

McGreevy Pulls Triple Duty On Flak-Shattered Bomber

Narrative Statement Tells Thrilling Story Of Action
By Local Bombardier

Serving as bombardier on a B-24 Liberator bomber during bombing runs over Europe wasn't enough for First Lieutenant Joseph F. McGreevy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McGreevy of 15 Cleveland street. During one perilous flight in a flak-shattered plane he also acted as engineer and navigator in helping to bring the plane back to friendly territory. This was revealed this week in a narrative statement concerning the eighteenth of McGreevy's five bombing sorties. The statement was the basis for the award to McGreevy of the Distinguished Flying Cross.

McGreevy, recently honorably discharged from the service, is being mentioned as a candidate for the post as Belleville's Veterans Guidance Director, $3,000 a year position recently created by the town commission. Petitions urging the appointment of McGreevy to the job are being circulated throughout the town this week.

The statement reads: "On 11 December, 1944, Lieut. McGreevy as bombardier of a B-24 type aircraft, was flying on a long and hazardous mission against the Moosbierbaum oil refinery, a high priority enemy objective in Austria. While on a sharp rally from the target which had not been bombed because of a severe weather conditions strong defensive anti-aircraft fire was encountered. Bursts of anti-aircraft fire slightly above the aircraft sent a large fragment of flak crashing thru the pilot's compartment, tearing out the flight instruments and continuing on through the pilot's protective helmet, fatally wounding him.

"Two turbo-superchargers had also been put out of commission and were as useless as the damaged flight instruments. The fatally wounded pilot slumped forward on the control wheel forcing the plane into a steep dive. Lieutenant McGreevy was prompt to realize the grave danger to the crew and plane and as the plane began its dive, he salvaged the bomb load.

"The remainder of the formation had continued on its course at 25,000 feet so the lone bomber, now flown by the co-pilot, although unable to make radio contact with the fighter escort and without benefit of the formation's massed firepower for protection, headed for the home base from inspection of the ship by the crew brought back reports over the interphone that the hydraulic system was shot out and the oxygen supply in the after part of the ship had escaped due to damage from the flak. The rudder, main and trim tab cables had both been severed, while the right aileron had been punctured rendering it useless.

"When the co-pilot called for a fuel check he found that the engineer had bailed out near the target. Lieutenant McGreevy, again acting on his own initiative, crawled back to the flight deck and performed the duties of the co-pilot.

Local TB League Announces Third Annual X-Ray Clinic

Tuberculosis Nurse Keeps Busy Caring For Those Contracting Disease

Third of the annual free x-ray clinics for residents and industrial employees of Belleville and Nutley will be held in the high school here on September 22, from 10 to 7. Conducted by the Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis league these chest x-rays are offered to men, women and children of all ages to provide one of the greatest assurances of good general health. The early detection of the presence of tuberculosis early enough so that complete cure may be effected.

Mrs. Ernest W. Whynall, tuberculosis nurse, in an interview this week pointed out that at last fall's clinic in Nutley where 201 Belleville people were x-rayed no active cases of tuberculosis were found. One case, new to the league, had already been arrested; two others, known to the league, were x-rayed because they desired to check their progress. A total of 875 pictures were taken.

Because the possibility of curing the disease is so great if it is detected promptly, and because others who have been exposed to it can so readily be safeguarded from contagion, the association appeals each year for larger numbers of the population to avail themselves of the clinic x-ray.

Applicants to the September clinic will be required to furnish their names, ages, addresses, places of employment and the name of their family physician. These reports will be in Mrs. Whynall's hands and the results

Belleville's newest boy scout troop will be sponsored by the Second Baptist and Little Zion churches. Papers for the charter to be issued to the two churches and to secure the commissions for the committeemen and troop officials as well as membership certificates for the scouts are practically complete, it was announced this week.

The new troop brings the total cub and scout units in the district including the sea scout ship to 17. At the present time, there are 81 scout leaders connected with the units. In addition another group of men serve as district committeemen, council members at large and commissioners.

The scouting program is being made available to an increasing number of Belleville institutions as a program for youth from 9 years of age and up.

One of the services rendered by the council to the institutions and leaders is an annual program of training courses based on the needs of the individuals concerned. The determination of the needs in all 7 districts of the council is now being completed by the district training committees.

Meetings of leaders in the Belleville district have been scheduled as follows: Belleville staff meeting was held on Tuesday, in the office of W. Douglas Clark, and the round table will be held in the Recreation House next Tuesday.

The Belleville camporee, one of seven to be conducted in Robert Treat Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held on September 29 and 30 at Belleville park.

REGISTRATION OF BICYCLES SOUGHT BY LOCAL POLICE

Chief George Spatz
Urges Owners To Aid
In Curbing Thefts

Belleville Police Chief George R. Spatz yesterday urged all bicycle owners in the town to register their bicycles with the police department to help curb the present wave of bicycle thefts. At least five bicycles have been stolen from in front of business places in the town recently, he said.

The department adopted the policy of registering bicycles two years ago. To date, 492 owners have registered.

In order to register their property, owners are requested to bring the vehicles to police headquarters any weekday, preferably during the mornings. The registrant fills out a card with information concerning the make, color, frame size, tire size, serial number and other identification of the bicycle. Police assign a number to the registrant, and that number is stamped by the police on the bicycle. A card, similar to an automobile registration card, is given to the owner, who is to carry the card on his person when he rides the bicycle. This system is a valuable aid in determining ownership and regaining lost bicycles, Spatz said.

Spatz also urged scooter owners to register their scooters with the police department. He pointed out that it is unlawful to carry the weapons without a permit, and that local police as well as M.P.s are authorized to pick up men carrying them. Registration of the serial numbers of the firearms and their descriptions would aid immeasurably in regaining them if they're stolen, he said.

