuing building or occupancy permits.

The first spokesman for the delegation was Mrs. Fred Appenzeller of 124 Belmont avenue who declared that she still cannot sleep at night because of the terror which she went through during the fire.

She pointed out that the plant was crowded into a small space next to residences which were all threatened.

"We want to know why you let a chemical plant locate there in the first place," she told the Commissioners, several of whom protested that they thought the place was "just a laundry."

The company operated high-pressure boilers but failed to have a licensed fireman or engineer, Mrs. Appenzeller charged.

Battery Dead

When the alarm was given, she asserted, the Silver Lake fire engine was unable to leave the firehouse because "the battery was dead." Had it been able to respond immediately, she said, the fire could have been stopped in a short time. Instead firemen fought the flames for more than six hours.

Mrs. Martha Herkins, director of the Silver Lake Community House, asked the Commission why it was "necessary to rebuild for commerce." She pointed out the housing storage which exists in Silver Lake and proposed that an apartment be erected on the site.

"If Silver Lake is a burden to this town as has been so often stated, why not incorporate it

STILL SEEK CAUSE OF FACTORY FIRE

Reid Estimates $10,000 Plus Damage in Blaze That Gutted Quality Products Plant

Still undetermined is the origin of the fire which destroyed the two-story brick and frame plant of the Quality Products company at 143 Heckel street early last week.

Fire Chief Reid declared that the plant, which employed about 25 persons, had closed about a half hour before the flames were discovered by a passerby shortly before 6 p.m. Monday.

Handreds of bales of rags, which had been processed for use in war plants, were already blazing wildly by the time Belleville fire apparatus reached the scene. Reid turned in two more alarms and also called for Newark and Bloomfield equipment for assistance.

Firemen fought the flames for more than six hours before bringing them under control. Reid has tentatively placed the damage at between $10,000 and $15,000.

Today the building is a shambles with virtually nothing but the front wall standing. The roof and side walls are gone and the interior is a mass of rubble.

The homes on either side of the plant were also severely damaged. The two-story home of Theodore Sealing at 141 Heckel was scorched over the entire north side.

The roof and part of the interior of 147 Heckel, occupied by Pasquale Giordano, were burnt and the rest of the house was badly scorched.

Dailey Named to Head Veteran Aid Program Which Began Tuesday

Belleville Plan Approved by State Selective Service; To Assist Vets In Civilian Reestablishment

The Belleville Plan, a program developed by the Belleville Foundation to assist war veterans to reinstate themselves into civilian life, went into operation Tuesday morning. Its debut into the community life was announced by Harry C. Specht, Foundation president, and John P. Dailey, who has been named by state selective service headquarters to head the Veterans' Assistance Program here, Monday night in town hall at a meeting of the subcommittees and Veterans Administration officials.

The plan received the enthusiastic endorsement of Maj. Joseph E. Mirandon, chief of the veterans' personnel division of state selective service, and Capt. Robert W. Bernard, head of the Paterson office of the Veterans Administration.

The program will offer assistance to all discharged servicemen who require aid and advice in reestablishing themselves in civilian life. It will begin to function after he has cleared the draft board on his return.

If his future is definite and he requires no assistance, he will fill out the necessary clearance papers and depart.

Should he require help he will be interviewed by the guidance director who will turn him over to the volunteer committee best fitted to handle his particular problems.

Citizen groups have volunteered to keep informed at all times on all the latest developments in employment, insurance, legal matters, education, banking, medical care, legislation, rehabilitation and church affairs.

Service organizations such as the veterans' groups, Red Cross, Community Service Bureau, employment center and industrial relations group will stand by to lend further assistance.

To guide him through the first days back in "civvies" and to point out to him the privileges which are due him as a veteran, the Foundation is preparing a handbook, "The Open Belleville."

Advance proofs of the booklet were distributed at today's meeting. They will be made available for general distribution December 7.

The air raid wardens have undertaken to give a copy of the booklet to the family of each of Belleville's 3,500 servicemen and women. Additional copies will be available to the veteran at draft headquarters in town hall.

Maj. Mirandon lauded the booklet as "one of the best examples of this type of thing I have seen." He then went on to outline what is planned at the three levels (national, state and municipal) of veterans assistance.

He pointed out that the bulk of the actual contact with the veteran will be at the municipal level, which should be an information and referral center.

Information, Referral. The town's set-up should have all up-to-the-minute information at hand and should also be able to know the exact headquarters to refer the veteran for further aid.

"The most important function of your group," he said, "is coordination of effort. Each group has something which it can do better than the others, but no one organization can do everything."

Capt. Bernard devoted his remarks to an outline of the booklet's accruing to the service through the national Veterans Administration. The booklet also addressed briefly by Douglas O. Mead and Herb Wagner, selective service representatives.

Present at the conference were about fifty leaders of Belleville civic, church, educational, service and veterans organizations.

Dailey has been named by the state to direct and coordinate the entire program in Belleville and to act as liaison between the publication of the booklet and the final organization of the committees, the Foundation is withdrawing from the scene.

Dailey thanked the Foundation for the work it has done and credited it with having accomplished much of the organizational work which he would otherwise have had to institute now.

He said that he had accepted the VAP chairmanship with the understanding that a full-time administrator would be appointed to carry out the actual operation and the interviews.

Specht had asked, at a conference with the town Commission October 4, that the town assume this portion of the program. No reply has thus far been received from the Commission.

Meantime, Miss Sadie Slusser

MAY REORGANIZE HIGH SCHOOL PTA

Johnson Plans to Call Meeting Of Parents After January 1; Inquiries Favorable

A parent-teacher association will probably be formed in the high school in the near future if the present favorable trends continue, principal Burt P. Johnson indicated yesterday.

Johnson disclosed that a second batch of return-address postcards was mailed to parents of high school students last week in an effort to sound out public opinion on the project.

The high school PTA folded up in 1941 because of lack of interest and falling membership. A meeting of teachers and former officers several weeks ago was held in an overhanging spirit of defeatism, Johnson said.

He explained that none of those at the meeting would hold forth any hope for reorganization but

New Jersey Bell Telephone Company plant employees in the Belleville district, who build and maintain lines of communication and keep the exchanges in good operating condition, nearly reached their Sixth War Loan goal of 100 percent participation before the drive officially opened. At a rally held November 17 at Belleville Recreation House, 28 were present and 23 war bonds, totaling $1,050, were purchased.

