Emergency Medical Services

Padula, Co-Director of Civil Defense Division, Sets Up Zone Strategy Boards To Provide Hospital, Ambulance, First Aid-Facilities

Creation of zone strategy boards in each of the five designated areas aimed at mapping plans for the provision of emergency medical care in case of an attack, was announced yesterday by Isadore J. Padula, co-director of Emergency Medical Services under the Civilian Defense Council. Padula briefly outlined his program Monday at a meeting of the Civil Defense Council.

The co-director pointed out the need for staffing the medical division with professional men and women, aided and abetted by volunteers trained in applying first aid under adverse conditions.

In a statement yesterday, Padula said:

"Emergency medical services is one of the most important functions of our civil defense program, inasmuch as it must render aid to workers in all other divisions simultaneously with the constant service demanded by a civilian population swollen out of all proportion during an emergency. On this basis, it is obvious the medical division must be staffed with many professional men and women. In addition, a sufficient number of volunteer trainees must be prepared to render a thorough job of maintaining such standards of health so as to prevent epidemics. This will, through proper care of the wounded and suffering, and by administering drugs, scientific application of first aid and modern operative techniques, alleviate to some extent the death toll."

"As co-director of emergency medical services, I have utilized the five zones established for civil defense in World War II. Through this medium, we may affect the necessary recruitment of volunteers for this division and others affiliated with civilian defense."

Plan Meeting

"I have recommended for each zone a planning group known as a Zone Strategy Board. The initial membership of the boards will be notified by mail within the next ten days of an organization meeting. Inasmuch as the people of Belleville have always responded for service once the need is established and the pattern of procedure set forth, I anticipate 100 percent (Continued On Page Two)

Nation's Business Devotes Feature Story to Founders of Giant Local Plant That Produces Many Life-Saving Machines and Processes

Labeled among the great disease fighters of our time, Charles F. Wallace and Martin F. Tiernan, top executives of the sprawling Wallace and Tiernan plant on Main Street, were the subjects of a feature story in the January issue of Nation's Business. The two men, now president and vice-president of the concern, are responsible for the chlorinator, which purifies water, along with many other products.

Written by Nation's Business Greer Williams, the article describes the various stages the men went through before establishing the firm. Starting 40 years ago with the water purifier, when 20,000 Americans were dying of typhoid each year, the chlorine gas gadget has been responsible for the reduction of that death toll to a mere 200 annually.

A call for blood bank donors, scheduled on a broadcast over a national CBS hook-up tomorrow night will find the local chapter of the Red Cross participating. Edward S. Murrow, top newscaster for CBS, will devote a portion of the time on his weekly program "Hear It Now" to an appeal for blood bank donors. The program is beamed across the nation from 9 to 10 o'clock and immediately following its conclusion, the Belleville chapter will have personnel at its headquarters here to accept pledges of a blood donation.

Miss Dorothy Nell Darby, executive secretary of the local chapter, urged registrants to call Belleville 2-4610 and make a pledge. She said donations have been falling short of demands, due chiefly to the intensity of the fighting in Korea and the need for plasma.

BOND ATTORNEYS NAMED BY BOARD FOR NEW ISSUE

New York Firm Mentioned In Resolution; Plan For Spring Referendum

At a meeting of the Board of Education Friday, a resolution was approved authorizing the retaining of the New York firm of Hawkins, Delafield & Wood as attorneys to represent the board in the $300,000 bond issue that will be voted upon at a special referendum this spring. The money will be used to carry out a maintenance program in the school system.

According to board member Charles Yocum, the New York firm is highly regarded in the bonding field. District School Clerk Daniels said that 10 of 12 schools in Essex County have used Hawkins, Delafield & Wood and the attorneys have been employed on school matters here in prior years.

Daniels explained that an opinion from a reputable firm experienced in handling such matters was almost a necessity. He asserted that unless an opinion was available, bidders for the bonds would seek one and charge it to the bid price. The school clerk said the bonding attorneys would perform specific services, such as obtaining the approval of the state attorney general on the bonds and ascertaining that the election referendum complied with all legal requirements.

The original resolution on the bond issue had the provision for retaining the New York firm deleted at the request of Board Member McCann. However, the board members reconsidered and decided to reinstate the authorization. It is estimated the cost will be approximately $500.

FINAL APPEAL IN POLIO CAMPAIGN

Chairman Tully Predicts Drive Will Go Over Top If All Contribute

Mayor James J. Tully, chairman of the March of Dimes, made a final appeal yesterday to Belleville citizens on behalf of the drive.

"Many Belleville citizens have responded most generously. I am sure it is only through neglect that others have not done so. I urge all who can, no matter how small an amount, to contribute, and in this manner we will be able to turn over to the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis our due amount. I am confident when all returns are in, including those of industry, labor, business, special gifts, and organizations, Belleville will again have gone 'over the top.'"

Extends Drive

"Officially the drive ends today, having been extended a week. However, William J. Goodrich, treasurer of the drive, will continue to receive contributions all during the month of February at the First National Bank. At the end of the month the full amount will be turned over to the National Foundation."

"As in previous years the children of our public and parochial schools have unselfishly come forth with their dimes, and when all returns are in their total will be well over $1,000. They certainly deserve commendation."

School Budget Goes To Voters Tuesday In Election

Four Polling Places May Draw Record Vote as Board of Education Seeks All-Time High $1,378,740

Voters will go to the polls in four voting areas Tuesday night to approve or reject the highest school budget in the town's history, calling for the expenditure of $1,378,740 for the school year 1951-52. With the additional polling places, a new record may be established in ballots cast, although school budget elections have been notorious through the years for the lack of interest shown by the voting public. Last year, only 127 citizens registered votes compared to nearly 500 in 1949.

ADVANCED GIFTS QUOTA SET FOR RED CROSS DRIVE

Thomas, Chairman Of Division, Announces Goal Of $3,667, Up 80 Percent

Evan Thomas, chairman advanced gifts committee for the 1951 Red Cross Fund Drive, announced yesterday that his committee organization was now complete and that his group would begin their solicitation February 10.

According to Thomas, in view of the increased demands on the Red Cross in Belleville, and its expanded services in the town, together with its joint efforts with Civilian Defense Council to "Mobilize for Defense," the goal of his committee has been increased to $3,667. This represents an increase of about 80 per cent over last year's figures.

The members of the advanced gifts committee are: B. Thomas Aitken, 237 Washington Avenue; Martin P. Cosgrove, 18 Perry Street; William H. Cullen, 80 Liberty Avenue; Rudolph H. Deeten, 28 Clearman Place; Charles Gebhardt, 128 Adelaide Street; Howard A. Holmes, 479 Union Avenue; Dr. George Kaden, 235 Malone Avenue; Albert P. Luscombe, 237 Washington Avenue; Theodore Sandford, 16 Division Avenue; Mrs. Everett B. Smith, 15 Van Rye Place; Charles H. Thompson, 21 Reservoir Place; Luther E. Van Pelt, 9 Forest Street; and Mrs. Robert L. Summa, 298 Union Avenue.

Thomas, in a forecast of the campaign results, was confident his committee would be able to complete their part in the fund drive by February 25. He also predicted that the established goal for his division would be met successfully, indicative proof of the complete success to be achieved by all of the divisions in meeting the Belleville goal of $26,402.

Pageant Climaxes Scouting's Forty-First Anniversary

Twenty-nine Local Units To Participate At High School Saturday Night

Belleville's 29 Boy Scout units are joining the national scout organization this week in observing the 41st anniversary of the founding of the scout movement in the United States. Celebrations commemorating the occasion are being held and will be climaxed this weekend, when a pageant, entitled "The Scout Trail to Citizenship," will be presented at the high school auditorium Saturday night. Sunday, a number of churches have invited the Boy Scouts to participate in the regular worship services.

The pageant, with all units of scouting taking part, is the principle feature of the week-long observance. It portrays the founding of America's freedom and scouting's system of preparing boys to become citizens in a democracy.

Rapid Growth Here

The growth of scouting here has been little short of phenomenal. Seven years ago, there were nine Boy Scout troops, one Cub Pack and a Sea Scout unit, with 320 boys involved. Today, there are 15 scout troops, 10 Cub Packs and four Explorer units, the last named including older youths.

One of the motivating forces back of the movement is Harry T. French, executive secretary of the Robert Treat Council, which includes Belleville on its roster. A resident here since 1944, French has spent nearly his entire adult life with the Boy Scouts. After graduating from a Connecticut preparatory school, he attended Yale. His first taste of the business world was through the eyes of an accountant with the United States Rubber Company, where he was a labor expert.

Taxpayers are being called upon to raise $1,183,756 in local taxes, an increase of $195,514, or 46.42 points, in the tax rate. More than half of the amount is attributed to salary increases to teachers, including a cost-of-living bonus approved in December. The budget was adopted by the Board of Education January 25, following the regular public hearing.

Four schools will be available for voters, with the polls open from 5 to 9 p.m. At School No. 1, which covers the First Ward, including Districts 1, 2 and 3, Horace Baldwin has been named chairman of the election employees. Mrs. Marjorie Mallinson is secretary and tellers will be Peter Wendel and Emory Goody. At School No. 8, covering Ward 2 and its five districts, Allan Crisp is chairman. Mrs. Viola Mitchell secretary and tellers are Henry Dennison and Harvey Brumback.

School No. 5 will handle voters from the Third Ward and its six districts. Chairman is Nicholas Colaninno, secretary Percy Karrer and Herbert Orth and T. Patterson are tellers. School No. 10 will accommodate the Fourth Ward and the five districts there. Chairman is John Carlucci and Mrs. Blossom McCoy is secretary. Tellers are Andrew Salkeld and Walter Gilby. Voters will cast ballots for the following items in the budget: current expenses, $1,138,229; library, $7,950; repairs and replacements, $124,692; manual training, $22,100; debt service, $75,768; capital outlay, $10,000, for a total of $1,378,739. Anticipated revenues include state aid, broken down into $69,418, raised by the municipality, while $125,565 is the state's portion. Money to be raised by taxation has been set at $1,183,756.

Farmer On Mend

Wayne Farmer, supervisor of public schools, was reported in good condition at St. Barnabas Hospital in Newark. The school official was stricken with a heart attack several weeks ago and is now recuperating. It is expected he will remain at St. Barnabas for another ten days or two weeks.

Chairman of the meeting, Edward J. Abronson, assured the Defense Council that members of the Progress Club would give complete support to the Council and many applications were signed by members attending.

On Tuesday, February 13, 1951, the film "You Can Beat the A Bomb" will be exhibited to the Women's Auxiliary of the Younginger-Alden Post, No. 275, at 8:30 p.m., at the Veterans hall. Two speakers of the Council will address the meeting.

YOUNG GOP TO SEEK VOICE IN COUNTY AFFAIRS

Resolution Goes To Becker After Convention; Local Girl Elected Officer

Essex County Young Republicans, at their annual convention in Newark last weekend, put in a strong bid for participation and a voice in Clean Government county leadership. A resolution addressed to County Chairman George Becker asked that the junior group be invited to attend all meetings of the senior Republican county organization, with a voice, for the purpose of creating understanding and cooperation. Membership in the nine-man executive committee is the real goal of the junior group.

Douglas Tucker, vice president of the Nutley Republican Club, was elected Young Republican county chairman for 1951 by the convention, as the nominating committee's slate was swept into office. Belleville's Miss Mary Grace Hannon was elected vice-chairman.

Representing the youthful wing of the Republican party that falls within the graft age limits, the Young Republicans adopted another resolution asking that America's preparedness mobilization be paid for on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, instead of piling up huge

TRUMAN MESSAGE LAUDS SCOUTING

President Cites Important Role In Nation's Affairs Played By Scouts

President Truman sounded a message to the 2,750,000 members of Boy Scouts across the nation as the organization observed its 41st anniversary this week. Local troops are participating in the event.

The President's greeting read as follows: "In sending you warm greetings and hearty congratulations on the occasion of Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12, your forty-first anniversary—I speak for all patriotic citizens who believe Scouting is a bulwark against the evils of our times.