Red Cross Obtains Quota At Kidde Blood Bank

Belleville Chapter, American Red Cross, obtained their full quota of 180 points at the regular blood bank at the Walter Kidde plant on Monday. Of the 275 workers originally registered, 200 responded to the latest bank day and 180 were accepted.

Robert Olivanti, representative of the company, directed the affair, which took from 2 to 7 p.m. He was assisted by the nurses, the motor corps, the canteen and staff assistants.

The next bank, conducted by the chapter, will be for townswomen and will be held on October 2. To meet the quota for that bank, 275 registrants are needed. Donors are urged to register at the red cross headquarters on Washington avenue now.

'SWITCH TO OIL' APPLICATIONS UP

Prospective Tight Coal
Supply Brings Requests
For Change In Systems

Prospects of a tight coal supply next winter have increased five times the number of persons applying to District OPA during July for permission to switch to fuel oil. This was disclosed this week by district OPA rationing executive H. Sherman Beatty.

He explained that shortage of coal is not a valid basis for permitting coal users to change to fuel oil, and pointed out that fuel oil has been cut a third by rationing while coal burners are permitted to buy four-fifths of normal supply.

"Fuel oil supplies," he added, "are just as tight as last year, and may become tighter because of the stepped-up Pacific war. It is just as tight, if not tighter than, coal."

During July, he said, 550 applications for conversion and re-conversion to fuel oil were received, as compared with a normal average of 100 a month. Of the 550, only 106 qualified for use of fuel oil by reason of extreme and undue hardship, as required by rationing regulations.

In most of the disqualified cases, the applications were based on the tight coal supply, or merely on greater personal convenience.

Long Island Man Fined On Lottery Ticket Charge

Gerald Dragotta of 3111 101st street, East Elmhurst, Long Island, was found guilty of having in his possession a quantity of horse race tickets by Judge Everett Smith in police court Friday morning. He pleaded guilty to charges preferred by deputy Police Chief Leighton.

Dragotta was arrested on July 31 by Leighton at the Walter Kidde company plant here. Leighton said he started to nab Dragotta outside the plant, but was made inside the plant. A search revealed the numbers tickets, he said.

Arraignment of Lawrence Tobia of Newark on charges of violating the State Small Loan act and Lending money at excessive rates of interest was postponed until tomorrow.

DE WITT SAVINGS ABSORBS THREE NEWARK GROUPS

Local Association Boosts
Assets By $450,000
Through Transaction

Purchase by the De Witt Savings and Loan Association of Belleville of the assets of three Newark Building and Loan associations, adding a total of approximately $450,000 to the local association's assets, was announced yesterday by Edward P. Cantwell, executive secretary of the association. Absorption of the three other associations brings the total assets of the local group to $1,700,000, he said.

The Newark associations absorbed by De Witt are the Sunnyside, Ultimate and the Altruist Building and Loan Associations. Shareholders of these associations all voted at meetings held within the past two weeks to approve the plan presented to them by their directors for the sale of the assets to De Witt. Each of the plans had the approval of the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance, Cantwell said.

Beneficial Plan

Shareholders of each of the three associations benefited materially in the transaction, according to Cantwell, since in the case of the Sunnyside, they will realize 122 1/2 per cent of the book value of their accounts, and in the case of the Ultimate and the Altruist, they will realize 125 1/2 per cent. The plan provides that each shareholder in these three associations will receive a new account in the De Witt equal to the book value of his account in his old association, and the excess above the book will be paid in a cash dividend.

The De Witt Savings and Loan Association commenced operations in Belleville on June 15, 1942, as a result of the merger of the Home, Central and Clover Building and Loan Associations. Assets at the commencement of operations were approximately $700,000. At the last semi-annual period, June 30, its assets had increased to approximately $1,250,000.

King Commends Plan

Commenting on the plan of absorption, Joseph King, president of the association, said, "The insured savings and loan associations are performing a useful service in providing mortgage money to prospective home owners and in providing the people of the community with a safe place in which to save, operated in their own community by their own people."

The Combat Infantryman's Badge was awarded the soldier in February for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy. His "excellent, soldierly qualities, in keeping with the highest military traditions," were cited in a letter from the commanding officer to Mrs. Marshall.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gus Marshall of 53 Ralph street where his sister, Miss Dorothea Marshall also resides. Another sister, Mrs. Eunice Conover, lives at 80 Ralph street.

The 33 year old soldier was born here and was graduated from Belleville high school. He was an employee of the Prudential apartments in Newark in civilian life. Relatives and friends have been invited to attend a memorial service for him at 2 Sunday afternoon in Little Zion church, 154 Stephens street.

Mrs. Marshall is the former Miss Mary Dickinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dickinson of Bordentown.

Sub Sailor Gets Silver Star For Pacific Area Action

Henry Fort Awarded Medal For Part He Played in Sinking Enemy Ships

Henry F. Fort, chief quartermaster, USN, has received the Silver Star medal for outstanding action as a member of the crew of a submarine in the Navy Undersea fleet, according to word received this week by his father, Patrick A. Fort of 133 Forest street.

