Illegal Meeting On Bond Issue Denied By Board

Kelly, Yocum Refute Charges By McCann, Quote Opinion From Deputy Education Official

On the strength of an opinion from Deputy State Commissioner of Education Chester Robbins, the majority of the Board of Education is expected to stand pat on the resolution passed recently appointing a New York law firm to perform the legal work necessary to bring about the special referendum on the $300,000 school bond issue. Disclosure of opposition to the board's action came this week when board member Raymond McCann charged that the meeting was illegal. He based his allegation on the fact that Ralph Allaire, former president of the board, voted in favor of the resolution, but was not an official member on the grounds his term expired January 31. The meeting took place February 2.

Yesterday, board president Eugene Kelly and Charles Yocum, who along with Allaire passed the resolution, stated their position had been substantiated by Robbins last week. At the meeting in question, according to Yocum, Mrs. Homer Zink, fifth member of the old board, was not present and Yocum stated McCann was a late arrival at the meeting and the action on the resolution had already been considered.

Counter With Statutes

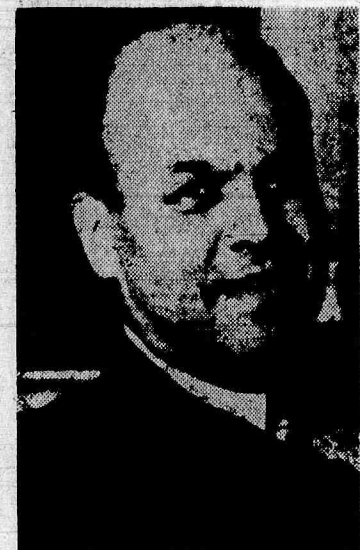

Yocum declared the deputy commissioner said New Jersey State School Statute 13:7-53, which the board referred to, covered the issue. The statute says:

"A board shall organize annually by the election of one of its members as president and another as vice president. The organization meeting shall be held at 8 o'clock on the first Monday following the annual meeting in February. Notice of such organization meeting shall be transmitted by the district clerk to all members constituting the new board. Upon organization of such new board, the term of the retiring members shall immediately expire."

McCann has referred to the statute.

YOUNG GOP BEGINS DRIVE TO UNSEAT RODINO IN 10TH

Addonizio Of 11th Another Target As County Leader Maps Campaign

Flaunting a slogan "Build Now for '52," Douglas Tucker, new Essex County chairman of the Young Republicans, named Joseph W. Ferraro of Nutley to act as chairman of a 10th Congressional District Committee which will begin immediately a long-range campaign to unseat Congressman Peter W. Rodino in the November, 1952, election which coincide with the national Presidential election. Miss Theresa Calabrese of Belleville, was named vice chairman of the committee and charged with rallying young Republican women voters, many of whom slipped into the Rodino camp last November.

Slap Truman Policies

"Rodino and Addonizio will be hard to unseat but it is necessary to return the 10th and 11th Districts to the Republican party," Ferraro said last night.

"We cannot wait until next year to get started and even before we know who the Republican candidates for Congress will be in these two districts, we will carry the fight to the Democrats on the basis of the Truman administration's record."

Like Congressman Rodino, Ferraro is a veteran of World War II. As a warrant officer he served at General MacArthur's headquarters, first in Australia after the collapse of Bataan, and, finally, in the Philippines after MacArthur's return. During the interval, Ferraro moved with MacArthur's GHQ on its steady return northward from one island to another.

Republican Record

Long active in GOP affairs, Ferraro is a member of the executive committee of the senior Nutley Republican Club, in charge of veterans' affairs, and until recently was county committeeman for the 3rd ward, 1st district, in Nutley. In naming Ferraro and instructing him to begin immediately his campaign to unseat Congressman Rodino, Tucker announced that he had discussed the operation, along with a vast general plan of action, with Clean Government County Chairman George Becker who gave it his endorsement.

KELLY ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY OF SCHOOL BOARD

Takes Over One Year After Appointment; Regular Meeting Friday

Eugene Kelly

By a 3-1 vote, Eugene Kelly was elected president of the Board of Education Monday night at the annual organization meeting of the board. The election was highlighted by nominations that failed to draw the customary seconds, but under rules of order for deliberative assemblies, a nomination need not be seconded.

The meeting, presided over by district clerk Kuel E. Daniels, was opened by Mrs. Homer Zink nom-

The regular February meeting of the Board of Education will be held Friday night, February 23, at School No. 8. Compliance with the law which states an organization meeting or a regular board convocation cannot be started after 8 o'clock precluded both meetings being held Monday. Last year, both were held on the same night, but the point was raised Monday by board member McCann, who did not attend the organization meeting.

Newly-elected President Kelly's first duty, therefore, was to inform citizens attending the session that the regular meeting would be held another night.

ROAD COSTS HERE IN SHARP RISE

Expenditures For Streets Up 220 Percent, Local Government Survey Discloses

Expenditures for streets and roads in Belleville have risen far faster than other city costs in the past decade, an authoritative survey shows. According to the 12th annual report of New Jersey's Division of Local Government, local road costs in 1949, which were $162,563, showed a 220 per cent increase in ten years. By comparison, overall municipal costs were up only 41 per cent since 1939: from $1,963,049 to $2,759,816.