"Scouting's determination to give to every boy the chance to absorb the benefits of the movement's program for physical, mental, moral and spiritual development promises well for our Nation. In resolute purpose and unflinching courage to meet successfully the problems of a challenging future.

Praise Leaders

"Your enrollment of 17,500,000 members since 1910 and your present active membership of 2,750,000, as disclosed in official records is a great achievement. It speaks eloquently for our democratic way of helping boys through devoted volunteer leadership.

"Your determination to continue with your campaign to 'Strengthen the Arm of Liberty' is most reassuring and merits sustained public approval. One and all, you have earned the confidence of our people and I salute you for your patriotic and selfless service."

Hurrah for Donny Davis and Marilyn Scheie, our crown King and Queen of Hearts! They were crowned by Bob Smith at Saturday's "social," but not financial success, namely, the senior Sweetheart Dance. As if in compensation for a pretty cool evening (the gym was freezing and the band wasn't so hot), to see Marilyn and Donny's faces as they listened to prexy Ron Kraus announce the result of the vote taken at the dance was heartwarming. The "lovers" were elated to the point of stealing a kiss as they brought their very own dance to an end. Even if the grand total of seniors present was about 20 or 25, the kids who were there seemed to be having a good time — no doubt about Donny and Marilyn.

Things are still going strong in Miss Weidman's sessions with her Monad staff. If any of you have favorite snapshots that you'd like to see go into print for the eyes of all posterity, give them to Martin Koustas. That boy's been working hard on the photography staff—and he says he'll return the photographs to you if your name and homeroom are on the back of them. This year these snapshots will be used to frame the ads, an improvement, we think, over the special page of snapshots of previous Monads.

Money for Monad

While we're on this subject, we may as well add the announcement which has been read on each bulletin for the past week. To operate successfully, the Monad staff must have sufficient funds. But (and this is a big BUT) the money which you are charged for the yearbook does not cover the enormous cost of printing it. Thus, we are asking the people of Belleville—our parents, alumnae of B.H.S., businessmen, and every one else—to support the 1951 Monad and become its patrons. We hope you will do so to aid us in our endeavor.

We haven't given you any recent "info" on our school clubs lately. This year it seems that there are many more of them than at any other time. The future teachers of America are not losing any time in learning about their chosen profession. Miriam Gingerelli, the club's president, has told us of their forthcoming trip to Newark State Teacher's College on February 9th. They seem very interested in finding out for themselves what goes on at the school.

Under Mr. Sheridan's supervision the Debating Club has reached reality and has come off the list of unformed organizations. The group has already elected officers in this order: Bob Plunkett, president; Estelle Denner, vice-president; Evelyn Denner, secretary. And if you fellows don't think Plunkett can debate, drop around to one of the meetings.

Fish Club

No snickers now! As someone once said—only those laugh who don't know what it's all about—and there's really nothing very funny about a few little innocent tropical fish. Incidentally, the club with that moniker is having a wonderful time usefully practicing their hobby. It's really interesting—all visitors are invited!

Those who did not go to the Jascha Heifetz concert Tuesday night missed a wonderful musical treat. Mr. Heifetz is a world-renowned violinist and presented excellent selections. We didn't think we could sit through an entire program of violin music but, as it happened, we were spellbound throughout. Mr. Peck, will let us know again when you can obtain tickets to any kind of musical show or concert. And, kids, why don't more of you take the opportunity next time?

Girls Get Vote

Our first attempt at the Inquiring Report sort of thing caused a bit of controversy. So don't laugh now at this week's question. It does sound somewhat silly at first, but it contains deep logic. We asked this of a handful of people during the week—"If you had had your choice before you were born, would you rather have been a boy or a girl?" See what we mean—some of the expressive (?) looks we received when inquiring didn't know. But after digging down into their brains, they came up with some pretty sensible answers.

Buddy Morrocco, senior, "The way things are now in the world, a girl is much more secure. A boy has to worry about Universal military training, war, and things such as these. I'm not saying I'd rather be a girl, but I do feel that they have an easier life."

Judy Gabriel, sophomore, "I think I'll stay a girl—we can have all the pretty clothes and hairdos. If there are a homely boy and a homely girl, the girl can always do something to bring out her beauty, but a boy cannot."

Allan Gibson, senior, "Hmhm, the men have the power in this Recent enlistees in the armed services are Ronald A. Hoover, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Hoover of 125 Tappan Avenue; Leo A. Matiskiel, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Matiskiel of 219 Greylock Parkway; and Donald J. Miller, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Miller of 30 Van Rensselaer Street.

Private Hoover, formerly a student at Bloomfield Technical School has enlisted for a term of three years. At present he is stationed in Fort Dix with the Infantry and expects to go overseas in the near future.

Stationed at Lockland Field, Texas, with the Air Corp, Private Matiskiel graduated from Belleville High School and was employed by the Westinghouse Corporation before entering the service. He will serve for four years.

Private Miller also with the Air Force at Lockland Field has enlisted for four years. A graduate of St. Michael's High School, he was formerly with the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

Private First Class John J. Liddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Liddy of 4 Bell Street, recently was graduated with honors from the United States Air Force Technical School at Francis E. Warren Air Force Base, Wyo. Private Liddy entered the service last July 24 and excelled in the Teletype-Mechanic course at the historic former cavalry post.

Leo and Carmel Scanlon, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leo P. Scanlon, 100 Continental Avenue, have been called back to active duty in the Navy.

Leo, a former toolmaker and radar instructor at Hyatt Roller Bearing Co., Harrison, is one of the first of New Jersey's Naval Reserves to be called to duty. Serving on the ship, Gloucester, he recently took part in the largest seaborne evacuation in American history at Hungnam, North Korea. The completed operation took two weeks and required the use of 109 vessels.

Carmel, a Public Service bus operator for two years is at present aboard the Air-craft Carrier, F. D. Roosevelt, which will be stationed in the Mediterranean area for at least ten months.

First Lieutenant Robert R. Jensen with the Air Force in Weisbaden, Germany, has recently been promoted to the rank of Captain. He is assigned to Flight "A" of the 7th Air Rescue Squadron having joined the organization May 12, 1950.

Captain Jensen presently on furlough, is driving through Denmark, accompanied by his wife. The couple will stop in Aalborg to see a statue erected in honor of his grandfather who was a mathematician and teacher.

Robert Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bell, 165 Main Street, has joined the Army at Fort Dix where he will complete the process of conversion to military status.

Six local men arrived at Fort Dix this week and completed the process of conversion from civilian to military status. They are: William R. Hartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hartley, 51 Mertz Avenue; George F. Donechie, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Donechie, 49 Joralemon Street; Robert Caruso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Caruso, 218 Passaic Avenue; Louis V. Nisivoccia, son of James Nisivoccia, 87 Hecker Street; John J. Codomo Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Codomo, 71 Harrison Street; and Angelo Paserchia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Paserchia, 63 Watsessing Avenue. All have been assigned to Co. H, 60th Infantry Division, except Private Codomo who is in Co. D, and Private Paserchia.

After six weeks of physical conditioning, instruction, and training, they will be moved into the second phase of training, an eight week course either in the Infantry at Fort Dix or in a technical service at another Army post.

Robert J. Gross, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony B. Gross of 283 Stephens Street, Belleville, N. J., is serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Leyte in Korean waters.

The Leyte entered combat October 8 after a record-breaking voyage from Beirut, Lebanon, via the Panama Canal. The 18,513 nautical mile journey—three quarters of the way around the world—was completed in less than 35 days.

Privates Victor E. Valhilo, husband of Mrs. Toni Vallillo, 82 Watsessing Avenue, George Bou-boulis, son of Mrs. Ernest Bou-boulis, 74 Branch Brook Drive, and Frank Giangrande, son of Mrs. Rose Giangrande, 50 Magnolia Street, have completed the process of conversion to military status and have been assigned to Company M, 39th Infantry Regiment for six weeks of instruction and training.

William Werner

William Werner, 21, of 180 Fairway Avenue enlisted in the Air Force and is now stationed at Samson Air Base, N. Y. for basic training. He is a graduate of Belleville High School and also attended Rutgers University. A member of the Nereid Boat Club, Private Werner was with Clark-Dodge Company, brokers in Wall Street, for eight months.

After nine months in the Far Eastern water aboard his ship, the heavy cruiser USS Rochester, Paul William Dunn, seaman, USN, husband of Mrs. Paul W. Dunn of 273 Ralph Street, is coming home. Arrangements have been made to grant leave to all members of the crew in February and March following docking in the United States and during a period of overhaul.

From the beginning of the Korean incident, the Rochester spent long periods in Korean waters and conducted effective fire support to the forces ashore. The men who manned the guns and serviced the cruiser during the nine tense months were particularly singled out for their effective support of the Inchon landings.

CONCERT PROCEEDS TO HOSPITAL FUND

Choral Society Sponsored By Rec Department Planning Annual Event In April

Proceeds of the annual spring concert of the Belleville Choral Society, scheduled for Friday, April 20, will be donated to the Lutheran Memorial Hospital building fund. Mrs. Georganna Bourden Tirico, director of the Society announced today.

The Choral Society thus becomes the second Belleville organization to plan a benefit affair for the "Hospital in the Park" fund, the Belleville Women's Republican Club having recently announced a series of card parties for the cause. Members of the choral group played an important role in the successful Belleville community campaign for the hospital, which exceeded the town's $100,000 goal.

Sponsors Tickets

Mrs. Edward A. Rochau, Society treasurer, announced that general admission tickets will be on sale soon for $1.50. Sponsors tickets will be $10 per couple, patrons tickets will be $5 each, and booster tickets will be $1.

Plans for the affair will be discussed at a tea February 8 at 4 p.m. in the For-Hills Restaurant. At that time, the location of the concert will be determined.

Founded under auspices of the town Recreation Department and Mayor Tully, the Society gave its first concert in 1946. The group has 40 voices, and has given concerts in the Philadelphia and Brooklyn Academies of Music, as well as several television and radio performances.

He joined the Navy at 68!

WHEN Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, wrote to Thomas A. Edison on July 7, 1915, urging him to serve as chairman of the Naval Consulting Board, he stated: "I feel that our chances of getting the public interested and back of this project will be enormously increased if we can have, at the start, some man whose inventive genius is recognized by the whole world. . . . You are recognized by all of us as the man above all others who can turn dreams into realities and who has at his command, in addition to his own wonderful mind, the finest facilities in the world for such work."

Edison was then 68 years old. He was working hard on the production of phenol and other basic chemicals derived from coal to overcome an embargo by the Germans who held a monopoly in this vital field. However, he immediately agreed to serve on the Naval Consulting Board and for more than two years, until the end of the war, he brought his enormous energy to bear on such urgent problems as combating the German submarine menace. Concurrently, he continued his work with coal derivatives. His efforts are recognized as largely responsible for the growth of that industry in this country.

It was on the basis of Edison's recommendations that the facilities of the Naval Consulting Board were continued after the end of the war to keep the Navy abreast of the latest scientific advances. The Board became the Office of Naval Research which plays such an important part in our defense efforts. Edison recognized that we must keep our guard up in peace as well as in war.

February 11th, the 104th anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's birth, will be observed internationally. As we approach this date, we should like to quote a message with which Mr. Edison concluded his last public address. It serves as a fitting challenge today:

*"Be as brave as your fathers before you.
Have faith. Go forward!"*

Winter's the Time
Winter's the time for putting around. When the woodhaul is done and last night's snow has added starry inches to the ground already white, I cogitate and go hunting for jobs to keep me out of mischief. Sharpening a weary scythe, a man can clear his mind of cobwebs, and he'd just as lief clean plow and heart of rust for a new green year.
He can mend harness, hunt for nails and mutter, pat the helping dog and rummage in the shed.
Winter's the time for any man to putter among his dreams and give the year its head.
—Frances Frost.

Tribute to Edison
Sunday will be the 104th anniversary of the late Thomas Alva Edison, the man who turned the electric lights on first in America and then all over the world. Horatio Alger, at the height of his imaginative, creative, tale-spinning career could not have conceived a hero more perfect than Edison to exemplify the typical success story. A success story that started in a very disheartening manner, when Edison, as a schoolboy, was sent home from school, labeled a "moron" by the teacher.
His energy and courage knew no bounds and resulted in the invention and production of the phonograph, the telephone as it is known today and the incandescent lamp. Mr. Edison often attributed his success to the lessons he learned through misfortunes and failures. His is a true example of American ingenuity, a product of free enterprise.

