Social Security Official Asks More Extensive Benefits

Congress Urged By Board To Protect The Professional Man, Small Business Man, Farmer — None Covered by Existing Laws

In addition to extending protection to 20,000,000 workers not now insured under the old-age and survivors insurance system, the Social Security Board has recommended in its annual report to Congress that more adequate benefits be given to wage earners insured now, John R. Shields, manager of the Social Security Board's office stated today. More than 39,000,000 men and women now have insured status under this program.

"These proposals would benefit the people of this area who do not have social security protection, if the Board's proposals should become law,"

Mr. Shields said. "Businessmen have often expressed their desire for coverage similar to what their employees already have. The fact that the self-employed are not under social insurance hits the professional man, the small business man and the farmer, because corporation executives as employees, already have this protection.

"This desire for insurance that will provide a retirement income, or a family income in case the worker dies, extends also to farm people, domestic workers in private homes, employees of nonprofit organizations and public employees, none of whom are covered at present," Mr. Shields said.

Action on the Board's recommendation to protect the insurance rights of men and women in the armed forces would remove a cause of distress among the families of service people, Mr. Shields said.

"The hardest thing we have to do," he said, "is to tell the widow of a soldier or sailor that she and her child can't get benefits because her husband's protection lapsed while he was fighting for his country.

"Of course, not all the insurance rights of all the men and women in the service have lapsed, but their benefit rights dwindle steadily and disappear entirely if the period in the armed service exceeds the time worked in private industry or commerce. In several previous reports, the Board has made a similar recommendation."

Board Recommendations
The Board's recommendation to enlarge benefits to those now covered under the old-age and survivors insurance, Mr. Shields explained, are of two kinds. Changing the present benefit formula to raise benefits for lower paid workers is the first. Direct action to change the basis on which the "average monthly wage" is the second. "This latter recommendation would raise benefits generally," Mr. Shields explained. "Under this change only periods of fairly regular employment covered by the law will be used in figuring the average monthly wage, on which the amount of benefits largely depends. At present, periods of illness, unemployment, or work in noncovered jobs are figured in, with the result," Mr. Shields pointed out, "that a man who makes $100 a month when he is working on covered jobs, might have his average monthly wage cut to $50 a month if he were sick or if he worked in noncovered jobs half the time."

The recommendation to extend coverage to other types of employment would have the effect of raising benefit levels generally, since presently excluded wages could be counted to the worker's credit.

Local Industrialist May Start $1,000,000 Endowment Fund Drive

William J. Orchard of Maplewood, Belleville industrialist and chairman of the Community Mobilization Committee for Hudson, Union and Essex counties has succeeded E. Rowland Hill of East Orange as chairman of the board of directors of Orange Memorial hospital, a post that Mr. Hill has held for 11 years. The First National Bank announces that it will again provide assistance to Belleville residents in the preparation of their income tax returns. The bank has again been able to arrange for the services of Mr. Edwin Jennings, whose work last year drew many favorable comments.

It is emphasized that there is no charge of any kind. Mr. Jennings' fee is paid by the bank. All Belleville residents are welcome to the service. Of course, only a limited number can be accommodated and those who are able to prepare their own returns are urged to do so. Evening hours will be reserved for the returns of individuals whose income is derived from wages or salaries, interest, dividends, annuities, etc.

Taxpayers are asked to bring to the bank with them:

The First National inaugurated this service last year as an experiment when it attracted a great deal of attention.

T-SGT. J. BAKALIAN URGES BLOOD GIFTS

Returned Overseas Veteran Tells How Gifts of Donors Helped Save His Life

The normally unpleasant subject of blood has become a most popular talking point with T/Sgt. John R. Bakalian, the son of Mrs. Helen Bakalian of 40 Essex street, and one of the returned overseas fighters who, with a leg amputated, seem to have done more than their G. I. share. "We need yours," the veteran insists, "and I want to tell you just why it is so important. I feel keenly about the matter, for I wouldn't be here today if it were not for blood plasma. I got into a little personal tangle with the enemy, and you can figure out what happened."

The official record of Sgt. Bakalian's exploit came when he was presented with the Silver Star and a citation for "outstanding bravery above and beyond the call of duty."

Gets Silver Star

It all came out at Walter Reed hospital in Baltimore, when the Belleville non-com was ordered to report for a ceremony. A high ranking officer presented the sergeant with the Silver Star and read his citation.
"As the barbed wire in front of his left squad had not been destroyed," it said, "T/Sgt. Bakalian tramped it down himself, thus permitting the squad to move forward. Shrapnel from a bursting shell wounded him painfully in the head, but this did not stop the gallant soldier."