The actual burden on local taxpayers in 1949, the report

Main Street Hit By Traffic Problem Due To War Work

Kidde, Fada, Watco and Others Affected As Personnel Expands

An influx of war workers, staffing plants along Main Street, has created an acute traffic problem and town officials, industrial leaders and a representative of the State Motor Vehicle Division met this week to consider steps to meet the situation. A survey will be undertaken and recommendations for easing the nightly jam will be forthcoming shortly, according to Safety Director Sullivan.

Tuesday, Sullivan, Police Chief Spatz, communications officer Frank Rovell, Deputy Director Welsh, L. C. Mancuso, manager of Fada Radio; G. Crosby Hiss, secretary of Walter Kidde Company, and J. Henry Brennan, traffic investigator for the motor vehicle division, inspected the crucial areas and plans to meet the problem were discussed. Maps of affected areas, a traffic count and other steps will be included in a survey.

Three Critical Areas

Critical sections are the Kidde,

Fada and Wallace & Tiernan plants. With increasing war work necessitating sharp personnel expansion, the dismissal of employees about 4:30 and again at 5:15 p. m. pours a steady stream of autos onto the thoroughfare, already crowded by workers traveling north and south from other areas. The possibility exists that a traffic light will be recommended for the Kidde area while a three-way light will be given consideration for Main and Mill Streets, another bottleneck.

The state artery is heavily traversed morning and night. Stepped-up production at Federal Telephone and Radio in Nutley and Clifton sends many Newarkers back and forth along Main Street. The Passaic River bridge at Rutgers Street is often responsible for tie-ups as river boats ply up and down, necessitating the opening of the drawbridge.

Both Kidde and Fada have spacious parking lots but the release of the plant workers at 4:30 and the office three-quarters of an hour later hampers the smooth flow of traffic as the cars attempt to ease out into the highway. Federal Leather, practically adjoining Kidde, has a self-controlled traffic light which expedites the movement of cars from that plant.

Clean Government Enforces Four-Year Assembly Term

Russell, Belleville Legislator, Will Be Dropped With Five Others Effectively

Elwood P. Russell

Six of Essex County's 12 members of the General Assembly at Trenton will be dropped from Clean Government's slate in the November elections as a consequence of County Chairman George Becker's decision to apply the four-year term rule. Dropped will be Assemblymen Elwood P. Russell of Belleville and William H. Litvany of Bloomfield, only members of the Legislature from the northern suburban communities of Essex County. Others to be eliminated from Clean Government's ticket by the Becker order are Mrs. Grace Freeman of East Orange, Cyrus H. Loutrel of South Orange and two Newark legislators, Lewis M. Hegmann and James A. Curtis.

Becker had sought to retain Russell in office, because of his supplementary role for Clean Government in watching over the Young Republican movement, but Litvany, Hermann and Mrs. Freeman served notice that if the four-year-term rule is to be applied against them it must be applied against all six.

No Ticket Yet

In the absence of Chairman Becker, now in the middle of a three-weeks holiday in Cuba, no progress has been made in writing the ticket which must be filed before March 8 for the Spring Primary.

In a general examination of Clean Government policies shortly before his departure on vacation, Becker confirmed to The Times-News that he had ordered the four-year rule be enforced. He pointed out that it was set up by Clean Government so that there would be a generous rotation of representation among the suburban communities.

Cub Pack No. 375 Honors Washington and Lincoln

Cub Pack No. 375 featured the theme "Washington and Lincoln" at a monthly meeting held Friday in St. Peter's Hall. Emmett Molloy, Cubmaster, presided, and Father John Hourihan, Scout Chaplain, spoke.

After the meeting, Bar Cub John Cornish and Wolf Cub Peter Boniface received certificates of graduation. They will now become Scouts.

Police Had Busy Year

Variety of Assignments Resulted in Recovery of $15,123 Stolen Property; Two Auto Deaths Here With 223 Criminal Cases in Detective Bureau

Policemen are often called upon to render service in lines seemingly far removed from the normal functions of a patrolman, the annual report filed with Safety Director Sullivan by Police Chief Spatz disclosed this week. Appeals for assistance on water and sewer leaks, wire breaks, delivering messages, removing cats and dogs and a host of miscellaneous assignments were noted.

Along the regular line of duty, stolen property in the amount of $15,123 was recovered during 1950, according to Chief Spatz. There were 223 criminal complaints received, 368 motor vehicle violations on the road and 123 others not on the road; 849 parking summons issued, 207 persons arrested, 859 investigations by the detective bureau and a total of 11,343 details handled by the entire department.

Home Mishaps Lower

There were 111 motor and pedestrian mishaps, with 73 persons reported injured and two fatalities. Home accidents, usually a substantial contributor to the annual accident rate, fell off this year, with only 30 reported. Twenty-four persons were injured at work and 54 on the street, while dog bites for the 12 months totaled 50.

Of 223 criminal complaints referred to the detective division, 148 were closed. Larceny under $100 was the most common offense, with 45 cases. Other offenses included: DIAMONDS, WATCHES, JEWELRY, at prices always in line with the quality of the merchandise offered; VICTOR HARB, Jeweler, 457 Washington Avenue, Belleville, N. J.