Taxes, Taxes, Taxes
Tax-happy Harry and his Fair Deal administration in Washington have concocted another dose of medicine for the once-healthy frame of Mr. Citizen. Already burdened with inflationary prices on necessary food, clothing and other living staples, the latest prescription calls for the taxpayer to hand over $4 more out of every $100 to Uncle Sam. Add that to mounting local taxes and the hundreds of hidden levies, not forgetting the luxury and excise taxes and the result is a miserable picture for the average man struggling to make ends meet.

It's about time our New and Fair Dealers laid the cards on the table. After waiting too many months, a wage-price freeze was finally invoked last week. Right now that's the joke of the week. Pressure groups immediately set up a clamor and the politically minded Truman machine promptly relaxed the freeze to permit wage boosts. Right on the heels of the salary hike, by natural economic process, came a comparable price increase, passed on to the innocent consumer. And don't forget the farmers' parity puzzle. The administration never forgets the plant and reap boys and the man in the street will have to keep on paying higher prices for staple food products raised by the farmers, because government economists keep telling us many farm products are still not up to parity. The little fellow paying his toll to the voracious federal tax machine doesn't understand this parity business, anyway. All he knows is tomatoes, peppers, potatoes and all the rest cost a lot of lettuce.

Labor is bringing chickens home to roost, too. Coddled and weaned by vote-conscious politicians, many labor leaders, pressed by demanding union members, have become arrogant and show little regard for the public welfare. We've had several striking examples just lately. Urgent defense materials and foodstuffs were tied in a tight little knot by railroad employees who reported "sick" and unable to work. A wave of indignant public opinion finally prevailed upon the men to return to work while mediation was resorted to in an attempt to settle the issues at stake. Meanwhile, President Truman refused to exercise the measures within his power and keep the supplies moving.

Here in New Jersey, our state mediators are to be commended for the manner in which the transportation strike on the Public Service was brought to a quick conclusion. This was another useless walkout that inconvenienced the public and only another of the instances in which unions have adopted a "public be damned" attitude.

At a recent tax conference in the White House, Truman is reported to have said the federal budget "had been cut to the bone and any further cuts would impair efficiency." The taxpayers aren't going to buy that. Bureaucratic departments, loaded with partisan, political jobholders should be drastically reduced. The nation is prepared to make sacrifices in order to strengthen our defenses and willingly cooperate in any war effort. By the same token, the people have the right to expect our leaders to cut non-defense expenditures to lighten the load.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .
We Waited Too Long in Writing a Peace Treaty With Japan and the Price We Will Have to Pay for Bases Will Be Heavy Now
By RALPH E. HEINZEN

Japan, beaten down and helpless only five years ago, seems to believe she has us over a barrel.

That is the first lesson that we can draw from John Foster Dulles' peace mission to Tokyo which began a fortnight ago. It is very evident that we waited too long in compelling Japan to sign on the dotted line. Events in the Pacific which were wholly favorable to us five years ago, have swung around today and Japan, with a vital "veto" power on our Far Eastern policy, can make us pay for her participation.

On the asset side of the ledger is the remarkable accomplishment of General Douglas MacArthur, virtual sovereign in the Far East, who, despite any blame which his enemies may try to fasten upon him for the debacle in Korea, has succeeded in planting within Japan an understanding and an acceptance of western Democracy. If Japan proves over the coming years to be a peaceful nation, it will be General MacArthur's work. It is his accomplishment, too, that in Japan the United States is universally acclaimed as Japan's best friend.

One factor of our peace-making efforts in Tokyo is our need of military bases in Japan.

Without those military bases, it would be very hard for us to fulfill all our commitments in the Pacific. Without air bases in Japan, we would have been driven out of Korea long ago. Without those same bases in Japan in the foreseeable future, we would be driven out of the western Pacific.

Many know that as we know it, the Japs are not stupid in the field of international diplomacy or bazaar-bagging. We will have to pay for those bases now and the price in financial aid will be high. Five years ago we could have taken them for nothing—and the Korean affair might never have been born.

Many Enemies
We may win a draw in Korea unless the coming of spring will loosen a tide of Chinese Communist divisions, but win, lose or draw in Korea, MacArthur already has lost the authority and prestige in Washington which had made him absolute master in Tokyo and the Far East. His technical authority remains the same, but his actual authority has been curbed seriously.

MacArthur is the kind of a general who makes fast friends or furious enemies. In Washington, and particularly within the Pentagon and the State Department, he has more furious enemies than fast friends. In 1946, following his exchange and return from a year and a half in a Gestapo internment camp, I spent six months at a desk in the State Department. It was the era of Jimmy Byrnes—with Alger Hiss as Dean Acheson's bright haired boy, seated at his right hand.

Curbed Russians
In that half year the State Department won its battle to impose a Far Eastern interallied advisory board on MacArthur—won it on paper. Until then, MacArthur had kept the British, the Russians and all the others out of Tokyo. When the advisory board was created, Russia was given a vital peephole in Tokyo and sent three Russian generals right away.
It is a matter of record that not not even know the Chinese were massing.

Until the retreat from the Yalu, all military decisions regarding Korea were made in Tokyo; now they are made in Washington. MacArthur favored a Korean Dunkerque, a withdrawal from Korea, if he could not be given reinforcements in sufficient number. The joint chiefs of staff in Washington preferred to remain without reinforcements and change the style of fighting. In the end the views of the joint chiefs won out over the General's. That had never happened before the defeat.

Even London Dares

Even London now unhesitates to criticize and seeks to override MacArthur's political views. His views still carry great weight with Truman, but they no longer are decisive. That is why Acheson, who bided his time, was able to send John Foster Dulles, under the flag of bipartisan foreign policy, to Tokyo to start consultations aimed at a peace treaty. Until the turn of affairs in Korea, no one ever questioned MacArthur's right to dictate peace terms for Japan.

You can look back and see that the turning point occurred in the meeting of the General and the President on Wake Island last October. After those talks, the center of gravity of real power over American policy in the Far East shifted from Tokyo to Washington.

There are all sorts of symptoms of the change that has occurred. The catalytic agent which brought all of this accumulated dissatisfaction to a head was the sudden turn of the military tide in North Korea. General MacArthur and his defenders contend that his November 24 offensive actually averted a greater military disaster by uncovering the enemy's intentions.

This may be the case. Military historians, for instance, probably will argue it for decades, as they still argue over Pickett's charge at Gettysburg.

The fact remains, however, that the legend of General MacArthur's military infallibility and invincibility, ended in the bleak cold of Korea's northern mountains. His immunity to criticism, both public and official, vanished with the dream of planting his standards along the Yalu River. Fair or unfair, it is a new fact of major interest to every chancellery the world around. Long reports on the subject have gone out of Washington from every foreign embassy assaying both the political and the military implications of the important event.

The elements of the changed status of General MacArthur are many. For the most part, they are expressed by intangibles. The methods of achieving the change have been indirect, rather than direct. But they can be identified and itemized.
The Eighth Army writes its own communiqués. This change too kplace when Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway succeeded Lt. Gen. Walton Walker as commander of the Eighth Army. The Ridgway communiqués mark a reversion to the classic style of factual war reporting. They are devoid of political argumentation and policy exposition.
The flow of political statements from Tokyo has ceased. There was no ban on such statements directed to General MacArthur. But there was a general memorandum to all United States field and theater commanders cautioning against statements affecting matters under political consideration.
A final point to be remembered is that on January 26, MacArthur was 71 years old but still follows a tough seven-days-a-week schedule. In addition directing the United Nations land, sea, and air forces in the Korean war, he still is carrying out his duties as supreme commander of the Allied occupation of Japan.
Thus he shares with Gen. Winfield Scott of Civil War fame the distinction of being one of the only two Americans ever to hold an active army command at the age of 70.

School Survey Reports On 1950 Graduating Class

Of 262 Graduates, 85 Are In Higher Learning, With Over 60 Per Cent Working

For the second consecutive year, the guidance department, under the direction of Samuel Slikin, has completed a follow-up of students graduating in 1950, with 100 per cent of the class reached by various means. The survey reveals that 85 students of the 262 receiving diplomas last June, or 32 per cent, are enrolled at institutions of higher learning. The greatest number, 157, or 60 per cent, are presently employed, while 15, or six per cent, are in the armed forces; three, or one per cent, are attending secondary schools and another one per cent, represented by two graduates, are neither in school or employed.

The survey, or follow-up, was carried out by letters from School Principal Kittle; telephone contacts by Slikin and personal visits to home by Attendance Officer Schneegas. In completing the survey and achieving 100 per cent, the school accomplishes a two-fold purpose. It satisfies a request made annually by the State Department of Education and in addition, the data is used by the local guidance department for determining employment and educational trends.

Many Top Colleges
The colleges which last year's graduates are attending include: Arkansas University, Boston University, Capital University, Carleton University, Carleton College, Delaware University, Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Muhlenberg, New Jersey College for Women, Principia, Rutgers University, Upsala, and Yale. Scholarship recipients are also attending Art Career Institute, Berkeley, and Katharine Gibbs.

Of the 157 graduates who have entered the business world, 74 hold office positions; 21 are engaged in distributive occupations; 57 are in trades and industries, and five are home-makers. The majority of girls (66) hold office positions, while the majority of boys (41) are engaged in trades and industries.

Job Types Cited
The types of jobs held by last year's graduates include the following:
Office Positions — Bookkeeper, clerk, general office worker, mail clerk, messenger, receptionist, secretary, stenographer, stenotypist, switchboard operator, and typist.
Distributive Occupations — Butcher, delivery boy, sales clerk, salesman.
Trades and Industries — Apprentice electrician, apprentice machinist, apprentice mason, apprentice plumber, apprentice printer, assembly worker, construction worker, musician, television technician, and wire weaver.

Some leading employers of the Belleville graduates are Mutual Benefit, and Prudential Life Insurance Companies of Newark, RCA, Wallace & Tiernan, and Federal Leather Company.

Draft Could Change It
Slikin is of the opinion that two tendencies which may soon cause a change in the above statistics are: (1) Many young men are leaving their jobs to join the armed services, and (2) some young women are leaving office positions to work in industry. The present survey shows that six of the boys, who were graduated in 1950 have entered the armed forces. This

THESE days thoughtful people turn their minds to the durability of things they purchase. But it's rare when doing your duty turns out to be the best way to satisfy your heart's desire. That's what's so marvelous about this '51 Buick. If you picked a car just for the lift it gives you—your pride in its power—or its generous comfort—you couldn't make a better choice. But make note of this: That gleaming new push-bar forefront, which greets your eye with flashing beauty, contains 25 grille bars made of stamped steel, individually mounted to "give" and come back unharmed. Combined with a massive, wrap-around bumper, fortified by two stalwart "bumper bombs" and two added uprights, it gives unsurpassed protection. Springs of stout spiraled steel on all four wheels let your wheels curtsy over bumps, while you ride level as a lance. But they also need no servicing, and breakage is virtually unknown. Buick's great-powered engine is a Fireball, wondrously lively and eager at the mere touch of your toe—but it also wrings extra power from every drop of fuel, and has the mechanical perfection that comes only from years of experience with this basic design.

Dynaflow Drive gives you effortless smoothness of control—but it also eliminates clutch repair bills, saves tires, eases strain on the whole driving mechanism, from engine to differential. The road-steady gait of a Buick assures relaxed security—and is also evidence that you have a durable, deep-silled, X-braced frame beneath you. # Memories Of Sport Greats Revived By Yarn Spinner

M. C. Albey, Recovering From Heart Attack, Tells Of Famous Figures

By M. C. Albey

A Newark paper recently devoted a page with a write up and pictures of the days of 60 years or more ago, when the big tobacco companies made up picture cards of champions in all lines of sports. These pictures included pugilists, ball players, wrestlers, oarsmen, billiard and pool players, etc. also stage celebrities, jockeys, race horses, etc., etc. Each pack of cigarettes contained one of these picture cards, which were arranged in series, and on the back of each card was a complete list of all the celebrities in that particular series.