"We refused to be evacuated. After having his wound dressed he rejoined his platoon, which had advanced 500 yards. Here they were halted by a five-foot wall."

The official record states that Bakalian climbed the wall in the midst of machine-gun fire, and personally killed all enemy manning the machine gun.

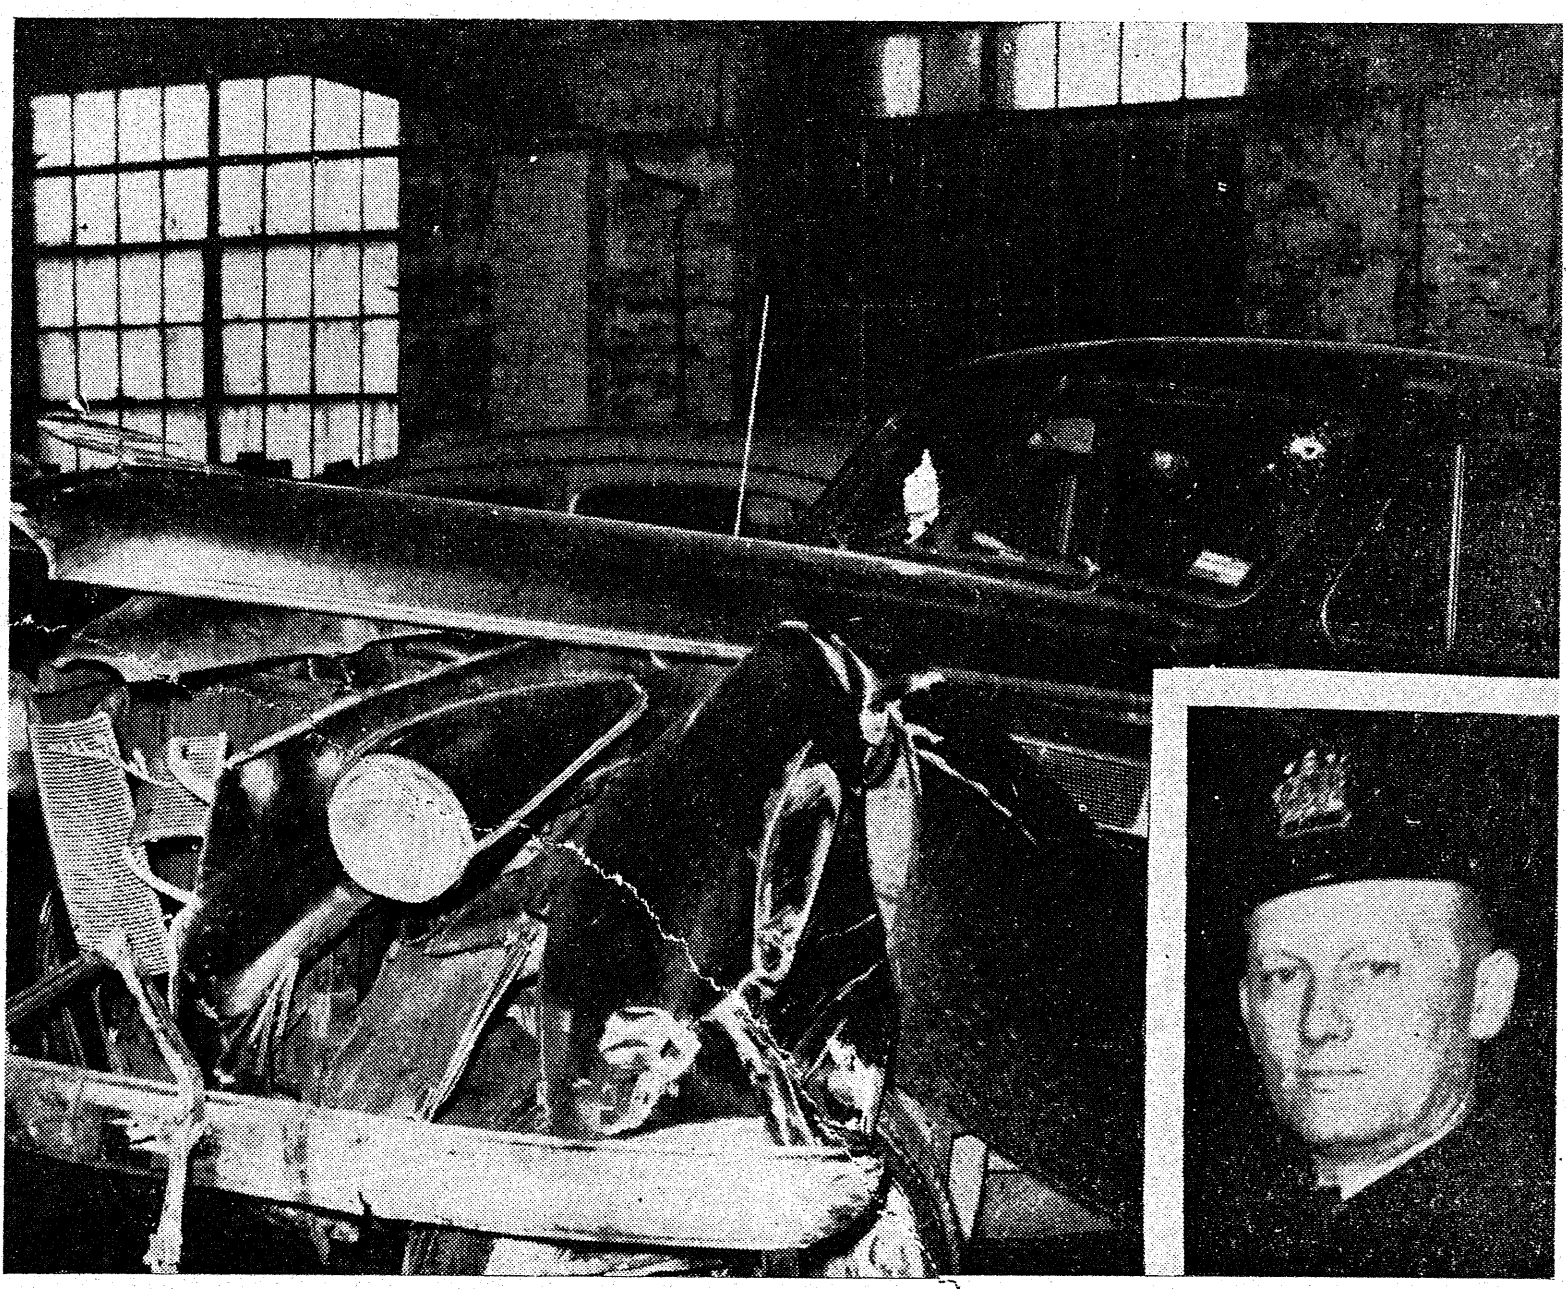

The "one-man army" from Belleville formerly was employed in the local Hall of Records, and afterwards by the American Chair and Cable company. At the end of his home furlough, he will report back to Forest Glen, Md., for reconditioning and rehabilitation adjunct to the Walter Reed hospital. His clinical chart indicates that he will be finally discharged in March and will then be able to place his several medals on family display.

Kidde Company to Charter Ship No. 303 for Sea Scouts

Group to Study Piloting Customs Of Coast Guard, Navy Under Veterans

The Walter Kidde company has been chartered as the sponsor of Sea Scout Ship No. 303. Although the Sea Scout Ship Walter Kidde is chartered in the town of Belleville, its membership is open to young men living in the entire vicinity.

Sea Scouting is one phase of the older boys' program under the Boy Scouts of America, and in its curriculum gives such things as seamanship, piloting, navigation, courtesy of the sea, and story and lore of ships. Although the Sea Scout organization is in no way connected with the armed services, the training received there has proven extremely valuable to men who have enlisted in, or been inducted into the Navy. The program is composed of socials, visits to Coast Guard Stations, and other places of interest during the winter months, and extensive preparation for summer cruises is given to the boys on a land-based ship, in which they study tides, currents, etc.

The Sea Scouts actually operate and maintain the boat but are supervised by trained officers. The summer season is spent in cruising the inland waterways and each cruise has as its highlight a visit to a Coast Guard Station or light-house, or some other point of interest.

The Walter Kidde sponsored ship has been assigned a 38-foot Coast Guard "picket boat." The boat passes all rules of safety set up by the Bureau of Navigation and the Skipper holds an operator's license issued by this bureau. The officers are experienced men who have had an average of ten years of service in the scouting organization. The Ship meets 7:30 Monday night in its land based headquarters at Eastwood-Nealley corporation of 28 Jorammon street.

The committee and officers of the S.S. Walter Kidde extend to all boys, particularly the sons of employees, an opportunity to join the ship, which is accomplished by attending one of its meetings. The basic requirements are that the boys be 15 years of age and have an interest in boating and lore of the sea. Incidental details as to costs, etc., are to be referred to the ship's skipper, Wally Jones, c/o Walter Kidde & company, 675 Main street.

