Icy Streets And Pavement Bring Wave Of Accidents

Broken Bones As Drivers, Pedestrians Find Going Rough On Weekend

Skidding automobiles and sliding pedestrians brought a toll of accidents and injuries last weekend as streets and sidewalks were covered with an icy glare that made foot and four-wheel travel hazardous. Police and firemen spent a busy weekend responding to calls of distress. There were no fatalities reported.

Injured pedestrians included Mrs. Nellie Somalia, 46, of 92 Dow Street; Mrs. Loretta Lapp, 59, of 220 Roseville Avenue, Newark; and Robert Rutan, 54, of 54 Forest Street.

Falls, Hurts Shoulder
Mrs. Somalia came into police headquarters Saturday and told police she had fallen and injured her left shoulder while crossing Washington Avenue at Belleville Avenue. She was taken to St. Barnabas Hospital in Newark in a police car for treatment.

A fall at Academy Street and Washington Avenue resulted in an injured forearm for Mrs. Lapp. She was taken to American Legion Hospital by Officer M. Hanly.

Icy steps at 36 Clinton Street, where he was visiting friends, was the cause of a fall and a broken right arm for Rutan. He was taken to Columbus Hospital, received emergency treatment and then transferred to St. Mary's in Passaic, where he was detained.

Crash Injures Four
A two-car crash, caused by icy pavement on Main Street, sent four persons to the hospital Sunday. According to police, Arnold Heyman, 32, of 503 Gregory Avenue, Passaic, accompanied by his wife, Marilyn, 21, was driving with an auto driven by Fred Slaughter, 38, 9 Ann Street, East Rutherford, who was proceeding north near William Street. In the latter car with Slaughter were his wife, Florine, 37, and Jesse Denison, 35, of 11 Ann Street.

Car Rolls Over Embankment, Rammed By Erie Train

Rolling down a grade when the brakes apparently failed to hold on the icy surface, an auto was smashed by a commuters' train Monday shortly after 6 p.m. Police said the car, owned by Vincent A. Parigi, of 94 Bremond Street, had been parked at 140 Greylock Parkway. The vehicle rolled over the bank, smashing the wooden barricade at the dead-end street and then came to rest on the tracks. The train, operated by engineer Harry Percival, smashed into the front end of the car. The train's conductor was E. S. Cople.

Relief Costs Down In '50

Eleven Per Cent Decrease Revealed in Annual Report Filed by Director; Lodges Protest Against State Assuming Control

Relief services rendered by the Local Assistance Board during 1950 showed an 11 per cent decrease over 1949, according to a report filed this week with Public Affairs Director John J. Hewitt. Total commitments for 1950 were $30,035, while the town expended $33,852 the previous year.

Hewitt supplemented his report on local assistance with a protest against a proposed bill in the State Legislature that would bring some phases of municipal relief administration under strict state and county jurisdiction. The relief director charged that needy persons would be subjected to delays and inconveniences and in essence, the move was discrimination because of residence rather than the priority of need.

May Be Elective

The bill referred to by Hewitt has not been introduced as yet in the Legislature, although it is believed to be nearly ready for introduction. Inasmuch as its final form is still undetermined, its impact upon local services hasn't been completely revealed. According to one source, the municipalities may elect to accept or reject the state administration of relief. It may be, however, that if the municipality waives state jurisdiction, state aid now received may no longer be available. During 1950, 450 cases involving 1,092 persons were handled by the relief department. Of these, 233 cases and 479 persons were of the long term or wholly dependent variety, and expenditures totaled $18,663.29.

Food Costs Jump

Food took the biggest bite out of the relief budget. One of the three basic items, along with shelter and fuel costs, it cost $14,381 to provide food for the relief clients. Shelter expenses were $3,683 and fuel, $1,676. Hospitalization and nursing home care were the next largest items, amounting to $4,358 and $4,302, respectively.

The town received state aid in the amount of $9,589, which is distributed to the municipality on the basis of 40 per cent for all audited and approved items of relief. Refunds from clients totaled $2,018, of which the state was reimbursed (Continued On Page Two)

LOCAL AID CITED BY POLIO FUND

March Of Dimes Helped Pay Hospital Bills; Drive Extended Two Weeks

The March of Dimes helped pay the hospital bills for 164 children and adults stricken with polio in Essex County last year, five of whom were from Belleville, it was announced by the Essex County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis last week.

Mayor James J. Tully, chairman of the local drive, urged all Belleville citizens who have not already done so to mail their contribution to the First National Bank as soon as possible, emphasizing that no matter how small the contribution it would be welcome.

Spent $3,188 Here

"We hear about the March of Dimes mainly in January when funds are being collected," the mayor said. "However, dimes and dollars contributed by the public are really on the march when polio is at its height."

BOND ISSUE, NEW SCHOOL BUDGET ARE ADOPTED

Record Expenditures For Education Goes To Voters At Annual Election

Belleville's greatest school budget in history, calling for an expenditure of $1,378,740, came through unscathed in a public hearing last week and was adopted by the Board of Education. After formally adopting the measure, the board introduced and passed a resolution calling for a $300,000 bond issue to finance a school repair program. Both measures go before the voters February 13 at the annual school election to approve or reject.

Contrary to expectations, the 50 citizens who turned out to discuss the budget were not present to seek cuts, if a majority of those voicing opinions were any criterion. Instead, several expressed the opinion the budget did not amply provide for requirements in different categories. The trend seemed to be not cut, but spend more, although there were queries on maintenance accounts which citizens thought were too high. After listening to explanations from board members and School Clerk Daniels, the inquiries weren't pressed.

Questions on Teaching

Some discussion arose over remedial teaching. A representative of PTA No. 3 and another from No. 1 School told the board school superintendent Wayne Farmer had assured them provision of remedial teaching would be included in the budget. The board said the matter had not been provided and finance chairman McCann said Farmer had not advised him of any need for it. Another citizen questioned a $500 salary increase for Farmer, contending the school principal had received a $1,200 boost in November. McCann said this was not so, declaring the school supervisor had received $400, bringing his salary to $10,000. The finance chairman went on to say Farmer was $2,500 below the average in the county and cited Nutley's supervisor, whom he claimed receives a salary of $12,000 or $12,500. According to Nutley's school clerk, Everett Zabriskie, schools supervisor Dr. Floyd Harshman is paid $11,000 annually.

A discussion on the high school chemistry and physics rooms ensued. Several citizens said the $1,000 appropriated in the budget was insufficient to put the rooms in proper condition. One remarked it would cost $50,000 to completely (Continued On Page Two)

DRAFT BOARD GETS RESIGNATION OF G. R. B. SYMONDS

Illness Forces President Of Rotary Club, Belleville-Nutley Buick To Quit

Obeysing his physician's orders to curtail his civic activities, G. R. B. Symonds of 39 Wayne Place resigned this week as a member of Draft Board 15 in Newark, which directs the workings of selective service here and in Nutley and part of Newark. His resignation was accepted by Colonel E. P. Boomer, state head of selective service in Trenton. S. R. Mountsier Jr. of 205 Rutgers Place has been recommended to President Truman for nomination as his successor.

Still Heads Rotary

Symonds, who served on Nutley's Draft Board 15 during World War II, was named again when the disbanded draft boards were reactivated in 1947. Although quitting the selective service, he intends completing the remainder of his one-year term as president of Belleville Rotary.