In those days it became a mania with kids to try and get a complete set of one or more series. We would hang around the candy stores where cigarettes were sold and when an adult bought a pack of cigarettes we would plead with him for the picture card.

Swapped Cards

These cards became a means of exchange between all of us kids. If we happened to get more than one card of the same notable we would try to swap for one that we had not yet secured. Each card was valued according to who the champ was and sometimes we would have to give two or more cards to get one of a big shot.

The pictures on most of these cards were really excellent likenesses of the celebrities. I recall particularly the Allen and Giffert Co. cards that comprised a group of 50 champions. Of these 50 I can recall about 40. Maybe some old timer can furnish the names of the ones that I have forgotten.

John L. Was King

The king pin of all these champions was the great John L. Sullivan, the Boston strong boy, who was shown with his arms folded so as to bring out the powerful muscles of his arms. Then came Jake Kilrain, who went 75 rounds with Sullivan in 1889. Another one was Charlie Mitchell, the British champ who fought Sullivan twice and knocked him down once. Others were Jack Dempsey, the original, a middle weight champ known as Nonpareil. (He was later defeated by Bob Fitzsimmons) also Jim Smith, Ike Weir, the Belfast Spider, Joe Lannon, Jim Carney, Jimmy Carroll, and Jack McAuliffe, lightweight champ.

Next came the ball players showing nine of the top notches of that day. These included Mike Kelly, Boston, ($10,000 Kelly), "Pop" Anson, first baseman and captain, Chicago, also a hard hitter; John M. Ward, crack second baseman with the Giants, later a prominent lawyer; John Clarkson, noted pitcher with Boston; Tim Keefe, a great pitcher with the Giants; Bobby Carruthers, a star hurler with Brooklyn; Joe Mulvey, a phenomenal third sacker with Philly; Jack Glasscock, famous short stop and captain of Indianapolis; and Charles Comiskey, noted first baseman with St. Louis, later owner of the White Sox.

Grunt and Groan Boys

Now for the wrestlers, of whom the top notcher was William Muldoon, world's champion, who later trained Sullivan and ran a health sanitarium at White Plains for broken down sports, which became famous in later years. Then there was Joe Acton, a light weight champ; Matseda Sorakettji, the great Jap champ; and McMahon and McHewany good wrestlers, but never champs.

Among the billiard players were, Jake Schaefer, the wizard; George Slosson, Vignieux, the French champ, Maurice Daly, who ran a billiard parlor in New York, Frank Ives and George Sutton, who later became world's champion.

The pool players were Yank Adams, celebrated for his fancy shots, Gardner, Malone and McLaughlin who also could make trick shots.

Rowing Popular

In those days rowing was quite a sport both in this country and in England and the following oarsmen were included: Ned Harrison, one-time American champ, (He rowed on the Passaic I believe); E. A. Trickett, the British champ; Jake Gaudier, Ross and Hosmer.

Then came the rifle shots including Annie Oakley, (Little Sure Shot) who at one time made her home in Nutley. There are residents of Nutley still living who knew her well, and they all speak highly of her character. Of course Buffalo Bill was included. He was a crack rifle shot as well as a good judge of whiskey, also Dr. Carver and Captain Bogardus. There was always a lot of talk about matching all these fellows to determine just who the real champ was, but nothing much came of it. If it had been a contest to see who could contain the most liquid refreshment, the winner, beyond doubt would have been Buffalo Bill.

Hero Worship

Those were the days before there were any television, radios, phonographs, player pianos or motor cars. Today, we can hear and see most of the big shots in sports on the television and radio and it is not much of a novelty, but in the days that I am referring to most all champions were fairly worshipped by many adults as well as by us kids. The story is told by one of the great musical directors who did not take any interest in sports. One day he gave a concert in a large auditorium in Boston and received tremendous applause. On the way to his hotel he noticed that there were large crowds lining the streets and giving vociferous applause to some one. Feeling rather elated over the reception that he had received at the concert he came to the conclusion that all the plaudits along the street were intended for him and it gave him a feeling of great pride in himself.

Then, he noticed a horse and carriage coming along the street and he realized that the applause was all for some one in the carriage. As the carriage passed he asked a bystander who the fellow was in the carriage, who was bowing and nodding to every one. "You blame fool" says the man, "don't you know the champion of the world, John L. Sullivan?"

Imbibed too Much

Another story about John L., not so much to his credit, is that one day in New York a carriage came along and as it passed most of the people along the sidewalks were applauding. Then, as the carriage came past where the teller of this story was standing, there was a shattering of glass and a pair of big feet were thrust through the window of the carriage. It was the great John L. who had been indulging a little too freely in certain kinds of refreshment.

We youngsters, of course, had no conception of what consti-

NOT TOO EARLY FOR SHRUB PRUNING

Gardeners Should Take Note Of Favorable Weather. Get Set For Advent Of Spring

Pruning of shrubs and trees on the home grounds may be done between now and late spring when there are favorable weather conditions. There are some gardeners who become alarmed at the bleeding of the branches after the pruning job has been done. Less bleeding of the sap occurs when pruning is done early before it begins to flow upward in the trunk and branches. It is natural for maple and birch trees to bleed if pruned other than the summer and early fall.

The way to get the proper framework on shade trees is through pruning when they are young. Pruning will prevent having odd shapes and weak crotches.

Dead wood frequently occurs on trees, and it should be cut back to sound tissue or the next branch. Dead branches are likely to appear if the tree has suffered from the lack of light, drought or good growing conditions. The dying off of certain branches is sometimes thought to be nature's way of eliminating surplus wood.

Limb Removal

The removal of one of two limbs that have developed adjacent to each other and are connected by a V-shaped crotch is often necessary. This is evident on the trunk where it seems to branch out into two separate limbs of nearly the same diameter. Making a slanting cut to the branch which is to remain will insure proper healing of the wound.

Early blooming shrubs such as forsythia, spirea, etc., are best pruned immediately following their blooming period. However, at this season, when the leaves are absent from the plant, it is much easier to locate old or diseased branches which can be removed at any time of the year. In doing the pruning work, the gardener needs to keep in mind the natural shape of the specimen while removing some of the rank growing wood.

In most shrubs the method of pruning consists primarily in removing one or more of the older canes each year. Practically all flowering shrubs can be pruned during the winter. Any bloom buds removed with the cuts can be taken indoors to force into bloom. If some pruning is done annually, no large amount of buds will be removed at one time and the total bloom over a period of years will increase.

tuted greatness in human affairs and these celebrities were objects of great admiration to us kids, and our hearts went out to them in adoration, for to us they were noble beings. To our childish minds, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and other great characters were mostly myths and traditions, whereas these champions were real flesh and blood people, still living and whose pictures were in the daily papers like the Police Gazette, with glamorous writeups of their great achievements. Many of us kids were Sunday School Scholars but the truth is that we were far more interested in the cigarette pictures than we were in our Sunday School lessons.

KP AND NURSING AT RED CROSS

Compliance With National Directives Means More Nurses Required

Having accepted the responsibility across the nation for the training of thousands of civilians in home nursing and as nurses' aides, the National Red Cross has reorganized its nursing services and established a broad policy of action through the local chapters.

According to Mrs. W. Herbert Orth, chairman of nursing services of the Belleville Chapter, the local Nursing Services have also been reorganized and expanded to comply with the national directives. The nursing services of the Red Cross in Belleville have assumed the overall responsibility for planning and carrying out the various nursing programs contemplated, including nurse enrollment, home nursing classes, disaster nursing and the professional phases of the volunteer nurses' aide program. Because of its community influence, membership in the committee includes trained nursing personnel and lay Red Cross volunteers, representative of the social workers, Essex County isolation hospital, civic groups and the medical profession.

May Pick Service

Through the new plan of nurse enrollment, the Red Cross offers every nurse an opportunity to serve in our community in any number of ways, as a part of a world-wide humanitarian group. Each nurse is asked to join in the work and signify the particular capacity in which she wishes to serve. This may be as an instructor in Home Nursing classes, or Nurses Aides training, or as a Disaster Nurse, or in connection with the blood donor assemblies, or in any other local Red Cross activity where her professional training can be best utilized.

Under the home nursing instruction program, two classes are now being taught and enrollments have been taken for classes to begin in March. As Mrs. Orth points out, training in home nursing will permit the community to better meet any health emergency this community might experience. With the facilities of the Essex County Isolation Hospital made available, and the highly qualified group of instructors now at hand, every person in Belleville who wishes to take the Home Nursing course can do so by registering at Red Cross headquarters. The instruction includes the proper preparation of foods, how to follow a doctor's orders as to care of a patient, how to make the patient comfortable, precautions in measuring and giving medicines, the adoption of common household articles to sick-room necessities, and many more "trade secrets" which a trained nurse employs in her care of patients. A Red Cross trained home nurse in every home in Belleville is the present goal of the home nursing committee.

Belleville residents interested in Home Nursing or Nurses' Aide training courses are urged to contact Mrs. Orth, Belleville 2-6227-J, or Red Cross headquarters, Belleville 2-4610, where additional information as to classes, schedules and related matters can be obtained.

A tree refused to give ground to a skidding automobile Sunday and the result was a badly damaged vehicle. Police said Anthony Tasco, 32, of 91 Pine Street, Montclair, was traveling west on Belleville Avenue early Sunday morning. Tasco said his car skidded and went out of control, smashing into the tree. The driver was uninjured but the car was towed away. Officers Vree-land and Rossomano investigated.

A MESSAGE IN DETAIL TO ALL BELLEVILLE TAXPAYERS

by

JAMES J. TULLY, Mayor-Director of Revenue and Finance

Pertaining to

BELLEVILLE'S GENERAL MUNICIPAL BUDGET FOR 1951 -- "THE COST OF OPERATING OUR MUNICIPALITY"

As your Mayor and Finance Director, I am inviting the attention of all taxpayers to the Budget advertisement which follows. This sets forth in detail all Town appropriations and total taxes required for School and County purposes. An explanatory statement is included, which I wish here to elaborate.

Belleville, in 1951, is confronted with its highest tax rate--$6.58 per $100.00 of assessed valuation. However, Belleville is not alone in this respect. As we all know, many other municipalities are also faced with substantial increases in costs of government, resulting in the highest tax rates in municipal history.

A home budget or a municipal budget is prepared by the same mathematical pattern. The process is exact. The more services, accommodations and increased standards we buy or assume, the more money we have to pay for the things we purchase.

Belleville's total estimated increase in the tax levy over 1950 is $489,399.70.

Belleville's net increase in tax rate points in excess of 1950 is 101 points.

MAJOR FACTORS WHICH AFFECT THIS INCREASE ARE AS FOLLOWS:

The Board of Education proposed increase exceeds their 1950 tax requirement by $195,514.64 or approximately 46.42 points. (This increase depends upon the people's vote of approval on February 13, 1951.)

The referendums recently approved by the people directed salary increases to our police department and a shorter work week for the members of our fire department, which required 11 new firemen, and result in salary expenditure increases in these departments over 1950 of $52,000.00 -- equal to approximately 12.34 points.

Therefore, if the people of Belleville, on February 13, 1951, approve the proposed school tax, which is the voters' prerogative, Belleville voters will have approved increases totalling $247,514.64, or approximately 59 points, which is more than 50% of the total increase.

I am pleased to direct attention also to the item in the "Explanatory Statement," i.e. to "Increase in Town Operating Appropriation," which, excluding the $52,000.00 item directed by voters' referendum, shows the total budget increases attributable to the five municipal departments administered by our Board of Commissioners to be $81,734.83 of the total $489,399.70 increase, which is only 19.31 tax points out of the total tax rate increase of 101 points.

Included in the increase for our municipal departments are $26,000.00 salary increases given to municipal employees -- corresponding to salary increases of police and school personnel. Due to new and higher cost contract for garbage collection an increase of $19,990.00 results. The added requirement for our Civil Defense program requires a new cost for 1951 of $13,000.00. Increases in pension funds and insurance premiums are actual by requirement, while an increase in our foreclosure account is necessary to foreclose properties on which taxes are seriously delinquent.

