

MERCHANTS WILL PROTEST DENIAL OF BUS PERMIT

Request Commissioners To Attend Meeting Tonight To Hear Their Viewpoint

Belleville merchants will meet this evening at 9 o'clock in Town Hall to protest the action of the board of commissioners in refusing City Service Transit company a permit for thirteen additional buses on its run through the north end of town and through Newark.

Wilfred Yudin, a proprietor of Yudin's Paint store at 114 Washington avenue, and former chairman of the Belleville Merchants association, asked by several merchants to call the meeting, has requested the commissioners to be present, to "hear the merchants' viewpoint and to reconsider their action."

In a letter to town business men, Yudin states, "additional buses on a line mean more customers for all of us. Therefore the action of the majority of our commissioners will limit the Belleville merchants in the future to the present number of customers now shopping in Belleville and will prevent any further increase. I am sure that you too look forward to a greater territory from which to draw customers; and since transportation is the life blood of trade, we must have increased bus service, rather than the same or less service."

"If you consider this of importance to the future of your business, please attend. Your absence may be considered by our town commission majority as agreement with them that the merchants of Belleville don't want increased transportation from the residential districts and other towns into our business section."

Four To One Vote

At the commission meeting last week, Parks and Public Property Director Noll in charge of transportation, introduced a resolution denying the permit which was upheld by four commissioners. Mayor Williams dissented, saying he is for "wide open competition" and that more buses should mean more seats for riders.

The majority were of the opinion that increased service on the City Service Transit route which primarily serves Rutherford, Lyndhurst and North Arlington, would jeopardize the Public Service No. 100 line which is the only service Valley residents have and which runs on McCarter highway into Newark.

A City Service representative explained that the line now terminates at North Newark but that the company's application for thirteen additional buses to run with restricted stops through Newark to Penn station has been granted by that city. The move to eliminate transfers at North Newark and provide additional service has been prompted by requests from Bergen county towns, he said, and pointed out that final decision rests with the Public Utilities commission.

BRITISH O.K., SURVEY FINDS

High School Democracy Class Conducts Poll Of Town's Feeling

A majority of the adults of Belleville consider the British fine people, who have done a great deal toward winning the war and register no antagonism toward them. This is the finding of a survey conducted throughout the town and released this week by the Problems of American Democracy class of Belleville High school.

The survey is the first conducted by the high school, and was decided upon after classroom discussion indicated an antagonism against the British. The class, under the direction of Harold Lehner compiled a questionnaire dealing with American-British feelings and set out to get a cross-section of the townpeople's thoughts on the subject.

Of the people questioned, the report showed 35 per cent were professional people, 23 per cent were classed as skilled labor, 21 per cent as employers and 21 per cent under management.

More people are indifferent toward the British government than were either for or against it, the surveyers found. Some persons felt the British had imperialistic tendencies, but most were of the opinion that the British government upholds the interests of democracy. Eighty-nine per cent registered approval of Winston Churchill, while eleven per cent were against him.

For Lend-Lease

The questionnaire indicated that a slight majority believed lend-lease should be continued after the war and until such time as Britain can take care of herself. Some, however, felt lend-lease should be available to all of Europe except Britain. Fifty per cent answered yes to the continuation of lend-lease.

Corporal John Brown Killed In Austrian Auto Accident

Member Of Patton's Army Was Run Over By Truck, Says War Dept. Telegram; Requiem Mass Planned For Monday

Cpl. John J. Brown, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of 262 Hornblower avenue, has been killed in an accident in Austria, according to word received by his parents this week. A telegram from the War department received by Mr. and Mrs. Brown stated that Cpl. Brown was run over by a truck on May 28 at Marchenau, Austria.

A requiem mass for the deceased will be held at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9 a.m. next Monday.

No further details of the accident were revealed by the War department. However, Thomas Salduro of 17 Hope street, Nutley, a constant companion of Brown, has written home that he recently was hospitalized in France for injuries he received in an auto accident, and it is believed that both boys figured in the same mishap.

Cpl. Brown was a member of the medical detachment of the 21st armored infantry battalion in General George Patton's Third army. A wearer of the European campaign ribbon with several battle participation stars, he recently was awarded the Bronze Star medal in recognition of his heroic achievement during Patton's march through France and into Germany.

Born in Belleville, Cpl. Brown attended St. Peter's and Joralemon street grammar schools. He was graduated at Belleville High school in 1940. Prior to his entry in the armed forces, he was employed at the Westinghouse plant in Bloomfield.

He entered the service in November, 1942, and was sent from Fort Dix to Camp Polk, La., for basic training. Later he was assigned to Camp Barkley, Texas, and Camp Cook, Cal. He went overseas in September, 1944 and was in combat until the end of the war in Europe.

FUEL SHORTAGE TO CONTINUE

Representative Hartley Reports On Conditions As Seen By Petroleum Director

Fuel oil will continue to be scarce next winter, since requirements in the Pacific have greatly increased military consumption, and residents considering converting from coal to fuel oil for heating purposes will be denied their requests, Fred A. Hartley, representative of the 10th Congressional district has advised this week.

The Congressman has made public a letter from Walter Hochuli, director of the Distribution and Marketing Division of the Petroleum Administration for War in which he states the outlook for the coming heating season. He observes that with the cessation of hostilities in Europe, many people have assumed that the need for fuel oil conservation has passed. "Actually, the exact opposite is true," Hochuli states.

"As we shift our war emphasis to the Pacific, the fuel oil requirements of the military increase tremendously. We have the largest navy this world has ever seen and every ship in that great navy—battleship, cruiser, carrier, landing barge and all others—is powered by fuel oil." Most of this fuel oil is "Navy Special" he explains, which is made up from a blend of heating oil and heavy industrial fuel and furnished only to the navy. Diesel fuel, another principal navy product, is interchangeable, gallon for gallon for heating oil.

War Farther Away

"Now that the war is many miles farther away and the distances are increasing every day, more and more fuel oil is needed to support our military activities," the director added. "Just as an example of what this means to the home owner, it has been estimated that 600,000,000 gallons of fuel oil were required to bring up the men and materials to start and carry out the Okinawa campaign. That amount heating oil burners in the rationed area of this country would have given to each one an additional 300 gallons—an average of about an eighteen percent increase in ration for this coming winter," he explained.

Stating that the situation has changed from a two-front gasoline to a one-front fuel oil war, Hochuli observed that this is the reason additional supplies of gasoline have been made available to civilians. However, he added, "I am sure you realize that as long as the Pacific war lasts, not only is no increase possible in fuel oil, but we will make every effort to fulfill that program. Barring unforeseen circumstances, such as a further increase in military requirements or a breakdown in our transportation system due to causes beyond our control, we expect to meet our program."

In regard to conversion of heating equipment from coal to oil, the director said that with the present high requirements which will continue until the end of the Japanese war, "you can understand why we will have no alternatives except to deny such requests."

Mayor Williams pointed out that the Governor's Office will issue a proclamation setting aside the month of July as "Civic Commemoration Month to Honor Essex College of Medicine and Surgery."

Registrations Sought For Local Blood Bank

Registrations are coming in only slowly for the Red Cross blood bank in the high school gymnasium, Saturday, July 7. Since it is necessary for local authorities to know some time in advance what enrollment they may expect, townspeople are once more urged to telephone Be. 2-4610 immediately if they can donate.