$50 comprised 84 complaints with 42 solved. There were 40 breaking and entering cases, 25 of which have been closed. Grand larceny, with the complaint exceeding $50, reported 26 cases, with 17 completed. Other criminal cases in the bureau included assault and battery, 12; atrocious assault and battery, 2; fraud, 11; gambling, 4; lewdness, 5; stolen cars, 15; suicides, 3; abortion, 1, and homicide, 1.

Under the category of complaints other than criminal, the detective bureau disposed of 22 disorderly persons, 14 disturbances, 14 malicious mischief, 29 missing persons and 61 property damage reports.

In the Magistrate Court, 209 criminal cases, 491 motor vehicle and 894 parking violations were handled.

Police reported 117 juvenile cases with 12 referred to the Newark court while the others were disposed of without further recourse to the court.

First National Meeting Next Month On Fidelity Proposal

The meeting will be held at the bank, 144 Washington Avenue, at 3 p. m. Tuesday, March 27, 1951.

The proposed sale was made public last week.

Budget Hearing Tuesday, To Fix Rate At $6.58

Public, Industry Invited to Attend Annual Hearing; Sharp Increase Hikes Town Expenditures to Record Heights

Civic leaders, representatives of industry and just plain citizens have been invited to the annual town budget hearing at the Town Hall Tuesday, Mayor James J. Tully stated yesterday. Belleville's rocketing tax rate, which zoomed to record proportions this year, climbing 101 tax points to the tentative rate of $6.58 for each $100 of assessed valuation, will be presented for public approval. If it passes public censure next week, it will be adopted and forwarded to Trenton for final approval.

TOWN TO BENEFIT BY FORECLOSURES

In Rem Proceedings Now Under way Cuts County Tax, Ups Ratables

Foreclosure of tax title liens, now in process under the "in rem" procedure, will benefit the town two-fold, town attorney Lawrence Keenan, in charge of the foreclosure, said this week. With more than 175 properties involved in the action, payment of taxes to Essex County will halt and the majority of the tracts will find their way back into the ratable listings.

Keenan started action late last year and to date has approximately twenty-five already cleared by the courts. Mayor Tully recommended the in rem process be used, pointing to repeated recommendations over the past years advanced by municipal auditor A. M. Hart. Tully, finance director, said money for the foreclosure had never been provided in the budget and this year, the town set up an amount of $10,700 to cover the expense. About 70 per cent of those outstanding are expected to be cleared up by the end of this year.

Some Get Involved

Many of the liens involve considerable work, said Keenan. He pointed to the difficulty of ascertaining the rightful title holders, particularly on properties that have been transferred many times or handed down by families through the years.

The town attorney was unable to put a value on the foreclosures, asserting that a number of the properties were small, odd-sized pieces. He noted that one redemption had been realized in the first 25 foreclosures.

CDA Protest, Embargo Request Gets State Department Reply

Mrs. Gertrude A. Dillon, grand regent of Court Sancta Maria No. 61, Catholic Daughters of America, revealed this week that the State Department in Washington had replied to a CDA wire requesting an embargo on all shipments to Communist China from the United States. According to Mrs. Grace B. Ruck, information officer, restrictions have been put into effect covering arms and other goods not only to Communist China, but to all Soviet satellites.

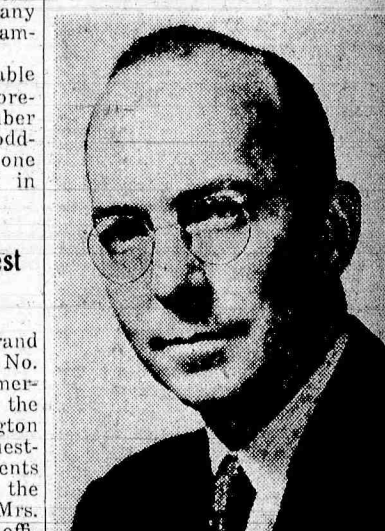

The State Department notice said the actions had been taken to safeguard the security of the United States.

Stimulated by the Board of Education budget which added $195,514 or 46 tax points; $52,000 for police salary boosts and increased fire department personnel, adding 12 points; $32,835 in Essex County taxes, 8 points; increased garbage contract costs, $19,990, 5 points; municipal salary increases, $26,000, 6 points; civil defense, $13,000, 3 points; tax lien foreclosures, $10,700, 2 points, and $145,813 decrease in general revenues, plus a boost in the reserve for uncollected taxes, the budget jumped 120 points. However, added ratables totaling $1,131,950 accounted for the net increase of 101 points.

Mayor Tully, revenue and finance director, noted that many of the increases were uncontrollable items. The town must raise a total of $2,771,637 through local taxation, broken down as follows: Schools, $1,183,756; town, $1,175,804 and county, $412,077. The hearing, according to the mayor, will begin at 8 o'clock.

Learning Civil Defense At An Early Age

Seated in a protective basement corridor are these kindergarten pupils at School No. 5, shown as they went through a dress rehearsal in the event of an air attack. Operating under instructions from Defense Council headquarters, teachers in grade schools have been or are being thoroughly briefed on a plan of action to afford the utmost protection to school children if a surprise air attack were to be inflicted in the Metropolitan area. Aimed at minimizing hysteria, the Defense Council is carrying out its program through faculty members in the lower schools, who in turn convey instructions to the students, thus reducing any tendencies to create alarm. The children file to basement corridors and are being taught to sit or lie tightly against a wall, and cover their heads and faces at a word from their teachers.