CONCLUSION FOR THOUGHT -- AND ACTION

In conclusion, I wish to focus attention of all taxpayers, including municipal officials and administrative officials of Belleville's educational system, on the problem with which we are confronted.

Now, the fact and impact of Belleville's tax rate increase of 101 points, reaching $6.58 is this:

The Belleville home owner, as a member of a group, does carry the major burden of the cost of government, including costs of education.

If his home is assessed at $5,000.00 he paid Belleville taxes in 1950 of $278.50.

On the same home, at the same assessed value of $5,000.00, at the new tax rate of $6.58 he will pay $329.00.

He will pay $50.50 more in 1951 than he did in 1950, i.e. about $4.20 increase per month which must come out of his family budget.

A tax bill of $329.00 per year on the relatively modest home, assessed at $5,000.00, with a tax rate of $65.80 per each $1,000.00 of assessed value, calls for a tax cost of $27.41 each month.

Now, I know that this increase can be absorbed by many of our Belleville home owners without seriously affecting the economic balance of their homes, but I am just as positive that there are many, many home owners -- particularly the young families starting on home ownership -- who will find meeting a monthly tax cost of $27.41 most difficult, and in many cases impossible!

I agree, Belleville should and must have the same standards of quality as do other municipalities, and those municipalities are finding out, as is Belleville, that the burden of cost is too great for the real estate owner to carry.

I also agree that, under our system of New Jersey taxation, an unfair burden of taxation is exacted from the ownership of homes and other real estate.

It is my considered opinion that a broader base of taxation must be established to provide revenues for government to the needed relief of home owners particularly, and real estate in general.

This is a legislative problem which cannot be solved at the local level and, until an answer is found, the owner of real estate will continue to pay an unfair and burdensome share of the cost of government.

Respectfully submitted,

James J. Tully

Mayor-Director of Revenue and Finance.

TO MANY GROUPS

Courses Sponsored By Red Cross Completed By Instructors At Schools

William J. Ross, chairman of safety services of the Red Cross, met with his committee Sunday afternoon, at headquarters to discuss plans for the future activity of the safety service group, and present reports of current programs.

Reports were presented by Horace E. Goodenough, vice-chairman, on further developments in the planned industrial safety program recently undertaken by the Red Cross. Local industries are being invited to participate in First Aid instruction courses with specialized phases devoted to industrial accidents. Goodenough also outlined a tentative cooperative plan being developed with Commissioner Harry Sullivan and the P.A. leaders in Belleville, to encourage and foster increased interest and participation in the swimming instruction courses currently in progress under Red Cross direction.

First Aid Report

A report from Andrew Lukowiak, first aid chairman, covered present activity and the record of accomplishment during the past month in First Aid instruction. According to Lukowiak, ten teachers in the Belleville school system took refresher courses in advanced first aid instruction, covering twelve hours, and were given the three hour instructor's course and certification by Harold Bassett, Red Cross Area Field representative. These ten additional instructors in first aid will proceed with instruction courses in the school system, both for the faculty and the students, and at the completion of this program, be available as instructors in town-wide classes.

The teachers at St. Peter's School have also completed a course in standard first aid and are planning to participate in the advanced first aid and instructor's courses, as soon as arrangements can be completed. New classes in standard first aid were started last week for policemen and firemen, and an advanced first aid class started last Tuesday for the 31 policemen and firemen who have already completed their initial instruction.

Industry Sates Course

On Friday, February 16th, Peter G. Wendel, 174 Malone Avenue, who is chairman of water safety in a neighboring Red Cross chapter, will start a class of Boy Scouts in first aid. McGlynn-Hays Industries, Inc., are also scheduling a course for its employees, with the classes to begin in the near future.

Horace D. Baldwin, 180 Malone Avenue, and Gilbert J. Howley, 40 Washington Avenue, have agreed to serve as members of the first aid committee, said Lukowiak.

Leonard Bade, water safety chairman, stated that interest in swimming instruction continues, as eleven classes in January were attended by a total of 201 persons, or an average attendance of 19 swimmers in each class. On Sunday, January 28, Bade met with his committee to discuss ways and means of creating even greater interest and participation in the swimming courses now offered by the Red Cross. A questionnaire is to be distributed through the schools of Belleville to determine how many school children, and how many parents of school children cannot swim, and how many are interested in learning to swim, or improving their present ability to swim. The results of the questionnaire will establish a list of potential swimmers to be utilized in organizing classes this Spring.

In addition to Ross, Goodenough and Bade, the meeting of the safety services was attended by Edwyn J. Lambrecht, Malcolm E. Condon, and William Bade.

Engineering Demand Cited By State Employment Manager

Although the draft status of many of our youth of college entrance age has not been determined, those who are academically qualified should give thought to the study of engineering. Manager Herbert A. Bergen, of the local office of the New Jersey State Employment Service said today. Labor Market information Bergen has received reveals an increasing shortage of engineers and that the 1950 group of graduates, if not fully employed, has countless job opportunities, from which to select.

"In order to meet the future demand for trained engineers," Bergen said, "it even appears advisable that an increasing number of young women take engineering courses."

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The following budget for the Town of Belleville, New Jersey, for the fiscal year of 1951, conforms to existing legislation and the rules and regulations of the Local Government Board of the State of New Jersey.

Following is an analysis and allocation of dollar expenditure increase and tax point increase for 1951 over 1950:

Total effect of above increased budget requirements ..... $426,162.90 101.18

Increased Expense Factors Mandatory or Required But Under Administration of Municipality—Charged to Departments of the Board of Commissioners

Net increase in Town operating budget, exclusive of police and fire referendums ..... 63,236.80 15.01

Gross amount of increase in tax levy.... $489,399.70 116.19

Increase in tax rates of $1,131,950.00 over 1950 representing a reduction of

Net Increase in Tax Points (effectively 101 in total rate)..... 100.81

Revenues anticipated, including surplus used, are fixed at levels believed fully realizable, while leaving a sound safety factor in that some $249,000.00 of surplus is being retained in the several accounts of the Town after adoption of this budget. In the judgment of the Board of Commissioners conservatism in anticipation of revenues and use of surplus is vital to safeguarding of the Town's sound financial condition.

When the elements of increase in Town Appropriations listed above are studied, it will be evident that the Board of Commissioners has little control over the increase registered for 1951.

on SPORTS

by Warren Knight

It will be interesting to watch Belleville's progress in the state tournament this year as the Bellboys re-enter the NJSIAA affair for the first time since 1946. Several crack combinations have represented Belleville in the past but with little success, usually bowing out in the first round of the sectional play. Going back to 1943, the Blue and Gold cuffed the opposition down through to the quarter-finals, but Weequahic's Indians had the sign and smoked out the locals 40-29. Another Newark school, Central, waved a two-year jinx at Belleville, taking them in 1944 by a 36-32 count and repeating the triumph in '45, 35-32. The last-named team was a fine aggregation, boasting personnel the likes of Vic Pasquariello, Frank Takash, Bob (Legs) Kennedy, Mike Bell and Ben Beschio. Then, four years ago, Takash, George Moyes, Jim De Ruggiero, Mike Tortorella, Stu White, Gene Glancy and Don Smith stacked up against Orange. The Bellboys had been playing great ball but on the night of the tournament, were way off their usual game and were licked by the Tornadoes, 37-25.

Back about a month ago, Coach Jitty Wische was approached on the question of letting his Whiz Kids enter the state tourney. Now Wische has never been accused of being a proponent of the NJSIAA cage play for state titles, and his objections have been outlined in this column more than once, so we won't go into the gory details. But the Bellboys are a sharp team this year and maybe Wische wants the rest of the state to get a glimpse of the Belleville technique. And don't forget, the Blue and Gold, along with some of the other powerful clubs in Essex County, will have the benefit of tournament play before the state scrap begins. The Bellboys are defending champs in the county chase and will have to fight off the challenges of Central, Irvington, West Side, Montclair, Orange, Seton Hall, Bloomfield and a few other toughies. It all adds up to a mess of caviar for the hungry cage fans who enjoy post-season play.

Chances are Seton Hall will get bumped off tonight in the Garden when Long Island University's defeated Blackbirds return to the Gotham court wars, but we would like to see Honey Russell's Pirates make the Bee-men walk the plank. Past experience has shown, however, that LIU has too much savvy on the Garden's big playing surface and some of the red-hot Setonia machines have come to grief. Back before World War II, when Bob Dabies & Co. were holding forth at South Orange, LIU actually talked the Pirates out of the ball game. Some of the jibes and taunts flung at the Pirates weren't fit to be printed but it upset the Essex collegians enough to weigh on the decision, which went to Clair Bee's boys. But don't be surprised if the Pirates make it a good ball game tonight and unless the youthful band of sophs are dazzled by the crowd and partisan cheers, it might be close. LIU has been getting the "bird" out West and the Setonians may catch them still off balance.

Seeding proceedings and scheduling of games for the Essex County Basketball Tournament, sponsored by the Newark News and Seton Hall College, are on the agenda for Friday or Saturday, under the direction of the tourney's executive committee. Opening of play is slated for February 16, at Seton Hall College's spacious quarters.

Top spot in the seeded group will go to undefeated Belleville, defending champions in the tournament. The local cagers have galloped to 13 straight and unless some one of the next three opponents, Columbia, South Side and West Orange, spills the apple-cart, this seems destined to be the greatest regular season ever enjoyed by any Bellboy team.

Ed Van Brunt, athletic director at Montclair Academy, has taken over the chairman's reins of the executive committee. Gene Kelly of Bloomfield Tech had the job but was called back to active duty in the armed forces.

The junior varsity tourney being staged for the first time is under the sponsorship of the committee, too. There will be no admission charged to any of the games, and Belleville is down for a tilt here today against South Side. The finals of the jayvee competition will be played as part of a triple-header at Seton Hall the same night of the varsity windup. A trophy will be presented to the jayvee champs by the tourney committee.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Belleville Athletic Council, Hank Watters, Council member and also on Commissioner Hyde's special advisory committee for recreation, revealed if all goes according to schedule, an outdoor running track will be available at the Municipal Stadium this spring. The track is about to be bid on and will be under the jurisdiction of the town recreation department.

Recipient of some obsolete but usable basketball equipment as a contribution from the Council was the Belleville Police Athletic League. Material including odd parts of suits that had accumulated over the years, was turned over to Patrolman Tommy Dunn this week for use by kids who might want to take part in the PAL program.

Adoption of the baseball schedule for the spring was announced. The Council named Austin McArthur, high school faculty member, as assistant coach to Ed Berlinski. McArthur replaces Joe Grosch, who was called back into the Navy and is now somewhere in the Pacific.

Cutterballs in Second Place After Melting Snowballs

A three-way tie for second place was split wide open by the last meeting of the league. The Gutterballs, paced by J. Alpaugh, Sr. whipped the Snowballs three times to push them down into fourth place. The triple victory moved the Gutterballs into undisputed second place, just one game behind the league leading Cannonballs who stumbled twice in their match with the Meatballs. The Spitballs continued their rise by whipping the Softballs twice.

High individual for the night was Ralph Howells with a 525 series. J. Alpaugh Jr. and Sr. followed with 516 and 512 re-

Bellboys Sweep No. 13, Irvington Trounced 56-43

Early Lead Enough for Undefeated Cagers; Columbia, South Side Here Against Rampaging Gold Five

No. 13 was no jinx for the Belleville cage express Tuesday as the undefeated Bellboys roared to a 56-43 triumph over a tall Irvington team. Only three games remain on the regular schedule for the Blue and Gold, with Columbia here Friday, South Side Tuesday and West Orange closing the season next Friday at the Cowboy court in an afternoon encounter.

Columbia, with a couple of good boys in the line-up, Jack Burke and Paul Grofsky, may extend the locals, but the Wischemen figure to come out on top. The Cougars have been an in and out team most of the year. South Side has been tough for most everyone, having a tall team and several good shooters.

