COURT ACTION AS FIRMS CLASH ON INDUSTRIAL SITE

Conforti Seeks Performance Of Contract As Title Case Goes To Litigation

Conforti Engineering Company has instituted suit in Superior Court against the Container Equipment Corporation of Newark, it was announced this week by Elmer O. Goodwin, attorney for the Conforti firm. The action arose out of a charge by the Container concern that a defective title existed on property sought by them for an industrial site, owned by Conforti and located on Mill Street.

Through Max Schwartz, attorney for Container, the Newark firm, builders of packaging machinery, withdrew from a suit against the town of Belleville. Container and Conforti had joined in an action against the town, following a refusal by municipal authorities to grant a building permit.

A bank headline in last week's issue stated "Defective Title of Land for Building Site Ends Superior Court Case." This was incorrect, as it represents only a charge made by one of the parties in the action. The matter is now in litigation before Superior Court, Conforti Engineering seeking contract performance from Container Equipment Corp.

Following a refusal by municipal authorities to grant a building permit, Schwartz, last week, said Container had obtained an order dismissing its action against the town, but preserving the rights of Conforti.

Questions Title This was based, according to Schwartz, on a serious question of title to the land. He stated a mortgage was in existence on the property, which Container considered still open and a lien on the property. Schwartz said his client refused to accept title under the circumstances and had demanded the return of its deposit, which was refused by Conforti.

The property in question, Schwartz noted, had been bought by Conforti at a municipal tax sale.

VACATION SCHOOL CHURCH PROJECT

Daily Bible Classes This Summer Being Planned By Protestant Units

Protestant churches of Belleville are uniting to sponsor a Daily Vacation Bible School this summer. A committee of clergy and lay representatives met to work out the details. The school will be held at Montgomery Presbyterian Church every morning from 9:30 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. from June 18 through the 29th, with the exception of Saturday and Sunday. Transportation is being provided for pupils from each local church.

Professional leadership has been secured to direct and operate the school, and local teachers will be enlisted. Registration cards will be available soon for children and parents to indicate their interest.

The vacation church school movement is celebrating its fiftieth birthday this year. In that period millions of children have been reached with the Gospel story and led toward understanding and loyal membership in the church through their vacation church school experience. Among these children have been many thousands who, except for this experience, would have remained outside the reach of the church. Last year about 70,000 vacation schools were held in America, reaching over 5,000,000 boys and girls.

The curriculum and teaching material is produced cooperatively by many denominations. The theme for this year is "The Church." Any child in the community is welcome to attend.

Job Sends Girl On Way In Quest Of New Life

Marion Goodford, Given Suspended Sentence, On Two-Year Probation

A clean, new page in life opened for Marion Goodford this week. Her breezy, buoyant personality somewhat tempered by her recent experience, Miss Goodford picks up the rudely shattered pieces of her young life and begins putting them together again. Eminently wiser, she admits the incident has

Prison Wrought Change In Voegeler, Says Local Woman

Recalls Dining On Plane With American Businessman Out Of Hungarian Prison

A gaunt, pale and jittery Robert Voegeler, alighting from a plane in New York Tuesday, was a far cry from the vibrant, personable American businessman man that dined with a young Belleville mother and her children while flying across the Atlantic Ocean four years ago. Voegeler was released from a Red Hungarian prison last week after 17 months in the hands of the Communists, during which time he was subjected to the treatment that changed his entire personality.

Mrs. Henry C. Dugan, the former Anne Evangelista, who resides with her husband, Master Sgt. Henry C. Dugan and their two children at 10 Malone Avenue, recalled this week the occasion when she met Voegeler in December of 1946. The International Telephone and Telegraph executive, a key man in the gigantic firm's European network of communications, was on board the same overseas plane with Mrs. Dugan and Henry Clay Jr. and Janice, now 15 and 14, respectively. The Dugan family was bound for Austria to visit Sgt. Dugan, then a first lieutenant on occupation duty with the Army.

Little League Holds Tryouts

Several hundred youngsters from 8 to 12 years of age, hopeful of becoming another Bobby Feller, Joe Di Maggio or Pee-Wee Reese, will descend upon Clearman Field Saturday morning shortly after 9 o'clock to engage in the first workout of Little League baseball. Schools have been deluged with applications, indicating the degree of interest. The program, inspired by the town recreation department under the sponsorship of Public Parks and Property Director Elmer S. Hyde, is making its debut in Belleville. It has gained tremendous popularity throughout the United States.

The tryouts will be under the supervision of volunteers, comprising former ball players and parents of the candidates.

TB X-RAY UNIT IN NUTLEY SATURDAY

Visits Here May 12 and 14 For Free Service Opened By Christmas Seal Sale

"Take a deep breath, hold it! That's all." Over and over these words will be repeated in the Nutley High School Cafeteria's dining hall this Saturday as the operators click the camera to x-ray the chests of Nutley and Belleville folk at the annual free x-raying project to be held there from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis Association. This will be the first one of a three day program designed to cover both towns. Belleville High School will be the next location for the unit on Saturday, May 12th with Soho and Silver Lake stops scheduled for Monday, May 14th.

Cites Insignia

A small plastic, double barred cross, the registered trademark and symbol of the National Tuberculosis Association, designed for pinning to lapel or dress will be given to every one who is x-rayed during the three projects. Eugene Kelly, who is in charge of the x-raying program, said the wearing of these should help to remind those that see them of this important activity in the crusade for better health.

The need for an annual check-up, including a chest x-ray, increases with the years, Kelly avers, and while the periodic check-up of children to detect tuberculosis is mandatory in the schools, many parents tend to defer for the general adult population.

"As long as our sale of Christmas Seals warrant it," he said, "we will continue our annual free offer to all who live and work in Belleville and Nutley interested enough in their health to come for this very important service."

Elks Plan "Frontier Night" As Underprivileged Benefit

A "Frontier Night" has been planned by the Belleville Elks for May 12, as a means to raise funds to conduct the annual Christmas Party for underprivileged children. There will be dancing, games, prizes and refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoffman head the committee in charge of arrangements and are being assisted by Larry Pesa, Thomas McNeill, Victor Del Grosso, Steve Raleigh and Norman Lauterette.