The meeting was well attended and full cooperation was pledged. Plans are rapidly being completed for the distribution to all families of a descriptive and explanatory pamphlet, on the A-Bomb. This will be accompanied by a letter from the Council recommending the enlistment of at least one member from each family in the community to this effort.

YR Get Place

Becker indicated that he is likely to name William Barnes of South Orange to the Assembly ticket as suggested by the Young Republicans at their recent Newark convention which elected Douglas Becker of Nutley as county chairman in succession to Barnes. The delegation pressed, through resolution urging Becker to name a retiring head as a gesture to the junior wing of the GOP Essex County.

Becker indicated, also, that Mrs. Barnes is likely to be replaced by the ticket by another woman, and Marie Macbert of South Orange is likely to get the vacancy.

Becker said that he has been pressured by the staff of Mrs. Theodore Berger of Nutley, who has been a devoted party worker.

Despite a great deal of pressure and retaining his services for another term, Clayton Freeman, director of the Board of Freeholders, appears determined, at 78, to give up his seat. Becker told the Times-News that he expected Freeman to persist in his refusal to seek re-election although there has been no final official announcement.

Solimine Affair

The case of Freeholder Joseph Solimine has been bothersome to Becker and its final solution was not until the chairman's return. Cause of an unsavory divorce case, last year, in which the Freeholder figured, several other members of the Board urged that he be dropped at the end of his term. Becker stubbornly resisted that and felt that Solimine should be judged on his excellent record as Freeholder and not on the publicity of a divorce case. Meanwhile, Becker's absence, a compromise has been proposed that would have a second opening on the Board.

Open Door

Solimine would be offered the position as permanent secretary of the County Tax Board, a lifelong appointment which carries a salary of $5,500 a year, but requires a day's work. No qualifying examination is required and the power of appointment lies with Becker.

The final decisions in the cases of Freeholders Freeman and Solimine will be taken when Becker returns. From Cuba, the county chairman has set the date of March 1 for his return. That leaves only a few days in which to set up the primary ticket, but Becker has already arranged the necessary details of conferences with county leaders to permit speedy action.

These figures were released today by the New Jersey Automobile Owners, Inc., in a continuing study of highway costs the state. Robert A. Fox, secretary of the motorists' group, said that Belleville's condition is similar to the state-wide condition which showed that property owners are now paying 42 percent of all highway costs compared to 13 percent in 1939. Road highway-user fees have failed to keep pace with the skyrocketing costs of highway construction and maintenance.

Fox said that this condition was highlighted in the fifth report of the Commission on State Tax Policy which said, "When so much of the traffic volume and so many of the heavily-loaded vehicles are licensed out of state, it is not fair to ask that the New Jersey taxpayer bear nearly all the cost." As the fairest solution, the Commission recommended a gross-ton-mile tax on all heavy trucks. This proposal and other revision of highway-user revenues are now being studied by Governor Driscoll and the legislature.

the board sitting at his initial meeting, offered a nomination for Kelly, which likewise failed to draw a second.

Breaks Deadlock

It appeared that a deadlock would ensue, throwing the decisive vote into the lap of board finance chairman Raymond McCann, absent from the meeting. However, when the votes were counted, Kelly had the necessary three votes and although the board members would not disclose their votes, it is believed Yocum balled for Kelly.

Kelly then nominated Yocum for vice president. There were no other nominations offered and Yocum was elected, drawing three votes and one ballot abstaining from voting.

In a brief acceptance speech, Kelly said:

"I sincerely appreciate the honor you have given me tonight. I accept it soberly with the definite conviction that we have the responsibility for the educational care of nearly five thousand children. I shall need the whole-hearted cooperation of not only the members of the Board of Education but also of all of the citizens of Belleville."

John Kidde, Nils Montan, M. B. Borks On Community Leader Project

The appointment of three Belleville business executives as members of the National Association of Manufacturers' Committee on Cooperation With Community Leaders was announced this week by William H. Ruffin, the association's president.

These named were John F. Kidde, president, Walter Kidde & Co., Inc.; Nils V. Montan, vice president, Eastern Tool & Mfg. Co., and M. B. Borks, manager, Berlass Bearing Company.

The committee seeks to advance community interests by encouraging industry leaders to participate more actively in the civic life of their home communities. Heading the committee is Walter D. Fuller, chairman of the board of the Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia.

Ruffin said the committee is working closely with educators, clergymen, youth leaders "and all other good citizens" in encouraging "a more alert citizenship and keener sense of civic responsibility." The committee is especially interested, he said, in improving school systems and assuring that they are "effective instruments of democracy."

"The program is one of the most important the association has ever undertaken," Mr. Ruffin emphasized. Its activities include fostering Business-Industry-Education days, career conferences, and other programs intended to broaden

FAST MARRIAGES FOR GIRL GRADS

Centenary Junior College Claims Edge Over 4-Year Femme Graduates

Young women attending Centenary Junior College have a slight matrimonial advantage over their sisters at four-year colleges, according to replies to the "Alumnae Census" reported in the winter issue of the Alumnae Bulletin appearing this week. Whereas a recent study of the Seven Associated Colleges for Women (four-year colleges) showed that 82% of their graduates had married, replies from Centenary's alumnae disclosed that 86% were married.