Mountsier, who had wartime service with the draft board in Nutley, is technical sales manager for the New York firm of Whitaker, Clarke and Daniel. His wife is a member of the Nutley Board of Education.

In informing Chairman James D. Winans of his resignation, Symonds explained that his doctor has ordered another month of complete quiet and convalescence.

Bishop Oxnam To Speak

Well Known New York Area Leader of Methodism Guest Preacher at Wesley in Observance of Church's 160th Anniversary

BISHOP G. BROMLEY OXNAM

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, regarded by many as the leading figure in the Methodist Church, will be the guest speaker here at Wesley Methodist Church, Sunday, February 18, at 11 a.m. Bishop Oxnam, who heads the New York area of the Methodist Church, will preach here in observance of Wesley's 160th anniversary. The local church is the oldest Methodist Church in Essex County and the Mother Church of Methodism in this area. The announcement of the special program was announced this week by Rev. Fred Hubach.

Two young women, Margaret Dow and Mary Ann Stewart, brought Methodism to Belleville in 1791 when the town was a sleepy community on the banks of the Passaic River. The first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Tyson, aunt of Miss Stewart, probably by Thomas Morrill,

DEFENSE COUNCIL ENCOURAGED BY RISING INTEREST

Public Education Program Progressing; Aim For One Worker From Each Family

Progressing rapidly under the impetus of a public education program that showed signs of reaching the people for the first time, the Belleville Civilian Defense Council adopted its most encouraging outlook since inception as citizens began rousing themselves from a lethargy to take an active interest in civil defense plans. According to a spokesman for the Council, Belleville now ranks near the top among surrounding communities in general preparedness.

This same spokesman hastened to point out, however, that the Council has barely scratched the surface in its aim to ready the town's population for any emergency. Max Schwartz, public education director, in a joint statement with general chairman Norman Lauterette and coordinator Kenneth Smith, said the Council's ultimate objective is to enroll one member of every family in town into an active phase of civil defense activities.

Meet Monday

A general Council meeting has been set for Monday night at the Town Hall. Further plans will be discussed, including the distribution of literature now in the process of being procured.

One week from tonight, Smith, Lauterette and Schwartz will be guests of the PTA of No. 10 School. The A-bomb film will be shown, accompanied by short addresses by the three officials. Monday of this week, the trio met with the fire wardens at fire headquarters, at which time the film was shown. Schwartz has engaged in active speaking roles, having appeared before school groups and organizations. The Council, having purchased the A-bomb film, has it and speakers available for any organization desiring its use.

The Council has plans to obtain an insignia, which will be designed and made by Sweeney Lithograph Company here, for posting in every home contributing a volunteer to the civil defense rolls.

Income Tax Aid At Banks

Internal Revenue Deputy Collector Here This Month; First National Bank Retains Private Tax Consultant

Taxpayers who look forward with grim forebodings to March 15, when Uncle Sam comes around to put the official bite on the annual wage, will have assistance available at local banks again this year. A deputy collector of the Internal Revenue Department has been assigned to the First National, Peoples National Bank and Trust Company and the office of Wallace and Tierman in February. In addition, the First National will continue its custom of providing additional service in the person of a privately retained tax consultant.

Deputy Collector Herbert Post is scheduled to be at the First National February 19 and at Peoples the following day. He will spend time on both days at Wallace & Tierman.

Evening Service

The First National Bank has again retained the services of Edwin Jennings, income tax consultant, to assist Belleville people in the preparation of their income tax returns. Jennings will be at the bank evenings, 7:30 to 10 p.m., February 26 through March 2.

In addition, the Collector of Internal Revenue has assigned Deputy Collector Herbert Post to the local bank. He will be available for help in preparing returns during banking hours, from 9 until 2 o'clock, on February 19.

Well Received

This marks the sixth consecutive year that Jennings has been at the First National. A bank officer said, "Six years ago, we hired Mr. Jennings as an experiment. We felt that Belleville people had a real need for help with their tax returns, and we decided to provide such help through Mr. Jennings and absorb the expense as a public service. We did not realize that the idea would be so well received. Each year, we have more requests for assistance than we can handle. Mr. Jennings has become very popular with many of our local taxpayers, and we are very glad that he can arrange to be with us again this year."

As in the past, the bank will make no charge for the service and any Belleville resident may make use of it whether or not he is a depositor at the First National. Because there is a limit to the (Continued On Page Two)

Red Cross Quota Set At $26,402 For March Drive

Need For Expansion Cited to Meet National Emergency, Organization Gears For Many War Services

Faced with expanding services to meet increased demands, wrought by the national emergency, Red Cross officials in Belleville yesterday announced the local chapter has established a goal of $26,402 for the annual campaign that begins here in March. The 1951 quota is nearly $2,000 more than the chapter goal a year ago, which was $24,572. Of the amount to be raised here this year, nearly 30 per cent, or $7,752, will be diverted to the national Red Cross, while the balance, $18,650 is earmarked for local consumption.

General fund chairman Paul M. Kelly, who made the announcement, stated the drive's quota was a reflection of the national trend brought on by war mobilization, civilian defense and its accompanying demands. Although the official drive opening is slated for March 1, the advanced gifts division will begin solicitation within the next 10 days, Kelly stated.

Reasons for Increase
According to Kelly, the increased budget can be attributed to (1) increasing Red Cross services made necessary by the large expansion of our armed forces; (2) procurement of blood for the armed forces; (3) civilian defense emergency needs; and our own Essex County Blood Bank; (4) the necessary increase in training our citizens in first aid, home nursing, canteen, motor corps, nurses' aides, and other necessary adjuncts to civilian defense; (5) the higher cost of all materials and supplies, as compared with a year ago; (6) the institution of additional Red Cross services in the local Belleville chapter, such as Gray Ladies, staff aides, volunteer services, home nursing, and production and supply, and the expansion of the existing services, including home service, disaster preparedness, canteen, motor corps, public information, and the safety program, with its first aid, water safety and accident prevention.

Predicts Good Campaign
Kelly, with his campaign organization in the final stages of its development, expressed confidence that each division would be able to meet its respective quota, and that a completely successful campaign would result. He pointed out that the increased interest in Red Cross activities in Belleville, the rapidly increasing number of volunteers who wish to take an active part in the Red Cross program in the town, and finally the hundreds of Belleville citizens who are learning what the Red Cross really means in Belleville, through their participation in first aid, swimming, life saving, accident prevention, canteen, home nursing, staff aides, home service, nurses' aides, and other instruction and training programs being given without charge by Red Cross volunteer personnel in Belleville.

INTRODUCE BUDGET, MAYOR PREPARES ANALYSIS DETAIL
Tax Collections At .9524 Per Cent For 1950; Public Hearing February 27
An analysis and allocation of dollar expenditures in the town budget has been drafted by Mayor Tully and will preface the publication of the budget in next week's issue of The Times-News. The Mayor, director of revenue and finance, made the announcement this week following the introduction of the budget by the Town Commission at a meeting Tuesday. The tax rate has been fixed at $6.58, an increase of 100.81 points over last year.

At the same time, Mayor Tully said tax collections held up well in the past year, showing only a nominal decrease over 1949. The 1950 percentage was .9524, as compared to .9546 the previous year. Anticipated collections for 1951 have been fixed at .905 per cent.