NEWARK TO DROP CASE TODAY IN RATABLE TIFF

Compromise With Suburban Communities Promises End Of State Tax Appeal

Having worked out a compromise in the dispute with suburban communities over the percentages used in computing ratables, Newark is expected to appear before the State Division of Tax Appeals today and seek to withdraw its suit against 21 municipalities in Essex County. The appeal was slated to start Monday, but on the request of Newark the Tax Appeal unit agreed to postpone the hearing until today to give Newark an opportunity to pass a resolution rescinding the action that started the suit.

The agreement was reached following a conference called last week by Finance Director Ellenstein of Newark, prior to the beginning of the appeal. It has been agreed to appoint a committee of five to work out a formula enabling municipalities to reassess its real property on the same basis of value.

May Cost Town More

Newark officials estimate it will save their city about $280,000 annually in county taxes, when adjustments are worked out. It is probable the suburbs will have to absorb the $280,000, or whatever the ultimate figure is, by assessing ratables on a higher percentage. The pro-rata shares for the various municipalities have not been conceived, pending the determining of the formula by the committee.

Belleville, appropriating $6,000 in emergency funds for outside legal fees, had joined 12 other towns to battle Newark's charge. Noting the attitude of the suburbs, and taking the heavy cost of the appeal into consideration, were factors believed to have prompted Newark's desire to reach a compromise settlement. Town Attorney Keenan has been representing the town in all discussions.

Making His Mark

Rutgers Class Presidency to Belleville Youth Who Lost Hands in Accident in Chemistry Mishap

Heights Hospital, a world-famed center for amputees. It was never easy. Pain-wracked nights and days, on the heels of skin-grafting operations, preceded the fitting of artificial hands. How often the feeling of frustration descended only the youth will know, but with the prayers of his family and the surgical miracles of modern-day science, he conquered his handicap and returned to Rutgers to resume his studies.

Today, Anthony Iannarone, president-elect of the 1952 Rutgers University senior class. He has risen to a place of honor and plays a major role in campus activities. Last year, he was one of four junior students named to the Student Council and his presidential post in the graduating class automatically retains his seat on the council for another term. Anthony is a member of the Student Barbs and was elected to appear in the 1950-51 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

A graduate of Belleville High, Anthony was on the staff of the school newspaper and managed the high school basketball team. Prior to his accident at the college, he was a member of the cross-country and fencing squads. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Iannarone of 19 Tremont Avenue.

Students Aid Rowing Fund

High school students will stage a "Sack Dance" tomorrow night at the regular B-Hive session at the school gymnasium. All proceeds from the affair will go to the Belleville High Shell Fund, a campaign presently under way to raise money to buy the school crew an eight-oared shell.

The students, with the backing of the Student Council, made their decision to aid the campaign after a "pep" talk last week from Principal Hugh Kittle. He cited the splendid record of the oarsmen and told the student body the squad was deserving of its support. Contributions made at the dance Friday night will be turned over to Luther Van Pelt of the Peoples Bank and Trust Company, who is serving as temporary treasurer of the drive. Mac Lamb, former Belleville athlete, is chairman.

Annual reports were read by several chairmen of committees in the association during the annual meeting which reflected the steady advance being made in the field of tuberculosis prevention. Eugene Kelly, reporting as chairman of the Community X-ray Committee, reported that the largest attendance ever to participate in public X-rays marked last year's projects as most outstanding. Health Officers Fellers of Nutley and Berry of Belleville, chairmen of seal sales in their respective towns, reported 1951 sales topped all records of previous years.

These reports, according to Joseph Day, retiring president, were typical of all. We are definitely going forward surely and steadily, he said, with the best of prospects in sight for Mr. Kelly's regime.

BARBARA BASILE WED SATURDAY

Nutley Resident Becomes The Bride Of Luther Van Pelt Jr. In Franklin Reformed

The wedding of Miss Barbara Caryl Basile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Basile of 45 Chase Street and Luther Earl Van Pelt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Earl Van Pelt of 9 Forest Street, Belleville, took place last Friday night at the Franklin Reformed Church, Rev. Arthur Roosen-Raad, pastor, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, had as her maid of honor, her cousin, Miss Bernice Basile of Newark. Bridesmaids included two other cousins, Miss Gretchen Fredericks of Nutley and Miss Suzanne Kirkleski of Roselle and Mrs. Henry Burdock of Belleville, sister of the bridegroom.

Mr. Burdock served as best man. Ushers were Howard Fredericks of Nutley, Louis Van Pelt and Richard Peterson, both of Belleville.

A gown of Chantilly lace and marquisette was worn by the bride. Her fingertip-length veil was attached to a helmet of Chantilly lace and seeded pearls. She carried a single orchid on a Bible with a marker of Stephanotis.

The maid of honor was attired in a gown of violet pique with deep purple velvet contour belt. She wore a hat of matching veiling and violets, and carried yellow roses and violets.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of yellow pique and hats similar to those worn by the maid of honor. They carried violets.

When the couple return from their wedding trip they will make their home at 293 Chestnut Street.

The bride is a graduate of Nutley High School and Berkeley School, East Orange. The bridegroom was graduated from Belleville High School and is in the accounting department of the Public Service Coordinated Transport Company. He is a member of the National Guard, Essex Troop, 102nd Armored Cavalry.

Correction

In last week's issue of The Times-News, it was stated that J. Gordon Gant resigned as County chairman of the Republican party. Mr. Gant, of course, is not county chairman nor has he ever held the position. He was local chairman of the Belleville County Committee. He did not resign but his term expired, and according to Mr. Gant, for business reasons, he did not seek re-nomination. The Times-News regrets the error.

The sponsorship of the Belleville Foundation, announced that many of last year's staff has been retained, including "Janie", popular chef in charge of the food-dispensing department.

New fire-proof cabins were completed last year and the new improvement for the coming season is a refurbished dock and renovated swimming facilities.

HEINZE SHUT OUT BY H&G PINNERS

Dodge Has Good Series In Win Over Federal; High Series To Capezanno

The only shutout in the Belleville Manufacturers' "A" League was registered by Hanlon & Goodman over Heinze. The other matches saw Wallace & Tiernan, Dodge Inc., and Standard Arcutus register double wins over the Prudential A. A., Federal Leather and Nepeco. The Dodge-Federal Leather match afforded the best bowling scores with the trophy makers rolling a 2,632 series while Angelo Capezanno led Federal and the league with a 606 set topped by a game of 243 which was also high for the night. Joe Slanovits was best for Dodge with a 557 series. Tom Murphy showed no ill results from his accident as he returned to roll for Hanlon & Goodman and led his team with a 583 series as they swept Heinze.

