34 Other Employees To Receive $200 Wage Boosts Next Year

One hundred and forty-five teachers and principals in the Belleville school system get automatic salary adjustments ranging upwards from $150, and totaling $77,000 through the adoption, by the Board of Education on Monday night, of a resolution that places all the teachers and principals on the proper step of their salary guides.

Charles Yocum, teachers' committee chairman said that until Monday night the board had a salary guide but that only 46 of its employees were on their proper step.

In recommending the adoption of the resolution, Mr. Yocum explained that while the payroll increases appeared costly to institute, they will prove their worth next year, because when new teacher contracts are issued, about one-half the staff will be at the maximum and will not be entitled to further increases.

The board also adopted a resolution which grants its janitors, maintenance men and office help $200 wage increases. There are 34 persons covered by this resolution.

Following through on the authorization to float bonds for improvements, voted on May 1 on referendum, the board voted to issue $300,000 in 10-year bonds. The bonds will mature at the rate of $30,000 per year and will be payable at the Peoples National Bank in denominations of $1,000 each.

The board will spend $229,000 of the money for improved sanitary facilities and for new lighting fixtures, students' desks and blackboards; $32,500 for a new oil heating system; $25,500 for play area improvements and $13,000 for new tile ceilings.

Two new teachers were appointed, Miss Ethel Claire Mulcahy, who will replace Mrs. Ethel Kapp, high school Latin teacher, in September, and Miss Marie Garuto, who will be a primary grade teacher.

Injures Ribs In Fall From Galloping Horse

Miss Ruth Shannon, 25, of 28 Bremond Street, suffered rib injuries and a bruised hip, Tuesday, when she fell from a galloping horse, while riding along the old Morris Canal towpath, near St. Thomas the Apostle Church in the Brookdale section of Bloomfield. Miss Shannon, her sister Jean and Robert Pralle of 26 Mertz Avenue, had rented horses from Stanley Mitten's riding academy at 20 West Passaic Avenue, Bloomfield, a short time previously and were riding single file along the narrow path. She fell off her horse, "Jeep," and was fortunate that the animal stopped as soon as it found it was riderless. She was not stepped on nor was she dragged along. She was taken to the Mountsinai Hospital in the Bloomfield Police Ambulance and released after treatment.

Hold Relative For Criminal Assault Charge On Local Woman

A Bloomfield man was held without bail for the Grand Jury last week on charges of criminally assaulting his sister-in-law in her apartment. Magistrate Smith ordered Stanley Kojewski of 150 Orchard Street, Bloomfield held after a complaint filed by Mrs. Helen Weiss of 16 Howard Place.

According to police, Mrs. Weiss said she met her brother-in-law in a tavern at Mill Street and Union Avenue. He had taken her home and entered the apartment on the pretense of having a drink. Mrs. Weiss said he assaulted her there. Her husband, Robert, was at work at the time.

"Les Preludes" H. S. Concert Theme

Music Department Will Present Spring Effort On Friday, May 25

"Les preludes—a philosophical reflection rather than an explicit program" is the theme of the annual spring concert of the Belleville High School music department, in the high school auditorium, Friday, May 25.

With the various emotions and phases of life—youth, love, jealousy, the coming of old age, death, etc.—as their mode expression the A Capella Choir, chorus, band, orchestra, dance groups, boys ensemble, and many soloists will undoubtedly perform as only those so well directed by Samuel Peck and Herbert Mattick can perform.

Jeanne Lewis as narrator will set the atmosphere of the program selections with "Les Preludes" from Meditations Poetiques by Lamartine.

Among the groups are: The perennial Baker's Dozen singing such selections as Jerome Kern's "Make Believe" and "Les Preludes" by Franz Liszt; the dance groups, doing "I Left My Hat in Haiti" by Lane and Lerner; "Dance of the Hour" by Ponchielli and "Skip to My Lou" accompanied by the choir. The male quartet will sing "The Stars in Heaven" by Rheinberger. Dave Gruman and Warren Kimble will give their impression of the Charleston.

Featured soloists include the pianist, Harry Valante, Judy Cohen and Joan Napolitano; Gail Howe, soprano; Robert Priet, tenor; and John Sorrentino, baritone. Madeline Zaidig will do a violin solo—Gade's beautiful "Jealousy."

Wayne Parmer's Retirement Accepted By School Board

Cites Health In Letter; Completes 20 Years Here; 46 Years In School Work

Wayne R. Parmer, superintendent of schools since July 1, 1931, in a letter to the Board of Education at a special meeting Monday night announced his intentions to retire from his $10,000 per year job, effective August 1, because of his health. The letter was read by Charles Yocum, teachers' committee chairman. The board voted "with deep regret, but with a complete appreciation of Mr. Parmer's health" to grant him his retirement.

Mr. Parmer, who suffered a heart attack last year, and who recently returned to his office at School No. 8, although not completely recovered, set the August 1 retirement date, "in order to be able to conclude reports for the school year."

His complete letter read by Mr. Yocum follows:

"The condition of my health seems to indicate the wisdom of retirement from my position as Superintendent of the Public Schools of Belleville. In order to be able to conclude the local, county, state and national reports for the school year, which require the return of our registers from our own State Department of Education, sent to them at the end of the school year, I should like to set my retirement date as of August 1, 1951."

"May I assure you that I shall be glad to assist you in any way that you may desire my help both as to securing my successor and as to helping him become familiar with the many problems incident to the opening of the schools in September."

"I thank each member of the Board sincerely for your kind co-operation and consideration during the years I have had the pleasure of working with you."

"Naturally I shall want to retain my residence in Belleville and contribute as a private citizen to its welfare in every way I find it possible to do so. You may be assured that as a

Wayne R. Parmer, who Made Progress Against Heavy Odds, Ends Career

Wayne R. Parmer's 20-year tenure as supervising principal of the Belleville school system has been one of tremendous progress against heavy odds. That he surmounted those odds and has paved the way for easier going by his successor there is little doubt.

Coming to Belleville in 1931 from Jenkintown, Pa., at the Board of Education's request he did not even have an opportunity to visit the schools before the year's contract became effective. Maybe that was a wise decision on the part of the board, for coming as he did from a very progressive school system, Mr. Parmer was appalled at the regimentation in the Belleville schools, a regimentation which reached so far down in the school system that the children had to walk out of the classrooms lock step and holding hands, and talking absolutely forbidden.

Mr. Parmer's first problem was to rid the school system of fear and replace it with a democratic spirit of co-operation, wherein each person was treated as an individual. This called for the formation of parent-teacher and home and school groups, a movement which has paid dividends in Belleville as it has elsewhere.

Belleville's schools were supplied with text books for the various

WARDENS TO TAKE COMPLETE CENSUS

Information Important To Town's Civil Defense Council

The Belleville Civilian Defense Council, under the direction of James Leonard, Director of Warden Services, is taking a census of every house in Belleville. This work is done by the Block Wardens under the supervision of their respective zone leaders. The information made available by this census is extremely important to calculate the needs and extent of Civilian Defense protection in the Community. It will also indicate the number of workers necessary to fully staff the various services and to estimate the needs in event of an attack.

About two months ago kitchen cards were distributed to each home. If such cards were not received, or if the Block Warden did not check your home, please write to the Belleville Civilian Defense Council, Town Hall, Belleville, New Jersey, or telephone Belleville 2-2100.

The citizens of Belleville are urged to give their full cooperation to this very important operation.

When the staff of The Ithacan, the Ithaca College newspaper, was organized recently for the academic year 1951-52, Gwendolyn Grush, was elected secretary.

STATE BALKS PLAN TO ROUTE TRUCKS TO MAIN STREET

Fears Upsetting Of Natural Traffic Balance On Roads

Arnold H. Vey, traffic engineer for the N. J. Motor Vehicle Department, informed Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan, that his department does not favor the rerouting of trucks from Washington Avenue to Main Street, as proposed by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. In a letter to Commissioner Sullivan, Mr. Vey pointed out that the Highway Department is of the opinion that despite heavy traffic on both roadways, during the peak hours, there exists a natural balance of use by traffic on the two roadways in question.

"The diversion of truck traffic from one roadway to the other would destroy this balance and possibly create further congestion on the roadway to which the trucks were diverted," Mr. Vey's letter said.