How long after leaving her Alma Mater must the average Centenary graduate wait for her wedding ring? Four and one-half years is the answer revealed by this Census, which means that her average age at marriage is only a trifle higher than the national figure of 21.6 for women. Considering that the four-year college alumna is not "hitched" until she is 25, and that the Census includes graduates of Centenary's preparatory department which closed in 1940, this interval of 4½ years is regarded as surprisingly short.

SPOTLIGHT

on SPORTS

by Warren Knight

Playing only as well as required, and showing alternate bursts of brilliance and bobbling, Belleville's defending champs in the Essex County Tournament moved past the first round Monday night, as anticipated. Victim was East Orange, who, playing surprisingly well, made a ball game out of the fracas for nearly three quarters of the contest. Tomorrow night, in the feature battle at Seton Hall University's beautiful gymnasium, the Bellboys stack up against a very formidable Montclair crew. This could well be the toughest game of the tourney for Jitty Wische's boys. The Mounties, coached by Clary Anderson, jack-of-all sports, are noted for being tough when the chips are down. Last year, the underdog Montclair combine chased Belleville down to the final minute before bowing and this Blue and White aggregation is reputed to be better than its predecessor.

Undaunted by the Golden Boys' reputation, the Panthers did everything right the first half, taking advantage of spotty Belleville passing and turning in a poised brand of basketball even when the champs threatened to blow the game wide open. Paced by a towheaded, mighty mite named Dick Garrabrant, the Red and Blue fought back twice in the first half after trailing at one time by 14-6. Belleville's fast break looked superb at the outset, but twice alert Panther defenders intercepted loose passes and drove in for setups. Good pop-shooting by Tony De Santis, plus Garrabrant's playmaking, finally pulled the underdogs up to a 15-15 tie, then a 19-all deadlock, but Bob Dilworth and Jim McConnell came through with buckets for a 23-19 halftime edge. At one point in the first two stanzas, the Bellboys had a stretch of tough luck when the leather refused to drop and for nearly five minutes they failed to tally a field goal.

Insertion of Fred Engel in the second half buoyed the Bellboy machine and they moved the ball nicely and started to hit with consistency from the floor. McConnell's driving layups ripped the Panther defense to shreds while on the defense, Dilworth covered his territory like a blanket and smothered De Santis, who was able to can only one bucket the rest of the game. If it hadn't been for Garrabrant, who made two of the most sensational shots of the night, the Panthers would have been buried. The little East Orange forward dunked a running left-hander and a two-handed push that brought roars from the crowd, meanwhile sinking a couple of long sets to boot. All told he made 12 credits the last half and the entire team produced only 16. McConnell's dexterity underneath also drew oh's and ah's, as he dunked the sphere through the mesh in deft fashion while going in full speed.

Nearly a full house was on hand to watch the action, despite the sloppy weather. Both the opener and the night-cap, Bloomfield trimmed Orange in the first contest, found the teams, as usual, off form and it can be attributed to the huge court and the glass backboards. Coach Wische said this week that after most of the teams get one game under their belts, the calibre of play will improve noticeably.

Up to tourney time Monday, most fans around town have been gum-beating about the game last week, when West Orange shattered Belleville's win streak at 15 and delivered a knockout blow to hopes for an undefeated season. A lot of the talk has centered around the notably poor playing court used by the Cowboys and said court has been catching most of the blame for the jolting upset. But it takes more than a court to whip a club like Belleville. The tough defeat can be blamed on the fact that the Bellboys, human like any other cage team, had an off day. Half the teams on the schedule could have taken them last Thursday. When you miss eight straight fouls and 14 of 15 good shots from in close, you'd have to be playing Vassar to win.

Fifteen consecutive victories without a loss in a single season can become a terrific psychological load for schoolboys. Going into the final game of the season, the pressure was on, but plenty. Those Cowboys are never easy, they knocked off Belleville last year on the local boards and it so happened they were just a little better than their guests a week ago. From a practical standpoint, the setback before the tournament may be the tonic ordered for the champs. Without that winning streak to protect, some of the load is lightened. And it still adds up to the finest record ever turned in by a Bellboy cage team.

Gambling's influence on sports in Madison Square Garden, if the present trend continues, pose a big threat to continued profitable operations at the Eighth Avenue shack. The latest basketball scandal, with top notch collegiate athletes selling their schools, the sport and themselves down the river on bribery charges, is a filthy mess, but not totally unexpected. It seems the public must wager and the sharp characters who oblige by taking the money have no scruples about undermining the morals of the young men participating in the game. Lush parties and easy dough are an impressionable pair. Gamblers, experienced along the line of character insight, throw a tempting hunk of change at a young man from a middle class family, attending school with no regular source of income, and it takes a lot of real character to turn it down. Those Manhattan, CCNY, NYU and LIU boys know now the mistake they've committed, but it's too late.

Sports have an amazing resiliency. They seem to bounce back no matter what the blow. Over the years, most have been visited by the "fix-it" bug, but until recently the instances have been isolated ones. But this wholesale revelation that has grown like a cancerous affliction is a solar-plexus blow and on the heels of that farcial fighting exhibition in the Garden last Friday, some of the ounce in that bounce is going to be missing.