Hearing February 27
The public hearing on the budget will be held February 27 in the Town Hall. In his breakdown, Tully lists increases in mandatory items and non-departmental elements as follows:

Board of Education budget, $195,514, or 46.42 points; police salary increase and additional firemen's salaries by action of November referendums, $52,000, or 12.34 points; county tax rise, $32,835, or 7.8 points; and decrease in general revenues, plus increase in reserve for uncollected taxes, $145,813, or 34.62 points, for a total of 101.18 points.

Town Expenses
Increased expense factors, mandatory or required, but under municipal administration, and charged to commissioners' departments, are as follows: Municipal salary increases, $20, (Continued On Page Two)

MOTOR CORPS TO EXPAND, AIDED BY NEW VEHICLE

Anonymous Donor Presents Station Wagon To Red Cross Last Week

B. Thomas Aitken, chairman of the Red Cross, announced the receipt of a new station wagon, a personal gift from a prominent Belleville citizen. The donor, an industrialist, has long been active in the community affairs of the town, and through his gift, expressed in a very material fashion his support of the Red Cross program in Belleville. The donor asked to remain anonymous.

Varied Duties

It was further pointed out by Mrs. Kiener that these trips, some on a daily basis, others once or twice each week, have included the transport of blood bank to area hospitals in emergencies; transporting invalids, to one or another of the hospitals in Essex County for clinical or special treatment; taking the monthly collection of cookies, books, puzzles, and similar entertainment items to the soldier patients at Fort Monmouth, and to the Veterans Hospital at Lyons; and many more unusual, highly interesting travel assignments—providing transportation for those citizens of Belleville who require such assistance by reason of emergencies, infirmities, or other limiting factors.

Need Volunteers

With an active group of twenty drivers and three cars now available, Mrs. Kiener expresses complete confidence in the ability of her group to fill all requests for transportation channeled through the local Red Cross office. To continue to expand her Motor Corps, and train others for emergency ambulance driving, either as a result of a disaster in this area, or in a civilian defense emergency, Mrs. Kiener advised that additional volunteers are still being recruited. The principal requirements, she explained, are ability to drive well, and a reasonable knowledge of this area, as to principal streets and highways, the location of hospitals and other institutions, and similar driver knowledge.

Persons interested in becoming a member of the Motor Corps should call Red Cross Headquarters for further details.

Interested In Fine Arts, Local People Plan Outlet

Plans for the formulation of an art organization to be composed of local artists interested in fine arts was announced this week. A meeting of those interested was held recently at the home of Mrs. Mary Cooper of 60 Beech Street.

The group backing the organization feels that the well-attended exhibitions staged here on other occasions warrants the formation of an outlet for local, artistic talent.

At present, the group has tentative plans for an exhibition in the spring. Paintings of Belleville and Belleville people are invited. Anyone interested in learning more about the group may contact Mrs. Alfred Del Grosso, 413 Cortlandt Street.

PTA Notes

The Executive Board of the PTA of School No. 3 will meet tonight at eight o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Charles Cassidy, 270 DeWitt Avenue.

piles of wood for the stove that warmed the congregation. Sunday offerings ranged from 50 cents to four dollars.

The church was a stone building, plastered and penciled with a gilded pineapple with green leaves on the sounding board over the pulpit as the only decoration. The seats were high with one board across the back to rest the shoulders, and one of the sexton's jobs was to keep order during the services.

Congregation Grows

By the 1840's this modest building was too small for the congregation's needs and in 1846 it was torn down and a larger edifice erected on the same site at the total cost of $5,000. For over 50 years the new building was used by a growing congregation.

The end of the 19th century saw the town moving away from the river and Main Street and building along Washington Avenue and beyond. Recurrent floods had damaged the Methodist Church building, particularly the Sunday School room in the basement, and once more the 150 members decided to build a new church.

Land on Washington Avenue at Academy Street west to Hornblower Avenue was bought; the land not needed for the building being sold to defray expenses. The foundation was dug and walls raised about four feet before money from the first subscription was depleted. Building was halted until more money could be raised. Charles Granville Jones, a local man, was architect of the structure which cost about $22,000.

Wesley Methodist Church was the second Methodist church in this area, the first being at Elizabethtown, and the local church helped to found the Halsey Street Methodist Church which was the first in Newark. Next year the local church will celebrate its 160th anniversary with appropriate ceremonies.

Reduced requirements for debt service, deferred charges and capital improvements amounted to $18,498, or 4.50 points, pegging the net increase in the town operating budget at $63,257 or 15.01 points.

Surplus Noted

Combining the two breakdowns, it results in an increase of 116.19 points. An increase in ratables of $1,231,950 tops 15.38 points off, for the 100.81 points representing the increase over a year ago.

Mayor Tully revealed that an amount of $249,000 surplus has been retained in several accounts, thus providing the town with a "sound safety factor."

Police said the roads were slippery from rain and sleet. Both cars were badly damaged.

Saturday Morning

A crash between a Public Service No. 28 bus and a passenger car took place at the intersection of Union Avenue and Joralemon Street. Luzzi's wife, Patricia, 22, was injured and taken to Columbus Hospital by Officer Mead, where she was treated for an abrasion of the right arm and cut lips and then released. Polio

Up to November 30 of last year, the Essex County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had expended $3,188.03 on Belleville patients stricken during 1950 for hospitalization, medical services, drugs and medicines, orthopedic appliances, and transportation of patients.

"The total number of children and adults before mentioned does not include the six cases still being assisted from previous years," the mayor said.

Polio On Rise

"It is sometimes difficult to realize," he said, "that polio is with us such a long time after it strikes. Month after month and sometimes years after the polio headlines have vanished we still are providing treatment for victims of this crippling disease. With the rising tide of polio in the last three years this problem of carrying care is becoming progressively acute from a financial standpoint."

"Acute or not, however, these patients must receive treatment, and it is our job to see that they do. I know that the residents of Belleville who have not already done so will see this problem in the same human terms, and make their returns through the March of Dimes cards sent them recently through the mail."

Returns may be made for the next two weeks to the First National Bank.

The mayor expressed his thanks to St. Peter's Catholic Youth Organization, through the Reverend Francis A. Ignacinos, moderator, for the splendid job done by the members in obtaining almost $100 in the coin collection cans last Sunday morning.

Sunday Service, 11:00 a.m. Sunday School, 11:00 a.m. Wednesday, 8:00 p.m.—Testimony meeting.

The spiritual understanding that God is Love, which reveals the way of spiritual deliverance from tyranny, conflict, fear, and pain, will be the topic of next Sunday's services in all Christian Science churches. The lesson-sermon is entitled "Love."

The Golden Text is taken from Zephaniah's exhortation to Jerusalem: "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save thee, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing."

Readings from the Bible include the following statement by John, the beloved disciple: "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

Among the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following: "For true happiness, man must harmonize with his Principle, divine Love; the Son must be in accord with the Father, in conformity with Christ."

National Guard Sets Off New Recruiting Campaign

The New Jersey National Guard was prepared today to move ahead in building up its strength, with the announcement by Major General Donald W. McGowan that he had raised previously imposed strength ceilings for all units.

General McGowan said that all men who enlist in the New Jersey National Guard before they are eighteen and a half years old are deferred under the present Selective Service Law. Men above this age will not be inducted under current Department of Defense regulations, if they become members of the National Guard before orders to report for physical examinations have been mailed to them by their local draft boards. Both groups must perform satisfactory service in the National Guard to retain their exempted status.