A copy of Mr. Vey's letter was referred to L. Thomas Von Nessel, president of the Chamber of Commerce, which had recommended to the Belleville commission more than a year and a half ago that the diversion be put in force. Again in November the chamber, represented by Sidney Browne, reiterated its recommendation and at that time Mr. Sullivan promised to take the matter up with the Motor Vehicle Department.

MARTIN BUCCO NAMED EDITOR

Local Youth, Elected To Top Post On College Paper, Receives Scholarship

Martin Bucco, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bucco of 63 Preston Street, was recently elected editor-in-chief of the New Mexico Highlands University "Candle," the institution's 30-year-old newspaper, by the student senate upon the recommendation of the publications board. A student functionary, the editorship carries a $500 scholarship payable in monthly installments beginning in June.

Mr. Bucco, a junior and transfer student from Rutgers University, came to Las Vegas in the Fall of '49, and since then has served on the "Candle" as reporter, columnist, and associate editor. He was also employed this past year by with our initial zone strategy board program as previously planned. Then, having perfected this basic organization phase of civil defense, proceeded further in the field of special information and training, necessary to combat germ and chemical bombing attacks.

"Recently our commissioner of parks and public property issued a plan for funds to augment his department's appropriation for a Fourth of July celebration. Prior to the newspaper appeal, many of my friends and other citizens received letters to this effect. I think such an appeal is in keeping with the patriotic nature of July 4. However, I feel that the thousands of dollars to be spent on that day for mere entertainment would serve a far better purpose if the proposed celebration would be in the nature of a civilian defense demonstration, using the fireworks for realistic effects, as regards bombing fire flashes, etc."

Mr. Padula suggested, "If the commissioner of parks and public property would make his Fourth of July celebration plans in collaboration with the director of our Civil Defense Council and its coordinator, we would combine the tribute to the Declaration of Independence with the determination to preserve our independence against aggression."

World War. But by the time he had finished his course, that branch was filled, so he joined the field artillery. He was assigned to officers training at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Kentucky, and although the war was over before he completed that course, he was allowed to complete his training and was commissioned a lieutenant.

Following the war he accepted a position of principal of the Lansdown, Pa., High School where he served until 1925 when offered the superintendency of the Jenkintown schools. After five years in Jenkintown, he came to Belleville.

Mr. Parmer received his Liberal Arts degree from Franklin Marshall College and his Master's Degree at the University of Pennsylvania. Besides these studies he did graduate work in psychology and sociology at Harvard.

The Parmer's have one son, William Walter Parmer, at present a teacher of English and basketball and baseball coach at Tanafly High School. Bill Parmer was a three sport star at Belleville High and played both baseball and basketball at Dartmouth.

There were no libraries in the entire school system, not even a library in the high school. Under Mr. Parmer's direction a library was set up in each school and a supplemental library in each classroom. The late Dr. O. B. Close as head of the Parent Teachers group rallied parental support behind Mr. Parmer in this undertaking. There was no shop, no domestic science classes, no art and no music, except for two voice teachers who visited the various schools. A shop was set up in the high school and its first project was the building of some 200 bookcases, one for each classroom in the school system. After the bookcases, came the books.

Mr. Parmer's entire career has been on the positive side. He has emphasized the development of the individual through the intelligent assumption of privileges and responsibilities.

Not long after the start of his administration a dreadful depression hit the entire country, but nowhere like Belleville, where the municipality, unable to collect its taxes, had to pay off its public employees in script, which was redeemable at a discount. This aggravated the problem of attracting teachers to join the school system and absolutely prohibited the construction of new school plants, including the Junior High School which Mr. Parmer recommended in 1932. Following the depression came a war and priorities which further restricted the chances of getting new buildings.

It is this building problem which will be the biggest one for Mr. Parmer's successor. From 1941 when there were an average of less than 400 babies born to Belleville parents each year, to 1947 when there were nearly 800, is an increase of about 100 per cent. Those 1947 babies will be entering the Belleville schools in 1952. And instead of 400 new kindergarten and first grade pupils each year, the school population will be increased at least for four years by an additional 400, or 800 per year. This will place a heavy burden on Belleville's present facilities. It will provide a real test for the new superintendent.

Mr. Parmer's impact on several generations of Belleville folks has been a mighty one.

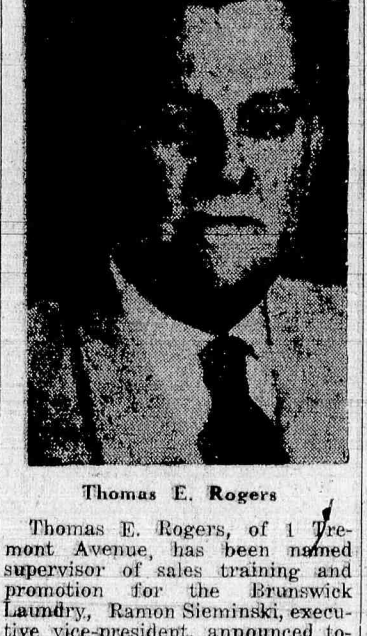

Services Held May 4 For William Dayton Haug

Funeral services were held on May 4 at the Stanton Funeral Home, 661 Franklin Avenue, Nutley, for William Dayton Haug of 539 Jerusalem Street, who died at his home May 3 after a long illness. Rev. T. Painter Hanson of Bethany Lutheran Church, officiated. Burial took place Saturday in East Ridgeland Cemetery, Delaware.

A resident of Belleville for 12 years, Mr. Haug was born in Newark 45 years ago, and lived in Union prior to coming here. He was affiliated with Local 989 and District Council 10 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers, Newark, and was employed as a painter by L. Bamberger & Co.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Annetta Johnson Haug; two sons, Thomas and Robert Haug, at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Haug of Union; a brother, Oscar Haug Jr. of Fair Lawn, and a sister, Mrs. Gladys Pierce of Saddle River.

citizen I shall be interested in supporting the Board of Education in its efforts to improve the educational facilities for the boys and girls of our community."

Mr. Yocum announced that the board has not yet considered a successor, but that it will seek applications for the post and that one will be named before Parmer's retirement becomes effective.

Mr. Parmer, who will be 66 in August, won majority support of the Board of Education last year when he was given a new contract despite opposition of Mayor Tully, who maintained that as a veteran Mr. Parmer could saddle the town with an additional $5,000 in pension funds. The board backed Mr. Parmer and gave him a contract calling for a $400 increase.

Mr. Parmer has several ways in which he can accept his pension, but feels that his decision is an entirely personal matter. He has been a member of the teachers' pension fund throughout his tenure in Belleville.

Mr. Parmer who lives at 20 Tiona Avenue, Belleville with his wife, has been in the educational field since 1904. Born in Eden, Pa., on a farm, Mr. Parmer had to work his way through school. In fact even before he graduated from Millersville State Teacher's College in Pennsylvania, he taught for two years in a typical one room country school at Summitville, Pa. The most modern appearance of that school was a pot belled stove in the center of the room.

Upon the completion of his studies at Millersville, Mr. Parmer accepted the position of supervising principal of the Dover, Pa., School. While in this position Mr. Parmer continued his education and in courses at Cornell he fitted himself for service in the chemical warfare division of the army in the first

Indianapolis 500 with WALT VON SCHONFELD

The speedway is open, and this year's drivers have already taken their cars around the 2½-mile oval for practice spins. One of the first boys out this year was Johnny Parsons, last year's winner, in his golden-yellow Wynn's Friction Proofing Special. . . . Others who were "ready to go" included Tony Bettenhausen and Duane Carter in Lou Moore's Mobiloil and Mobilgas creations. . . . Mauri Rose will take the wheel of the Pennzoil Special. . . . George Connor will be at the helm of one of the Blue Crown Spark Plug Specials. . . . Walt Brown will pilot the Federal Engineering Special and last year's rookie, Cecil Green, who finished fourth, will be speeding around in the Zink Special.

Veteran drivers are all most anxious to try the course with the new Firestone "Profile" tires; these have been specifically designed and constructed for the Indianapolis speedway, and the contour and gradient of the turns and curves have influenced the profile of the tread. It is believed that the new tire will "up" the speeds of the nation's top car jockeys anywhere from three to five miles per hour!

Enthusiasts of "500" Get Together

Wilbur Shaw, president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and three-time winner of the 500-mile auto classic, explains the significance of the "checkered" flag to Mr. and Mrs. Walter von Schonfeld of Nutley at the annual 500 Mile Speedway Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. Walter von Schonfeld is director of public relations for BSA and Sunbeam motorcycles.