Wallace & Tiernan had to come from behind and win in a roll-off the last game to take two from the Pru. Angie Molt anchored Wateo with 554 while Tom "V.P." Kietly paced the Pru with 531 topped by a game of 221. Standard Arcutus led by Bill Sandler with 534 upset Nepeco by winning the first and last games. Phil Dohn led Nepeco with a 562 series topped by a game of 234.

Driver Education Course

Driver education, a course in safe driving habits and methods, will be conducted again this year by the recreation department, it was announced this week by Parks and Property Director Hyde. The program is staged in cooperation with the American Automobile Association.

Popular demand has prompted Commissioner Hyde to institute the course again. Each class runs for two weeks with three hours theory and eight hours of road lessons. Courses will start about May 15 and registrations are now being taken at the Town Hall in the commissioner's office. All local residents are eligible to register.

Remember When

Five Years Ago

James J. Tully, Belleville commission candidate, supplied additional momentum to his already aggressive campaign by announcing that he had called upon the city of Newark to consider his proposal to release all or part of its 28 acre tract, extending from Belleville Avenue, opposite Belleville Park lands at a point between Columbus Avenue and Parkway Avenue, extending north to Joramemon Street, Tully, who had successfully injected Belleville's housing problem as a major issue of the campaign, disclosed the contents of a letter sent by him to the city of Newark, which was being considered by Director Meyer C. Ellenstein, whose department was in charge of the lands in connection with the Newark Water System.

Parks and Property Director Louis A. Noll announced further improvements in local bus service. He has been attempting to secure the additional service for some months and stated he had been informed by the Public Service Coordinated Transport that the new service would operate. For some time Commissioner Noll, after receiving complaints regarding evening service on the No. 37 line and after having a survey made by his department, was in touch with company officials stating that the citizens of Belleville would support and were entitled to additional service on this line. He was informed by Public Service officials that a ten day check by the company revealed that this additional service was warranted and it was agreed to operate this service.

Meyer Leitze, a liquor salesman, residing in Belleville aided in rescuing two children from a burning house in Asbury Park. While passing through the town Leitze assisted Lawton Lewis, owner of the burned home, in carrying two children from the blaze. According to the Asbury Park Fire department, which broke out in a chicken coop in the rear of the house. Three children of the Lewis's were in the bungalow at the time, and one of them ran to call his father, who was working nearby. The entire house was gutted and Lewis told firemen he lost $188 in money which he had hidden in the side walls.

April 27 to May 4 had been designated by the American Camping association as "Boy's and Girl's Camp Week." The local Girl Scout organization was highlighting this special week with an outdoor training activities course open to all leaders and troop committee members. The course emphasized skills in craft and pioneering, so that girls who went on hikes and trips as part of their troop's program during the year would more fully enjoy their summer camping activities. Safety regulations and policies, suggestions for gypsy trips, and training for week-end camping at Camp Kiny-Spree were included.

Ten Years Ago

Mayor Williams said that he hoped to confer with School Board President Herbert C. Schmutz and Ruel E. Daniels, the board's business manager, in an effort to arrive at some permanent arrangement for the use of the Tuff Bog Stadium by the school teams. He said he would also ask Commissioner Noll and Edward Lister, recreation director, to outline to him the program they were contemplating in which they would use the new field. The Mayor, who had been a silent sideline sitter in the controversy over which commissioner or what body would have control over the field, stepped to the fore and took control of the situation. Although the high school baseball team was scheduled to open its season there, it was far from ready four days before. Williams moved speedily into action, calling Commissioners King and Waters. King had charge of the relief department and of the shade tree department, while Waters supervised the engineering department, which included the street and sewer crews. Both promised their cooperation and within a few hours the Bog became a beehive of activity with trucks zooming in and out of the field for steam coal ashes and clay used on the diamond. Meanwhile, more than thirty men were busy smoothing

LIFE at BHS

As Our Teen-Agers See It

by SYLVIA and RHODA

The "mystery pedagog" of this month's Spotlight, as is most likely known by everyone now, is our ingenious Mr. Mattick. By the way, to contradict all the skeptics who said that a newspaper in Belleville High would have to fold up not long after it started, this is our fourth issue, we're still going strong, and there will be another before this school year comes to its close. Hail to the editorial, reporting, and typing staffs and to all the others who are making the Spotlight possible!

To return from our digressions, Mr. Mattick, the man who looks more like a college sophomore, is one of the best things that has happened to B.H.S. He is not only talented but also so enthusiastic that all of his proteges (band, twirlers, orchestra, etc.) can't help catching that enthusiasm. We don't know how many of you were there at the Demonstration Concert last Thursday night, but there was a good crowd—good in two ways: good in size and good in reception.

Versatile Group

Mr. M. was as casual as could be, but the music he and the orchestra came forth with wasn't so casual. In the program was a twirling routine with and without music. This was to give the parents an idea of how the instructor goes about teaching such routines.

Standing out in the band's repertoire was an orchestration of the impressionistic "Headline." Though the composition was written for musicians who are masters of their instruments, the kids did a fine job and Mr. Mattick lost a few pounds in the process of conducting. Adding more interest were the two ways in which a band number can be played—first, with just the notes, no expression; second, with all the life the composer intends.

Before someone says that we forgot—here's to Mr. Wertman and the grammar school band! They deserve a tribute for their efforts. It's a wonderful thing for those children to be beginning their musical training now. In that way they'll be those "masters of their instruments" by the time they reach high school.

Lots of Suggestions

We've returned to our old stand-by, the Inquiring Reporter question—Not because there's nothing new to say, but because this question happens to be very "appropriate" right now. This week we approached the "Man in the Halls" with the following query—"What one improvement would you like to see made in our Alma Mater?" Answers went like this:

Thomas Castucci, senior—"I'd like to see some musical of the popular musical assemblies. They seem to go over the best and everyone has a good time singing and/or listening."

"Other high schools have Student Day. Why can't we? It certainly proves the rules of democracy to set up a school faculty consisting of students for one day. And while we're at it, let's add a so-called Town Day, when the students of the local high school take over the municipal government for one day, and really learn about it 'live' instead of from a dry history book."

Evan Thomas, Jr., freshman—"In my opinion we could use new desks in a few of the rooms. Some of them are too small for us growing boys and others are just worn-out from being there so long. Also I'd like to see an assembly each week, if possible."