Now a supervisor of coil assembly, impregnation and finishing department, Mr. Gross began his work at the Hawthorne Works, Chicago, as a member of the personnel organization. Since his transfer to the Kearny works, he has been engaged in the manufacture of sound instruments, audiophones, sound power and loud speaking telephone apparatus, and is also serving on the Labor Management War Production committee for the Bayonne plant.

EX-POLIO VICTIMS IN ARMED FORCES

Local Chairman Fred Handlon Recalls Their Courage to Spur Belleville Interest

Battling for freedom today, are men who had to win a tough personal battle in order to get into the big push against Nazis and Japs. These are former victims of infantile paralysis and their courage, forged on the rack of suffering in a life-or-death struggle with the crippling, doubtless helped condition them for their present day fight in a global war.

They are now veterans of Guadalcanal and other Pacific islands, crew members of Flying Fortresses in missions over many countries; they are with our two-ocean Navy, and they are numbered among the "G I Toes" grimly battling on all fronts.

Many letters from some of these boys are received by the Essex County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and among them is one boy from Belleville. The funds contributed here have been instrumental in aiding them back to health. Vividly recounting their experiences in the war, the boys invariably express the conviction that from their earlier battle with polio they acquired a reserve of courage and fortitude which many times have meant the difference between life and death under fire.

"I am more than gratified with the returns from the 'Dime Cards' we mailed this week," local chairman Fred B. Handlon said today. "Donations from a dime of $50 have been received as assurance that the people of Belleville know and realize the important work we are doing in our fight against polio. They are with us materially and in spirit. We have pledged ourselves quick and effective action against the dreaded cripple and are determined that no patient will be permitted to go without hospital care for any reason."

Mr. Handlon has asked those interested to send their contributions to him at police headquarters. All donations will be promptly acknowledged.

Terence McGuire of Newark Meets Death on Erie Tracks

A man who was identified through a bunch of keys as Terence McGuire, 68, a retired policeman of 2 Gould avenue, Newark, was struck Tuesday morning by an eastbound Erie train 500 feet east of the Belwood Park station. The train was stopped, but the man had been killed instantly. His body was removed to Manger's morgue.

One Man Held By Police and Other Is Now in Hospital

Climaxing a thrilling two-mile chase over the ice covered streets of Belleville's main thoroughfares early Tuesday evening, which ended when the bandit-piloted car crashed into a Belleville apartment house, two alleged bandits are in the hands of police, one of them being in St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, as a result of the accurate aim of Officer Harry Winfield of the local police force.

Held at police headquarters is Paul Ruggiero, 23, of 158 Broad street, Newark. The wounded man said to be Edward Sohlgren, 25, of Franklin street, Bloomfield, is being held at the hospital.

It all began when Patrolmen Dunn and Winfield, on the beat in a patrol car, dashed out of the south end of Radioing place where they were car they were by Police and Patrolman and Julian tenant car. In Miller store, tatters to hold was cars car.

tempted to block the car, with Nygard firing shots at the escaping car. In attempting to avoid the obstacle thus created the fleeing men swerved their car to the sidewalk and over a three or four foot snowbank into Belleville avenue, almost hitting Sergeant Flynn who had gotten out of his car in an effort to halt the fugitives. Officer Dunn then piloted the second police car over the embankment and sped after the bandit car as it travelled east in Belleville avenue. Motorcycle officer Ehmman joined the chase at this point on his motorcycle attracted to the scene by the noise of the shots.

Officer Harry Winfield, in charge of the record room at police headquarters, being off duty for the night, was waiting to ride home with a friend. Hearing the chase over the police radio and following its direction he learned that it was proceeding east on Belleville avenue and was approaching Washington avenue, rushed out of headquarters in time to see the bandit-driven car crash into the apartment house located at the southeast corner of Washington and Belleville avenues.

Men Flew From Car
Both men fled from the car, apparently unhurt, with Ruggiero running to the rear of a gas station at the street intersection where he was captured by Officers Fletcher and Dacey. Sohlgren alleged to be the driver of the bandit car, attempted to escape by running into the vacant lot at the northwest corner of Belleville and Washington avenues with Officers Winfield and Dacey following.