The Granatelli-Bardahl Special will be ready for the track as soon as Freddie Agabashian arrives from Albany, Calif. Four of the fastest cars in the country, Agajanian's Featherweight and Grant Piston Ring Special, with Walt Faulkner and Troy Ruttman as drivers, and the powerful Novi Purelube Specials, with Duke Nalon and Chet Miller at the controls, will be out on the "bricks" attempting to break existing track records. Faulkner holds the one-lap and four-lap qualifying records of 136.013 and 134.343 miles an hour respectively. Both marks are expected to fall on the first day of time trials this year and some drivers expect the winner of the pole position to attain a speed in excess of 140 miles per hour for the full 2½-mile distance.

This year's chief mechanic for the winning car will receive, among numerous other prizes, a beautiful sweep second stop watch, the gift of the Longine-Witnauer Watch Company of New York.

If you don't already know, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway covers 433 landscaped, park-like acres about six or seven miles from the center of Indianapolis. The track, originally all brick, has since been paved with asphalt, except along the two 3,300 foot straight-aways in front of the main grandstands of which there are about 10 in all, seating about 100,000, and along the back stretch, which also has a 3,300-foot straightaway.

Along the inside of the track, opposite Grandstand "A", are the "pits", a sort of glorified garage area into which nobody except car owners, mechanics, drivers and the official press are admitted. It's here that the cars get their careful attention and grooming. . . . On the infield you can also find a nice nine hole golf course frequented by the nation's top automotive men during their stay in Indianapolis. You can't help but see a strange Chinese-looking building called the Pagoda. This houses facilities for the press as well as the broadcasting networks, has a lounge and a very popular snack bar on race day.

SYLVIA and RHODA

The seniors are in the limelight this week... as all who witnessed Friday's assembly know. Mr. Kittle took over as M.C. for the M.C.-less first part. And what joys he brought with him! Happy is Walt Haslam as valedictorian of the class of 1951 and so very little behind him, (1/2 point to be exact), is the perennial girl genius, one Miss Ann Pritchard, as salutatorian. After commending these (Ann with her six scholarships amounting to about $7,800 from such colleges as the U. of Pennsylvania, N.J.C.; and Walt with his $5,500 from Yale and $4,400 from Harvard—P.S. These kids are having the toughest time of their lives trying to decide).

Mr. K. at this point found more to exalt — "one of the greatest senior classes for brains." The cream of the crop goes thusly—those who have maintained an average of 90% or better in the course of the four long years. The following are these honor students: Jim Cameron, Jerry Carter, Jimmy Cavanaugh, Lerma Chet, Esther Fellman, Kathryn Fudaro, Beverly Garson, Mary Gerard, Len Glassman, Sylvia Haft, Roger Hansen, Nancy Jackson, Richard Jeanotte, Ron Krauss, Marcia Lambrecht, Jim Lampman, Rhoda Loyola, Nancy Paterno, and Bette Robinson. Good work!

Before going any further we have a gripe. Why, oh, why, was all that had to do with brains shoved into one assembly? All year long assembly after assembly was dedicated to that wonderful thing called sports—it is wonderful, but so are brains.

After Mr. Kittle told his tale of such things as $6,000 scholarships, Mr. Smith climbed the steps and told his tale of two $25.00 U. S. Bonds and two five-dollar bills.

Ann Pritchard (again in one day) and Jack Mevish (going to Annapolis on a scholarship) were the two kids with brains that pay off. By the way, the bonds were given to the winners of the recent Elk's Leadership contest. Marilyn Scheie and Rhoda Loyola received surprise envelopes containing welcome remunerations.

Speaking of remunerations, those celebrated writers of B.H.S. finally received theirs in the way of certificates, keys, money, etc. for their prize-winning pieces of literature in the Scholastic Writing Contest and in the Sales Contest. The list is so long (praised be B.H.S. English students) that we do not have the space to write down all the names, but you know as well as we do who they are from previous publicity so we'll just say "Congratulations!"

The honors having been dished out, we all settled back for a half-hour's listening to the band and orchestra. Petie Benz is something out of this world when he has those sticks in his hands. It was said that those who attended last week's Sock Dance claimed the B.H.S. Dance Band as one of the best.

STOP, the audience was enthralled with the impressionable "Headlines."

Awards were again presented, (for the millionth time that day) to the 4-year band members and twirlers. They certainly deserve this recognition for the hard work they've put forth for four long years.

The antics of the Synopocated Clock were hilarious. The time-teller made by Mr. Werthman kept its own rhythm to the piece and finished by "losing its head."

The program was climaxed with the presentation of a watch to Mr. Mattick, from the band—he was completely overwhelmed and had to catch his breath before ending the assembly with delightfully fresh program music.

A million dollar campaign is whizzing through the be-postered halls of Belleville High School. Judging from the "before-effects" these ten candidates for the Student Council Elections are really anxious to be officers of their school. Let us introduce them to you to help you make this difficult choice. For every one of them is worthy of winning.

In the running for president are four fellows who are well known around school: Dave Gruman, George Posa, Joe Marbach and Frank Troina are the boys.

Bright wit Dave has served B.H.S. for all of the three years he's been here. A senator each year, he is now a member of the assembly committee. Guess what Dave likes! Anyone who knows him knows—females, food and sleep. The inevitable dislike is his too—HOMEWORK.

In reference to his campaign—nothing's been seen, has it? Sh-h—his is the whisper campaign. Through a long and sleepless campaign you (are supposed to) whisper his name. This boy is running because he thinks he can "do the right things at the right time."

Blond George has had quite a background—three years on 1 year on executive committee, junior senator and this year he's served as vice-president of his class. This boy dislikes stupid questions.

Hard working Frank has leadership qualifications—he is president of the Belwood A.A., three years on the executive committee of the Junior Red Cross. This one has the unique liking of "girls and other interesting articles."

Our friend Joe (no — not THAT one) is about the only one who voices his opinion of a platform. He plans to advocate a "New Deal". It remains to be seen... But Joe may be the one to do it.

Success in secretarial subjects has prompted Betty Ann Murphy to run for secretary. She's also had experience in the Student Council. Here's one girl who hasn't had time to allow for dislikes.

Judy Gabriel will do her best if elected. Among her best-to-her credit—is a two-week stay in Wellesley College training center. She's served two years in J.R.C., has been vice-president of her class and has been on the executive and assembly committees.

Now meeting the candidates for Vee's position—a seeming non-entity, but truly a lot of work. Warren (Cookie) Kimble and Keith McEligot, both sophomores, are the ones who will get our votes.

Cookie is running because he's very much interested. He intends to make the school better in the way of activities and entertainment. Cookie was a member of the Student Council for two years, vice-president of the sophomore class, treasurer of the Junior Red Cross and president of the Bowling Club. According to Kimble, his speech on Friday will "disclose many secrets."

Vying for the same place in the Executive Committee is Keith McEligot. He's the one who helped out the flustered magician in the talent show, earlier this year. Keith was president of the sophomore class, member of the Student Council Executive Committee, a member of the Spotlight staff, on the Visual Aids Staff and a member of the Youth Fellowship. He likes all sports and loafing at times—some combination! Keith says that he can do his best in office if he's elected, and he'll try his darndest to do that!

Those who will be in charge of the money next year, if elected, are James Bloom and Lynn Dickinson.

Jim "wants an active part in the school government." He was a member of the senate in his freshman year and a member of the Student Council Executive Committee this year. Jimmy dislikes a lot of homework, but goes for sports and art work.

Lynn Dickinson, our cute twirler, member of the Leaders' Club, junior class secretary-treasurer, member of the S. C. Executive Committee and freshman senator, is running for treasurer, "because she enjoys being active in school activities." Lynn likes Jerry Lewis, but hates the new iridescent colors and conceited people.

There! You have it all! We've tried to remain unbiased in writing. So now it's up to YOU. Weigh each one on your personal qualifications scale and may the best man, (or woman) win!!!

Gertrude L. Williamson of Belleville has been selected as a member of the cast in the forthcoming production of the Upsala College Spanish Club. The play, "Los Pantalones", will be presented in Beck auditorium, Monday, May 14 at 8:00 p.m.

Miss Williamson, a Sophomore, is majoring in Spanish. She is a graduate of Belleville High School.