Martin E. Joyce, delegate of the Telephone Workers Union of New Jersey, was chairman and a speaker at the rally which was participated in by labor and management.

Paul I. Langdon, district equipment superintendent, also spoke. Herbert J. Bitter, union delegate, and Kenneth F. Cochrane, Belleville wire chief, also are on the bond committee.

The 14,500 employees of the company throughout the state aim to "Add a Million" during the Sixth War Loan to $11,500,000 in war bonds they have already purchased.

The 2,200 members of the company's plant department have bought more than 9,200 extra war bonds in the last three drives, exclusive of war bonds regularly purchased through payroll deduction, averaging nearly ten percent of wages.

PROPOSE NEW LAW TO CURB RAGWEED

Commission Passes Anti-Noise And Bagatelle Machine Control Ordinances

An ordinance which will give the Commission the authority to force removal of ragweed and other nuisances, was finally introduced and passed on first reading Tuesday night after laying on the table for several months.

Passed on final reading were an ordinance which will curtail bagatelle machines and another which will prohibit unnecessary noise and disturbances.

Wherever the Commission deems that a fire or health hazard exists it will have the authority to order its removal within ten days under the terms of the bill with passed first reading.

Should the owner or tenant refuse to comply with the order, the board may remove the nuisance itself and charge the cost against the property as a tax, bearing interest the same as other taxes.

Ordinance No. 2 places a $500 license fee on bagatelle machines and prohibits their installation in eating and drinking places.

The third law, which was first introduced September 12, sets forth eleven types of noise which are considered illegal and which in the future are punishable by fines up to $50 and or ten days in jail.

Among the banned noises are horns when used as other than danger signals, musical instruments (including radios) between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., noisy animals, decrepit automobiles, steam whistles, unmuffled motors, loud speakers on trucks.

Noise at night is particularly frowned on as are noises on streets "adjacent to any school, church, institution of learning or court while the same are in session."

School Board Disallows Claim Of High School Architect

The claim of James F. Betelle, Newark architect, for fees allegedly owed him for his work in designing the high school addition seven years ago has been rejected by the Board of Education.

The board last week formally reiterated its stand that the $3,023 balance "owed" the firm of Guilbert and Betelle would not be paid because of "lack of proper supervision" and "because certain work was not done according to specifications."

Betelle, through his attorney, William K. Flanagan, requested two months ago that the full fee be paid him to settle the account.

Recorder Reappointed

Recorder Everett B. Smith was reappointed to another two-year term Tuesday night. He has been police recorder fourteen years, having been named to his first term when he was 24.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP REORGANIZATION IN SILVER LAKE

Officials at Community House Meet; Begin Revamping St. Peter's Troops

First attempt at reorganization of Girl Scout troop 5 at the Silver Lake Community House was made last week when Miss Elizabeth Bardaghy, scout director, and Mrs. Frank J. McFadden, council member, conferred with Mrs. Martha Herkins and Miss Carmella Fabio of the community house.

The previous evening troop committee members of troops 1 and 4, formed last summer at St. Peter's church, met in St. Peter's hall for a round table discussion on committee functions.

Rev. Joseph M. Kelly and Rev. Francis Ignacius were present as were troop leaders Jean McNair, Ruth and Margaret Marmo and Gertrude Barnett.

The committee is made up of Mrs. Thomas McNair, Mrs. Helen Fitzgerald and the Misses Nellie Kilmom, Romona Grey and Greta Kilmom. A plan for program assistance and a pledge of financial assistance was worked out.

Swimming Classes

First of the swimming classes for Girl Scouts was conducted that evening in Friendly House pool with twenty girls who were accompanied by troop 3 leader, Mrs. Cyrus Cox. Instruction, under the supervision of Paul Baxter, water safety division of the Red Cross chapter, will be continued every Monday evening.

Scouts who will work toward their swimming badges in the newly formed class are Lois Bennett, Barbara Benz, Elaine Buana, Marie Christian, Virginia Cook, Joan Deighan, Betty Fulton, Marion Ganetti, Adele Heinsmann, Lois Jenson, Dorothy Kosh, Connie Raymond, Carol Wilcox and Christine Wilkinson of troop 2.

Troop 3 members are Betty Heal, Joan Transue; troop 11, Virginia Cook, Jean Dunlap, Margaret McGregor, Margaret Wagner and Diane Brumbach.

Service Bureau

Newest war activity of the Girl scout service bureau is in answer to the Treasury Department's October request for a newspaper clipping service in connection with the sixth war loan.

Girls call local newspapers, including school publications, for advertisements, editorials, news items covering war bond activities in all walks of life, cartoons and comic strips which are cut out and placed in envelopes for the department's files. Fourteen girls are working on the project.

SEA SCOUTS SHIFT MEETING NIGHT AT SAME SITE

Ship 303 to Meet Mondays In Eastwood-Nealey Plant; Refitting Picket Boat

Wallace Jones, skipper of Sea Scout ship 303, has announced that meetings are now held Mondays at 7:30 p.m. in the Eastwood-Nealey plant. Fathers of the young men who are members or prospective members are invited to visit the ship.

Work on refitting the forty-foot picket boat recently returned from service with the Coast Guard is going forward and all who are members of the ship are assured a real cruising program next season.

The new members of the Ship are working on the apprentice Sea Scout requirements. Piloting, navigation, marlin spike seamanship, rules of the road and similar nautical training will be given during the winter months in preparation for an active outdoor program next year.

Keeping "Out" in Scouting

Reports of recent hikes and camps have been made by Troop 306, Montgomery Presbyterian church, which spent a weekend at Scout Acres in Boonton; Troop 392, Recreation House, an all-day hike in which a number of scoutcraft requirements were met; and Troop 333, Wallace & Tiernan company, an all-day trip and hike in the South Mountain Reservation.

Two well-equipped sites are now available to troops of the Robert Treat Council for winter camping. Each is equipped with cabins which are heated by wood burning stoves and are comfortable in the severest weather.

Camp Mohican summer camp at Blairstown is now available for winter camping with a full time Ranger. Scout Acres at Boonton has seven all-weather cabins and a full time Ranger.

"Scoutmasters and parents can be assured that scouts camping at these sites will be adequately housed and protected against the elements," executive Harry T. French said yesterday.