Winfield in attempting to stop the fleeing Sohlgren fired one shot into the air. When that failed to halt the escaping fugitive he fired a second shot which struck Sohlgren in the left shoulder, felling him. Miller's version of the attempted robbery is that he was in the store alone at the time, approximately 9:25 p.m., when two men came in and asked for "beer." Miller getting the beer was ordered into a rear room at the point of a gun. Miller complied but kept on going out of a rear entrance into Washington avenue shouting for help. Apparently heard by the bandits they immediately fled from the store and were making their "get-away" when observed by Police Officers Dunn and Booth. The chase and capture resulted.

Miller identified Ruggiero at police headquarters as the man who held the gun and who issued the orders while in the store, and identified Sohlgren at the hospital. The LaSalle car used was according to the police, reported stolen from a parking lot in Newark. It is owned by Henry S. Oppenheimer of 125 Tuscan road, Maplewood. The gun used in making the "stick-up" at the store was loaded with blanks.

Miss Clara Edna Trommel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruelof Trommel, of 563 Washington avenue, was the recent bride of Seaman 1/c John A. Barnish, USCG, the son of Mrs. Steven Soska of East Paterson, St. Mary's church Nutley.

Praise Public Works Dept.

From James L. Davidson 263 Jorammon Street To the Editor of The Times:

At this time, I think it is fitting to say a word in appreciation of the service of the Public Works department. During the recent snowstorm, Commissioner Waters and the members of his department did an immediate and efficient job in the removal of the snow from the streets of Belleville.

The new high school building, for which the contract has been awarded to a Newark firm, will cost $92,990.

A pilgrimage of Bellevillites is being arranged to Paterson to hear the Rev. Billy Sunday, the evangelist and ex-baseball player, and it is noted editorially by The Times that the churches are losing their hold on the people hereabouts.

Local children are warned of the dangers of crossing the ice now on the river, since two have fallen through within the week.

Thirty-five Years Ago

Police Chief Flynn has called attention to the fact that the town should do something about getting an ambulance, pointing out the prevalent and frequent delays in getting injured townsfolk from here to the Newark hospital.

Local fashion experts predict that skirts will be from three to six inches shorter in 1920.

Parent-Teacher Associations

The Country Store project of the P.T.A. of School No. 7, Joralemon street and Passaic avenue, has left the formative stage, and will blossom into business activity on Tuesday, February 6, between 8:30 and 4:30 and in the evening from 8:30 to 10. It will be open during the daytime only on the following day, from 8:30 to 4:30. All merchandise is being contributed, and the committee has prepared to take anything except personal wearing apparel and live stock. The non-animal rule was hastily passed when a lady attempted to present "Fluffie," otherwise a "perfectly ducky little kitten" on the theory that all country stores had cats in the windows.

Joralemon Street School

The parent-teacher forum on the future of education in America, which was postponed on January 23 because of a heavy snow storm, has been tentatively scheduled for the March meeting of the association. A Founder's day program will be held in February, according to the announcement of Mrs. Dwight N. Streeter, president.

Tickets are still available at the school for the play-at-home card party which will take place today. Parents or friends of the association who can arrange tables in their homes this afternoon will

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

Do you remember the hero of Moliere's comedy, "The Bourgeois Gentleman," who suddenly had it called to his attention that he had spoken prose all his life without knowing it? It brought a kind of start of surprise to us to discover that many of the stories, anecdotes and songs with which we had been brought up are now legitimately considered as part of our country's folklore.

You will find many of these familiar tales in B. A. Botkin's impressive volume, "A Treasury of American Folklore," which the Book-of-the-Month Club is sending to members as a book-dividend for January and February. It contains more than 500 stories and over 100 songs and ballads—those favorite stories Americans loved to tell around campfires and crackerbarrels, those old songs they loved to sing together at picnics and parties and hayrides.

Here is a wide assortment of legendary heroes, and of actual ones who have had legends built up about them: Jesse James who gave a widow money for the mortgage on her home and then stole the money back from the mortgage owner; Paul Bunyan, whose fantastic exploits were famous among the lumberjacks; Johnny Appleseed; Billy the Kid; Buffalo Bill; John Henry; Casey Jones; and a host of others.

Jingles and rhymes of childhood make up one section of this anthology, such as "Lazy folks work best, when the sun is in the west," and "Joe, Joe, broke his toe, Riding on a buffalo." Here is an example of how these chance jingles that appeal to children's ears come into being. A school boy, who is said to have lived in Enfield, Connecticut, one morning in class wrote something on a slip of paper and passed it around among his fellows. The teacher got hold of it. It read:

Three little mice ran up the stairs
To hear Miss Blodgett say her prayers.
She told him, "John, I give you five minutes to make another two lines. If you fail, I shall punish you." The boy scratched his head and in the allotted time produced:

When Miss Blodgett said "Amen,"
The three little mice ran down again.