POLIO PAMPHLETS AVAILABLE SOON

Essex County Chairman Tells How Public Can Help Aid National Program

James J. McMahon, chairman of the Essex County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, in a recent statement has indicated that the national foundation's annual educational pamphlet concerning the disease is available in single copies or in quantity through the Chapter office. Arrangements for distribution at all schools in the area have been made, and through the cooperation of school officials each student will receive a copy of Polio Pointers for 1951 within the next couple of weeks. It is intended that they be taken home by their parents to read and keep on hand.

Continuing, Mr. McMahon suggested that every one may be of assistance in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis program. Some specific ways of helping are by letting your chapter know of cases of polio needing care. Hospitals advise how often the patient should return for check-ups by the doctor, and parents and teachers can encourage children to follow these directions as well as aid in finding ways to take children to and from clinics.

Teachers and parents can also watch for signs of weakened muscles which may result after a minor case which parents did not know was polio. Weak muscles could have medical care at once to prevent later crippling. Teachers in schools or on play grounds, out leaders, sport coaches, and others working with young people should keep those who have had polio from becoming tired when they return to school or work.

Mr. McMahon stated if polio comes in your family a few simple precautions may prevent lessening crippling after-effects. Don't get over-tired. Don't take your children out of bed or play ground. Do put a sick person to bed at once and call the doctor. Do contact your local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. — They are prepared to give any help needed. Do remember that over one-half of all polio patients get well without any crippling.

McMahon concluded with the reminder that "there is no 'quick cure' for polio and no way to prevent it. With good care most people get well, although some must have treatment for a long time."

Woman's Club Plans Rummage Sale and Floral Competition

The Ways and Means Department of the Belleville Women's Club will sponsor a rummage sale in the clubhouse from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Mrs. William C. North, chairman of the affair, has requested all members to bring their contributions to the club before 8 p.m. Thursday.

The Garden Department, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur G. White, will present a flower show Monday. Members and friends interested in exhibiting must have their entries ready by 11:30 a.m. The six classifications acceptable are horticulture—single specimens; floral arrangements—rainbow, sunrise, modern, and naive period (1890-1900); and small arrangements—not over six inches. Miss Margaret Grumbe, a member of the Jersey City club, will act as judge.

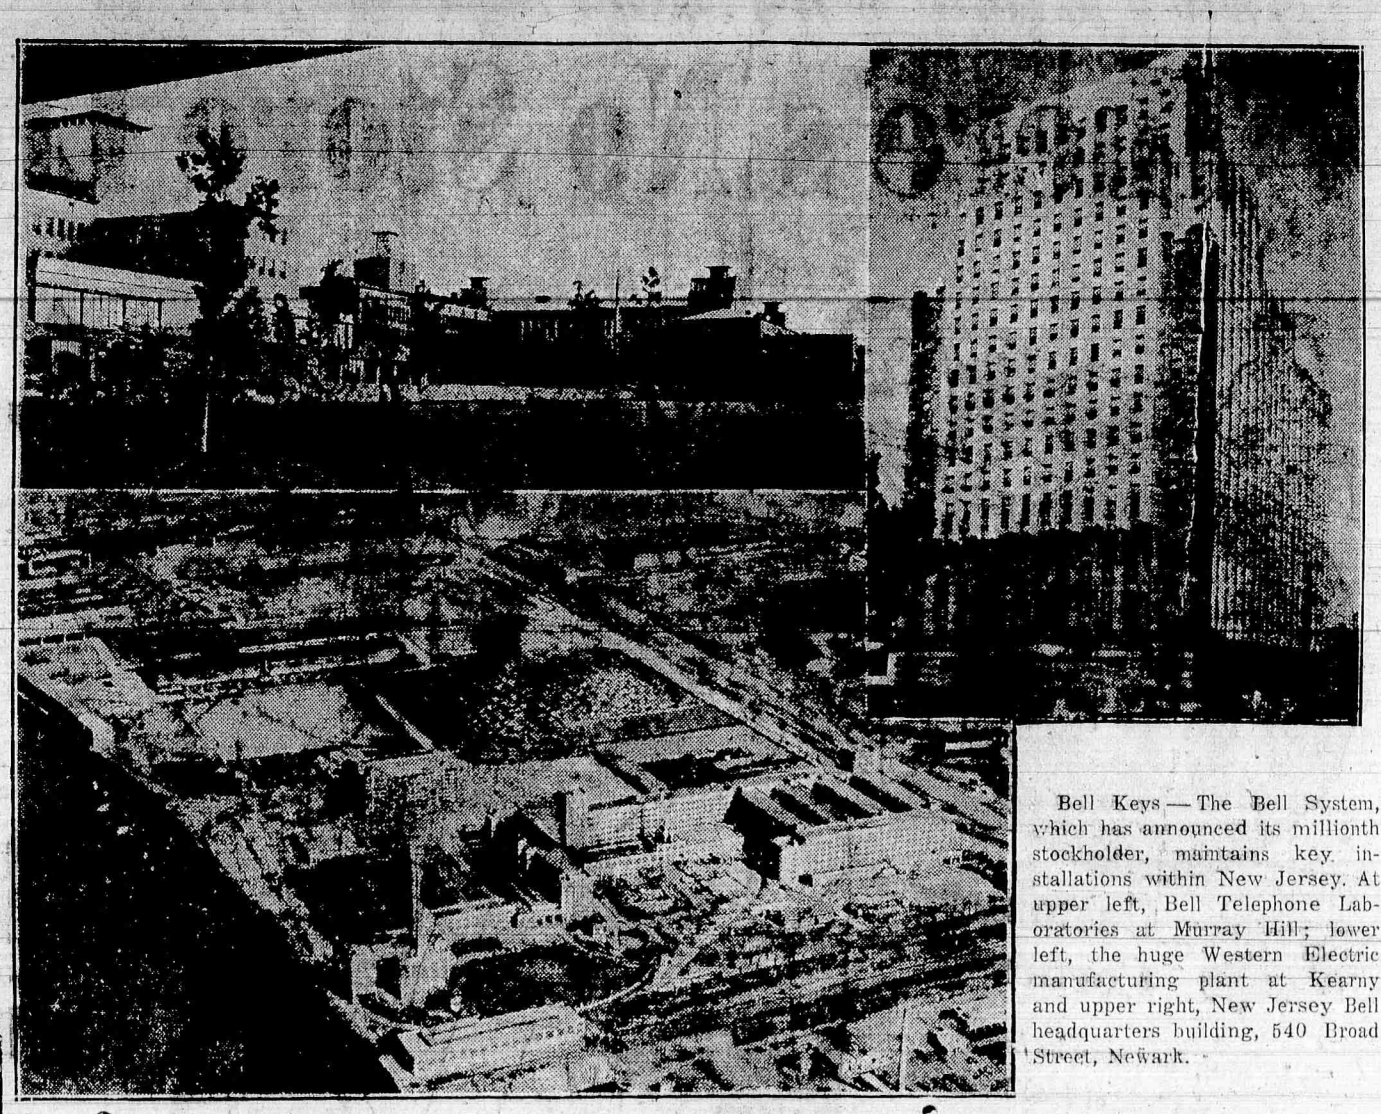

Junior Woman's Club To Hold Mother, Daughter Banquet

The Belleville Junior Woman's Club will hold its annual Mother, Daughter Banquet at 7 p.m. Tuesday evening in O'Hara's Riverside Grill, Arlington, N. J. Honored guests will include mothers of club members, Mrs. Herbert Niles, junior counselor; Mrs. Charles S. Smith, founder of the club; Mrs. Harvey Thompson, president of the Belleville Woman's Club, and members of the advisory board. Mrs. Raymond E. Mertz Jr. and Mrs. Ray Keum are in charge of arrangements and reservations.

Funa Gains by Magic

A benefit performance of feats of magic was presented at the Wesley Church by Count and Mrs. Artell, magicians, last night. The proceeds of the affair were for the Camp Mohigan Fund of Troop 301. Gary Glass, a patrol leader in Troop 301, played the piano to accompany the Artells in their act.

AT&T Shareholders Reach Millionth Mark

Bell Keys—The Bell System, which has announced its millionth stockholder, maintains key installations within New Jersey. At upper left, Bell Telephone Laboratories at Murray Hill; lower left, the huge Western Electric manufacturing plant at Kearny and upper right, New Jersey Bell headquarters building, 540 Broad Street, Newark.