Belleville wasted no time in getting matters under control against the Campers. Bob Dilworth sparked the scoring as the Blue hopped out to a 20-point bulge in the first half. The regulars were given plenty of rest the last two periods but the subs performed well, although Joe Feldman, Camper ace, started hitting the range late period and achieved scoring honors with 21 points. Dilworth had 17 for Belleville.

KARDINALS ICED, BELLEVILLE COPS 50-38 DECISION

Storm Doesn't Stop Crowd Or Bellboys, Who Keep Win Streak Alive

Nature, dousing the countryside with ice last Wednesday night, had nothing on the undefeated Belleville cage machine, which did a little icing on its own over at Kearny. Staging a last-half outburst, the Bellboys chilled the Kards 50-38, thus perpetuating the best record in Essex County, 11 straight without a loss. Despite the crumbly weather, more than 1,000 fans filled the spacious Kearny court and cheered till the rafters shook.

This was one instance where the Kards failed to exercise the well-known jinx held over Belleville teams, although at half-time things weren't too bright with the Kards out front 21-19. But that inexorable Bellboy scoring power asserted itself in the third and fourth quarters and buried the home team every time it came within striking distance. In the third stanza, the score was knotted five times but when Jim McConnell's three-point play late in the period put Belleville ahead, 34-32, they stayed there.

Take Lead, Lose It Starting in a hurry, McConnell and Charlie Travers contributed three points each to pace an 11-5 Bellboy lead in the opening quarter. Howie Ness, Walt Croff and Bob De Genova suddenly found the range for the Red and Black and chopped the Bellboys down to size. De Genova finally caught and passed Belleville with a one-handed jump before Fred Engel of the Bellboys and the Kards' Ness exchanged fouls near the end of the half and it was 21-19.

A nip and tuck third session kept the fans on the edge of the seats but McConnell's nine-point spree sewed up the ball game in the last quarter. Altogether, Jimmy rimmed eight buckets and four fouls for 20 credits, to lead all the scorers.

COMETES THROTTLED AS BELLBOYS WIN DOZEN STRAIGHT

Victors Look Sharp As Dilworth, Hatcher Play Sparking Roles

By Al Outcalt

The Belleville High School basketball team knew Hillside was coming last Friday night and they baked a cake at the BHS gymnasium. Coach Jitty Wische applied the usual fast break recipe, the Cometes were the main ingredients, and the icing was the 12th straight victory for the Bellboys, this one by a 57-44 score.

Wische's Warriors had less trouble with their Union County guests this time as they worked into an early lead and maintained it throughout. At the quarter they led by eight points, and by half time they had increased the margin to 14 points, 33-19. With three minutes to play and holding their biggest lead of 17 points, the Bellboy mentor cleared his bench the same way Dean Hatcher had been clearing the boards all evening.

Hatcher Blankets Boards

Accuracy was the key. Hillside was fast but wild; Belleville was fast but the Blue and Gold cagers combined precise passing with deadly shooting to make their fast break effective. Hatcher swept in the rebounds, whipped the ball downcourt to his mates, and the attack was under way.

The big guard—certainly deserving of All-State recognition—still found time to net 10 points. Bob Dilworth paced the club with 15, Charlie Travers followed with 14 (mostly on startling set shots), and Jim McConnell rounded out the double-digit scoring with 12.

Throttle Comet Ace

The big guns on Hillside were stifled by the tight Belleville defense. Sloughing off and jamming up the middle when the occasion demanded, they bogged up the Comet offense and refused to allow their visitors to drive. Dave Doremus paced the losers with 10 points, with Ed Haberman and Rolly Massimino accounting for 9 markers each. John Kovacs only managed to get one field goal through the nets as the damper was well applied.

Doremus put the Cometes into an early lead with a jump shot but Hatcher came back with a push to knot the score, 2-2. McConnell pumped one up, Dilworth rapped in a rebound, and McConnell and Travers each sank fouls to make it 8-2. Norm Haberman's lay-up was the only other basket from the floor for the

Jayvees Open Title Quest Today, Play South Side Here

Newly-Formed Essex County Junior Varsity Tourney Has 19 Teams Competing

Belleville's Jayvees, hoping to emulate their varsity brethren, start on the trail of a title themselves this afternoon, when they play host to South Side's junior varsity at 4 o'clock in the opening round of the Essex County Junior Varsity Basketball Tournament. The new innovation among 19 schools in the county is an off-shoot of the annual tournament pitting the varsity teams, which was won last year by Belleville.

The junior Bellboys are bracketed with Nutley, East Orange and Bloomfield, along with South Side. Nutley tangles with the Panthers, the winner of that one to meet the Bengals. The two survivors then clash to go into the semifinal round.

Up to this writing, the Bellboy subs boasted a 9-3 record.

Comets in the opening quarter.

Subs Take Over

The Bellboys continued to dominate the scoring in the second period, but in the third each club netted 14 points. Hillside put on a drive in the last quarter sparked by Massimino, one of the most aggressive players on the court, and outscored the home five by one point, but there was never any doubt about Belleville's undefeated skein retaining its stainless quality. With the subs playing out the closing minutes, the game grew wild and play reached a point almost as weird as the entire junior varsity contest which preceded the varsity encounter.

Looking Back at SPORTS

Five Years Ago

For the second time in 1946 the Belleville basketball team dropped a tough game to Nutley in a spite of outplaying the Ma-noon team. Belleville dropped the game on Nutley courts 39-36, as was forced into overtime when Bonnie Fuydal, a little substitute forward, caged a free toss to not the count at 36-36, 17 seconds before the game was to end.

Belleville Junior Optimists' team racked up its fourth straight basketball triumph by whipping the Bill Leimers' Boys League of Orange, 62-30 at the Friendly House court in Belleville. The local team's record was four to one in a triple tie with Montclair and Newark for first place in the Junior Optimist Basketball League.

The Belleville Varsity Club, after a successful fall football season, made plans for a basketball clinic. Former high school lettermen would conduct a number of sessions to instruct gran-nar school boys in the fundamen-tals of basketball. Meetings were scheduled for the Friendly House, Grace Baptist Church court, St. Anthony Church court and Montgomery Presbyterian Church.

Ten Years Ago

Belleville High's hopes to salvage a disastrous season were dashed when they were defeated twice in one week. They received successive trimmings from Emerson and West Orange. Both were repeat victories. Even the junior varsity felt the depression and lost its first decision since its opener.

Eastwood Neally looked like the team to beat in the third and final round of the Industrial Basketball League after they announced Viking Tool 55-18. Until then the latter had temporarily shared first place. Bill Hannan and Red Vandemark, the Eastwood duo, scored sixteen points each.

Grace Baptist continued to win in the Church Basketball League, whipping Bethany Lutheran 25-20 for its ninth straight victory. This put the Baptists two full games out in front of Belleville Reformed, the former leader which dropped a 27-17 decision to Fewsmith Presbyterian. North Belleville five virtually clinched the second round championship of the West Belleville Basketball League by beating the Pirates 35-25. The Northerners, all seven of whom broke into the scoring column, also had the first round title under their belts. Their cause was materially aided also by the defeat of the King Association.

In the Elementary School Basketball League, No. 5 badly beaten in its opener several weeks before won its delayed game with No. 1 11-10, then went out and tripped No. 8 9-6. The 1 vs 5 game ended in a 9-9 deadlock the week before. In the extra period played the following week, No. 5 emerged the victor by a single point.

Fifteen Years Ago

Jim Londres, Greek Hercules, and heavyweight ruler of the grappling world, was scheduled to wrestle in defense of his title against Gino Garibaldi, leading Italian challenger at Laurel Garden, Newark. The match which was expected to jam the arena to capacity was scheduled for one fall to a finish.

Belleville High School's basketball team had its winning streak snapped at Weequahic High School, dropping a 26-23 decision. The Bellboy second-stringers in a preliminary struggle lost to the Weequahic Jayvees, 17-13. In their varsity game, Keller collected sixteen points of Weequahic's point total to lead them to victory. Saddleback made six points for Belleville.

Alex "Bun" Derbyshire established a clear claim to a victory over his arch-rival Gene Culklin in the great "Age vs. Youth" athletic battles that had been raging between the pair, both members of the local Knights of Columbus. Derbyshire won the fifth and deciding set to with a clean-cut victory in a bowling match at Ferrara's, which was part of a combination Knights of Columbus-McGreavy Association get-together.

The Gripp All-Stars, a ladies bowling team, travelled to Perth Amboy and trimmed the Perth Amboy Ladies' B. C. in a three-game series. Mrs. Harriet Welcher and Mrs. Olive Kuntz, two Belleville women played with the Gripp All Stars, and gave good accounts of themselves. The Gripp team bowled consecutive games of 847, 862, and 903.

Twenty Years Ago

"Mac" Lamb, eagle-eyed captain of the sensational Belleville High School court squad hit his stride at Bloomfield, leading the Elks coached lads to a 34-29 triumph, giving them their sixth victory of the season. The record stood at nine out of ten with only an extra period defeat at the hands of Orange to mar it.

"Forced to show at their best to win two out of three from the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Republican Club pin-Knights continued their firm grip on first place in the local American Legion Bowling League at Ferrara's. They were then leading the new runners-up, the Belleville Elks, by a tidy eight game margin. The Republicans rallied like real champions all night, totaling scores of 970, 998, and 937 for their three games.

After four years the Kenworthy A. A. reorganized and expected to have a strong semi-pro team to represent Belleville. John Distasio, manager of the old Kenworthy Club was again at the helm. He had two men helping him, Fred Delorazze as business manager, and Johnny Brill as booking man. Some of the players were: Slim Capone, Joseph Rizzolo, Paulie and Johnny Brill, Bob Natale, Rubby Fusaro, and Blackie Finelli.

The Belleville Elks represented in the Morris and Essex League were victors in that strong circuit at the local alleys taking the strong Euclid Masonic Club of Hoboken into camp in two out of three games. The local Elks and Euclids had been for years the very essence of "friendly rivalry" in the Morris and Essex loop, a fact that made the two out of three win all the more satisfactory.

During a typical Belleville-Irvington court battle at the local gym, when the score was a thrillingly close, 26-25, and as the largest crowd of the season was excited to fever pitch, "Mac" Lamb shot a basket from mid court giving the Bell-boys the victory. Stan Goodrich scored 17 points and Lamb scored five. The team made an all season record of eight victories with just one defeat.

SPORTS Reflections

By Al Outcalt

On one of the bricks in the wall behind his desk in his Belleville High School office, Coach Jitty Wische has, with a piece of yellow chalk, made a short vertical mark for each time that his team wins a game. Up to the time when this was written there were twelve such marks, but the brick is long and there is room for quite a few more.

This chalkwork—when you consider all the aspects—is really a work of art. It belongs to the school of Symbolism, because its importance lies in what it represents rather than what it is in itself. And when Jitty takes chalk in hand, he may not feel that he is a true artist at work; however you have only to watch his basketball team in action to realize the consequence and significance of his artistic talent.

Work of An Artist

Wische is an artist both on and off the court. When he is drilling his squad he works like Bruegel; he is explicitly articulate about every detail, yet he does not lose the overall outlook, the greater comprehensive view of basketball. He can stand back, like Monet or Renoir, see the general faults of his cagers, and blend their talents together into a smooth and pleasing combination, as these two French artists did on canvases.

Talk to Wische about the team, though, and his face assumes the dejected appearance of a Van Gogh painting. He has a crying towel on the wall next to his desk, and its dampness would indicate that it has been generously used. To him, every game is a resigned loss. Every team is naturally shooting to be the first to lick the Bellboys, and Wische well knows it. Since he expects to lose sooner or later—his pessimistic attitude changes to surprise after he finds his boys have won—he doubtless saves himself from the problem faced by most basketball coaches in later years—the basketball ulcer.

One at a Time

Yet the tension mounts with each victory. The more times you win, the greater the letdown when you lose. The more optimistic members of the BHS clan speak in terms of an undefeated season, but the Jit will hear none of it. You consider them one at a time, you play them one at a time, and if you are lucky—you beat them one at a time.