Innumerable stories about famous collections and adventures of collectors are to be found in a comprehensive book by Douglas and Elizabeth Rigby, "Lock, Stock and Barrel." The range of objects which meet the collector's fancy is wide, but one of the most curious of the hobbies they describe is that of the Englishman who devoted himself to gathering spider webs—and preserving each one carefully between two slabs of glass.

Whose child is next?

Commission Delays Action On Factory Permit

No action was taken at Tuesday night's session of the Town Commission on the issuance of a permit to John Miele of Jersey City to rebuild a factory at 143-145 Heckel Street which it is planned to use as a laundry.

This lack of action on the part of the Commissioners followed the presentation to the Commission by Mrs. Lillian O. Harkins of Heckel Street, director of the Silver Lake Community House of a petition containing the signatures of 337 persons residing in the vicinity of the proposed factory.

The building in question was damaged by fire November 30th prior to which time it had been used as a rag cleaning and washing plant. Miele made application for a permit to rebuild and the protests followed. Monday of this week, it is reported, Miele applied to Supreme Court Justice Parker for a writ of mandamus to compel Belleville to issue a building permit. This application is scheduled to be heard on Saturday of this week.

Playing with Fire

Cutting out paper dolls and burning the scraps is harmless. But if sparks are drawn up the chimney a roof fire might result unless it is protected by a fire-resistant material, such as asphalt shingles.

No Parking Charges

Mayor Williams, police department head, last night told the Town Commission that he thinks it "wholly unfair" to assess motorists for parking when they are unable to get to the meters because of the amount of snow piled around them.

Town Attorney Keenan was asked by the Mayor to draft an amendment to the parking meter ordinance granting a certain degree of latitude to Police Chief Spatz in ordering that meter charges be suspended until snow is removed.

While solid fuels are not under coupon rationing, the Solid Fuels Administration for War has limited the amount of anthracite and Eastern coke that each consumer may purchase. Each buyer must file a consumer declaration before or accompanying his first order of the season. Only seven-eighths of the normal annual hard coal and coke requirements may be delivered during the coal year ending March 31, 1945, and any amounts up to the full seven-eighths may be delivered at any time. Declaration must be made to the regular dealer, who will supply the form and is obliged to accept the order. If you have no dealer and cannot find one, apply to any dealer for a consumer application blank so you may be assigned to a dealer.

Snow Removal Well Done

The basic test of civic competence comes with an emergency. When one occurs that the daily procedure of every man, woman and child in a community, those in authority have the opportunity to display their efficiency — or lack of it. I saw what happened during and last week's snowfall — the most burdensome for traffic in the past five years. Traffic went through. It was not only that of the normally passing motorists, but that also of men and women going to and from work, in Belleville and on the other side of the town, who were able to rush through in time to keep the assembly lines of war material going.

Motorists passing through Belleville, and stopping at street corners for their "riders," who work in the same shops as the drivers, had no difficulty. As they passed through, their riders darted from the street corners and hopped in. Assembly lines shortly rolled in normal fashion. The workers, men and women, were on time — and only because the Belleville highways were in fine transit condition.

Hugh Welsh, Deputy Director of Public Works, deserves personal credit. He had eight plows and 22 men on duty shortly after the storm assumed major proportions, and supervised their work until 3 a.m., returning three hours later for the rest of the coming day.

This was most significant. With a civic office functioning at high tempo, residents, store-keepers and their employees left their cars at the curbs. The plows necessarily encircled them, in many cases piling high banks against the machines, and after the snow had been adequately warned by a speaker patrol car to "get your cars off the curbs so that the plows can go through."

The Police and Fire Departments, entrusted with your safety, and the Department of Public Works, designated to facilitate town emergency conditions, properly ask all of us to remember this experience, if and when it comes again. When the next snowstorm starts, let's all get our cars off the main street!

Girl Scouts Forge Ahead

One group of Belleville young folks is anxious to solve its own problem of "what to do in our spare time" and "how to adopt a better pattern for living". These are the potential girl scouts who stand gazing over a barrier occasioned by lack of leadership at the busy pleasures of the ranks they would like to join.

Girl scout authorities here must be congratulated for the strides they have taken in the past two years toward the goal of an adequate scouting program. They have convinced the community that they need more financial assistance; and have obtained it. They have acknowledged the need of professional direction; and have supplied it. They have launched a summer camping program; and have successfully executed it.