One million persons, including 81,270 residents of New Jersey, own the Bell Telephone System.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company announced today that the purchase of stock by a midwest couple brought its number of shareholders to the millionth mark—giving the company the broadest ownership ever achieved in the history of private enterprise.

In New Jersey, where Bell operates over 1,650,000 telephones, are located many of the key units whereby the Bell System maintains the largest and most effective communications chain in existence anywhere in the world.

In addition to New Jersey Bell and its 280 exchanges, New Jersey boasts of Bell Telephone Laboratories at Murray Hill, the sprawling Western Electric manufacturing center at Kearny, and overseas communications links at Lawrenceville, Manahawkin and Ocean City.

Also located within this state are two Long Lines stations at Morristown and Princeton, the microwave relay tower at Martinsville and much of the coaxial and other telephone cables that span the nation.

From a stock ownership by 7,535 persons when the AT & T was established as the parent company of regional operating companies in 1900, the Bell System reached the 100,000 stockholder mark in 1918 and passed the 500,000 mark in late 1930. The 1 million figure was reached in early 1948.

The 1,000,000th shareholder is the result of seven shares of Bell stock purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Brady Denton, of Saginaw, Michigan. Denton, 33, is an auto salesman and an Okinawa veteran of World War II. They have three children.

Their seven shares are part of 29,100,000 shares of Bell stock on the market, of which no individual owns as much as one-half of one per cent. Approximately 300,000 persons hold between one and five shares. More than half of the stockholders own ten shares or less and about 940,000 persons own less than 100 shares.

These investors are a cross-section of America. They include farmers, business men, clerks, mechanics, clergymen, merchants, teachers, housewives, doctors, lawyers, civil service workers, people who have retired, widows—lone town folks and neighbors. Approximately 200,000 Bell System employees own A.T. & T. stock.

New Jersey's 81,270 stockholders hold about 2,000,000 shares of stock, New Jersey Bell stated. Among the 81,270 are 8,000 employees of New Jersey Bell.

Investments by the 1,000,000 shareholders, the company pointed out, has provided the means of doubling the number of telephones in New Jersey during the past 10 years.

New Jersey Bell during the five years since the end of World War II has been engaged in a $250,000,000 construction program. During the year 1951, an additional $49,000,000 building and equipment program is well underway.

One of the principal objections against holding the graduation at Clearman Field was the expense of moving the bleachers from the bog to the field. The cost, according to Wayne Farmer, would be $600. The students revealed that they had offered to move the bleachers themselves, but were refused.

James J. McMahon, chairman of the Essex County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, presented three iron lungs to the Essex County Isolation Hospital. The respirators were the latest model and were selected by the officers of the Essex County Chapter after inspection trips to Queens General Hospital, Long Island, and the Consolidated Edison Company of New York. A feature of the new lungs was that they had been especially equipped for operation on either direct current or alternating current, each machine having two motors.

Ten Years Ago Residents were warned that some night every fire whistle and bell and a whole symphony of factory whistles would blast away for nine good toots. The town wouldn't be invaded and there wouldn't be an air raid. It was just the signal to arouse the town's new Civilian Defense Corps of approximately 200 men in their first "test" emergency drill. Police Chief Spatz and Fire Chief Reid were in charge. The date of the test was a state secret and nobody would know about it until the whistles would deep off their nine blasts.

The Belleville Manufacturers' Association was interested in having as many local industries as possible humming with activity on defense work. Having already sponsored a school at which unemployed men were trained for skilled mechanical work in industry, the association through its president, Martin F. Tiernan, asked Mayor Williams to conduct a survey of local industries to determine what facilities they might have available which would fit them for defense manufacturing work either directly or indirectly.

The war which had Holland in its grip had not stopped the tulip festival which had become an annual festival at School No. 9. When word was received that Hitler's legions had marched into the Netherlands, the faculty and pupils of the school feared that the show might be seriously curtailed because of a shortage of bulbs. But Principal Thomas Gryczka was determined that the tulip festival would be held, come what may. A check of florists and horticulturists turned up the information that tulip bulbs could be purchased from England.

With Mayor Williams officiating at the traditional ribbon-cutting ceremony and also playing the role of first customer, the F. W. Woolworth five-and-ten cent store in Washington Avenue opened.

Although there was a feeling locally that traffic conditions at the Rutgers Street bridge and Main Street required a traffic signal, a State Motor Vehicle Department expert could not see eye to eye with residents and stated that he did not believe a stop-and-go light would be the solution.

Fifteen Years Ago

Dumping of earth from the excavation for the high school addition at several places in the Valley section was objected to by members of the Valley Improvement Association at a meeting. The organization went on record as protesting this practice, and instructed Ora A. Current, secretary, to communicate with the Board of Education on this matter.

Kindergarten facilities were to be provided for all children in town, the board of education decided. The minimum age for admission to the kindergartens was four years nine months, instead of the previous 4, however. At the suggestion of Superintendent Wayne R. Farmer, the board voted to establish kindergartens in Schools 1, 4 and 7, in addition to those existing at Schools 3, 5 and 10. Children from the School No. 9 district would attend the kindergarten at School No. 1, and those from the No. 2 district that of School No. 10.

Director Joseph King of the department of public affairs urged Belleville residents to remove from trees and burn tent caterpillar nests as soon as they appeared.

Mrs. Clarence Saltford Dies While Visiting Scotland

Funeral services and burial were conducted last Friday in Scotland for Mrs. William Landles Saltford of 280 Washington Avenue, who died May 1 in Edinburgh, while on a vacation visit to her sister, Mrs. Isabel Addison.

A resident of Belleville since 1916, when she came to this country, Mrs. Saltford was born in Eyemouth, Scotland, 64 years ago. She was the widow of Clarence Saltford.

Mrs. Saltford was a member of the Wesley Methodist Church and the Shubin Club of Newark.

Besides her sister in Scotland, she leaves a son, Johnstone Hughes of Cedar Grove; two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Nowakowski and Mrs. Mary Munro, of Belleville; a brother, Andrew Landles of Freehold, four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Miss Mary Hannan Succumbs Friday After Long Illness

A high mass of requiem was offered Tuesday morning in St. Mary's Church, Nutley, for Miss Mary Hannan of 85 Overlook Avenue, who died Friday at her home after a 2½ year illness. The funeral was from the home, and burial was in Gate of Heaven Cemetery, East Hanover.

A lifelong resident of Belleville, Miss Hannan was employed with Driver-Harris Co., Harrison, until the time of her illness.

She leaves her mother, Mrs. Frances Hannan; three sisters, the Misses Margaret and Helen Hannan and Mrs. Patricia Gorney, and three brothers, Henry, Joseph, and Frank Hannan of Belleville.

Country Fragrance

The fragrance of the early morning hours
Drifts in the window while I knead the bread,
The black earth, newly turned, a wisp of smoke,
The scent of grass on which rose petals spread Designs of pink confetti—these things take Me back through years of mornings when June came
With Jeweled footsteps, garlands in her hair,
And touched the earth with golden, perfumed flame.

If time and circumstance should take me far
From this green, fragrant land, each year
I'd know
The same sweet-bitter pain within my heart
When June had set the countryside aglow.
A vase of roses in a florist shop
Would—for a moment—hold a country lane
Deep bordered, red and pink and white—and I Could close my eyes and walk it once again!

The Type of Educator We Need

Now that Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmier has taken the decision to resign, a decision which is understandably prompted by ill health, no time must be lost in finding and in naming his successor. In a modern community, the Superintendent of Schools is a key leader, affecting more directly the way of life of more people than any other town official.

Where once a superintendent's responsibilities dealt almost exclusively with the routine administration of the public schools, his role today is to provide dynamic leadership in community education. Today a superintendent of schools must be an adviser to the Board of Education, an expert executive,
a canny manager, a scholar in all subject fields, a budget specialist, an authority on construction and on town planning and a top public relations man. He must be an educational philosopher and psychologist, an evangelist of education, an organizer. He must fire board members, parents and the pupils themselves with enough enthusiasm to do something about improving their schools.
He must be a leader in forming public opinion and in helping to organize and to orient the energies of community life.

