

MIELE FIGHT FOR PERMIT WILL GO BACK TO COURT

Board Adopts Amendment to Zone Law Prohibiting Rag Firm as Tenant

John Miele's fight to rebuild his fire-gutted building on Heckel street to rehouse the Quality Products company will be taken back to the Supreme court.

This was indicated by his attorney, Thomas Doyle of Jersey City, Tuesday night, when the board of commissioners adopted the amendment to the zoning law which prohibits various industries, including the rag cleaning firm, from occupancy in an industrial zone.

A permit to build and a certificate of occupancy had previously been denied by the building inspector. However, Supreme Court Justice Parker has issued a writ of mandamus, directing him to take action either for or against issuing the permit. It is expected that now, Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan, representing the building inspector, will make a return to the Chief Justice, saying that it has been and is still being denied. The writ of mandamus was delivered by the Chief Justice after arguments in the case had been presented in Supreme court through Miele's attorney.

Speaking at the pre-commission conference, Doyle requested the board not to adopt the amendment to the zoning law if their intent was to defeat his client by refusing to issue a permit and certificate of occupancy.

Cites Zone Act
He cited the zoning act of 1928 which states, "any non-conforming use or structure existing at the time of passage of an ordinance may be continued upon the lot or in the building so occupied and any such structure may be repaired or replaced in the event of partial destruction thereof."

Liquor Store Bandit Sentenced To Rahway Reformatory

Edward Sohlberg of Bloomfield, one of the two Washington Liquor store bandits who precipitated a two mile police chase on Tuesday night, was sentenced today in Newark court to Rahway reformatory for an indefinite stay. He was sentenced on a stolen car charge. The car in which the two tried their getaway was stolen from a Newark parking lot.

Sohlberg was wounded in the shoulder with a shot fired by Officer Harry Winfield after the car crashed into an apartment house at Washington and Belleville avenues, and when he was trying to escape, found a vacant lot. The pair involved others in their confessions and they were later charged with robberies amounting to several thousand dollars which they committed in Newark and surrounding towns.

Town Employee Bonus Limited To 20% of Salary, by Law

Wage adjustments and possible extension of bonus for all town employees within the limit set for bonuses under state law, are expected to be completed by the board of commissioners when it meets for the budget hearing which has been adjourned until 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening. Any bonus given now, in addition to the one established last year, may not aggregate more than 20 percent of an employee's salary, Mayor Williams said yesterday. This would mean adjustments in many cases, he said, and would eliminate a blanket bonus to all.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TO GET PUMPER

Provide for Purchase of 750 Gal. Pumper Through Bond Anticipation Notes

Approval for the purchase of a 750 gallon pumper for the fire department at a total cost of $9,300 was given by the board of commissioners on Tuesday night, when they passed on first reading, an ordinance providing for the issuance of $7,000 bond anticipation notes. A $2,500 down payment has been provided out of the Capital Improvement fund. Public hearing will be held on Monday night, March 12.

The pumper will replace the seventeen year old pumper now stationed at the William Street firehouse, according to Fire Chief Robert Reid. Disposition of the old pumper which cost $12,500 was not yet decided, the Chief said, since government regulations prohibit more than a $100 trade-in on equipment over ten years old.

It may be kept as an auxiliary to the four department will have with the purchase of the new 750 gallon pumper. It is expected that delivery will take four or five months after the purchase. The make has not yet been decided upon, according to the Chief, who pointed out that it is not necessary for fire apparatus to be purchased through open bids, according to court ruling.

Sees Desolation of France As He Awaits Front Action

M-Sgt. William Duncan Says Four Horsemen Rode, With Death, Destruction

A picture of the desolation that France and the thoughts of an older awaiting assignment at the front when he says, "War has passed this way—the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse rode through, spreading death, famine, disease and destruction. This is not the way one would expect to find France—it looks like the dead took possession!"

"As if a decadent civilization was voicing its last before disappearing completely. France will rise again, but don't fool yourself that it will be in a couple of years. There is too much destruction and deprivation of humanity for rapid comeback. The manpower of France has been severely crippled or destroyed. Time will be the necessary need of France here on in, before she takes her place once more among the powers of the earth."

"The closer we advance to the front lines the more acute will become the conditions and more pronounced will become the effects of the military onslaught. There is nothing new about war—a person has to have a peculiar and definite twist in his nature to feel so inclined toward a military phase of life—it is a means of destruction—wholesale murder, legalized."

Ordinances Adopted
Ordinances passed on second and third reading at the commission meeting on Tuesday night included a raise in chauffeurs' pay to $1.00 an hour and suspension of fines for use of parking meters when they are inaccessible because of snow drifts.

MIDNIGHT CURFEW ON AMUSEMENTS NOW IN EFFECT

Measure Designed to Conserve Fuel, Manpower; ABC Rules in Force

Belleville clubs, ice cream parlors, candy stores and the theatre are observing the midnight curfew request of War Mobilization Director Byrnes. Taverns begin enforcement tonight in accordance with ABC Commissioner Alfred E. Driscoll's ruling.

The Byrnes request has been made necessary to conserve fuel, help alleviate the manpower situation and ease the burdens on transportation facilities.

The ruling covers organizations maintaining clubhouses, night clubs, sport arenas, bars, dance halls and poolrooms. Restaurants are not affected so far as serving food is concerned.

