

Service Group Hears State Vets' Officer

Moving Pictures Augment Talk By Selective Service Official Before Vets' Committee

Continuing action on the program for aiding Belleville's war veterans on their discharge from the service, the local Veterans' Service committee met Monday night in the council chambers of the town hall to discuss the program and to hear an address by Capt. Harold B. Cahn of the Army Air Forces, who is assistant chief of the Veterans' Personnel division of the selective service system of New Jersey.

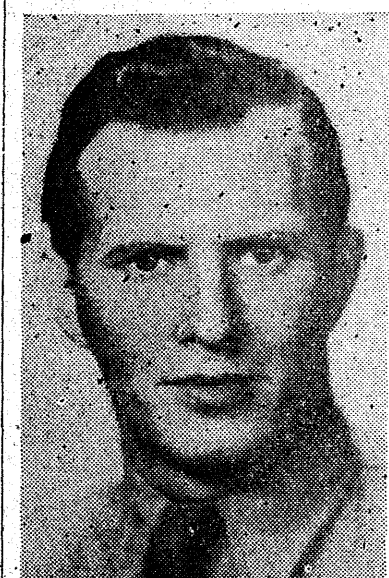

The meeting was under the direction of John P. Dailey, Belleville chairman. S. R. Mountsier, jr., chairman and several other members of the Nutley committee also attended, as well as representatives of the Red Cross, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Belleville Foundation, originators of the Belleville Plan.

In his address, Capt. Cahn stressed the point that the entire economic and social future of the country may well lie in an adequate solution to the veteran problem; that 15,000,000 men and women must be readjusted to civilian life and its accompanying environments; that the task is a difficult one after years of regimentation coupled with a minute knowledge of all the inelegancies of war.

STATE PRAISES VETERANS' PLAN

Commissioners Told Of Letter From Jersey Division Chief

In a communication read to the town commissioners Tuesday night, the Belleville Foundation, originators of the Belleville Plan to aid returning veterans, announced that further recognition of the plan had been received in a letter from Paul N. Colby, chief of the bureau of employment and education in the veterans' services division of the New Jersey department of economic development.

The plan has gained widespread fame as the first of its type set up by a community to aid discharged servicemen in settling into civilian life and in taking full advantage of the benefits offered to veterans.

The letter addressed to Harry G. Specht, president of the Foundation, follows:

Dear Mr. Specht:

Thank you for your letter of June 4, 1945. It is obvious that your thinking and actions have been in the forefront of this perplexing problem. You do indeed have a plan. One of the very finest it has been my pleasure to read. Your booklet, "The Belleville Plan" is an excellent piece of work from every angle. Would it be possible for us to have a few extra copies for distribution to be used as an example of what really can be done when an efficient organization such as yours goes to work.

We appreciate your cooperation in this matter.

Very truly yours,
Paul N. Colby

Due to the holiday next Wednesday, July 4, correspondents and those having articles to be printed next week are urged to mail copy early in order that it will reach the Times-News offices on or before noon Tuesday.

High School's Mighty Diamond Men, 30 Years Ago

WITH THE SHORTAGE of professional ballplayers this year, major league clubs might do well to look up these men who carried Belleville High school's baseball flag back in 1915. The game was well on its way to becoming the national pastime then and Belleville usually managed to put a pretty classy aggregation on the field. The group above consists of: First row, Roy Dickinson and John Coogan, jr.; second row, Russell Transue, Ralph Smith and George Stanica; third row, Ashley Waller, Edward Maguire, Harold "Kid" Struble and Sidney Johnson; fourth row, William Whitten, Charles Hrubant and Phillip Dennison. The high school didn't hire a full time coach in those days, so "Kid" Struble, local professional, taught the Boys the ins and outs of the game.

5 CARS DAMAGED IN TWO CRASHES

Accidents Early Sunday Checked By Police; Summonses Issued

Two accidents investigated by Belleville police over last weekend caused damage to five cars, but no serious injuries resulted.

Police were called to Main street, just north of Mill street, about 1 o'clock Sunday morning, when, according to reports, an automobile operated by H. Wesley Sauger, of Rutherford, crashed into three parked cars. The crash was investigated by Lieut. Smith of the police, who reported Sauger, traveling north in Main street, apparently suffered a fainting spell. The car crossed the highway and crashed into three cars parked in the opposite side of the street.

A summons was issued to Sauger to appear in police court on July 11.

Another crash occurred a short time later, about 2 a.m., at the intersection of Rutgers street and Washington avenue. According to police reports, Frank Marone of King street was driving a Public Service bus north in Washington avenue when a car operated by Anthony Scala of 157 Valley street, and owned by Andrew Scala of 145 Main street, turned left into Washington avenue. The front of Scala's car struck the right front of the bus, the report stated.

Richard Wilson of Orchard street, Newark, a passenger in the Scala car, was taken to St. Mary's hospital, Passaic, by Officer Lee of the local police, where he was treated and detained for observation. A summons was issued to both drivers to appear in police court Wednesday.

Town Commissioners Pass On Four Ordinances

Four ordinances came up for final reading and adoption at the meeting of the town commissioners Tuesday night, were passed and became incorporated in the laws of the town.