A citation accompanying the award states: "For gallantry in action in the performance of his duties as chief of the boat in a United States submarine during a war patrol of that vessel. His industry, skill and ability to maintain a high state of readiness in the control room were of valuable assistance to his commanding officer in conducting attacks which resulted in sinking over 20,000 tons of enemy shipping and damaging over 5,000 tons. His calm manner and devotion to duty contributed directly to the success of his vessel. His conduct throughout was an inspiration to all with whom he served and in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

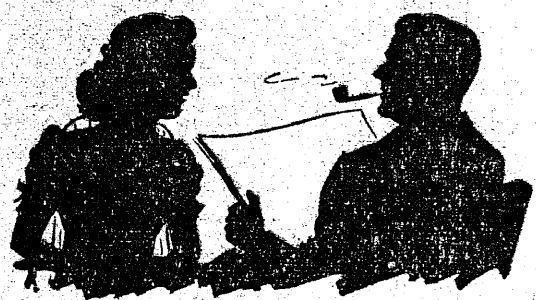

The citation was signed by Chester W. Nimitz, fleet admiral of the Navy.

Fort, 24, was born in Newark and moved to Belleville when he was five years old. He attended School No. 5, and was graduated from Belleville High school in 1938. He was attending Newark university when he enlisted in the Navy in October, 1940.

He received training for submarine duty at the New London, Conn., submarine base. After serving for three years in the Atlantic, Fort was transferred to the Pacific for duty a year and a half ago.

His brother, Pfc. Harvey, is a basic training instructor in the army air forces, and is stationed at Robbins field, Ga.

expenses, through the sale of Christmas seals.

Indication of the public desire to take the health precaution these clinics offer is shown by the fact that 200 Belleville persons attended the 1944 clinic in Nutley, as against 130 at the Belleville clinic in 1943. Total attendance at the first clinic was 241; in 1944, Nutley and Belleville sent 875 residents to be tested.

Most people who attend the clinics can go with the assurance that they will find themselves free of the disease if past statistics are used as a basis. Those who have reason to suspect that they have been exposed to tuberculosis may feel that they are on the immediate road to ridding themselves of it when they have the x-rays taken.

Easily Cared For

Hardly any other health deficiency is so easily cared for, even within the home, or made more simple or confidential than the treatment of this disease through the co-operation of the tuberculosis agency. A survey of Mrs. Whynall's professional activity in Belleville last year makes this understandable.

On duty at the semi-monthly tuberculosis clinics at Soho hospital and on call daily in the local health department, the nurse is an understanding confident and tower of strength to those whose x-rays reveal signs of the disease. Dr. Martin Castellano of Newark, under the auspices of the league, reads and interprets x-rays on the first and third Wednesday afternoons of the month at Soho. When an active case reveals itself the patient is recommended to his family physician. Lacking a personal physician, or sometimes on the advice of his own doctor, the patient may be found to need sanatorium treatment. Mrs. Whynall arranges entrance to the Verona hospital and maintains the contact between the patient and his family if he is entered there.

Visits Home Patients

If the case calls only for home care Dr. Castellano specifies diet and rest routines as well as medication for the ill person. The nurse, again, under takes all the enforcement of his prescription and visits the patient frequently enough to determine that these things are carried out with as little hardship as possible. She also instructs other members of the family in safeguarding themselves. They too can be x-rayed and can follow health rules which will strengthen them.

When a patient is discharged from the sanatorium the nurse is the comforting mentor of his home life until the new adjustment is made.

In this way Mrs. Whynall last year made 192 visits to active cases in the home and 426 observations and contacts of a less serious nature. Also involved in her work have been those who were rejected in military draft because of tuberculosis.

In between Dr. Castellano's visits to the hospital for clinics Mrs. Whynall arranges for anyone who desires it to be x-rayed at that institution. Those who are unable to get to the hospital without help are transported by her.

Nurse Well Qualified

The gentle, motherly nurse, who has a radiant smile, brought a rich background of nursing service to the association when she became tuberculosis nurse in 1942. She was graduated from the school of nursing of St. Luke's hospital in Union, New York, and after a period of private duty, and serving as an office nurse, she took special courses in school nursing at Oswego and Buffalo State Teachers' colleges. She followed this by five years of school nursing.

Five more years were devoted to public health nursing under the New York State health department for which she prepared with public nursing courses at Syracuse university. In St. Lawrence county, New York, working out of Massena and Canton, she performed all types of public nursing including home deliveries often making calls twenty or more miles distant.

Mrs. Whynall, who makes her home in Nutley, came to New Jersey in 1940. She has a fourteen year old son. Her husband is general manager of the Times-News.

In this case we have been able to take the mortgages from three associations without inconvenience to the mortgagors, and at the same time have provided an inexpensive means whereby these associations could liquidate promptly.

absent engineer. As the Adriatic coast loomed up ahead the copilot announced he would crash-land on the Isle of Vis, but through a misunderstanding over the interphone, the navigator and nose-gunner bailed out. The pilot and ball gunner were both dead. Lieutenant McGreevy's fuel check showed enough gas was left to make the trip across the Adriatic. The absence of the navigator was not discovered until the course was reset for the Italian mainland. Again Lieutenant McGreevy, with complete disregard for his own safety, stood over the open bomb bay and directed the course of the bomber without the aid of any maps or charts, using his knowledge and memory as a guide.

Maintained Morale

"Through his ability and persistence the mainland was reached. Acting as navigator and engineer was not all Lieutenant McGreevy accomplished. He also rose to the occasion by continually urging the remainder of the crew to be cool and not to lose their heads in the emergency. His comfort advice and steady, calm voice were of inestimable value in maintaining a high degree of morale among the crew members during the precarious flight."

"He continually provided fixes and headings on the course to Italy. When open country on the mainland was reached the copilot gave the order to bail out. The crew effected a safe and uneventful landing. By his extreme courage in the face of overwhelming odds, his disregard for his own personal safety, outstanding professional skill and devotion to duty, Lieutenant McGreevy has reflected great credit upon himself and upon the Armed Forces of the United States of America."