In the specific case of Belleville, the town has grown faster than our schools. The job of superintendent puts a physical strain on its incumbent. Our new superintendent must, therefore, be physically fit. He should be middle-aged, because the young lack perspective based upon experience and the aged lack the stamina the job needs. In selecting Mr.
Parmier's successor, the Board of Education owes it to the 5,000 public school pupils, to their teachers, their parents, the town's taxpayers to find the most outstanding authority that can be lured away from another job by the stipend we can afford to pay. Let the pay be high, so that only the best public educators will be attracted.

We may not find the man we need right here in Metropolitan New Jersey. The chances are that we may find better material in the Middle West, because in educational circles there is a saying that the West is the school laboratory of the East.

We must avoid the error of a temporary hiring, because nothing will be gained by stalling.

We must keep the selection and the appointment absolutely free of partisan or of Commission politics. Let us make no mistake about that. Belleville is not interested in any political machine. It deserves and it wants the best talent that its money can hire. Let us find a man who can grow with our community, who has the courage to stand for a principle regardless of political pressure, to give orders rather than to obey orders. We do not want a political errand boy. Let us choose a man of high moral standards, industrious, a believer in public education.

We must, finally, make absolutely certain that he is untainted by any "ism," because, alas, the enemies of democracy have their agents planted in public education.

A "Prensa Affair" Here at Home

The United States and the rest of the free world waxed indignant at General Peron's extermination of the last shred of a free press in the Argentine by closing up the great Buenos Aires daily, "La Prensa". We all saw a dictator trample on the freedom of the press and survive.

Right here at home there is a "Prensa Affair". Every day General Marshall or some other spokesman for the Truman administration goes before the Senate, committee inquiring into the MacArthur sacking to tell the White House version. The hearings are behind closed doors, and the explanation given is that military information that could reach the Kremlin and cause the death of some Americans in Korea might be disclosed.

But every night an expurgated version of the day's testimony is handed out to the news agencies and published all around the country. It is nothing except a politically censored version of what the Truman administration wants the public to get out of the Senate investigation. Never is anything contained which might bolster the MacArthur cause; always it provides the pro-Truman headlines as the administration tries the MacArthur affair in the public press.

On television, this week, General Marshall and Senator Tom Connolly were shown leaving the Senate committee room at the end of the day's testimony.

"What was the trend of today's testimony, General?", a newsman asked Marshall.

"I can say nothing: I can answer no questions," the Defense Secretary replied.

"You'll get it in the transcript; after all we do all your work for you, we make it easier for you by furnishing you with a report," Senator Connolly, flabby and florid, explained.

The American public is entitled to know what is going on in that room. The American press can be trusted not to divulge military secrets. It is evident that Moscow does not miss a stroke. Senator Russell complained that there are "leaks" right in the committee which enable the Moscow press to carry details which are denied the American press.
At best, censorship is bad. When it is cir-cumvented by deliberate "leaks" it is stupid.
Open up the Senate hearings. Give MacArthur a break. Let the truth come out, even if, once again, it shows that the President has acted hastily and against the best interests of the nation.

The Maragnon case, which reached the Supreme Court this week, is another proof that Harry Truman is not infallible. The Supreme Court refused, unanimously, to handle the case of the "five percenter" who had a side-door entrance into the White House through "General" Harry Vaughan's office. Maragnon now will go to prison.
MacArthur, a real general, has been fired in a fit of temper. When is "General" Vaughan to go? And remember that on his chest he wears many rows of unearned ribbons including one that General Peron gave him, although it is hard to understand what Harry Vaughan did for Argentina to earn the bauble.

It's Beginning to Make Sense

The price we paid in the loss of our most experienced Far East Authority was heavy, but General MacArthur's airing of the situation has had the healthy consequence of plugging at least one of the many British leaks into Red China.

The decision of the British Labour Government to suspend further sales of rubber to China during 1951 came, this week, only a few hours before the Senate, in a stern warning to Britain and to all other beneficiaries of American generosity, voted to cut off all economic aid to nations that ship war materials to Russia and its red satellites.

The least that can be said of Britain's action is that it is too little and too late.
Churchill, in the House of Commons, cited official trade statistics to prove that as our casualty toll in Korea rose, Britain's profits from rubber exports to China increased. He demanded an immediate and permanent embargo on rubber. The best he could get was the promise to sell no more during 1951.

Despite President Truman's stubborn attempt to belittle the war in Korea by calling it "a police action," it is a war. The casualties, among American soldiers, are already greater than were all the casualties of the Spanish-American war.

It is inexcusable that our Allies should prolong the war one minute by helping to arm the Communists. The blood of American casualties must not be bought at the price of war profits for our Allies. It took months for London to realize our displeasure at British trade with Red China through Hong Kong. Meanwhile that trade grew alarmingly. In January, February and March of this year, Churchill reported, British trade with China reached $3,614,000; in the first three months of 1950, that trade was only $826,000.

The Labour Government was quick and loud to howl for MacArthur's sacking, even though Britain's participation in soldiers and material in Korea was disappointingly modest. Now, the least Britain can do is to quit arming China and to support our efforts to force an embargo on arms to China through a hesitant United Nations. The Senate has warned that the flow of dollars to Britain may cease if the British do not stop arming the enemy. That makes sense, doesn't it?

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

Pentagon's Intelligence Maps Show Soviet Russia
Could Give Us a Bad Time Today in Far East, Middle East and Europe

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

Behind Secretary of Defense Marshall's fierce opposition to General MacArthur's strategy in the Far East, which the latter admits frankly could risk open war with Red Russia, is the Pentagon's certainty that if the Kremlin wanted to fight right now it could give us a rough time in Korea, in Western Europe and in the Middle East. A year from now, the tables might be turned, especially in Europe where a year of grace will give General Eisenhower the time he needs.

When I was in Washington, a week ago, I learned that military intelligence maps show that Russian ground and air power are both deployed to strike swiftly and powerfully in three directions—if the cold war suddenly becomes hot. I hasten to add, however, that nowhere are Russian forces built up in the strategic pattern of attack that might indicate any Communist intention to force a war at an early date.

As a matter of fact, Russia, like ourselves, is building up her war machine. Her East German "police force" is in process of formation. Her Czech and Polish satellite regimes have purged their armies and are now building anew. Russia, like ourselves, is not ready, but a year from now she, too,
will be much stronger.

In the Far East, time is also working in Russia's favor.
The failure of the Spring offensive of the Chinese Reds has resulted in a stepped-up flow of Russian material, chiefly tanks, planes and artillery, which may hit us in the next few days. Intelligence reports reaching the Pentagon also indicate that the Korean war is being directed from a joint Russo-Chinese military headquarters at Changchun in Central Manchuria. There is an unconfirmed report that Lieut.-Gen. Kuzma N. Derevy-anko, former head of the Soviet mission to Tokyo when General MacArthur asked his recall, is in command of the joint staff headquarters.

Underwriting Cost
Only now are unconfirmed details of the bargain Mao Tse-tung struck with Stalin and his Soviet advisors in the conversations six weeks ago. One report which the Pentagon seems to trust says that the Soviet Union has agreed to subsidize China to the extent of 24,000,000 U. S. dollars monthly for war expenses from September, 1950, until the termination of the affair in Korea which Moscow intends should "fix" America's attention while Russia makes ready.
Part of that deal is for China to ship to Russia a large number of able-bodied workers, and also to allow General Derevyanko to take over.

According to Chinese Nationalist sources in Washington, Russia agreed to supply China with an air force of 320 planes, but the Pentagon has a month-old field intelligence report that there are 3,000 Soviet-supplied planes in readiness on Manchurian airstrips
—safe from our attack as General
MacArthur has regretted.

The Chinese Nationalists are sources for a report that working with Derevyanko at Changchun are 35 officers of the Peiping regime under General Li Tao while North Korea has furnished 10
officers under Major General Sheng, with about 12 Japanese officers, formerly attached to the Kwantung army, also participating in staff work.

Watch Japan
While foreign observers have been watching for military build-ups with regard to Korea, Formosa and Indo-China, the Chinese Nationalists have been issuing private warnings in recent months against a possible Communist-sponsored "incident" directly affecting the main United States base in the Far East—Japan. It has been reported also in Washington without confirmation that the alleged Chinese-Soviet military agreement covers the organization of nine Japanese divisions as the "Japanese People's Army."
The best picture of Russian deployment on a world scale that I could get in Washington was the following:

1. Ground forces in Port Arthur, Vladivostok and Sakhalin area roughly four times as large as UN forces in Korea, backed by air force of about twice as many planes as Allies have.