Charles Benfield, junior—"I don't think that track is pushed enough in this school. We have a good track team if one were started."

An anonymous junior—"Having come from another school, and a more active one at that, I feel that the students at B.H.S. don't take enough interest in their school and don't have the initiative to better it. The opportunities are here. Why aren't they used? Just for an example, why don't we have more of the student assemblies to show off the latent talent? I feel that we're lying down on our job, and we'd better perk up if we want to be proud of B.H.S."

There, you have it. Of course, we haven't hit some of the choice grapes, but use these few as food for thought, and see if something can't be done.

But don't get us entirely wrong. Improvements are being made daily. One can't help noticing the effective lighting in the auditorium of B.H.S. New spotlights have been installed, the kind that are used at the Roxy—Kiegl lights, (or something like that) and also we now have a new 20-circuit panel from which the lights are regulated. A professional atmosphere was lent by the orchestral spotlight. With new footlights we could have a set-up to equal that of Music Halls and stage any Broadway production whatsoever.

The garden is no longer mine; spring has taken over. Where the bulbs were protected with hands of reverent love, shrubs encased, the fountain stilled, spring has taken over. Now bright sparrows chip in the early dawn: this place is no longer mine; root, seed, vine climb to the warming sun—both spring and they are one.

School Bonds

Voters, in sparse numbers, voted approval of a $300,000 bond issue for school improvements Tuesday. The fact that only 150 registrants voted out of nearly 15,000 doesn't speak well for the electorate. Two interpretations can be placed on the one per cent turnout. It was either the usual local apathy in civic matters or a silent endorsement in favor of the project.

We would prefer to think it the latter. The program has been too long in coming. Improvements have been deferred by school boards reluctant to spend the money in past years. This reticence is being paid for now and it's only the beginning. The condition is little short of disgraceful when you remember there isn't a gymnasium in a single elementary school; some are without proper auditorium facilities and curriculum subjects, recognized as essential in many school systems, are missing because of a lack of suitable facilities.

Corrective measures are now under way, but it will be a long and costly period before Belleville's grade schools are brought up to modern standards.

A Bargain of Shame to Be Broken

Because Robert A. Vogeler was a vice-president of the International Telephone & Telegraph Corporation, the parent company of Federal Telecommunications Laboratory and Federal Telephone & Radio Corporation, his case strikes home to us.

As the American businessman reached a safe haven in the American zone of Austria he spoke a stirring condemnation of Communism as exercised by the Hungarian regime at the behest of the Kremlin, its master in crime. Arrested as "an American spy" while in Budapest on assignment from the export division of I. T. & T., he had been tried and sentenced to 15 years of prison, then freed after 17 months of solitary confinement after the United States Government had struck a bargain of shame.

In return for Vogeler's release from a trumped-up charge and conviction, the United States government agreed to meet Hungary's demands and made four major concessions:

1. Reopening of Hungarian consulates in New York and Cleveland.
2. Lifting of Washington's ban on travel in Hungary by American citizens.
3. Restoration of Hungarian property recovered in the American zone of Germany.
4. Alteration of the wave length of the Voice of America transmitter in Munich so as not to interfere with the Hungarian Communist Government's Radio Budapest's frequency.

Not only the concessions are inadmissible, but the method used by Secretary of State Acheson in bargaining with a criminal state is wrong. Alas, times have changed since the days when the United States sent a frigate and forced the pirates of the Barbary Coast into a respect of the American flag.

To what low level of diplomacy has Acheson sunk in striking his bargain with a regime which, to obtain its demands, does not hesitate to arrest and try an American citizen? To what low level of national honor has the Truman-Acheson regime sunk in the field of international relations to strike such a foul bargain?

If you strike a bargain with a burglar in your house, to get rid of him, you would be a fool if you kept it.

The United States government would be guilty of criminal folly if it kept this shameful bargain with Hungarian Communism.

Take the case before the United Nations. Have Hungary's red regime condemned as a criminal violator of international law, and then with that condemnation in the record, refuse to reopen the consulates or lift the travel ban. If it means keeping all Americans out of Hungary, keep them out. But keep all Hungarian "diplomats" out of America. Why, except to serve as Kremlin spies, would Hungarian Consuls return to Cleveland and to New York?

Serve notice on Hungary and on the Kremlin that American citizens are not bargain bait, to be arrested on trumped-up accusations. If our foreign policy is not morally bankrupt, we will haul Hungary before the judgment of the UN, but we will not keep a single one of the four degrading concessions of a shameful bargain. R. E. H.

Maybe He Can't Read

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing and Harry Truman is, constantly, living proof of the truth of that adage.

Insisting that there has been plenty of historic precedent for a President firing a five-star general, Mr. Truman told White House reporters at his weekly press conference that if they wished to brush up on their history, they should read President Polk's diary and they would find something interesting concerning Presidential relations with generals, and then, as dessert, they should read the book "Lincoln Fires a General".

Alas for Mr. Truman, there is no such book unless they made a special edition for Missouri where everything is stubborn and contrary. But on the library shelves is a book written by Harry Williams called "Lincoln Finds a General". Could it be that Harry reads only the titles, and not very well at that?

As for the Polk diary, we read that too. Naturally, our finding is just the opposite of that of the Missourian. As we read Polk's own daily entries, we concluded that he had acquired a distinct personal dislike for the hero of the Mexican war, General Winfield "Fuss and Feathers" Scott, and had fired him for both personal and political reasons.

That conclusion is not unique with us. The dictionary of American Biography (Vol. 16, Page 509) quotes General Robert E. Lee as saying that "after performing a military task of supreme magnitude, General Scott was turned out like an old horse to die".

The same source quotes Justin H. Smith on the subject as follows: "Scott... had done a large work and merited large treatment. But there was nothing large about the Administration. The confines of mediocrity hemmed it in."

Since the President invited the reporters to read their histories, perhaps it would be fair to use the same judgment of his firing of MacArthur: "... but there was nothing large about the Administration. The confines of mediocrity hemmed it in."

ONE MAN'S OPINION ...

Gromyko's Filibustering in Paris Is Maneuver as Kremlin, Keeping Free Hand in East, Seeks to Tie Our Hands in Europe

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

The filibuster of Paris proves conclusively that Russia intends to prolong the "Cold War", meanwhile tightening her hold on the economies of her satellites, intensifying Arab hostility to the Western powers in the oil-rich Middle East and feeding her Chinese allies enough tanks and guns to keep us pinned down in Korea - - unless, as MacArthur advises, we put in enough men to win or we pull out.