Plasma is still urgently needed. Those who have not donated will receive full information by calling headquarters.

The maximum of 200 pints of blood to be converted into plasma for the armed forces was taken at the last visit of the New York Red Cross mobile blood bank, Daniel Spillane jr, local blood bank chairman has reported.

Of the 249 donors registered, nine were rejected because of colds, nine were turned away because the quota had been filled and 31 either cancelled their appointment or failed to appear, the chairman stated this week.

Red Cross volunteers assisting were from the canteen, nurses, aides, staff assistance, first aid and motor corps. Boy Scout troop 375 and one Girl Scout also was on hand.

New Postal Law Requires Request For Subscription

A new post office regulation, effective July 1, requires that a written request for subscription must be presented before a newspaper can be mailed to any member of the armed forces overseas. The regulation includes all branches of the service. It also requires a request for the renewal of any subscription after July 1.

SOLDIER VOTES CHANGE RESULT IN PRIMARY

Risoli Beats Constantino For Democratic Committee In Town's Only Contest

Receipt of the soldiers' absentee vote caused a change in the only contest in Belleville's primary election, according to Town Clerk Morey. The Soldier vote was received last Friday.

Joseph Risoli of 15 Naples avenue, who was runner up on the regular election tally to James Constantino of 138 Heckel street for male member of the county Democratic committee, from the third district of the fourth ward, emerged the victor by virtue of the Soldier vote. Originally Risoli received seven votes, but three were rejected. Constantino received six votes with only one rejected. In the soldier vote, Risoli received four more write-in votes, while Constantino received none.

In keeping with the election in town, the soldier vote was extremely light, according to Mrs. Morey. Only sixteen ballots were returned. Prior to the election names and addresses were secured and ballots were mailed to more than thirty-two hundred soldiers of voting age. No candidates received more than four votes, she reported.

COULD SAVE 2,000 IN STATE YEARLY

Residents Seemingly Uninterested In Lifting Cancer Toll With Donations

While the local drive to raise $7,500 for the American Cancer Society's war against the disease has netted only $1,850 in over a month of solicitation, Harry Specht, local chairman, stated this week that with the educational program which would be possible with an adequate supply of funds, the lives of at least 50,000 cancer victims in the nation, and 2,000 in New Jersey, could be saved each year.

Drive officials are soliciting individuals and industries in an effort to better support this cause. Appeals to individual families for even a small contribution have also been met with apathy. "Response to this drive is in reality every family's responsibility," Specht said yesterday, "for cancer, no respecter of persons, can fight anywhere. Much research must still be done to improve methods of eradicating this disease and this will take money. But even the establishment of clinics for treatment by known methods can greatly cut down the loss of life when the disease is detected in its early stages."

Contributions may be made by check to the order of the American Cancer Society or mailed to William Goodsir at the First National Bank.

Cancer Described

The simplest description of cancer is that it is a cell or a number of gangster cells in the body tissues that go wild, grow out of control, and spread to other parts of the body unless checked. Their growth can be stopped by surgery, X-ray and radium, if it has not gone too far. They are like weeds in the garden, easily killed while young, but that will choke out and kill other plants if allowed to continue growing.

In its education campaign the American Cancer Society seeks to familiarize everybody with the facts about cancer, and to induce them to go for medical examination when the first symptoms of the disease appear. These first danger signals are any sore that does not heal, lumps in the breast, lip or tongue, changes in size or color of warts, moles and birthmarks, persistent indigestion, constipation or hoarseness, and coughs for which there is no explanation.

Tom who is a student and who has earned a reputation as the guy with the largest personal library in the South Pacific, was persuaded by a friend to ghost write some letters "because he could do it so much better." The modern Pricilla whom Tom has never seen, apparently detected the strategy, however, began a correspondence which, from the letters which have appeared in print, it would seem is more concerned with the recording of a G.I.'s reaction to, and analysis of a world at war than the usual topics that would be expected.

"Pricilla" is the person of Marian L. Tursky of Grand Rapids, a University of Michigan journalism graduate, recognizing a potential writer when she finds one, has had some five examples of his writing published in The A. T., a monthly publication of the Hayes Manufacturing corporation there, where she is secretary to one of the plant executives. In a column called "A G.I.'s Outlook" and under other headings, Tom has recorded his reflections in a manner that well deserves recognition.

RIVERS POLLUTED REPORTS BERRY

Health Officer Warns Against Swimming In Three Local Streams

Health Officer Eugene T. Berry issued a warning yesterday to all parents of the town to keep their children from swimming or wading in the Passaic river and its tributaries, the Second and Third rivers. All three are badly polluted, he said.

Recent tests have proved the waters of these streams have a high degree of pollution, Berry said. Each year the health department tests the water of the rivers, and, according to Berry, they have been polluted for the past several years. This year there is an even higher degree of pollution, he said, due to rainy weather.

No New Rabies Cases

Berry also said yesterday there is no new development in the two rabid dog cases reported last week. No new cases have been reported, however, the department is keeping close check on all dogs in the town.

Sunday, a dog on Cortlandt street was reported having fits, he said, but this was laid to heat prostration. The dog was alone in a house and kept jumping at window screens until one gave way. It was picked up by Dogcatcher Cecil Gates and died that night. Berry sent the head to Newark City laboratory for examination, but the results disclosed no trace of rabies, he said.

SERVICE BUREAU FILES BUDGET OF $11,000

Increase Of $700 Would Provide Additional Case Work

The Community Service Bureau submitted its budget of $11,000, a raise of $700 for the coming year, to the Community Chest and Council yesterday, preparatory to the Community Chest and Council War Fund drive this fall. The budget was presented to the bureau at its meeting on Tuesday night by Harry Macaulay, acting treasurer. Based on last year's operating expenses it amounted to $10,300. The board voted raise the figure to $11,000 to provide for additional salary for a case worker and to be prepared for the family problems which are anticipated when returning servicemen arrive in Belleville in larger numbers.

It was pointed out that, in round figures, the budget covers $8,800 in salaries to the executive secretary, an office secretary, one full time case worker and one half time case worker. The board's additional appropriation is in part to cover extra salary in case an other full time worker, who is needed, can be found to replace the part time worker.

Approximately $1,200 of the budget is allocated for the cash aid fund on which the bureau must draw in case immediate financial assistance is needed by an applicant. The remaining $1,000 will cover rent, heat and other office maintenance for the bureau's quarters at 338 Washington avenue.

Henry A. dePhillips is chairman of the finance committee which is composed of Mr. Macaulay and Dr. Morris Rochlin, board treasurer. Ex-officio members are Rev. Marshall Whitehead, board president, and Mrs. Julia O. Reiner, executive secretary of the bureau.

Two vacancies on the board of trustees were filled when Harry Burke of 127 Whiteoaks terrace and Rennie J. Waits of 130 Birchwood drive were elected to membership until January 1948. The board met at 338 Washington avenue for its final meeting until the third Tuesday of September.

G. I EDUCATIONAL AID TO CONTINUE

Foundation Officials Discuss USAFI, Vet Assistance For Summer

Continuation of the Belleville Plan for aid to men in the armed forces during the summer months was discussed yesterday by members of the Belleville Foundation, the organization which has unified all phases of assistance to servicemen in its now widely known program.