ROTARY MAY BACK CAMP FOR BOYS

Belleville, Nutley, Bloomfield Clubs Ponder Possibility Of Joint Sponsorship

A bankrupt summer camp for underprivileged boys may be reopened next year if the present discussions by three Rotary clubs bear fruit. Rotary in Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield are participating in the conference.

Camp Demarest, named for the former mayor of Bloomfield, is located on Glen Wild Lake near Butler and for 28 years before folding up in 1942 was operated by private citizens in Bloomfield.

In an effort to reestablish the camp, it is understood the owners offered to turn it over to the Belleville Foundation to operate. That organization decided that it is not the role of the Foundation to operate such endeavors.

Its president, Harry G. Specht, then turned to the three Rotary clubs with the proposition. It is understood to have met favorable reaction in all three but sufficient details have not yet been ironed out to make a definite decision on its future.

A joint committee of the clubs was appointed which has inspected the property, studying organization and costs and methods of financing the project.

When the committees have drawn up their reports it is expected that the matter will be placed before the memberships of the Rotary clubs by the community service committees.

Serving on the Belleville group are Specht, Frank L. Chambers, W. Douglas Clark, Edgar S. Peirls and Burt Powers Johnson.

The camp, which is on the lake bank, has seven acres of land and athletic fields and accommodations for ninety boys. Attendance would be divided among the three towns.

BOY SCOUTS PLAN BOND CLEAN-UP

Will Begin Gleaner Campaign Sunday, Continue One Week; Hope to Buy Ambulances

Throughout the Robert Treat Council, Boy Scouts will launch their campaign for war bonds Sunday continuing to December 9.

Each troop has been assigned a territory known as the troop war service area. These areas were established before Pearl Harbor and have been used by the scouts in all their war services.

The goal of each troop is to sell enough bonds to purchase as many field ambulances as possible. The field ambulances cost $1,950. In the fifth loan Belleville Scouts sold $129,187.75 worth of Bonds.

As in previous loans both in this war and in World War I, the scouts go into action towards the end of the campaign as "Gleaners after the Reapers." Millions of dollars worth of bonds have been sold by the scouts in this manner.

Reports are to be made by Belleville scouts December 7 and 12 at the office of the defense coordinator in the town hall. Ambulances will bear the troop number and town or city.

Materials for the solicitation are now in the hands of the scoutmasters. It is expected that every scout will participate in the drive.

Thanks Industry for Contribution To Belleville War Chest

As the Belleville War Chest this week reached two-thirds of its $67,000 goal, leaders of the campaign joined in lauding the industries of the town which have contributed more than $35,000 or ninety percent of their quota.

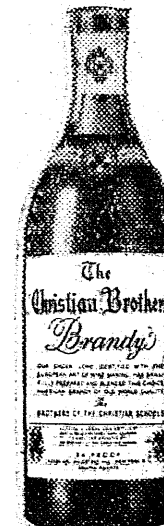

Industrial chairman Elwood P. Russell was one of those who came forward yesterday to praise the efforts of the industries.

"I wish to thank both employees and management for their part in the Chest drive," Russell said. "The industries as a whole in Belleville have come forward willingly to do their share. The recognition given me by employers and employees has been most gratifying. It made me feel that the industries are wholeheartedly behind this noble cause."

Collections in other divisions of the campaign are lagging, however, and last night a plea was made to complete their work as quickly as possible. At the third report meeting of workers contributions and pledges totalling $46,900 were tabulated or 70% of the goal.

Maser Announces Goal Here
For Christmas Campaign
For "Yanks Who Gave"

The goal of the American Legion committee on Christmas "gifts to Yanks who gave" has been set at 500 packages for Belleville by December 10, chairman William D. Maser announced yesterday.

Belleville post 105 is cooperating in the nationwide program, which was suggested by Eddie Cantor. Also on the committee are William Kenepff, Edwin Ackerman, William Rivola, Mrs. Charles Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Wagner.

Gifts, which should contain a personal Christmas card, might include books, stationery, games, toiletries, smoking equipment, pocket knives, sun glasses, etc. Belleville collections depots have been set up in the following places:

"The outstanding courage, skill and fearless initiative demonstrated by all of the personnel both individually and as a closely knit combat team contributed immeasurably to the success of the European invasion and materially accelerated the collapse of enemy force on the Normandy coast."

SIGN FINAL BOUTS FOR OPENING CARD AT RIVIERA PARK

Joe Curcio And Stanley Miller Clash in Eight-Rounder Here Tonight

Signing of the final contract for thirty-two rounds of slam-bang club fighting, to be presented at the opening boxing show at Riviera Park tonight, was completed when Joe Curcio, Newark's leading welterweight contender, put his name on a Bernie Grossman contract to meet Stanley Miller of Youngstown, Ohio.

The Curcio-Miller bout, scheduled for eight rounds, will be one of the three featured battles that will involve fighters who have been making reputations as crowd-pleasing punchers in main events at eastern clubs.

Johnny Juliano will clash with George Cooper in a return eight-round bout, and Clint Miller, sensational Elizabeth featherweight, will have Rocky Prognano as his opponent in another return encounter set for the six round distance. These bouts will be supported by a six-round and a four-round bout.

Curcio's record of seventeen knockouts and twelve decisions over leading club fighters is an imposing one.

Kayo Specialist

Curcio, who numbers Tony Riccio, Al Johnson and Johnny Green among his victims, will be out to make his debut at the Belleville rink an auspicious one. Four of his opponents went to sleep in the first round.

Six of his other foes met Morpheus in the second round, one in the third, three in the fourth, and one each in the sixth, seventh, and eighth rounds.

Curcio's most important victory was his recent decision over Buffalo Johnny Green. Green is the capable performer who includes Izzy Janazzo among his wins.

Miller, the Youngstown, Negro, is a popular main event fighter, in New England Rings. At present he is training at Stillman's Gym in New York City. He is well aware that he will have to be at his best if he is to slam out a win over Curcio.

A durable battler, Miller is a test for many welterweight and he packs a potent punch in either hand that many argue is equal to anything that Curcio can throw.

Juliano-Cooper

One of the eight will be a return match between spunky Johnny Juliano, Paterson feather-

SIGN FINAL BOUTS FOR OPENING CARD AT RIVIERA PARK

Joe Curcio And Stanley Miller Clash in Eight-Rounder Here Tonight

Signing of the final contract for thirty-two rounds of slam-bang club fighting, to be presented at the opening boxing show at Riviera Park tonight, was completed when Joe Curcio, Newark's leading welterweight contender, put his name on a Bernie Grossman contract to meet Stanley Miller of Youngstown, Ohio.