One ordinance, revising the traffic laws of the town, amends the traffic ordinance adopted in August, 1943. The new ordinance makes one-way streets of certain sections of Valley, Stephen, Smith and Jerald streets and Horblower avenue. It also creates numerous no-parking areas of sections of these streets and other arteries in the town.

Another ordinance calls for the construction of an eight-inch sanitary sewer in streets laid out on a map of Riviera Park and connection to Carner avenue sewer. Nine thousand, four hundred dollars is appropriated for the project.

Also dealing with the Riviera Park section, a third ordinance provides for construction of a six-inch water main at a cost of $6,400.

The fourth ordinance adopted Tuesday night provides for the building of curbstones and storm sewers in Bell street from Greylock parkway to White Oaks terrace. The ordinance provides $2,500 for financing the construction.

Tripoli Park Club Buys Land For War Memorial

The Tripoli Park Political and Social club has purchased at public auction, the town owned property at the northeast corner of Newark avenue and Cuzzo street for the site of a $30,000 war memorial building.

The club placed an opening bid of $450 on the property which is 150 by 100 feet and won it after competitive bids, for $650. It is expected that construction of the building will begin in the fall. Thomas Strumolo is president.

SCHOOL BOARD GIVES FULL AID TO SERVICE MEN

Assumes Duties and Expense Of Vet Educational Aid In Addition to USAFI

The board of education will assume the full responsibility and expense of educational assistance to servicemen both under USAFI and the Veterans Assistance program through the full-time employment of a person in the high school office, it was learned this week.

This action was taken on Monday at a meeting of the school board with Harry Specht, Foundation president, John Daley, Veterans Assistance program director and Wayne B. Farmer, superintendent of schools.

The Foundation through its Belleville Plan which has received nationwide recognition, has unified all phases of assistance to assistance to service men. Although under existing laws, the board of education's responsibility extends only to jurisdiction over the USAFI program, the board, at the insistence of Joseph Arnold, president, agreed to assume in addition, responsibility for advice to the discharged veterans, a service which ordinarily falls under the Veterans' Assistance program.

USAFI or the United States Armed Forces Institute, is the responsibility of the board of education in each community and in no way comes under the Veterans' Assistance program which is governed by the G.I. Bill of Rights.

Under USAFI, a serviceman still on active duty, may receive an evaluation of the courses he has taken in service, in terms of high school credits, preparatory to applying for further education as provided in the G.I. Bill. The educational committee of the Veterans' Assistance program aids him only after he is discharged, in securing educational benefits to which he is entitled under the G.I. bill.

Combined at High School. The educational committee composed of volunteer workers, as set up by the Belleville Plan of the Foundation, has a dual responsibility for both USAFI and the Veterans' Assistance program. Now, the service will be lodged in one individual following the decision of the board of education to assume full responsibility.

In announcing that William Chapman, football coach and math teacher, will take over the USAFI program at the high school office for the summer months, Arnold stated yesterday that the service to veterans will be combined with the USAFI service after school starts in the fall at board of education expense.

"Under the original set-up, the veterans would have to rely on the services of a group of volunteer advisers," Arnold said yesterday. "With the present arrangement, a person delegated to advising both veterans and those who come under USAFI will be available during working hours at the high school office, an arrangement which should be most beneficial to servicemen, who it is expected will be discharged at an accelerated rate from now on."

Chapman who will assume USAFI duties and in addition, perform the work of the high school principal whose resignation takes place June 30, will receive $600 for the period from July 1 to September 5. No decision has yet been made by the school board on a permanent USAFI and Veterans' Assistance advisor who will take over after that date.

Chapman will replace Dr. Thomas Brosnan, guidance director at the high school, who was given a contract for work in the high school office at $500 by the board at its last meeting. Since that time, Brosnan has informed them that he is making another position as personnel director for a group of hotels for the summer period.

Ambulance, Fire Reports Given By Chief Reid

The Belleville ambulance made 41 calls during the month of May, according to the monthly report presented to Commissioner of Public Safety Joseph King by Fire Chief Robert A. Reid this week. Of these, the report lists 20 calls as answers to accidents. Mileage traveled by the ambulance was placed at 488 miles.

Chief Reid reported the fire department answered 21 alarms during May. Fifteen alarms came through telephone calls, while six were box alarms. Two of the latter were false alarms, he reported. Damages through fires during the month amounted to $2,675.

Town Merchants Seek Greater Bus Service

Commission Asked To Reconsider Bus Permit Denial In Petition Signed By Local Businessmen

A petition signed by 95 Belleville merchants, presented to the town commissioners at their meeting Tuesday night, brought about a reshuffle of a denial at the previous meeting to permit the Cities Service Transit company to operate more buses through the town. The request of the petition that the Commissioners reconsider and allow the additional bus permits was turned down after considerable argument between Commissioner Noll, director of parks and public property, and Wilfred Yudin, spokesman for the merchants.

He is now enjoying a thirty day leave after which he will report to his unit at Fort Lewis, Washington, for deployment to the Pacific theater of operations.

His brother, Capt. Seymour Taffet, who was battalion surgeon for the 234 Field Artillery during its eight months of combat in three campaigns on the continent is at present with his organization south of Nurnberg, Germany, where they are acting as Army of Occupation troops.