Born in Belleville, McGreevy attended St. Peter's Parochial school and was graduated from St. Benedict's Preparatory school in Newark. He attended Seton Hall for two years, and before enlisting in the Air Corps in May, 1942, was employed at the Crucible Steel company plant in Harrison.

He received pre-flight training in Georgia and bombardier training at Santa Ana, Cal. Later he was given advanced bombardier and navigator training at Midland, Texas. Sent overseas in August, 1944, he was based in Italy, returning to this country on May 18.

BUTCHERS WARNED

ON PHONY STAMPS
Debits To Retail Dealers' Accounts Are Result Of Point Irregularities
Disclosing that 562 North Jersey retail butchers have been debited 2,547,765 meat ration points in the past three months for transferring counterfeit ration stamps and for other stamp irregularities, District OPA Director Richard J. Tarrant this week warned meat retailers that the OPA verification and debit system is "fool-proof," and that violators "cannot possibly escape the consequences of their violations."
Tarrant will send a memorandum to more than 8,000 food stores next week describing the OPA system of detecting counterfeits, and outlining correct handling of ration currency by retailers.
"In addressing this memorandum to the retail meat industry in North Jersey," Tarrant explained,
"I do not intend an indictment of the industry. Our experience shows that continuous and flagrant violations of rationing regulations are usually committed by a very small minority of dealers.
However, the volume of counterfeits, of meat deposit envelopes stuffed with worthless paper or with wrong stamps, indicates that the current violations cannot be attributed to merely a 'very small' minority.

How System Works

"I feel it is my duty to warn these dealers, and any others who may be tempted to violate, that they cannot possibly escape the consequences of their acts. Every envelope or gummed sheet containing food ration stamps deposited in a North Jersey ration bank account is sent to the OPA Verification Center in New York where it is scrutinized carefully.
Every counterfeit or wrong kind of stamp, every scrap of paper palm off as a ration stamp, is being debited against the allowable point inventory of the dealer who deposited it. Repeated debits can erase completely a deal-concerned. Suspension proceedings and criminal proceedings will also be taken in appropriation cases."

Cites Phony Gas Racket

Tarrant pointed to the record of the verification and debit program in eliminating the phony gasoline ration stamp racket.
Last year, he said, the incidence of counterfeit gas stamps went as high as 10 percent; right now, the rate is down to a fraction of 1 per cent. The fight, he said, was won at the cost of heavy casualties among gasoline dealers—1, 751 dealers were debited 1,077, 886 gallons last year, and 411 dealers were suspended from operations for periods up to the duration of rationing.

Describing the meat point debits for the past three months, Tarrant said that 1,710,045 points represent counterfeit; 257,740 points were over-declarations, the dealers showing a greater number of points on deposit slips than were actually present in the deposit envelopes; 1,055,100 points represent wrong stamps—either invalidated red stamps, or blue stamps; and 2,690 points represent scrap paper stuffed into deposit envelopes in lieu of stamps.
The memorandum, being mailed to dealers next week, is headed "What Every Retailer Should Know About Ration Stamps," and contains a simple digest of rationing regulations affecting the handling of stamps, prepared by the Rationing Division under the direction of H. Sherman Beatty, district rationing executive.

TENNIS CLINIC PLANNED HERE

Sessions On Local And Brookdale Courts Will Include Exhibitions

Sidney Summerfield of 365 Little street yesterday announced two tennis clinics which will be open to all juniors interested in the game Sunday morning at Branch Brook Park courts and Sunday morning, August 19, at Brookdale Park courts. There will be no admission charge and all tennis fans are urged to bring racquets and tennis shoes.

Summerfield, who is chairman of the Eastern Lawn Tennis association's tennis clinics committee, said that a leading tennis coach will explain the best way to learn the game and top ranking players will demonstrate basic strokes. Questions regarding rules and decisions will be answered by a member of the Umpires' association.

The clinics will be held at 10 a.m. An exhibition match this Sunday will be played by Miss Barbara Wilkins of New Rochelle and Miss Norma L. Depperman of Harrington Park. Next Sunday Richard J. Bender of Westfield and Albert S. Reynolds Jr. of East Orange will play. All are ranking players.

Next Sunday afternoon Summerfield will umpire matches at 2:30 at the Nutley Tennis club's annual exhibition at the Nutley courts. Summerfield, former Belleville champion, is coach of the Nutley club. Club championships and exhibition games will be followed by a social tea. The public is invited to the matches.

Local Supermarket Opens New Bakery Department

Today marks the opening of a new bakery department in the local A & P supermarket at 169 Washington avenue. In the new department, the grocery firm plans to carry a full line of baked goods, obtained from their own bakeries.

In the process of installing the bakery department, the entire market has been renovated and new shelving constructed during the past two weeks.

Joseph Mateyka of Bloomfield, manager of the store, said that with the installation of the bakery department, the local store becomes one of the most modern supermarkets in this area. He plans to have five clerks on duty in the department.

MARINE KEEPS WOUNDS SECRET

Revealed Year Old Injury Recently By Sending Home Purple Heart Medal

For wounds received in the battle of Tinian more than a year ago, S/Sgt. Vincent Prawdick of 86 Cedar Hill avenue was awarded the Purple Heart decoration. He did not send it to his wife, the former Miss Florence Palumbo, until two weeks ago, however.

Dreading to cause her anxiety, Sgt. Prawdick told his wife last year that he had been hospitalized merely for battle fatigue. Though she had been notified of his wounds in the meantime by the Navy department, Mrs. Prawdick returned the compliment and did not worry her husband by admitting she knew he was wounded.

Long since restored to activity, with his shrapnel-wounded left arm healed the Marine chief cook has finally sent the decoration to Mrs. Prawdick. Veteran of five major battles, he has also received two Presidential unit citations.