The Curcio-Miller bout, scheduled for eight rounds, will be one of the three featured battles that will involve fighters who have been making reputations as crowd-pleasing punchers in main events at eastern clubs.

Johnny Juliano will clash with George Cooper in a return eight-round bout, and Clint Miller, sensational Elizabeth featherweight, will have Rocky Prognano as his opponent in another return encounter set for the six round distance. These bouts will be supported by a six-round and a four-round bout.

Curcio's record of seventeen knockouts and twelve decisions over leading club fighters is an imposing one.

Kayo Specialist

Curcio, who numbers Tony Riccio, Al Johnson and Johnny Green among his victims, will be out to make his debut at the Belleville rink an auspicious one. Four of his opponents went to sleep in the first round.

Six of his other foes met Morpheus in the second round, one in the third, three in the fourth, and one each in the sixth, seventh, and eighth rounds.

Curcio's most important victory was his recent decision over Buffalo Johnny Green. Green is the capable performer who includes Izzy Janazzo among his wins.

Miller, the Youngstown, Negro, is a popular main event fighter, in New England Rings. At present he is training at Stillman's Gym in New York City. He is well aware that he will have to be at his best if he is to slam out a win over Curcio.

A durable battler, Miller is a test for many welterweight and he packs a potent punch in either hand that many argue is equal to anything that Curcio can throw.

Juliano-Cooper

One of the eight will be a return match between spunky Johnny Juliano, Paterson feather-

weight, and George Cooper of New York City

The first meeting of these boys (Queensboro Arena two months ago) resulted in a decision for the Paterson gamster after eight rounds of slam-bang hammering that saw Juliano on the floor for counts on two occasions. A great enmity has existed between these boys since this first meeting.

Many unsuccessful attempts have been made by New York matchmakers to rematch Juliano and Cooper. Having seen the initial encounter of these punchers Grossman wanted the return for the Belleville club and with his assistant matchmaker Tony Cohen brought the managers of both fighters to terms.

Two Must Answer Charges In Tavern Brawl

Herbert Schwab, 36, of 19 Parkview avenue and Lawrence Clark, 40, of Mt. Pleasant avenue will appear before Recorder Smith December 13 to answer charges of disorderly conduct arising out of a tavern brawl Tuesday afternoon.

The men were released in bail after being brought to police headquarters following a fight which broke out in Laterza's tavern at 380 Belleville avenue.

Clark suffered head injuries in the brawl. Taken to St. Mary's hospital, Passaic, he was released Monday.

Father Christopher to Review "We Stood Alone" Sunday

Dorothy Adams' novel "We Stood Alone" will be the subject of the second book review to be presented by the Petrean club in St. Peter's auditorium Sunday evening at 8.

Rev. Joseph P. Christopher, PhD, professor of classical languages at the Immaculate Conception seminary at Darlington, will review the book. He studied at Oxford University and at the American College in Rome.

"We Stood Alone" is the story of a New England girl who married a Polish diplomat, lived in Poland for many years and learned to appreciate the culture and history of that country.

The description of the country which first fought Hitler's forces is vivid and highly interesting.

Miss Adams conveys the knowledge she would like every American to have of the country of her adoption.

READING & WRITING BY Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

JESSE STUART was born and brought up in the Kentucky back hill country. He knows the Kentucky mountaineers, their faults as well as their virtues, and he is a wonderful story-teller. He's also written some of the best poetry of the present generation. His latest book, a novel, "Taps for Private Tussie," has been chosen by the Book-of-the-Month Club as a December selection.

"Taps for Private Tussie" is the story of a poor relief family—the Tussies—and what happens when they suddenly come into ten thousand dollars insurance money. Head of the Tussie family is Grandpa, who never does a stroke of work if he can help it, but who is as lovable an old rascal as there ever was. Then there is his son, Uncle Mott, who plays the banjo expertly but who, as you learn in the course of the story, has a deeply villainous nature. And there is Aunt Vattie, the widow of the hard-drinking, violent soldier, Kim, whose supposed death has brought about the insurance money. And there is Sid, the young boy who tells the story.

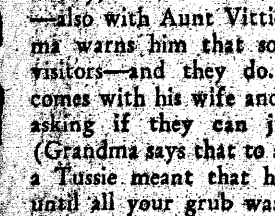

That sounds like a lot of Tussies, but that's just the beginning. When Grandpa retires the big, sixteen-room Raeburn house with Aunt Vattie's money, and Grandma furnishes it complete also with Aunt Vattie's money—Grandma warns him that soon they will have visitors—and they do. First Ben Tussie comes with his wife and three "youngins," asking if they can stay just a night. (Grandma says that to stay for a night for a Tussie meant that he stayed with you until all your grub was gone.) Then Dee Tussie and his wife come with their four offspring. And pretty soon every room in the big Raeburn house is full; there are forty-six Tussies living there, eating Aunt Vattie's food, spending the night; playing the fiddle and dancing, and the days sitting out in the sun on the grass.

This paradise can't go on forever. Ten thousand dollars is a lot of money, but even so, there's an end to it. But the Tussies are the sort that can find a way out of their difficulties, even when it seems there is no way out.

There are some comic scenes in "Taps for Private Tussie," but when Jesse Stuart was talking about his book recently he said, "I don't see why people should find it funny. I didn't intend to make any one laugh. I just wanted to make them cry when

Belleville, Nutley Evenly Matched For Renewal of Classic; 8,000 To See Contest in Park Oval

Mediocre Seasons Fade Before Prospect of First Contest in Fourteen Years; See Pasquariello Davis Duel in Offensive Departments

The long-awaited renewal of the Belleville - Nutley pigskin rivalry will be realized Saturday when the local high school gridiron forces will invade Park Oval, Nutley, to square off against the Maroon of Nutley High. It marks the first time in well over a decade that the two schools will battle it out on the gridiron.

All season, the two grid foes, their coaches, Belleville's Bill Chapman and Nutley's Art Schneider, and the entire school bodies, alumni, and town residents have been pointing towards the season's climax game. An overflow crowd of over 8,000 is expected to swarm through the gates before the starting gun goes off at 2:30.

The Nutley eleven, playing the county's topnotchers this season, sports a record of four wins, two defeats and two draws. The Maroon reached its peak in the Montclair fray, by holding the state champs to a scoreless deadlock. Wins were scored over East Side, West Side, Clifton and Kearny, while the other tie came in the East Orange tussle.