The WMC rule states that all places of this character must be closed between 12 midnight and 7 a.m., while ABC Director Alfred E. Driscoll has stated that the operator and one helper may remain in liquor-dispensing establishments after the curfew, for cleaning up purposes. Police Chief Spatz was attending a WMC meeting in Newark yesterday afternoon to ascertain which directive the local police would follow in their enforcement. Violators can receive suspension or revocation of their license.

Driscoll has also suggested to all New Jersey municipalities that they refrain from the "costly adoption of municipal ordinances implementing the Federal policy," at least during an experimental period, since it may be modified.

He also warned that those who seek to take advantage of the situation by operating speakeasies will be subject to arrest by municipal and state police and State Alcohol Beverage Control and Federal Agents. State and Federal indictments will be sought, he said, and in every instance, severe jail sentences will be asked.

Package stores and the sale of package goods will continue to be governed by state regulations prohibiting the sale of package goods after 10 p.m. and before 9 a.m. on week days, and all day on Sundays.

Commission Meets March 12
The next regular meeting of the board of commissioners will be held Monday evening, March 12.

Frustrated No Longer, Glynn Puts Both Talents to Work

Obstetrician and Swing Master Does a Job on Young "Howler" in Alsace

A frustrated obstetrician with a yen for hot clarinets satisfied his soul recently, during an Alsacian dawn when Capt. S. Robert Glynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Glynn of 12 Overlook avenue, a battalion surgeon, delivered a baby boy and then silenced his howls by swinging into the strains of "I Got Rhythm" on his well-known "licoric stick."

"The Bob Glynn Way"
Glynn who was interning at Beth Israel hospital, Newark, in obstetrics when he entered the service was also known up Durham, N. H. way as the swing master who advised, "Swing while you away in the Bob Glynn way."

His unprecedented opportunity to put both talents to use arrived not long ago when he was routed out of his slumbers in a blizzard of dawn to lend a hand at a home across the street.

His ministrations in both departments met with such success that grandma rolled out the schmapps before breakfast and with the prerogative of age, perhaps, declared that the young howler would be known as S. Robert Nicholas, a decision which necessitated, of course, appropriate and traditional toasts.

It is now rumored that the M. D. can become Mayor of the little town whenever he has the inclination and the time and that the ratings are being amply supplemented by admiring townspeople who have developed the habit of dropping around with pastries and vegetables, a practice which it is unnecessary to say, is appreciated.

Receives Purple Heart
Glynn was awarded the Purple Heart last October for injuries received at Alsace while he was digging a shelter under enemy fire. Overseas for a year, he was in North Africa, took part in the invasion of Anzio and was in Italy before coming to Alsace.

Douglas Clark, general chairman, said this week that he is confident Bellevillites, with about 3,009 in service, will not fail in their obligation to the men and women in the armed forces. He pointed out that the quota can be met with an average of contribution of $1.50 per person, enough when the far-flung services this affords, are considered.

'45 LICENSE TAGS ON SALE TODAY

Motor Vehicle Agent Urges Early Renewals; Hours 9 to 6 Daily

With the issuance of 1945 motor vehicle license plates and drivers' licenses beginning today, Motor Vehicle Agent William Abramson urges car owners to obtain them as soon as possible, at the agency office, 500 Washington avenue.

Plates and licenses will be issued from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily except Sunday, from now until and including April 4. Although the 1945 registration year does not begin until April 1, plates obtained any time during the month of March can be displayed immediately. Like last year, there will be but one plate issued, the same straw color but with blue numerals, which will be placed on the rear of the vehicle.

Abramson said that approximately 7,500 plates were issued from his agency last year and that since Belleville is located in a dense area, this number will probably not show much of a drop in spite of the growing mortality of cars.

Four extra people will be employed to handle the traffic, and a number of plates have already been reserved, the Motor Vehicle agent stated.

AT OPENING OF R.C. REC CENTER

Pvt. Stellato Praises Club Set Up for Leathernecks In South Pacific

Thousands of GI Leathernecks found it hard to believe their luck, as doors swung wide at the formal opening of a new recreation center devoted exclusively to their comfort and pleasure.

This transient center club erected by the Marines, staffed by the American Red Cross, and jointly furnished by the two organizations, "has everything" and is "hot good to be true," according to Pvt. Louis Stellato of 54 Carmel street, who enthusiastically endorsed its opening "somewhere in the Pacific."

Largest and most elaborate in the entire Pacific Ocean area, the club is more than ample for dances and special entertainments. It boasts in addition, many features including separate rooms for classical music, art, and crafts, sewing and ironing, photographic developing, games, a library and a reading and writing lounge.

It is expected that similar recreation centers will continue to spring up in forward areas, in keeping with the Red Cross policy already firmly established in the South Pacific. It is typical of the Red Cross service to the armed forces overseas.

Pvt. Stellato's family reports that he is still overseas and is well. The home better points this item out as another example of the far-flung service afforded by the American Red Cross which begins its 1945 War Fund drive today.

FOOD DIFFICULTIES IN FRANCE

Sgt. Cafone Tells of Bagging Chickens, Cow, After Seizing Town

Recently promoted to the rank of sergeant and wearer of the Purple Heart, Michael Cafone,

Sgt. Michael Cafone son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cafone of 64 Greylock parkway recently wrote from France, during a lull in maneuvers, saying that he is now a squad commander.

"These Krauts have felt our sting quite a few times," he wrote. "We are having a little rest now and the boys deserve it. There is over ten gallons of wine on the table and we can't even seem to drink it. After we take these towns, there is plenty to eat and drink."