The deputies of the Big Four Foreign Ministers have been meeting in Paris exactly nine weeks. They met because Soviet Russia let it be known that Moscow felt there might be a basis of agreement on an agenda which might allow the Foreign Ministers themselves to get together and smooth out the rocky road of world relations. Nothing that he has shown since he arrived in Paris would lead even the most optimistic diplomat to believe that Gromyko was sent to Paris for any other purpose than filibustering.

Meanwhile has it ever occurred to you that Soviet expansion continues to move along at top speed and that the Kremlin's Red Imperialists now control 800,000,000 people, or 32 per cent of the earth's population. Under the Politburo's Minister of Foreign Trade Mikoyan, the Russians have looted, expropriated or otherwise accumulated $30,000,000,000 worth of goods from conquered areas. They have waged six wars since 1937 in the interests of this aggressive policy of imperialist expansion. Gromyko's filibustering is merely a time-gaining phase and is not a part of any sincere desire to patch up affairs with the West.

You may have noticed that Gromyko, in proposing subjects for the Big Four agenda, talks only about the Atlantic Pact's military menace, the American bases in Europe, the arming of West Germany. His topics all concern Europe; he never says a word about Korea or China or Indochina or Malaya. He turned his back on Asia. The answer is simple enough: the Kremlin would like to tie our hands in Europe by negotiating while refusing, at any price, to tie their own hands in Asia and the Middle East where they see rich loot, particularly oil, to be grabbed.

All For Russia

A meeting took place in Moscow last month which escaped much publicity in the world press, but which, none the less, fits as a key into the Kremlin's jig-saw puzzle of world policy. At that meeting delegates from China, East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary met with Soviet representatives and agreed on a plan of coordinated trade and economic relations.

At the same time, in Peiping, Russia and China signed an agreement to allow through railway traffic for freight and passengers. It all is part of the Kremlin's policy of knocking down political and economic barriers within the Communist world - to permit Mother Russia to spread out more easily.

In all this integration of economies and joint planning, the Soviet Union, belatedly, is trying to do behind the Iron Curtain what we have done through the Marshall Plan in France, Italy and other Western nations - develop their own potential so as to contribute jointly towards their common defense.

Skoda Furnishes Arms

The Kremlin is now trying to increase the military-economic potential of its East European satellites by raising their heavy industrial output. Poland and Czechoslovakia were heavily industrialized before and the Skoda factory in Bohemia was almost as important in the world armament industry as were Schneider in France and Krupp in Germany. Now Polish coal and steel is to be fabricated in Czechoslovakia for the common Communist war effort.

Just like any "capitalistic plutocrat", Red Russia is making plenty of money out of this master planning. Last year, for example, Russia lent Red China $300,000,000 to permit Mao to buy Russian wheat and oil. By tyranny, Russia "buys" the monopoly of the entire surplus of her satellites, bauxite in Hungary, crude oil in Rumania, coal and oil and steel in Poland and tobacco and other soil crops in Bulgaria. Then she sells those surpluses to other satellites and sets the price to suit herself. Czechoslovakia needs Polish or Rumanian oil and Hungarian bauxite and the only way she can get them is to allow Russia to market her output of heavy machinery.

No Competition

With the Iron Curtain effectively shutting us, as well as the French, the Dutch, Italians, Belgians and British out of the markets of Eastern Europe, Russia is free to regulate the trade without competition. The day that Europe is wholly at peace and political barriers are down, Russia cannot hope to compete with the capitalist countries in free markets. Do you understand, now, why Gromyko is filibustering to gain a few more years for Russia to scrape off the cream?

By establishing the "arsenal of Communism" in Eastern Europe, under her own control, the Russians can also feed their satellites the exact dosage of arms and ammunition they feel is safe. In that way they can prevent any neighboring country in the red fringe from ever getting its hands on enough modern war material to fight for its own independence.

Just Opportunists

Thus the Russians have proven themselves cynical opportunists, out to make an easy dollar the easy way. So long as they can stall their way, politically, to prolong their economic hegemony, they will do it. That's why, in Paris, Gromyko concedes a point here or there; next day he withdraws it and announces that he must consult Moscow again for fresh instructions. Filibustering, just like we played the game in the Senate many years ago.

Look back to the uncertainty of two years ago, the period of the Berlin Airlift. Look back just one year ago to the invasion of South Korea. We were not ready either time. Now, we are, at least, sharing the driver's seat. The next six months will be crucial; once they are passed, if we have had no war we will have the situation under control.

Time Works For Us

By Autumn, four new American divisions will be stationed in Germany. New weapons now being tried out in battle in Korea will be in mass production and their stockpiling will start in Western Europe. General Eisenhower said last week that "by the end of the Summer" we will have 30 to 40 Allied divisions which could meet any possible Soviet aggression. Above all, we have given France, Italy, Britain and the lowlands a "will to defend" and now that we are setting West Germany on her feet, as an equal and a friend and not as a conquered enemy, Russia has reason to fear.

We can expect, therefore, a prolongation of the cold war. We must be prepared to see a Gromyko filibuster his way as long as possible, but each week that passes, now, slices a bit more off the danger of war.

The high voltage lines which traverse the area served by Public Service and which connect the company with neighboring utilities in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania are an integral part of the equipment which lies behind your switch.

More than 1600 giant steel towers carry approximately 1200 miles of high voltage wires which are required to transmit electricity from generating stations to switching stations and substations.

Public Service has expended many millions of dollars in transmission and distribution lines to bring electricity to your switch. These expenditures of millions of dollars were made to expand our electric facilities to meet the present and future needs of the people of New Jersey.

Looking Back at SPORTS

Five Years Ago

The Wallace & Tiernan Inter-Department Bowling League rang down the curtain on their eighth successful season with a dinner at the Robin Hood Inn, Montclair. There were sixteen 5-man teams in this league. First place was won by the Lathe department. Second place was highly contrasted with a fight-to-the-finish by the Tool department and the Engineers. The Tool department finally finished in second place, one game ahead. The high individual average was held by Art Ecker, 177.86. High game was rolled by Thomas Grant, 256. Mrs. Grant was president of the Union. Mr. William J. Orchard attended the dinner and distributed the prizes.

With the Wood Choppers widening their lead and the Atomic Bombers trimming the Holy Rollers for three straight, there was no change in the Grace Baptist bowling league scramble.