The two setbacks were inflicted by Newark Central in the season's opener and by once-beaten Bloomfield.

After a dismal start Nutley has come along in fine order and, with the exception of the Bloomfield game when they were thrashed 38-7 by the Poleymen, the Maroon have made a commendable showing in the first year of coach Art Schneider.

Looking over the comparative scores of the teams against the same opponents played, the Bellboys have a slight edge. Belleville, while also losing to Bloomfield, held the highly regarded Bengals to a 14-6 verdict.

In their Thanksgiving Day battle, the Nutleyites were held to a meager 7-0 win over hapless Kearny while the Bellboys had previously taken the Kards by a 13-0 count.

The Nutley outfit's offensive total of 67 points this season shades the Bellboys total of 57, but the Blue and Gold teams' record of points scored by the opposition, 63, shows a great margin over that of Nutley which has yielded 89 points to the other side.

Having been held to a scoreless standstill by Lyndhurst, the Bellboys record now stands at four wins, a trio of setbacks, and one tie.

All of these statistics will probably prove meaningless when the two high-spirited foes meet in their "blood battle" and a win by either team will conclude a better-than-average season.

Versatile Backfield

The main reason for Nutley's success this year is the versatility of their backfield and also of the fine playing of their center, captain and all-state candidate, "Brud" Davis.

The Maroon backfield boasts of all-around offensive ability with "Ghost" Guarino, Tom Luzzi, Bob McDonald and Fred Weber, shaping up as the starting four.

Usually kept in reserve until any scoring threat rises, is triple-threat Ed Lynch, who has often times this season spelled doom to opponents with long runs, and another line jarring back, Rudy Novak.

Shoot the Works

It is expected that Bellboy mentor Bill Chapman will shoot everything from his "bag of tricks" in order to produce a Belleville victory.

It was learned this week that tackle Jack Byrne will probably be among the starting eleven. Byrne had been shelved with a collar bone injury for the past three weeks, but is now ready for action again.

It was noted in the Lyndhurst affair that Belleville's star back, Vic Pasquariello, was used sparingly by Chapman, thereby hinting that the stellar quarterback was being saved for the Nutley game.

From all angles the "natural" looms as a battle of the Maroon backs against the strong Bellboy forward wall and the running and passing feats of Pasquariello.

Lyndhurst Deadlock

A stubborn Lyndhurst High eleven coupled with "General Mud" held the favored Belleville High grid aggregation to a scoreless tie before a shivering Thanksgiving Day crowd of about 2,500, played at the Lyndhurst field.

Going into the game as two-touchdown favorites, the locals soon realized that they had their work cut out for them as the Golden Bears, with halfback Jim Grady hitting the Bellboy line on six straight plays, moved the melon to the Belleville 30. The threat was stopped here as Belleville took the ball on downs.

The only real Bellboy threat of the game came in the second quarter when a host of Blue and Gold linemen broke through and blocked a Lyndhurst punt on the latter's 35 yard line.

Vince Vaccarella, Bellboy center, scooped the ball and raced down to the home's team 17 yard mark. The Bellboys, with Rocco Cerami and Joe Paganelli sloshing their way through the Bear line, reached the 12 but a fourth down pass by Cerami was intercepted by Tim Lembo, stopping the drive.

Antidote for Apathy

The board of education of Millburn, grieved over the way people stay away from its meetings in large droves, is reported planning a number of public parleys to discuss ways to end the apathy among the people who pay its bills. Invited to attend a discussion on the lack of public interest are the town's PTAs and other civic groups such as Rotary, Woman's club and town council.

The disinterestedness which the taxpayers evidence in the public servants who spend their hard-earned dollars has always puzzled many officials and tickled many others who see in it carte blanche to do as they wish with public money and the welfare of the community, which oftentimes is secondary to their own welfare.

The same apathy is an old story here in Belleville where meetings of the governing bodies are seldom of as much interest as a lecture on medieval armor. When the school board holds a public hearing on a budget of more than $700,000 only two people out of 30,000 show up and neither of them is there to contest a single point. The municipal budget hearing on the expenditure of nearly $2,000,000 draws even fewer taxpayers.

The audience at Commission meetings, even despite the sensational developments which have rocked town hall in recent months, is ordinarily limited to the members of the press. Not even the usually dependable Public Service representative is a regular attendant any more.

Reasons for the apparent apathy on the part of the public in how the town fathers conduct the affairs of the town are not readily discernible. It is said that some stay away because of an erroneous fear of increased assessments and others hesitate to attend because of Commission critics because of personal vilification which has been leveled out to a few in the past.

Millburn action has been taken because the board has long recognized the need for improved public relations. Belleville might well consider their problems in the same light.

Light for Dangerous Corner

Seven automobile crashes have already been chalked up against the intersection of Main and Rutgers streets so far this year. That is more than enough for one corner and it is a question how far town, county and state officials will allow this dangerous condition to progress before they decide to take steps to correct it.

The west end of Belleville Bridge is one of the most heavily travelled intersections in the town. It is the crossroads where meet the traffic on the one hand from New York and Jersey City to Bloomfield, Montclair and the Caldwelles and the other hand from Newark to Nutley, plus all the local traffic.

It is obvious that autoists, particularly during the morning and evening rush hours, have no intention of observing the stop signs or the lane system of traffic diversion. It is also noticeable that seldom is there a policeman stationed at the intersection.

Responsible authorities have failed to take action and for many years have offered the same hackneyed excuses: 1) it is too hard to get all three agencies together since Main street north of the bridge is a town road, south of the bridge is a state highway and Rutgers street is charged to the county; and 2) a traffic light at the corner would snarl traffic when the draw is opened.

A light is nevertheless the solution, an essential solution. The problem of river traffic could easily be solved by placing a switch in the house of the bridgetender. Fifteen seconds before opening the bridge he could flash a stop signal to all vehicles about to enter the bridge. By the time he was ready to open the draw, all east- and westbound traffic would have halted behind the nearest intersections. A green arrow would permit north-south through-traffic on Main street to proceed.

The installation of a traffic light at the dangerous Main-Rutgers corner is not a postwar project: it should be done without delay in order to remedy the worst traffic hazard in Belleville.