"After a while you even get tired of chicken. Now and then I bag a chicken or rabbit with my rifle. A few towns back I got a cow and the whole company had steaks and all kinds of meat. I guess food is the main thing after you finish looking after your hide."

The sergeant was inducted as a non-combatant in 1942 and was stationed at Fort Devans, Mass. as an M.P., guarding German prisoners of war. He was there for a year and during that time, his wife, the former Violet Gentile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Gentile of Roosevelt avenue, was with him.

He asked for overseas duty, however, and after three months training at Breckinridge, Ky., went to England before being sent to France. He was employed by Resistoflex corporation before entering service.

Bronze Star for Six Days at Observation Post

Cpl. Robert Fitzgerald Cited For Maintaining Position Under Enemy Fire

A six day maintenance of an observation and listening post sometimes under direct enemy fire, has earned a Bronze Star for Cpl. Robert Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzgerald of 2 Smallwood avenue.

With the Seventh Army in France, the corporal has been overseas since April, 1943 and has participated in the North African, Salerno, Sicilian, Cassino and Italian campaigns. His citation reads:

"... for heroic achievement in combat from 4 to 10 October 1944 in France. Cpl. Fitzgerald, a member of an artillery liaison detail, was assigned the mission of establishing an observation post and listening post. Careful reconnaissance indicated that the most suitable spot was located beyond the infantry outposts and beyond a friendly mine field.

"Fully aware of the hazards involved, Cpl. Fitzgerald fearlessly assisted in establishing the observation post in that dangerous position. For six days he maintained the post, adjusting effective artillery fire on hostile positions and reporting enemy activity to the commanding officer.

"Although the area was subjected to direct fire from hostile artillery during the last two days, Cpl. Fitzgerald remained steadfast in position and, by his skill and daring enabled the friendly artillery to destroy an enemy observation post, shatter communications, neutralize an artillery battery and render close support to the friendly infantry elements."

A graduate of Belleville High school, he was employed by a roofing and siding company in Newark before entering service on March 19, 1942. He trained at Camp Blanding, Fla. and Camp Edwards, Mass. Twenty-five years old, he is married to the former Miss Jane Lukowiak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lukowiak of 215 Franklin avenue. They have a twenty-two 300 MILLION GOVERNMENT CHECKS...

That's the enormous total of wartime check payments by the Government to families of those in armed services, Social Security beneficiaries, and others who render service or supply goods to the nation. This flood of checks has attracted crooks and forgers, just as honey attracts bees. And they have been reaping a lucrative, though vicious, harvest.

Warning If you receive Government checks, observe these precautions for your own safety. They are recommended by the United States Secret Service, Treasury Department:

- 1 - MAIL BOX. Crooks generally steal checks from mail boxes. Be sure yours is strong, lock it securely, mark it plainly with your name. Try to be home when checks are due to arrive. Have the postman signal you when he delivers mail from the Government.
- 2 - ENDORSING. Don't endorse until you are at the place where check is to be deposited or cashed. Safeguard checks at all times.
- 3 - CASH IT in the same place each month so your identity may be established.
- 4 - IF CHECK FAILS TO ARRIVE when due, notify proper Government department. Also inform them, as well as the post office, of change in your address.

A Sensible Safeguard is to have a checking account and deposit all checks you receive in it. You can pay bills by bank checks, eliminating the need of carrying cash, and you can ask no one to cash your Government checks for you.

SUPPLIES G.I.'S PORTERHOUSE

Sgt. Carl Wagner Supervises Boning Process for Beef to Save Cargo Space

Doing his part to supply G.I. stomachs overseas with juicy porterhouse steaks and other types of beef, is Sgt. Carl S. Wagner of 17 Archer street, supervisor in the largest beef boning plant in the East, Ben Grunstein and Sons in Hoboken.

Formerly meat inspector for the Department of Agriculture for fifteen years, Wagner who is attached to the Army Veterinary Corps of the Jersey City Veterinary detachment, says that in the past ten months, the production has been stepped up from 41,000 to between 400,000 and 500,000 pounds a week. After plant expansion, it is estimated that the weekly output will reach two million pounds, he said.

Boning saves 40 percent on cargo space, so that one and one-half times the quantity of boned meat can be placed in a cargo carrier. After it is packed, the beef is placed in freezing rooms at approximately 15 degrees below zero, for 96 hours, then stacked ready for shipment. It is subject throughout the process to inspection by members of the Army Veterinary Corps and officials of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture.

In Three Classes

Uniformity in type and grade of meat is assured with the choicer cuts intended for roasting and frying separated from those for stewing and boiling, while hamburger makes up the third class. The meat thus packaged is turned over to the Quartermaster Market centers for distribution abroad.

Civilians will continue to pay for the bones they receive in their meat until after the war, Wagner said, when it is expected that boning will be instituted for general use because of the advantages of economy, uniformity and ease of handling.

In service for three years, the staff sergeant has been supervising the boning process at the Hoboken plant for the past nine months. He trained at Fort Totten and was stationed in Jersey City until his present assignment. He has been a resident of Belleville for ten years.

SHRAPNEL WOUND AT BASTOGNE

Sgt. Ettore Cordaso Recovering From Shell Injury In England

Word that their son Sgt. Ettore V. Cordaso, 22, is recovering in a hospital in England from shrapnel wounds received at Bastogne in Belgium, has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cordaso of 270 Belleville avenue.