VFW Veterans Of Ship Post Hold Paper Collection Sunday

The regular monthly scrap paper drive, conducted by the Fredericks-Scott Ship Post 5653 of the VFW will be held Sunday, beginning at 9 o'clock. Trucks, manned by members of the Post, will canvass the town. Residents are requested to place newspapers, magazines and rags on the curbs in front of homes to expedite the pickup.

Present to bring greetings. The only living former pastors are Reverend Wayne Womer, now retired and living in Newark who served Wesley for two years, 1904 and 1905; and Rev. Paul G. Dennis, now pastor of First Church in Plainfield, who served in Belleville from 1923 to 1926.

A party program of music, 180th Anniversary movies, and refreshments will complete the evening.

the curbs in front of homes to expedite the pickup.

Captain George Buchanan, Post leader, said that no one is authorized to pick up the items earmarked for the veterans other than Post members themselves. He expressed appreciation to the many citizens who have contributed to the regular collections, which are now in the fourth year.

Because I'm

- ... too busy to walk from place to place and stand in line just to pay bills.
- ... too sensible to go out unnecessarily in all kinds of weather
- ... too businesslike to risk cash in hand and fragmentary records of expenditures.

A checking account gives you a record in the stubs before you write your checks... safe and sure payment when you write your checks, and an automatic receipt after you write them.

We offer the regular checking account with no minimum balance, our special checking account only costs $2.00 for a book of 25 checks.

Deputy Collector Herbert Post will be at the bank on February 20 to assist taxpayers with their 1950 returns.

Industrial Sponsor

The next Blood Donor assembly in Belleville on February 16th, will be sponsored by the Ever-Ready Corp., who occupy the former Isolantite property at 357 Cortlandt Street. Ever-Ready is one of the newer industries in town but has taken an active interest in community affairs and many of the employees have volunteered as blood donors at other blood donor assemblies in Belleville during the past three or four years.

Sunday Morning

The peace of Sunday morning, like a psalm Worded on the wind, the utter calm Of this awakening hour hold me still; I lie like one entranced, without a will, Looking into sky. The clouds go thin And show the special world that I am in, Where quiet power is a rock to break The bonds of captive answers I must make To questions, impasse-held all week, that now Resolve with the simplicity of snow. I think of all the things I have to do. Yet lie and look up at my realm of blue; This quiet time I own as men own land: I come here when I want to understand.

More Fatal Than Wars

A new Unknown Soldier—"GI-X" will soon fall on a Korean battlefield as the millionth soldier to die in all the wars in U. S. history.

The death of "GI-X" is expected within the next few months, 176 years after the first Minute Man died in the Battle of Lexington on April 19, 1775. It will precede by only a few months the death of "Victim X," his unknown civilian counterpart, who will be the millionth person to be killed in U. S. traffic accidents since 1900. With traffic deaths also nearing the million mark this year, "Victim X" will die next December if street and highway fatalities continue at the present high rate of 35,000 a year.

"GI-X" may be killed during the spring or even sooner if Korean casualties become heavier. Military deaths in all American wars, including Korea, reached a total of 994,000 near the end of January. This week the 50-year toll of traffic deaths topped 966,000, or 28,000 fewer than the aggregate of all war deaths to date.

Both "GI-X" and "Victim X" will remain unknown, their identities buried in a maze of statistics. Both deaths will be significant historically, however, particularly since they may occur in the same year. While an unlikely truce or evacuation of U. S. forces from Korea might delay the death of "GI-X," an intensive highway safety campaign in 1951 could save enough lives to postpone until next year the expected death of the millionth traffic victim in "Accident X."

Automobiles to date have killed far more than twice the number of soldiers killed in action since 1775. Nearly a third of all the nation's war dead are accounted for by 284,000 deaths from disease in the Civil War among Union and Confederate soldiers. This total, although huge, is 500 less than the 284,300 traffic deaths which have occurred since Pearl Harbor. Between 29,500,000 and 30,000,000 men, women and children, including pedestrians, have suffered non-fatal injuries in traffic accidents since 1900. This is 25 times greater than the 1,250,000 men wounded in all American wars up to the present time.

There is no glory in wars, but a free people must be prepared to lay down their lives to preserve their freedom in this world of evil-doing regimes and races. Deaths in defense of our liberty is, therefore a glory.

There is no glory in traffic disasters. Death by traffic accident is inglorious. It often is the consequence of criminal negligence. It serves no useful purpose. The country is no richer by such deaths.

Our useless traffic deaths are a national disgrace. Do your part. Drive with intelligence.

False Economy

Past penny-wise-and-pound-foolish Boards of Education, dominated by pressure groups seeking low taxes and minimum budgets, will have to share a major portion of the responsibility for the present predicament of the Belleville school system, which now finds itself in the very unenviable position of having to float one bond issue of $300,000 for repairs and the strong possibility of another for more than $2,000,000 to construct a new senior high school.

This failure to exercise foresight, ignoring the obvious need for steady improvements, is resulting in a costly burden for the hard-hit taxpayer of today to shoulder. Instead of facing the facts, planning for the future when prices were at a reasonable level, the successive boards quibbled and the town now must seek relief at a time when all costs have zoomed to the highest levels in the history of our economy.

Parents, anxious and willing to make sacrifices in order that their children may be given the finest educational opportunities possible, are not doing too much grumbling. They feel the inevitable must be faced. It's regrettable the Boards of Education in past years did not share the same feeling.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

We Must Not Blind Ourselves to the Vigor and Strength of Russia's Fifth Column in France

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

Premier Rene Plevin, who flew from Paris to Washington this week, brought with him answers to the two major questions that have the White House, the Pentagon and the State Department worried: 1, How "red" is France, and, 2, has the French army any more willingness to fight than it had in May, 1940, when it lost a war in 21 days of actual fighting.

The French Premier sought to set at ease the American mind by giving his assurance that despite the tremendous strength of the Communist party in France, the government of the Fourth Republic has the situation in hand. As for the quotient of the French army's ability to fight, he insisted that it depended not upon the French soldiers' willingness but upon American arms deliveries and budgetary aid during the second half of this year.

Having sat in at the birth of the French Communist party by scission from the French Socialist party, by trickery, at Angers in 1923 and having been with the French armies as a war correspondent in May, 1940, making the long terrible retreat from the Meuse to Paris, to Tours and Bordeaux and finally to Vichy, I have the detached opinion that this is not the French army of Verdun, of 1914-1918. Its ability and its willingness to fight are, definitely, influenced by Communism and it would be wrong to disregard the truth.

France undoubtedly means can play a very important role well and France undeniably in slowing down the Russian armies if war comes, but France is not the cohesive nation nor the military power it was in 1914. The defeat of 1940 was both military and moral and with a Fifth Column rampant and powerful today we must take into consideration the undeniable fact that French Communism is the most vigorous, most effective, most powerful, even if not the strongest numerically of all the shoots of the Moscow plant. As they proved in the French underground, against the Nazis, the French Communists are adept at sabotage.

Leaning on Allies

Communism alone was not responsible for the defeat of the French armies in 1940. The blame must be shared by the allies as a whole. It had lost the will to fight. The blood lettings of Napoleon's wars, of the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 and of World War I had been costly. France had learned to lean on her allies rather than on herself, and when that prop failed France collapsed.