Both men are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taffet of the Union avenue address, where Capt. William Taffet practiced medicine for several years prior to entrance into the armed forces.

TOWN TO HIRE GUIDANCE HEAD

Ordinance To Create Full-time Veterans' Director Introduced

Belleville Commissioners introduced part of the burden for carrying out the Belleville Plan to aid returning veterans in their meeting Tuesday night by introducing for first reading an ordinance creating a full-time veterans' guidance director.

A central figure to work with the selective service board in adjusting veterans to civilian life and guiding them to the proper committees for help under the plan was recommended when the ordinance was introduced sometime ago.

The ordinance calls for creating the position of Municipal Veterans' Guidance Director, at an annual salary of $5,000. Duties of the director are defined as "to aid the local veterans' service committee of the Belleville veterans' assistance program area and perform tasks in connection with municipal participation in all veterans' assistance work, and to cooperate with the state director of selective service, local chairman and board of selective service and all other officials."

The ordinance comes up for final reading and adoption at a meeting on July 10, when a public hearing will be held.

DIAMONDS, WATCHES, JEWELRY, at prices always in line with the quality of the merchandise offered. Victor Hart, Jeweler, 457 Washington avenue, Belleville, N. J.

In addition to requesting the board to reconsider its denial to Cities Service company permission to operate more buses on their present route from the Newark city line along Washington avenue to Rutgers street and then east to the Passaic river bridge. At the request of Commissioner Noll, no action was taken on the petition.

Lack of Information

Yudin speaking for the merchants, said he believed the commissioners denied the permits because of lack of adequate information on the issue. Terminating transportation not only the backbone of trade, but also the backbone of the community, Yudin asked the commissioners to put themselves in the class with the great commissioners in the town's history. The decision, he said, is whether Belleville is to get more transportation or stay in its present class.

In regard to the possibility that Public Service might abandon their 100 line if the new permits were granted, Yudin said he was authorized to state that the Cities Service company would supply No. 100 line into Nutley. He stated that route.

A spokesman for Public Service said that abandoning the No. 100 line was not being considered, and pointed out that they had paid $102,568 in taxes to the community last year and that the five per cent tax on persons in the community during the buses amounted to $17,395. He quoted the Cities Services taxes coming into the town at $283.54, and asked continued denial of the permits because granting them would mean unfair competition. A communication was read from Frank R. Parsells of 31 Washington avenue, a Public Service employee, asking that the permits be denied.

Noll Repeats Stand

Answering Yudin, Commissioner Noll reiterated his stand taken at the previous meeting when he introduced a resolution that the permits be denied. He said he had a plan in mind for getting more bus service for the town and hoped to introduce the Public Service No. 100 line into Nutley. He maintained that Yudin had been out to get him since he had Yudin from the Recreation committee eight years ago, and that in the present question, Yudin was simply "fighting for a customer."

Yudin termed this a personal attack, and congratulated Noll on being able to get more out of the Mayor for recreation than he and the other four non-salaried committee members. After additional remarks were made, the commissioners dropped the question without further action.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES OUT

Bell Telephone Announces New Essex County Book Now Being Delivered

Delivery of about 214,000 copies of a new edition of the Essex County telephone directory by the New Jersey Bell Telephone company was started this week, with delivery expected to be completed in short ten days.

Since the last book was issued, the telephone company reports, there have been 35,000 changes have taken place in the alphabetical section, including listing changes, and disconnected and newly connected numbers. The changes represent only 30 percent of the directory's total of 195,000 listings, which means that if you continue to use the old book or a person's number list based on it, you run the risk of getting a wrong number.

In order to avoid wrong calls, as well as to help salvage old cover for the needs of war, the company urges all subscribers to see to it that old telephone books are turned in when the new ones are delivered, or are collected along with other waste paper for re-use. Telephone users also are urged to revise old personal number lists with the aid of the new directory.

T-5 Mobillio Gets 3 Awards For Heroism Under Fire

Local Soldier Receives
DSC, Silver And Bronze
Stars At Atlantic City

Technician Fifth Grade Sam Mobillio, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Mobillio of 86 Heckel street, received the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star and the Bronze star medal at a ceremony held last Friday at the Atlantic City Army Ground and Service forces redistribution station. The awards were made by Col. James G. Cooper Jr., commander at the station.

A member of a medical detachment operating with the 36th infantry division of the fifth army, Cpl. Mobillio was a prisoner of war for seven months at Stalag C-3 in Germany. He was liberated by the Russians. In eighteen months overseas service, he saw action in North Africa, Italy, France and Germany.

The Distinguished Service Cross was awarded to Mobillio on February 12, 1944, for gallantry in action in Italy. The citation accompanying the award states: "His company was subjected to intense artillery fire which caused many casualties. Although he was not in the area, he heard the cries of the wounded. Leaving his place of safety, he crept into the dangerous area and gave first aid to the wounded, although shells continued to burst about him."

The Bronze Star also was awarded to Mobillio in February last year for having induced enemy fire to aid the wounded on the battlefield.