In a letter this week, the sergeant told his family that he is "all right" and not to worry since he hopes to be well soon. The extent of his injuries is not known.

He entered the service in November, 1943, and trained at Camp Polk, La., Camp Cook, Texas, and left for overseas from Los Angeles, Calif., in September of last year. He went to England and France before moving into Belgium, as a member of a tank battalion.

The family lived in Newark and Bloomfield before coming here a year ago. Cordaso attended Barringer High school in Newark and Scion hall college. Before entering service he was employed by Walter Kidde and company in town.

However, baseball is his principal interest and he made the Newark "all-city" team as shortstop in 1938 and was captain of the Barringer nine the following year. He tried out for the Bears and was a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In 1940 he promoted a game between a team composed of Barringer players against the "House of David" association, the "House of David" team. It was held in City Stadium, Newark. He has one brother, Joseph, who has received an honorable discharge from the service after action overseas.

EDWARD REILLY AT W&T 25 YEARS

Honored With Luncheon Given
By His Associates on Anniversary

Edward J. Reilly, engineer in charge of special projects at Wallace and Tiernan Co. Inc., was honored by his associates at a luncheon on February 22 at the plant's private dining room, on completion of twenty-five years of service with the organization.

Mr. Reilly attended Cornell University and was employed by the City of Ithaca, N. Y. at their water purification plant, prior to his enlistment in the Engineer Corps, World War I. With the A.E.F. in France for almost two years, he was responsible for the operation of mobile water purification units, a Wallace and Tiernan Army development of note.

Following his discharge from the service, he joined Wallace and Tiernan company on February 22, 1920. Two of his early assignments sent him to South America, where he supervised the installation of large water plants in Dutch and French Guiana. Subsequently, he spent some time in Minneapolis, St. Louis and Chicago in connection with development work in the Acene-Process.

Another W&T achievement—for the maturing of flour.

Upon his return to the Newark office in 1925, he was appointed manager of the order department and later, manager of the service department and then placed in charge of emergency and special assignments.

Since the beginning of World War II, Mr. Reilly has been working almost entirely on production of special water purification equipment developed for the armed services. In connection with this work he has been in charge of various local W&T plants, and in 1944 was placed in charge of the company's new plant at Middletown, New York.

Mr. Reilly served as president of the Belleville Glee club and also as president of the W&T Glee club, and took part in the musical entertainment at many of the large conventions held by the water works industry in various parts of the country.

The luncheon was sponsored by the W&T Diamond club, composed of employees who have ten years or more service with the W&T industries. He received a gift to commemorate the occasion.

"Battle Baby"

2nd Lieut. Edward W. Mead

One of the "battle babies" of the 99th division of the First Army on the Western front, 2nd Lieut. Edward W. Mead received his promotion to the rank of second lieutenant on the field of battle, it was learned this week.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph J. Mazza of 242 Washington avenue, he received his baptism under fire in the northern corner of the Ardennes salient when the 99th fought off four German divisions for five days and nights at the start of the Nazi offensive.

It was this division that captured Marshal von Rundstedt's order to his troops to strike a decisive blow—a tip-off to the Allies that it was to be a full-scale enemy push. The 99th experienced some of the bitterest fighting of the entire German onslaught in their delaying action which entailed five days of round the clock fighting. They faced a heavy wave of German assault forces at the beginning of the Ardennes drive when two Panzer and two Volksgrenadier divisions, reinforced by tanks, hit it on December 17 in the vicinity of Hollerath.

Lieut. Mead enlisted in the service six years ago, and was employed at the Capital theatre prior to entering the Army. His wife and daughter Patricia are now residing in Santa Rosa, Calif.

Pfc. Atkins had sent it to his sister with the caution that he did not want his parents to be worried and would explain it when he got home. He is with the medical corps of the Third Army's Sixth Armored division. The citation read in part:

"During two days of enemy engagement he performed many feats of personal heroism to save wounded soldiers from burning vehicles and blasted terrain. On several occasions only his cool courage and devotion to duty were responsible for saving the lives of seriously wounded men.

"By skillful efficiency in handling casualties and voluntary entering of areas swept by enemy fire he proved himself a credit to the medical corps."

The New Jersey has been awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters for "meritorious achievement" during those missions, flown in the war's toughest air theatre.

He is a member of the 388th Bombardment group, a unit of the Third Air division, the division cited by the president for its shuttle mission to Africa when Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg were bombed.

NUISANCE VALUE FOR THE ENEMY

Pvt. Henry Krafft Provides With Mine-Laying And Kindred Activities

Want to know what Pvt. Henry J. Krafft of 142 Union avenue is doing? A recent release from the 6th Army Group in France where he is a member of an Engineer Combat battalion of the 44th Anti-aircraft Artillery brigade, says that his outfit is gaining a reputation as "the doughboys' right hand."

In its present positions in the French Alps, the men of the battalion are fighting the bitter weather with a fortitude that is comparable to their ability as combat engineers.

Through some of the most difficult fighting terrain in the world — twisting mountain trails, snowcovered ridges, and innumerable points that are "naturals" for enemy ambushes — these Combat Engineers have cleared minefields, constructed by-passes, repaired roads and constructed bridges to facilitate troop movements.

At the same time, guarding against any possible German counter-attacks, mines are laid, barbed-wire entanglements are stretched along strategic places, and bridges and roads are prepared for demolition.