That was a pretty whitewash job they gave the fight, if you'll pardon the expression. It also resulted in the birth of a new blow that threatens to send atomic energy running for cover. Called a delayed-action punch, it is delivered lightly to the regions of the stomach and after a period of time, causes the collapse of its recipient. This scribe saw Paddy Young and Tuzo Portuguese literally beat each other's brains out last Fall and Paddy barely blinked an eye at terrific shots in the gut and below the belt, too. Dummy Hairston, who now owns the delayed-action fuse, is a crisp puncher yet no slugger, but if his blows affect other opponents as they did Young last week, he'll waltz to a title.

Shakespeare, who doesn't often appear in columns of this ilk, once said: "What fools these mortals be." When the Bard of Avon uttered that meaningful mouthful of rhetoric, he must have been looking into the future at boxing fans, because they keep coming back for more.

Panthers Trapped As Champs Begin Title Defense

Montclair Next Foe on Friday As Bellboys Romp to 47-35 Triumph Over East Orange

Off to a good start, Belleville toppled East Orange out of the Essex County Basketball Tournament Monday, whipping the Panthers 47-35 and moving into the second round. Seeded No. 1 and defending champions, the Bellboys go to the well again Friday night against Montclair and a stiff battle is in the cards. The Mounties skidded by Clifford Scott Tuesday and with a tall, sharpshooting combination may carry Belleville all the way, just as they did a year ago in a quarter-final engagement.

Starting off at top speed, Belleville threatened to settle the issue early as the fast break worked beautifully and Dick Godfrey, Jim McConnell and Charlie Travers dipped in easy buckets. It went to 14-6 at one point, but the Panthers refused to lose poise and playing more deliberately than Belleville, managed to stay in the game. That was made possible when a couple of Bellboy passes went astray, were grabbed by Tony De Santis at midcourt and converted into layups, after he faked a defender out of bounds underneath.

Run Out Of Gas

Late in the first quarter, Belleville ran out of gas, at least temporarily, and the Panthers clawed back into contention. Led by De Santis and mighty mite Dick Garrabrant, East Orange ran off seven consecutive markers while the Bellboys had some tough luck on shots and couldn't get from the floor for more than four minutes.

This stretch ran into the second period and enabled the underdogs to finally knot the count at 15-all when De Santis looped in a one-hander.

At this point, Coach Wische inserted Freddy Engel into the fracas, replacing sophomore Dean Hatcher and Engel quickly made his presence felt by zipping through a bullet shot for a bucket. It was knotted again at 19-all a few minutes later but two quickies by McConnell and Johnnie Massarano gave the Bellboys a 23-19 bulge at the half.

McConnell Clicks

Class began to tell when play was resumed and with McConnell playing brilliantly and driving through the Panther defenders for clever shots in close, the champions gradually pulled away. Travers contributed while Dilworth tapped in a rebound and made a layup. Only Garrabrant kept East Orange close. A smooth little operator, he guided the team, was devastating on set shots and flipped in two sensational baskets, one a southpaw hook and the other a two-handed push with a Bellboy the man with the educated legs, takes on Chief Don Eagle in the feature bout, but we have a hunch the co-feature should be an eye-opening affair and might steal the thunder. A pair of gorgeous gals who lose all femininity, except what nature visited upon them, once they climb inot the squared circle, figure to put on a good show. Nell Stewart, no country gal, we'll have you know, takes on wealthy and pulchritudinous Gloria Barattini. On the ugly side, Two-Ton Tony Galento and Primo Carnera, those ever-present ex-pugs, are slated for roles on the card, too. It all takes place at 8:40.

hanging around his neck. All told, the diminutive blonde collected 12 of the 16 credits chalked up by the Panthers in the last two periods.

With a safe lead in the last quarter, the Bellboys played deliberately and made East Orange press, causing the losers to commit numerous fouls, most of which were waived by the Blue and Gold in order to retain possession.

McConnell racked up 19 to lead Belleville, with Travers chipping in with 11. Garrabrant had 15 for his team and De Santis 12, 10 of which were made in the first half.

Belleville, On Stage, Has Unbeaten Hopes Dashed

Cowboys Stifle Bellboys On Off Day, Halt Victory Skein At 16

West Orange rang down the curtain on Belleville's 15-game winning streak last week and the Cowboys couldn't have picked a more appropriate place to turn the major upset. Playing on the stage of the auditorium, where the Cowboys do the cage entertaining, they handed the Bellboys a 38-29 setback, thus squashing high hopes here for the first undefeated season in the history of the school.

Light Scoring

Neither team was impressive, missing shots and turning in generally sloppy performances. But Belleville managed to outfumble the Cowboys, came up with that "off-day" feared by all coaches and wound up getting the stiltz booted out from under that lofty winning streak.

To indicate how the trend of the game went, in the third period each team scored one field goal and that's all. Throughout the season, the Blue and Gold has been noted for third-quarter rallies, but the team failed to click and Bob Dilworth's jump shot was the only production in eight solid minutes for the usually potent Bellboy attack.

The Cowboys threw up a tight zone, but it wasn't the defense that halted Jitty Wische's courtmen. The team blew numerous shots from in-close and had a bad day at the foul line. Ordinarily potent in this department, the Bellboys canned only 11 of 22 while West Orange made only 10 for 20. From the floor, Belleville threw 51 times but only dunked nine. West Orange hit 14 for 65.