The Silver Star was awarded to Mobillio in July, 1944, when he advanced with his company across a river, through a thick woods and into a clearing covered by heavy mortar fire. As they entered the clearing at least 20 men, including all the medical aid men but Mobillio were wounded. Although Mobillio was protected in the woods, he went into the clearing under fire to aid the wounded.

According to the accompanying citation, "Alone, he carried the wounded to the cover of the protecting bank forward of the field. Many times he left this comparatively safe position to treat wounded men who still lay exposed to the enemy's fire. After he cared for the casualties, he led those who could walk, and carried one man across the river to the aid station, returning with litter bearers to evacuate the remainder of the injured. This done, he returned alone to join his company."

NEW LOCAL TEAM SHAPING UP

Many Candidates Try For Legion Sponsored Team
Under Coach Spotts

Candidates for a new local baseball team under sponsorship of the local American Legion and directed by coach Frank Spotts, met in an initial practice session at Clearman field last Friday. The team will be composed of boys of ages up to 17.

Thirty candidates turned out for the practice, with more expected to show up within the next week. Boys who were high school seniors of the past season are not eligible for the team. Practices will be held every Friday at Clearman field, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Reports indicate the newly organized team will be blessed with an excellent pitching and catching staff. Tony Greco, veteran catcher for the Bellboys, will do the work behind the plate, while Bellboy stars, Lou Vitelli and Herman Lubertazza, will do a good deal of the hurling. A newcomer who may help the team with his pitching is Tom Colmo. He enters high school in September.

The infield will be aided by Frank Takash at the keystone position. Takash can field well and also has an eye for hitting. At third, sophomore Joe Carciere will fill in nicely. The outer garden will have George Lister helping out, and Pat Tentavelli, who can be another Takash if given the chance. Other players who may help are Edward Donnor, Roy Hunt, John Marshall and Angelo Tabaldo.

Games Wanted

The team would like to book games with nearby teams of ages up to 17. Games are to be played Friday nights at 6:30. Managers interested are asked to get in touch with Leighton Smith of 239 Joramemon street, Belleville.

He also has five sisters, Mary, Eleanor, Louise and Anna Ippolito and Mrs. Nettie Primavera.

Fifty relatives and friends were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Huemer of 179 Cedar Hill avenue Saturday evening in honor of their silver wedding anniversary. A buffet supper was served and Ludwig Huemer of Newark was toastmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Huemer were married 25 years ago at the bride's home in Newark. She is the former Miss Julia Jirak, and the late Joseph Jirak. Former pastor, Rev. August Brown, of Redeemer Lutheran church performed the ceremony. Five years later the couple moved to Belleville.

The couple are the parents of Seaman 1/c Doris Eleanor Huemer, WAVE stationed at Arlington, Va., with the Bureau of Navy Personnel, and Robert Joseph Huemer, Belleville High school student who will enter military services next month.

Miss Huemer was at home for her parents' anniversary, which was also attended by the present pastor of Redeemer Lutheran church, Rev. Paul F. Arndt, and all members of the couple's bridal party twenty-five years ago. They are Mrs. Edward Lullwitz of Passaic and Henry J. Jirak of Newark, maid of honor and best man and Mrs. George Schlegel, the former Miss Gertrude Huemer, a niece of Mrs. Huemer, who served as flower girl.

Section 6. It is hereby determined and declared that the period of usefulness of said notes to be issued is a period of ten years computed from the date of said bonds.

No part of the cost of making said improvement has been or is to be specially assessed against property situated in the town of Belleville, and the cost of said improvement, except as hereinafter referred to.

Bellevillites In Uniform

PO 1/c John Rhodes

Fire Controlman 1/c John Rhodes was made a first class Petty Officer recently in the Pacific where he serves on a battleship. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhodes of 30 Lincoln terrace. Graduated from Belleville High school in 1940, he is now 21.

Mr. Rhodes has been in the Pacific since January. Previous to that time he spent leave with his parents here. He entered the Navy three years ago. In civilian life he was employed by the Stegman Photo company of Newark.

A graduate of the local high school in 1943, O'Dea attended Princeton university for two terms before enrolling in Denison with the V-12 unit.

A happy chance meeting took place on the beaches of Leyte a short time ago when two Belleville sailors who entered the Navy at the same time met for a few minutes chat.

The men are Matthew M. O'Neill, 1/c of 350 Belleville avenue, and Sam Speciale of 27 Mt. Pleasant avenue. Both men entered the Navy at the same time and after preliminary training were assigned to the same fleet, but on different ships.

Sometime ago the men met on another occasion, but the most recent meeting was purely by chance, according to letters received by O'Neill's wife, Mrs. Rose O'Neill of the Belleville avenue address. O'Neill wrote that he obtained three hours liberty on Leyte and was walking along the beach when he ran into Speciale.

O'Neill has been at sea for the past nine months and has taken part in actions at Iwo Jima and the Philippines. He has two children, Mary Ann, 6, and Eileen 2.

Wearing St. Peter's new uniforms will be Billie Hickman, George Lister, Joe Lister, Bucky McConnell, Ray Howell, Paul Mays, Mike Flynn, Frankie Caragher, Mac Cook, Sutton, Klinknecht, Tecler, DelGrosso and Moyes.

No admission will be charged for the game.