He has been in the Pacific for nineteen months of his three years service in the Marine corps. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Prawdick of Simpson, Pa. Young Mrs. Prawdick, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Palumbo, is with the Western Electric company of Kearny. The couple were married two years ago.

Woman's Club Presents Book To Local Library

The Social Work Yearbook for 1945, published by the Russell Sage Foundation, was presented to the Public Library yesterday by the literature department of the Belleville Woman's club.

This is the second in a list of circulating volumes which will be donated by the club women in honor of past presidents of the organization. A shelf will be set aside when the number of volumes warrants it. The first was The Garden Encyclopedia.

The new book has been presented in honor of Mrs. William P. Adams, member of the Woman's club since its inception and member of the board of trustees of the Community Service bureau, celebrated her eighth yesterday.

Library Notes

Displayed in the adult reference room are two new maps of the Pacific theater, enlarged from originals prepared by the Esso Marketeers, and sent by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

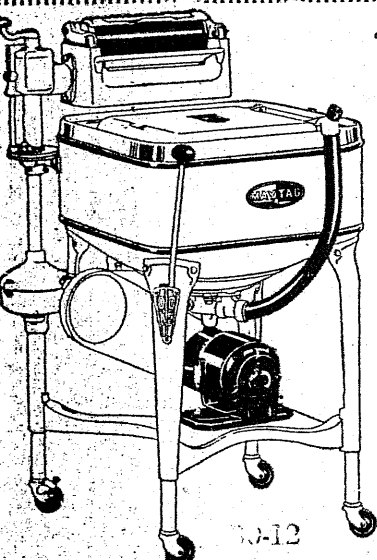

Researchers and cartographers have been at work on these maps for ten months. Lithographed in six colors, the maps feature a newly developed "plastic shading" treatment of topography.

Among various items of unusual interest are the tunnel shown under construction between the Japanese island of Kyushu and Korea (the basis of Axis predictions of a "railroad from Tokyo to Berlin"); and the amount of detail shown in the Japanese home islands and in Asiatic Russia. Altogether, there are 10,000 place-names indicated.

Captain Zink With His B-17 Crew

Local Fortress Pilot Gets Distinguished Flying Cross

Captain Joseph Zink Receives Medal For Combat Achievement

Captain Joseph D. Zink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer C. Zink of 26 Rossmore place, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for "extraordinary achievement" as a B-17 flying fortress pilot and formation commander. In the picture above, Capt. Zink is shown, first on left, with members of his crew going over plans for a mission over Europe.

On two of the operations, the flier was compelled to cope with a defective engine and damage resulting from anti-aircraft fire. He was awarded the Air Medal some time ago. A former student at Princeton university, Capt. Zink entered the service in February, 1943, and went to England for combat duty in October, 1944. He returned to this country last May and until recently was stationed at Columbus, Ohio. He was home for two days last week and then reported for duty at an airbase near Miami, Fla.

KENNEDY GETS ARMY DISCHARGE

Local Soldier Released After Service Overseas On Saipan, Leyte

Corporal John F. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Kennedy sr, of 53 De Witt avenue, has received an honorable discharge after service in the Army of two and a half years, most of the time overseas. He served with an artillery unit in the 24th Corps, Tenth Army.

After his induction into service on February 3, 1943, he was sent to a training camp in California, from where he went to Hawaii. His outfit helped to take Saipan from the Japs and later was sent to Leyte in the recapture of the Philippines.

Corporal Kennedy became ill the day before his unit was transferred to Okinawa. He was evacuated to a hospital in New Guinea, where he remained several months. Upon his return to this country he was sent to Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, for a short stay and then was sent to the convalescent hospital at Camp Upton, Long Island.

Two brothers are in service; Sergeant William H. Kennedy, who saw service in Italy, is now at Army Air Field, McCook, Nebraska, and Ensign James Kennedy is navigator of a naval transport in the South Pacific.

Charles Eversons Visit Son With Army In Tennessee

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everson of 31 Greylock parkway returned early this week from Knoxville, Tenn. where they spent a two week's vacation. Their visit included an interval spent with their son and daughter-in-law, Pfc. and Mrs. Warren Everson who are stationed at Caryville, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. Everson also visited points of interest in the Tennessee mountains.

Pfc. and Mrs. Everson have been located at Caryville since last fall. They were married in March, 1944, while Pfc. Everson was a chemical engineer with the Winthrop Chemical company of Rensselaer, N. Y. Young Mrs. Everson is the former Miss Edna Lawson of Hanover.

With the Winthrop company when he received his degree in chemical engineering from Brooklyn Polytechnic institute in 1942, Pfc. Everson remained during that firm's period of experiment and perfection of the drugs which have been so extensively used by military forces in the prevention and cure of malaria. The company also opened a special plant for the development of penicillin.

A graduate of Belleville high school, and lifelong resident of the town, he was also active in the Nereid boat club where his foremost accomplishments were in quad races. His wife is a graduate of the College of Saint Elizabeth at Convent.

Voting Is A Precious Duty

On July 26, twenty Belleville voters turned out at a special school election to vote on whether or not the board of education should purchase a strip of land amounting to about three-fourths of an acre for $700. The small piece of land when purchased will simply be added to land that has already been acquired by the school board with the hope that eventually the high school will have a playground in back of the building at Washington avenue and Holmes.

There was no great issue at stake; the parcel of land is small, and the price is nothing to become greatly concerned about. The whole election would pass by as trivial affair if it did not show up a condition that arises time and again when matters of town government are taken directly to the voters. There is an alarming disinterest on the part of the voters in stating their desires at the polls.