No Big Output

It was the Cowboys right from the beginning. They went out in front the first period, fought off two Bellboy bids, and stayed on top until the intermission, when the count reached 25-16.

One of the tipoffs to Belleville's performance was that not a single player hit for double figures, with Charlie Travers and Dick Godfrey the only ones to connect for more than a single field goal. Travers, with nine markers, took scoring honors, while three Cowboys, Sal Iuso, Tony Troviano and Lou Donofrio tallied eight each.

New in Style—New in Structure—New in Power—New in Thrift—Potent in Price Appeal—It's the 1951 BUICK SPECIAL!

HERE is good news for folks with a shrewd eye for what their dollars will buy.

Here is a tidy traveler that defies the upward trend of costs—proudly wears a 1951 price tag like that which zoomed last year's SPECIAL into popularity so great that it put a crimp in "the low-priced three."

Take our word for it, this is every inch and ounce a Buick—Buick-featured, Buick-designed, Buick-built from the ground up—but literally the newest thing on wheels.

The sturdy and anple body is new. The high-strength frame is new. The power is new to the SPECIAL, which now has the thrifty F-263 engine that first made its name in the SUPER, and here delivers 120 horsepower with standard transmission—128 with Dynaflo Drive.*

It's a Buick with less weight and more power—and that spells a pair of new thrills for you. There's a performance thrill such as you've never enjoyed in the SPECIAL—plus a handsome gas-saving into the bargain.

We'll make a prediction now as to what title folks will give it, once they get it out on the road.

That title in three words, will be: "Thriftest Buick Yet!"

Town Budget Hearing

Belleville's all-time, record-making budget, including school, municipal and county demands, comes up for public approval Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Town Commission. Representatives of industry, organizations and a handful of citizens will probably make up the audience, if the hearing follows the precedent established in recent years. It's likely a few routine questions will be raised and then, after a brief discussion, the 1951 tax rate of $6.58 will move to Trenton for final approval.

Up 101 tax points since a year ago, the budget should be of some concern to every tax-paying citizen. Government, like everything else these inflationary times, is affected by rising costs. Salary increases to school and town employees have contributed most to the tax boost, while administrative expenditures have climbed steadily to create this record budget.

One of the most disturbing factors is that despite substantial increases in ratables over the past 10 years, the tax rate has still mounted steadily. In 1941, ratables totaled $29,680,000 and five years later, reached $34,209,000. This year, boosted by another $1,131,000, Belleville has $42,122,828 in ratables. That means approximately $12,500,000 has been added, yet the tax rate has climbed from $4.60 a decade ago to the astronomical figure of $6.58.

But the grim aspect is this—Belleville has just about exhausted its supply of ratables. Add to that the fact the home owner is carrying a stone around his neck in heavy taxes and it's a cinch he is virtually eliminated insofar as increased assessments are concerned.

This situation of rising taxes isn't a local condition, it is true. Yet it is particularly serious here in view of the fact there is little undeveloped land left, which might open the way for an influx of industry or housing. Unless expenses are held sharply in check all along the line, starting on a national level, the future isn't pleasant to portend.

Eventually, drastic changes in the topography may become essential if the town is to progress—yes, even more—or otherwise Belleville's degeneration is certain to come.

Blighted areas grow into slums and before you know it, Belleville, "beautiful city," is no more.

That Cigarette Tax

New Jersey schools are failing by $9,428,175 to receive the full revenue of the cigarette tax this year, the New Jersey Education Association contends in a statement issued last night. It is the teachers' reply to recent statements by state officials contending that the schools are receiving the full revenues from that tax.

The teachers compare the amount of state aid the schools are receiving this year with the amount they were getting before the cigarette tax was adopted. State school aid this year is $24,979,854; in 1947-48, the year before the cigarette tax took effect, state aid totaled $16,408,029.

"Since the cigarette tax was adopted, state school aid in New Jersey has increased $8,571,825," the association points out. "The cigarette tax is raising about $18,000,000 a year. Hence it would seem that the schools are failing by some $9,428,175 to receive the full revenue of the cigarette tax this year."

The statement holds that if the schools are getting all the cigarette tax revenue, some one should explain what has happened to the state school aid which the schools were getting in 1947-48 and which they apparently are not getting today. In answer to other claims by state officials, they point out that total state education expenditures have gone up only $10,617,521 since the cigarette tax was adopted.

Contending that there is an effective ceiling of about $25,000,000 on state school aid, the Education Association points out that since the cigarette tax was adopted, local school taxes rose from $113,000,000 to $149,000,000, an increase of $36,000,000.

They Must Have Something Extra

In another column of this issue, Centenary Junior College devotes a publicity release touting the marriageable qualities of its young lady graduates in comparison to other female sheepskin recipients who spend four years at institutions of higher learning. The edge, of course, is claimed by the Centenary queens, who statistically speaking, have been more successful trapping the unwary male into that state of confusion which leads to marriage.