This philosophy again puts Wische in the artistic class. Rembrandt painted by putting layer after layer of paint on canvas, and then chipping off the paint where he wanted it, slowly, painfully, exacting, and with little thought of the long grind before it would all be over. This pessimistic method is a technique which Wische has applied to basketball coaching for many a year, not without considerable success. It's a painstaking process but a rewarding one.

Conqueror's Requisites

When Belleville is beaten—if she is beaten—it will be by a team who can bottle up the fast break and rattle the Bellboys into throwing the ball away and missing their shots. It will take a backboard man who can keep the ball away from Dean Hatcher and stop the fast break at its

Leathermen Take Pair From Third Placers; Pru Tops Dodge, Hold Margin

The last bowling session of the Belleville Manufacturers "A" League featured triple wins by Hanlon & Goodman and Nepeco over Standard Arcturus and twin wins by Federal Leather and the Prudential A.A. over Wallace & Tiernan and Dodge Inc.

In the Federal Leather and Watco match, Angelo Capezzano with 565 and Jim Capalbo with 221 were best for the leathermen while Augie Molt led Watco with 558. New Pierson continued his good bowling for the Pru with a 597 series and Roy Canfield chipped in with a 231 game for their double win over Dodge. The trophy men were paced by Joe Nash with 540. The Nepeco-Heinze match featured Pat Malanga for Nepeco with 504 while Gene Jackson anchored Heinze with 502. In the last match of the night Tom Murphy led Hanlon & Goodman in their sweep over Arcturus with 508.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit To Meet Monday Night

The regular business of American Legion Auxiliary Unit 105 will be held Monday at 8:30 p.m. in Recreation Hall.

start. It will take a defense which is capable of stopping those phenomenally long set shots by Charlie Travers, the driving lay-ups by Dick Godfrey and the jump shots by Bob Dilworth. The team that upsets Belleville will require an offense paced a split second faster than the Bellboys' and a tighter defense.

If such a team doesn't show up soon, Wische may run out of bricks or chalk. He'll never run out of artistic talent.

In order that a balanced chorus might be attained, officials conducting the Festival requested schools taking part to submit vocalists in quartets. For Belleville, it will be Gail Howe and Audrey Maise, sopranos; Marilyn Hubach and Beverly Sugess, altos; Robert Frietag and Charles Rembert, tenors and Nicholas Christos and Robert Kraft, basses.

The Festival will also feature an operatic orchestra, student soloists and guest artist Loy Van Natter.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, it is the conviction of the United Council of Church Women, in fellowship with all those who seek the Divine guidance of our Creator, that the many problems confronting us today can be solved only with the help of Almighty God; and

WHEREAS, World Day of Prayer has been designated on an international, interdenominational, interracial basis to join the peoples of the world together in furtherance of the doctrine "The Lord Is Thy Keeper"; and

WHEREAS, in order for the church to fulfill its important role of exerting practical witness to the fact of God's purpose in human affairs, thereby advancing the international cause of peace on earth, it is necessary that we be ever mindful of the vast power of prayer in furthering His word and His work and in combating the forces of evil that surround us;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, James J. Tully, Mayor of the town of Belleville, do hereby proclaim Friday, February 9, 1951 as in the town of Belleville, and call upon the people of Belleville to observe this day as an individual invitation to attend services in their respective churches; and, if the duties of some are such as to make this impossible, I urge them to pause in their work for one minute of prayer at High Noon to ask God give us light to guide us, courage to support us, and love to reunite us.

I further urge every church having bells or chimes to ring them once or twice at 12:00 noon for the observance of the minute of prayer.

James J. Tully

Mayor of Belleville

A Report to New Jersey Telephone Users

Once again, America is arming in self-defense. One sign of the times is greater use of the telephone. Industry and the armed forces need—and are getting—more and more telephone service. We think the people of New Jersey are entitled to know how we are prepared to meet these greater demands, now and in the months ahead.

THE SITUATION NOW

New Jersey Bell today serves 1,621,000 telephones—629,000 more than five years ago. Our $211,000,000 construction program since the end of World War II has added more cable, more switchboards, and much new and better equipment. We have converted about 282,000 telephones to dial.

Telephone service in New Jersey is efficient and dependable. The things we have done in the last five years have made the telephone a more valuable and useful tool, both to you and to industry. And particularly in terms of defense needs, it's a good thing we've grown.

THERE IS MORE TO BE DONE

New Jersey's telephone system has doubled in size since Pearl Harbor, but there is still more to be done. More switchboards, more equipment, more circuits—all are needed. We have placed orders for the materials and equipment needed to keep building at about the same pace as in the last five years. Of course, completion of these plans depends upon the availability of materials and the needs of the defense program.

IN THE MONTHS AHEAD

The number one job is to make sure that all defense needs are met. We are confident this will be done, quickly and efficiently.

The telephone organization today is twice as large as in 1940. It is well trained and better equipped. These things strengthen our confidence that we shall be able to do our part in the Nation's defense and, at the same time, keep your telephone service good and ever improving.

That will be our constant aim.

Remember When

Five Years Ago

Bethany Lutheran Church was a mortgage free building after special ceremonies when the document was burned. Officiating was the pastor, Rev. Guy Brown, assisted by Rev. Paul Andrew Kirsch, assistant executive secretary of the Board of American Missions, United Lutheran Church, and Albert W. Helm Sr., president of the Church Council. The church was erected in 1940 under the pastorate of Rev. Willard H. Borchers.

A decision made by New Jersey's highest court, the Court of Errors and Appeals, proved to be a costly one for the Town of Belleville. Railroad tax interest, collected by the State in 1944, was distributed to certain municipalities and Belleville received $2,319.61. If the Court of Errors had not reversed its own previous decision, and had not decided the bulk of the money belonged to Jersey City, Belleville would have gotten approximately $92,000, which would have made a considerable difference in the tax rate in Belleville.

Back to school after contributing their efforts to winning the war were seven Belleville veterans desirous of completing their high school education and perhaps continue on to college. The veterans were James S. Shanahan, Frank Garruto, Jack Gorman, Marty Hanly, Gene Melody, William Moffitt and George H. Browne.

Sign of the times in February, 1946, was the response to a classified ad for an apartment for rent in the Times-News. More than 50 letters and telegrams were sent to the box number the first weeks after the ad appeared. The appeals for the apartment came from Newark, Hillside, Nutley, Bloomfield, Rutherford, Kearny and The Bronx, as well as Belleville.

Ten Years Ago

A wheel fell off the steam-roller and temporarily flattened the Commissioners with the weighty problems of 100 percent cash operation versus deferred payment via the bond issue, and to raise or not to raise the tax rate by a point. Mayor Williams, with his fast percentage pencil, figured out the cost of each method and concluded that we should take a one-point tax job for a year so that we could not only look the new steam-roller in the face and say, "you're all ours Bessie," but also save money in the long-run.

Matthew Ryan, tenor, was featured at a concert which was one of the highlights of the local musical season and Bernadine Hale, accompanied him on the piano. The event was held at the high school auditorium and Commissioner Noll, assisted by Ernest Tedesco, Gilbert Howley, William Chapman, Joseph Duval, Robert Smith, William Konrad, Edward Abramson, and Arthur Mayer, was chairman.

Belleville has a maximum of thirty-one patrolmen and one night-stick to every 750 heads. Wage and hour laws meant little then, and due to the small staff, all the men, from chief, down to rookie, performed every duty imaginable. Capt. Elmer Leighton and Patrolman Charles A. MacGinnis had just arrested two men who had committed crimes in Bergen and Essex counties.

Blanche Wells, high school senior, won the oratorical contest at the high school which was sponsored by the local post of the American Legion in conjunction with the nation-wide contest the Legion was conducting. Miss Wells also won the state secondary school oratorical contest with the same speech, "Youth in a Democracy."

The Town Hall's feminine personnel took up swimming and went to the pool at the Essex House every week. The swimmers included the Misses Agnes McGeehan, Ada Donnelly, Mary Anderson, Alice Senior Helen Gilsenan, Angela Chapman, Ethel Akersten, Mrs. Florence R. Morey, and Mrs. Mary DeVaney.

Fifteen Years Ago

The third issue of the Belleville Teachers' Association Bulletin was distributed to all teachers in the local public schools. The bulletin contained a number of articles on "Hitlerized" education, written by various teachers, in preparation for the address of Rev. Dr. Frank L. Kingdon, president of Dana College, on "Education and Fascism."

Cephas Brainerd, commander of Belleville Post 105, American Legion, presented many awards for good conduct, faithfulness, and musical ability to members of the junior drum corps sponsored by the post at a rehearsal at the Recreation Center. Boys honored were: Thomas McDermott, Charles Gimbel, Harry Ward Jr., John Rhoades, Daniel Burns, Martin Crowley, John Malcolm, Robert Van Voorhis Jr., Eugene Dunleavy, James McGrath, and Harold Foster.

Going into its fifth week of rehearsals, St. Jeter's Dramatic Club under the direction of James A. Leonard, was preparing to present its twelfth Broadway show, "Spooks," a three-act melodrama by Robert J. Sherman. In the cast were: Greta Kinnealy, William A. McGonigle, Mary McGreevy, Leo McClintchey, William Cort, Helen Gray, James Lukowiak, John Roberts, Peggy McMahon, and Nicholas Comeskey.

The annual membership tea of the Belleville Woman's Club was held at the club house, under the direction of Mrs. William Engelmann, who welcomed new members to the club. Among the new members were: Mrs. Elmer S. Hyde, Mrs. George McLaren, Mrs. George Kaden, Mrs. F. J. McFadden, Mrs. Ralph Allaire, Mrs. William Chapman, Mrs. P. Webster Diehl, Mrs. Turman L. Robinson, and Mrs. Joseph H. Kilpatrick.

Twenty Years Ago

The Town Commission passed on first reading by a four-to-one vote, after nearly five hours of discussion, the town budget for 1931 totals $844,044, an increase over last year's figure which boosted the tax rate from $4.06 to $4.38. More than 1,000 excited citizens thronged the high school auditorium for the special Town Commission meeting and many of them took vigorous part in the debate.

Folks attending Grace Baptist Women's Auxiliary dinner and afternoon bazaar, had the pleasure of listening in on the Amos 'n' Andy program, as a radio was installed for part of the entertainment; also George Snodgrass and some of the members of his orchestra played old time music. Mrs. George Weirich was general chairman and was also in charge of the supper.

All Belleville churches united in a meeting held in the High School auditorium. The meeting took the place of the usual Sunday evening services in various churches. Dr. Alexander Cairns, teacher of the Everyman's Bible class spoke and Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy talked on the unemployment situation as it was being met by the Town of Belleville. Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach gave the opening prayer, Rev. Edgar M. Compton the scripture, and Rev. John A. Struyk the benediction. Dr. O. Bell presided. Ministers of all churches sponsored the meeting.

Every type of costume shown at the spring fashion show presented by the garment retailers in New York, featured the lower hem line. Some of the afternoon dresses were not more than 8 inches from the floor and all evening gowns barely cleared the floor. Sports and street clothes remained moderate in length. Although the long dresses were satisfactory, no sensible woman would wear them while traveling or shopping.

LIGHT VOTE MARKS 2-1 APPROVAL OF SCHOOL BUDGET

Only 347 Ballots Cast For 1951-52 Needs; Fourth Ward Votes Against It

With only 347 Voters casting ballots, the 1951-52 Belleville school budget, calling for the expenditure of $1,378,740, was approved by an approximate 2-1 margin at the annual school election Tuesday. The town will be called upon to raise $1,183,756 through local taxation, an increase of $195,514 over a year ago.

Despite the Board of Education establishing four polling places instead of one as customary in previous years, it failed to bring any appreciable increase in election interest. Although the turnout exceeded last year, when only 127 taxpayers voted in the high school cafeteria, it fell considerably short of the near 500 that voted in 1949-50.

The budget was handed a narrow defeat in the Fourth Ward, embracing the Soho and Silver Lake sections of town, but the majority piled up in the First, Second and Third Wards was more than enough to offset the protest vote. The Second and Third Wards turned out the most ballot casters, while the First Ward showed a disappointing 25 votes.

The votes were cast for current expense, $1,133,229; library, $7,950; manual training, $22,100; capital outlay, $10,000; replacements and repairs, $124,692.