Restrain Tempers Saturday

For the first time in fourteen years Belleville and Nutley will meet Saturday on the gridiron. Comparative statistics indicate a close game is the prospect and one which few people in either town will want to miss. Belleville-Nutley might well become the biggest drawing card in the county, provided unthinking persons do not pull boners which would cause the already jittery school authorities to call the whole thing off again.

There is intense rivalry between Belleville and Nutley, not only in athletic contests but in many other things. Through the ages the two towns have been natural rivals even through the years of unnatural separation on the athletic field.

Old-timers still recall the gang fights in "no man's land" on the border line, fights which ensued for many years following Nutley's declaration of independence from Belleville. But those days of sniping and battle are as much out of date as is continued bad blood between the north and the south.

A few hotheads, people who feel that the real supremacy must be settled with fists instead of a pigskin, can ruin the efforts of many years to bring the two schools together. The losing team and its rooters cannot afford to feel that the "disgrace" must be wiped out in blood. Officials of both schools are pleading for a clean-cut game to prevent another deterioration of relations.

While police will be plentiful at the game, the schoolmates of the soreheads should take it into their own hands to squelch fights and those who start them. Should this present series run off smoothly, there is every hope that the school authorities will move the game to Thanksgiving when present commitments expire.

Government in Education

Fears of the Board of Education expressed last week during the discussion on a Christmas work program for high school students, that the federal government may be attempting to exert undue influence in local school systems may be premature but at least the board has shown that it does not intend to be caught napping. It also has plenty of shining examples and incidents to guide it.

The federal government has encroached during the past twelve years on municipal and state affairs and on private enterprise to an extent never before believed possible in America. Strong central government, a thing which many of our early statesmen fought hard to prevent, has become a reality which in many ways is alarming.

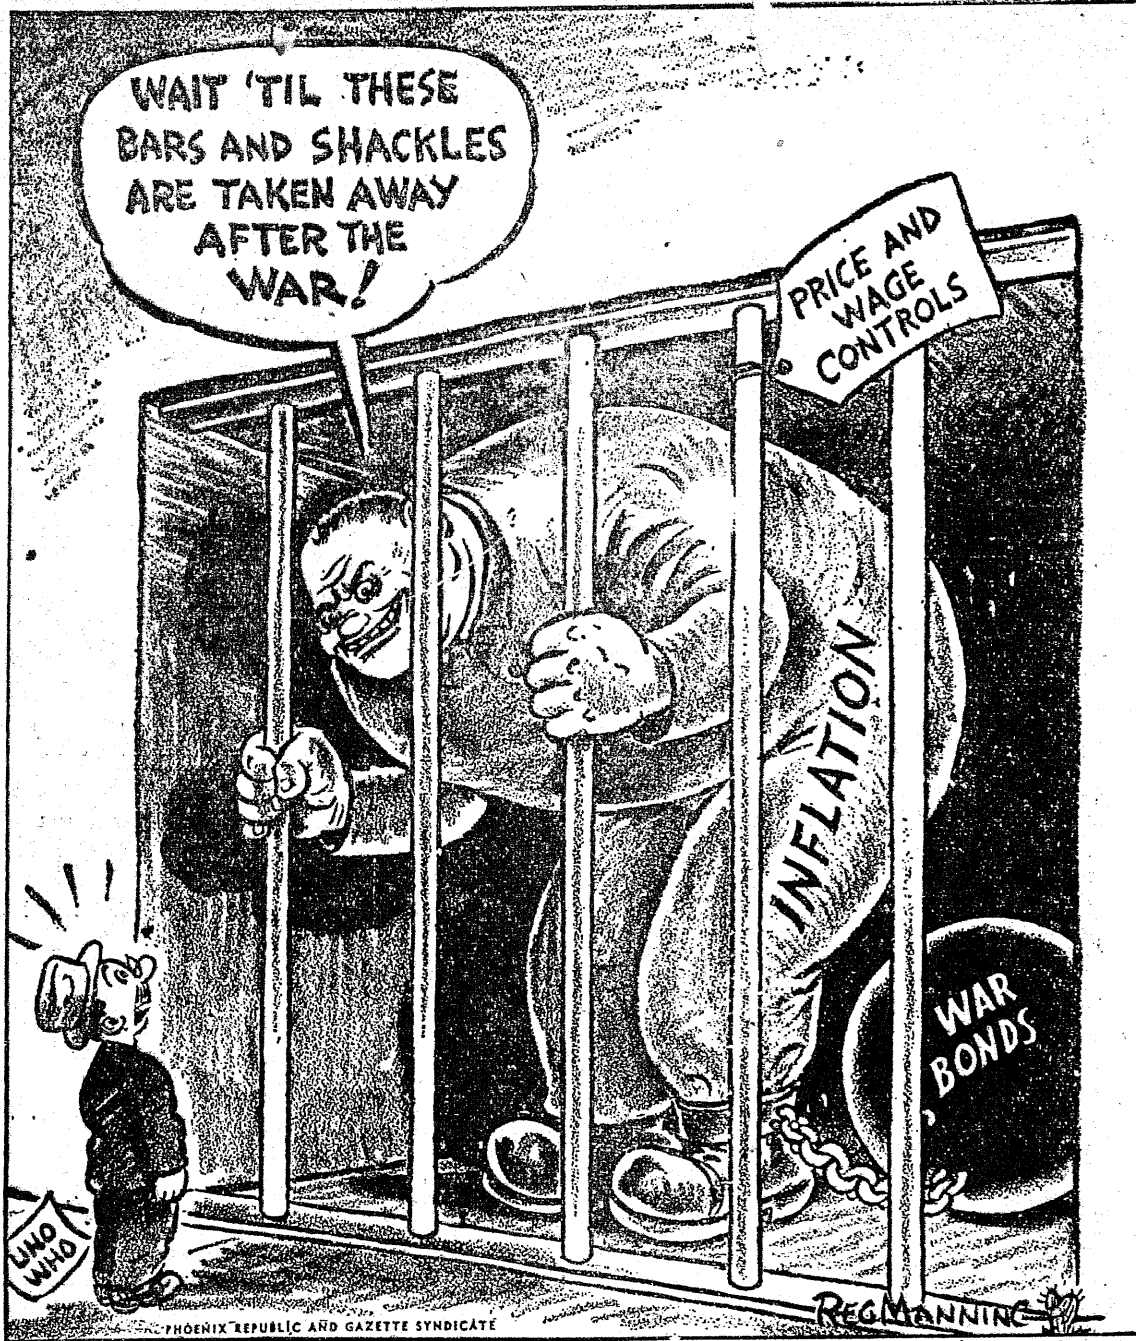

America as our forefathers pictured was to be a union of states governed by a central authority only so far as was necessary to guide relations among the states. That concept has been changed by the New Deal to one in which Washington is the focal point of the nation and the states are subordinate.