During 1913 and 1914, France built up an alliance with Czarist Russia. It was that alliance which, alas, embroiled France in World War I. The Germany of the Hohenzollerns felt that it could not breathe freely, compressed as it was by Russia on the east and France on the west exerting allied pressure.

The punishment of Belgrade patriots, four schoolboys, for the murder of an Austrian Archduke was the pretense for the war. Russia, as Mother of all the Balkan slavs, felt obliged to stand by the Serbs of Belgrade. Germany slugged France. The War was on.

Briand's Pacifism

In 1939-40, France wanted no part of the war. Poincare and Clemenceau were shelved as quickly as conveniently possible after 1918, except for occasional reappearances of Poincare whenever it became necessary to "save" the French franc. Aristide Briand, the self-styled "apostle of peace" became the national leader.

In 1938, despite Hitler's repeated violations of the last chapters of the Versailles Treaty, France wanted the appeasement of Munich. I covered the story of that political and moral capitulation for United Press. I sat at the three-power conferences at Godesberg, on the Rhine, and then flew to Munich for the formal signature of the appeasement pact.

I was there when Hitler and Goering came, together, out of the hall where the signatures had been exchanged. Goering had his arm around Hitler's shoulder and they were laughing and wisecracking. They had just won the biggest stakes ever played in a poker game. I was there when Neville Chamberlain came out, holding the pact above his head to proclaim to the correspondents: "This is peace for our time, boys."

of Paris it was blocked by massed hundreds of thousands who cheered the "heroes" of the most miserable capitulation of France's long proud history. France proved that day that she wanted no war. One year later, the war had begun. France believed up to the last minute that it could be avoided by further capitulation. Even when it did begin and Hitler turned east to crush Poland in 21 days, the French armies on the West Front stood there in their Maginot line fortresses. They did not jump on Hitler's back except for one minor sally the September 9 battle of the Forest of Warndt, which I watched along with "Red" Knickerbocker, the INS war correspondent.

All that winter the West front was quiet. Men were taken out of the lines to furnish manpower for the best sugar mills of Picardy so that France could have sugar for her coffee. They had barely returned to the forts when, on May 10, 1940, Hitler struck. In less than a week, Von Rundstedt's mobile army was roaring down the Somme valley, having cracked Huntzinger's lines, and the setting for Dunkerque was in the making.

Fifth Column at Work

During that winter, the Communist Fifth Column sabotaged the French army's morale. Hitler and Stalin, through Ribbentrop and Molotov, had signed the accord of Moscow dividing Poland between them. The word from Moscow was to go easy on Germany. French Communists obeyed; they honey-combed the ranks of the French army with traitors.

The evening before the Nazis hit the French lines, in May, 1940, Moscow passed the word to the French Communists. That night, Maurice Thorez, the party leader, a soldier in a fortress company and dozens of other French Communists deserted. They crossed the lines into Germany and were escorted to Moscow where they spent the war.

When Hitler broke his pact with Stalin and Germany invaded Russia, the French Communists became rabid Hitler-haters. They joined the French underground that by then was already waging a holy war against the German army of occupation. But I insist: The French Communists joined the underground; they did not create it.

Appeasement of Reds

When the American army recaptured Paris and General Charles De Gaulle moved in and took over he made the fatal mistake of consenting to the return from Moscow of the French Communist deserters. In that way Thorez and the others got back to France, with a pledge that they would not face a court-martial. That was an appeasement of Communism on a par with the Munich appeasement of Nazism. Thorez is, theoretically, the leader of French Communism today, although he is in a Moscow hospital and Jacques Duclos, who was a pastry cook when he became a party leader, is his replacement. Recently when Thorez fell sick, the Kremlin feared for his life from a patriot nurse or doctor if he went to a French hospital so they sent a plane from Berlin and flew him to a Moscow hospital for treatment.

Party's Strength

Don't under-estimate the ability of French Communists to wage a holy war against us, in the underground, if the West fights Moscow. In the 1946 elections which elected the present French national assembly, there were 5,500,000 Communist votes—28 per cent of the total and more than any other single party. The party controls the French CGT (General Confederation of Labor) which dominates the transports, ports and docks and mines and heavy industries of France. It controls the levers which can throw French industry into reverse by strikes, sabotage and subversive violence.

Those are facts of recent history and of today which cannot be shrugged off with a Gallic lifting of the shoulders. They are facts which control the value of France as an ally. They are facts which Premier Plevin undoubtedly sought to minimize, but they are facts which we must weigh carefully before we invest money and materials in the French army—lest our guns and planes and tanks are handed over to Moscow by her French agents to be used against us.

LIFE at BHS

As Our Teen-Agers

See It

by

and RHODA

When you think of the reason prompting our five-day holiday (being set free at 1:00) the thought isn't so jolly. But, not being profound thinkers, we're willing to take the good luck as it comes and not ask questions—except for this one—How does Mr. Kittle look with a bandage tied around his head?

Sigh of Relief

We're even going to congratulate ourselves for just being mere reporters on our infant school paper. If we're so proud just for that, you can imagine how Mr. Grossman, Ron Kraus, Helen Horowitz, and Marilyn Hubach feel about it. To see that "Volume I, No. 1" on the front page must have given them cause for a sigh of relief. They, among the various department editors and reporters, worked and prayed hard to see that heading which started the ball rolling. By the way, the baby paper was christened "The Belleville Spotlight!" via a contest.

Now, are you glad you kept the date of January 20th open? Did you go to the Hay Seed Hop? If you did, enough said. You know how terrific it turned out to be. This was indeed gratifying to Miss Andrea who said in a dither, "Will I be glad when this thing is over?" Everyone agreed that the Hay Seed Hop was one of the best of the season—decorations and program included.

Hurry Team

There are so many events taking place that some of them are quietly sinking into oblivion without benefit of publicity. Yet who or what could possibly steal the spotlight from a team like that one—that one of ours? Do you realize—Ten Straight Wins! (perhaps more by today). Anyway, Nancy Jackson and Ron Kraus deserves some fame for their speeches which were last Saturday morning at Regional High School. They would have had some followers with them same for the fact the program began at the horrible hour of 9:30 a.m. They're still two fine speakers and we know they did well.

Remember, you seniors, way back when you were freshmen and saw great big senior men and women up on the stage receiving their various honors, scholarships, and so forth? Didn't they somehow take on aspects of gods? Well, now we've seen two guys who've been with us for four years receive scholarships worth $6,000. Mr. Kittle beamed as he said, "It gives me great pleasure to say that Jack McNish and Jim Cavanaugh have both passed the navy test which entitles them to free college education . . ." Imagine! Mr. K. also mentioned something to the effect that because of the slowness of the postal service, perhaps some others had also passed the test without having heard as yet. So perhaps a few more of B.H.S. boys have brains like Jack and Jim.