Commanded by Maj. Willard White of Texas, the battalion is a comparative newcomer to the battlefields of Europe. However, intense training in all types of bridge building, assault boat crossings, and infantry tactics have given it a foundation for coping with almost any kind of enemy action.

LUHRS BROTHERS ARE FAR APART

Frank Busy in French Alps While George Is In Alaskan Area

Two brothers made the news this week, one for his work in clearing supply routes through the French Alps and the other, for his promotion in rank "somewhere in the Alaskan area." They are Cpl. Frank and Sgt. George Luhrs respectively, sons of Herman Luhrs of 149 Little street.

Twisting mountain roads, high altitudes and freezing weather in the French Alps along the Franco-Italian front are the chief reasons why Cpl. Frank Luhrs, member of an Ordnance company of the 4th AAA Brigade is working "round the clock." Supply routes through these mountains are giving the hardy army trucks more than the normal amount of wear and tear, necessitating repair jobs, changing of motors, and general overhauling service. Besides vehicular repairs, the company maintains centrally located shops for small arms, artillery pieces and precision instruments that become defective through climatic conditions or enemy action.

Mobile Teams

This Ordnance company, part of Lieut. Gen. Jacob L. Deven's hard-hitting 6th Army Group, has mobile teams of mechanics who are often called to the source of the trouble. Making the rounds of snow-packed gun emplacements high in the Alps, these fast-moving crews repair artillery and other weapons on the spot.

WAC Surgical Technician

MEMBER OF THE WOMAN'S ARMY corps carefully examines surgical instruments prior to an operation by an Army surgeon upon a soldier patient at Valley Forge General hospital, Pa. Women qualified for training as medical and surgical technicians as well as for clerical posts in the Army general hospitals are urgently needed for the newly created Women's Army corps hospital units. Those interested may write to The Adjutant General, U. S. Army, Washington 25, D. C., or visit any U. S. Army Recruiting office.

a maximum of fire-power is an old story for this veteran outfit. Serving the 3rd (Marine) Division, the Ordnance company helped put its machines and guns in top functioning order for four amphibious operations: North Africa, Sicily, Italy and Southern France. In the Southern France invasion, 27 officers and men of the company made the invasion with airborne troops as an emergency repair team.

George Luhrs, has been promoted to the grade of Sergeant, according to a recent announcement by the Army Airways Communications System of which he is a member.

Sgt. Luhrs is on duty as an AACS Airways radio operator somewhere in the Alaskan area where he maintains radio contact with military aircraft in flight. In this capacity he handles position reports, arrival and departure notices, and furnishes pilots with countless details and information necessary to make military flying safe and efficient.

Sgt. Luhrs must know radio telephone procedure as well as radio-telegraphy to carry on at a job that demands intense concentration, split-second thinking, and sound judgment, since it is his responsibility to see that aircraft operate on schedule over the airways.

As part of the Army Airways Communications system which furnishes such control both in this country and in foreign areas, he is making a real contribution to the war effort.

Before entering the service, Sgt. Luhrs was an inspector of airplane parts.

A Major Now

Major Edward J. Dougherty

Promotion of Edward J. Dougherty of Belleville from captain to major was recently announced at 96th Division headquarters in the Philippines.

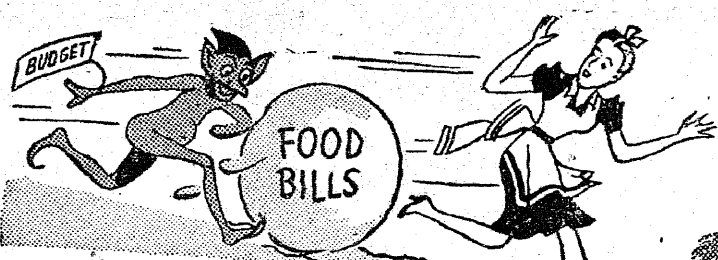

As a signal officer in the 96th, Maj. Dougherty participated in the liberation of the island of Leyte.

In the Pacific area since last July, he also holds the Bronze Star and Oak Leaf cluster award for his aid to wounded on the field of battle, under fire.

Twenty-seven years old, the Major enlisted in March, 1941 and went to Officer's Candidate School at Fort Monmouth. He became a lieutenant in the following year and trained at various camps in Washington, Oregon, Texas and California.

He is from Arlington and was employed by the New Jersey Bell Telephone company in its Newark office before entering service. His wife, the former Miss Evelyn Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Armstrong of 20 Lavergne avenue where she is making her home.

Corporals See Plenty With 19th Combat Engineers

John Maguire, Pasquale Corino With Outfit Commended By Bradley and Patton

Cpl. John J. Maguire, assistant squad leader and Cpl. Pasquale G. Corino, clerk, are both members of the 19th Combat Engineers regiment that has seen 550 days of combat in the Mediterranean theatre, maintaining roads, bridges and trails for the Fifth Army in rugged mountain terrain before the Po Valley in Italy.

The 19th has maintained or rebuilt more than 4,000 miles of road and built or repaired more than 200 bridges in the Italian campaign and has seen action at Casserine Pass, Tunisia, and Cassino, Italy.