That these hard won advantages should be denied any of the girls desiring to share them is unthinkable; especially in a time when many communities are finding it difficult to enroll their young people in such time-tested character builders as scouting organizations.

The barrier prevailing here can so easily be removed that it is to be hoped it will soon fall. Leaders to bridge the gap between the anxious girls and the program which a wise council has built up are an absolute essential. Anyone who assumes this leadership can take credit for stemming the tide of uneasiness and bad practices which taints the youth of so many communities.

Although troop sponsorship by the churches and civic groups here has been readily accorded and a good representation of leaders and troop committee members has been achieved more and more leaders are needed.

A desire to work with young girls from Brownies of six years to senior scouts of sixteen, is all that is asked of any leader. She need not be skilled in the arts; or talented in the arts; she will be required to formulate her own program. Beware of an audience of students.

These facts are brought out to dispel the timidity which may hold back many potential leaders. Likewise it has been cited that experience with children in the home does not necessarily indicate successful leadership; many women who are not mothers become leaders of the highest type.

A plea might be made to those who have not children of their own, or whose children are grown, that they divert their natural instincts for the guidance and leadership of the young to girl scouts.

A pleasant training program, requiring no outside preparation, will be extended to those who enroll as leaders. Thereafter a monthly meeting with the director and other leaders will give the newcomer ideas for her programs and an opportunity to discuss any problem her troop presents. Qualified instructors will guide her in the solution of all difficulties.

Scout headquarters is prepared to assume all troop responsibility, years of experience and testing of its methods all over the nation are back of the organization.

Thousands of girl scouts all over the country have served in the war emergency in hospitals, day nurseries, community centers and on farms; Belleville scouts have served the Red Cross, local hospital, defense council and other groups.

They are anxious to do more now and to fit themselves for the competent and gracious home and community life which future Belleville generations deserve. Will lack of your leadership deter them?

Housewives who are shuffling their blue and red OPA points in their effort to assemble adequate groceries for the household will be heartened to learn of the latest efforts of the Lions Club of Nutley-Belleville to secure some sort of equanimity with the War Price and Rationing Board. The Nutley-Belleville Lions even went to the extent of entertaining the members of the BellevilleNutley board at a local luncheon in the Wesley Methodist Church.

The members of the rationing board were probably in a quandary, and were possibly relieved by the fact that it was too late in the day for them to be shot at sunrise. Chastened by untoward remarks of indignant housewives who regarded them as another of the public menaces resulting from the war emergency, they came in full array of quizzical eyebrows. The visitors had been assured that the best rationable provender would be on the tables, and that the Lions' roar would be a matter of greeting, not the battle-axe environment, often current in the ration board offices.

The Lions purred contentedly, and left unasked questions to be answered by their guests. They pointed out that the third anniversary of the ration system deserved highly favorable comment. An OPA representative told of their difficulties, the reasons for them, and asked normal consideration for the federal requirements which they must impose.

It was a healthy "get-together." The initiative of the Lions in bringing the subject to focus was commendable, and the willingness of the rationing officials to give their side of the story to a representative audience showed a spirit which should reconcile us to pot roasts, or even macaroni, until the sirloins and porterhouses return to our table vocabulary.

Enough — Not Too Late!

The March of Dimes of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation is well under way, thanks to local workers, including the clergymen of all churches who on Sunday urged from the pulpit general contributions as well as the contributions in coin boxes which are available in most local stores and offices.

We all heard the epitome of a national failure when it was reported that our munitions and other military aid were "too little and too late." A chagrined nation, once it understood the situation, remedied the failure.

Now we have an appeal from the President of the United States, not only as such, but also as Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a citizen once afflicted with the dread disease of infantile paralysis. Proof of the curative treatment undergone came when he was able to assume the highest office of the nation.

Several civic organizations have already co-operated by soliciting funds with boxes throughout the town, and store-keepers have universally co-operated. This drive, with its vast appeal to human sympathy, should be an "all-out." Little individual denial will come with the slipping in of a dime, and there will be a definite feeling of personal satisfaction when one digs into the pocket or purse whenever a collection box is encountered. There will also be the assurance of a job well done when one who has given spare change (it needn't be only a dime) goes home or to the office and writes out a check for the campaign director, Fred B. Handlon, and sends a check to him, payable to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, to Belleville Police Headquarters. This is a MUST for every one of us.

Half of Season's Fuel Should Still be Unused

OPA Director Urges Economy And Warns that Violations Add to Menace of Inflation

With the heating season just over the midway mark, District OPA Director, Richard J. Tarrant today advised fuel oil consumers they should not have burned more than 51 percent of the year's ration.