Valentine Dance

In one of his few speeches on the stage of B.H.S., Walter Haslam in his slow, easy way told of the coming event of Saturday. Namely, the Senior Valentine Dance, at which festival are chosen the King and Queen of Hearts. They are to be any two seniors (more or less of a popularity poll)—they don't have to be steady. The ballots are to be cast at the dance as you enter. Since everyone feels a little up in the clouds (unexpected things are such good topics) about our big classed at 1:00, and if we win (and we will!) this week's games, you absolutely cannot afford this chance of terminating the week with a festive air. P.S. Bright-eyed Miss Marie Cicale is chairman of decorations. The buzzing reports were almost most right—Scotch dancers there were none, but the Kilties, a group of three Scotch balladeers and their accompanist, appeared on the stage to entertain us with their songs. The clothes which they wore were different, to say the least. Many of us smiled to ourselves as each one of the troupe arrived wearing the typical Scotch costume—"short Skirt," high socks, blouse, jacket, and jaunty cap. We were told that the Highlanders go into battle dressed like that. May be feminine costumes, but inside are hearts of fighting men."

Seaman Hall Aboard Cruiser Landing Troops At Inchon

Seaman Harold A. Hall, of 23 Clinton Place, a gunner in the Fox Division, is in Korea, assigned to the Cruiser, St. Paul. He has been under constant fire landing and evacuating troops and wounded at Inchon. Seaman Hall has been in the midst of the war since August, except for a few days spent in Japan.

A graduate of Barringer High School, he and his mother moved to Belleville five years ago. Seaman Hall served three years in the Navy during World War II, during which time his ship was bombed and torpedoed in the Indian Ocean. He re-enlisted in August, 1950.

The leading figure was a remarkable 76 year old gentleman who sang and played the bagpipes with the gusto of a youngster. How about more of this sort of thing, Assembly committee? While being thoroughly entertained, we can also acquire knowledge of other peoples, their customs, and cultures.

Seniors Select Play

Shhhh! Tread lightly! Big production in rehearsal! Sounds interesting, too, if you happen to be around within earshot. "Ramshackle Inn" has been chosen for the Senior Play 1951. We stand that this rollicking comedy had a successful run on Broadway a while ago with Zasu Pitts in the leading role. A few murders and such make it a show worth reserving time for. "Big shots" in the directors' seats are Nancy Jackson, Louise Delmar, and Miriam Gigerelli—tops in their field. The cast was chosen with a fine-tooth comb, and mighty hard it was for the directors. But, finally, it was announced. Here is—our own performers from our own show.—Bob Smith, Anthony Della Valle, Barbara Marks, Mitzel Mayers, Sid Lawson, Bette Robinson, Don Davis, Claire Nees, Marilyn Scheie, Walt Haslam, Jim Lampman, Giro Manno, Rene Di Biase, Bill Hean, and Ron Kraus.—A capable group, don't you think? We can't wait to see the finished production!

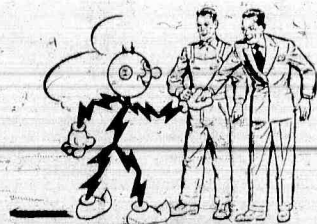

These are busy days for the Public Service industrial representative who works with our heat, light and power customers.

That's the way it should be.

All of us on the industrial team in New Jersey—the plant workers, the factory supervisors, the production managers, and the suppliers of essential electric and gas services—all of us are on the job working to make New Jersey a leader in defense production again.

In many ways, the Public Service industrial representative is able to serve his industrial customers. It may be the suggestion of a new application of infra-red heaters for speedy drying . . . or a special use of gas for heat-treating . . . or specific lighting recommendations to help provide safer and faster production at the machine.

No time on his hands? Right! Because he wants to get this big job done quickly—in time!

White House Conference Report By Local Delegate

Mrs. Willette, Active In Local Affairs, Tells Of Child, Youth Meeting

By Mrs. Lenora B. Willette
(Mrs. Willette is an active worker in community, social and rehabilitation matters. She is a member of the New Jersey State Migrant Labor Board and was one of the delegates to the Mid-century White House Conference in Washington, D. C. last month. This is her report on that conference and the supplemental one held in Trenton this week.)

The New Jersey delegates who attended the 1950 Mid-century White House Conference on Children and Youth held recently in Washington, D. C. met in Trenton Monday, to evaluate the work done at the Washington conference, and to plan a similar conference for New Jersey. At the meeting Monday it was decided to hold the conference the latter part of March, 1951, at Rutgers University. Prior to the Rutgers conference, Judge Harold B. Wells and Mrs. Wells will entertain the delegates at their home in Bordentown, at which time the Governor will meet with the delegates.

There were more than six thousand delegates at the Mid-century White House Conference on Children and Youth in Washington, and hundreds of persons in each state "questing" invitations could not be accommodated by the National Committee through which all recommendations from state committees had to be cleared. In addition to the six thousand voting delegates from the United States and its territories, several thousand foreign observers were present. These groups were well informed, and their experiences and recommendations enriched the knowledge gained in the work shops, and at the panel discussions.

Would Abolish Segregation

These delegates were able to see American Democracy in action, since there were delegates from every state in the Union, of all races and nationalities, and religious faiths. Yet at no time did any group fail to cooperate with another because of race, or religion or color. The large vote that was instrumental in passing the item of the platform to abolish segregation in all public schools, and on all public vehicles of transportation anywhere in the United States was due to the support of hundreds of Southern delegates, and the item that no further conferences under the auspices of the Federal Government be held in Washington D.C. until it provided non-segregated facilities for all conference participants was introduced by a Southerner, and well supported by Southerners.

Many other platform items for the states to use as a guide in developing a "stronger nation" through the proper care of children and youth mentally, physically, and spiritually were voted favorably. Among the ones that the New Jersey delegates were helpful to promote were:

Broader Health Services

Adolescence — Investigation is needed to find out how much of adolescent conflict is inevitable. Health services should be broadened to recognize emotional difficulties and give advice on how to relieve them.

Schools — Educational institutions should reexamine their policies and critical needs of schools should yield priority only to military needs. There should be immediate enactment of broader Federal Aid to Education. Children of migrant workers should be given full and adequate opportunities for education.

Working conditions — States should pass and enforce laws regulating night labor for youth, and adequate Child Labor Laws.

Law — An act for uniform support of dependents should be passed by all 48 states, and the District of Columbia. This to involve the study of the assignment of all family cases, to a juvenile or other specialized court. That Child psychiatrists should be a part of all juvenile court staffs. Divorce and adoption laws should be revised. All police should be trained in work with juveniles, and those who work with youth should have additional specialized training.

Price, Rent Control

Communications — Television should develop and extend daily programs to meet the intellectual and emotional needs of children and youth. The FCC should provide TV channels to be used by educators. A committee of Television, Radio and motion picture experts should be set up to provide dramatization of successful family life in the American scene.

Economics — Price and rent control should be realistically applied in the present emergency, and family allowances to Service men should be increased, along with minimum wages.

Segregation — Religious organization should take leadership in the abolition of segregation. Indian tribes in the United States should have the right of self-determination and should be permitted to live where they choose. Segregation should be ended on every level of American life if every American child is to develop his whole personality and provide for the nation a solidarity of citizenship responsibility necessary to a strong nation.

Truman Speaks

President Truman spoke to the conference on the third day of its assembly. He warned the delegates that "the program of rearmament will change the lives of our children," and warned them to provide the children of today with the best possible safeguards against emotional strain and physical distress. On Communism the President had this to say: "Communism attacks our basic values, our belief in God, our belief in the dignity of man, and the value of human life, our belief in justice and freedom. It attacks our churches, our guaranties of civil liberty, our courts, and our democratic form of government."