The school board's suspicion of Washington is probably well founded but it must in truth be admitted that in many ways the federal government has been more farsighted than have the several states and municipalities. Schools here and elsewhere have too long considered the three Rs as sufficient to fit our youth for his place in life.

Merchandising, for instance, is a business in which the great bulk of our youth eventually finds itself. Yet municipalities and even states have failed to instruct the student in such manner that he can be even partially trained to begin work as a salesman. A federal program to teach "distributive education," on the other hand, is knocked down because part of the funds are paid by the government. Nothing is substituted, however, by any lower level of government.

The federal government has no place in education as it has no place in many other lines of endeavor. Yet if the municipalities and the states fail to offer necessities, we can count on Washington politicians to do so.

SCS For Susie

To the Editor of The Times:

This is an SOS for Susie, pretty, spirited, half-grown male cat, mascot of the inspection department at Isolantite, Inc.

Born at the plant where he has had the run of the place and been fondled no end by women of inspection, he suddenly finds himself persona non grata to the Powers That Be and slated for the town pound any day. Women of the department are in tears. Not one is in a position to take him.

If a home could be found for Susie in some family where there are no small children he and his friends would be grateful. As to his name — he'll answer just as well to a more appropriate one. No one knows why the "Susie" except that an amiable expression and winsome ways may have suggested a feminine cognomen. The animal has never recognized it.

His well-wishers are asking if someone will ring BE. 2-3632-J after 3:30 today or tomorrow and rescue Susie. He can show a clean bill of health. They are praying it may not be Taps for him.

SOCIAL SECURITY RULING EXPLAINED

Benefits To Be Refigured For Reemployed Retired Workers

John R. Shields, manager of the Newark office of the Social Security Board at 45 Branford place, Newark, today explained the effect of the board's announcement that upon request it will recalculate the amount of old-age and survivors insurance benefits available to once-retired workers to include credit for wages received since the benefits were first claimed.

"This action," Mr. Shields said, "is intended to take into account the fact that many workers past the age of 65, who have retired and drawn benefits, have gone back to work since the country started its preparation for war. Originally, these workers, by filing a claim, set their benefits so that they could not be moved up or down. But they returned to work unexpectedly, and generally have received higher wages than before. The board has therefore announced that, in order to meet the intent of the law, their benefits may be recomputed in order to credit towards monthly retirement benefits the wages they received after they had once filed a claim."

Mr. Shields believed that a substantial number of workers, 65 or older, who have received some benefits under social security and have had their payments suspended due to their return to work, will benefit from the board's decision in the Newark area.

To prevent confusion or misunderstanding, Mr. Shields issued the following cautions:

(1) Increased benefits will be available only to workers 65 or older, who have claimed benefits and who subsequently have worked in jobs covered by the Social Security Act, and, generally, at higher pay than their former average monthly wage. The benefit amounts of widows, orphans or aged parents whose benefits were based on wages up to the time of an insured workers death, cannot be changed.

(2) Benefits will be recalculated upon request of beneficiary.

(3) The announcement does not mean that any person may receive benefits while working in jobs covered by the law. The law provides that benefits must be suspended for any month in which the beneficiary makes more than $14.99 on a covered job.

(4) There is no need for anybody who has been working in covered employment after he filed a claim to ask for a re-computation of his benefits as long as his pay stays as high as his average monthly wage between January 1, 1937 and the date he filed his claim. On the other hand, if his pay started going down—as a result of illness, reduced hours, loss of his job or for any other reason — the worker who is 65 or older should consult the nearest office of the Social Security Board at once.

In time, Mr. Shields pointed out, the new ruling will prove beneficial to many workers who attain age 65 and face the possibility that reduced pay may result in reduced benefits. In the past, he said, some of these workers have chosen to "freeze" their benefit amounts by filing a claim, even though they intended to keep on working. That protected them against any drop in the benefit, but it also prevented any increase. The next effect is that a worker, upon reaching 65, may "peg" his benefit so that it will not be reduced but can be increased on the basis of his future work record.

Freeholders Study Conversion Plan For Isolation Hospital

Freeholder Director William H. Rawson last week named a special committee of freeholders to study the proposal of Dr. Louis Schneider that part of the isolation hospital here be converted into a home for chronic illness.

Schneider, president of the county medical society, has urged the move to relieve overcrowding at seventeen general and four specialty hospitals.

Isolation, he claims, is largely vacant most of the time. It has a total of 510 beds and its normal patient population is slightly more than eighty, Schneider says.

Rawson named William E. Speers chairman of the special committee which also includes freeholders Clayton E. Freeman, Walter S. Gray and Philip R. Van Deyne.

Wallace-Tiernan Chlorinators Got Priority in Normandy

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE—Four chlorinators, products of Wallace and Tiernan company, Belleville, were among the first equipment other than weapons in operation on the bullet-swept beaches of Normandy.

Soon after reconnaissance squads of the Engineer Combat Battalion, charged with the mission of purifying water, located a small stream, the Newark-built machinery was in operation.

Serial numbers M5907-T, L12181-T, M5115-T, and L968-T, the chlorinators, named Sally, Marian, Kathryn and Sue, after the soldier-operators' wives — pump fifteen gallons of unpurified water per minute, adding soda ash, alum, calcium hypochlorite and other chemicals.

The average American soldier consumes at least a one-quart canteen of water each day.

Through the chlorinators the water passes into filter machines also built by the Newark concern.

Fifth Air Force, Southwest Pacific—Sgt. John O. Henion, son of Mrs. Addie Henion of 33 Dow street, Belleville, has been awarded one oak leaf cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross and one oak leaf cluster to the Air Medal.

The presentation was made by Brig. Gen. Warren R. Carter, commanding general of the Troop Carriers in New Guinea.

The Troop Carriers have participated in almost every campaign in New Guinea, New Britain and the Admiralties. They were recently commended by Maj. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, commanding general of the Fifth Air Force, for delivering 2,000 plane loads of emergency supplies and personnel in twenty days to Hollandia.