An increase in requests for assistance in educational programs of servicemen both under the United States Armed Forces Institute and the Veterans' Assistance program led to a discussion of arrangements for the summer months by Harry Specht, Foundation president; John Daley, veterans assistance program director and Wayne R. Parmer superintendent of schools.

Details are still to be worked out but a clearer understanding of the part played by both USAFI and the Veterans' Assistance program was reached. The functioning of USAFI it is understood, is the responsibility of the board of education in each community and in no way comes under the Veterans' Assistance program, which is governed by the G.I. Bill of Rights.

ROTARY CLUB GETS AWARD

Rotary International Recognizes Local Club For Community Participation

The President's award of Rotary International has been made to Belleville Rotary for outstanding promotion of the "fourfold" program within this Rotary district during the year which will close July 1. Presentation of the award will be made by the Rotary District Governor at a later date. The Belleville club is under the presidency of W. Douglas Clark.

Mr. Clark was commended by Rotary International for the complete file of material covering Belleville Rotarians' activities and achievements which he submitted through the district governor's committee. The district encompasses all the clubs of Northern New Jersey and several Pennsylvania communities.

Accenting the accomplishments of the Belleville club as a whole, the report which won Belleville the award pointed out that civic enterprises and cooperation with neighboring service clubs were the two major projects here during the last year.

Wide-Spread Activities

In the first category, it was noted, that a Rotarian headed the local chapter of the American Red Cross, the Red Cross drive, the local War Bond committee and the industrial War Bond committee; that a Rotarian had conceived the Belleville Foundation and that five Rotarians are its officers and fifteen Rotarians are members of foundation committees. Foundation activities include inter-community programs.

Rotarian contributions to charities, including Rotary Foundation and Rotary Relief as well as local Red Cross and Community Chest drives were increased this year as were summer camp scholarships.

The Belleville club proposed and has made plans to operate, with neighboring Rotary clubs and the Belleville Lions club cooperation, a summer camp at Glen Wild lake accommodating ninety boys. A Rotarian is chairman of Robert Taft Council of Boy Scouts and another Rotarian, chairman of Belleville district; five others are on operating Scout committees.

A Belleville Rotarian founded the Junior Achievement here and has been succeeded as chairman of the Central committee by another Rotarian.

Rotary organized and conducted a clothing drive for the children and destitute of London and a Rotarian was chairman of the United Clothing drive here.

step-by-step program for carrying it out is to be headed by Mayor Williams, Russell announced. He is to be assisted by Commissioner Noll, Russell, Walter Gilby, James Leonard and Herbert Schmutz.

Mayor Williams also is to head a committee to investigate property of the old Volkenning tract recently purchased by a development corporation. The property was located in the survey as an ideal location for one of the proposed playgrounds and it is the intention of the committee to determine if a portion of the land can be secured for playground purposes. Assisting the Mayor on the committee are Noll, Wayne Parmer, Kent Costikyan and Rev. O. W. Chapin.

A third group appointed by Russell this week is to study by-laws for the Citizens' Recreation Advisory committee which was reorganized at a meeting last Thursday night. Herbert Schmutz is chairman of this group, assisted by Noll, Rev. Joseph Kelly, Harry Specht, John Waite and Charles Gebhardt.

Committee Reorganized

At the meeting last Thursday night held in Town Hall, Commissioner Noll of the department of parks and public property took the chair and proposed the appointment of a chairman from the Citizens' committee. Russell was selected and he took over direction of the meeting.

In a move to reorganize and outline the purpose of the committee, a resolution sponsored by Harry Specht was passed stating that the committee be set up to be composed of fifteen members, three from industry, three from the churches, three from the board of education and six appointed by the Town Commission, of which three are to represent the commission and three the citizens of the town.

Discussion centered around a of property owned by the City of Newark at Columbus avenue, back of the Joralemon street reservoir. The survey recommended this site as well situated for a playground area and urged its acquisition. Russell named a committee of citizens to study the site, which included Commissioner Noll and Mertz, Rev. Chapin, Charles Gebhardt and Edward Lister, town recreation director, to contact the Newark City government with the view of buying the Columbus avenue property.

Veterans' Guidance Plan
Gains Nationwide Fame

Local Foundation Sponsored Program
For Aiding Returning Servicemen
Is Praised In Periodical

Additional fame for the Belleville plan for the aid and guidance for returning veterans in a feature article in the June issue of the Washington Digest, nationally circulated periodical, was announced this week by Elwood P. Russell, publicity director of Belleville Foundation, Inc., sponsors of the plan.

The article, written by Jay Sheldon, went into detail describing the plan the Foundation has set up throughout the town to guide the returning veteran from the time he reports back to his draft board until he is completely settled in civilian life.

The plan includes committees of prominent men in the town to advise the veteran on education, employment, finance, legal, legislation, medical and rehabilitation problems. These groups, operating in coordination with a full time veteran guidance director forms a program that brought the town into national focus as the first tangible plan in the country set up to help the returning veteran.

Booklet Widely Known

A booklet, "The Open Door to Belleville," published last year by the Foundation outlining the plan has attracted a flood of letters from communities and organizations throughout the country, requesting copies of the booklet and additional information on the plan, Russell said.

Notice was first directed to the booklet through publicity in local papers, and then through such widely circulated papers as the New York Times and the World Telegram, Russell said. Libraries and Universities began writing in to receive copies for their own use, and after letters began pouring in from veterans' committees and other organizations in far corners of the United States who expressed the hope of setting up a similar plan in their area.

Also, Russell pointed out, many copies of the booklet were mailed out to servicemen serving overseas. Their response to the plan that was being set up for them was most enthusiastic. One soldier stationed in Assam, India, stated the booklet was being placed in the base library, he said.

Soldier Writes

A Belleville soldier, writing to Harry Specht of the Foundation, stated, "Up until now I was very much in the dark about the important things I should do upon being discharged from the army and returning to our Belleville. The purpose and ambitions of the Belleville Foundation are sound and helpful in all ways to the citizens of Belleville, and I want to wish you all the success in your future years with this great organization.

"You've helped me solve so many problems by reading this booklet and though I've lived in Belleville for years, I never realized how little I did know about my own home town."

sides work in cases of delinquency, persons in illness and those needing convalescent care, overseeing of a State hospital parolee and aid and counsel to wives of servicemen.

Camp applications and the ever-present need to search out foster homes for children were other May assignments. Thirty-six children will be placed in a half-dozen New Jersey camps this summer through the bureau's efforts.

In a year-end summary to the board Mrs. Reiner stated that the bureau gave a continuing service to 172 family units during 1944 and has had a total load of 86 cases in the first five months of 1945.

She illustrated that the employment of married women with children has caused an increasing need for care and placement of children. Over 30 assignments have come to the bureau this year for Selective Service statistics as a result of a state-wide plan for cooperation with this agency.

"Just how the community will use our services is the future we do not know," Mrs. Reiner said, "but a grave responsibility is assumed when it is necessary to become involved in the lives of others and we have no right to do this without full competence." She indicated that the bureau is flexible enough to try to meet new needs in new ways. Present trends are the child placement problem and increased service to youth, due to an obvious unrest among some groups of teen age boys and girls.

The bureau is a Belleville Community Chest and council supported agency.