By virtue of a three-game sweep from Team No. 9, the leadership in the Fewsmit Men's club bowling race went over to Team No. 6. Right behind the slim margin held by the leaders came Team No. 2 with No. 8 trailing in third place. If the latter could grab the remainder of their games by the end of the season, they would have an outside chance of coping the title.

Ten Years Ago

Like many other women, the feminine section of the Petrean Club grew tired of hearing the menfolk criticize and give opinions on what the well dressed women should wear. It came to a showdown when at the monthly social a number of the hairy chested (so-called) he-men (so-called) members were inveigled into showing what the well slapped together male would look like in the well dressed woman's clothes. Modelling everything from bathing suits to evening gowns in the latest spring and summer styles, the male models had the club members in the aisles. The "attractive" models were James Monaghan, Joe Dillon, Ed Byron, John Monaghan, Joe Higgins, Myles Monaghan, Mike Dacey, Bernie Ware, John Sullivan, Andrew Monaghan, Bill Liebman and Chet Davis.

Ten Years Ago

The Cardinal A. C. had stepped off to a fast start in the baseball campaign, slamming out a 2-3 win over the Hawks and showing the final drive to break a tenth-inning tie with the Orelas to win 11-10. With Dunlevy and Finn leading the onslaught with four hits each, the Cards piled up an early lead against the Orelas, but between the fifth and eighth innings the Orelas went to work on pitchers Petrella and Zakutney for a total of ten runs which knotted the game at 10-10. For a half inning the Orelas were out in front but Hanly banged out a timely single that tied the score again. In the tenth inning it was the same Hanly who, with a man on second, blasted a double that broke up the ball game.

A well-conditioned Bellboy track team, spurred on by brilliant efforts in the middle distances, triumphed over South Side of Newark in its initial meet of the track season at Weequahic Park. The final count was 53-45. Clean sweeps of the points in the 220-yard dash and half mile events enabled the boys to overcome a thirteen-point deficit which South Side held at one time. Three Bellboys, Johnnie Walker, Dan Del Tufo and Harold Ross placed in two events. Walker's efforts, especially were brilliant. It marked the first time he ever ran in a competitive high school meet. Coach Wilho Winkaka foresaw a bright track future for the boy if he continued to train. His first in the 220 and his second in the 100-yard dashes contributed eight valuable points to the fifty-three point total.

Without proper ceremony to mark the event, without even a celebrity to throw out the first ball, the high school nine inauspiciously opened the 1941 baseball season at the town's half-million dollar Turf Bog Stadium. Only a good-sized handful of spectators, most of them high school rooters, were on hand to witness the unceremonious christening of the new athletic plant as Coach Larry Gates' green Bellboy nine pounded out a 9-8 win over the Irvington Vocational School team.

The Belleville High golfers suffered their first setback when they lost to the Verona High nicks artists 7-5. Nick Calicchio and Orlando Paterno scored the locals' five points. Low scores for the Bellboys were made by Paterno and "Farmer" DeFuria, both of them carding 84's.

The Pittsburgh Minors were hard pressed to win their inaugural game 4-3 from the Jolly B. B. C. at Emerson. Starting their twelfth season, the Minors found that they had drawn a tough customer for an opener in the Hudson County nine. Trailing 3-0 at the start of the eighth inning, the Minors capitalized on a break to send all of their runs across the plate in that inning.

Fifteen Years Ago

Belleville High's opening day baseball celebrations at No. 7 school were extremely satisfactory as the local balltossers, with Bus Gauspohl toting the rubber, turned in a smart 3-2 win over Dickinson High School of Jersey City. The Bellboys exhibited a clever brand of baseball to their loyal group of rooters, probably for the reason that they wished to show the board of education that they deserved a better playing field, and in addition for their mentor, Frank Smith, who incidentally also deserved credit for developing such a spirited club.

In spite of a 50-31 setback by an experienced East Side High School track team at Independence Park, Newark, the Blue and Gold tracksters gave a representative performance in their first venture into the field of a new sport. The Blue and Gold, despite only a few weeks practice, placed first in four events and second in two other events. "Stretch" Lightbody led the locals, placing first in the mile and half-mile runs. Ray White broke the tape first for Belleville in the 100-yard dash, while Frank Brown captured the 400-yard dash. The locals, in fact were highly successful in the 400-yard dash for in addition to Brown's triumph, Cooke and McKay placed second and third respectively, enabling Belleville to sweep the event.

Before approximately 2,000 spectators, the Belleville Night Owls defeated the Model Sportsmen by the score of 5-4 in the opening game of the season at Edison Field. The Owls came through in the sixth stanza to annex their winning runs. The local club slapped the offerings of Buck Weaver of the visitors for five safeties to scratch up the like number of runs. "Butch" Obert turned in the Owl's victory, limiting the Newarcker's to but five hits and striking out three.

The Belwood A. A. scored its third victory of the season by defeating the Fulton Club of Newark by the score of 17-4. Tom Stockton, hurling his first game of the season, pitched shut-out ball for six innings after Pridatkov, the starting pitcher had allowed the visitors four runs through poor control. Stockton was in fine form allowing only two hits and chalking up eleven strikeouts. Fredericks with four hits, Matthews and Stockton with three hits, and Sanok with a triple led the Belwood hitting attack.

Twenty Years Ago

A ninth-inning rally just falling short of tying the score, Belleville High's baseball stand-bearers were forced to accept their second defeat of the season at Clearman Field. Clifton High, arch basketball rivals, were the despoilers of the afternoon, a late eighth-inning rally giving them the game by a narrow 8-7 count. In arrears in the last half of the ninth frame, and with the Clifton pitcher, Lennon, getting more effective with each succeeding inning, things looked black for the Blue and Gold. Dobrowski and Riccio, the first two Belleville batters, were easy victims of Lennon's curves. "Mac" Lamb, who had collected two hits during the course of the afternoon, added a third with a crashing single to right field. A wild throw by Miller, the Clifton third baseman, on Jerry Bonavita's grounder moved Lamb to third and gave Bonavita a lift. With the result of the game hanging on his bat, Charley Christell hit hard to second, only to be tossed out

American Legion Auxiliary 105 Has Change In Meeting Nights

A change in the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 105 meeting nights to the second and fourth Thursdays in each month, starting May 10, has been announced. Group convenes in the Recreation House in Joralemon Street.