Pfc. James Wilkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkinson of 13 Wilber street, arrived in Belleville Sunday. He was released from German prison camps May 1 after being held since last December when he was captured by other members of the 106th Infantry division.

He will have 78 days furlough.

Sgt. Carmen Della Terza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Della Terza of 130 Heckel street, arrived home last week, wearing the Presidential citation and eight campaign stars.

In the army before Pearl Harbor, he landed in Africa as one of the Patton men in November, 1942, and was in the whole African campaign, ending up in Tunisia in August, 1943. After the Sicilian invasion, he went to England and was later in the fourth wave to hit the Normandy beachhead and that well-remembered invasion.

His itinerary took him, back to Paris and later through Belgium under Gen. Hodges, through Luxembourg. Wounded crossing the Rhine bridge, he was hospitalized for a month before going back into battle. He spent V-E day in Koenig, Germany. He has two brothers in service, Anthony in Belgium and Peter in Germany.

Mrs. Gerard Glandonato, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Glandonato of 44 Belmont avenue, has renounced back to duty at the Dover

Belleville Youth In College

Charles E. Schlecker jr. of 33 Baldwin place was graduated cum laude from Bucknell university Saturday under the Navy V-12 program. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schlecker and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Winklesaber, attended the exercises.

Life In Okinawa Described By Marine Combat Pilot

Lieut. Martin T. Tiernan Writes Letter To Family Telling How He Found Former Japanese Island Stronghold

Life in Okinawa is just "the same thing all over again," with none of the comforts of life here in the states, writes Lieut. Martin T. Tiernan, Marine combat pilot, who is the son of Martin F. Tiernan of Wallace and Tiernan company. In an interesting letter to his family, Lieut. Tiernan describes the former Japanese island as it looked to him when his Marine outfit landed there recently.

Lieut. Tiernan entered the Marines in August, 1943, as a pilot trainee and received his wings at Pensacola, Fla., in August, 1943. He went overseas to the Pacific in September, 1944.

A graduate of Princeton university in 1939, he was well known as a football player on the Princeton team in 1936, 37 and 38. He also was a member of the Cap and Gown fraternity at the university. Prior to his entry in the Marines, he was employed in his father's company here.

Letter Home

His letter home follows:
Guess where your roving son is now, Okinawa! We arrived here yesterday—start operations today.

I've known for quite awhile, of course, of this movement but was unable to even hint of it to you because of censorship regulations. It's the old story all over again—having to use mosquito netting again, sleeping in tents with no floors, eating out of mess-kits in a chow line, bathing out of a helmet, no chairs or desks to use, etc. However, while it's a far cry from the comfortable camp we built at Samar, I really don't mind it a bit.

While, of course, the battle has been won here, there's still fighting going on and all night long we hear the artillery and naval units shelling the Jap positions. It lights up the sky a great deal, and looks and sounds like a big thunder storm about to strike. Our camp is next to a Jap prisoner of war camp. A few nights ago, some of them escaped, so we now sleep with our pistols next to us—hardly necessary, but it helps the peace of mind.

We've had two air raid alerts, but the planes were shot down or driven off before they could get in. We now have an almost impregnable aerial defense—a combination of many air patrols, navy and ground anti-aircraft and excellent radar coverage—so though the Japs try night and day to get in, they very seldom succeed. That's fine by me, because on one side of our camp is our air strip and on the other side is the main harbor with all the shipping. What a spot we're in—between two main objectives! I've got my fox-hole dug and though I honestly don't expect to have to use it, it's there just in case.

On the way up here, incidentally, I saw Frank Mackinney (Navy Lieutenant). We had a brief but very pleasant visit. He was asking for you.

Mail service here seems to be excellent. In fact, there were several letters from several of the family waiting for me here—including one from—
You might as well stop now sending me any more books, food, etc. I don't believe I've received ten per cent of all that everybody has sent me and if the rest of this ever reaches me, I'll be well set for the remainder of my stay out here.

And speaking of going home,

In Armored Division

T/Sgt. Charles H. Oliver of 234 Ralph street last week sent his wife the citation which accompanied the award to him recently of the Bronze Star medal in Weimar, Germany. For "exhibiting a high degree of technical skill in communications during adverse weather conditions and often under enemy fire" the radio operator was decorated.

Sgt. Oliver has been overseas eleven months with the Armored division of which he is a member. His total military service amounts to 42 months. The award was based on his performance during the period, July, 1944 to May, 1945.

Mrs. Oliver and the couple's two-year-old daughter, Lynne, make their home at the Ralph street address with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fritts. The soldier's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oliver of 583 Washington avenue.

An alumnus of Belleville High school, Sgt. Oliver was with General Electric company of Bloomfield. He was also transporter with the dance band at Donahue's restaurant in Mountain View.

although we haven't been able to find out definitely, it appears that we'll be relieved in from six to eight weeks. This really isn't too bad—it could have been much longer. If there's any change, I'll let you know.

In the meantime, keep your chin up, because mine certainly is. The time goes by fast now and before I know it, I'll be on my way home.

Belleville senior Girl Scouts, who will assist the staff, will be the Misses Marion McTiernan and Patricia Maginness during the first two-week period; the Misses Jane Gory and Marie Lampman, the second period; the Misses Shirley Lou Crisp and Barbara Armstrong, third period, and Miss Audrey Todd, the concluding weeks of August.