Surgery merits the wholehearted support of every conscientious and civic-minded citizen of New Jersey," the Mayor stated. "The need for this institution is obvious and its continued welfare is of the utmost importance to our state.

"New Jersey, one of the most progressive states of the nation, has an important stake in the development of our educational, scientific and industrial research facilities. Business and industry should welcome the opportunity to aid and support, both morally and financially, New Jersey's first medical college," he said.

Public Support Urged

"Organized medicine is giving its support to the college. Public and private support should not be wanting. In this movement to further medical education and scientific research, it is incumbent upon all of us, regardless of station or position, to strive to the limits of our respective abilities for the attainment of our goal—a goal that can only result in everlasting credit to our state.

"Essex College of Medicine and Surgery is an institution of higher learning where your girl or boy, and mine too, can enroll and receive a complete medical education, regardless of race or creed. This is the American way, and we must in like manner give to New Jersey's first medical school the aid and comfort it so justly deserves," he concluded.

ance of lend-lease, 47 per cent were against it, and three per cent registered no answer.

In a survey of student opinions, the class found a predominant feeling that the British are reserved, stubborn and domineering, while a minority believed them to be a courageous people who have done much and suffered greatly during the war. The students also are in favor of a continuance of lend-lease after the war, the report showed. The report found Churchill to be generally disliked among the students because they feel he is imperialistic.

Possible factors influencing the feeling of the students were listed in the report as a misunderstanding of the true facts, reflection of parental thinking in the student mind, and the treatment of the British in text books, newspapers and other literature.

S-Sgt. Ippolito Writes
Of VE-Day In Italy

Holder Of Bronze Star Gives
G. I. Celebration

Holder of the Bronze Star, for successfully blasting a machine gun nest, S-Sgt. Clement Ippolito jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ippolito of 97 Magnolia street is now with the army of occupation in Germany. He went to France when he arrived overseas last September, but he was at Falconara in Italy on V-E Day a day of jubilation in the 100th infantry division that led him to set down a graphic word picture of events in his location.

Recently sent to his parents, it gives an on-the-spot idea of G.I. reaction to the end of a nightmare of mud and blood and destruction. He says, "Today is V-E Day. . . finally the war is over, over here; it's kinda like a dream, hard to believe, but I guess it's true. . . it's now 10 p.m. the sky is all lit up like a fourth of July celebration. . . flares of all kinds fill the sky in a beautiful array of colors, criss-crossing the heavens like streamers at a New Year's Eve party. . . occasionally a flare burst into a tinsel-like shower over our heads. . . parachute flares like giant confetti float leisurely to the earth. . . from the hill tops, rays from giant searchlights play crazily around the sky, casting fantastic shadows on the clouds above, while others form the well-known V for Victory trade mark. . . from the airfield, machine guns are spraying the scene with red tracer bullets. From another hill English boffer guns are pumping shells into the sky. . . from the railroad the loud, shrill piercing of a supply train echos and re-echos through the night. . . through it all even the slow ringing bells from church chapels all over Europe ring out the news to all its people. . . fellows are singing, yelling, whistling and drinking all over the place. . . Everyone has been restricted to the area. . . our guns were even taken away from us. . . G.I.'s and Limies are all sharing their joy, vino and whiskey. . . many guys are drunk. . . the fellows are singing songs like 'Gee, but I want to go home' and 'Show me the way to go home'. . . kinda makes a guy feel funny away down inside somewhere sorta gives you a lump in the throat. . . have you ever wondered what it would be like if all the holidays fell on the same day. . . Well the answer is V-E Day."

Twenty-three years old, the sergeant attended Belleville High school and was employed by Walter Kidde and company in Bloomfield before entering the Army on December 12, 1942. He has two brothers, Salvatore who has enlisted in the navy and Benjamin recently discharged from the army.

On European FrontBellevillites Hold Reunion
Following Chance Meeting
In Wuppertal, GermanyThe story of how two Belleville brothers met on the battlefield in Europe came to light this week through letters received by the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Patrick Ryder of 153 Union avenue. The brothers are 1st Lieut.
John Ryder, 30, with the Medical Corps in the 9th Army, and Pfc.
Frank Ryder, 29, with General Patton's 3rd Army.According to the account of the meeting sent home to their parents, John, who went overseas in August, 1944, was traveling through the lines in a jeep when he became lost. Seeing a group of soldiers on the side of the road
he inquired directions of them and also asked what outfit they were from.When the men told the lieutenant they were with the 94th division, he recognized it as his brother's unit. He immediately went to the commanding officer of the outfit and requested to see his brother. Frank, who was in a rest camp at the time following a period of combat, was called in.When the two boys met there was a grand reunion. Frank's commanding officer gave him a 24 hour leave and the two went back to John's unit, where a party was held honoring the occasion.The meeting took place on April 6 in Wuppertal, Germany. They have met several times since.Frank, who went overseas last January, tells of a particularly close call he had while crossing the Saar with Patton's army. He was in the middle of the river at 3:30 a.m., he writes, when the Germans opened up with machine gun fire on their boats. First they shot tracer bullets, and then they sent up flares to light the entire river. The boats were shot up and Frank was left to swim the 100 yards to shore under a crossfire of the two armies on opposite banks. He shed all his clothes but his underwear. Only about 11 of the crossing party were able to make it back to shore, he said.When he reached the shore he was given a blanket, but that was little protection on a February night.John, a former athlete at Belleville High school where he was graduated in 1935, entered the Army in 1942. Prior to that he was employed in the New York

Cola Exchange and by the Coca Cola Company. Frank was graduated at Newark Vocational school in 1929. He was employed by the Isolantite Company prior to his entry in the service. He is married to the former Doris Oliver of Virginia. In addition to the European theater ribbon with five battle stars, Frank has been awarded combat infantryman's badge and citation.Have You a Figure