Report Telephone Shortage In Limited Areas Here

Cable Congestion Effects Two Sections, But Some Services Available

Although the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company cites 10,000 customers still waiting on facilities in its statement accompanying the annual report released last week, only minimum limitations effect Belleville subscribers. Two areas in town, due to cable congestion, are touched by the limitations, but a company spokesman stated some service is still available even in those areas, although it may not be the type requested by the applicant.

An increased demand for phone service followed the outbreak of the Korean conflict, the company states and despite 236,000 new phones being connected in 1950, certain areas are still seeking service.

Pvt. Brady, After Meeting His Father In Korea, Is Wounded

Pvt. Richard Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Daniels, was reported wounded in action in Korea February 4 and is now recuperating at an Army Base Hospital. He is a member of the 11th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

His father, Cpl. William Daniels, of the 7th Division of the Combat Engineers, is also stationed in Korea. They met on January 16, 12 miles from Andong and spent two days together.

Mrs. Daniels said this week she has not heard from her husband since January 21 and believes he is actively engaged in combat.

with a total of 1,621,000 telephones in service.

The company said that held order lists for telephone service increased steadily during the first few weeks of 1951 and would likely go substantially higher. Even with better grades of service offered to 43,000 party line customers, there were still 60,000 applications waiting for better grades of service at the end of 1950.

Pointing out the factors underlying the increased waiting list, the annual report of the Bell Company cited the reactivation of telephone facilities at military establishments and the increasing demands for telephone lines by New Jersey defense industries.

Averts Death In RR Wreck

Fate, and a crowded train, probably saved the life of Frank Hunt, one of the Wallace & Tierman Company employees whose practice it is to ride the ill-fated Broker, Pennsylvania Railroad train that was wrecked last week, resulting in the loss of 84 lives and hundreds injured.

An expeditor at Watco, Hunt boarded the fourth car of the 5:15 shore commuter train and intended to join J. Carl Heidrich, another employee of the local firm. But the heavy load of passengers, augmented by the railroad strike that had shut down service on the Jersey Central, had jammed the fourth car and Hunt was unable to procure a seat alongside of or near his co-worker. So Hunt worked his way back to the seventh car, where Harry Weaver, another Watco worker, was sitting.

Friend Loses Life

When the crash came as the train sped across the temporary trestle at Woodbridge, Hunt and Weaver were thrown to the floor. Weaver was uninjured but Hunt was taken to the Perth Amboy Hospital for observation. Up in the fourth car, Heidrich was fatally injured in the maze of twisted wreckage.

Three other Wallace & Tierman workers, all shore residents, failed to take the train that carried many to death. John Urban and John Walko didn't board the crowded vehicle but waited for a later one. George Mitchell had an engagement up here and bypassed the 5:15 that night.

The seventh Watco employee involved played a different part. Miss Mary Dailey, plant nurse and daughter of personnel manager John Dailey, joined Belleville (Continued On Page Two)

BLOOD BANK SEEKS 100 DONORS FOR FRIDAY ASSEMBLY

Town-Wide Call Issued To Supplement Defense Council, Ever-Ready Contributors

A town-wide blood bank assembly, under the auspices of the Red Cross and the Essex County Blood Bank, will be held tomorrow at the high school. Co-sponsors of the February assembly are the Belleville Civilian Defense Council and the Ever-Ready Label Corp. of Cortlandt Street. Originally scheduled as a sponsors' blood bank, the change to a town-wide assembly was made due to the increasing demands upon blood bank facilities.

Pointing to the recent train wreck at Woodbridge, killing more than 80 persons and injuring hundreds, Red Cross officials warned that it could happen here or in this vicinity. It is hoped the session tomorrow will add at least 100 pints to the bank, so that an ample supply will be available in the event of an emergency.

Mrs. Oscar McEntee, chairman of the chapter's blood bank section, noted that 51 pints were contributed in last month's assembly. Donors may register by calling Red Cross headquarters, Belleville 2-4010 and making an appointment between the hours of 3:30 to 6:30 p. m.

Building Report For January Drops Sharply, $70,200 Cited

Weather and the usual seasonal decline resulted in only $70,200 in construction for the month of January, the monthly report filed by building inspector Thomas Greco disclosed this week. Three one-family homes amounting to $31,500; an addition to Montgomery Presbyterian Church, $10,500; two industrial buildings, $9,000 and a commercial garage, $8,000 were the big items cited in the report.

OPA Was Utopia Compared To Current Price Freeze

Housewives' Budgets Taking Beating As Inflation Grips Food Markets

By Betty Rivola

For the past three weeks housewives all over the country have gone around grinning like the proverbial cat that ate the canary. Over the bridge tables, at "coffeeclutches," and while wheeling carts through the super markets they have been buzzing happily over price controls. To the average American woman the current OPA price freeze looks like manna from Heaven, and Price Stabilizer Michael Di Salle is their man of the hour.

But what is going to happen when sooner or later some enterprising woman inevitably does a little price comparing and finds that food prices have been frozen at the highest level they have reached, between December 19 and January 25, and the highest on record?

Awakening Due

There will be screams of protest, a barrage of indignant questions, and the boys in Washington are going to have to supply a lot of fancy answers to satisfy them.

Here are some meat comparisons with OPA prices set in 1942.

	1942	1951
Chuck, lb.	.25	.95
Pork Chops, lb.	.31	.79
Round Steak, lb.	.39	1.15
Beef Liver, lb.	.31	.75
Plate and Naval
Beef, lb.	.13	.37
Boiled Ham, lb.	.70	1.60
Lamb for Stew, lb.	.15	.29
Liverwurst, lb.	.31	.66
Frankfurters, lb.	.31	.65
Ribs of Beef, lb.	.29	.55

Prices in some cases have risen anywhere from 180 to 200 per cent. For example, you no longer ask for a lamb chop. Your request is whispered to the butcher, he turns pale but complies. Then in an aspirate tone he tells the price. After being revived, you hopefully ask for a steak, and then figure out if its possible to take a first mortgage on the old homestead in order to pay for it.

No Fighting Chance

Any woman knows that food is one of the most expensive and important items on her budget. What happens to that budget now that wages are also frozen?

In 1942 when the general price and freeze ceiling went into effect on May 18, prices were rolled back to March, 1942. In other words, the consumer in the "good old days" had a fighting chance. In the case of the recent freeze there has been (Continued On Page Two)

Forum And Clean Govt. Bury Hatchets For Harmony

Becker and Golden Agree To Help Each Other Win In 1952

The political hatchet, bloody but honored, was buried between the Belleville Forum and Clean Government this week, following a meeting of John Golden, head of the Forum, and George Becker, county chairman of GOP affairs. From here on out, according to a joint communique, they will work together for the common confusion of Democratic forces and the defeat of the Truman administration in 1952.

To Whip Truman

The burial ceremony followed a heart-to-heart talk in the Clean Government wigwag on Broad Street between Golden and Becker, with much passing of the peace pipe. As Republicans, they agreed, finally, to a truce to help Becker align all Republican forces in the 1952 fight when Clean Government wants not only to defeat Truman but to win back the 10th and 11th Congressional District seats.

It took eight paragraphs of "whereas," "therefore" and "be it further resolved" in the communique to define the basis of the burial of the hatchet. In brief, Becker, whose local lieutenants had tried last year to scuttle the Forum, agreed to let it live. On their side, the Forum leaders resolved "that an inspiring note of confidence in the leadership and integrity of the county chairman be overwhelmingly subscribed to."

The resolution explains the action on the grounds that "the salutary interests of the Republican party can best be served and compassed through the expedient of harmony."

CIVILIAN DEFENSE INDUCTS LIONS EN MASSE TODAY

Service Organization First To Volunteer As Group; Film On Program

A mass induction of the Belleville Lions Club, first organization in town to volunteer as a body for civilian defense, will take place this noon when the Lions convene for the weekly luncheon at For-Hills. Defense Council chairman Norman Lauterette, assisted by Coordinator Kenneth Smith and public education chairman Max Schwartz, will administer the oath to the 43 members of the Lions.

The program will be devoted to civil defense. A film on the A-bomb, an official document of the Defense Council, will be shown, followed by a short address by one of the council officers.

According to Lion president C. Wallace Tierman, the organization voted last week to enroll as a group. He said the Defense Council would assign the individual members to various units in the local setup.

Corno and Sons Low Bidder For Stadium Running Track

Bids for the construction of a running track at the Municipal Stadium were received by the Town Commission Tuesday, with C. Corno and Sons of Belleville low bidder on the proposed project. The bid was $5,622.

Other bidders were Vasco Sampao, local contractor, $6,565 and Frank Armando of Bloomfield, $7,571. All bids were referred to Parks and Public Property Director Hyde. The town has an appropriation on the books for $4,500 for the track.

Engineering Award to Viking Tool

An award for designing and producing an electro-meter taxicab meter was made recently to the Viking Tool & Machinery Corporation, and two company executives are shown above holding the meter and citation. On the left is John Lindstrom, president of Viking and the meter's designer with secretary-treasurer Lawrence Lommerin on the right with the citation.

Next time you grab a cab for that quick trip to your destination, take a look at the meter ticking off the mileage and the charge. If it isn't one of the Viking Tool and Machine Corp. latest products, the electro-meter, the chances are it will be in the near future. The busy little corporation of Main Street, near Mill, has turned out a machine that is making rapid inroads on the taxicab business and fleet operators are beginning to take notice of the modern meter that stresses accuracy and speed in recording.

It has already won a nationwide citation from Design News, a leading engineering publication. The Viking product was honored by the magazine for producing an outstanding new product, notable for function, appearance and efficiency.

All told, Design News made 47 awards for 1950 and it is notable that Viking is the only New Jersey firm to offer a product that passed the publication's engineering board of review.

Mixed Talents

Behind the electro-meter is a story of research, production problems and then the difficult task of marketing the meter. The research fell upon the broad and capable shoulders of Viking president John Lindstrom, the scientific genius who whipped the meter into a productive reality; Manufacturing and marketing landed in the lap of Lawrence Lommerin, secretary-treasurer who guides the financial phase of Viking's interests.

A wall of skepticism thrown up by fleet operators owning metered cabs, has to be broken down, ac-

Time, The Great Softener

An application by a local resident, at one time at odds with the law, for a canvasser's license was given the heave-ho by the Town Commission Tuesday. In reply to queries on arrests and convictions, a stock question on the applications, the hopeful canvasser marked a convenient check-mark. A routine police investigation uncovered the following facts from some dusty records.

In 1920, charged with loitering; 1925, selling unlicensed liquor; 1926, material witness; 1928, violation of the Volstead Act (prohibition to you), and later, placed on one-year for soliciting money.

What was the canvasser going to sell if his application had been approved? Subscriptions to the Flower Flag magazine.

KIDDE WORKERS GIVE OVERTIME PAY TO HOSPITAL

Lutheran Memorial Building Fund Gains $7,000 Through Employees' Generosity

Nearly a thousand employees of Walter Kidde & Co., Inc., gave up their day off Saturday, reported to work and donated about $7,000 in overtime pay to the Lutheran Memorial Hospital building fund. The statistics were reported today after final returns had been tabulated.

More than 500 hourly paid factory workers turned over approximately $4,500 in overtime wages and 100 others, who didn't work a full day, made cash contributions totalling over $500. The balance of the $7,000 total was made up by donated wages of office employees. It was the first full day's overtime for the entire plant force since World War II.

Plan Similar Gestures

According to Thomas Perotta, representative of Local 146, UAW-CIO and chairman of the hospital drive's labor committee, 87 per cent of the Kidde factory force participated in the overtime contribution. Similar labor projects for the hospital fund are now being discussed in more than 40 other plants of the area, with plans in the final stages at L. Sonneborn & Sons and Westinghouse in Belleville, Westinghouse in Bloomfield, and the Bloomfield General Motors plant.

Perotta explained that most participating employees worked a full eight hours which, on the basis of time and a half, gave them 12 hours' pay. Under the formula devised some time ago by the campaign labor committee, these workers then turned over six hours' pay to the fund. Thus, the average gift from each factory (Continued On Page Two)