2. Ground forces along Iranian frontier larger than all potential Allied forces in area, backed by substantial Soviet air power.

3. Main concentration of Russian Army facing Western Europe directly behind a spearhead force of about 30 divisions in East Germany.

What Russia Could Do
This Russian deployment puts the following operations within the area of probable Russian capabilities in the event of all-out war:

1. In the Far East: Immediate forced expulsion of UN armies from Korea, plus major Russian invasion of Japan, plus possible driving of United States air power back to mid-Pacific bases.

2. In Middle East: Russian ground forces undoubtedly could sweep over Iranian oil fields while Russian air power attempted to protect the Baku fields from Allied air attack. Greatest air battle of history could take place here.
Amount of Russian air power in area raises serious question about Allied capacity to neutralize the Baku fields.

3. In Europe: General Eisenhower's North Atlantic army is no match at this stage for the juggern-aut which stands with motor riding just inside the Russian frontier. A year from now, "Ike" thinks he could hold it at least on the Rhine. But as of today, the masses of the Russian Army is deployed for a drive through Germany toward the English Channel and nothing in the Allied arsenal reasonably could be expected to stop it.

Not Up to Strength
However, although the Russian divisions in East Germany outnumber all Allied forces in the Western area, they are not at the moment in top shape. They need training and there are still weaknesses in essential equipment. The 30 divisions are up to only 70 percent of peacetime strength and some of their men are drafts recently arrived from Russia.

These weaknesses in the Soviet forces in Germany are, however, much more than balanced by the proximity of the great mass of Russian reserves to Germany, by Russian troops in Poland and Austria, by the Polish and Czechoslovak satellite armies and by the East German People's Police, which is the new Reichswehr or army of East Germany.

Red Troops Scattered
There are almost 40 Russian divisions in the Baltic, Byelorussian and Carpathian military districts on Russia's western frontier, and another 15 to 20 in the Leningrad and Moscow military districts. There are six Russian divisions in Poland.

Russian forces in Austria also could conceivably be used against West Germany, although their first task might be to eliminate the Allied garrisons in Austria.
There are relatively few Russian troops in Austria, but there are three to six divisions in that country or in Hungary, just to the south. Other Russian divisions, plus the strong satellite armies of the Balkans, are also available.

Strong Polish Army
The Polish Army is now virtually a part of the Russian Army.
It is commanded by a Russian marshal, some of its officers are Soviet Army officers and its training, equipment and organization are virtually identical with the Soviet Army. The Polish Army, probably the strongest satellite army in Europe, is organized in the equivalent of 16 infantry divisions, plus the equivalent of two or three armored divisions.

The Czechoslovak Army, which is now in the process of being closely integrated into the Soviet satellite scheme numbers about eight to ten divisions.

The MIRACLE
behind Your Switch

IN THIS day and time, when prices of everything from nuts and bolts to multi-million dollar generators have increased, it's a modern miracle that the cost of electricity has been kept so low.

Think of what's in back of your switch. Public Service has invested hundreds of millions of dollars in plant and equipment in order to bring you the electricity you get at the flip of your switch.

The low cost of electricity is a miracle . . .
especially when you consider the fact that we spent more than $22,000,000 on all plant additions to the electric system in 1950. In 1951 the company plans to spend about $41,000,000 on its electric system.

In spite of these huge expenditures, the miracle still exists . . . electricity does so much
... costs so little!

If you want more information about this modern miracle, write for your copy of the booklet, "Behind Your Switch", Room 831, 80 Park Place,

PUBLIC SERVICE

SPOTLIGHT

on SPORTS

by Warren Knight

This pair of eyes, sporting 20-20 vision via the miracle of a very strong set of "cheaters," has seen the turning of the worm. Belleville's baseball team, upending Nutley last week, looked like the best collection of diamond material seen in a Bellboy uniform in some time. The Maroon is usually very unkind to local baseball aggregations, particularly on Park Oval. Last year, for instance, Ed Berlinski's boys were handed a 17-6 pasting, but it was a different story seven days ago. And with baseball conditions in Belleville definitely on the upgrade, there is every indication that Nutley will have to shake a leg if it expects to win its share of horseshoe engagements between the rivals.

What impresses an observer is the team's hustle. Berlinski has them wide awake, they make with lots of chatter and actually seem to enjoy playing the game. Nutley, in this one, looked dull by comparison.

The Bellboys are strong down the middle. Backstop Charlie Travers, hurler Bob Dilworth and center fielder Mike Del Tufo all have what it takes and the keystone combination shapes up well, too. Travers, if he could hit, would be one of the better receivers in Essex County. His arm is good, he knows how to call pitches and isn't afraid to throw the ball to any base, regardless of the situation. Dilworth seems a good bet to make All County and Del Tufo has few peers in center field. In fact, we haven't seen a better outfielder yet this year in scholastic ranks.

Around second base, you have to look twice at the left side of the midway sack. But on second observance, you realize that the young man there is a shortstop, even if he is just about the smallest around. Diminutive Sammy Graziano is a cutie in handling his defensive assignment, has a nice arm and although his size precludes any slugging at the plate, he makes a good lead-off man. His mate at second, Danny Cuomo, teams up with short Sam to provide the Bel with a very satisfactory combination.

At the corner spots, Bob Smith, a square-shouldered, husky young man with a long pair of legs, does all right at the initial sack. Across the way, Vin Vitelli's arm can get the ball over to Smith in a hurry and the hot corner appears to be in capable hands. In right field, Roger Hansen is a much-improved player over a year ago and is currently the team's leading swatman. Tommy Nisovocia covers left and hits the ball a mile when he gets the wood on it.

Dilworth looks as though he has plenty of zip on the pill and with a little training might shape up as a pro prospect. His half-side arm delivery makes him rough on right-handed hitters, who have to contend with a natural incurve that keeps the ball on the handle. A curve, delivered at half-speed, needs more work, but when Dilworth can master that pitch, he'll be even tougher.

Berlinski, before the season got under way, figured his Bellboys were in for a lot of headaches. A shortage of pitching talent pointed to add woes as the year progressed and the toughies loomed on the schedule. But Joe Daniels and Jim McConnell surprised and things are definitely brighter. In fact, just bright enough for this corner to predict that not only will Belleville gain a berth in the Greater Newark Tournament, but chop a few of the opposition down to its size before bowing out. And who knows? A couple of good games from the twirling department and whoosh—they're in the finals. Stranger things have happened in scholastic sports.

Rowing busts into the news again this week and will have the spotlight for two successive Saturdays. This Saturday, Kent School of Connecticut entertains Belleville and Nutley varsity eights and the National Scholastic championships are slated for May 26 at the Schuylkill in Philly. Last week, both schools were in action against Lower Merion and St. Andrews and continued to hold their own.

A good following of parents and friends is expected to trail the schoolboys up into Connecticut on Saturday to see them match strokes with the famed Kent crew representatives. For those who plan to drive, take the Merritt Parkway to Danbury and then north on Route 7. Kent is on No. 7, 26 miles from Danbury. There will be two races, the Bellboys and the Maroon meeting separate Kent crews. The Jersey boys will be boated in the new Nutley eight.

Coach Bill Bennett is going all out in the Nationals and is hopeful of copping a title or two. The Bellboys will have a senior four shell and a junior eight, the latter comprised of oarsmen under 18 years of age. In the singles, Jack McNish looks like a strong contender for national honors. Nutley will boat a varsity eight, a junior four-shell and send Bill Pfahler, slender singles ace, after the junior crown. The Maroon may enter a senior doubles event, too.

A year ago, the Bellboys racked up a National crown by winning the junior four-shell event. They won't be defending this year.

This is the last column we'll be doing. Greener pastures have beckoned, necessitating the severing of our affiliation with The Times-News and The Nutley Sun. It's been a grand experience and we've made a host of friends. Without their cooperation, our task would have been most difficult. In some small way, it's the hope of your scribe that we have furthered the cause of athletics and the wonderful training that results in molding better citizens.

FLYNN CARRIES PETREAN COLORS

Track Star Leads Local Contingent In Annual Archdiocesan Meet

Jimmy Flynn of St. Peter's will be an important member of the Essex County CYO track contingent in this Saturday's archdiocesan CYO championship games at Newark Schools' Stadium. Flynn will be competing in his specialty, the 440-yard dash.