Dr. Benjamin Spock told the assembly, "We are short-changing our children. Our schools are too few and too small. Much of the equipment is antiquated, most of the classes shockingly large, so that the best teachers are frustrated. There are too few teachers."

Would Clear Slums

General Carlos P. Romulo, Foreign Secretary of the Philippine Republic, insisted in his speech that, "This and succeeding generations would be saved from the scourge of war if the Charter of the United Nations were faithfully complied with. Today's children live in a world of unequal prospects and unprecedented danger. Modern technology has placed within the reach of all mankind the means of a better life. It has also fashioned the weapons of destruction that threatened the human race with extinction."

The conference also voted to support slum clearance and better community planning. Certain communities according to the delegates need this planning badly.

The general feeling of all delegates seemed to be that with lay people, experts, youth and government officials working out plans together, a better American spirit would result for future strength and dignity as a nation.

Teachers Polishing Up First Aid Techniques

Belleville High School Students thought that turn-about was fair play this week when they received half-day vacations, and waved their teachers off to school! Faculty members have completed a First Aid course taken in co-operation with the Belleville Chapter of the American Red Cross, and the Civilian Defense Council. Shown above, left to right, reclining, are William Chapman, Erma Mayer, Kathryn Conklin, Pearl J. Nelson and Rosemarie L. Dolde. Administering artificial respiration, left to right, are Margaret Leahy, Herman Knuppel, Frances Williamson, Doris Gertrude Rosenblum and Rosemary Ziegler. Instructor Andy Lukowiak looks on. These teachers are now certified Red Cross instructors and will teach the faculty members of the various schools.

HOSPITAL DRIVE IN NORTH NEWARK

Neighboring Community Hopes To Emulate Belleville In Lutheran Campaign

A tentative goal of $100,000 has been accepted by a steering committee for the North Newark-Forest Hill community phase of the $2,800,000 Lutheran Memorial Hospital building fund campaign. The canvass is scheduled to get under way early in May.

The committee plans, adopted at a meeting last week, will be unfolded before some 100 civic leaders of the area at a dinner February 7 in the For-Hills Restaurant. Dr. Richard H. Diefenbach, hospital chief of staff, has been acting as chairman of the steering group.

Belleville Over Top

The North Newark-Forest Hill drive will be the third community campaign since the hospital solicitation was launched last year. To date, canvasses in Belleville and Nutley have netted more than $165,000. Belleville is the first community to go over the top, having raised several hundred dollars in excess of its $100,000 quota.

Meanwhile, a canvass of industrial firms in the North Newark area is continuing. So far, ten industrial plants in the district have pledged over $42,000 toward the fund, according to John F. Kidde, general chairman of the campaign. The industrial phase is entirely separate from the community effort, Mr. Kidde said, the latter being confined to residential districts and small businesses.

LETTERS

To the Editor, The Times-News:

Up to a little more than four years ago, when I retired and moved to Connecticut, I lived all my life in Belleville.

In order to keep in touch with the old town, I get the Times-News every week. Your editorials are always good, and your "One Man's Opinion" are very interesting and very much to the point.

In reading your editorial in issue of January 25 on the Ton Mile Tax. You are in error in stating that Connecticut charges $5.00 for a drivers license. It is $3.00. Has been all the time I have lived there, and on my renewal application for a 1951 license it still says fee is $3.00. I call your attention to this, for I am sure you want to be accurate in your statements.

Your criticism of the fact that the motorist pays about all the costs for New Jersey roads is well taken, and is in line with the same criticism right here in Connecticut. At great expense the state has built many roads including the Wilbur Cross Highway, on which trucks and buses are allowed. There are many trucks using the Wilbur Cross during the day, but at night there is a steady line of trucks running out of Boston to New York and points south. So much so there are many accidents, and driving dangerous and has forced many motorists to take other routes, which means they cannot use the Highway for which they paid. It has gotten so bad the highway is now called "Hello" Highway.

Berkeley To Open Winter Term; Radio Executive On Faculty

On Monday, February 19, Berkeley School in East Orange will begin the twentieth winter term. The school, founded in 1931 to provide secretarial training on a college-level in an accessible suburban location, is in session throughout the entire year, with additional terms opening in the summer and fall. This year a radio executive, Oliver B. Trezy, has been added to the faculty.

The winter opening is for the benefit of mid-winter graduates who wish to begin secretarial training directly after graduation. This is the only time when an accelerated program is offered. Students entering in February complete their course in September.

SPOTLIGHT

on SPORTS

by Warren Knight

This column went to print before the Bellboy eagles took the boards last night over at Kearny, thus putting that discovery of Webster, "if," into practical use. So, if the Belleville basketballers were up to the task of pinning the tail on the Cardinals for win No. 11, without a defeat on the books, they're going to play in the state tournament. This will prove highly satisfactory for some of the partisan fans who follow the Bellboys as a lot of arguments invariably ensue at the conclusion of the season over what the Blue and Gold hoopmen would have accomplished against state rivals. Unless the Kards upset the apple cart, this is the year we'll know.

On what the Bellboys did Friday against a weak Nutley team, though, they'll have to play better basketball if they intend to make Coach Jitty Wische live up to his verbal contract with the team. Only in one of the four quarters did the Bellboys perform up to par. The rest of the time they threw the ball away on long, wild passes and allowed the smaller Maroon team to outscramble them under the boards. This tendency toward sloppiness kept the game close the first half and against a team of higher calibre, could have proved disastrous. But that gift of being able to unload a terrific scoring outburst, evident in almost every contest played this year, saved the marbles and resulted in the Maroon falling helplessly behind as the Bellboys bombarded the basket and kept possession of the ball most of the third period, giving Nutley only one shot at a clip.

Richie Godfrey shone in the 18-point spree that squashed the Nutley hopes before a jam-packed crowd at the losers' gym. Twice the speedy forward stole the ball at midcourt, once from two Maroon players and outran them to the basket. He outmaneuvered his man on another shot to sink a one-handed bucket and his final twin-pointer of the session came on the nearest execution of the fast break of the evening, taking a clever pass from center Jim McConnell to register an easy layup on a 3-on-2 situation.

This scribe was most impressed with one phase of the Bellboys' play and in our humble opinion, a strong factor in the team's success. Charlie Travers, McConnell and Godfrey, particularly, are experts at driving through to the backboard. Many schoolboys are unable to master this art and a valuable one it is. Not only is the chance for a layup enhanced but what is more important, the defending player, about 7 times out of 10, commits a foul attempting to ride his opponent out of bounds or block the shot. Belleville's output on fouls doubled the Maroon total and what's more, most of the Bellboys can drop in those one-pointers with unerring accuracy. Wische, an old pro himself who knows the value of those charity tosses, evidently has conveyed his theories to his boys. It's paid off, anyway.

This observer of the basketball scene is getting a big chuckle out of the crack unloaded by Clair Bee, highly respected boss-man of the Long Island University cage aggregation, one of the best in the nation. The explosive Bee is winding up a tour to the West undertaken by the Blackbirds who have been running the opposition right out of Madison Square Garden. The other night, after getting knocked off for the second time in a row on the fateful road junket, and the Birds had won 16 straight in New York, most of them in the Garden, the buzzing Bee bitterly castigated the officiating.