The engineers took up defensive positions against a possible Japanese invasion of California early in the war when a Japanese submarine shelled Santa Barbara. While serving in support of a Ranger battalion in the Tunisian campaign, the 19th Engineers removed more than 15,000 mines from a single minefield at Sened. Cpl. Maguire, 42, the son of Hugh Maguire of 199 Belleville avenue, had served his hitch in the regular army and had been released for a year before being recalled to duty in February, 1941. He trained at Fort Slocum, N. Y. and in South Carolina before going abroad in 1942. With the 19th from the beginning, he has seen action in North Africa, the Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

Cpl. Corino, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Corino of 32 King street, entered the army on June 18, 1943, two days after his graduation from Belleville High school. He trained at Fort Belvoir, Va., before going overseas in November, 1943. It is believed that he joined the 19th in Italy, after a brief time in North Africa.

Overseas in '42

The 19th sailed overseas in August, 1942, and landed on African D-Day, November 8, 1942, at Arzew, Northern Algeria. They went up to secure the left flank of the 1st Infantry division. The regiment entered the Tunisian campaign in January, 1943. In Casserine Pass, the engineers held the right flank for 72 hours, harassing German armor columns with fire of 37-millimeter anti-tank guns and small arms, while American troops withdrew. They again provided cover for the withdrawal at Gafsa. They supported the 1st and 34th Infantry divisions and the 1st Armored division in the concluding phase of the African campaign.

The 19th again was in the vanguard as the Seventh Army invaded Sicily, built the first American airfield there, cleared the beaches for incoming supplies and supported the 9th and 45th Infantry divisions and the 1st Armored division in the rapid advance to the Messina straits.

In Cassino Push

The outfit entered the Italian campaign in October, 1943, and backed up the 34th and 36th divisions in the push to Cassino. The engineers ferried doughboys across the Rapido river through intense German machinegun mortar and artillery fire in January, 1944, cleared mines, built and maintained footbridges and held open approach routes to the water barrier.

They supported the First Special Service force and the 85th "Custer" and 88th "Blue Devil" divisions in the spring offensive to Rome and continued to serve in support of the 88th and 85th divisions as they bridged the Anio river and pierced the Gothic line.

A "Jack of all trades" outfit, the 19th has built railroads and concrete pillboxes, drained swamps and laid pipelines. Once the engineers used a gas mask, converted into a diver's helmet, for underwater work. On another occasion, they operated a ferry boat. They have served in support of British Canadian, New Zealand and French troops. They have been commended by Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, now commanding the 21st Army Group on the Western Front, and Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton jr., Third Army commander.

Contribute to the Easter Plant Fund for Wounded Vets

Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Ballantyne, chairman of the New Jersey sector, Plants for Hospitalized Service Men, announced today, that Easter plants would again be distributed this Easter to the bedside of every wounded, sick, and disabled member of the armed forces in the Military hospitals in the State of New Jersey.

At Christmas time, 6,000 plants were distributed and the many expressions of appreciation received from the recipients make it desirable to continue this project. Many more plants will be required for Easter, as the number of patients in the hospitals has increased considerably since Christmas.

For every dollar contributed, a plant with a tag bearing the name of the donor will be delivered to a soldier in a hospital on Good Friday. All contributions may be mailed to the Treasurer, Carl K. Withers, president, Lincoln National Bank, 1005 Broad street, Newark 2, N. J.

BREEZE REPORTS BIG EARNINGS

1944 Net Income Shows Increase to $4.78 a Share, Jump of 61 Cents

A net income of $1,245,774.92, or $4.78 per share, on 1944 operations was reported today for Breeze Corporation, Inc., by John T. Mascuch, president. This compares with a net profit for 1943, after renegotiation of $1,084,237.48, or $4.17 per share. It is not expected that the 1944 earnings will be appreciably affected by renegotiation.

Breeze and subsidiaries shipped $44,260,209.14 worth of aeronautical accessories and other war material to the armed forces in 1944, Mr. Mascuch said, topping all previous production records of the company. In the annual statement to stockholders, he reported:

"While we have received a number of cancellations up to the present we have not been seriously affected by them or by cutbacks. Business is coming in at a satisfactory rate.

"Through the intimate association which we maintain with our former employees in the service, we have learned that a good peacetime job is the foremost ambition of the average American at war. We are especially conscious of our obligation to these men and women. Our discharged veterans are being returned to their old jobs, or better ones with us, as they apply.

"Although we are concentrating our total efforts on supplying our armed forces with fighting equipment, postwar manufacturing considerations are constantly before us. While we have no blueprint of the future we anticipate opportunities and are alert to make the most of them for all concerned with Breeze."

The corporation paid $1.60 per share dividends during 1944 and has declared a dividend of 40 cents per share payable March 10 to stockholders of record March 1, 1945.

Essex County Symphony Will Present Series of Operas

The Essex County Symphony society, Mrs. Parker O. Griffith, president, will present a series of five operas in this year's Spring Opera Festival at the Mosque, beginning Thursday, May 10. The operas to be heard include Carmen, Barber of Seville, Martha — to be sung in English — Traviata and Madame Butterfly.

Owing to war restrictions such as travel, gasoline and lighting, for the third consecutive year it will not be possible to hold the festival at the Newark Stadium as had been hoped. Production will be under the direction of Giorgio D'Andrea, well known impresario. Metropolitan Opera association stars, as well as stars from other leading opera companies, will be included in the roster of artists. A complete list of these artists and dates of presentations will be released at a later date.

Balance of Fuel is For Summer Hot Water too, Remember!

As the winter heating season approaches, the three-quarter mark, District OPA announced today that fuel oil users should not have consumed more than 74 percent of the year's ration. Householders were urged to continue careful budgeting, and were cautioned that the balance of the ration must do for both heating during the remaining cold weather, and for hot water during the summer.