Recently operations of cargo planes over enemy territory have also made possible the successful occupation of Biak and Noemfoor islands.

Henion attended Kearny High school. Before entering the Army in July 1942, he was employed with the Baff Manufacturing company.

Seaman 1/c Howard Bond Wilson, whose wife, Betty Jo Wilson, resides at 1317 NW Eleventh street, Oklahoma City, Okla., has completed a course in training at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Norman, Okla., and will now be transferred to a naval unit afloat or to another shore station for further instruction and work.

Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of 8 Baldwin place. He enlisted in the naval reserve at Newark May 1. At Newark he attended the school of aviation ordinance.

A 1931 graduate of Belleville High school, he was formerly employed with the U. S. Rubber company in Milwaukee. His brother, T/Sgt. Edward Wilson, has been in Italy for two years with the Army air forces.

Ensign Ward A. Whitehorse

Ward A. Whitehorse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. A. Whitehorse Jr. of 31 DeWitt avenue, was last week commissioned an ensign in the Navy at Northwestern University, Chicago.

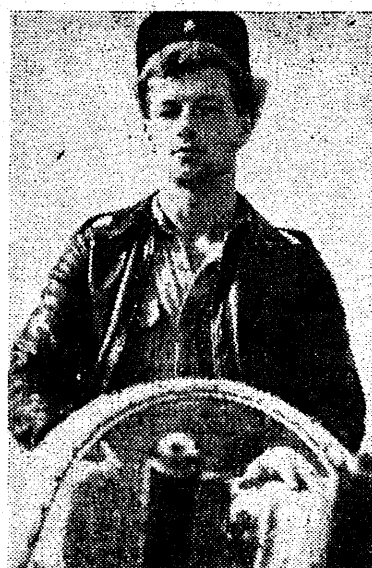

A '42 alumnus of the high school, he attended Rutgers University for a year before entering the V-12 at Hobart College. He has been assigned to a West Coast port for duty. Whitehorse gained some prominence in rowing circles before entering the Navy. He carried the colors of Nereid Boat Club to victory in two metropolitan championships in 1942 and 1943.

His brother, also a former Nereid oarsman, is Army Capt. Joseph W. A. Whitehorse 3d who is stationed somewhere in the South Pacific. Last fortnight a daughter was born to him and his wife, the former Emily Avery of Albany, N. Y.

Paonessa, an MP, is stationed in Jersey City and is on furlough with the Coppolas now.

S/Sgt. Andre Poirier

At a Twelfth AAF B-25 Base on Corsica—Flying as engineer-gunner of a B-25 Mitchell bomber, S/Sgt. Andre Poirier of 144 White Oak terrace has recently flown his fifty-first combat mission.

Poirier is assigned to a battle-seasoned B-25 group which has distinguished itself in all the campaigns in the Mediterranean. One of these include "Operations Strangle," a concentrated bombing of German lines of communication in northern Italy.

The Belleville gunner has participated in a number of missions in this campaign and they have taken him over many heavily-defended cities including Genoa and Bologna.

Poirier played an active part in one of the deadliest operations in the sixth amphibious operation which his group supported—the landings in southern France on August 15. He participated in an early morning mission on D-day to smash the invasion beaches several hours before the Allied troops invaded.

On August 18, he participated in one of the deadliest attacks ever launched at German Mediterranean shipping when he was engineer-gunner in the formation which attacked enemy shipping in Toulon harbor. Despite a seemingly impenetrable flak barrage, the Mitchells went in to destroy three capital ships without loss to themselves.

Poirier experienced a more thrilling and hazardous mission than that. On October 20, he was engineer-gunner in the lead plane of a large formation which attacked the Galliate road bridge, connecting one of the main routes between Turin and Milan.

Because of the importance of this target, the Germans had it defended with an elaborate net of anti-aircraft batteries. Poirier's formation had to fly through this thick barrage but they accomplished this task without loss to crew or three spans of the bridge with 100 percent bombing accuracy.

He has been awarded the air medal with four oak leaf clusters.

First Lieut. Walter B. Watson, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Watson of 181 Adelaide street, graduated from the Army medical field service school at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. He has been assigned to Lincoln, Neb.

Watson, whose wife is the former Frieda Ann Wainwright of Augusta, Ga., graduated from Belleville High school in 1936 and received his medical training at Duke University. He interned at Mountsinai hospital, Glen Ridge, and entered the Army October 7.

Capt. Frank W. McWalters and Pvt. M. Kenneth McWalters recently met in India for the first time in many months. They are the sons of Mrs. Mary McWalters of 139 Union avenue.

Frank is stationed in China with the Twentieth Army Air Force while his brother has been with a medical unit in India. Details of the meeting are not known.

There are two other brothers in the Army: Pvt. Thomas is in Fletcher General hospital, Cambridge, O., recovering from wounds received in France, and Sgt. John is with the Army air forces in France.

Pvt. Larry P. Capozzi of 16 North Ninth street is an ammunition handler with the 84th Chemical Battalion, one of the units of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army that recently broke through the Gothic Line in Italy.

Pvt. Achille Bini

Somewhere in the Pacific—(Delayed)—Marine Pvt. Achille K. Bini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bini of 70 Columbus avenue, was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received during the battle of Saipan last June.

The award was made by Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Cates, commanding general of the Fourth Marine Division, during recent ceremonies at this base.

"I wish you many more medals, but no more purple hearts," Cates said in making the award, which is the oldest American military decoration, having been conceived by our first commander-in-chief President George Washington.

The 21-year-old Marine, member of a Pioneer Battalion, has fully recovered from his wounds and returned to active duty.

Bini graduated from the high school in 1941 and entered the Marines in January 1943. He has been overseas a year.

Pfe. Domenico Valeo of 72 Eugene place has had his recovery in an Italian hospital made more pleasant by a visit from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Valeo of Borgia, Italy, whom he had not seen since he came to this country eight years ago.

He lived here with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Coppola of the Eugene place address and was employed by a Newark tailor until he entered service three years ago.

Valeo went overseas with an infantry unit last April and entered France on D day. He was wounded for the second time in October; for his first experience he was decorated with the Purple Heart.

His parents told him that one of his brothers is in the Italian army. Valeo was also visited by the mother of his friend and co-worker, Pfc. Edward Paonessa of the Eugene place address who accompanied him to this country eight years ago. Mrs. Paonessa lives next door to the Valeos in Borgia.