The nominating committee will present the slate of officers for the coming year at the regular business meeting on May 10. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

on an extremely close play to end the game.

Johnny Leonard, well-known local ball-tosser, displayed his athletic versatility in the state handball tournament at the Newark Y. M. C. A. Against the pick of the state in Class A handball ranks, Leonard easily survived the first round of the tourney. At the start of the second round, however, Leonard struck a snag in the person of Eddie Dreher, the winner of the state Class B title the year before. Dreher's more seasoned volleying, the high-light of the tourney, proved too much for Leonard, who succumbed after a hard battle.

Belleville High's second-string baseball nine travelled to Kearny, and received at 3-1 defeat at the hands of the Kearny High Jayvees, in a fast seven inning tussle. Dave Aker of the Blue and Gold and Schultz of Kearny hooked up in a neat pitchers battle, that was as evenly matched as it was brilliant. Two innings, the first and second, proved the undoing of the local slab artist. He handed out five hits and all three runs in that shaky get-away. For the remainder of the game he was invincible, shutting out the Kearnyites and striking out seven of their batters.

Industrial Consultant Speaks On "Office Cost Control"

"Office Cost Control" was the topic discussed by Clifton H. Cox, president of his own industrial consulting company, at a dinner meeting of the Newark Chapter, National Association of Cost Accountants, held last Thursday in the Robert Treat Hotel.

Stating that American Business wastes approximately $8,000,000 annually as a result of wasteful office methods, Cox pointed out how management can reduce this office inefficiency by instituting a program of "Work Simplification." He outlined and demonstrated the procedures he has used for successfully reducing office waste, and emphasized how accountants can aid businessmen in reducing the cost of office functions.

SPOTLIGHT

on SPORTS

by Warren Knight

From the way the applications are rolling in, Little League baseball won't be lacking for candidates Saturday when the first workout is slated to get under way. A rough count from five of the 11 schools in town resulted in 173 embryonic diamond stars signing up for the Little League and there should be close to 300 eager-beavers on hand at 9:30 a. m. Saturday at Clearman Field. That adds up to a lot of work for the volunteers who will take the youngsters into town as the weeding process begins.

Every effort will be made to divert the interest shown into a useful channel. There are bound to be some disappointed youngsters for two reasons. The program is being started on a modest basis and it's through the generosity and foresight of Commissioner Hyde's department of recreation that the league is coming into being. There will be four teams, with uniforms, catching equipment and bats and balls supplied by the recreation department. That places a limitation on the loop personnel but the material will be seeded as carefully as possible.

If there are enough boys with promise left over after the league teams are chosen, a plan is being devised to form "farm teams". This means a separate loop will be organized, to play on the nights the regular league games aren't scheduled. The clubs will not be uniformed, but would operate the same as the league teams.

The kids have shown they are interested in Little League and want to play baseball. This program, once it starts, catches on like wildfire and it could well be the greatest thing to hit town, baseball-wise, in the last generation. One provision places a question mark on its ultimate success or failure. To succeed, adult co-operation and supervision is a requisite. Inasmuch as every parent has to sign the preliminary application, the fathers have to be aware of its existence. There are plenty of jobs to be done. Umpires, team managers, scorekeepers, groundskeepers, all these spots must be filled by adults willing to give up some time and exercise a little effort. Is it worth it, to teach your own son and sons of your neighbors, how to play our great American pastime, and perhaps start him on the way to the major leagues and a lucrative career? We think it is. Time will tell whether others agree with us.

Scholastic baseball, according to our observations and those of some of the more prominent umpires of the school-boy games, has taken a nose-dive in the calibre of play. It may be just a cycle, and we hope it is, but it's sometimes pitiful to watch the current crop of diamonders try to make like a baseball player. Some are so woefully lacking in fundamentals that it's unbelievable. They throw to the wrong bases, have little knowledge of the inside phase of the game and errors in astronomical figures are written into the box scores.

In many communities, the blame must be shifted on the lack of a program or facilities to carry one out. Of course, to many of the oldtimers, that "program" will bring forth a hearty chuckle. In yesteryear, there were no programs. If you wanted to play ball, there was always a team around that could use a man and always a corner lot or field where a game could be played. There was no television, cars were a luxury and if you bothered with girls you were a sissy. Nowadays, if the kids don't have a hot-rod of their own to tour the town, the family buggy is always available. And if you're not going steady by the time you are 15, you are a virtual social outcast.

There are towns that have instituted good baseball set-ups and its paid off. Irvington, with a long term in American Legion play, is always a powerhouse. The same goes for South Orange and Maplewood, with Columbia High benefitting by an expansive diamond project that includes Little League and grade school teams. Nutley joined the Legion brigade a year ago, but won't reap any dividends for a while. Belleville has a grammar school league, but with only a limited schedule, the youngsters don't play enough. The proposed Little League really hits them young, but some day, if high school coach Ed Berlinski is still tutoring the schoolboys, he'll offer a silent vote of thanks for building future material to staff his team with.

So it goes. Baseball is getting a good injection of enthusiasm from many directions. Take a look at Clearman Field any afternoon. Kids are all over the place. With a little organization, they'll learn to play the game according to fundamentals.

Belleville's undefeated golfers, with two solid victories in the bag, moved into fast competition yesterday at Blair Academy. Coach Jitty Wische took Captain Jim Di Piro, Charlie Tatz, Charles Schwein, Ernest Ferrara and Walt Haslam to the Jersey prep school that is a perennial power in the pasture marble pastime. Blair boasts its own 18-hole layout and it will be a real treat for the Bellboys to spend the day at the Academy. This shapes up as another good season for Belleville. Bloomfield was taken 12-6 at Forest Hills and Millburn handed a 15-0 drubbing recently at the beautiful Baltusrol course. Di Piro, with a 78 at the latter private club, has been playing good and often brilliant golf. No. 2 man, Charlie Tatz, Met junior open champ last year, is keeping his head down, too. Whether the team has the depth to be a threat in the state titular chase is debatable, but there won't be many teams taking the Bellboys in match play on the schedule.

GYM CLASSES FOR GALS EXTENDED

Elmer S. Hyde, director of the Belleville Recreation Department and Parks and Public Property, announces an extension of one month's time on the Housewives' Holiday and Businesswomen's classes held in the girls' gymnasium at the High School. The course will end on Thursday, May 24th.