Here Is Your Chance

With the opening of the Red Cross war fund drive today, a neighbor will call at your home in the near future to ask you to contribute. In doing so he will be performing a service for which you should be grateful, because through him you will be able to give definite, concrete help to the men and women who are fighting for you on scores of battlefronts throughout the world.

Over 3,000 Belleville boys are now serving in the armed forces. Many boys from this town have died. Many others have been wounded. Some are prisoners of war. All of them came from the homes of your neighbors; they are youngsters whom you have seen on our streets, in our schools. They are your very own.

When the Red Cross solicitor comes to your house he will be accompanied by these Belleville boys. From the Philippines, from China, India, Italy, Germany, France, from the oceans, from the skies, they will come into your house, in spirit, to question you in mute appeal. Just as they are expected to do their duty, whatever the cost, so they expect you to do yours.

And a small duty that is, indeed, Belleville is asked this year to contribute $43,500 toward the $200,000,000 fund which the Red Cross hopes to raise nationally. Since the population of the town is more than 28,000 it is obvious that if everybody contributed not a great deal would be required from each.

A considerable portion of the town's quota will remain here in Belleville, to be spent on services which the local chapter performs for the families of these men and women. These services are given to your neighbors, whose sons or husbands are fighting for their country.

It should be obvious to the most obtuse and indifferent, therefore, that contributing to the Red Cross is not only a duty, but a privilege. It is our one chance to show in concrete terms the appreciation we must all feel for our fighting men.

When the solicitor calls at your house be courteous and glad to receive him. And make a generous gift. There is no sounder guide than that slogan of the last great war: "Give Till It Hurts."

Belleville's Lore

We have long hoped for a movement to organize a Belleville Historical society which would receive the whole-hearted support of all our citizens, for Belleville is rich in historical lore, and whatever can be done to collect and preserve the story of our past will deepen the life of the community.

Contemplation of the past is not a marked characteristic of the American. For this, of course, there is a psychological reason not difficult to fathom; lacking ancestors, most Americans profess to scorn any glance backward. America, they boast, is the land of tomorrow, not yesterday. Let the Europeans, with their nobility, and the Chinese, with their ancestor worship, wallow in the empty glories of the past. We are a new race, facing only the future.

Well, perhaps. But Time is one; the past is now, all our yesterdays compact in today; and the immigrant's children and the restless nomads of a rootless age, shouldering each other in fierce struggle, are here by grace of men and women of another day. And great as their accomplishments of today may be, and of tomorrow promise, they are but the lengthening shadow of other no less worthy achievements in the past. Lexington and Gettysburg fought at Bataan, Salerno and St. Lo. Who says Lincoln and Washington are dead?

So the men and women who dwell in Belleville in generations gone have significance for us today. The things they did here, the lives they lived, the homes and careers they built, all are woven into the fabric of our town. These people and things are part of the life around us, and it is not to our credit that we have neglected them.

The Party Is Over

Possibly it is only our own late-winter lethargy, but it seems to us now that nobody is quite so tiresome as the Foreign Correspondent, that legendary figure who rose like a rocket during the last decade to fascinate us with his prophet's knowledge of the dark doings of inside Europe. A little pathetic, too, as he lingers on the stage in a vain attempt to hold that public interest which meant so much to him in book royalties, radio contracts and lecture fees.

"This — Is London," intoned in pure ham by Edward R. Murrow in the days of England's agony; "London Can Take It," with Quentin Reynolds there; Dorothy Thompson, playing a strident Cassandra for Europe's doom; Raymond Gram Swing, with his pastor-like gentleness for dear old ladies who liked the voice of a gentleman to lead them through the intricacies of European power politics; Negley Farson, Vincent Sheean, all the Mowrers and the Packards; "Inside Europe"; "Inside-Gunther"; "Personal History"; "Personal Pronoun" — all now seem dusty, and tired, and far, far away.

It was inevitable, of course, as every student of the drama knows. As the play mounted toward its climax, each voice that gave us a clue held our absorbed interest. Once, however, the denouement came, suspense was over, and the audience knew the answer. Now it sits patiently, until the piece unfolds to its destined end: Victory. It is not to causes we look now, but to results — a yard gained on bloody Iwo, villages captured in the Saar, the Russians on the Oder, the boy next door shot down over the Apennines. And even after the battles are over, the future lies before us in the Yalta's pattern; and all the Thompsons, and Mowrers, and Swings, and Gunthers know no more about it than we ourselves.

So the days of mysterious-arcana seem ended for the Foreign Correspondent. It is the battle reporter now, and even he is so numerous and the stories are so many and repetitious that none of the host of correspondents seems to be making any great name for himself.

But though his hour as journalism's most dashing figure seems to have passed, we must never forget what the Foreign Correspondent did for us. More than anybody else he aroused Americans to an awareness of the peril that lay hatching in the heart of Europe. When statesmen numbled in their beads he shouted his prophecies to a complacent people, he stormed at them, irritated them, prodded them into wakefulness. And every one of his forebodings has come true.

So now, if quite humanly, he tries to cling to his peak of glamor, none, we suppose, should complain. That is his livelihood, and whatever he can get out of it he has earned and is welcome.

Public Opinion's Power

It probably will do no good to point it out, but it seems to us that in the reception accorded the edict closing nightclubs at midnight there is a lesson for those good souls who still think prohibition is the only way to achieve national temperance.