Mrs. Edward S. Geary

gorski of 28 William street, and Edward S. Geary of Jersey City took place Saturday afternoon, the bride's birthday, in St. Valentine's church, Bloomfield. Rev. B. D. Socha performed the ceremony after which a reception was held at White Eagle hall, Bloomfield.

Mr. Geary's parents are Mr. and Mrs. August Geary.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Bertha Podgorski, as maid of honor, and Miss Szymanski of Belle Mead as bridesmaid. Junior bridesmaids were the bride's twin nieces, the Misses Joan and Jane Drankowski of Newark. Five-year-old flower girls were Victoria Arasimowicz of this town and Joan Geary of Hackensack, nieces of the bride and bridegroom.

An off-the-shoulder gown of white satin with deep yoke of lace, tight bodice and bouffant skirt was worn by the bride. Her tulle veil, attached to a tiara of orange blossoms, was made with five yard train to cover the equally long train of her gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias centered with a white orchid.

Bridal attendants wore bouffant gowns of sheer nylon over taffeta with flower coronets veiled in matching shade. The maid of honor's costume was in lime; all the others in Nile green. Miss Podgorski carried American Beauty roses, the bridesmaids, pink roses and the flower girls, old fashioned bouquets.

Henry Geary of Teaneck was his brother's best man. Ushers were Robert Taylor of Elizabeth, John Lisko and James Geary.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Geary will reside at 101 Hopper avenue, Nutley, after a honeymoon in the Poconos. Mr. Geary was educated in Jersey City schools and is with the Western Electric company in Kearny. Since her graduation from Belleville High school, Mrs. Geary has been with Heyer Products company.

Her brothers in service are Sgt. Matthew Podgorski in the Philippines, Pfc. Chester Podgorski in Germany and T/5 Stanley and T/5 Walter Podgorski at Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland.

Refreshments at 1:30 will open a "Go To Market" card party in Masonic Temple Monday afternoon which will be sponsored by the Sunshine Group of Arene Chapter, OES. The public is invited and practical prizes from market basket contributions will be provided for all.

Mrs. Mary Page is chairman; Mrs. Mary R. Price, Mrs. Mary Volpe, Mrs. Florence Newman and Mrs. Helen Reid are workers. The entire committee will assist.

Belleville Aids Veterans

The citizens of Belleville, as well as the veterans themselves, should be thankful for the fine program for advice and guidance that has been set up to aid the returning soldier, through the efforts of the Belleville Foundation. Residents should take pride in the fact that this community has gained country-wide fame through their exhibited readiness to help the discharged serviceman bridge the gap from the regimented life of a soldier back to the greatly changed life of a civilian.

That gap definitely is a wide one. Practically all men being discharged under the new system have served long tours of duty. While they were away many affecting civilians have been passed by their knowledge. The veteran needs advice in adjusting himself to these changes.

Overseas, vague reports came to the soldier about food shortages, higher cost of soldiers' rights, etc. All these things the veteran as soon as he is discharged. Yet without proper guidance it takes him months to adjust himself to the ins and outs of wartime civilian living.

This is where the Belleville Plan begins to function. The law requires the veteran to report back to his draft board within five days of his discharge for reclassification under the selective service system. When the veteran reports to the board he fills out a form listing all the types of help he might need. These forms are checked, and the veteran is referred to a committee set up under the guidance plan. If he needs legal guidance, the veteran is taken in hand by a committee made up of the town's foremost lawyers. If he needs financial guidance he is referred to a committee of expert bankers.

The town has already introduced a resolution calling for a full time veterans' guidance director, who will oversee and coordinate the work of the various agencies connected with the program.

Within the short time that the points system has been in effect, three hundred and sixty-nine men have reported back to the local draft board. Of course, not all of these men signified the need for immediate help from the guidance program. Many returned to their old jobs and settled quite easily into civilian routine.

However, fifty-six men did require immediate assistance of one type or another. The selective service board reports that ninety-one different kinds of help have been requested from the guidance plan thus far.

The board of Education, in a fine gesture of cooperation, has assumed full responsibility for administering to the educational needs of returning veterans. Before taking advantage of the educational benefits offered under the G.I. Bill of Rights, many servicemen need assistance in registering credits for high school and transferring credits received for courses taken through the United States Armed Forces Institute program. The board plans to hire a man to aid the serviceman and the veteran in these phases of the plan. In other words, the Board has taken over the entire educational end of the veterans' assistance program of which USAFI is its only responsibility under existing laws.

It is to the everlasting credit of Belleville that it can offer such a beneficial program as that set forth in The Belleville Plan. Its widespread fame is but added proof of its need.

The Christian and Peace

We saw a Christian clergyman on the street the other day and, having nothing else on our mind at the moment, we wondered what he thought of the efforts of the statesmen to fashion a program that will preserve peace. After all, the Founder of the Christian religion presented a plan for peace more than 2,000 years ago, but we've seen no traces of it in the published reports of the statesmen's conferences.