The local lad gained his berth in the inter-county meet with a sterling performance in the Essex games held last March. There he won his race in the meet-record time of 57.7. Although he will be up against the cream of the archdiocese, Flynn is expected to come home a winner in that race.

Entries in the events are the first, second and third place finishers in each of a series of meets held in Hudson, Bergen, Union and Essex during the Winter. Eighteen events are on the program for Saturday. Ten of the runs will be in the grammar school class where a dash and a relay will be held in each of five weight divisions. Besides the quarter-mile affair for intermediate CYO members, there will be a 60-yard dash, 880-yard run and a half mile relay. Events for junior CYO members will be the same.

Medals will be awarded the first three finishers.

More than 5,000 men and women from veterans and civic groups in Essex and other North Jersey counties will join with service units next Sunday (May 20) to take part in the second annual Armed Forces Day parade in Newark.

The 90-minute display, divided into four divisions, will be along Broad Street to Washington Park and is expected to be seen by more than 40,000 persons.

The reviewing stand will be in front of Newark City Hall, where Brig. Gen. Paul E. Ruestow, director of logistics for the United States Air Force, will be the principal speaker.

Col. Harry Hoffman of Nutley will be grand marshal of the parade. He will be flanked by his chief of staff, Frank V. Lanzara of Bloomfield, and the parade adjutant, Sgt. Louis W. Sabino of the Army's recruiting office in the Newark Federal Building.

Looking Back In Sports

Five Years Ago

Fighting an uphill battle, Belleville upset a favored Nutley nine at Clearman Field, when Tony Greco singled home the winning run in the last half of the ninth inning. The Bellboys won, 6 to 5. Roy Hunt, who twirled another masterful game, fled out to open the final frame. Vic Naturale worked Sal Sasso, Maroon hurler who relieved Jim Shindell in the ninth, for a free ticket to first. Big Don Smith then belted a Giacomio's glove at second base, and before the ball could be returned to the infield, Naturale moved to third and Smitty sped into second. Tony Greco, who had already walloped two bingles, was not given an intention base-on-balls, as everyone figured he would be. Instead, Sasso pitched to the hard-hitting Bellboy catcher, and Tony responded with a smash between third and short into left field scoring Naturale with the game-winning tally.

The Wood Choppers copped the bunting in the Grace Church Men's Club bowling league, finishing with a substantial lead over the runners-up, the Atomic Bombers.

By virtue of a 2-to-1 edge in the final series, the Mud Slingers smeared the Holy Rollers for the third place spot.

Belleville dropped their first contest in five, when a hard-hitting Barringer team from Newark pinned the Bellboys' ears back by a 5 to 2 count. Belleville scored their first tally in the third frame, when stocky Joe Cancelliere, sophomore third baseman, belted a home run. It was the youngster's first bingle in five games. Both teams scored single tallies in the fifth inning to bring their scoring efforts to a close. Barringer clubbed Lubertazza and Lou Vitelli, who spelled him relief, for nine hits, while the homesters could collect only five off the slants of Pirone.

Ten Years Ago

The Forest Hill A. C. won two games in one week. They out-clouted the Cardinals to win 10-8, at Belleville Park and also defeated the Riviera Park A. C. in a game that was called at the end of the fifth inning because of rain. "Blackie" Norton was the individual star against the Cards, striking out 10 opposition batters and leading the way to the plate with four hits. Bill Gray pulled the other game out of the fire by poling a home run in the final inning.

The Hawks felt they were definitely superior to the Rangers after beating them 4-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Harry Meehan. It was the "rubber" game of a series between the two nines, for they had split the two previous tilts played. A hit, a walk, and Chick Taris' scorching liner sent the Hawks ahead to a first inning lead that they never relinquished.

Joe DeBacco, fresh from finishing second in the 65 mile Camden-Atlantic City bike grind, copped two of the events at the races of the Belleville Bicycle Club in Weequahic Park, Newark. In the five-mile open he led Ed Little, Bud Willie and Bob Schneckeburger across the top in that order. The time was 15:50. DeBacco was also first across the line in the miss-and-out with Little scoring, Rate Frate third, and Bud Willie fourth. The distance was three miles and the time was 8:17.4.

The Pittsburgh Minor cuffed the Valsburgh Shamrocks 3-1 at Branch Brook Extension. Hurler Harold Allston was the standout of the game, pitching two-hit ball. Both of the loser's bingles came in the first inning when they managed to shove across their lone run. Ed Guttman wielded the big stick for Pittsburgh, getting two of the team's five hits.

Fifteen Years Ago

The Emerald A. C. won its second straight victory of the season by defeating the Chester A. C., 6-2. Peter Wersinger, hurling his second straight win, allowed only four scattered hits and struck out 11, bringing his total strike out victim in two games to 26. O'Reilly, Herb Frederick and Lubben led the batting attack with two hits apiece.

The Belleville Manufacturers' Softball League inaugurated its second season at Recreation Field with the Wallace & Tiernan team overcoming Eastwood Neally, 11 to 4.

The Belleville Senators, behind the pitching of Barnett who fanned 19 batters, defeated the Schalk Bears of Newark at Belleville Park by the score of 7-4. Steve Lukowiak, Harry McCourt and Leroy Effner starred for the Senators at bat, batting seven hits between them.

The Belwoods won their sixth consecutive game, which lasted five innings due to time limitations, only to have their winning streak broken by the East Orange Senators in a 10-inning slugfest. The Senators with 17 hits, aided by the Belwoods, romped home with the bacon, 17 to 12, tying the score in the eighth, scoring five runs in the 10th and making a triple play to cut off the Belwoods' bid for victory in the last half of the 10th.

Twenty Years Ago

"Jake" Jacobson's four-hit shut-out registered for the Belleville Laundry nine against Al Market at Capitol Field, featured the opening of the Recreation Twilight Baseball League. Jacobson was in rare form, as he turned back the Market boys, 7-0, scattering their four bingles over as many innings.

The Lincoln defeated the Blue Jackets, 11-6, at the Lincoln diamond in a junior baseball tilt. The win marked the Lincoln's fifth victory in seven starts. Matt Smith connected for a pair of long home runs for the victors, to feature their 14-hit attack. Ed Bloomeke, the winning pitcher, set down the Blue Jackets with five hits.

We never know! But there's never a moment of the day or night when you can't lift the receiver of your telephone and be connected with nearly anyone you want... in any part of the world.

It takes more than 10,000 operators like Mrs. Voorman to give you this round-the-clock service here in New Jersey. And it takes great quantities of equipment, too. In the past 5 years alone, our construction program has run well over $250,000,000 and is still continuing.

Every one of these dollars has made your telephone service better and more useful. Today, for example, you can call or be called by twice as many New Jersey families as in 1940. Yet your telephone service takes less of your family budget than ever before!

Did you know that while the cost of living has gone up about 85% since 1940, the average cost of telephone service in New Jersey has risen only 22%? Your phone is a bigger bargain than ever!

The East Germany "police force" is variously estimated at 50,000 to 150,000 strong; probably its actual strength today is somewhere between 60,000 and 100,000. It is being equipped with small arms, artillery and tanks and was organized initially in brigades—perhaps later to be expanded to divisions. In organization, even in ideological concept, the People's Police follows closely the pattern of the Nazi S. S. troops, and many former Nazis, including some leading Nazi generals, have been employed by it.

German Forces a Threat

From the point of view of orthodox field combat experience the East German force probably is the weakest element of the vast Communist military machine built up in and around East Germany. But the People's Police serves a political, as much as a military, purpose. It is a bargaining card in any negotiations with the West, and it has been specially trained in the Communist tactics and techniques of subversion, sabotage, guerrilla warfare and internal control.

During this Summer of crisis, when there is a definite chance that the armies may march, the People's Police will play purely a secondary role, except as a card in any negotiations that may come out of the Paris discussions which continue, hopelessly, to drag on.

But if an open clash in the field of battle is averted, the East German "police force," which will be constantly increasing in the months to come in size and importance, will have perhaps a primary role in the future of Germany, particularly if that country should be united and occupation troops should be withdrawn. For the People's Police represents the "shock troops," the internal army of repression through which the Communists hope to perpetuate their control over East Germany and by means of which they plan to extend their dominion to the Western areas.