At the primary election in June, only 646 of a total registered vote of 12,268 turned out at the polls. Again, there was no great contest to warrant concentrated campaigning or to stir the people into voting. But, at the school election last February when a school budget amounting roughly to three quarters of a million dollars was to be accepted or rejected, only thirty-five voters turned out to vote their approval or disapproval of the budget. Of that number thirty-four indicated they were satisfied with the budget. The other vote was rejected because the ballot was filled out improperly.

It was reported that in the past twelve years, as few as thirteen persons have turned out to vote on a school budget. On another occasion of the 129 who turned out to vote on a budget, 127 were employees of the school system. Several years ago when the heated question of an addition to school No. 2 was put before the voters, 511 persons turned out to vote.

The Belleville board of education, unlike most boards in the state, operates both under the article six and article seven systems of school government. The article seven system calls for placing all questions involving expenditure of funds directly before the people. Under the article six system, the budget would simply be placed before a board of school estimate, composed of two members of the board and two members of the town commission, with the mayor as chairman. The part of the article six system adopted by the Belleville government is that which calls for the appointment of the school board members by the mayor. The article seven system calls for the election of the school board members by the voters.

When they turn down the opportunity to vote on questions involving the direction of direction of local government and the expenditure of their own accumulated tax, the citizens are turning down the most precious guarded right in our democratic form of government. Perhaps the people feel that in electing public officials to handle the affairs of government they are doing their full measure in democracy, it is the business of the officials to take care of the affairs of government and they want no meddling from the citizens. With that it should be borne in mind that an alert public is assurance of the greatest efficiency in the handling of the affairs of the town. A citizen cannot criticize a single act of any public official as long as he fails to vote when questions are placed before him by the officials.

In Train Of The Atom

No sooner do we accomplish one thing than our success seems to make something else necessary. We have harnessed the energy of the atom, amid world fanfare, but in doing so it becomes pretty evident that, unless we're all to be destroyed by our invention, we must start doing something right away about ourselves and how we think.

While our scientists have overleaped the centuries, ignorance, poverty, nationalism, economic injustice and all the other social, political and economic ills of man and remain unsolved. Troublesome yesterday, today they have suddenly become mortal dangers to each of us, because given this new idiots' delight, which virtually puts Doomsday itself in our hands, one misstep and we are extinct

For a starter we might take up the question of national sovereignty. To be sure, at San Francisco there was a grudging discussion of the need of relinquishing some of it; but each nation still maintains it alone is responsible for what goes on within its borders. Maybe so; but with swift and sudden doom hanging over all of us, the internal conditions of other countries seem suddenly to have become a personal problem with each of us, since the evidence is pretty conclusive that a people can be conditioned morally, mentally, politically and economically to the idea that war is a good thing. Overnight, the way men think and the amount of vitamins they consume have become as personal and troublesome as the income tax.

There is one saving ray of hope, however. The cooperation that went into the production of the bomb shows what can be done. Even a child can see that if all these people could cooperate to harness the atom's force they also could do something about human relations. And ever since the President made his announcement no doubt many persons have been figuring out how much a similar outburst of cooperation could achieve in the spread of knowledge, moral responsibility and economic well-being.

The location of the bomb plant in Tennessee probably has prompted a good deal of such figuring. Somehow the juxtaposition of such vast learning against the illiteracy of a Southern backwoods seems an irony almost as cosmic as harnessing the atom itself. Inside the high walls scholars of breath-taking erudition; outside men, women and children who can neither read or write, while the Bilbos and the Tafts and the Rankins "did gyre and gimble in the wabe".

But it's thrilling reading. To some the stories of the bomb seemed for the first time to give replies to the questions asked by the office out of the Wilderness. Canst thou bind the cluster of the Pleiades, or loose the bands of Orion? But to two of the questions the world still waits an answer: "Who hath put wisdom in the inward parts? Or who hath given understanding to the mind?"

Aren't We All?

Ardent believers that we are in Mr. Willkie's One World, we can't help experiencing a faint disquietude as, Fabre-like, we study the behavior of the Nazi leaders in captivity, the swarming drama of the Petain trial and all the other interesting evidences of maggot life now being turned up to the sunlight in Europe. As we stare in rapt fascination through our microscope, the suspicion persists that these specimens never could have risen to places of power if there had not been, among all of us in this compact One World, a pretty general decline in what used to be rather quaintly referred to as our "moral and intellectual standards."

We are told, that, economically and politically, this is One World, and we must cooperate, each nation with the other, if we are to survive. Very good; but since ideas and modes and manners have a tendency to spread even more swiftly and farther than economic and political conditions it is only fair to assume that the intellectual and moral lethargy that permitted such evils and stupidities in Europe must have its counterpart in this country.