What must be the thoughts of a true follower of Jesus as he contemplates the statesmen? Does he despair? Does he, for even a faltering moment, doubt the success of his mission? For man's personal peccadilloes — his dishonesty, his enslavement to his passions, his cowardice, his silly pride—for these the clergyman doubtless has an easy tolerance. He knows man is weak, and the cure of souls is probably reconciled to the creature's backsliding into sin. But when entire nations—Christian nations, at that—ignore the teachings of Christ, what feeling grips the heart and hopes of Christ's minister?

For it is the Christian nations, of course, that cause all the trouble. And with an effrontery that must make even God Himself blush, the Christian peoples, during each succeeding war, go to their churches and pray to God for victory. But when their statesmen gather after the war, to lay with high hopes the foundations of what they fondly believe will be lasting peace, the one thing they never give thought to, amid all the elaborate speeches, is the simple Word of the Prince of Peace.

To the clergyman, who has found fulfillment in the doctrine of Christ and who has tried to communicate to others the solace to be obtained from Christ's teaching, the action of the statesmen in ignoring God in their deliberations must bring a peculiar sense of frustration.

Some day, we suppose, a simple man of God will go to one of these peace conferences—paying his own way, no doubt—and like a voice from Sinai will remind the stripe-trousered Eminences that for all their plenary councils, their vetoes and consultative assemblies and little nations and Big Fives, their work will be in vain unless they include in their charter for the future of the world a simple little lecture called the Sermon on the Mount.

Great Men and Little

The Great Man theory of history has many dubious aspects and is unacceptable to people brought up in the democratic tradition. Yet the impact which individual men have on the course of history has only this week received another illustration which makes one wonder if the theory of the Great Man does not, after all, have merit.

Count Ciano's diary, now being published, reveals that in 1939 the British Prime Minister Chamberlain submitted to Mussolini, for his editing and approval, a speech which the leader of England had prepared for delivery in the House of Commons. Since it is impossible to believe that the British people ever would have accepted such humiliation, this action must have been solely that of their leader.

This was the leader who a few weeks later flew to Berchtesgaden to grovel even more abjectly at the feet of Hitler, and it was not until a full year later, when his policies had brought Britain to the disaster of Dunkirk, that he was removed from power.

That was one kind of man. Overnight the fate of England was placed in the hands of another kind. Immediately England was given the tonic of Churchill's leadership, and, though the way was long and hard, the British fought their way out of the abyss to victory.

Certainly it would seem that in the difference between Chamberlain and Churchill, at least so far as the British Empire is concerned, and probably for the rest of the Western world, too, lay the difference between defeat and slavery on the one hand and victory and power on the other. One was a haggling business man from Birmingham, the other a statesman of vision and courage, and because England finally rejected the one and chose the other the course of world history was changed.

Faraway Marriages

Somebody remarked the other day that there seem to be fewer weddings this June. That there are fewer big weddings, of course, is natural, but a check of wedding notices reveals that the boys and girls, despite all the difficulties, are living up to the June tradition. The only difference is that the marriages are scattered all over the country. A generation from now mothers will be busy pointing out to Junior the little spots on the maps of Texas and Georgia where they and Daddy were married.

College Still Good Idea

A poll of the graduating class of Belleville High school reveals that most of the students plan to go to work. Ordinarily this would not be unusual, but in view of higher incomes and the efforts men's colleges are making to refill their depleted student bodies it seems a little strange that this year, of all years, so few of the graduates elect to pursue their studies further.

In these tumultuous times it is difficult and probably a little presumptuous to give advice to young men and women. Yet it would seem obvious that in the days ahead the well-trained and educated will have advantages which should not be ignored for the quick profits of war-time employment. Certainly a liberal arts education will give one resources for spiritual satisfaction which doubtless will prove invaluable in the troubled years that lie ahead.

LETTERS

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the authors of the individual letters and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the publishers or editors of The Times.

From Mrs. Martha S. Herkins, Director
Silver Lake Community House
To the Editor of The Times:

The letter addressed to you by one, Ralph Risoli and published in your issue of June 21st, would not be worthy of notice if it was not for the possibility that silence on my part might be construed as tacit acquiescence to the mis-statements contained in his letter.

Risoli's personal attack upon me was undoubtedly the aftermath of my putting him out of the Silver Lake Community House several months ago because his activities in connection with the proposed rebuilding of the rag factory on Hackett street (which was destroyed by fire last November) indicated that he had lined himself up with the owner of the property and against the residents of the neighborhood who were fighting to protect their homes. He had been in the Community House only three or four times prior to that time and then in connection with the so called Silver Lake Civic League.

Let me state most emphatically that I did not write the article about the Silver Lake Community House published in your paper of which Risoli refers. The writer was furnished with some house records, many of which were assembled before I came here. The only part of the article for which I am personally responsible is where I am directly quoted in over conditions existing in Silver Lake during and prior to prohibition are matters of common knowledge which impels me to believe that Risoli's denial of the existence of those conditions was not made in good faith. It was intended to stir up racial prejudice. Certainly I have never cast aspersions at any group in this section. I have many friends of Italian birth or lineage and I value their friendship highly.

The record of attendance at this house during the year 1944 as printed in your paper was correct. It was not the guesswork of a garrulous irresponsible trouble maker but the figure obtained from carefully compiled records made for our official annual report to the Newark Welfare Federation and the Belleville Community Chest. Prior to the war taking our older boys and girls into the Services or war work our yearly attendance averaged around thirty thousand.