These special courses combine fun and healthy exercise and classes are held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The extension dates are Tuesday May 1st and 8th and Thursday, May 17 and 24th.

Miss Marie Petillo, of Belleville, a physical education student at Panzer College, is in charge. The program is offered free of charge and is sponsored by the Belleville Recreation Department. For enrollment call the Recreation Office Belleville 2-3142 or stop at the High School Gym.

Five Games In Eight Days Poses Big Job For Bellboys

Short Of Hurlers, Berlinski Hopes For Batting Outburst To Meet Top Foes

The roughest week on the Belleville diamond schedule looms for Ed Berlinski's charges, beginning yesterday with Lyndhurst. This afternoon, at the Municipal Stadium, Columbia's highly rated Cougars make their debut on the slate. Next Monday, West Side is entertained here and with barely time to catch a breath, the Bellboys shove off the next day for a return joust with Passaic. To cap the strenuous eight-day spread, Nutley will play host to Belleville at Park Oval one week from today.

That's a lot of baseball, particularly for a team shy in any mound talent. It means a big load for Bob Dilworth, Jim McConnell and Harry Daniels, the only three hurlers with any experience, and they have to be downright generous to call McConnell and Daniels experienced. Both show promise, but are getting their first taste of varsity baseball this year.

Hurling Duel Likely

Dilworth, ace of the squad, with any support from his mates on the offense, will be a tough dose for the visiting Cougars to swallow. The guests may counter with Jack Burke, their star southpaw. Burke has been compared to Montclair's Gus Keriazakos, now in Class A baseball, but the Cougar lefty is inclined to fatal streaks of wildness. If he has his control, there are few peers in the county. His batterymate, Al Lauber, rates as one of the best backstops in the state.

West Side should not be a puzzle for the locals. The Rough Riders have been smacked all over the place this year and McConnell or Daniels could notch this one. Passaic, already victor over Belleville by a 1-0 count earlier this year, will be even tougher on their home grounds.

It's probable that Berlinski will hold Dilworth out of the Monday or Tuesday fray to keep him in good shape for Nutley, although he may work a couple of frames on Monday. Dilworth will be a real problem for the Maroonmen, with his tremendous speed. His effectiveness will be enhanced by the well-raised Nutley mound, too.

TIGHT PITCHING DUEL WON BY BLOOMFIELD NINE

Bengals Cop 2-1 Decision In Spite Of Fine Job By Jim McConnell

Despite an excellent, three-hit pitching stint by Jimmy McConnell, making his varsity mound debut, Belleville dropped a 2-1 decision to Bloomfield Friday at Foley Field. It was McConnell's misfortune to run up against the Bengal ace, Johnny Bukowski, who tossed a two-hitter at the Bellboys. Bukowski has won all three of the decisions posted by the Bloomfield nine this year. It was Belleville's second setback against a single victory.

The Bengals sewed the contest up in their first turn at bat. With one out, McConnell gave up a pass to Allie Barrow. The Bellboy hurler set down Bob Pascal but delivered a fat one to clean up hitter Tony Sarno, who teed off for a homer to deep center field. After that, McConnell settled down and had the home team eating out of his hand.

Bukowski, meanwhile, was strictly stingy with his offerings and was in no danger until the fourth, when Belleville tallied. An error allowed Charlie Travers to reach first safely and he advanced on Mike Del Tufo's infield single. Roger Hansen came through with another safety to score Travers, but with the tying and winning runs on first and second and no outs, the Bellboys were unable to move their across the plate.

In the seventh, Belleville had the tying run on base, but Bukowski kept the lid on to rack up the verdict.

BELLBOYS RACK FIRST VICTORY, TRIM EAST SIDE

Raiders' Miscues, 11-Hit Out-pur Gives Locals 9-7 Triumph

Taking advantage of six East Side miscues and pounding out 11 hits, Belleville chalked up its initial win of the 1951 season last week, triumphing 9-7. A big five-run uprising in the bottom of the fifth at the Stadium provided the Bellboys with the necessary margin to achieve victory. Bob Dilworth, relieving Jim Daniels, received credit for the win.

After taking a 3-2 lead at the end of the third frame, the Bellboys gave up a pair of tallies to the Red Raiders in the fourth and lost the edge. But they bounced back in the fifth and Tommy Nisvicia started things off with a booming triple. Tom Oleski, Raider third sacker, booted Roger Hansen's bounder and Nisvicia came across. Vin Vitelli rapped out a single and when Hansen tried for third, Oleski allowed the ball to get away, Hansen scoring and Vitelli dashing to third.

Singles Run Home

Dan Cuomo worked hurler Joe Abood for a pass and immediately stole second. On a rap to Oleski off the bat of Sammy Graziano, the Raider third sacker heaved wild, allowing Vitelli and Cuomo to score and Graziano to chug into second. Mike Del Tufo then rapped a safety and the Bellboy's short-stop scored the fifth run.

East Side threatened in the top of the sixth. Two free tickets and a hit batsman loaded them up and a felder's choice accounted for one run. Frank Bobowski singled for another and an error by Vitelli sent No. 3 for the inning over the platter. At this point Dilworth settled down and whiffed the next two batters.

Hansen and Nisvicia, each with triples and two safeties apiece, led the attack on the Raiders.

Bellboy, Maroon Crews Vie In Hudson Regatta Saturday

Three New York Schools Host At Poughkeepsie In Five, Four-Shell Events

Nutley and Belleville crews, riding the crest of a fine season to date, shove off for Poughkeepsie and the Hudson River Saturday, where they will engage a trio of formidable New York schools. Poughkeepsie, Arlington and Roosevelt High Schools will square off against the Jersey visitors on the famed regatta course in four events.

There will be no eight-oared competition, all the races involving four-shells with a coxswain. Coach Bill Bennett will send his strongest oarsmen into the boats in an attempt to knock off the home crews.

Varsity Fours Tangle

Arlington, Roosevelt and Belleville meet in the fourth race, the varsity four event. The Blue and Gold oarsmen will have a tough crew in the water and should prove a real handful for the home boys to handle. Jim Kant will coxswain the boat and Harry Breckenridge will be stroke.

Porterfield Expected To Kansas City By New York Yankees

Bob Porterfield, New York Yankee hurler who resides on Forest Street, was sent to Kansas City on option by the Yankees this week. Porterfield, used principally in relief roles, will get more work with the Blues. He has been unable to hit his stride since a series of mishaps sidelined him last season.