SOLDIERS VIEW OF PHILIPPINES

Former Times-News Sports Writer Sends Manuscript Of War-Torn Islands

Editor's note — "The Velvet Mountains" was written in manuscript form by Pfc. Harvey S. Adams Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Adams of 124 Crest Drive. Prior to his entry in the Service, "Harvey" was high school sports reporter for the Times-News. He is at present in the Philippines.
The manuscript is, we feel a fine glimpse into the life of the Filipinos as the American soldier sees it.
The air was still for a moment. Incipient darkness was slowly creeping between the palm trees, shutting off what little light sprinkled through them.
High above in a bleak sky came the lonely droning of a plane. It was to be another first night performance.
Silence was broken! The plane began to dive! Down and down it dove, suicide death a mile a minute. The target, a cargo ship.
The pilot of the one-man suicide torpedo plane has only one satisfaction; to launch his torpedo home under the water line and die for the emperor.
As if bleeding from its many pinpricks of tracers leading up from the water, a red glow cast over the sky. The dull sound of an explosion proved fatal to the ship. Its mighty bulk burned all night, and early next morning rested on the bottom; the bow sticking above the water forming a marker to signify another watery grave.
Glimpse at the Philippines
The Philippines! Just another land fertilized with blood, bones and human sacrifice. Battles rage, bombs fall, shells scar the earth; everywhere you look it's destruction. But every battle fought the world over has one unquenchable "nature".
Drop back behind the lines, into the hills or just by the wayside. Here we can see what life is like, native life.
Speaking of these people as natives, it isn't meant to mean "save people," for they are far from that stage.
Living a carefree life in tropical splendor and twining on farms. Its true many of them are very backward in their ways, but and soil make them self sufficient.
As seasons pass a great many things are filled from the rich, black earth. While torments flood the land in the rainy season, rice fields are at their best. Corns the dry spell and corn is planted in the previous rice paddy. Then also, sweet potatoes, sugarcane and tobacco dot the earth. Surrounding a thatched palm and bamboo walled house, which only has two rooms at the most, very little furniture and no beds; chickens, pigs, ducks and a few half starved dogs decorate the landscape. And peering past a green mass of banana and coconut trees, which again provide excellent food, clothing and many small needs, a huge, gray, slimy form covered with swamp muck can be seen. It's nothing more than a black water buffalo. But to the natives it's a "carabo", main beast of burden and source of meat.
This is by no means a classification of these islanders. For in devastating times like these the world is ill at ease.
The name of the particular island of which I'm writing cannot be disclosed, but it's so very easy on the eyes.
Its many rolling, rounded mountains cast a magnificent velvet blue hue when nearing sun-down. In the cool of the evening a huge orange colored moon creeps up from the distant horizon and silently slips into the heavens above. Soon it's casting a silvery beam like a path upon the black water, only to be broken by the exultant sequence of the dashing surf against a lonely beach. Glistening palm fronds the weird rustle of them as the breeze passes about them, or the dull thump as one hits the ground near you. A huge bat flying over head, the far scream of a monkey in the swamps. Bushes that collect so many fire flies they resemble Christmas trees. All these little incidents tend to bring out a hidden magic that lasts long into the night.
And just when you're sleeping so peacefully, something stings you. A centipede crept in under your insect bar. The pain lasts for a few hours; some fellows walk the floor and can't sleep. I put a heavy coating of shaving cream on my first bite.
A Day With The Islanders
Early mornings the islanders can be seen bathing in the river. Not far away another group of women will be washing clothes. Placing the clothing on a coconut log or board, and using a small wooden paddle they beat them clean. It does a remarkable job and I've had mine launched many times this way.
Outrigger canoes heavily laden with all sorts of goods slip quickly up and down the many branches of the river. They like best to trade, money not being of much value, for there aren't any stores.
When the Japs came the people took all their clothing and hid them in the hills. The invaders confiscated nearly every thing of value left behind. But as time passes they are gradually bringing their clothing out from hiding. The women have gray colored dresses and the men, spotless white palm beach suits.
Christmas beat a path to our door as the natives spread the yule tide. Children sang American carols as we walked by. The familiar phrase of, "you give me Christmas, I give you Christmas," sounded many times in our ears.
Looking in a few houses, the sight of Christmas trees quickened our hearts. Made from ordinary tree branches and decorated with paper, bolts, strings of peanuts and American and Filipino flags. One home in particular had many paper garlands and crepe paper bells hanging from its bamboo ceiling.
No holiday is complete without some sort of toast. Therefore "tuba," the drink of the islands, made from coconut sap, which is had by bruising the inflorescence at the top of the palm, was well on hand. Its fineness depends like anything else, on the maker. Much of it has a very deep red color along with a pungent odor. On the other hand there's the cider smelling type tasting like rich, sherry wine. The sale of it is now illegal but the back rooms do a thriving business.

The village was well populated Christmas day. The crowing of the roosters, gabbling native talk, men gambling in the streets, playing odd games of chance. Crowds flocking to the little area to see the colorful "cock fights." Along the crowded side lines women lined porches selling dried fish, fruit, carabo meat, tobacco leaves, sugar doughnuts, which are very unlike ours, but good! Children carried shallow baskets of rice patties rolled in banana leaves resembling long green cigars. They had a flat taste but came in handy when hungry.
The Sport Of A "Cock Fight"
"Cock fights" is a typical man's sports. The birds are weighed and matched by expert hands and keen sense of touch. (Continued next week)

Mrs. Lester McCorkle Has Been Active In Many Organizations

Mrs. Lester E. McCorkle of 686 Belleville avenue was unanimously ratified as secretary of the Essex County American Legion auxiliary in convention in Irvington last weekend. She has held the post for two years. Mrs. Myndert Bonoma of Newark Unit 10, newly installed county president, made the appointment. The county organization held its fourteenth convention and silver anniversary Saturday and Sunday.

During fifteen years of service in Legion auxiliary circles Mrs. McCorkle has served as president of Newark Unit 10 and Belleville Unit 105, the latter during a reorganization period in 1937 and 1938. She was awarded a prize in the department of New Jersey auxiliary for outstanding work in publicity and brought to the attention of the county organization the necessity of compiling publicity records.

She later received honorable mention for establishing a permanent history when she served as historian in 1937 and 1938. Mrs. McCorkle is a Gold Star daughter. Her father, the late Capt. Arthur D. Marsh, was the first senior officer of New Jersey who lost his life in France in World War I.

Local organizations with which Mrs. McCorkle has been affiliated are the Belleville Welfare Federation, of which she was secretary; the Community Service Bureau, in which she served as case committee chairman; the Community Chest, for which she acted as house to house chairman for two years, and the Red Cross for which she has been a solicitor of funds.

She and Mr. McCorkle have six nephews and a niece in the armed services. One nephew, S/Sgt. Wallace A. Reed, formerly of this town, died in the D-day invasion of France.

ANTHONY'S WIN OVER EMANONS

CYO Aggregation Stretches Winning Streak To Five Games With No Defeats

St. Anthony's baseball team, under the management of Don Capone, shut out the Emanons A. C. 6 to 0, in a game last Sunday at Branch Brook Extension. This stretched their winning streak to five games with no losses for the season. The Emanons have won two and lost two thus far.

Lou Vitelli pitching for St. Anthony turned in a no-hit no-run performance, although seven men reached first base. Four of these were on walks and three on errors. Dominick Signorino, hurling for the Emanons, also turned in a fine game, after a wild first inning.

St. Anthony's garnered five of their six runs in the first inning on five hits. Tom Coumo led off with a bunt, and stole second. He came in on a hit by Pat Tentarelli, who was caught stealing. Joe Cancelliere walked and Nick Cancelliere singled. Vitelli singled, scoring Joe. Nick scored on a single by Dominick D'Ambola.

An error by Ippolito of the Emanons scored two more runs before the inning ended. The other St. Anthony's run was scored in the third inning, unearned.

Alvin Outcalt Is One Of Two Members Of State Achievement Program Selected By National Committee

Two members of the New Jersey Junior Achievement program have been awarded a $450, annual scholarship to Stevens Institute of Technology, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Harvey N. Davis, President of Stevens. The two Achievers, Alvin W. Outcalt of 65 Baldwin place, and Charles Juechter of Union City were awarded these scholarships on the basis of outstanding achievement in Junior Achievement. They were selected by a national scholarship committee headed by Dr. James L. McCaughy, former president of Wesleyan University, and President of United China Relief, Inc.