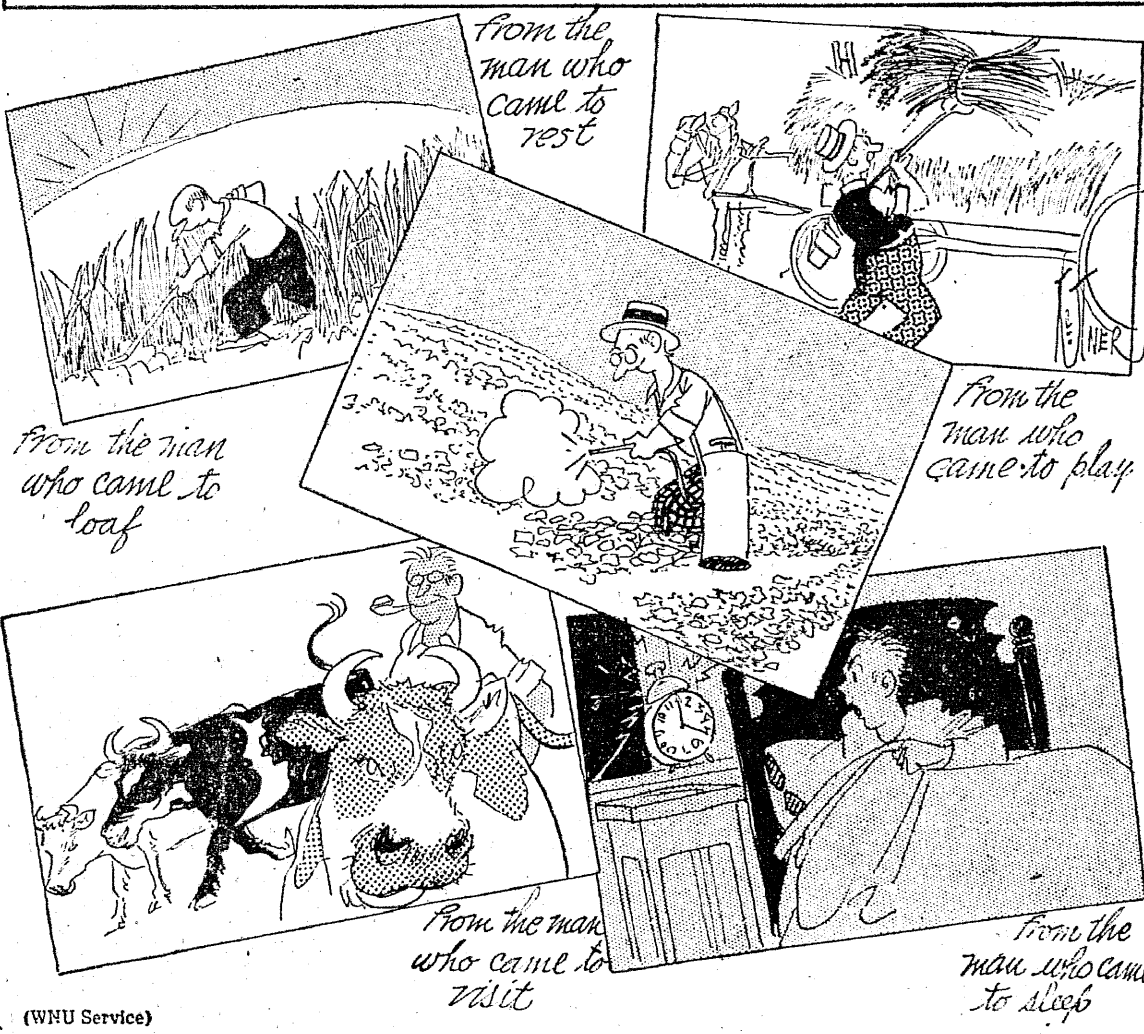

Let it be thought that we are alone in harboring such heresies, we might mention that the universities also seem to be worried about it. No sooner had Harvard decided that more general knowledge of traditional truths was the thing, than Yale announced it was inaugurating a major course in religious study together with a revision of the courses to place greater emphasis on The Hundred Books. At the same time Yale reported an increasing dishonesty among the students. Seems it got so bad the honor system had to be discontinued at Sheff and soldiers called in to police the exams.

High time, if you ask us. Of course, there probably is no connection between soap operas, Betty Grable's legs, Superman cartoons and Pierre Laval, but we cannot help believing that a people who will accept without question the cultural and ethical standards of WEAF and MGM may some day find it difficult to discern the spots of decay in some shiny new home-grown Laval.

The professors apparently fear that peace alone will not be enough. Even with a United Nations Charter spreading its beneficence over all, living among the machines has become too complicated to be managed either by mediocrities or in a moral vacuum. We must follow new directions — back, it appears, from the glittering standards of Hollywood and Wall Street toward the simpler truths we hid away in the attic years ago. Evenings we'll spend with The Hundred Books, and forget about the comic strips and the deathless prose of the slicks.

OK with us; we always thought that some day Plato would catch up with Popeye.

Cousins Meet On Guam For First Time In 3 Years

Another happy reunion of Belleville on the far flung battle bases of the nation came to light this week in letters from two cousins who are also neighbors on Cortlandt street. These boys, Arthur and Robert Zeiss, met recently on Guam for the first time in three years.

Arthur, a coxswain in the Navy, is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Zeiss of 334 Cortlandt street and the late Arthur Zeiss, a veteran of the first World War. He attended Belleville High school and was in the trucking business before he enlisted in the Navy two years ago. He served a tour of sea duty on the Bunker Hill for 14 months before coming home on leave last January. He was sent to the west coast and from there went to Guam assigned to an LSM.

Robert, a graduate of Belleville High school in 1938, is the son of Jack Zeiss of 328 Cortlandt street. He entered the Navy three years ago, and now is a cook first class assigned to an LST. The boys met three weeks ago.

A third member of the family who enlisted in the Navy is Harold Zeiss, aviation mechanic first class, brother of Arthur. Also a graduate of Belleville High school in 1938, he entered the Navy four years ago. He has been overseas since last November.

The Washington camp of the Patriotic Order of Sons of America met in the Masonic Temple to give final instructions to brothers Sammis and John Cassidy, who were the delegates to the state convention in Cape May. District President Andrew Lightbody accompanied them.

The Columbus Club ran their undefeated streak to seventeen and broke the nine-game winning streak of the Harrison-Hudsons. "Cannonball" Lawson held the Harrison nine to four hits and shut them out 2-0.

Nicholas Comesky was appointed chief of the fire department for three years. He succeeded Christian Reinhardt, who resigned.

Richard C. Jones was appointed to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Charles Granville Jones from the Town Planning Commission, the organization of which was expected at any time.