In erecting the Prohibition structure, there was one thing done most legally. First, there was an amendment to the Constitution, no easy thing to accomplish. Then enabling laws were passed by Congress and later upheld by the courts. Everything seemed airtight. Despite this solid legal backing, however, the laws were flouted, the enforcement agencies thwarted and the whole experiment ended in ignominious collapse.

The reason, of course, was that Prohibition never was backed by public opinion. The laws had been written, not in response to public demand, but at the behest of a tyrannical pressure group.

Now Mr. Byrnes issues a flat edict closing all nightclubs at midnight, and, save for a few timid squawks from saloon-keepers, nobody protests. Indeed, the ruling has been acclaimed by even the most night-minded. Thus, without benefit of Congress or the courts or enforcement agencies, the government makes a sumptuary ruling which there is little doubt will be obeyed. And it will be obeyed because the people want it obeyed.

In other words, the best cop is still public opinion.

The Leatherneck

For all our fighting services the American has nothing but affectionate admiration, but he has always had a special soft spot in his heart for the Marines. "The First To Fight", and they are proving it with their blood and lives in the Pacific. Climbing the ladder to Tokio, they now add Iwo Jima, bloody Iwo, to "Guadal", Tarawa, Peleliu and Saipan. And when American Army troops march into the capital of the Son of Heaven none need be surprised if "they find the streets are guarded by United States Marines."

Mobile Unit Made Ten Visits For Plasma; Three Already Fixed for 1945

The blood donor committee of the local chapter of the American Red Cross in its annual report shows that 1,738 pints of blood were collected last year, double the 831 taken in 1943. Under the chairmanship of Daniel Spillane, assisted by Edward J. Vogel, ten visits for the mobile blood plasma unit of New York were arranged. The report follows:

"Of these, three were made to the Walter Kidde company plant, under chapter supervision; two were held at the High school for Wallace & Tiernan Co. Inc.; and five were at the High school for the Belleville Chapter. Since July 1, 1942, 2,392 pints of blood have been obtained in Belleville to be made into plasma to save lives of servicemen all over the world. Many of the local industries have helped fulfill the quota by registering their employees. Three more visits of the blood plasma unit are scheduled for the first part of 1945.

"The committee also announces members of the famed 'Blood Donor's Club' as Paul Pendergast who leads the list with ten pints. Mrs. Edna M. McQuoid an Miss Frida Abrahamson who each gave nine pints and William Enzelman who donated eight pints. It is hoped that many others will become members during 1945.

Donor Centers Near Labs

"Because blood for plasma must reach the processing laboratories within 24 hours after its procurement, blood donor centers are necessarily located near the laboratories, and mobile units operate within approximately 75 miles of the centers. These geographical limitations make it impossible for many citizens to donate their blood, but the financial support which citizens all over the country are giving the

Appreciates Times Stories of Men in Armed Forces

From Vincent J. Delli Bovi To the Editor of The Times:
I want to thank you and express my appreciation for the kind words appearing in your newspaper, not only about myself but also the many others serving with the armed forces overseas. You may be assured they offer encouragement to us and to our families, as well as indicating your gratitude for the grand job the Yanks are doing so many lonesome miles from home.

We are fully aware of the American editor's courageous attempt to report the war impartially, accurately and patriotically. That this attempt has been successful is obvious. Thus, one of our vital freedoms, that of the press, has been preserved and even more firmly entrenched in the exclusive, unparalleled American way of life.

Bloomfield Gives Bellboys Bye in State Tourney

Locals Upset Favored Central Quintet in Close 37-34 Contest Friday

A "bye" was granted the Bellboys this week when the Bloomfield basketball team was dropped from the state tourney by Coach Bill Foley of that town. In the leading four of Essex county's teams with twelve victories and six setbacks at the close of the season, the Bellboys must wait until Friday or Saturday when they will play their opening tournament game with the winner of this Friday's Nutley-Central game. Tournament play is held in the Orange armory.

With every player adding a point or more, the high school basketball team upset a highly favored Central five 37-34 last Friday at the Bellboy's court. It was the first loss for the High Streeters in the regular season. They did lose to East Orange in the Paralysis Fund game.

Coach Wische turned the trick on Central by making his defensive star Ben Meschio a set-shooter. Throughout the season Meschio only shot the ball three times in a game but against Central he played off by making four set shots and a foul for a total of nine points.

In the first canto Belleville made seven points before Central could hit the nets. These points were garnered by Meschio and Pasquariello. Bellboys ace

Suchicki put in a foul for Central, and Kennedy and Gallagher traded lay-up shots to end the scoring at 9-5 in favor of Belleville at the quarter.

Lead at Half

With Belleville out in front by four points, Central, through the assistance of Joe Gallagher, gained back a point by outscoring Belleville in the second period 12 to 11. Gallagher made ten of Central's 12 points. Belleville led at half time 20-17.

To get back a dependable lead the Bellboys outscored Central 10 to 8 in the third period to obtain a 30-25 lead. Pasquariello and Kennedy's baskets took care of Suchicki's four foul goals and with the score 26-25 in favor of Belleville, Meschio helped again with his set shooting.

Although Central gained back two points in the final session, it wasn't enough to take the Bellboys. With six minutes remaining and Belleville in front 30-27 Kennedy was thrown out on personal fouls which was a tough break for the Zebras. Smart coaching by Wische made the time evaporate in which both teams scored seven points. This was an enjoyable victory to the Bellboys because of their two losses to Central last year.