Disclosing that fuel oil dealers had reported demands by some consumers for deliveries of oil against ration coupons not yet valid, Tarrant emphasized that dealers are not permitted to do this, that they are liable to severe penalties for such "pre-delivery" of fuel oil.

"With the fuel oil supply situation at its most critical phase since the war began," Tarrant pointed out, "it is more than ever before necessary for consumers to budget their period allotments so that they last through the period."

Reviewing the year's achievements in price control, Tarrant reported that approximately 7,500 consumer complaints of price violations were received by North Jersey's War Price and Rationing Boards during 1944, and that these formed the basis for 8,500 Price Panel conferences with individual retailers. One of the end results of these complaints and conferences, according to Tarrant, was

than can be carried on by a few "experts" sitting in OPA offices — it's the people's fight to hold down their cost of living during the greatest war in history, so that their standard of living now and after the war will be maintained. In this crucial year of the war, it becomes particularly important that every one of us — the OPA, the consumer, and the dealer — fight hard together towards victory over inflation."

From Family of E. L. Brown

To the Editor of The Times:
We wish to express our appreciation to the Fire and Police Departments for their services, and to the Town of Belleville for use of its ambulance in transporting Mr. Brown to the hospital during the recent storm.

From Herb Henderson
326 Washington Ave.
To the Editor of The Times:
Last Wednesday, January 17, the Olympic Bicycle Roller club summoned as many of its members as possible together at Belleville's No. 8 School. At one o'clock the rollers were set up and the first graders came in to see the exhibition.

Since the racing is rather difficult to follow at times the performance was limited to practical hints as to riding a bicycle safely. The children promptly answered "NO" when Ed Littig rode "no hands" on the rollers and asked the children if he was doing it right.

For the Needs of War

Western Electric—peacetime manufacturer for the Bell Telephone System—last year supplied to the Government over $750,000,000 worth of communications and other electrical equipment for war use. This single year's total was nearly twenty-four times Western's entire sales to our Government in World War I.

The chart above shows the major war items being manufactured by the Western Electric Company. Note that almost half of them are devices still designated as secret.

The huge peacetime job of making and installing telephone equipment to meet backed-up demands for service here at home must await victory overseas. You can depend upon telephone workers in laboratories, factory and field to apply all of their knowledge and skill to furnishing service as soon as possible to those who are waiting.

Tweed Tells Kidde Workers How He Foiled Japs on Guam

Navy Radio Electrician Hid in Rock Crevise After Poe Tortured, Killed His Comrades — Mirror Flashes Brought Rescue by Destroyers

Radio Electrician George Tweed, USN, known throughout the Service as the "hero of Guam," held the close attention of the workers of Walter Kidde & Company Thursday as he told of his 31 months spent as fugitive from Jap searchers on the Island of Guam. A 50-man patrol, in fact, wasted 30,000 man hours in their thwarted efforts.

"I was ordered to Guam as radio man on August 1, 1939," related the 42-year-old officer, "and our holding group of Marines was first bombed on the day of the Pearl Harbor Attack. On the third day, the Japs surrounded the island and landed. We fought until our ammunition was exhausted three days later, and our authorities advised us by radio to 'take to the bush' if we preferred those tactics to surrender."

About 100 Americans went into the dense jungle growth, Mr. Tweed related, but the majority gave up as time went on and were shipped to Jap prison camps. "There were eventually six of us left," the Navy man related. "After nine months, three were caught, and forced to dig their own graves before they were decapitated. Not long afterwards, two more fell into their hands and were killed, and I was alone left of the cadre of 50. From that time until my rescue, I was just one jump ahead of the searchers."

The help of the natives alone enabled the American to survive at liberty. They were Chamorroes, who populate the entire Marianas group, and while the majority are of various shades of brown, many had the appearance of any other Americans. Under the American flag since 1898, all spoke English and had gone to American schools. There was nothing primitive about them; they had sewing machines, electric refrigerators and the other normal equipment of a mainland home.

Lives in Crevise

"At the end of ten months," Tweed continued, "I moved, at their advice, into a crevice in a cliff overlooking the sea. They brought food to me once a week without interruption. When I heard that some entire families had been killed after torture because of refusal to reveal to their captors my hiding-place, I decided to go in and surrender, but they would not let me do it."

When plans of our air force started bombing the island in earnest, Tweed realized that help shortly would be at hand, but he now had the double hazard of