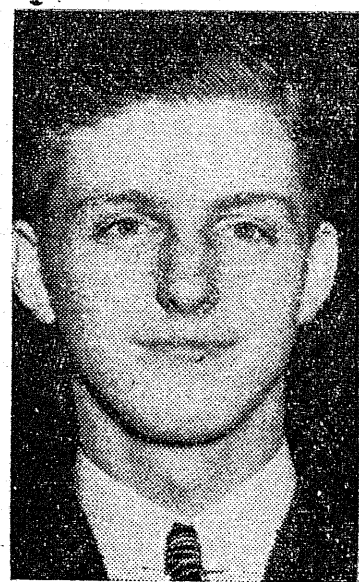

Seventeen year old Alvin Outcalt is an officer in the Belle Chemical Company, a Junior Achievement company sponsored by the Resistoflex Corporation in Belleville, and a graduate of Belleville High school. He is also the president of the National Association of Junior Achievement Companies.

Charles Juechter is an officer of the Woodco Products company, sponsored by Callite-Tungsten Corporation of Union City, and he is also a graduate of Union City High school.

Won From Wide Field

The two boys were selected from applicants from each of the different areas in New Jersey where Junior Achievement is now operating. According to Charles Dallas Reach, chairman of the New Jersey State committee, these areas are: Belleville, Bound Brook, Elizabeth, Glen Ridge, Hillside, Irvington, Jersey City, Montclair, New Brunswick, Newark, Passaic, Paterson, Plainfield, Red Bank, Union City and Verona.

Junior Achievement is a national educational organization that teaches teen-age youngsters the principles of business through a process of "learning by doing." Ten to fifteen boys and girls organize a miniature business, sell stock at 50 cents a share, decide on a product and manufacture it, sell the product, and pay themselves wages and their stockholders dividends. Each Junior Achievement company is sponsored by an adult business or civic organization which provides two or three adult advisers in business, production and sales. Junior Achievement has been in existence in New Jersey for two and a half years.

NEWARK RAVENS WIN FROM CYO

St. Anthony's Loses For First Time This Year In Free Scoring Tilt

St. Anthony's struck a snag in their winning streak Sunday afternoon when they went down before the Ravens of Newark, 9 to 6. The game, filled with errors and hits, brought the local CYO combination's record to five wins and one defeat.

Action started in the third frame two unearned runs on three errors. St. Anthony came back in their half of the inning to score three runs on three hits and an error. The Newarkers tied it up in the first half of the fifth, but St. Anthony's scored one in the second half of the inning to go ahead again.

In the sixth, the Ravens scored four times to lead, 7 to 4. The CYO managed two more in the second half of the inning but they remained on the bottom from there on out. The Ravens added one each in the seventh and final frames to put the game on ice.

Scout Camp Registrations For July Are Closed

Registrations for Boy Scout Camp Mohican at Blairstown have come in at a rate far in excess of last year, according to Robert Treat, council headquarters in Newark. As a result the campaign activities committee has had to close the first and second camping periods to further registrations. Scouts of Belleville are now urged to sign up for the third and fourth periods. One extends from July 30 to August 13, the other from August 13 to 27.

A scouts' roundtable meeting was held in the Recreation house Tuesday evening when plans for the fall camporee of Belleville district were developed. The camporee will be held in Belleville Park September 29 and 30 under the program chairmanship of James Bunting, scoutmaster of Troop 301 of Wesley Methodist church.

Cubs of Pack 302 at Bethany Lutheran church held a show last Friday afternoon and also exhibited nature collections. The Pack will hold a family picnic in Belleville Park July 21 for cubs and their parents. Cubmaster is Josef Kroth.

CYO GIRLS HOLD MUSICAL PROGRAM

St. Peter's Organization Welcomes New Members At First Summer Meeting

Girls of St. Peter's CYO held their regular monthly meeting on Monday, June 18. Miss Agnes Griffin, president, was in charge. She welcomed the newcomers into the organization. Although the group had held a meeting last week with the boys of the organization, this meeting was to acquaint the new members with all other members.

The Thursday night program of games and dancing in the Petrean Club rooms was explained. The dances held bi-weekly continuing through the summer were pointed out as a welcome activity to all members.

Following the regular business of the meeting, Thomas Haney, organist and choir director at St. Peter's church presented a musical program. Miss Mabel Rose Crowder played two selections on the piano; "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn, and "Polonaise," by Chopin.

Miss Joan McFadden sang three solos. First she sang "I Know a Lovely Garden," by Guy DiHardelot. Reichardt's "In Time of Roses" followed as her second selection and she then sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," by Victor Herbert.

Miss Patricia Haney sang "Morning," by Oley Speaks, and then played Fritz Kreisler's "Old Refrain" as a piano solo. Miss Dolores De Carlo sang Victor Herbert's "Italian Street Song." Miss Maureen Haney gave a piano solo, playing "Imprudent" in C Sharp Minor, by Reinhold. She closed the musical program with a vocal solo, "Homing," by Theresa Del Rigo.

On Monday, June 25, there will

Young Soprano Sings In Studio Recital

Miss Joan McFadden, fourteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. McFadden of 48 Malone avenue, sang Tuesday evening in studio recital for other students and friends of her instructor, Thomas Haney of Montclair. Mr. Haney has been organist of St. Peter's church here for fifteen years.

The young dramatic soprano made her first public appearances in Jorammon street school from which she was graduated last Tuesday. Miss Agnes V. Gailey, music instructor there, urged cultivation of her voice several years ago and accompanied her in solo performances in school and Parent-Teacher association programs. She has also sung at the Woman's club.

Miss McFadden, who is a member of the senior choir of St. Peter's church, made a radio appearance over station WAAT Easter Sunday on a Catholic Youth Organization program.

She will enter Good Counsel High school in Newark in the fall. Also a piano student with Mr. Haney, she played Tuesday evening Vocal selections were: "I Know A Lovely Garden," de Hordelot; "In the Time of Roses," Louise Reichardt and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," Victor Herbert.

be a meeting of the Adult Council of St. Peter's CYO. This Council under the chairmanship of Mr. Gilbert Howley, has given supervision to the various activities sponsored by the CYO. The men and women of this Council all are interested in youth and have volunteered their aid. They are united for the purpose of helping the Catholic youth enjoy many activities under adequate supervision.

At this meeting to be held in St. Peter's Hall this group will plan their program for the summer months. Arrangements will be made so that despite vacations enough Adult Council Members will be on hand to supervise each summer activity of the CYO.

FIREMEN RESCUE TRAPPED BOYS

Second River Rampage Threatens Boys Caught On Bridge Abutment

Swift action by the Belleville fire department saved four Newark boys from possible drowning during last Wednesday night's downpour of rain. The boys were playing in the Second River near the Washington avenue bridge at the city line, when the quick rise of water caused by the sudden rain trapped them.

According to police reports, Francis Johnson, 14, Robert Benet, 13, George Waldmore, 12 and David Purdie, 10, were building a dam near the bridge when the rain started. The river, noted for its sudden swelling during storms, rose waist-high before the boys became aware of their situation. They climbed to the bridge abutment and yelled to a passerby who telephoned the fire department.

Fire Chief Reid responded with firemen Finn and Coffone on the hook and ladder. Sergeant Christano and Patrolmen Dacey and Kelly responded for the police department, as well as the police emergency squad.

Fireman Finn was lowered from the bridge in a safety belt to the abutment about 25 feet below. He brought the two youngest boys to the bridge level. Then Fireman Coffone was lowered and he brought up the remaining two boys. The water had reached the level of the abutment by the time the rescue was completed.