All this, of course, may well start a roaring controversy. Unfortunately, Centenary's claim to fame in this department goes unexplained. That leaves it up to the reader to figure the answer. Is Centenary concentrating on the social amenities? Does the Hackettstown atmosphere give rosier complexions and eye-catching figures in two years? Or perhaps the answer is that two years of college is sufficient for the cuties from Centenary and they get out in the world quicker, where the male of the species is more abundant, and from a hitching standpoint, more desirable than the boys at colleges where it takes four years to finish.

Actually, a little fellow called Cupid can wreck havoc with those statistics. We've always felt that whether you have a B.A., B.S., M.A., Ph. D. or N.D. (no degree) if the love-bug bites, you're hooked, regardless of your Alma Mater. From what history tells us, Adam and Eve never cracked a book, but look where we are today.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

Was Stalin Talking to Us or for Home Consumption and to Assure His Red Puppets When He Gave His Pravda Interview?

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

It is evident from Stalin's interview with Pravda that the whole world is out of step but Joe.

No single individual in this world is more responsible for the war in Korea than is Stalin, yet, blandly, he accuses the United States of aggressive ambitions. Taken in that light, the Stalin interview can be written off as propaganda timed, apparently, to influence France, Britain and the United States as they prepare to reply to Moscow's recent proposal for a new four-power meeting to discuss, among other things, the intention of the western powers to rearm Germany.

There are two grave threats contained in the interview: firstly, Stalin did not mince words when he warned that if the United States and Britain reject Red China's proposals for ending hostilities in Korea, the war there can end only in a defeat of the "interventionists," meaning us, and, secondly, an indirect threat to pull out of the UN contained in Stalin's denunciation of it as "the bulwark created for preserving peace (which) is being turned into an instrument of war."

As for Stalin's attempt to deny Attlee's charge that Russia had not demobilized as the western powers had, the best U. S. intelligence survey would indicate that Russia today has 175 divisions in the field, plus its Polish, Czech, Rumanian, Bulgarian and Chinese puppet armies—not less than 260 divisions in all.

This is Stalin's first "interview" in two years, and we have learned from experience that Stalin-the-silent has a purpose whenever he breaks out in print. That explains why every foreign office around the world is rushing into print with its own interpretation of why he spoke and what he meant. Some of the explanations make sense, but others smack of whistling in the dark. In this "One Man's Opinion" the interview was printed for home consumption and for its effect in China and other satellite lands.

For Home Consumption

We never must write off the vital need of the Politburo in possessing a peaceful home front. Russia is engaged in the kind of aggressive expansion which, any day, might bring down the wrath of an alignment of powers upon her. Russians are like all of us; they would prefer to avoid another war. If the Politburo is to get the maximum effort from the Russian people, it must convince them that its cause is just and that the rest of the world is aiming to destroy Russia.

Not only inside of Russia is there a need of quieting mass fears. All is not too well behind the iron curtain as evidenced this past fortnight, when schisms in Communist leadership were manifest in Italy and in Czechoslovakia. In both countries Titoism is mushrooming and the defections are from Moscow-line Communism to the national brand. So serious have the defections become in Italy that the Italian Communist party's tough little secretary Pietro Secchia and the Communist labor leader Giuseppe di Vittorio are in Moscow this week for top-level consultations.

Schism in Italy

The major cause of dissent in Italy is Moscow's policy of aggression. Moscow-line Communists continue to go along with the Kremlin's pretension that war is not inevitable—just as Stalin said in his Pravda interview—despite the general knowledge that behind this false-front peace campaign Red armies are engaged in aggression on many fronts.

Tito Swings Over

Hitherto, Tito had insisted that Yugoslavia would not use her army unless directly attacked. During the weekend, Tito made a speech to the second party conference of his own Guards Division in which he announced a revision of policy. Because a localized war is hardly possible in Europe, he said, the Yugoslav armies would help resist an aggression against the whole of Europe.

Europe. In other words, Tito would be on our side if Stalin attacks Western Europe.

The defections in Italy and Czechoslovakia, along with a "spate of purges" which our own State Department pointed out this week, are plaguing Moscow at the same time that the Red Chinese army is unable to knock us out in Korea. As a matter of fact, Korea has proven once again that manpower alone cannot win wars. We are outnumbered almost 3-to-1 in Korea and yet we are slugging our way back up the peninsula.

Brains vs. Brawn

Our army in Korea is not the same small force of 20-year-olds who had yet to hear their first gunfire when the war began. We now have battle-trained veterans in line. We have enough planes on the job that on one day this week we made a record number of 711 missions, most of them in support of ground troops. We have plenty of our latest style tanks and self-propelled guns.

Our fire-power has increased to such an extent that on two successive days last week we claimed 10,000 Communist casualties a day. How long could an army stand up under such losses. Our campaign of attrition has taken us to the edges of Seoul, yet only a month ago our Communist foe had publicly threatened to shove us into the sea.

There was an extremely interesting but brief dispatch from New Delhi which quoted the Hindustan Times as reporting a gasoline famine in China where every private motor car has been halted to turn the entire supply of gasoline over to the Red armies in Korea. Mao, like Stalin in 1944, has found that it takes gasoline to move an army and to keep it supplied.

His Real Audience

So in this One Man's Opinion, Stalin was talking to Mao in China, to Klement Gottwald in Prague where the disappearance of ex-Foreign Minister Dr. Vladimir Clementis, a born Communist, was written off with the charge that after all these years he was