35 Years Ago This Week

When the Belleville township committee at their regular meeting refused to grant directly a request to allow a moving picture establishment to locate in the township, but decided to lay over the matter, a complaint was made and the committee was criticized by Ross H. Foster, a Greylock Manor resident, for permitting a moving picture concern to run in Hillside Pleasure Park without a license.

Despite the fact that members of the Belleville township committee threatened to call the attention of the grand jury to the condition of the roadbed on trolley car tracks on Washington avenue, it was reported that the Public Service corporation had decided not to re-lay the car tracks on the west side of the street during the year.

Declaring that after being fined by Police Justice Richard H. Ashworth for violations of the township's dog ordinance two residents are going around the town, without having paid the fines and are defying Justice Ashworth and cursing every township official for the canine license act, Dog Warden Henry Forbell told the township committee at their meeting that that sort of thing had temporarily prevented him from operating in Belleville.

HE TELLS THE PICTURE STORY OF TELEPHONE DEVELOPMENT ON NEW JERSEY FARMS

Over half of the farms in this area now have telephones

Ever notice how many of your New Jersey farm friends have telephones? The figure in the territory served by New Jersey Bell is 51 per cent—with a steady upward trend in evidence for many years. This trend will be given new impetus when war conditions permit further extension of lines and enlargement of present exchanges. In this connection, it is interesting to note that nine out of ten farms without telephones are near enough to existing lines to obtain service without paying off-property construction charges.

VIKINGS BEATEN BY RESISTO-FLEX

Losers In Last Place In League Following Six Inning Contest

Resisto-Flex climbed out of the cellar of the Industrial Recreation Softball league when they took a game from the Viking tool company team on August 2 at Clearman field. The game was called due to darkness at the end of the sixth inning with Resisto out in front, 7 to 6.

The Resisto-Flex combination scored 4 runs in the first to the Vikings and took the lead. The Vikings came back with 1 in the second and 2 in the third to tie up the game. Then they scored another in the fourth and in the fifth to lead, 6 to 4. In the sixth, however, the Resistos rallied and put across three runs to be out in front when the game was called. D'Allessia, pitching for the losers allowed Resisto-flex only 4 hits in their 7 runs, while Shenengo, on the mound for Resisto, allowed 10 hits. Armstrong, first base for Resisto, smacked out a homer.

Staff Sergeant Robert P. Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Leonard of 24 Elmwood avenue, has reported to the AAF Redirection Station No. 1 at Atlantic City after 18 months of service overseas in the European theater of war.

Sergeant Leonard served as an engineer-gunner on a B-24 bomber while overseas and engaged in nine combat missions. He wears the Air Medal and the distinguished unit citation. Entering the service on Nov. 9, 1942, he underwent training at Tyndall Field, Fla., prior to his shipment overseas.

With the Pacific as his eventual destination, Goodford now will be transferred to an air station where he will receive operational training as an aircrew member.

Goodford attended Belleville High school. At the Navy school he was graduated in the top twenty per cent of his class and was rated a third class petty officer at the graduation exercises.

William D. McGeachen, fireman second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGeachen of 88 Wilber street, is presently attached to ship repair training unit at Mare Island Navy Yard, Cal., preparing himself for a specialized job aboard some type of Navy repair ship to be stationed at a forward base in the Pacific.

Before entering the Navy on January 25, 1944, McGeachen was a machine repair and maintenance man at the Westinghouse plant. In the navy he received training in Basic engineering and has been assigned at Sampson, N. Y., and Guilford, Miss. He entered the ship repair training unit at Mare Island on July 6.

McGeachen's sister, Mrs. W. Tipon, is a yeoman second class in the Navy.

Among the first American troops to enter Berlin was Master Sergeant Arnold W. Danckworth of 96 Tappan avenue, who is part of Major General Floyd L. Park's First Airborne Army, which will establish U. S. headquarters in the Berlin district.

Staff Sergeant Charles Phillips, nephew of Lieut. and Mrs. Hugh D. Kittie of DeWitt avenue, went to Fort Dix Tuesday from where he will report to an air base at Sioux Falls, S. D. The enlisted bombardier, who spent two and a half years in Europe with the crew of a B-17 bomber, has concluded a 31-day furlough here.

Filaci was a member of the 4th infantry division and spent 18 months in the European theater of operations. He has been awarded the bronze star medal, the Purple heart, for wounds received in action, the distinguished unit citation, and five battle stars.

Technicians fifth grade Chester Friday of 87 Beech street and Edward W. Wilson of 8 Baldwin place, both members of the 845th Engineer Aviation battalion, were recently authorized to wear the appropriate insignia when their unit was awarded the Meritorious Service Unit plaque.

The unit received the plaque for "superior performance of duty in the accomplishment of exceptionally difficult tasks in the Mediterranean theater of operations." During the two-month period for which the award was made, the battalion constructed several airfields in record-breaking time to help make possible the intensive bombings by the 15th Army Air Force which brought the Mediterranean campaign to an end.

Major Harold Burton Stanior, son of Mrs. Christine Stanior of 62 Rossmore place, a member of the Quartermaster Corps, is now attending an advanced school for storage officers at the Utah Army Service Forces Depot at Ogden, Utah. The school has as its purpose improvement of storage and distribution methods in supply installations.

At the close of the course, Major Stanior will return to the Chicago Quartermaster depot, where he was on duty prior to enrolling in the storage course.

Pvt. Martin K. McWalters, son of Mrs. Mary McWalters of 139 Union avenue, is currently stationed at the Redirection Station of the Army Ground and Service Forces at Camp Butner, N. C., where he will spend two weeks before reporting to his new assignment in the United States.