Ho-ho and a couple of Ha-ha's. How about the Western and Southern teams coming into the Garden to meet some of New York's finest? We know all officials call them as they see 'em, but how blind can you get? Do you ever see Squirmen' Sherman White foul out of a game in the Garden? Or Ray Felix, another big gee in the LIU scheme? But some of these visiting stars who come into the Eighth Avenue sports emporium with a handful of press clippings suddenly find themselves on the bench, because the score book says Mr. Non-Partisan Ref has tooted his whistle at the star five times. On the theory that perhaps the star is overawed by the crowd (?) or the tall buildings, he might have a bad night and foul out. But can't the same theory be applied to Squirmen' Sherman, who went to the sidelines against Arizona the other night? Perhaps Sherman, a great player, was awed by those majestic mountains or that rarified atmosphere and missed the stinking New York-New Jersey climate.

We're surprised at Mr. Bee's outburst. A year ago, when he shared the TV mike with Mel Allen in the Garden, covering the cage twin bills, the venerable coach often pointed out that Western schools play a different game. They come East and find the blocking foul a different proposition, along with other factors that puts the visiting team, as always, at a disadvantage. In retrospect, wouldn't the same theorizing be logical for teams from the East going West? But from now on, every time Bee passes that statue of Horace Greely, he's probably going to throw rocks at the famed fourth estate who uttered that literary and philosophical gem, "Go west, young man."

Cannonballs In Sweep, Stretch Lead In Baptist Pin Loop

In a 'crucial' series of games this week the Cannonballs swept all three games from the Gutterballs, knocking them from a tie for first place to a triple tie for second. While the Gutterballs were far off their form and lost three games, the Cannonballs took the Snowballs squeezed out one win over the Softballs to bring all three teams into a tie for second place.

Although all teams lost ground to the league-leading Cannonballs, the Softballs managed to narrow the distance by which they trail the fifth place Meatballs to one game.

Comets, Campers Look Like Tough Bellboy Foes

Hillside Here Tomorrow, Irvington Host to Top Belleville Squad in Big Game on Tuesday

Moving into the home-stretch before tournament time, Belleville's victory-happy basketball representatives, with 10 straight wins and no defeats up to the Kearny game last night, bounce into a couple of tough cookies come tomorrow and Tuesday nights. Hillside's Comets, who gave the Bellboys a merry time down in Union County, move into the local balliwick for the second set in the home-and-home series while the tall and rugged Irvington Campers form the opposition Tuesday at the Camper court.

It isn't likely the Bellboys will have any pushover in either of these engagements. Although not figured too highly in the first encounter, the Comets surprised the Blue and Gold with some snappy outside shooting and good playmaking for shots in close. That made the game interesting until the Bellboys came up with the customary rally to put the verdict on ice.

Improved Team

The Campers have been showing definite signs of life lately and are making a determined bid for a berth in the county tournament. Rubie Fjelstad's pass and shoot boys have plenty of height and a prolific scorer in Joe Feldman. Their biggest headache has been a tendency to be erratic and blow hot and cold. When they're hot, the Irvington tall boys will make the best of them, but they've lost games this year to weaker opposition when passes go astray and shooters aren't hitting.

Coach Jitty Wische may be figuring his boys are getting stale for he hasn't been overworking them lately. A week ago, they had three days rest and this week the tutor allowed the varsity to break off after a short practice session on Tuesday.

The starting line-up will have Jim McConnell at center, Charlie Travers and Dick Godfrey in the forward slots and Bob Dilworth and either Biddy Engel or Dean Hatcher in the back court.

PRU RUNS LEAD TO FIVE GAMES

Sweep Federal Leather To Widen Gap; Watco Wins, Tie Leathermen

The Prudential A.A. moved into an imposing lead of five games in the Belleville Manufacturers "A" League by scoring a three game sweep over the second place Federal Leather team. The insurance men were paced by Elmer Zingg with a 595 series and 233 game and Newt Pierson with a 581 set topped by a 221 game while Federal was led by Rudy Kocis with 558 and a 236 game.

Wallace & Tiernan anchored by Bill Klemz with 569 took two games from Dodge Inc. to move into a tie for second with Federal Leather. Bill Curran with 560 was best for the trophy men. Hamilton & Goodman with Howard Vehlase rolling 597 and Tom Murphy hitting 567 scored a sweep over Nepco. Tony Czaykowski topped Nepco with 528.

In the other match of the night Standard Arturus broke their losing streak by taking one game from Heinze. Mike Condon with 533 topped the tubemakers while Gene Jackson hit 477 for Heinze.

JAYVEES SPLIT IN TWO GAMES

Trim Clifton, Bow To Nutley As Whole Team Gets Into Action

In the last two outings against Nutley and Clifton, the Belleville junior varsity quintet lost to the Maroon while taking the junior Mustangs into camp. Nutley trimmed the Bellboy Jayvees 51-41 while the Clifton subs bowed to Ray Smith's aggregation, 47-35.

Free use of the entire squad in both games may have had some bearing on the final results. In the Nutley fray, 22 players got into action while an even two dozen participated in the Mustang affair. Zindel led the losing cause against Nutley, getting 10 credits while Pete Benz made 11 in the encounter at Clifton.

Hot Third Quarter Buries Nutley, Bellboys Win 50-36

County Champs Cool At Beginning, But Assert Superiority Later

Breaking out with a vengeance in the third quarter, in which they outscored a helpless Nutley five 18-4, Belleville came up with its 10th consecutive victory without a loss last Friday, conquering the Maroon 50-36. Nutley bowed for the ninth time and have only three wins.

In the first half, the Bellboys had their collective hands full. The home team, performing before a packed house that included a good percentage of Belleville fans, actually outscored the visitors from the floor. However, Belleville, recognized as Essex County's No. 1 team, stayed in the game despite a lax performance, but only because of accurate foul shooting.

Wallace Spark

With Don Wallace turning in a fine stint under the boards, Nutley had possession of the ball for more than its share of the first two stanzas. In fact, at one point in the opening quarter the Maroon had a 9-6 lead, but Jim McConnell and Charlie Travers, two of the Bellboys' aces, strung together five points while Nutley was limited to a goose-egg in the closing minutes of the opening half, enabling the

Godfrey Gallops

Smarting under a typical taunting by Coach Jitty Wische, Belleville returned to the floor and wasted no time in showing why the team is tops in these parts. A furious attack, aided by some weird Nutley ball handling, flung the Maroon to the wall, as Dick Godfrey, a quick young man with a knack for stealing the ball from the unwary, ran Nutley dizzy. Godfrey, playing a defensive post at midcourt, pilfered the leather twice and outraced Nutley men to the basket for layups. He had a one-handed and tallied another layup on the end of a brilliant fast break, taking a clever pass from McConnell. Add a foul and little Richie accounted for nine of the 18-point output.

Nutley, unable to get more than one shot, didn't score until 5:57 of the third period had gone by and it was a foul shot by Richie Masters that broke the scoring famine. The meshes remained undisturbed again until 7:53, when Wallace's one-handed from in close found the mark. A foul at the close of the period by Zurier closed Nutley's four markers.

Can't Catch Up

With a safe lead, Wische substituted freely the last period, McConnell, key man on the attack, sitting out the session while the reserves held Nutley at bay. The Maroon managed to outscore Belleville 12-9 but the big bulge was too much to make up and the outcome was never in doubt after that third period.

McConnell's 13 markers took scoring honors, the pivot man making seven of his team's 16 out of 20 foul shots. Wallace had 12 for Nutley and Godfrey made the