In my opinion Risoli does not possess the capacity, the knowledge nor has he had the experience necessary to enable him to pass competent judgment upon the success or failure of the activities of our community house. I will leave that to those who have been with us through the years. During my thirteen and a half years as Executive Director he never was a house member.

My record here speaks for itself. It calls for no apologies. I am proud of it, as I am of my thirty years of social welfare work.

Understanding The Law

Through thousands of interviews the ODB officers have found that many persons become confused in regard to their family allowances. Scidom is there intent to defraud the Government. It is primarily a matter of understanding the law. It has been discovered that many families actually are not getting as much family allowance as they are entitled to. Others are receiving the benefit under the mistaken impression they are entitled to it when they are not. It narrows down to a question of relationship and dependency. A serviceman's wife and minor children are entitled to family allowances, whether they are dependent upon the serviceman for support or not. Parents, brothers, sisters and other relatives may receive the benefit only if they are actually dependent upon the soldier.

ON LISTS MEAT PRICE CEILINGS

Issues Booklets For Public
Distribution, Gives Reasons
For Meat Shortage

Announcing that all North Jersey War Price and Rationing Boards now have available pocket-size meat price lists for consumers, District OPA Director Richard J. Tarrant urged shoppers to "arm yourselves with this potent weapon in the fight against black markets and inflation."

The price lists are 8 x 11 inches in size, and list beef, veal and lamb ceilings on one side, and pork ceilings on the other. Prices are shown for all cuts and grades of meat, and for canned meat, sausages, and other "meat products." A column of text beside the lists explains the reasons for the meat shortage, describes the inflationary results of black market operations, and tells how to report an overcharge to the Price Panel of the War Price and Rationing Board.

"A great many women have asked that price lists be given to consumers so they can shop intelligently and in accordance with wartime price controls," Tarrant said. "I am happy to be able to supply these price lists now. I hope every housewife will get one and use it to check on prices when she shops. Consumer pressure against over-ceiling prices can be a great force to help eliminate black market."

Tarrant said that the boards will distribute the lists through organizations, groups and factories, and that a supply will be kept at each board to fill requests by individual consumers.

Reasons for Meat Shortage
In the explanatory text which accompanies the price list, the reasons for the meat shortage are itemized as follows:

"1. Meat production is down. We are producing far more meat than just before the war but less than in 1944. While beef production is well up, pork (about half our meat supply) is down due to the feed supply situation last year.

"2. The Government takes more and is still having trouble getting all it wants. The victory in Europe will not reduce Army-Navy needs for many months.

"3. People want to buy more. Because more of us have more money to spend.

"4. The meat is not moving evenly all over the country. Federally inspected meat is the only meat that can be purchased for the Army and Navy. It is the only kind that can legally be shipped across State lines. Areas which do not produce meat depend mainly upon Federally inspected meat.

"Today there is a ready market for a great deal more meat in areas near where it is produced. So a smaller share goes to the Federally inspected slaughterhouses. That means less meat for cities and towns away from production areas.

"The Government has taken steps to move more meat into Federally inspected plants. This should mean a fairer share of meat for these cities and towns away from production areas."

OPA Warns Against Use Of Counterfeit Sugar Stamps

Announcing the first duration suspension of a North Jersey retail grocer for transferring counterfeit sugar ration stamps, District OPA Director Richard J. Tarrant today advised food merchants that counterfeits will "probably increase because of the shortage," and warned them not to accept loose ration coupons.

"The only way a retailer can protect himself and his inventory against counterfeits," Tarrant pointed out, "is not to buy any ration stamps, and to refuse to accept loose sugar ration stamps from customers. The rationing regulations require that a consumer remove the stamps from the ration books in the presence of the merchant. If storekeepers and consumers will cooperate to Baldwin place was graduated from the danger of counterfeits will be avoided."

During the past two months since the program started, 47 North Jersey dealers have been debited 65,555 pounds as a result of having transferred counterfeit sugar ration coupons, Tarrant disclosed. All meat, sugar and gasoline stamps banked by dealers are sent to an OPA Verification Center where they are tested for validity. The spurious ones are sent to the District OPA here which debits them against the dealers, and investigates their source.

Cpl. Wyss wears the Asiatic Pacific ribbon with two Battle Stars, and the Philippine Liberation ribbon with one Bronze Star. He is an engineer on an assault landing craft.

William P. Peacock, gunner's mate third class, USNR, is among the New Jersey residents stationed at the Section Base, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, where ships assigned to the Central Pacific area are repaired, serviced and supplied, according to an announcement issued this week by the office of public information of the Hawaiian sea frontier.

Reading Plan Inaugurated At Recreation Playground

In addition to the other activities being carried out at the Recreation House playground, Mrs. Marie Lombardi, director, has inaugurated a reading program for the children. A reading contest, "Reading for Fun," has also been introduced.

Each Thursday morning a period is devoted to individual instruction in reading to children enrolled in the program. The children are encouraged to read library books, and on Friday mornings book reports are made.

The reports are corrected and recorded on a reading chart, which is kept in the playground for the children to see and check on their progress in the contest.