Holy Name Society Closes For Season

The Holy Name Society of St. Peter's church held their final meeting of the season last Thursday evening. A review of the activities proved the Society has had a very successful year, with a renewed interest evident at recent meetings and activities. It was agreed at this meeting to take up the Father-Son Night at the opening meeting October. Plans were also discussed for a picnic to be held early in August.

Action For Recreation

It is gratifying to note that at last action is forthcoming on the long range recreation plan submitted more than a year ago to the National Recreation Association after an extensive survey that cost the taxpayers of Belleville a thousand dollars. At least a start was made when the Recreation Advisory Committee met last week to form a plan for following out the recommendations made in the survey.

Valuable time has already been lost. When the directors of the survey met with the Citizens' Advisory Committee last year they emphasized strongly the need for beginning the program immediately. One look at the sad state of recreational facilities in the town as set forth in the survey report should have convinced everyone concerned of the necessity for immediate setting in motion of the program machinery.

As stated in the survey report, the plan would cover ten to fifteen years, depending on the degree of action taken by the town in carrying out the program. The loss of a year, which simply prolongs the providing of the town for proper recreational facilities by a year, is most regrettable.

The experience of the past year should be a lesson for the committee to keep constantly before them until the final phase of the long range program has been carried out. So far the program has been a thousand dollar investment on the books of the town—without dividends.

Important as the work itself is the need for the five divisions of the advisory committee to remain constantly active and recreation conscious. The church, the board of education, industry, the town commission and the citizens all must see to it that alive and energetic representatives are kept on the Citizens' Advisory Committee. Then it is the duty of the Town Commissioners to legalize the recommendations made to Commissioner Noll by the committee.

The appointment of Elwood P. Russell as committee chairman was a good start. Russell's immediate appointment of a committee to investigate the property at Columbus Avenue, owned by the city of Newark, indicates that he intends to supplement the talk of the committee with action. Carrying out such a program will not be an easy task and some snags are bound to be encountered. But providing Belleville with the recreation facilities it so sorely needs is a prime necessity.

A-Dreamin'

We've read that we may all now embark on a post-war dream world in which the agents will be forever happy with wool trousers that neither shrink nor loose their crease even in a so'wester and the ladies will contribute immeasurably to the family budget and their peace of mind by sporting shapely extremities sheathed in silk or nylon stockings that do not run.

The chemists have produced this alchemy which will also, it is confidently stated, make all woollens shrink-proof and keep blue serge in its natty original state, by eliminating the shine imparted to apparel from devoted wear.

While these achievements are mildly spectacular and promise comforting contributions to living in the future, we reserve our nomination to the hall of fame, the person or persons who dig a little deeper for a more basic approach. In fact, the person who comes through with our idea would be a hall of fame all his own to contain throngs of his admirers who would flock forth be comfortably garbed, no matter what the weather. It's a device for better treated apparel, or a gadget, we are which, that will thermostatically regulate body heat, regardless of existing conditions. That fellow would revolutionize living conditions from the arctic to the tropics, as well as temperaments and all things contingent thereon. Ah, the power to dream.

The Kaiser

More than a month now since the Kaiser was dethroned, and it looks more and more as if the von Ribbentrop era is doing a couple of years on the calendar.

Family Changes

What effect this war will have on the family is something that probably will not be determined for another generation, but that it will cause profound changes seems altogether likely.

One need not look to the vast masses of displaced persons in Europe; here at home there are thousands of children who have not seen their soldier fathers or who are growing up without their father's guidance and companionship. Moreover, thousands of young married couples have almost been literally separated at the altar. Some of the young husbands will never return to see their brides or the children born in their absence; others will return after having experienced, instead of the happiness of the early months and years of marriage, the awful suffering of the combat soldier. That such absences will leave a mark on future family relationships seems obvious.

Since many believe that civilization has its foundations in family life, these changes, coming on the heels of a general loosening of family ties in the last two or three generations, are already giving deep concern to sociologists and religious leaders. This concern is amply justified. It may well be that before our very eyes this oldest of man's institutions is undergoing a metamorphosis that will rank with one of the great changes in history.

Pilgrim's Progress

It has been frequently related in dispatches from the front that Field Marshal Montgomery — Monty of Alamein — read "Pilgrim's Progress." This book, it seems, is one of the scant furnishings in the great soldier's Spartan life; each night before going to sleep he sought refreshment from the din of war in the story of Christian and his journey toward the Gate.

There was a time when the reading of "Pilgrim's Progress" would not have been news, worth cable tolls or radio time. John Bunyan's classic shared with the Bible the place of honor in every home in the English-speaking world. When Sarah Lincoln arrived in Thomas Lincoln's miserable Illinois hut to be young Abe's stepmother, "Pilgrim's Progress" was one of the five books she brought with her to light up the young giant's eyes.

Today it is superman, a synthetic prig without kin in this world or the next. Or possibly it is Joe Blow's account in basic pidgin, of yesterday's football game. Or maybe it's the nauseous syrup of Mom's soap opera. This is the pap stuffed down the intellectual gullets of today's youth.

But the exploits of Mr. Greathart and Valiant-for-the-Truth spark more excitement than a regiment of Supermen. The Interpreter's House is infinitely more interesting than Duffy's Tavern, and the Slough of Despond is still a No-Man's Land of gooseflesh terror.

Over all, of course, is the luminous glory of great English prose. From Bunyan's earthy English, read in the fading twilight of the Illinois prairie, sprang the beauty and majesty of the Gettysburg Address and the Second Inaugural.

Who knows but that Monty's devotion to Christian and his journey will bring a chronicle of this war that will take its place beside Caesar's Commentaries and Homer's Iliad in the world's great literature of conflict?

Here Is A Man

Five years ago he was a lieutenant colonel, but if people wish to know what there was in Eisenhower that sustained him over the course which led to this week's triumphal home-coming they have only to read his public utterances. In his toast to Marshal Zuhoff, in his speech accepting the freedom of London, and in his farewell to the war correspondents he revealed a stature that marks him as one of the truly great.

Simplicity and common sense are stamped on everything he said. There is a straightforwardness about the man, a dignity of essential truth, that rears him high above his fellows. In historic London he did not forget his roots in Abilene, Kan.; to the Russians he spoke as a soldier admiring another brave and capable fighting man, and to the correspondents he explained the conquest of Germany so that even a child could understand. No swelling periods, no diplomatic double-talk, just plain, direct language from a plain, direct man. But through this plain speaking came all the power of a personality to whom had been entrusted the fate of the western world and who had magnificently discharged this vast responsibility.

America's tributes this week have been earned many times over. We all may well be thankful that our country could produce such a man.

Social Security Procedure Outlined for Veterans

Field Offices Ready To Aid Returning Service Men In Filing Cards

Many features of the old-age and survivors insurance plan are of particular interest to returning veterans, it was pointed out this week by John R. Shields, manager of the Social Security Board field office at Newark.

According to Mr. Shields, many veterans will be entering employment for the first time. A social security account card is required for any job in business or commercial activity. An account number is issued by field offices upon receipt of an application signed by the veteran (Form SS-5).

"A veteran who returns to his old job needs to know the social security number which was given to him when he got his first job. Many will have them, but a large number will have been lost. Any veteran who has lost his card and is returning either to his old job or is entering a new job should apply to the nearest Social Security Board field office for a duplicate.

"Most State unemployment compensation agencies will require account number from veterans who apply for unemployment allowances under the G.I. Bill of Rights. All field offices have been instructed to issue account numbers for this purpose to veterans even though they may not enter business or commercial employment which is ordinarily subject to social security," Mr. Shields said.

"Many ex-soldiers or sailors who formerly worked under social security will want to know how much money is posted to their credit. Post card forms (OAR-7004) for this purpose are available at all field offices.

"If a worker finds that the wage statement furnished him by the Social Security Board is not in accordance with his own record of his wages, or his own belief as to what his earnings should be, he should report this fact to the Social Security Board. The field office staff will be glad to discuss with the veteran the status of his account and will try to correct any discrepancies in the amount of wages posted."

Mr. Shields also stressed the fact that trained interviewers will be glad to explain how old-age and survivors insurance protects the family of the veteran during his working life and gives him something to live on when he is old and unable to work. This information for any private insurance program the veterans may plan to start since social security benefits supplement private insurance benefits.

"Relative of deceased veterans may be entitled to survivors benefits. The field offices will make every effort to locate such cases. "Any veteran starting a new business and employing someone will have to secure an employer's identification number. This number is secured through filing an application, Form SS-4, with the field offices."

No. 15 GAS STAMPS INVALID TODAY

No. 16 "A's" Good Beginning Tomorrow For Six Gallons Each

Gasoline stamps No. 15 in the "A" ration book become invalid today, and the No. 16 stamps become good tomorrow for six gallons each. In reminding motorists of the increased ration, District OPA Director Richard J. Tarrant pointed out that "if you want to enjoy the use of the extra gas, you'll have to intensify your tire care."

"Additional mileage," he added, "means a greater rate of tire wear. And the passenger tire supply is very tight this year, so far as 'A' book motorists are concerned. Watch your tires and recap them before they wear beyond the recapping point."

Tarrant also reported on the progress of the government's fight against inflation in North Jersey during May. He disclosed that less than ten percent of the 4,772 retail stores visited by volunteer Price Panel assistants during the month were found in violation of price ceilings.

The price panels conferred with 1,617 retailers on various types of violations, and negotiated triple damage settlements with 145 merchants for a total of $7,875.75 paid to the U. S. Treasury. These retailers had overcharged customers a total of $363.74. As part of the settlement terms negotiated by the price panels, the retailers also refunded $234.88 to consumers. In 59 other cases, refunds aggregating $2,575.05 were made to customers.

"The really important fight against inflation is being waged on Main street by our volunteer price panel members and assistants," Tarrant declared. "Our North Jersey volunteers are doing such splendid work that they have maintained this North Jersey OPA District at the top of the list of 18 districts in this five-state OPA Region."

"To continue that fine record they need the active help and cooperation of every consumer. Report overcharges to your Price Panel—it has proved that it can and will do something about it!"

Firm Receives State Award For Perfect Safety Record

The Resistoflex Corporation of Belleville, developers of products made of Resistoflex, has been awarded a certificate of merit for having achieved a perfect record in the 17th Annual Statewide Inter-Plant Safety Contest conducted by the New Jersey Department of Labor. It was announced this week.

In recognition of the fact that during 1944 no time was lost at Resistoflex because of accidents, Harry C. Harper, commissioner of labor stated.

"I can assure you that I am more than well pleased with the results that have been obtained. In making such a fine showing, both plant management and the workers in your plant are to be highly commended for their interest in plant safety which more and more is becoming a matter of highest importance in industry."

Refutes Statements Made By Community House Director

From Ralph Risoli, sec'y Silver Lake Civic League

To the Editor of The Times-News:

As a member of the Silver Lake Civic League, I refute the statements made by Mrs. Martha Herkins as director of the Community House. I have been a life-long resident of the Silver Lake section and noted the failings of the Community House at its activities and for that reason became a member of the Silver Lake Civic League.

Thru my own observations I am in a position to state that the Community House did not serve 17,000 persons as alleged but that 7,000 persons would be more like it; that the section had never become "notorious" at any time as alleged by Mrs. Martha Herkins as "criminally infested" and this statement is a gross reflection upon the residents of the Silver Lake Section, of Italian extraction who have always been good and respectable citizens; that the Community House apparently serves all other purposes than educating the Silver Lake residents, installing ample sewerage facilities, improving living facilities or to see to it that proper police and fire protection is provided for the residents of the Silver Lake Section.

Peck Denies Holst's Charges
 In answer to a complaint lodged by Oscar Holst, local violin teacher against Samuel Peck, high school music director before the board of education last month, Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer on Monday night reported to the board, Peck's denial of the charges.

Holst claimed that Peck was referring his pupils to other teachers and in other ways alienating his students. Peck explained that one of Holst's pupils had asked him to recommend another teacher and that he had supplied her with the names of five teachers, none of whom he knows personally. He declared that he would not discuss the ability of another teacher since it would be unethical to do so.

Business manager Ruel E. Daniels in a letter to Joseph Arnold, board president, declared that the annual requests from principals are much larger than usual this year and that although 25 percent of the items are obtainable the requests will exceed the budget for 1945-46.  In answer to a complaint lodged by Oscar Holst, local violin teacher against Samuel Peck, high school music director before the board of education last month, Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer on Monday night reported to the board, Peck's denial of the charges.

Holst claimed that Peck was referring his pupils to other teachers and in other ways alienating his students. Peck explained that one of Holst's pupils had asked him to recommend another teacher and that he had supplied her with the names of five teachers, none of whom he knows personally. He declared that he would not discuss the ability of another teacher since it would be unethical to do so.

Pfc. Angelo D'Ambola

A Bronze Star award for heroic achievement in action in Eastern France has been received by Pfc. Angelo D'Ambola, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael D'Ambola of Bloomfield, formerly of town.

The citation which is for action from November 1, 1944 to February 12, 1945, states that "although repeatedly subjected to heavy enemy shelling, small arms and sniper fire, Pfc. D'Ambola efficiently performed his duties in laying and repairing wire lines linking forward outposts with fire direction centers."

"During the attack on Lemberg, he laid a line to a forward observer over roads intensely bombarded by mortars and artillery and although enemy action twice severed his wire, he made the necessary repairs and successfully completed his mission, thereby enabling transmission of vital fire orders in support of the advancing infantry."

Pfc. D'Ambola also holds the Presidential Citation for completing a mass mission with the infantry. His wife is the former Miss Miriam Sair of West Orange.

Sgt. Doherty attended the Joliet school and was graduated from Seton Hall preparatory school in 1941. He entered the service in October, 1942.

Thomas McGeachen, Jr., 26, fireman, first class, USNR, of 38 Wilber street, has been assigned to duty aboard a new minesweeper after completing a course of instruction at the minecraft training center at Little Creek, Va.

Harold L. Williamson Jr., with the 306th Bomb group in England, has recently been promoted to the rank of staff sergeant, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williamson of 304 Union avenue. Announcement was made last week that sergeant Williamson had been awarded the air medal for "meritorious achievement." He has been classified an aerial engineer in a B-17 Flying Fortress. He also holds four oak leaf clusters to the air medal.

Overseas since December, 1944, Sgt. Williamson has thirty combat missions to his credit. He writes that he does not expect to get home very soon as he has been assigned to other flying duties in Europe.
